NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

JOHN W. BOSWELL, Editor. NEW OR[illegible]URSDAY, JANUARY 1, 1908. CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher

VOL. 55—No. 1 "PROVE ALL THINGS; HOLD FAST THAT WHICH IS GOOD." WHOLE No. 5380

Millsaps College Library

THE NEW CHURCH AT HOMER, LA.

Christian Advocate.

Published for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

DIRECTIONS.

Correspondents will please direct all communications intended for the Editor to 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La. Communications intended for the Business Department should be addressed to the Manager of the New Orleans Christian Advocate. Write with ink, and only on one side of the paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after two weeks, notify us, and we will make it right. Papers will be continued unless subscribers order otherwise.

The Foreign Advertising Department of the N. O. Christian Advocate is in the hands of

Religious Press Advertising Syndicate,
JACOBS & CO., CLINTON, S. C.,

J. F. JACOBS, Mgr., Home Office, Clinton, S. C.
Thornwell Jacobs, 85 Arcade, Nashville, Tenn.
J. D. Jacobs, 343 Fifth Street, Louisville, Ky.
C. C. Little, 614 Mutual Bldg., Richmond, Va.
L. J. Carter, 132 LaSalle Street, Chicago, Ill.
J. B. Gentry, Columbia, S. C.
E. J. Barrett, Dallas, Texas.
Thos. L. Bryan, 232 Courtland St., Atlanta, Ga.
Miss M. R. Middleton, 150 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.

MY MOTHER.

Who fed me from her gentle breast
And hushed me in her arms to rest,
And on my cheek sweet kisses prest?
My mother.

When sleep forsook my open eye,
Who was it sung sweet lullaby,
And rocked me that I would not cry?
My mother.

Who sat and watched my infant head,
When sleeping in my cradle bed,
And tears of sweet affection shed?
My mother.

When pain and sickness made me cry,
Who gazed upon my heavy eye,
And wept for fear that I should die?
My mother.

Who taught my infant lips to pray,
To love God's holy word and day,
And walk in wisdom's pleasant way?
My mother.

Who ran to help me when I fell,
And would some pretty story tell,
Or kiss the part to make it well?
My mother.

And can I ever cease to be
Affectionate and kind to thee,
Who wast so kind to me,
My mother.

Ah, no; the thought I cannot bear,
And if God please my life to spare,
I hope I shall reward thy care,
My mother.

When thou art feeble, old and gray,
My healthy arm shall be thy stay,
And I will soothe thy pains away,
My mother.

ANONYMOUS.

Mr. Luther Burbank, of California, whose triumphs in experimental botany have made his name famous, has, it is said, succeeded in producing a thornless cactus. A specimen leaf is now on exhibition in Washington. The practical value of this new plant lies in the fact that without the thorns the cactus would be valuable as forage and grows as well in dry as in moist regions.—The Children's Visitor.

WITHIN AND WITHOUT.

By WM. RICE SIMS.

The life about us is made up not so much of mere external circumstances as of the soul with which we view them. Humble yourself by supposing one of the world's great poets or philosophers in your place. Think of what Plato, or Bacon, or Emerson, or Wordsworth, would get out of your surroundings, and of what he would give to the world as the result of his getting. What similes and flashing metaphors could Victor Hugo draw out of this barren stretch of sand, this gloomy cathedral building! What gloomy scenes of grandeur could Poe conjure up out of these reaches of reeking swamps and morasses! What depths of philosophy could Newton suggest from these apples falling in the orchards and these stars that are swinging overhead!

Think of the beautiful tabernacle of Christ in the flesh, and what he got out of his meager surroundings! He chose to live, not in one of the populous capitals of the world, but in a little barren stretch of territory whose boundaries would be well overlapped by a single Texas county. Yet, look what he got out of his environment, and what he gave to the world, merely as a teacher: The solid rock; the shifting sand; the clouds that flooded low overhead; the western sunset glow and the early light of sunrise; the birds that have nests and the foxes that have holes; the grapevine and the fig tree; the thistle and the thorn tree; the mustard seed and the grass of the field; the salt of the earth and the light of the world; the candle and the bushel-measure; the fowls of the air and the beasts of the field; the mote in the eye and the offending right hand; the dogs and the swine, pearls and thistles; the seed-sowing and the harvest-time. He took all these and beautified and glorified them, making them vehicles for the conveyance of divine truth.

Are you making the most out of your surroundings? It is easy to think that you could be better and do better if you were in an easier or a higher place. Realize fully that God has put you where you are, and make the most out of life as it is. Shakspeare, who uttered many wise sayings, never wrote a truer truth than when he made the shrewd Roman say, "The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars (or the fates that are supposed to override us), but in ourselves."

Indianola, Miss.

LETTER FROM GILDEROY.

In the past four or five months I have had half a dozen letters from old friends, telling me of the death of relatives and of their last words or deploring the fact that they left no dying testimony. This set me to thinking about the utter worthlessness of dying words, be they glad or sad. After all, the life is the great thing. If people live right it matters little what they say when they come to die, or whether they say anything or not. I have heard some wicked men pray and shout when they were thought to be dying, but after recovering they knew nothing about it, and were more wicked than before. They were out of their heads, and did not know what they were doing. If my wife were to die cursing and profaning the name of the Lord, it would be painful to me, but it would not, in the least, shake my faith in her preparation to meet God. Her life has been one of faith and of obedience to our Father. This, after all, is the supreme test of preparation for the end.

The last words of Christ were painfully and awfully sad, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" The lights all went out and deep darkness fell upon our Savior. "He trod the winepress of the Father's wrath alone." Two of the evangelists tell us that later he cried with a loud voice, but they make no report of what he said. One evangelist reports him as saying, "Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit," and another as saying, "It is finished." These last words of Christ had but little in them to comfort and console his mother and John, who stood near enough to hear him; but they knew him and his matchless life of purity and love. That was enough.

My own mother's last words brought a smile to every face in the room, even to my own, her only living child. She was Irish living and Irish dying. Twenty minutes before the last I raised her head to give the medicine. She said, "Son, you have been a good boy, and won't you take this last dose for your dying mother?" In a few minutes she was at home and at rest with God.

I would like to be at myself and to be fully conscious when the end comes, but God knows best—let me be as he wills. He has been with me for sixty-two years, and he will be with me in the end. I would like to die at home on a bed, surrounded by my family, but if it need be on a cross, I am sure the darkness could not be denser than it was with my Master. Yours,

GILDEROY.

Strong, Miss.

CENTENARY COLLEGE NOTES.

The next session of our College will open Wednesday, September 16, 1908.

* * *

Our legal title is the Centenary College of Louisiana.

* * *

Visitors to Shreveport should be sure to visit our campus in the Gladstone suburbs, northeast of the city. It is significant that the College is on the corner of Wesley Street and the King's Highway.

* * *

The handsome and commodious building attracts all visitors. It will be heated by steam and lighted by electricity. A fine series of shower baths will add to comfort in bringing about that cleanliness which is next to godliness. The kitchen and dining-room are on the first floor. Sleeping rooms and recitation rooms occupy the second and third floors.

* * *

It does not require the vision of a prophet to see the time when there shall have grown up around our College a splendid Methodist community. Some of our preachers are already purchasing lots near the College. Other friends will come to get the advantage of nearness to educational opportunities. Others will undertake to furnish quarters for students who prefer to live in private families.

* * *

There will be no lack of athletic opportunities on our new campus. A large stretch of level ground was left for a ball field. Plenty of room is at hand for tennis courts, and for any other form of exercises which may be desired. In time boat clubs will be organized to use the waters of the lake which lies south of the College building. We may also be assured that it will not be very long before some good friend makes the erection of a gymnasium possible.

* * *

Public notice will be given as soon as a pamphlet announcement is printed. In the meantime friends of our College will be real helpers in a good cause if they will send in names of boys who may be induced to attend our school. Address all such lists of names to President W. L. Weber, Shreveport. Our people are cordially invited to keep in touch with the progress of our work. "It is no trouble to answer questions."

CENTENARY.

LAYMAN'S MISSIONARY MOVEMENT.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

A movement of the laymen of the M. E. Church, South, having for its purpose the organization of the laymen into a separate and distinct body of missionary workers, met in Knoxville, Tenn., and elected John R. Pepper leader, G. W. Cain secretary and W. W. Pinson assistant secretary, and, by previous arrangement, the laymen of the North Mississippi Conference met on this (the 5th) day of December, A.D. 1907, in the Conference room for further promotion of this movement and to mobilize our forces. After some preliminary remarks by Rev. W. W. Woollard and, the introduction by him of Judge F. A. Critz, who was one of the initial delegates appointed to attend the Knoxville, (Tenn.) Conference of Laymen, as the Chairman of the meeting.

The Chairman presented Rev. W. W. Pinson, who, in very enthusiastic expression, stated the purpose of the meeting, and what would be the result of the organization of the laymen in the future, and eloquently urged our people as to the importance of the duty and opportunity that now presented itself for their acceptance.

Judge F. A. Critz followed in a strong speech, and urged the importance of immediate action by our laymen. On motion, Judge F. A. Critz was elected permanent leader, and Parham Williams, of Lexington, Miss., as secretary. Acting on the motion, duly seconded, the following leaders, as laymen, were selected, one from each presiding elder's district: Corinth District, G. L. Jones; Oxford District, J. M. Wyatt; Sardis District, Dr. A. S. Yarbrough; Winona District, J. R. Bingham; Greenville District, J. H. Sherrard; Durant District, Colonel J. G. Hamilton; Columbus District, W. V. Connell; Aberdeen District, J. G. Leftwich.

For the purpose of selecting seventy-five laymen as delegates to the meeting to be held in Chattanooga, Tenn., on the 21st of April, 1908, a motion made by J. H. Sherrard was adopted requesting the presiding elders of the eight districts to aid the Board of Missions in the selection of ten laymen delegates from each presiding elder's district.

On motion, the Secretary was directed to forward copies of the minutes to our ADVOCATE for publication.

FRANK A. CRITZ, Leader.

PARHAM WILLIAMS, Secretary.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE REPORTS.

Report of Board of Education.

Dear Brethren: Your Board having had under consideration certain papers and interests concerning our Educational Institutions would submit the following report:

We were pleased to have with us Dr. J. D. Hammond, Secretary of Education of our Church, and to have from him full explanations of the various enterprises of that Board and we do most heartily approve of the same.

The assessment of $1,475, which has been placed upon our Conference for educational extension is accepted as only our reasonable share in the furtherance of the great work in their hands.

We would recommend that this assessment be added to our Confernce assessment and distributed on the same basis.

Correspondence School.

We are glad to note the marked success of the work of the Correspondence School and the very satisfactory progress it is making in all of its departments. We note with especial pleasure the interest manifested by our undergraduates in the opportunities offered by this school.

Vanderbilt University.

Your Board has received no communication from this Institution. Yet, we do not hesitate to recommend it as worthy of our highest endorsement and liberal support.

From all of our Conference schools we have received most gratifying reports as evidenced by demands, without exception, for more accommodations and better facilities. Some are filled to overflowing.

Millsaps College.

The present is the most successful year in the history of this young, progressive institution. Her popularity has grown from session to session so that she now stands abreast of the best, and to be an alumnus of Millsaps College is an honor to be coveted as among the best gifts.

During the year the new library building has been completed and dedicated, adding a valuation to the property of $40,000, and enhancing greatly the educational facilities of the College.

During the present session 280 students have been enrolled, among whom are twenty-two preparing for the ministry and 35 are sons of our Methodist preachers. Through the efforts of our efficient Commissioner of Education, Rev. T. W. Lewis, $30,000 has been subscribed to the Endowment Fund, making a total of $44,250 to date towards the securing of the additional $100,000. We heartily endorse the action of those in authority in securing the services of Rev. T. W. Lewis as Commissioner of Education for Millsaps College for the year 1908, and pledge to him our most cordial co-operation in his efforts.

We recommend the appointment of Rev. Jas. A. Moore as professor in the College.

Whitworth College.

This institution for the higher education of our young women has taken high rank as a factor in the work of our Methodism in Mississippi. The great success achieved by Dr. I. W. Cooper and his excellent Faculty is a source of great gratification to the friends of this honored institution. The environment of 246 young women seeking education in her halls attests the great need as well as the great work being done by the institution.

We note with pleasure the substantial improvements which have been made on the property. We would reaffirm our great interest in the College, and recommend the appointment of Dr. I. W. Cooper as its President.

We recommend the confirmation of the following as trustees: B. F. Jones, E. H. Mounger, J. T. Butler, E. H. Wentworth, T. W. Adams, G. A. Brumfield, R. W. Hinton and T. B. Holloman.

Port Gibson Female College.

From the report presented to us from Port Gibson Female College we gather that the institution is in a prosperous condition and doing most excellent work. The appropriation of $1000 during the last two years toward the liquidation of certain indebtedness has put the College upon a basis from which we are justified in expecting better work than in the past.

With a teaching force of fourteen competent professors and an enrollment of 111 pupils the College is fulfilling its mission in that section of its location. We recommend the appointment of Rev. H. G. Hawkins as President of the College.

We recommend the confirmation of F. W. Sharbrough and S. B. Hutchins as trustees.

GIFT SUGGESTIONS

MORRIS CHAIRS,
LADIES' DESKS,
LADIES' WRITING TABLES, LADIES'
WORK TABLES,
BUFFETTS,
CHINA CABINETS,
PEDESTALS,
MUSIC CABINETS,
CURIO CASES,
CHILDREN'S ROCKERS
DAVENPORTS,
LEATHER ROCKERS,
COSTUMES,
SHAVING STANDS,
DRESSERS,
DRESSING TABLES,
CHEVAL MIRRORS,
PARLOR,
DINING ROOM,
BEDROOM and LIBRARY SUITES, ART LEATHER
CUSHIONS and CENTERS,
BRASS VASES,
JARDINIERES and FERN VASES,
BRASS BEDS,
MISSION FURNITURE
OF ALL KINDS.

The GRANT
Furniture Co.

427-429-431 CAMP ST.

Edward McGehee College.

The report of the trustees of this institution has been before us and the work indicated has been of thorough character. We are pleased to note the growing confidence in the College and would commend it to the liberal patronage of our people.

During the session, now on, there has been an enrollment of 83 pupils, with a large increase from the immediate community, thus evidencing the popularity of the School.

Mississippi Conference Training School.

Under the Presidency of Rev. C. M. Chapman this institution has taken on a life and spirit which is encouraging to its friends and patrons. Much has been done toward increased facilities for larger and better work.

During the present session the patronage has largely exceeded that of any in its history, making urgent demands for more commodious boarding facilities. This school is greatly needed by our Church in the section in which it is located, as well as an institution for fitting young men and women for more advanced courses. The enrollment for the year has reached 200.

We recommend that Rev. C. M. Chapman be appointed President of the institution and Rev. W. W. Moore financial agent.

We recommend the confirmation of Rev. W. W. Moore, Rev. G. H. Galloway, Rev. T. J. O'Neil, Rev. Jno. A. Moore, P. L. Blackwell, E. L. Calhoun and Dr. W. H. Mars as trustees.

We recommend the school to the favorable consideration of the General Board of Education and endorse their request for an appropriation of $500 from the Educational Extension Fund.

Papers referring to the establishing of a training school on our Gulf Coast have been submitted to us. That such institution is greatly needed within our State is certain, and your Board most heartily endorses the movemnt and commends it to the consideration of our people.

Lockhart High School.

The trustees of the Lockhart High School have submitted to your Board certain propositions concerning the adopting and maintaining a school in that community. For lack of information upon which to act we thought best to ask for the appointment of a committee of two, consisting of Revs. J. R. Jones and T. B. Holloman to examine into the matter and report to the next session of this Confernce.

Work Among Negroes.

A highly interesting communication from Bishop E. Cottrell concerning the educational movemnt of the C. M. E. Church within our State has been before us. Upon the theory that those who help themselves should receive our sympathy, this work is doubly worthy.

The Mississippi Theological and Industrial College for the education of the negro youth of the State and located at Holly Springs has been established at a cost of $75,000, all of which, except $2,000, has been raised by Bishop Cottrell from the members of the C. M. E. Church.

We would most cheerfully endorse the action of our General Board of Education for their interest in this and other like institutions for the education of the negro race.

We recommend the appointment of Rev. R. Selby as Conference Secretary of Education.

We recommend the appointment of R. P. Fikes as student at Vanderbilt University and A. J. Davis as student at the Mississippi Conference Training School.

We are unable to give statistics of increase in valuation of the school property of the Church, but would repeat the statement of Dr. J. D. Hammond: "that the increase is nearly $1,000,000 annually."

Conference Statistics.

Number of institutions	5
Endowment	$275,000
Value of property	310,000
Number of officers and teachers	56
Number of students	920

Receipts and Disbursements.

Received from collections	$3,646.93
Increase over 1906	135.13
Distributed as follows:
Millsaps College	$2,076.73
Port Gibson	500.00
General Board	1,022.70
Printing Minutes	47.50
Total	$3,646.93

Ministerial Aid Fund.

Balance on hand Dec. 11, 1906	$368.15
Payment on loans	35.00
Total on hand Dec. 14, 1907	$403.13
Disbursements Dec. 1906:
To T. M. Bradley	$25.00
To balance in bank	378.15

W. H. LA PRADE, Pres.
T. B. HOLLOMAN, Sec.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE RECORDS.

To the Bishop and Members of the Mississippi Conference:

Dear Brethren: We your Committee on District Conference Records beg leave to report as follows: The Records have been examined and find that the Brookhaven, Jackson, Natchez and Seashore District Records prove to be models of neatness.

The Meridian, Forest and Vicksburg District Records are neatly kept, but lack marginal index.

We call attention to this because at the Annual Conference at Gloster a resolution was passed urging the secretaries to use marginal index. Respectfully submitted,

W. A. TERRY, Chairman.

AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY.

To the Bishop and Members of the Mississippi Annual Conference:

Of all philanthropic institutions, none is more worthy of our support than the American Bible Society. It is a powerful adjunct to all missionary operation. By its distributive work it leads and prepares the way for missionary enterprise. Your Board is glad to note some little increase in the support and interest of the Society within our bounds. There was paid for the cause this year $1,563.39. Pledging our further support we recommend an assessment of $1,800 for the ensuing year, apportioned as follows:

Meridian District	$300
Newton District	235
Seashore District	330
Jackson District	265
Brookhaven District	250
Natchez District	210
Vicksburg District	210

Respectfully,

R. BRADLEY, Pres.
H. MELLARD, Sec.
W. A. TERRY, Treas.

PREACHERS' INSTITUTE.

To the Bishop and Members of the Mississippi Annual Conference:

Dear Brethren: Your Committee appointed at the last session of the Annual Conference to plan for a Preachers' and Workers' Institute to be held within the bounds of our Conference respectfully submit the following report:

We met in Jackson, Miss., on Feb. 14, 1907, and organized by electing H. M. Ellis Chairman, and Robert Selby Secretary; and then went carefully and prayerfully over the entire matter.

Our Chairman was appointed to ask of the Trustees of the Seashore Camp-ground permission to hold the institute on their beautiful property by the sea. He visited them in their annual session and met with hearty sympathy with the enterprise and assurance of a glad welcome for the institute at any time that would not interfere with meetings already being conducted there.

Acting on instructions, our secretary mailed out a circular letter to each member of our Confernce, explaining our plan both for the work of the institute and for financing it. To this many of the brethren responded with assurance of appreciation and co-operation.

Owing to the magnitude of the undertaking and the late date at which we were able to meet the trustees of the camp-ground we founnd it impracticable to attempt to hold an institute this year. We recommend that the first institute be purely a "Preachers' Institute," with leaders of such large experience, wide reputation and acknowledged ability as to attract attention and assure instruction and inspiration. With a view to the enlargement of the preacher's vision, deepening his sense of obligation, furnishing him with the most approved methods for "skilled work for the Master," we have outlined the following work for the Master," we have outlined the helpful criticisms and suggestions:

Preachers' Institute. (Tentative). Seashore Camp-Ground, June 23, 8:30 p. m., to July 2, 1908:

The Preacher: 1. The Man: His Inner Life—His Bible—His Study, by Bishop E. R. Hendrix.

2. The Leader: Among the People—His Relation to Amusements—Directing the Forces, by Bishop E. R. Hendrix.
3. The Citizen: Socially—Politically—Morally, by Bishop W. A. Candler.
4. The Pastor: Spiritual Adviser—Soul Winning in the Homes—His Obligation to the Community, by Bishop Seth Ward.
5. The Ecclesiastic: Ethics of the Ministry—Administration of Discipline—Creator of Church Spirit—Agent for Perpetuating the Ministry, by Bishop Candler.
6. The Evangelist: Organizing for Work—Directing and Controling—Preaching the Word, by A. C. Dickson.
7. The Missionary: An Educational Force—A Financial Force—A Spiritual and Recruiting Force, by Jno. R. Mott.
8. The Maker of the Future: The Pastor with the Child—Organization of Children and Young People—Saving the Boys.

We hope to have every member of the Conference present and sharing the benefits of the first session.

We recommend the issuance of invitations to any and all Methodist preachers to share our good things on like conditions with ourselves, particularly members of neighboring Conferences.

We believe this work has in it large promise for the future of our Church and is in every way worthy of our interest and prayers and most liberal support. Such a program as we have outlined will require considerable expense and we recommend this as a cause worthy of the interest of our liberal laymen.

Having the work in such unfinished condition we ask to be continued in office for another year, or that another suitable committee be appointed with instructions to take up and carry on the work.

(Signed) H. M. ELLIS.
Chairman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PUBLISHING INTERESTS.

To the Bishop and Members of the Mississippi Annual Conference:

Dear Brethren: We your Committee on Publishing Interests would respectfully report as follows:

First—From the statement of our Publishing House, we are gratified to report continued prosperity, and we would continue to urge upon our people the importance of acquaintance with literature. We welcome in this connection the presence of our Conference Colporter, Brother G. W. Bachman, and commend him to the liberal patronage of the Church throughout our territory.

Second—We rejoice in the excellence of our Quarterly Review and commend it as eminently worthy of the attention of both our preachers and laymen.

Third—We esteem our general organ, the Nashville Christian Advocate, both as to mechanical make-up and editorial ability; and though we regret that its utterances are not always sound, yet in the main we deem it worthy of our great Church. We especially deplore the seeming attempts of its scholarly editor to depreciate the miraculous of the Holy Scriptures, and his efforts to relieve the same by setting forth supposed material cause to account for them. As instances, he tells us that the falling of the manna "doubtless corresponded to some natural phenomenon" that the cessation of the waters of the Jordon at the crossing of Israel "was probably caused by a landslide," and supposes that the walls of Jericho fell as the result of an earthquake. He also attributes the fall of the temple of Dagon to the nature of the material from which it was constructed rather than to that Divine strength which wrought mightily in Sampson.

LUZIANNE

This Coffee is choice, costs little and goes far. We are giving away beautiful presents simply to advertise it. The redeemable coupon in every can tells you all about it.

At all up-to-date grocers. The other kind may not have it.

THE REILY-TAYLOR CO., N. O. LA.

GULFPORT, MISS.

Interesting propositions submitted to parties wanting to buy lots. Write for map to
GEO. L. CARLEY, Gulfport, Miss.

We further deplore those statements from his pen which reflect upon the accuracy and trustworthiness of the record. Such as Joshua transcending the Divne command in exterminating the Canaanites, and that Paul was in a dreamy state when he wrote the Epistle to the Ephesians. Such utterances, however our brother may regard or explain them are interpreted by the common sense of his readers as an effort to set aside the miraculous elements of the Holy Scriptures. And we regard these utterances more dangerous, because of certain tendencies within the Church Catholic which would entirely eliminate the Supernatural from our holy Christianity, denying even the miraculous conception of our Divine Lord, thus leaving us only a discredited and mutilated record without authority or power.

Third—We rejoice in the continued excellence of our Epworth Era under the able management of our own H. M. DuBose, and we commend it most heartily to the young people of our Church, both because of its literary merit and its spiritual value; and recommend greater diligence in its circulation.

Fourth—We have come to regard the excellence of all our Sunday school literature as a matter of course, and we feel assured that the proposed changes will be improvements indeed. We trust that no school within our connection or influence will prefer other publications to our own.

Fifth—We are delighted with that brick and vigorous missionary publication so appropriately called "Go Forward." In its circulation let our watchword be "onward."

Sixth—We recognize in that modest little paper called The Quiet Hour the counterpart and correlative of "Go Forward." All forward spiritual movements from Pentecost to the present are the result of the knowledge of the Lord and of prayer. To foster these exercises the quiet hour has been established: and to this end it most ably ministers. We should be persistent in its circulation, and faithful in its study.

Seventh—We would not fail to note the continued merits of our own Conference organ, the New Orleans Christian Advocate, which is so essential to our work, and which should be dear to every heart and home within our bounds. We would put its circulation upon the hearts of all our pastors, and its patronage upon the intelligence and conscience as well as upon the affection of our laymen. We commend the action of the Publishing Committee of the patronizing Conferences in the re-election of Dr. J. W. Boswell for the ensuing year. We know from the light of experience that it is in safe and efficient hands and would assure the Doctor of our appreciation of his faithfulness and of his work.

In this connection we would nominate as members of the Publishing Committee of the Advocate, M. L. Burton, W. H. Lewis and C. W. Crisler.

We appreciate greatly the work being done by the Historical Society of the Mississippi Conference in preserving the worthy annals of an heroic past. The Association is now putting through the press of our own publishing house the second volume of the History of Methodism in Mississippi, by Rev. J. G. Jones, which work was written by the author thirty years ago at the request of the Mississippi Conference. Let us esteem it a sacred duty and joyous privilege to circulate the same, and in every way to encourage the Association.

In conclusion we offer the following resolution: Resolved, That our secretary be requested to forward both to G. B. Winton and to the General Book Committee a copy of that portion of this report which refers to the Nashville Advocate.

M. L. WHITE, Chairman.
M. B. SHARBROUGH, Sec.

AUDITING COMMITTEE.

To the Bishop and Members of the Mississippi Conference:

Dear Brethren: Your Auditing Committee beg to submit the following report: We have carefully checked each pastors' report and have turned over to the treasurers the following amounts in checks, not including two or three small items turned over to us since settlements were made:

Board of Missions, W. L. Linfield, Treas.
Foreign and Domestic Missions	$8820.25
Special Missions	381.38
American Bible Society, W. A. Terry, Treas.	1128.89
Board of Education, R. W. Millsaps, Treas.	2674.93
Board of Church Extension, J. W. Crisler, Treas.	2980.00
Joint Board of Finance, W. L. Hightower, Treas.:
Conference Claimants	4141.40
Bishops' Fund	804.72
Sunday School Board, W. W. Morse, Treas.	307.72
Total	$21,239.29

We, as well as the Statistical Secretaries, were very much delayed in the completion of our work by the lateness of a number of the reports, and we earnestly beg that in the future all reports be handed in on the first day of Conference; and that the brethren use great care in preparing these reports, as a number of them had to be amended by the Committee to correspond with the vouchers and the facts.

We would call attention to the fact that the practice is all too common for the preachers to report collections on Children's Day and not to remit it to the Treasurer, or to enclose checks with their reports. We would suggest that this practice be discontinued.

Respectfully submitted.

W. B. JONES.
W. T. GRIFFIN.
T. B. COTTRELL.
Committee.

REPORT NO. 2.—BOARD OF MISSIONS.

To the Bishop and Members of the Mississippi Annual Conference:

Dear Brethren: Your Board of Missions is profoundly grateful to God for the success of our missionary interests at home and in the foreign field. While the assessments have not been paid in full, we have raised more money for Domestic Missions than last year. There has been an increase in the number of individuals and Churches supporting individual missionaries, so we are able to report a gratifying advance in this important work.

We have raised on assessments this year for Foreign Missions $10,360.35, as against $11,154.92 for 1906; and for Domestic Missions $10,094.76, as against $8,379.95 for 1906. Our collections this year for both Foreign and Domestic Missions amount to $20,455.11, besides $5,089.18 for specials, much of which was raised by our Conference Missionary Evangelist.

In addition to this, several of our Sunday schools and Churches have undertaken the building of homes for Korean pastors, and also given aid to the Kobe Institute in Japan. Several of our Churches are doing missionary work on the "station plan."

Your Board is made to rejoice in the evidence of the quickened missionary spirit among our people. We have been delighted to have with us Rev. Geo. D. Parker, from our Brazillian mission, and Rev. J. L. Gerdine, former superintendent of our mission in Korea. They brought us messages from the field which will contribute to the cause of missions among our people, and especially those who heard them. Rev. Ed. F. Cook, superintendent of the Young Peoples' Department of our Board, met with our Board and also delivered interesting addresses which were greatly appreciated, helpful and inspiring.

We recommend the Missionary Libraries and Study Courses supplied by the Young Peoples' Department. In these we have offered opportunities to purchase valuable books at less than half the usual cost, and also secure that information which is so necessary for largest service in the great cause of our Lord. No pastor could do a better thing than organize his young people into classes for the study of missions as given in this splendid literature of the Church.

We call special attention of our pastors to "Go Forward." This valuable paper should be in every home of our Church. Coming, as it does, with sparkling news from the field, it can but thrill and inspire to missionary zeal more and more.

We rejoice with our great Church in the marvelous beginning of the "Laymen's Missionary Movement." Surely God is leading the host of Israel as never before. May he lead on from conquest to victory. We urge our presiding elders to appoint ten laymen from each of their districts to attend the Laymen's Missionary Conference in Chatanooga, Tenn., in April next.

We are glad to learn that our Training School at Nashville is meeting with such favor at the hands of the different Conferences. We sent four men to this school last year and propose to send two this.

The Woman's Foreign and Home Missionary Societies are in a more healthy condition than they have been before. The Foreign Missionary Society is now supoprting two missionaries in the field, having undertaken this year the support of Miss Nell Drake. The Home Department Society is supporting Miss Boykin, at Biloxi, who is doing missionary work among the factory people of that city. We most heartily congratulate the good women of our Church in these Societies.

We respectfully call the attention of our presiding elders to two requirements of our Discipline: First—That a District Missionary Institute shall be held on each district in the early part of the year; and, Secondly—That the presiding elder shall preach at least one missionary sermon a year on each pastoral charge.

We earnestly urge our pastors to do their best to pay the entire Domestic Missionary assessment during the first three months of the year.

We heartily approve the effort of our Church to raise a half a million dollars this year for the work in the foreign field. The large financial ability of our people gives us the right to expect that our Church shall keep abreast with others in the evangelization of the world. The assessment for Domestic Missions for 1908 has been fixed at $11,100, and the same amount, $11,000, as last year, for Foreign Missions, and these have been apportioned among the districts as follows:

Districts	Foreign	Domestic
Brookhaven	$1,750	$1,700
Newton	1,510	1,550
Jackson	1,725	1,750
Meridian	1,550	1,550
Natchez	1,250	1,100
Seashore	2,000	2,350
Vicksburg	1,215	1,100
Total	$11,000	$11,100

We recommend that, if any charges shall be changed from one district to another, they shall carry their assessments of 1907 with them.

The appropriations to the several mission charges for 1908 are as follows:

Adams	$100
Silver Creek	100
Oloh	100
Monticello	100
Vimville	100
Wayne Mission	100
Scooba	150
Binnsville	100
Pearl St., Natchez	300
Wilkinson	75
Washington	100
Fayette	75
Pascagoula	400
Pass Christian	400
New Augusta	400
Wolf River	300
Lintonia	150
Thomasville	100
Bethel and Mission	150
Edinburg	100
Lake	200
Bay Springs	300
5th Ave. and Kingston	400
S. Washington St., Vicksburg	400
Harriston	200
Beauregard	200
Hub	100
Wesson	100
7th Ave., Meridian	150
Middleton	150
Leakesville	150
Waynesboro	150
Homochitto	100
Percy Creek	200
Caseyville	100
Liberty	75
29th St., Gulfport	400
Ocean Springs and Oak St.	500
Bay St. Louis	400
Broad St.	200
Rankin St., Jackson	250
Fannin	200
Braxton	100
Sharon and Mission	150
Neshoba	100
Raleigh	50
Indian Mission	200
Hebron	100
S. Warren	150
Lorman	150

It is understood that these appropriations will not be paid if the preacher-in-charge should engage in teaching or other secular employment.

(Signed) J. R. JONES,
Secretary of the Board.

FANCY POULTRY, ETC.

Fancy Poultry, Pedigreed Dogs, Cats, Canaries, Parrots, Guinea Pigs, Rabbits and Pet Stock of every description; Cyphers Incubators and Feed at Factory prices, may be had by writing to H. W. Blanks & Co., New Orleans, La. Their catalogue sent free. Write to them.

EVERYONE THAT HAS USED

Vacher-Balm for Catarrh, Colds, or Croup, thinks it the best thing they ever tried. I pay you to give samples of it to your friends, so you can use your spare time to do good, and make money. Write for particulars to E. W. Vacher, New Orleans, La.

Twelve Good Reasons for Patronizing Grenada College

First—The unexcelled Home Comforts, unequaled anywhere else in the State.

Second—The Health Conditions; we rarely require the services of a physician.

Third—Our unusually skilled corps of teachers, whom we were able to secure only by paying a salary much above that paid by other girls' schools of the State.

Fourth—The Fine Arts Department, unequaled in the State and unexcelled in the South. Our teacher of Art studied in Germany and France, and our teachers of Music are graduated from the best Conservatories of America.

Fifth—The Descriptive Course of Study, which is conscientiously carried out as indicated.

Sixth—The Lyceum Course, which is superior even to that sustained in the University of Mississippi.

Seventh—The Library, which is fuller and better adapted than that of most girls' schools of the South.

Eighth—Strong Christian Influence dominating all instruction.

Ninth—Personal Attention to the Individual Pupil, with a view to develop the best even out of peculiarities of character.

Tenth—A superior Student Body as Associates, since most of the indifferent have been eliminated.

Eleventh—The Rates are lower than those of any other school doing the same grade of work, owing to the Conference Assessment, which gives us an income not possessed by other schools; further, we have no stockholders to whom we are forced to pay dividends, as are some private schools. Our patrons receive back in excellence of service more than they pay in.

Twelfth—All these superior features enable us to turn out a larger percentage of graduates, who take high stand in the educational world, than any other school in the State. It means something to hold a diploma of the Grenada College.

Register for Rooms at Once and Thus Secure Choice of Location.

W. L. CLIFTON, A.B., Ph.B., President.

Grenada, Miss.

BUY THE NEW BOOK—

The Harp of a Thousand Strings

Contains "The Chronicles of Modern Jerusalem," and other choice literary productions of the late REV. HENRY T. LEWIS. For sale at the Drug Stores and Clinton Jewelry and Mercantile Co., in Clinton, and W. R. McKowen & Co., in Jackson.

PRICE, ONE DOLLAR.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

In regard to the new rates, the regular subscription rate will remain at $2, and the preachers' rate at $1.

The commission allowed on the (regular) $2 rate is 25 cents for renewals and 50 cents for new subscribers.

The peacher-in-charge will have authority to let any poor person have the paper at $1, whom they deem unable to pay the $2 rate. All it requires will be the pastor's recommendation.

All the old club rates will expire with the first day of January.

The new club rate will be at the rate of $1.50 per annum in clubs of five, two of whom should be new subscribers. The club may be indefinitely extended, so long as the proportion of two new subscribers out of five is maintained. On this club rate there is a commission of 25 cents for each subscriber, whether old or new. All club subscriptions will be canceled at expiration of time paid for. Post office money orders are preferred, as it costs 10 cents to collect a small check.

HOME MISSIONS.

The following essay was read before the North Mississippi Conference at Columbus by Mrs. Bertha M. Seales, Treasurer of the Woman's Home Mission Society of the Conference, and is published by special request:

Bishop Hendrix and Members of the North Mississippi Conference:

To you I bring greetings, earnest, heart-felt, joyous greetings from the Woman's Home Mission Society of your beloved Conference.

Your work is our work, our mission your mission; there is no opposition, no antagonism in your ministry of the gospel and ours of love. The Woman's Home Mission Society is trying to be to you Christian law-givers what Aaron and Hur were to Moses at the battle against the Amalekites. When your hands grow weary and would fall to your sides, from the heavy work of the long, long day, the Home Mission Society stands near by ready to be a comfort and a support.

Since our father Abraham folded his tents, girded his mantle, and journeyed to the land of Canaan, planting the worship of the true God among his idolatrous neighbors, Home Missions have been an established fact.

Years later came the glorious star of the East, heralding the coming One who sanctioned in word and deed the work of the good Samaritan. Then came the wonderful mission of St. Paul, during which the Diaconate was created and the ministry of the deaconess begun.

On, on, down the ages steadily marched the Home Mission work, until the women shouldered their share of the burden and fell into the line of march. Church after church took it up, and in 1886, under the leadership of Miss Lucinda B. Helm, the Woman's Department of Church Extension, later known as Woman's Home Mission Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, appeared above the horizon, a star of unknown magnitude.

Steadily has this star grown in brightness until new its beams shed glory on California's sun-kissed shores, Florida's coral reefs, the smoky cities of the Sunny South, and gleam alike on the crest of the mountains of Tennessee and Kentucky, and the fertile plains of Goergia and the Lone Star State.

Much has been accomplished in these fleeting years, but not what should have been, not what could have been had it not been for the lack of laborers and their hire. The call to Home Missions is ringing out in clarion-tones, louder, longer, more insistant than ever before.

The emigrant problem that we have looked upon as belonging to the North has crept slowly, but steadily into our Southland, and the negro problem, that seemed an inheritance of the South, has spread to the homes of the land of snow.

The national problem of the city slum with its poverty and sin, and the problem of the sturdy, but uneducated, son of the Cumberland Mountains are all awaiting a solution. Of the more than eighty million people in the United States only one-third are allied to any religious organization, and these include Catholics, Jews, Mormons, Spiritualists, etc. This leaves two-thirds of our population on the list of unsaved souls—enough, if they were segregated into one group of states according to present population, to blacken more than the eastern half of our country. One-third of the population of the United States are foreigners. This does not include Americans of foreign parentage.

Through our twenty-one ports hundreds of thousands more are pouring each year. These immigrants have flooded the country until it is said that to-day New York's "thousands of Italians form almost a separate city. There are more Jews within its limits than there were in old Jerusalem, more Irish than in Dublin, more Germans than in any German city with the exception of two."

New York is only a type of all our great cities. But no longer has this restless throng confined itself to the city limits. West Virginia's coal fields have attracted thousands of Italians and Hungarians of the lowest class. In Tampa, Florida, side by side with the large Cuban population has sprung up a colony of seven thousand Italians, while Bohemians and Hungarians have full possession of two entire Counties and parts of others in the State of Texas.

California is the abiding place of vast hordes of Chinese, Japanese and Koreans. All these, and more, are brining with them their religions, principally idolatrous and Roman Catholics, and their non-religions, including anarchism and the black hand.

The civilization of the United States has been markedly democratic and Christian, but this, the beginning of the twentieth century confronts us with the question, "Shall it remain so?"

San Francisco is the home for the Joss House and the shrine of many an idol; further down the Pacific's sandy beach points the magnificent minarets and domes of the temple of the sun god. Every morning's sunrise smiles on fifty-three heathenish worships in the city of Chicago, while Philadelphia boasts an establishment devoted entirely to the manufacture of idols. All this is but the beginning. With the South's newly opened coal, iron, oil, marble and gold fields, the great expansion of lumber trade and agriculture, the enormous growth of manufactures and the near opening of the Panama Canal, we in the South stand at the outer edge of a scarcely dreamed of influx of new life and new customs. Emblazoned in great headlines across the Sunday edition of one of our Southern secular papers was the question, "What are our immigrants worth in dollars and cents?" Is this to be our view-point of the question, or shall we ask, "What is the worth of our immigrants' souls to him who created all?"

Shall the United States become a land of idolatry? Ancient countries, claiming the highest rank of civilization, drifted back into heathendom. The land of Palestine, in which the Savior lived, died, and rose again, now has need of missionaries. History repeats itself. What it has done it can and will do again. While we are alarmed over the question of immigration there are native canker worms eating their way to the heart of our civilization. The Mormon Church is said to be the most complete organization in the world. It has an official to every five members, and these officials control in all things, religious, social, commercial and political. Every year this Church sends out from three to four hundred missionaries, who scatter literature, preach and teach in every State in the Union. A Mormon Bishop said a few years ago, "We look forward with perfect confidence to the day when we will hold the reins of the United States government. This is our present temporal aim."

Romanism has dipped its pen deep in the blood of our country and written opposition to our Declaration of Independence, to our constitution, to civil law, except as given by the Pope, to freedom of speech and press and religious liberty. La Fayette once said of this country, "If the liberties of the American people are ever destroyed, they will fall by the hands of the Romish clergy."

Again we turn and stand aghast at the thought of nine million negroes, more than half of whom are illiterate and live under conditions which breed immorality and crime, dwelling in our midst, awaiting the opportunity to smear the fair name of America with their polluted fingers.

And, "Lo, the Poor Indian," driven from his happy hunting-ground and corraled principally in the West, deserves an arrow of pity and love from his conqueror, the great "White Brother."

Back in the coves and glens of the Cumberland and Appalachian mountains dwell what is known as "the cabin home people." Away from railroads, turnpikes, churches and schoolhouses they find little incentive to join in the progress of our country, and thousands of precious boys and girls are signaling with their tiny sparks of ambition for help and opportunities.

Our line of Stoves, Kitchen Furnishings, and
General Household Supplies is full of interest to all Good Housekeepers.

Suppose you take a look at it for yourself—

UNITED HARDWARE CO.,
LIMITED.

GET SOLID PROTECTION AND INSURE WITH
LEON IRWIN & CO.
Fire and Casualty Insurance.
838 GRAVIER STREET. PHONE, MAIN [illegible]

W. W. Carre Co., Ltd,
Manufacturers and Exporters of
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

When our pilgrim fathers landed on the rocky shores of Massachusetts and settled in the quiet harbor of the Chesapeake Bay there was no city problem, but as civilization drifted inland, to the west and to the South, leaping from mountain-peak to mountain-peak, from lake shore to lake shore, there became a great desire to build mighty centers of commerce and habitation. To-day our land is lighted by myriads of these candles and thousands of human mouths perish annually in their flames of vice and sin. A quarter of a century ago the United States claimed only a few cities with a population of twenty-five thousand, but to-day there are more than two hundred boasting a population of this size and several that float the flag of one million. Truly the city problem is the sum total of all problems and is perhaps the greatest of the age. The future welfare of the city with its slums, its criminals, its people wholly absorbed in finances, social life apart from the Church, and corrupt politics, depends upon the advancement of the gospel as preached in Home Missions.

Do you ask what the Woman's Home Mission Society has done to ameliorate these evils? Truly "she hath done what she could." But it has been little compared to the great needs of the day. When the women undertook to assist in the Department of Church Extension they found this only the beginning of Home Missions and their hearts were so touched that work and name were broadened and now at the close of twenty-one years reports show that mountain schools have been established at London, Ky., and Brevard, N. C., while the Holston Conference does a noble work at Greenville, Tenn., where last year one hundred and twelve children found shelter and comfort in their Industrial School and Home. The Sue Bennet Memorial was erected eleven years ago at London, Ky., and was given the name of one of the early pioneers of Home Mission work, whose heart and home was with the mountaineers, and what more fitting monument could have been reared than this shining beacon signaling from the mountain side. Here a poor boy with carpet bag thrown over his shoulder, a sack of provisions under his arm, and his feet grown weary from a journey of from twenty to sixty miles, finds a welcome and a home where he can cook his own meals, keep his own house and feast on the knowledge of books and religion; and if he should have a sister they may share the domestic duties and stand shoulder to shoulder in the art of learning. Almost four hundred received mental, physical and moral training during the past year at the hands of the thirteen teachers of this institution.

Brevard Institute, though only three years old, had an enrollment in last report of one hundred and ninety-seven. Truly it is a noble work—this polishing of diamonds in the rough.

The coasts of Florida have become the home of thousands of Cubans and Italians who work from morning until night, from night until morning in the cigar factories. Here indeed was need of missions, and schools for the Cubans have been established in Ybor City, West Tampa and Key West. One hundred and ninety pupils attend the Ybor City and West Tampa missions last year, while Ruth Hargrove Seminary, named for the wife of your esteemed Bishop, was the Gamaliel at whose feet sat three hundred and sixty-three dusky Cubans. An Italian day and night school in Tampa was the means of, last year alone, raising almost four hundred children from their depths of ignorance and Romanism.

Chinese, Japanese and Koreans have drifted across the great Pacific, through our golden gate and into the towns and cities of California. At Alameda, Oakland and San Francisco the Woman's Home Mission Board has established schools for the Japanese, while instruction is given the Chinese at Los Angeles and the Koreans in San Francisco.

It is said that at a recent meeting of the native ministers of the Sunrise Kingdom it was found that almost one-half of them had been converted in the Home Mission schools of America and had returned to their country to tell their dear ones of Jesus and his wonderful love. Thus Home and Foreign Missions go hand in hand.

Three industrial schools have been enterprised by the women of our Board: The Vashti Blassingame Home, at Thomasville, Ga., for friendless girls who are orphaned after the age of twelve; the A. B. C. Home and School for unfortunate girls at Dallas, Texas, and Paine Annex at Augusta, Ga., where negro girls are given training in the different industrial arts.

In all, the Home Mission supports fifteen schools. The chorused cry from all is need of increased facilities. Surely this is where Christ would enter, but there is no room found for him.

Eighteen City Mission Boards, with thirty-three trained workers and one hundred and ninety-one volunteer assistants have this year brightened the life of the poor, cared for the helpless infant whose parents must go out to labor and taught Christ to the children of the alley.

Twenty-six deaconesses are going about doing much good. Whether their lot falls to city mission work, or that of pastor's assistant they are urged by the parent board to always remember that the preacher-in-charge has the right to control every thing done in his Church.

The small salaries of from one hundred to three hundred dollars received by over one thousand ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, shows what a broad field there is for the work of the Parsonage and Supply Department. Last year 929 boxes of supplies were sent to ministers, mission schools and the orphanages, while 192 parsonages were helped.

In twenty-one years two thousand and twenty-three ministers' home have felt the helping hand of the Woman's Home Mission Society and many more will be assisted in the years to come, for one-half of all the dues paid into the general treasury is set aside for this glorious work. A parsonage on every charge is one of the objects of this society.

Every true Home Mission Auxiliary is in full sympathy with the needs of the local Church and parsonage and during the past year $205,287 was raised to relieve these needs, besides making visits to sick and strangers, holding cottage prayer-meetings, helping the needy and distributing garments to the poor. This proves conclusively that the Home Mission Society and that of the Parsonage Aid are not antagonistic, but are happily blended into one.

In 1891 at Carrollton, Miss., the women of the North Mississippi Conference organized a little company to march under the Home Mission banner. In sixteen years they have conquered many a soul for Christ, bridged over many a heart-ache and captured many a citydel of sin. The reports bring us the glad tidings of 114 auxiliaries, with membership of 2061 and 42 parsonages having received donations. Last year $3,984 was paid into Conference treasury, 62 boxes of supplies were sent out and six parsonages given assistance.

As has been said, one desire of the Home Mission Society is a parsonage on every charge, but this is not all, the second desire is a local auxiliary in every Church.

To-day this organization extends to you the hand of greeting, praying that the Father above will guide you in all wisdom in the work of your Conference, that unbounded success may crown the work of the coming year and earnestly pleads for your co-operation in this department of the Master's work.

W. H. M. S.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL!

FOR THE NEW YEAR.

Speak a shade more kindly
  Than the year before;
Pray a little oftener
  Love a little more;
Cling a little closer
  To the Father's love;
Life below shall liker grow
  To the Life above.

(Selected.)

We print below a very important notice from the Vicksburg District, which it were wise if each and every member of all the other auxiliaries of the Conference would also read with care and follow.

It is a lamentable fact that four out of every five members are totally ignorant of the Constitution and Bylaws of the Auxiliary, and if elected to office would scarcely be able to discharge her duties. We speak from experience, as well as from observation, and remember with embarrassment how we, when first elected to the office of secretary, failed on more than one occasion to have the regular meeting announced from the pulpit simply because we didn't know it was our duty.

Then, let us all during the month of January follow the example of the Vicksburg District, and give earnest study to the laws governing our Society.

NOTICE.

Realizing that every member of the Woman's Home Mission Society is eligible to any office, either in the Auxiliary or Conference Society; and that the officers are so dependent upon one another, and upon each member, for a correct report; we have set apart the month of January in which every member of the Woman's Home Mission Society in Vicksburg District is requested to study the Constitution and Bylaws of said societies; and that a discussion of the duties of Auxiliary and Conference officers be held at the February meeting before the election of Auxiliary officers, that each member will be better qualified to vote, and the officers better equipped for their work.

(Signed by Mrs. J. W. Campbell, Dist. Sec.)

MORE WORKERS.

Urgent appeals for ten new workers have been received in the past three weeks. These are from places where there is large opportunity for service and many lives to be saved. Not more than two of them can be answered now.

SELF-DENIAL.

Here are a few reports from the week of prayer, showing how the money came from them who did not have much means:

"We decided to go without meat for breakfast. It is a joy to report $— for the Vashti fund."

"We did without butter all the week, and then thought it hardly enough, so did not have meat for one whole day. It was just a little thing, but we were so happy in doing it."

JAIL WORK.

One jail keeper says that after the visit of one of our deaconesses he often finds the men on their knees or reading their Bibles, and sometimes he does not hear an oath for days.

COMPARATIVE DEATH RATE.

Investigation reveals the fact that for every 1,000 children born in working-class families 505 die in the first year; among the middle classes 173, and among the higher classes only 89. Of every 1,000 illegitimate children registered—almost entirely from the poorer classes—352 died in the first year; 18 per cent of the children of the upper classes, 36 per cent of the tradesmen class, and 55 per cent of the working class die under the age of five years.

FROM "BITTER CRY OF CHILDREN."

"We have an appalling total of more than 95,000 unnecessary deaths every year. Various phases of poverty represent fully 85 per cent., giving an annual sacrifice to poverty of practically 80,000 baby lives."

A MESSAGE FROM DR. MILLS.

Dr. Chas. S. Mills, speaking before the eighty-first meeting of the Congregational Home Mission Society, says: "The peculiar force of the plea for Home Missions lies in the fact that it involves the most intimate and precious of our possessions—the land that we call our own, the church in which he has been reared, the homes for which we are willing to die, the welfare of our children through generations unborn. . . . Then Foreign Missions fail if Home Missions flag. . . . The measurement of the development of power at home, our degree of aggressiveness now in conquering for God our prairies and mountains, our villages and cities, is the measure with which ten, twenty, five years from now, our work will go forward on other shores. . . . The tidal movement of the oppressed from across the seas pouring into America binds us by constantly multiplying cords to the old homes of our new citizens, so that as never before the purity and nobility of our ideals may make themselves felt among all nations."—January Bulletin.

MRS. E. J. HARRIS,
Sup't Press Work, Mississippi Conference.
Meridian, Miss.

Follows the use of Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic on the face after shaving.

Mix with five parts water and bathe the face well each time—and your shaving troubles will all be over.

No more Chafing, Stinging, Chapping or Soreness if you will do this. "It's soothing coolness is delightful."

ALL DRUGGISTS - 25 AND 50 CENTS

Christian Advocate.

REV. JNO. W. BOSWELL, D.D., Editor.
CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TERMS.

One Copy, one year, $2; six months, $1. To Preachers of all Denominations, half-price.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES:

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE—Rev. W. W. Drake, Rev. W. E. Boggs, Rev. N. E. Joyner.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. W. B. Lewis, Rev. J. M. Morse, Rev. M. M. Black.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, D.D.; Rev. J. T. Murrah, Rev. W. W. Woollard.

PROHIBITION IN LOUISIANA.

The prohibition sentiment that has taken such a strong hold on many sections of our Southern country is beginning to manifest itself in Louisiana. And judging by certain things we see in some of the daily papers there is a mortal dread lest New Orleans becomes one of the storm centers. To have the matter stirred in this city would be regarded as a great calamity. New Orleans left alone would be in no danger. What the Antis fear is a move for State-wide prohibition, a move which if inaugurated and pushed, would almost certainly put Louisiana, including the city, in the prohibition column. We will not be regarded as a rash prophet if we venture to say that as much as the antis deplore it, the struggle is coming.

But just now we are particularly concerned about the success of prohibition in the parishes. The elections lately held in parishes and wards have been successful—some of them going dry which have heretofore been proof against attack. The seventh ward of Tangipahoa Parish, which for years has gone for liquor, in an election on the 19th of December went 77 majority for prohibition. The same may be said of whole parishes.

One of the leading parishes of the State is now engaged in a contest, Caddo, with the city of Shreveport as the center. Shreveport is the stronghold of the liquor business in north Louisiana. Much depends on the issue. If won by the prohibitionists it will strengthen and encourage the workers in other sections of the State. If it fails, the day of success will only be delayed. The Anti-Saloon leaders never die or give up.

Shreveport, perhaps, is like New Orleans—saloon-ridden and wedded to liquor revenue. If redeemed from the curse of the traffic it must be by the votes of country citizens. We know this proposition generally raises a howl. The cry is, it is a violation of the principle of home rule. But there is such a thing as "saving a man from his friends." In this case, and all similar ones, if those immediately interested will not save themselves because they see no danger, others must come to their help. And let our country brethren remember another thing: If you vote liquor out of your ward, and do not get it out of Shreveport, the saloon men of Shreveport will not respect your dry territory, but will flood it with liquor as often as they can. So in voting liquor out of Shreveport the country citizen really votes in self-defense. Let every man help the good people of Shreveport.

THE ANNUAL STRAIN.

Our good brother, Dr. Lovett, of the Wesleyan Christian Advocate, writing of the appointments made at the Annual Conferences "by our Bishops, not infrequently men known personally only to a very small number of those whom they appoint," says: "It is an annual strain on the spirit of independence and almost the self-respect of the ministry—a tension so taut that the wonder is it does not snap as often as a Conference is held." Our observation is there is more of what the world calls "kicking" than there is of the snapping of the tension; and this "kicking" is not the result of a strain on independence or self-respect, but of disappointment. In some instances it is because the preacher feels that he has been unnecessarily afflicted. Only a few days since we met a preacher who entertained this feeling. After listening to his story, we could not help thinking that he had a right to complain.

We fail to see wherein the appointment of preachers under our system is a strain on their independence or self-respect. They enter the itinerancy voluntarily. If they maintain their character as good men they can leave whenever they choose. If they do not they are compelled to leave. While they are in, obedience to the constituted authorities should be prompt and cheerful—from a sense of duty, and not because of a surrender of independence or self-respect.

Now and then it is said that our itinerant system is founded on the surrender of the mutual rights of preacher and people: the preacher surrendering his right to select his field of labor, and the people their right to select a preacher. That is a pure fancy. The preacher never had any rights to surrender. We read of nothing of the kind with reference to the apostles. They were "apprehended of Christ" and sent by him and they went—not to places to which they were called by the people, for nothing of the kind occurred, but where they were directed. Nor do we read anywhere in the New Testament of any people organizing themselves into a Church and calling a pastor, nor of any Church exercising such a "right." They had no such right. They accepted pastors who were made their overseers by the Holy Ghost. Reading the New Testament we can but conclude that the apostles never made a move affecting the interest of the Church without first making it a subject of prayer. They sought divine direction. According to St. Luke the Spirit was sometimes as emphatic in forbidding them to enter certain places as in opening doors and commanding them to enter. (Read Acts xvi. 6, 7.)

We would not argue from this or any other passage showing the authority of the Holy Ghost to rule in the Church that Methodism, which partakes of the spirit and practice of the early Church, is a theocracy, or that those who are set to rule among us are inspired as were the apostles, but we do say that our government is modeled after the military plan of the Apostolic Church, and that those who rule among us do so according to their "godly judgment," after earnest prayer to God.

Preachers that seek places and Churches that call pastors are doubtless as godly and sincere as Methodists, and just as earnestly and honestly seek the guidance of the Holy Spirit. But as a matter of fact hundreds of congregational or independent churches are without pastors, and hundreds of their preachers are without churches. This is not true of Episcopal Methodism. We are connectional, and have no pastorless churches, nor churchless pastors. Besides, there is no such thing as a broken pastorate among us. We change pastors, but never break the bond between the preacher and the people.

As we see the matter, it is about as great a strain on the independence and self-respect of the people to receive a preacher whom they do not know, or possibly one they know too well, as it is on the preacher to go to a place he does not like, or to a people he has reason to believe prefer another man. But we have never heard a complaint from the people on that score.

Ours is a great system—not only efficient in supplying the people with the ministry, but successful in winning men to Christ, and when worked for the glory of God gives preachers and people as little cause for complaint as any system ever devised. Preachers and people do sometimes feel aggrieved, but when the appointing power exercises only the authority belonging to him by virtue of his office, he can do nothing to strain one's independence and self-respect—no more than can a commanding general strain the independence and self-respect of a soldier.

PERSONAL.

Rev. R. T. Nolen writes that his postoffice will be Philadelphia, Miss., R. F. D. No. 2.

Rev. C. M. Crossly has been kindly received by the good people of Utica, Miss. He is now well into the work, with a fairly good outlook.

Rev. J. W. Dorman is again at Lexington Station, and met with "a gracious reception." The beginning of the new year is auspicious.

Rev. W. B. Pinson, who went from the North Mississippi to the White River Conference two years ago, has withdrawn from the ministry and membership of the Church. We have not learned the reason why.

The District Stewards of the Brookhaven District are called to meet in Brookhaven Thursday, Jan. 9, not on Wednesday, as printed in last week's ADVOCATE. The presiding elder requests the change to be noted.

Rev. J. W. Booth, who has been visiting among relatives in Jackson, Miss., and Memphis, Tenn., called at the office of the ADVOCATE on his way to his new charge, Gueydan, La., where we hope he may be abundantly successful.

Rev. H. P. Lewis, Sr., seems to have been glad to get back to a people who were made glad at his coming. The Liberty people received him with open arms. Brother Lewis proposes to give our readers some sketches of his ministerial life. They will be read with interest.

Rev. Geo. D. Parker preached Sunday morning last at Felicity Street Church and in the evening at First Church. Wednesday evening of this week he was engaged to speak at the La Fayette Presbyterian Church. Brazil will be the subject of his address.

Rev. D. M. Gean who has been supplying circuits for several years is this year without work. He is ready and willing to help brethren in revival services. He is already engaged to help several. Others who may desire his services are requested to arrange dates with him as early as practicable. His address is Altus, Miss.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick North, of Memphis, Tenn., announces the marriage of their daughter, Jennie Bertha, to Rev. E. D. Lewis, of the North Mississippi Conference. The marriage was celebrated on the 24th of December. They will be at home at Gunnison, Miss., after January 1. We congratulate our young brother on his good fortune.

The American Bible Society has recently established what is called Domestic Agencies. One such agency is to cover the States of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana. The Society has appointed as Agency Secretary for these States the Rev. Glenn Flinn, of the Texas Conference, who is well-known in Louisiana, having served the Church at Alexandria. His headquarters will be Houston, Texas.

Rev. J. W. Ramsey, serving his second year as pastor at Scooba, Miss., met with a cordial greeting on his return. The Kemper Herald says: "Rev. Jno. W. Ramsey, who has so ably and satisfactorily filled the pulpits of the Methodist Churches of this charge for the past year, has been reappointed to this work, a fact which, we believe, will be a source of much gratification not only to his own membership, but to the general public."

Rev. Jno. F. Foster, appointed to Algiers, has entered upon his work, and filled his pulpit last Sunday morning and evening. Besides having been reared in this city, he has served two quadrenniums as pastor, one at Felicity Street Church, the other Burgundy Street, now Second Street Church. He is well-known and popular. He has a fine field for usefulness, and if the Bishops and others will let him alone he will cultivate it diligently for the coming four years.

A presiding elder, wide awake, but whose name it is needless to mention, says: "I will continue to do all I can to extend the field and usefulness of the paper. The works that are furthest behind in all their work are invariably those in which the least number of ADVOCATES are. 'This is, and was and evermore shall be, world without end.' This I am trying to impress upon the preachers and the officials in the District." This witness is true. Brethren, circulate the ADVOCATE.

On the return of Rev. J. W. Campbell to Rolling Fork, Miss., for another term, the Deer Creek Pilot says: "The members of the Methodist congregation particularly, and the public in general, are very much gratified at the appointment of Rev. J. W. Campbell to this charge for another year. As a representative of the Church his people are proud of his abilities and he and Mrs. Campbell have the highest esteem of the entire people. Mr. Campbell says: 'I am glad to be with the Rolling Fork people another year and I trust our association may continue pleasant and prove profitable.'"

Rev. D. M. Blanks, of Opelika, Ala., the officiating clergyman, sends us the following notice, taking us quite by surprise: "At the family residence in Auburn, Ala., on Dec. 26, 1907, Rev. S. S. Keener, D. D., and Miss Barbara E. Wright were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Dr. Keener is a son of the late Bishop John C. Keener, and a member of the Louisiana Conferneee. Miss Whight is a most estimable Christian woman, devoted to Church work, especially along Sunday school lines. By this union Alabama looses and Louisiana gains, but we trust the kingdom of Christ will be advanced." Our prayers and wishes are for the happiness and succecss of Brother Keener and his bride.

NEW YEAR'S GOOD WISHES.

BY BISHOP O. P. FITZGERALD.

My old and beloved friend and co-worker Dr. Boswell, Editor of the New Orleans Advocate, will allow me to send him my New Year's good wishes through this channel. May he have power and love and a sound mind; may his sanctum be truly sacred in the highest meaning of the word; may his patrons be increased in number and be generous in their judgment concerning his work; may his heart be cheered not only by kindly words, but by new subscribers with the cash—in a word, may every good thing that can bring a blessing to an old editor who loves his Master and his work, follow him, and overtake him, during this new year.

Nashville, Tenn.

THE NEW CHURCH AT HOMER, LA.

Is built of red pressed brick. The interior contains auditorium, lecture-room, class-rooms, pastor's study, cloak-room, and balcony.

The seating capacity is 475. The building cost $16,000. $13,500 has been raised of this amount. The Church is under lasting obligation to Brother H. W. Bowman, our pastor, for his untiring efforts in the erection of this building.

A MEMBER.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE ASSESSMENTS.

	Foreign Missions	Domes. Missions	Church Ex.	Education Ex.
Alexandria	$1,102	$1,102	$530	$130
Arcadia	1,355	1,355	600	160
Baton Rouge	1,355	1,355	603	125
Crowley	1,185	1,185	607	185
Monroe	1,016	1,016	432	135
New Orleans	1,102	1,102	594	195
Shreveport	1,355	1,355	642	215

	Conf. Ed.	Bishops	Conf. Clmts.	Minutes	Gen. Con. Delegates
Alexandria	$520	$175	$859	$45	$88
Arcadia	625	215	1105	55	100
Baton Rouge	525	185	945	45	82
Monroe	500	205	1,043	55	88
Crowley	705	225	1306	65	88
New Orleans	775	265	1,366	65	79
Shreveport	850	270	1,376	70	100

SPIRITUAL STATE OF THE CHURCH.

To the Bishop and Members of the Mississippi Conference:

We have cause for thanksgiving to God in that he has blessed our labors in every department of the Church.

There is a growing interest in the missionary spirit. The Church is aroused as never before for an agressive evangelism that shall win this world for Christ.

We hail the launching of the great movement among the laymen of the Church as a precursor of victories heretofore unknown.

The work of the Sunday school and Epworth League prospers. We rejoice that through the Sunday school and Epworth League the training of the young in the Word and in spiritual things is receiving more attention from the Church than in any period of her history. This is as it should be, and shows wisdom on the part of the Church, for if we expect to maintain the Church it must be done through the Sunday school, which is really the work-shop of the Church.

Again, the increased interest in Christian education is cause for much gratification as it indicates the recognition of the fact that our future prosperity and glory is in the training of the young life of the Church and nation.

If we do not educate our sons and daughters for Christian usefulness, the world will certainly win them for itself. We note with rejoicing the large number of conversions and additions to the Church membership during the past year.

Your Committee would insist that the Church, both lay and clerical, should do all in our power to increase their faith, strengthen their hope and perfect them in love, and we, as a Church, should so stress the need of spiritual life, both by precept and example, until every name added to our number shall be an additional force for the accomplishment of good in the world.

HIGH GRADE PIANOS
MARSHALL & WENDELL
ESTABLISHED 1836.
A Piano that has been before the public for more than a half century must possess merit to maintain its popularity. Thousands of them are to-day singing their own praise in the homes of satisfied purchasers.
OUR POPULAR STYLE AT $350
ON EASY PAYMENTS.
Get particulars of our
Six Months Free Trial Plan.
Hakenjos Piano Mfg. Co.,
930 Canal Street
J. BART DAVIS Mgr. New Orleans

We realize that unless the Church shall be a spiritual force which shall strengthen those who come to us and make them a power for good, then these very numbers will become a menace that shall in the end be our undoing.

We would further insist that it is the duty of every pastor to stress the obligation of living up to the vows taken when entering the Church, and that no member shall be permitted to remain among us who habitually break these vows by indulging in those things which the Church forbids.

Such as the modern dance, both in its private and public exhibition is utterly opposed to the genius of Christianity as taught by us. In this same condemnation as equally contrary to the Scriptures which declare, "That the friendship of the world is enmity against God," and also to our general rules, and the vow which our members have voluntarily assumed are included card-playing, attendance upon the race course, theatre-going and the like. Since our general rules declare that those offences are justifiable grounds of discipline, we would recommend that all pastors take a census of the membership of their prospective charges as to those who are indulging in such wordly amusements as is forbidden by the dicipine and specifically mentioned by the Bishops, and firmly enforce the discipline in regard to those members who will not mend their ways; for if the Church believes as it so states that such indulgences are sinful and hurtful to the spiritual life and will cause loss of those so indulging, is it not unjust to those members as well as hurtful to ourselves to continue them among us, thus encouraging them to be at ease in Zion, and therefore making no effort toward a spiritual life.

It will hardly be denied that the worldly life of so many of its members is sapping the spirituality of the Church, and weakening our strength and glory as a mighty spiritual force raised up to spread "Scriptural holiness over these lands." We would suggest that the pastors have this report printed in leaflet and distribute to every member.

Respectfully submitted.

F. A. GRIMES, Chairman.
D. S. HARMON, Secretary.

THE SAFEST AND QUICKEST WAY TO TRANSFER MONEY
—Is By—
Long Distance Telephone
FOR RATES APPLY TO LOCAL MANAGER
Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph Co.
Incorporated

Fill the Tank

with gasolene if you want the motor-car to go. The oil supplies the power that makes the wheels turn round.

The human machine is set in motion in the same way by

Scott's Emulsion

Folks are like motor-cars. At times they get run down. SCOTT'S EMULSION is full of power. It not only produces flesh but gives new power to weak bodies.

All Druggists; 50c. and $1.00.

Obituaries.

Obituaries not over two hundred words in length will be published free of charge. All over two hundred words will be charged at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and send the amount necessary with the obituary. That will save trouble all around.

Mrs. SALLIE BARLOW—At her home in Simpson County, near Rexford, Sept. 5, 1907, the weary wheels of life stood still and the spirit of that bright, devoted woman, Mrs. Sallie Barlow, went home to God. Mrs. Barlow was born April 1, 1878; joined the M. E. Church, South, at 17 years of age; was married to W. G. Barlow on Dec. 24, 1899. She leaves a husband and two little boys, besides a host of friends and relatives to mourn her death. Her death was a sad one for many reasons. I remember, years ago, when we entered school together. A life, all full of smiles, marked her way then. I followed her from school days until death, and a purer character was unknown. It seems that she was warned of death, for she spoke several times the past year of her not living long and said she was ready to meet her God. After an illness of two or three days the soul of the dear mother, wife and friend, left its earthly tabernacle to answer the summons of him who said: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joys of thy God." Her gentle presence, like a benediction, in our homes is lost to mortal eyes, but the influence of a life like her's can never die. The winds which but lately burdened with joy, and came softly whispering of pleasant dells, of flowery vales, to-day seem strongly sighing, and has changed its joys to sorrow in that home. Yet God, in his infinite goodness, "who doeth all things well," saw fit to remove the jewel of earth from the arms of loving husband to the shining courts of heaven, where there shall be no more death. Sallie is gone; her mourners go about the home made desolate. Could tears fill her vacancy her presence would be retained. Could riches have delayed death but for a day, happy would her mourners have been. But there is a Force, more powerful than man, who taught, "Thy will be done." She had lived a devoted Christian and God sent a convoy of angels to waft her spirit home to rest. O, how our hearts ache, and how lonely we are without her, and how we miss her smiles in that home. It was so hard to give her up, but may the bereaved husband and relatives look through their tears and say, "Not my will, but thine be done. The Lord giveth, and the Lord taketh away." As wife and mother, she was true, faithful and patient. She loved her family with that tenderness that is characteristic only of the heart that has felt and known the power of God. She had climbed the rugged mountains of life and had waded through the valleys of sorrow, but at last, borne on the everlasting arms of the Savior, she has been carried through the golden gate and on the restful pacific of God's eternal love. While we are sure she is basking in the realms of eternal rest, still it is sad to look into the faces of the wifeless husband and the motherless children. What blessed hope of meeting her again in heaven! Look up, loved ones, and trust in him who hath promised you grace in these times of need. May her God be the God of the husband and the boys, and may all be bright in the desolate home! With regret we bid farewell to this tender servant of Christ, feeling assured that we will meet her in the far-away city which hath foundations whose builder and maker is God. May God bless and comfort the beraved.

MONROE BALL.

Mrs. HULDA SMITH, the subject af this sketch, was born in Waynesboro, Wayne County, Miss., August 11, 1820, and died at the home of her son, Duncan Smith, near Rayne, La., Sept. 26, 1907, aged 87 years, one month and fifteen days. Her body was interred at the cemetery at Indian Bayou Church, her funeral being conducted by the Rev. Mr. Freeman, pastor of Rayne M. E. Church. The funeral ceremonies were very impressive and will ever be remembered by those who witnessed it, and especially the members of the bereaved family. We, of the bereaved ones, could see, in our imagination, the pearly gates opening to receive her soul as it was wafted on angels' wings to its home in heaven. She has gone to meet the dear ones who have gone before, and to receive us left behind as we cross over the river one by one. While our hearts are crushed to give up our dear mother, ("God gives us but one mother") we know where to meet her. Deceased was happily married to Edmond Smith, our precious father, in 1836. To them ten children were born, seven boys and three girls, five of whom still survive. Two sons died in infancy. In 1860 the family moved from Mississippi and settled in Louisiana. In 1863 the father and husband was called to his reward, leaving the mother to fight the battles of life (which, owing to the terrible war between the States, was hard indeed) alone, with the assistance of her older children, the two eldest of whom were then in the Confederate army. After the death of a widowed daughter the deceased broke up housekeeping, and for many years has made her home with the writer, her only surviving daughter. She moved with the writer's family to Collins, Miss., in December, 1904, and has since that time made this her home mostly, making occasional visits to her children in Louisiana. Our mother had been partially deaf for several years, which fact deprived her of the pleasure of attending the house of God and listening to the sermons, but she always enjoyed the visits of the minister to the home, and those visits were always looked forward to with great pleasure by her and us. The writer asked her the question (although I knew full well that mother was prepared): "Mamma, if it is God's will to take you now, are you ready?" She said, "My child, if I am not ready I never can be. For years I have put all my trust in God." She has gone, but we shall see her again, for soon we shall all be called hence and the earth will know us again no more forever. May God grant that we may so live that when we all shall have passed from this earth we may be reunited in that all glorious and celestial city where God in his infinite goodness reigns forever. Dear mother has gone, but her influence still remains with, and her life reminds us that we should ever be ready to obey the summons when it shall come. "In the midst of life we are in death," and we are reminded of the striking and beautiful words of the poet:

O, why should the spirit of mortal be proud,
Like a swift flashing metior, like a fast flying cloud,
A flash of the lightning, a break of the wave,
Man passeth from life to his rest in the grave.

M. WIMBERLY.

Collins, Miss.

MAGGIE E. NICHOLS was born January 8, 1874, and died October 13, 1907. She was an invalid for eighteen years and a patient sufferer. During all this time she bore her affliction with Christian fortitude, which no one can appreciate who has not endured bitter trials. Maggie was an unselfish and model Christian, always doing good to and for others. She had many correspondents among afflicted people, and one of her last requests was that her mother would write and send some money to a crippled boy, who had appealed to her for help, after she had passed to the better land. The writer was with her a great deal during her last days. In fact, I had known her from childhood and let this suffice "to know her was to love her." She was perfectly conscious up to the last moment, and once when she saw her parents weeping she begged them not to mourn, for she rejoiced that the end was near. Her last words were for her precious brother whom she almost idolized. She requested that Rev. W. S. Shipman perform the funeral service, and that the hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," should be sung, and both requests were complied with. While we mourn for the dear departed it is not without hope, for we have the blessed assurance that she is happy in heaven. With Christian love I admonish father, mother, brother and loved ones to be ready to meet her in the "sweet by-and-by."

ONE WHO LOVED HER.

CHARLES GALLOWAY MUCKERFUSS—On the second day of December the unwelcome messenger came to the home of Brother and Sister Muckerfuss, at Oxford, Miss., and took from their circle their youngest, Charles Galloway. A beautiful, bright, intelligent boy, why might he not remain a joy and a comfort to those who loved him so tenderly, and watched so anxiously his increasing years and wisdom? While such questions shall ever remain unanswered to our finite minds there ever abides the comforting assurance from the lips of the Master that "Of such is the kingdom of God." For five years this little flower gave forth its fragrance in the earthly home, but the lover of children saw fit to remove it to the home prepared in the heavens. Memory recalls another and we mingle our tears with these, our friends, believing that the God of all the earth does what is right.

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

Hattiesburg, Miss.

$100 Reward FOR a better remedy than "REX OIL." It will relieve when others fail. Recommended for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sore Throat, Colic, Croup, Diphtheria, Kidney Trouble, wire cuts, and all Inflammation and pain. See druggists.

BELLS.

Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

Classified Advertisement

EDUCATIONAL.

Wanted.—Young men and women to prepare for tions paying $50 to $150 monthly. R. R. fare paid. Posit guaranteed. Wheeler Bus. College, Birmingham,

WANTED—30,000 telegraphers on account of the n hour law. Draughon's Colleges, 30 in 17 states, give ten contract to secure position or refund money. Add
Jno. F. Draughon, Washington, Nashville, Atl
Raleigh, St. Louis, Dallas, Little Rock, or San Ant

MISCELLANEOUS.

Highest Grade Photo. Finishing: promptly by Expert workmen, best materials, satisfaction gu teed. Enlargements a specialty, a trial will conv
Prices reasonable. Robt. Johnson Kodak and Supp
9 No. Main St., Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

FOR THE HOME.

GEN. ROBERT E. LEE—The best portrait of great commander is steel plate engraving made by the John A. Lowell
Note Co., Boston, Mass. Send for circular and pri

Hosiery and Underwear, direct to the consum wholesale prices. Express prepaid. Catalogue
Pequot Mills, Hartford, Conn.

$100 MAKES YOU A BOOKKEE
OR STENOGRAPHER; it board, tuition and statio POSITIONS.

WALDEN'S BUSINESS COLL

Lake Charles, La. A select schoo highest character. No better cours anywhere at any price. Only 25 scholarships at reduced rates. Free penmanship course. A delightful winter resort. Write to-day to

L. R. WALDEN, President.

MONEY IN TEXAS AND MEXICO.

We offer splendid inducements to join established enterprise with or without services. Deposit $10 and up in monthly installments of only $5 in absolutely safe land proposition that will give you life income. A few capable office people can secure good positions. Write now. San Antonio Real Estate & Investment Co., 228 West Commerce St., San Antonio, Tex.

Don't you know

THAT CRADDOCK-TERRY CO.'S

Long Wear Shoes

wear longer than other shoes at the same price? If not, try a pair of these celebrated shoes and be convinced.

Queen & Crescent Route

Through Pullman Sleeper

TO NORFOLK,

Jamestown Exposition.

Lv. New Orleans daily.......7:50 p. m.
Av. Norfolk ....8:05 a. m.
Second Morning.

ROUND TRIP FARES:

Tickets Limited Dec. 15, '07.......$42.85
Tickets Limited 60 days.............35.00
Tickets Limited 15 days.............28.75
Tickets good in coaches only sold on Tuesday of each week, Limited 10 days.......................22.10

CONFEDERATE REUNION, Richmond, Va.
Round Trip Fare...................$21.15

THE QUICKEST TIME.
FOR DETAILS APPLY AT

Ticket Office, 211 St. Charles St.

Phone Main 4468.

ILLINOIS
CENTRAL

The Double Track Route.

26 Hours to Chicago
21 Hours to St. Louis
22 Hours to Louisville
26 Hours to Cincinnati

Through Sleeping Cars to above points. Dining Cars, Library Cars, Chair Cars and Coaches.
Full Particulars at

City Ticket Office,

141 ST. CHARLES STREET.
Phone Main 3618.

Obituars.

Mrs. MARY A. McKINNEY (nee Bowen) was born in South Carolina, July 30, 1820, and died near Lyon in Coahoma Country, Miss., Nov. 20, 1907. Her family moved to Mississippi when she was a small girl and lived first in Monroe and then in Pontotoc Counties. In 1892 she went to live with her son-in-law in Coahoma County, where she died. Sister McKinney professed religion and joined the Methodist Church while yet a small girl and remained a devout and faithful member of the same town to the day of her death. Purity of heart and life, genuine holiness, marked her life among the people where she lived. Her influence for good was great, lasting and widespread. No one ever doubted her sincerity and purity. Her Bible was her daily companion and for full fifty years she read the entire Bible once a year. She knew the Word of God and feasted upon it. During the last twenty-five or thirty years of her life she read nothing but the Bible, her Church paper and occasionally some good, religious book. She had no taste for secular or worldly reading. Unless providentially hindered, her seat in Sunday School and Church was never vacant. She heard no poor sermons—they were all good or better. Her house was the preachers' home. The room where she spent the last years of her life seemed to be filled with the presence of the Holy Ghost. It was a sacred place. The writer never knew a better woman or one that walked more closely with God. She was ready and fully ripe when the time for her departure came. She went to sleep peacefully and quietly with her head pillowed on the bosom of the Master. She was the mother of nine children, seven of whom are still living, and all members of the Church.

R. G. PORTER.

Mrs. MARY P. McEWEN (nee Lenoir) was born near McComb, Miss., Jan. 8, 1850; was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at Muddy Springs Church, near Magnolia, Miss., under the pastorate of Rev. Andrew Day. She was happily married to G. M. McEwen Dec. 18, 1871, and died Sept. 21, 1907. To them were born nine children, two of whom died when quite young. The writer having been her neighbor pastor four years, and her son-in-law eight years, has had opportunity of seeing much of her the past twelve years, which has been none other than that of a tender, loving mother, a faithful wife, and an exemplary Christian. During her last sickness of about three months she proved to be a patient sufferer, as she passed through all her suffering without complaining. She lived to see all her children members of the Church. When she felt the end was near each child was called to her bedside and she gave them such a good, motherly talk. She said repeatedly, when asked about her soul, "I am ready and waiting for the Lord to come and take me to himself." Among her last words being, "I want to go and be with the Lord." Loving hands have borne her body to its last resting-place. She is gone, but not forgotten. Her words of comfort will abide to stimulate us in life's journey. Loved ones all join in sadly saying "farewell." God grant that the last moment of each of us may be spent as full of hope as her's, then we feel sure of the glad good morning that will be undisturbed forever.

J. T. ABNEY.

G. W. WILLIAMS, son of W. G. Williams and Addie Williams, was born May 24, 1885, and married to Miss Lula Watters Dec. 21, 1905; departed this life July 15, 1907. He left a loving wife and precious babe to mourn his loss, as well as many other loved ones. He was not well for several weeks previous to his death. He went to the doctor, hoping to regain his health; but nothing that he or loved ones could do did any good. Gilbert desired to get well, but was resigned to God's will. We know he has gone to live with our blessed Savior, because just before he died he said: "I'm going to live with Jesus." Then he looked right up to heaven and sang that blessed old hymn, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." While he is greatly missed in his sweet home and community, his loved ones look forward to the time when there will be a great family reunion in the city of our God. Now, may God be a father to the fatherless child and a husband to the wife, and finally bring us all into the haven of rest.

HIS LOVING MOTHER.

LULA JONES—On October 10, 1907, the little daughter of Brother and Sister Poca Jones was called from this world to the streets of gold. Lula was 6 years old; the joy of the home. She had spent six hapy years with her father and mother, gladdening their hearts as they saw her growing out of childhood into womanhood. She was one among five that God in his love has taken from the breasts of mother and father, brother and sisters. Her brothers and sisters left behind are not so blessed as she is, with those who have gone on with her. God serves his purposes in various ways. The five child-angels from that one home will surely act as ministering spirits to those left behind, making heaven sweeter and more real as their loved ones in this world realize that, "All things work together for good to those who love the Lord."

J. F. McCLELLAN, P. C.

CARL GRADY VARNER, the son of Brother Marshall Varner and wife, died at his grandfather's Dec. 16, 1907. Carl was 3 years and 10 months old, his father and mother's "little man." They loved him as father and mother only can love a boy. God loved him more than they, and took him to himself, for he was and is his own. Our Father gives us the things in this world that bring us the greatest joy. It seems at times so hard for us to give back those things to him. Our hearts ache, cry and bleed, for which God is not displeased. Our Lord wept at the grave of his friend. Carl, like a beautiful flower, budded, bloomed and faded in this world to grow again more beautiful than ever in the flower gardens of heaven.

J. F. McCLELLAN, P. C.

JOHN CRAWFORD WILLIAMS, son of Willison and Mrs. A. C. Williams, who was born in Richman County, N. C., Dec. 2, 1827. He moved with his parents to Hardman County, Tenn., and from thence to Jackson Parish, La. He was stricken with spinal afflictions when about eighteen years old. He united with the M. E. Church, South, about the year 1860, where he held his membership and continued a useful member until his death. Brother Williams was a quiet man, letting his light shine for his Lord, whom he loved and served until God called him to his reward. May God sustain the two sisters, Mrs. Martha Belis and Mrs. Rebecca Davis, in their deep sorrow, is the prayer of one who loves them.

P. BURKETT.

Out of a total of 1,570 votes cast Pulaski County, Mo., has run dry by a majority of 634. All good people in Pulaski are "as happy as clams." Whisper it in Gath and thunder it in every street and alley in Askelon.—Frank P. Reno.

When You Take Cold

One way is to pay no attention to it; at least, not until it develops into pneumonia, or bronchitis, or pleurisy. Another way is to ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. If he says, "The best thing for colds," then take it. Do as he says, anyway.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our preparations.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Jos. Weckerling, Pres. Geo. Stahler, Sec'y.

LOUISIANA GLASS and MIRROR WORKS Limited.

PAINTS, OILS AND GLASS.

MIRRORS, MEMORIAL WINDOWS, RE-SILVERING AND GLAZING.

Factory 309-319 Lafayette Street. Office and Sales Rooms 408-410-412 Carondelet Street. Phone Main 792. New Orleans, La.

Distributers, JNO. W. MASURY & SON'S Paints, Colors and Varnishes.

W. H. BYRNES, Pres. JOHN T. GIBBONS, Vice-Pres. W. WOOD, Sec'y.

Capital..................$200,00.00
Assets..................$479,360.90

HIBERNIA INSURNCE CO.,
No. 300 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

LOSSES PAID PROMPTLY.

THE LIVERPOOL
and LONDON
and GLOBE
INSURANCE COMPANY.

AGENCIES THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

Pine-Brook Dairy Co., Ltd

ALL OUR COWS TUBERCULINE TESTED.

Milk and Cream Delivered Morning and Evening.

COR ST. CHARLES & WASHINGTON AVES. Phone 1514 Uptown.

Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company.

THROUGH DAILY PASSENGER SERVICE

Between

NEW ORLEANS and SHREVEPORT,

via

BATON ROUGE, BAYOU SARA and ALEXANDRIA.

FAST FREIGHT SERVICE.

C. ELLERBE,
Asst. to Prest.,
Shreveport, La.

H. B. HELM,
Gen'l Superintendent,
Shreveport, La.

E. C. D. MARSHALL, G. F. & P. A., Shreveport, La.

THE AMERICAN PAINT WORKS,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.,

MANUFACTURES EVERYTHING IN PAINTS,

Guaranteed Strictly Pure

The Climatic Prepared Paints, Perfecto White and

SOLD SUBJECT TO A CHEMICAL ANALYSIS.

DIRECTORS:

Thos. S. Witherspoon, President. Francis Martin, Vice President.
R. B. Parker. John McCloskey. Geo. A. Hero.

PHONE, MAIN 915. Special Attention to Mail Orders

The Union Railraod Business College,

BUSINESS TAUGHT AS IT IS DONE.

Is backed up by thousands of dollars and expert teachers. Uses no text books or copying nonsense. Free scholarships given only to those between the ages of 13 and 35 years.

Business men everywhere are calling for the graduates of this school. For full particulars, address PROF. W. N. STEPHENSON, Texarkana, Texas.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

Louisiana Conference.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—FIRST RND.

Wilson, at Wilson	Jan. 4, 5
Clinton	Jan. 5, 6
Ethel, at Ethel	Jan. 11, 12
Jackson	Jan. 12, 13
Baker, at Baker	Jan. 18, 19
Zachary and Slaughter, at S.	Jan. 19, 20
Touchatoula, at Touchatoula	Jan. 25, 26
Hammond 7 p.m.	Jan. 26
Independence 11 a.m.	Jan. 27
Amite City 7:30 p.m.	Jan. 28
Franklinton, at F.	Jan. 29, 30
Mt. Herman, at Tangipahoa	Feb. 1, 2
Kentwood 7 p.m.	Feb. 2
St. Francisville, at St. F.	Feb. 8, 9
Port Vincent, at P. V.	Feb. 15, 16
Live Oak, at Denham Spgs.	Feb. 16, 17
Pine Grove, at P. G.	Feb. 22, 23
St. Helena, at Center	Fb. 29, 1
E. Feliciana, at Oak G.	Feb. 7, 8
Melville, at Melville	Feb. 14, 15
New Roads and Jacoby	Feb. 21, 22
First Church, Baton R.	Feb. 29, 30
Second Church, Baton R.	Feb. 29, 30

The District Stewards will please meet me Jan. 20, 1908, in Slaughter Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m. The pastors will please call the attention of the Stewards to this notice. The preachers of the District are invited to be present. R. W. TUCKER, P. E.

MONROE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Bastrop, at Bastrop	Jan. 4, 5
Rayville, at Oak Ridge	Jan. 5, 6
Downsville, at Downsville	Jan. 11, 12
Bonita, at Bonita	Jan. 18, 19
Monroe, at Monroe	Jan. 19, 20
West Monroe, at W. M.	Jan. 21
Tallulah, at Tallulah	Jan. 25, 26
Lake Providence, at L. P.	Jan. 26, 27
Farmerville, at Farmerville	Feb. 1, 2
Brookland, at Brookland	Feb. 7, 8
Eros, at Eros	Feb. 8, 9
Mer Rouge, at Collinston	Feb. 15, 16
Mangham, at Mangham	Feb. 16, 17
Harrisonburg, at H.	Feb. 22, 23
Florence, at Florence	Feb. 23, 24
Waterproof	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Floyd, at Floyd	Mar. 7, 8

District Stewards will meet me at Rayville, Dec. 30.

J. E. DENSON, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUSD.

Grand Cane, at G. C.	Jan. 4, 5
Pelican, at Pelican	Jan. 11, 12
Coushatta, at Coushatta	Jan. 18, 19
Wesley, at Carrol Creek	Jan. 25, 26
La Chute, at La Chute	Feb. 1, 2
Shreveport, First Church	Feb. 9, 10
Shreveport, Texas Ave.	Feb. 12
Mansfield Ct., at Bethel	Feb. 15, 16
Mansfield Ct., at Bethel	Feb. 15, 16
Zwolle, at Zwolle	Feb. 22, 23
Many, at Many	Feb. 23, 24
Ida, at Gillian	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Greenwood, at Greenwood	Mar. 7, 8
Shreveport City Mission	Mar. 8, 9
Hornbeck, at Holly Grove	Mar. 14, 15
Leesville Station	Mar. 15, 16
Bon Ami	Mar. 21, 22
De Ridder Station	Mar. 22, 23
Pleasant Hill, at P. H.	Mar. 27, 28
Provincal, at Provincal	Mar. 29
Mooringsport, at M.	Apr. 4, 5

T. J. WARLICK, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Benton, at Benton	Jan. 11, 12
North Bossier at P. Dealing	Jan. 13
Haughton, at Haughton	Jan. 15
Simsboro, at Simsboro	Jan. 18, 19
Bienville, at B. 11 a.m.	Jan. 21
Homer	Jan. 22
Haynesville, at H.	Jan. 25, 26
Gibsland, at G.	Feb. 1, 2
Louisville, at L.	Feb. 3
Winnfield	Feb. 4
Bernice, at Alabama	Feb. 8, 9
Jonesboro, at J.	Feb. 10
Vernon, at Wesley Chapel	Feb. 12
Ringgold, at R.	Feb. 14, 15
Ruston	Feb. 18
Cotton Valley	Feb. 22, 23
Minden	Feb. 24
Lisbon, at Lisbon	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Arcadia	Mar. 8, 9

District Stewards' meeting at Gibsland Thursday, Jan. 9, 1 p.m.

BRISCOE CARTER, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST RND.

Parker Memorial a.m.	Jan. 5
Algiers p.m.	Jan. 5
Louisiana Avenue a.m.	Jan. 12
Epworth p.m.	Jan. 12
Bogalusa	Jan. 19
Plaquemine and White C.	Jan. 25, 26
Donaldsonville and Vach.	Jan. 26, 27
Covington, at Covington	Feb. 1, 2
Slidell, at Slidell	Feb. 8, 9
Carrollton Avenue a.m.	Feb. 16
Second Church p.m.	Feb. 16
First Church a.m.	Feb. 23
Felicity p.m.	Feb. 23
Reyne Memorial	March 1

The District Stewards will meet in the pastor's office of the First Church on Tuesday, Jan. 14, at 7:30 p.m.

F. N. PARKER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Pollock and Olla at P.	Jan. 4, 5
Tioga, at Tioga	Jan. 5
Trout and Jena, at T.	Jan. 11, 12
Somerville and Eden, at Jackson Chapel	Jan. 15
West Alexandria	Jan. [illegible]
Dry Creek, at Dry Creek	Jan. 18, 19
Glenmora, at Glenmora	Jan. [illegible]
Columbia	Jan. 27, 28
Selma	Jan. 27
Chicot, at White's Chapel	Feb. 1, 2
Montgomery, at Montgomery	Feb. 5
Lecompte, at Lecompte	Feb. 8, 9
Bunkie	Feb. 10
Simsport	Feb. 11
Opelousas	Feb. 15, 16
Natchitoches	Feb. 22, 23
Boyce	Feb. 24

District Stewards will meet in the West Alexandria Church on Wednesday, Jan. 22, at 10:30 a.m.

N. E. JOYNER, P. E.

Mississippi Conference.

NATCHEZ DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Liberty, at Liberty	Jan. 4, 5
Centreville	Jan. 11, 12
Homochitto, at Mt. Olive	Jan. 18, 19
Bethel, at Macedonia	Jan. 25, 26
Gloster	Jan. 26, 27
Barlow, at Rehoboth	Feb. 1, 2
Hamburg, at Hamburg	Feb. 8, 9
Fayette, at Fayette	Feb. 15, 16
Percy's Creek, at Dawson's	Feb. 22, 23
Woodville	Feb. 23, 24
Natchez, Pearl St.	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Natchez, Jefferson St.	Mar. 1, 2
Bayou Pierre, at P. V.	Mar. 7, 8
Caseyville, at New Hope, Monday, 11 a. m.	Mar. 9
Wilkinson, at Friendship	Mar. 14, 15
Meadville, at Providence	Mar. 21, 22
Washington, at W.	Mar. 28, 29

The District Stewards will meet in Gloster, on Wednesday, Jan. 22, at 11:30 a. m. J. T. LEGGETT, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Utica, at Utica	Jan. 4, 5
Harriston, at Harriston	Jan. 11, 12
Port Gibson, at P. G.	Jan. 13
Crawford St., Vicksburg	Jan. 15
Lorman, at Lorman	Jan. 18, 19
South Warren, at Red Bone	Jan. 25, 26
S. Washington, Vicksburg	Jan. 27
Bolton, at Bolton	Feb. 1, 2
Hermanville, at H.	Feb. 8, 9
Silver City, at S. C.	Feb. 15, 16
Satartia, at Wesley Chapel	Feb. 18
Oak Ridge, at O. R.	Feb. 22, 23
Edwards, at Edwards	Feb. 24, 25
Anguilla, at Anguilla	Mar. 1, 2
Rolling Fork, at R. F.	Mar. 2, 3
Mayersville, at Mayersville	Mar. 3, 4
Rocky Springs, at R. S.	Mar. 7, 8

The District Stewards will meet in Crawford Street, Vicksburg, Jan. 15. A full attendance is expected and urged.

G. H. GALLOWAY, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Purvis	Jan. 4, 5
Eastabutchie	Jan. 11, 12
Americus, at Pleasant Hill	Jan. 18, 19
Lucedale	Jan. 19, 20
New Augusta	Jan. 21
McHenery and Wiggins, at McHenery	Jan. 21
Pass Christian	Jan. 25, 26
Bay St. Louis	Jan. 27
Pearlington and Logtown, at Logtown	Jan. 28
Van Cleave	Jan. 30
Escatawpa	Jan. 31
Moss Point	Feb. 1, 2
Pascagoula	Feb. 2, 3
Lumberton	Feb. 8, 9
Biloxi, Main St.	Feb. 15, 16
Long Beach	Feb. 17
Hattiesburg, Main St.	Feb. 21, 22
Hattiesburg, Broad St.	Feb. 22, 23
Hattiesburg, Court St.	Feb. 24
Carriere and McNeill, at Carriere	Feb. 29, 1
Brooklyn and Bond, at Brooklyn	Mar. 6
Mentorum and New Zion, at New Zion	Mar. 7, 8
Gulfport, 25th Ave.	Mar. 10
Gulfport, 29th St., at Handsboro	Mar. 11
Ocean Springs and Oak St., Oak St.	Mar. 12
Coalville, at Poplarhead	Mar. 14, 15
Howison and Saucier, at S.	Mar. 15, 16
Wolf River, at Durhams C.	Mar. 17

District Stewards will meet at Main Street, Hattiesburg, Jan. 15, at 11 a. m.

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND

(In Part.)

Prentiss, at Prentiss (Thurs)	Jan. 2
Hub, at Hathorn	Jan. 4, 5
Columbia	Jan. 5, 6
Silver Creek, at Bethel	Jan. 11, 12
Magnolia (Wed)	Jan. 15
McComb and Fernwood, at La-Branch	Jan. 18, 19
McComb, Centenary	Jan. 19, 20
Hazlehurst (Wed)	Jan. 22
Gallman, at Bethesda	Jan. 25, 26
Crystal Springs	Jan. 26, 27
Pearlhaven, at P. (Thurs)	Jan. 30
Tylertown, at T.	Feb. 1, 2
Brookhaven (Wed)	Feb. 4
Bogue Chitto and Norfield, at B. C.	Feb. [illegible]
Adams, at Adams	Feb. [illegible]
Beauregard, at B.	Feb. [illegible]
Wesson	Feb. [illegible]
Monticello, at M.	Mar. [illegible]
Summit, at Summit	Mar. [illegible]
Topisaw, at Topisaw (Wed)	Mar. [illegible]

The District Stewards will please meet at the Methodist Church in Brookhaven, Miss., at [illegible] m., Wednesday, Jan. 8.

GEO. H. THOMPSON, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Carrollton, at Carrollton	Jan. 4, 5
[illegible] Bena	Jan. [illegible]
Belzoni, at Belzoni	Jan. 11, 12
[illegible] and Milben, at E.	Jan. [illegible]
M[illegible], at M.	Jan. [illegible]
[illegible], at I.	Jan. [illegible]
Inverness, at Inverness	Jan. [illegible]
Schlater, at S.	Feb. 1, 2
Webb, at Tutwiler	Feb. 4
Minter City, at M. C.	Feb. 8, 9
N. Carrollton, at Eden	Feb. 12
Winona Ct., at New Hope	Feb. 15, 16
Mars Hill, at M. H.	Feb. 18
Tom Nolen, at Stewart	Feb. 22, 23
Ruleville, at Drew	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Vance, at Vance	March 3
Slate Springs	March 7, 8

The District Stewards Meeting will be held in the Methodist Church, Winona, Miss., Jan. 15, 1908, at 11 o'clock a. m. A full attndance is very much desired. E. S. LEWIS, P. E.

NEWTON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Bay Springs, at B. S.	Jan. 4, 5
Taylorsville, at T.	Jan. 8
Laurel	Jan. 9
5th Ave. and K.	Jan. 10
Montrose, at Montrose	Jan. 11, 12
Shiloh, at Shiloh	Jan. 15
Morton and P., at M.	Jan. 16
Forest and H., at F.	Jan. 17
Lake, at Lake	Jan. 18, 19
Newton	Jan. 19, 20
Raleigh, at Trinity	Jan. 23
Trenton, at Burns	Jan. 24
Homewood, at H.	Jan. 25, 26
Hebron, at Hebron	Feb. 1
Ellisville, at E.	Feb. 2, 3
Harperville, at H.	Feb. 7
Walnut Grove, at W.	Feb. 8, 9
Carthage, at C.	Feb. 9, 10
Edinberg, at Waldo	Feb. 15, 16
Philadelphia, at P.	Feb. 16, 17
Indian Miss., at Philadel.	Feb. 17
Neshoba, at Mt. Pisgah	Feb. 18
Decatur, at Union	Feb. 22, 23
Chunkey, at C.	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Vossburg and H., at V.	Mar. 7, 8
Rose Hill, at Rose Hill	Mar. 14, 15

District Stewards will meet in the Methodist Church in Newton, Jan. 3, at 11 a. m. JAS. M. WEEMS, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Clarksdale, 11 a. m.	Jan. 5
Lula, at Lyon 7 p. m.	Jan. 5
Hollandale, at Arcola 11 a. m.	Jan. 12
Leland 7 p.m.	Jan. 12
Greenville	Jan. 18, 19
Cleveland Ct. 11 a.m.	Jan. 23
Cleveland Sta. 7 p.m.	Jan. 23
Boyle, at B.	Jan. 25, 26
Duncan, at Alligator p.m.	Jan. 26
Coahoma, at C. 11 a.m.	Feb. 2
Tunica, at T. 7 p.m.	Feb. 2
Robinsonville, at R.	Feb. 3, 4
Rosedale 11 a.m.	Feb. 9
Hill House, at Gunnison, p.m.	Feb. 9
Friars Point	Feb. 16, 17
Jonestown	Feb. 23, 24
Shaw	Mar. 1, 2
Glen Allan and Greenville Mission	Mar. 7, 8

District Stewards Meting will be held at Cleveland, Jan. 21, at 3 p. m., and there will also be a meeting of the prachers of the District at the same place Jan. 21 and 22. In the case of the Quarterly Conferences coming last, the Presiding Elder hopes to meet and confer with the Official Boards much earlier than the dates above announced.

R. A. MEEK, P. E.

North Mississippi Conference.

DURANT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Sallis, at Hurricane	Jan. 4, 5
Kosciusko Station	Jan. 5, 6
Chester, at Nebo	Jan. 11, 12
Ackerman, at Ackerman	Jan. 12, 13
Pickens, at Pickens	Jan. 19, 20
Durant Station	Jan. 26, 27
Rural Hill, at Rural Hill	Feb. 1, 2
McCool, at McCool	Feb. 2, 3
Ebenezer, at Hebron	Feb. 8, 9
Lexington Station	Feb. 9, 10
Vaiden, at Vaiden	Feb. 12
Black Hawk, at B. H.	Feb. 15, 16
Sidon & Tchula, at Cruger	Feb. 19
Kosciusko Cir., at Bethel	Feb. 22, 23
West, at West	Mar. 1, 2
Louisville, at Louisville	Mar. [illegible] 4
Poplar Creek, at Friendship	Mar. 7, 8

District Stewards will meet me at Durant, Jan. 15.

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUSD.

Aberdeen	Dec. 15, 16
H[illegible]	Dec. 22, 23
[illegible]	Jan. 5, 6
Shannon, at Shannon	Jan. 11, 12
Ve[illegible]	Jan. 12, 13
[illegible] Station	Jan. 19, 20
Buena Vista, at Buena Vista	Jan. 24
Prairie, at Prairie	Jan. 25, 26
Amory and Nettleton, at A.	Feb. 2, 3
[illegible] Ct., at Tabernacle	Feb. 5
[illegible], at Sumrall	Feb. [illegible]
Vardaman, at Vardaman	Feb. 8, 9
[illegible], at Wesley Chapel	Feb. 15, 16
M[illegible], at Sparta	Feb. [illegible]
P[illegible], at A[illegible]	Feb. [illegible]
Pontotoc, at Pontotoc	Feb. 23, 24
Ne[illegible], at Evergreen	Feb. 29, Mch 1
[illegible], at Ant[illegible]	Mch. 2
[illegible], at Moore Chap.	Mch. 4
[illegible] Ct., at Gr. Spgs.	Mch. 7, 8
[illegible], at Hardies Chap.	Mch. 12

The District Stewards will please meet me in Aberdeen Jan. 10, 1 p.m.

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Columbus, First Church	Dec. 21, 22
Columbus, Second Church	Dec. 22, 23
West Point	Jan. 4, 5
Columbus Ct., at New Hope	Jan. 11, 12
Starkville Ct., at Smyrna	Jan. 18, 19
Starkville	Jan. 19, 20
Shuqualak, at Salem	Jan. 25, 26
Macon	Jan. 26, 27
Winstonville, at Middleton	Feb. 1, 2
Mayhew, at Artesia	Feb. 8, 9
Mathiston, at Mathiston	Feb. 15, 16
Crawford, at Crawford	Feb. 22, 23
Sturges, at Sturges	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Brooksville, at B.	Mar. 7, 8
Hebron, at Hebron	Mar. 14, 15
Cedar Bluff, at Phoeba	Mar. 21, 22

The Board of District Stewards will please meet promptly at 3 o'clock p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 9, 1908, in the study of First Church, Columbus. This will give time for all to arrive on day trains and go out at 4:30, and make connection at Artesia with M. & O. train north and west to Starkville.

L. M. LIPSCOMB, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Booneville Sta.	Dec. 22, 23
Corinth Sta.	Dec. 29, 30
Iuka Ct., at Harmony	Jan. 4, 5
Iuka Sta.	Jan. 5, 6
Kossuth Ct., at Wesley's C.	Jan. 11, 12
Corinth Ct., at Gaines Chap.	Jan. 14
Mooresville and Saltillo, at S.	Jan. 18, 19
Guntown and Baldwyn, at G.	Jan. 19, 20
Mantachie Ct., at Hebron	Jan. 21
Belmont Ct., at Pattersons	Jan. 25, 26
Tishomingo Ct., at Boggs	Jan. 28
Wheeler Ct., at Wheelers	Feb. 1, 2
Marietta Ct., at Marietta	Feb. 4
Myrtle Ct., at Hickory Flat	Feb. 8, 9
Blue Springs Ct., at B. S.	Feb. 10
New Albany Sta.	Feb. 16, 17
N. Albany Ct., at Mt. Olivet	Feb. 18
Booneville Ct., at Carolina	Feb. 22, 23
Jonesboro Ct., at Camp Gr.	Feb. 26
Rainey and Faulkner, at R. C.	Feb. 28
Ripley and N. H., at Ripley	Feb. 29, 1

The District Stewards are called to meet in the pastor's study at First Mthodist Church in Corinth, Miss., on Wednesday, Jan. 15, 1907, at 10 o'clock a.m.

BEN P. JACO, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Sardis	Dec. 22, 23
Como	Dec. 29, 30
Senatobia	Jan. 4, 5
Mt. Pleasant	Jan. 11
Byhalia	Jan. 12, 13
Olive Branch, at Kelley	Jan. 14
Arkabutla, at Hunter's C.	Jan. 18
Cold Water	Jan. 19, 20
Cochrum	Jan. 25, 26
Wall Hill	Feb. 1, 2
Pleasant Hill, at Lewisburg	Feb. 8
Hernando and Hinds, at H.	Jan. 9, 10
Courtland	Jan. 15, 16
Harrison	Jan. 22, 23
Eureka, at Cole's Springs	Feb. 29, 1
Tyro, at Fredonia	Mar. 7, 8
Long Town, at Davis Ch'l	Mar. 14, 15
Crenshaw	Mar. 21, 22
Batesville	Mar. 28, 29

The District Stewards will please meet at Cold Water, Jan. 20.

W. M. YOUNG, P. E.

OXFORD DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Abbeville Ct., at A.	Jan. 4, 5
Oxford Station	Jan. 8
Holly Springs Ct., at Lamar	Jan. 11
Holly Springs Sta.	Jan. 12, 13
Potts Camp Ct., at P. C.	Jan. 17
Red Banks, at R. B.	Jan. 18, 19
Ashland Ct., at Liberty	Jan. 21
Water Valley, Main St.	Jan. 23
Water Valley, First Church	Jan. 24
Grenada Ct., at Spring Hill	Jan. 25, 26
Grenada Station	Jan. 26, 27
Charleston Ct., at Charleston	Jan. 28
Coffeeville Ct., at C.	Jan. 30
Water Val. Ct., at Palestine	Feb. 1, 2
Paris Ct., at Paris	Feb. 8, 9
Toccapola Ct.	Feb. 14
Randolph Ct.	Feb. 15, 16
Waterford Ct.	Feb. 22, 23

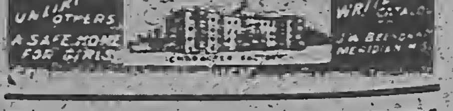
The District Stewards will meet in the church at Oxford on Wednesday, Jan. 15, at 10:30 o'clock.

J. E. CUNNINGHAM, P. E.

Young's BUSINESS COLLEGE VICKSBURG, MISS.

If interested in business education send your name NOW for a booklet we are getting out; entitled, "For They Themselvs Have Said It"

The Egyptian Cement Burial Vault is absolutely air and water tight. Costs little, lasts forever. Nothing to equal it; fully protected by patent. Agent wanted. But little capital required. It will produce a good income in any community. Egyptian Cement Vault Co., 323 Paul Jones Bldg., Louisville, Kentucky.



BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS. UNLIKE OTHER BELLS SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY. Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

General News

New Orleans has had two dry Sundays. Sunday, a week ago, Mrs. Carry Nation was in the city and very willing to know of a saloon that was violating the Sunday closing ordinance. Whether this had anything to do with it or not, no one could say, but no one could tell her of a single "back door route" that was open. Last Sunday was also very dry, but it is rumored that the initiated could make their way in. But we did have one Sunday that shows that the law can be enforced.

While the attention of the mass of the people is directed to the movemnt of the fleet that is making its way to the Pacific, the Naval Department seems determined to keep some of the interest at home. They have developed quite a tempest in a teapot as to whether a hospital ship shall be commanded by a line officer or not. Admiral Brownson, chief of the Navigation Bureau, resigned, rather than give his consent to it. Many bitter things are being said pro and con, but the main objection to putting Surgeon Chas. F. Stokes in ocmmand of the naval hospital-ship, Relief, seems to be that it is contrary to the red tape in which the navy glories.

The financial circles of New Orleans have been deeply stirred over the disappearance of William Adler, President of the State National Bank of this city. As a result of the loss of confidence caused by the transaction brought to light, it is possible that the bank may go into liquidation. There will be no loss to the depositors if this occurs, as the bank is perfectly solvent.

The Chicago Law and Order League is making a move in the right direction. It is attacking the police officers that do not enforce the law. The pressure of the public should be brought upon all public officers who fail to do their duty, and the faithful ones should be supported and encouraged.

During the year 1907 there was built in the Southern States 3,331 miles of railroad. Of this total Louisiana had the greatest increase. This State has made a gain of 536 miles.

There may be one result of the movemnt of the fleet of battle ships unforeseen by many: the South American States will be impressed with the power of the United States to maintain the Monroe Doctrine. The fleet is receiving an ovation wherever it stops. There is not the slightest indication that it is regarded as a menace to South America, but it is enabling men to realize the power of the "big neighbor."

The Japanese Diet was formally opened on the 28th ult. by the Emperor in a three minutes' speech. That is not the fashion over here.

The Russian Douma made an appropriation of $7,500,000 for famine sufferers to be immediately available. This money is for use in twelve provinces. But our nation has enough to eat and to spare.

The Nevada Legislature has been called in special session. The President of the United States has notified the governor of Nevada that unless the Legislature requests that the troops be left he will order the United States soldiers moved from Goldfield. Goldfield is now quiet, but both the employers and the miners' union seem to dread the removal of the regular troops.

Church Directory

New Orleans District, Rev. F. N. Parker, D. D., Presiding Elder; residence, 241 Olivier St.

First Methodist Church, St. Charles Ave., near Calliope street; Rev. J. E. Wray, pastor; residence, 5830 Prytania St.; phone 329 (uptown.)

Second Methodist Church, 2531 Burgundy, near Lafayette Ave.; Rev A. Inman Townsley, pastor; residence, 2531 Burgundy St.; office hours, 9 to 11 a. m.

Parker Memorial, corner Nashville avenue and Perrier street; Rev. C. D. Atkinson, pastor; residence 734 Nashville avenue.

Louisiana Avenue, Louisiana Avenue and Magazine Street; Rev. W. W. Holmes, pastor.

Rayne Memorial, St. Charles Avenue and General Taylor Street; Dr. John A. Rice, pastor; residence, 1101 Peniston Street.

Felicity Street Church, corner Felicity and Chestnut Streets; Rev. Albert S. Lutz, pastor; residence, 2421 Chestnut street; phone, Uptown 1832.

Carrollton Avenue, corner Carrollton avenue and Elm street; Rev. Henry T. Carley, pastor.

Algiers, Lavergne Street, corner Delaronde; Rev. J. F. Foster, pastor.

McDonoghville and Gretna, Rev. H. Whitehead, pastor; residence 5208 Magazine Street; phone, Uptown 2459.

Epworth Church, Corner Banks and Scott streets; Rev. L. A. Simms, pastor; residence, 4031 Palmyra street; phone, Main 4284.

Rev. L. E. Wicht, junior preacher Lower Coast Mission; address, 509 Board of Trade Bldg., New Orleans.

PREACHER WANTED.

For a good circuit in the North Mississippi Conference, Oxford District. Good parsonage and the right kind of people. They will take proper care of the right man—married or single. Write at once, giving references.

J. E. CUNNINGHAM.
Oxford, Miss.

HELPING MAKE HEAVEN.

Let us not forget that every day we are helping to make our own heaven. A few years ago it was our privilege to take a trip to Europe and the Orient. Among the passengers on our cruise were a bride and groom. They had been married just before the vessel set sail, and seemed exceedingly happy in all their experiences. But this we noticed, that at every port we entered, and in all the cities, they were buying things and sending them back to America—beautiful rugs, choice pieces of antique furniture, vases and ornaments, and useful articles, too. All these things they were sending over to help make their home when they should arrive. Do we realize it, that there is a sense in which we make our heaven? There is a great many people who seem to think that Heaven is to be a gift, ready-made, handed over to us complete, without any effort or price from us. But a heaven into which we have put nothing cannot be a real heaven to us. We must send our treasures, hopes and thoughts forward into it. We must have learned its language, acquired its spirit, and gained some homestead rights there, if it is to be really a home. The most beautiful house on earth can be made into a home only by the life that goes within it. And the same is true of the heavenly mansions. They will be as largely what we carry into them. We must build and furnish our heaven by what we do and are day by day, and what we send ahead into it.—G. B. F. Hallock, D. D.

THE JANUARY AMERICAN BOY.

Strange stories, interesting information, valuable instruction, and encouragement along lines of right living and high endeavor make the JANUARY AMERICAN BOY a noteworthy issue. The front cover page picture speaks eloquently of "Breaking Home Ties." Dr. Owen's pirate story in continued two chapters, as is also That Dillingham Boy. Mr. Trowbridge's serial, The Boy and the Beast, is concluded, and Mr. Tomlinson's serial, Four Boys on the Mississippi, is begun, and promises to sustain the splendid reputation of the author as a writer for boys. A notable article is Canal and Jungle, the Boy's Own Story of the Big Ditch at Panama, written by Hugh C. Weir, who was specially sent by THE AMERICAN BOY to Panama to write up the true conditions for its readers, and the boys will enjoy the snap and vim of the story. All the regular departments are filled with matter in which boys delight. Sixty-four illustrations. $1.00 a year. The Sprague Publishing Co., Detroit, Mich.

I stood on the beach, looking off over the sea, and there was a strong wind blowing; and, noticing that some vessels were going one way and other vessels were going another way, I said to myself: "How is it that the same wind sends one vesel in one direction and another vessel in another direction?" And I found out by looking that it was the difference in the way they had their sails set. And so does trouble come in this world. Some men it drives into the harbor of heaven, and other men it drives on the rocks. It depends on the way they have their sails set. All the Atlantic and Pacific oceans of surging sorrow cannot sink a soul that has asked for God's pilotage.

T. DeWitt Talmage.

WHY PAY $15.00 TO $20.00 FOR A GOLD WATCH WHEN YOU CAN BUY ONE AT WHOLESALE FOR $3.75?

Sign your name and express office below and return this ad. Watch will then be sent C. O. D. Examine at office and if you think it a bargain pay the agent $3.75 and charges and it will be yours. If you don't live near express office send cash with order and 25c for registered mail. Mention whether you want Ladies' or Gents' size. H. A. SHEELER JEWELRY CO., Winston-Salem, N. C. 412 Liberty St. P. O. Box 714.

HAVE YOU ECZEMA?

Do you scratch, scratch?

Perhaps you are despairing of its ever being cured. But if you will follow our directions, no matter how long standing, such a thing as a failure to cure is unknown.

TETTERINE is a remedy of purest antiseptic ingredients, put up in the form of a fragant ointment, pleasant to use and harmless to the most delicate skins. It soothes and cures all forms of eczema, tetter, itching piles, rash, scalp diseases, etc.

The diseased parts should first be cleansed with TETTERINE SOAP, the greatest of skin purifying and beautifying soaps, as well as the purest and sweetest for toilet, bath and nursery. Soap 25c, ointment 50c, from your druggist, or sent direct on receipt of price to SHUPTRINE COMPANY, ... SAVANNAH, GEORGIA.

You Look Prematurely Old

Because of these ugly, grizzly, gray hairs. Use "LA CREOLE" HAIR RESTORER. Price, $1.00, retail.

Sunday School

By W. B. Campbell.

LESSON FOR JAN. 5, 1908.

THE WORD MADE FLESH.

John 1, 1-18.

Golden Text—"The Word was made flesh and dwelt among us."—John i. 14.

During the year just ended we have seen how God hath revealed himself through material things, and visible acts of his providence. We began our lessons with a study of the creation; and the introduction was "in the beginning." We enter upon this New Year's study and we read again, "in the beginning," but we are now to learn how God hath revealed himself by his Son.

We are to be taught through the medium of love, for God is love, and the book from which our lessons were taken was written by "the disciple whom Jesus loved." How sweet to know that so close intimacy as that between the Lord and John is possible to the lowliest sinner with his Redeemer.

When John wrote, the three preceding gospels had already been written, and through them the faithful had become familiar with many incidents in the life of our Savior that John does not mention. If our faith in the divinity of Jesus is strengthened and made sure, and our spiritual vision made clearer, our lessons from this book, all through the next half-year will serve the purpose for which they were no doubt selected. "In the beginning was the Word," that is at the time of the world's creation, and that is mentioned for the benefit of mortal man's ideas as being confined and governed by events of the past, present or future. In eternity there is no passing of time; everything is the eternal present, and it hath not pleased God to give the mind of man the power to conceive of such a state. We can only say to ourselves and teach to our children that Jesus was always and will ever be our Lord and Savior. John gives Jesus the name "Word." It has always been the good pleasure of God's will that man should know him, and as words are means of communicating intelligence, God has sent his Word (that is his Son) to tell man that God is his Father, who loves him, and that from the very first transgression the great plan of redemption was begun and will continue until "his foes shall be his footstool."

Aside from being the messenger of God's will concerning man, in this Word was life, such life as is the light of men. It was this light that showed to faithful Abraham that far-away "city that hath foundations." The same light that shines in the sin-darkened heart, driving away "the darkness that comprehended it not." This Word, this Light, this Life, does not break upon a sin-clouded soul with deific effulgence, for man's vision was created first for earthly vision; such glorious light would strike him down, as was Paul on the road to Damascus. The herald precedes and announces the approach of the King. "There was a man sent from God, whose name was John." He came for a witness, and the testimony of this witness is with us to-day in all its truth and verity: "Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world." "He was not that light." Those days were days of expectancy, and many who searched for him who should redeem Israel might have taken John to be the Messiah. John lost no time in defining the position of both the advancing Lord and the receding forerunner: "He must increase, but I must decrease." This from the man whom Jesus announced as the greatest born of woman. This Word, this Life, this Light of men, was in the world that he made, and that same world did not know him. He came unto his own and they received him not. With the Church in the wilderness they could not discern him, nor in the limpid stream of the smitten rock, nor in the brazen serpent lifted up in sight of the dying hosts. They received him not, but to as many as received him "gave he power to become the sons of God." And the same Holy Spirit told John to further write: "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be."

With keen desire to assure the world of Jesus' divinity, John brings forth a material fact that "The Word was made flesh and dwelt among men" he sets forth his life as one of the "spiritual things that can only be spiritually discerned." If God came and lived and moved among men, it was only for man's good. God needs nothing; the wonderful love in it all can only be learned through the Spirit that reveals it. John wrote this spiritual book, and who can say that he received not the directions therefor when he leaned upon the breast of his Lord? Anyhow, we have the blessed words, praise the Lord; and in heaven, where his word is settled forever, the blessed Book may always remain open, showing to the redeemed that it is true as there has been therein written: He is "the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world."

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

Marriages.

In Howannee, Miss., on Dec. 1, 1907, by Rev. D. E. Vickers, Mr. L. L. DAVIS, of Moss Point, Miss., to Miss LOU HAVARD, of Hawannée, Miss.

At the Methodist parsonage, Escatawpa, Miss., on Aug. 29, 1907, by Rev. D. E. Vickers, Mr. STEPHEN CUMBEST to Miss FLORENCE GOFF, both of Wade, Miss.

Married at Indian Bayou Church, Dec. 17, 1907, by Rev. J. D. Nesom, Mr. GUSTAVUS MORGAN to Miss EDITH HOFFPAUIR.

At the First Methodist Church, New Orleans, La., on Dec. 18, 1907, by Dr. John T. Sawyer, Mr. WILLIAM RICHARD McHUGH and Miss OCTAVIA WAINWRIGHT.

At the home of Mr. Joe Smith on Dec. 12, 1907, by Rev. H. B. Perritt, Mr. H. O. THRASH to Miss CARRIE RIVERS.

Nov. 27, 1907, at the residence of the bride's father near Concord, Union County, Miss., by Rev. A. W. Langley, Mr. E. R. HALEY and Miss LILLIE SMALLWOOD.

In the Methodist Church in New Albany, Miss., Dec. 11, 1907, Dr. J. B. LONG, of Ackerman, Miss., and Miss STELLA LANGLEY, daughter of Rev. A. W. Langley of the North Mississippi Conference. The ceremony was performed by the father of the bride, assisted by Rev. O. L. Savage.

Davies County, Mo., went "dry" November 12 by a majority of 1,112. The vote was 1,898 against saloons to 786 for them.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

I am sure that our friends must be more and not less to us in the other world, and that this world only begins friendship.—Phillips Brooks.

Frank J. Matthew,
PAINTER and DECORATOR.
1003-1005 Gravier Street. Phone, Main 4087.
Box No. 141, Contractors' and Dealers' Exchange.

THE BEST MADE.
Angell's Cough and Whooping Cough Syrup
For Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Throat Trouble.
CONTAINS NO OPIUM OR MORPHINE,
All Druggists, Price 25 and 50 Cents.

The Paris Commercial College
is a manufacture world of business. Every student is furnished a separate well-equipped private office and given individual instruction. The best board is secured at the least cost, in a city free from saloons and their kin, and where health is the best. Positions secured. You have missed your best opportunity if you fail to write for our large, free 94-page illustrated catalog before entering elsewhere. Address
A. P. LEVER or N. B. ABERNATHY, Assoc. Pres.
Box 167 D., Paris, Texas.

If you are not satisfied with your present salary write to-day for particulars. Good positions always ready for our graduates. We cannot supply the demand.
Harris Business University
THE ONLY BUSINESS UNIVERSITY IN THE SOUTH JACKSON, MISS.

STEWART HOME and SCHOOL FOR FEEBLE-MINDED CHILDREN AND ADULTS.
Expert training, mental development, and care by specially trained teachers, and experienced physician who has devoted his life to the study and treatment of nervous children. Home influences. Delightfully located in the blue grass section of Kentucky. 100 acres of beautiful lawn and woodland for pleasure grounds. Elegantly appointed building, electric lighted and steam heated. Highly endorsed and recommended by prominent physicians, ministers and patrons.
Write for terms and descriptive catalogue. Address
DR. JNO. P. STEWART, Supt., Box 4, Farmdale, Ky.

Dr. Brown's Magic Liniment

This bottle for you---FREE
Those who seek relief from rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, headache, backache, lumbago, sprains, sore muscles, and other pains—Read carefully.
We want to help you. We know the marvellous curative power of Dr. Brown's Magic Liniment; how wonderful it is; that when it is poured on a piece of cloth and pressed closely to the place where the pain exists the pain instantly vanishes. It is different from other liniments which need rubbing. You simply smother the cloth under your hands and the liniment penetrates to the source of the pain and instantly relieves it. It soothes the nerves, produces warmth, and starts up the circulation. We know it does all these things—AND WE WANT YOU TO KNOW IT.
Send for the sample bottle and try it. Write to
BROWN CHEMICAL CO., Dept. A. Nashville, Tenn.

TO PRACTICAL FARMERS
THE COLE PLANTERS
HAVE PROVEN
That they are time and money savers.
The Cole Universal Planter No. 7
Distributes guano and drills cotton seed at the same time. Drops corn, one grain or more if wanted. Perfect pea planter; fine for peanuts, sorghum, beans, etc.
The guano is mixed with soil and is not in contact with seed. Gives better stands increases the yield, and saves labor. It is simple, practical and easy to run. Over 30,000 farmers are using Cole machines with satisfaction and profit. They will save you much time and money.

"I would not take $150.00 for my Cole Planter if I could not get another."—Edward Scholtz.
Write to-day for illustrated catalogue explaining all about them.
The COLE MANUFACTURING CO.
CHARLOTTE, N. C.

FEARFUL BURNING ITCHING

Relieved by Heiskell's Ointment

Eczema Quickly Cured

Even the old, stubborn cases of long standing, with their attendant aggravations—itching, burning skin, splotches and raw eruptions can be immediately relieved, finally and permanently cured by the regular use of Heiskell's Ointment.

The first application practically dries up the raw sores, instantly cools and soothes the skin and stops the irritating itch.

The hands should be washed in lukewarm water, carefully rinsed and dried, then Heiskell's Ointment applied, being gently rubbed in with the fingers. Fresh antiseptic bandages should be used after every application. One or two applications according to the above directions will produce a wonderfully grateful relief and improvement. Any kind of skin diseases and humors are amenable to Heiskell's Ointment. It readily soothes and heals where other preparations fail, and there is no skin disease, no matter how stubborn or long standing, not constitutional, that it will not cure. Its effectiveness is proven by the instant relief following its first employment.

Cures Erysipelas, Prurigo, Eczema, Milk Crust, Itching Piles, Scald Head, Tetters, Ringworm, Black Heads, Psoriasis, Pimples, Freckles, Sunburn, etc.

In some cases it is necessary to give constitutional treatment with Heiskell's Blood and Liver Pills, as in eczema and erysipelas, to tone up the liver and purify the blood.

Cure is hastened in all skin diseases by frequently bathing the affected parts with Heiskell's Medicinal Soap and toning up the blood with Heiskell's Blood and Liver Pills. In mild skin disorders, such as rashes, eruptions, pimples, etc., Heiskell's Medicinal and Toilet Soap is particularly effective, and its constant use not only insures a delightfully clean and luxurious bath, but its medicinal qualities, those of the ointment in a mild form, will prevent many diseases and disorders that the skin is heir to.

Heiskell's preparations are free from injurious properties and can be safely employed, even upon the thinner skin of babies.

Sold by all druggists, or supplied by mail direct by us. Ointment 50c a box; Soap 25c a cake; Pills 25c a box.

Johnston, Holloway & Co., 531 Commerce St., Philadelphia, Pa.

LIGHTS

ALL STYLES OF WELSBACH GAS LIGHTS—Well Known.

TUBUS GAS LIGHTS Something New.

INVERTED GAS LIGHTS. Very Popular, at $1.10

THE FELLBOELEL COAL OIL LAMP that burns a mantle 60 hours to one gallon of coal oil. You must see this brilliant light.

Gasoline Hollow Wire Lamp Systems, substitute for gas and electric lights.

FULL STOCK OF LIGHTING SUPPLIES.

The N. O. Light-House.

[illegible] Camp St. New Orleans, La.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

Has been used for over SIXTY-FIVE YEARS by MILLIONS of MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. It SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN; CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHŒA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number [illegible]. AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.

HOLIDAY RATES

Will be granted as usual this season by the

Southern Pacific Sunset Route

Connections made at New Orleans with all lines to the

North East and Southeast

WRITE FOR INFORMATION

G. E. GUEDRY, D. P. A.
Lake Charles.
F. E. BATTURS, G. P. A.
New Orleans.

Epworth League

By Rev. H. Whitehead.

ONWARD, EPWORTH LEAGUERS.

By Mrs. L. M. Lipscomb.

(To the tune of "Onward, Christian Soldiers.)

Onward, Epworth Leaguers,
Fighting for the right;
Jesus is your Captain,
Wear his armor bright.
He will guide and strengthen,
He will help you win;
Onward, Epworth Leaguers,
Fighting vice and sin.

Chorus.

Onward, Epworth Leaguers,
Fighting for the right;
Jesus is your Captain,
Wear his armor bright.

Onward, Epworth Leaguers,
Soldiers brave and true;
Victory is certain,
God will see you through.
Glorious your triumph,
Loud your shouts of praise,
Satan's hosts are trembling,
Joyous anthems raise.

Every year your army,
Grows in strength and might;
Angels are rejoicing,
At the glorious sight.
Young and old are joining.
Work and sing and pray,
Take the world for Jesus,
Speed the happy day.

Sin with all its pleasures
Soon will pass away,
But the words of Jesus
Will abide alway,
Starry crowns await you
When the battle's o'er.
Onward, then to victory,
Doubt and fear no more.

Columbus, Miss.

PRAYER-MEETING TOPIC.

Jan. 5 Secret Prayer and the Informing Power of the Word of God. Matt. vi, 5-15. (For the Quiet Hour Covenant.)

Our lessons for the next quarter will be principally on prayer. The place of secret prayer is an essential factor in the development of character. You may deceive yourself when with others, but when practically alone with God you will open your heart, if ever you do.

In one of the mission fields, where the natives lived in rude huts, they were trained to go out in the woods for secret prayer. The constant passing back and forth would soon wear a path. If a Church member began to neglect his place of prayer the weeds would begin to grow in the way. Then some brother would rebuke the neglectful one by saying, "Brother, the weeds are growing on your path." Are the weeds growing on your path?

2. Prayer throws light on the Word of God.

The Word of God was given by the Holy Spirit speaking through men. A clear understanding of its truths can alone be attained through the help of that Spirit. The Bible is an inexhaustible mine, but like most mines, you may pass over the surface and discern nothing of the treasures hidden below. When the soul has called on the King for help, and he has given of his Spirit, then the secret things will be opened to you. When you have formed the habit of praying over your Bible as you read you will marvel at the new light that will be shed upon its pages.

3. When rightly studied, the Word of God will be a source of knowledge and power.

Knowledge is principally made up of the relations between things as to time, place, circumstance, etc. But the Bible treats of the fundamental relations, and the source of all being. It delves deeper into your own life than science can possibly go. It reveals your relations to the unseen. You can never rightly know anything else until you have a fair knowledge of yourself.

But to know yourself is the most difficult undertaking. You may master any field of science easier than you can master your own soul. Men have stood high in the honors of the world that could not rule their own souls. But he who studies himself in the light of a prayer-searched Bible will find help for every problem of life. All human experience is written there. There is not a sorrow-stricken heart but may find sympathy there, from one who understands. The soul that, in doubt, searches for the path with prayer over God's Book will find a whole constellation shining upon his way. Do you seek for what the world sometimes calls "practical." An eminent business man has said that there is no better book of business methods than the Book of Proverbs. Is your soul seeking for its true destiny, its real purpose in living? Before you this Book sets forth the Son of Man in his sublime majesty and yet simple perfection of life as the eternal pattern of the soul, the ultimate goal that divine wisdom has set for each of us.

Are you looking for home, the home that shall never fail, or trembling before the dark curtains of the unknown future; then to the praying child of the King will this Book bring a vision of things to come. The eye of faith will almost see the glories of the city of God, and at times the soul will almost hear the wondrous music of the choirs that surround the throne.

My brother, my sister, shut yourself away from all your kind, and commune with God and search his Word, then will you be able to go forth among your fellows with a light to shine upon your path and a heart to serve those around you and a faith that will enable you to endure as those who see the invisible.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo,
Lucas County.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D., 1886.

(Seal.) A. W. GLEASON,
Notary Public

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucuous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO.,
Toldo, O.

Sold by all druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC

Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

25 BEAUTIFUL POST CARDS.

In order to get agents in every town we will send 25 Souvenir Post Cards including FINE flower, handn. paintings, FUNNY Comics, etc. No two cards alike, retail in all stores 2 for 5 cents. With your NAME WRITTEN IN GOLD on 10 of them for 25 cents in silver or stamps. If not satisfied, money will be refunded. Contract sent with first order. Address HOME CARD CO., Box E. Lexington, N. C.

MOXINE

Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

The Sower [illegible]
No Second Chance
Good sense says make the most of the first.

FERRY'S SEEDS

have made and kept Ferry's Seed Business the largest in the world—merit tells.

Ferry's Seed Annual for 1908

tells the whole Seed Story—sent FREE for the asking. Don't sow seeds till you get it.

D. M. FERRY & CO., DETROIT, MICH.

MAGIC WHITE SOAP WILL MAKE YOUR WOOLENS SOFT & SWEET
MAGIC WHITE SOAP HAS NO EQUAL FOR WASHING WITH HARD WATER

SAY MA, IF I LIVE WILL I BE AS BIG A GOOSE AS YOU?
YES, MY CHILD, IF YOU DON'T USE

MAGIC WHITE SOAP

Rub Magic on soiled parts, leave them in water one hour. No boiling; no washboard; no backache, if you use MAGIC WHITE SOAP; will iron easy as magic; has no rosin like in yellow soap.

Get your grocer to order or send us $4.00 for one box of 100 5c. cakes. We pay freight. Save the wrappers.

MAGIC. KELLER SOAP WORKS, LTD

NEW ORLEANS.

BLOOD POISONING POSITIVELY CURED

Hereditary, primary, secondary and tertiary. Scrofula, Eczema, Blood and Skin Disease. If you have exhausted old time methods, and want to get well, write me in fullest confidence for proof of cures. Take my treatment and get well. A. A. BROWER, M. D.
San Antonia, Tex.

BIG BARGAINS IN TYPEWRITERS.

All Standard Makes, from $10 to $55. All makes rented, $1 to $3 per month. Rebuilt and practically as good as new. We can save you from $35 to $65 on any make. Don't buy until you consult us. Send for Price List A. Write to-day.

BLANKS & BLANKS,
520 Poydras St., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

FOR RENT.

Two-story house, 545 Lowerline St., one-half square from St. Charles Ave., New Orleans, La. Eight rooms; reception hall; all modern conveniences; large yard, etc. Apply to Rev. J. W. Tinnin, Pelican and Lavergne, Algiers, La.

Catarrh Medicine Free

Write To-day

Send your name and address and say you have Catarrh. I will gladly explain my new system of treatment and tell you how to cure yourself quickly at your own home. In addition I will send a months medicine free of charge to demonstrate that Catarrh of the Head, Nose or Throat or Constitutional Catarrh in any form can be cured. Thousands have already been cured. Many in one month. Others who have been afflicted 15 and 20 years were cured in two and three months. I want to cure you to introduce my new system of treatment in your neighborhood.

Send No Money This offer is fair and square; the acceptance of it places you under no obligation to me whatever. I simply want to show one sufferer in every community that I have the greatest treatment in the world for catarrh. If interested write to

DR. T. F. WILLIAMS.
504 Flynn Bldg, Des Moines, Iowa

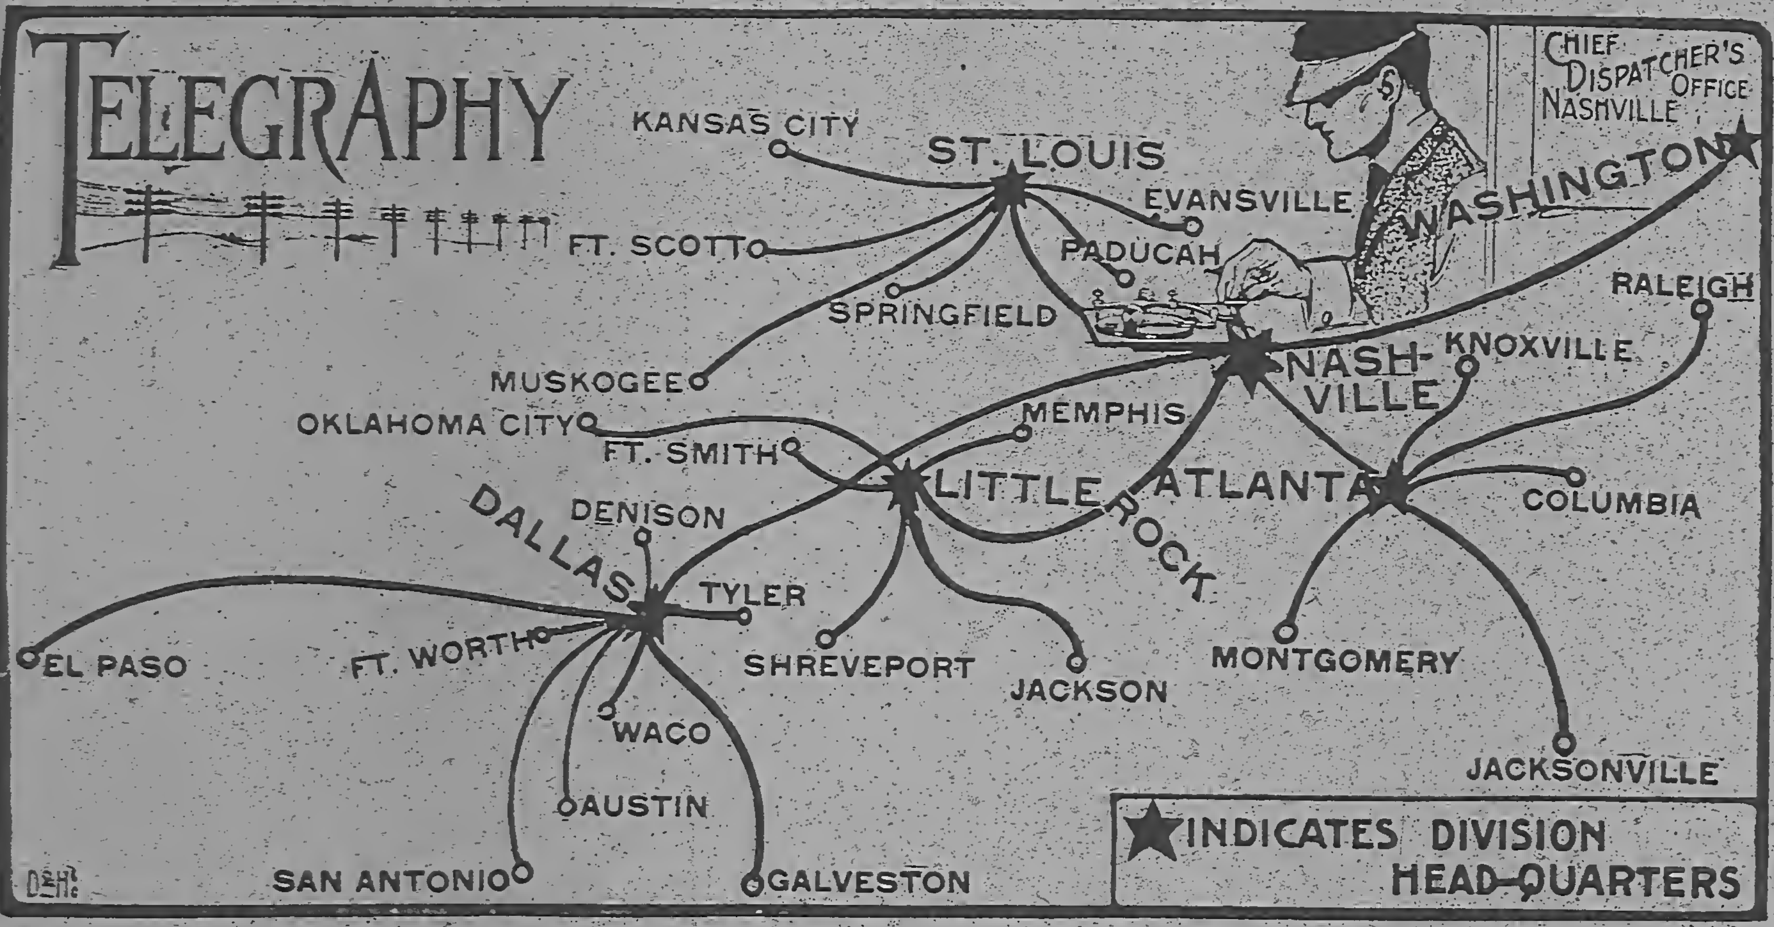
30 - THOUSAND - 30 TELEGRAPH OPERATORS WANTED

DRAUGHON'S

Practical Business Colleges

Get Busy Agreeing to Furnish 3,000 Telegraph Operators Within Next 18 Months



By wire connections messages may be received by one of Draughon's Telegraphy Colleges from the others. The above map shows the geographical locations of Draughon's 30 Colleges.

PAY AFTER YOU GET POSITION Students who enroll in one of Draughon's Colleges for Telgraphy soon may pay $25.00 of tuition AFTER course is completed and POSITION is SECURED.

Learn Telegraphy WHY?

Thousands of miles of new railroad now being completed, and Congress having passed a bill requiring railroad companies not to work telegraph operators more than nine hours a day, which will necessitate making three shifts in every twenty-four hours, about THIRTY THOUSAND more telegraph operators than can be secured will be needed in a few months. Salaries have been increased, and the chances for promotion for telegraph operators were never better.

Draughon's Practical Business College Company has been induced by railroad officials to establish Telegraphy Departments in its great chain of 30 Colleges. Railroad wires have been put into Draughon's Colleges by railroad companies, giving students main line practice. Practical telegraph operators of many years' experience are employed as teachers.

For booklet on Telegraphy and Railroading, giving reasons why you should learn Telegraphy, showing great opportunities for promotion for the telegraph operator, giving rates of tuition, and written contract guaranteeing that position will be secured, call on or address Draughon's Practical Business College, at any place on above map.

GOOD SALARIES

A telegraph operator receives a monthly salary of from $40 to $150. The hours of work are about the same as those in any other office position. To operators possessing executive ability there are always opportunities to work up to higher positions, the yearly salaries of which run into the thousands. Draughon gives the necessary foundation; it rests with you as to what heights you will attain in your chosen work.

T. W. Caldwell, Master of Trains, L. & N., writes:

"Prof. Jno. F. Draughon: There was never a time since I can remember that equaled the present for young men and women learning Telegraphy to rise in the railroad business. It is my opinion that any young person with a good common school education can learn the business in about ninety days, and immediately secure a position that will pay not less than $50 a month. Promotion is swift and sure if the opportunities offered are accepted and proper application to duties given. I shall take pleasure in giving students or prospective students any information desired on this subject. If I can be of any benefit to you in the promotion of your schools, I shall be pleased to respond at any time you call on me."

A. W. Sulliven, General Manager, the Operating Department, Missouri Pacific Railway Company, St. Louis, Mo., writes:

"Prof. Jno. F. Draughon, President of Draughon's Practical Business College Company: I am pleased to note the development of opportunity for persons desiring to acquire a knowledge of the telegraph business. There is a good demand for railroad telegraphers throughout the country, and young men ambitious for advancement, who can qualify as telegraphers, can READILY obtain positions, with good prospects of promotion."

S. K. Bullard, Supt. Telegraphy Department Missouri, Kansas & Tex. Railway, Sedalia, Mo., writes:

"Draughon's Practical Business College Co.: On many of our railroads the highest officials were ORIGINALLY in the Telegraphy Department. There is a large field for the telegraph operator."

SCROFULINE
The Wonderful Healer

Unsurpassed for all skin and scalp troubles, eczema, tetter, blood poison, old sores, ulcers and piles—any nature or duration. Goes to the very seat of the trouble, kills the germs and extracts all foreign matter. A powerful remedy, yet can be applied to the most delicate parts. Sold under a guarantee, 50c and $1.00 per jar. By mail upon receipt of price.

The Scrofuline Co. . . . . . . Waco, Texas.
SOLE OWNERS AND MANUFACTURERS

9 CORDS IN 10 HOURS

RUNS EASY No Backache
weighs only 41 lbs.
EASILY CARRIED
SAWS DOWN TREES

BY ONE MAN, with the FOLDING SAWING MACHINE. It saws down trees. Folds like a pocket knife. Saws any kind of timber on any kind of ground. One man can saw more timber with it than 2 men in any other way, and do it easier. Send for FREE illustrated catalog, showing latest IMPROVEMENTS and testimonials from thousands. First order secures agency. Address
FOLDING SAWING MACHINE CO.,
158-164 E. Harrison Street, Chicago, Illinois.

ONLY 10¢ HYMNS OF HIS GRACE BY P. P. BILHORN 243 GOSPEL SONGS
BILHORN BROS. 152 LAKE ST. CHICAGO.

RHEUMATISM

Cured by Dr. Shafer's New System of Treatment, based upon the Chemical Analysis of the Urine. No charge for consultation, analysis of urine and report. Mailing case for urine sent free. Dr. Shafer has the Largest Practice of any specialist in the world. Address J. F. SHAFER, M. D., 461 Penn Ave., Pittsburg, Pa.

FREE World Wonder (WELTWUNDER)

Stereoscope and 18 Colored Views sent postpaid for the name and address of two or three canvassing agents and 25 cents. This introductory offer limited—act quick.
ART VIEW CO., CHICAGO.

NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

REV. JOHN W. BOSWELL,
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass[illegible]tor.

NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 9, 1908.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher.
Office, 512 Camp St., New Orleans.

VOL. 55—No. 2.

"PROVE ALL THINGS; HOLD FAST THAT WHICH IS GOOD."

WHOLE No. 5381.

Life.

Let me but live my life from year to year
  With forward face and unreluctant soul,
  Not hastening to nor turning from the goal;
Not mourning for the things that disappear
In the dim past, nor holding back in fear
  From what the future veils; but with a whole
  And happy heart, that pays its toll
To Youth and Age, and travels on with cheer;

So let the way wind up the hill or down,
  Though rough or smooth, the journey will be joy:
  Still seeking what I sought when but a boy,
New friendship, high adventure, and a crown,
  I shall grow old, but never lose life's zest
  Because the road's last turn will be the best.

Henry Van Dyke, D.D.

Christian Advocate.

Published for the Louisiana, Mississippi and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South

DIRECTIONS.

Correspondents will please direct all communications intended for the Editor to 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La. Communications intended for the Business Department should be addressed to the Manager of the New Orleans Christian Advocate. Write with ink and only on one side of the paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after two weeks, notify us, and we will make it right. Papers will be continued unless subscribers order otherwise.

The Foreign Advertising Department of the N. O. Christian Advocate is in the hands of

Religious Press Advertising Syndicate

JACOBS & CO., CLINTON, S. C.,

J. F. JACOBS, Mgr., Home Office, Clinton, S. C.
Thornwell Jacobs, 55 Arcade, Nashville, Tenn.
J. D. Jacobs, 343 Fifth Street, Louisville, Ky.
C. C. Little, 614 Mutual Bldg., Richmond, Va.
L. J. Carter, 132 LaSalle Street, Chicago, Ill.
J. B. Gentry, Columbia, S. C.
E. J. Barrett, Dallas, Texas.
Thos. L. Bryan, 232 Courtland St., Atlanta, Ga.
Miss M. R. Middleton, 150 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.

Glances at the World.

The supreme court of Kansas has recently interpreted a new law of the State which involves the rights of widows. The court held that "if the wife continues to reside upon the homestead after the death of her husband, even if she have no children, it is exempt as a homestead, and cannot be taken for her own or her husband's debts, no matter when such debts have been incurred." This gives equal homestead rights to the husband and wife, and it gives the widow that which she needs more after her husband's death than while he was living. Kansas sets a good example to the rest of the States where the rights of women are concerned.

* * *

Alabama and Georgia, especially Alabama, are having trouble in carrying out the recent prohibition legislation. In Georgia a man engaged in selling "bottled liquor" was arrested, but put in the plea that he was "exercising a constitutional right." On this plea the case will go to the supreme court of the State. In Alabama other technical methods will be undertaken to test the law. In various counties the liquor men are endeavoring to force the probate judges to issue licenses to applicants. Failing in this they will appeal on the ground that the local option law is unconstitutional, because it is a local, and not a general law. A wholesale firm in Birmingham also sought to force the probate judge to issue a license. The application was denied. This will likewise be used as a test case. The liquor men will find every possible loop-hole, and for a time delay the full operation of the law, but they are fighting against fate. Prohibition will triumph.

* * *

The Postmaster General has issued an order correcting an abuse that has been tolerated in connection with the carrying of the mail over country routes. Heretofore contractors or their deputies have carried liquor from one point to another. This is to cease. The order issued against it is as follows: "It is hereby ordered that it shall be a condition of any contract hereafter entered into for carrying the mails upon star, screen wagon, messenger or special service routes, that the contract carrier shall not transport intoxicating liquor from one point to another upon such route while in the performance of mail service." This order was made in obedience to public sentiment as indicated by the vast number of complaints made to the Post Office Department against the unwholesome practice of too many mail acrriers.

* * *

One of the Vanderbilt heiresses of New York is to be married very soon to a titled gentleman with an unpronounceable name. We spell it as we find it in the papers, but leave our readers to sound it—Count Szechenyl. In her preparation for the occasion she has determined to out-do, in the matter of expense, every rich American girl that ever got married. Princesses of royal blood seldom ever spent as much on clothes as Miss Vanderbilt has on her wedding outfit. The whole trousseau is imported. The "Four Hundred" who make up New York's social set, it is said, are astonished at the number and cost of Miss Vanderbilt's garments. She has a dozen tailor suits, thirteen separate coats (one costing $2,000), thirteen sets of furs, seventy-two gowns, one set of twelve costing $10,000, and one set of twelve costing as low as $600. She has shoes and silk stockings to match every gown, and dainty slippers to match the negligees. Her hats match the street gowns, and every dinner and theatre gown. She has twelve money purses that cost $250 apiece. She has six dozen gloves, twelve dozen handkerchiefs, two dozen parasols, and eight dozen suits of underclothes of the finest and most exquisite materials. Besides all these is the wedding gown which cost $10,000. All told, the outfit when completed will cost $100,000—enough money to make two thousand ordinary country brides, just as beautiful and as worthy, supremely happy. This extravagance is unpardonable.

* * *

The mob-spirit that takes possession of people when a strike of any magnitude occurs—people who under ordinary circumstances are quiet and law-abiding—is a sad comment on our boasted civilization, and power of self-government. In more than one place at the same moment we read of riot and blood-shed participated in by men, women and children because manufacturers, or mine owners or transportation companies, or men in some other line of traffic, insist on conducting their business as they see proper. With these rioters the exercise of personal freedom and responsibility is utterly denied to the owners and managers of property. They virtually say to them: You shall conduct your business as we dictate, or you shall not conduct it at all. Only recently President Roosevelt was called on to furnish Federal troops to keep down rioting at a western mining camp. At this writing Muncie, Indiana, is under martial law by proclamation of Gov. Hanly in order to save the property of the street car company. This proclamation was not made until the city police had worn themselves out battling with 3000 men, women and children. Everybody knows that it is the privilege of men to organize for mutual help—in doing so they have universal sympathy. But they lose that sympathy largely when they refuse to let other men work or undertake to destroy other men's property.

* * *

The following is an extract from a document sent out by one Francis B. Livesey, of Sykesville, Md., (so the dispatches say) who proposes to be a reformer: "Prohibitionists are sweeping things. They say they want to rid the land of lunatics, paupers, suicides, home-wreckers, dependents and criminals. But with every saloon in the land closed up they still have on hand the biggest breeder of all the above undesirables—the public school. Time was when only a few "cranks" said this, now leading men say it and prove it. The saloon waits for its victims to become men, and even then leaves them a free choice. Contrary to this, the school snatches from the crib and has a compulsory law to compel the lambs to be sent to its slaughter. By their nerve-destroying processes the school breeds drinkers, and where they are supported by the liquor tax, as at Mobile, they simply have returned to them that which they have sown. My ancestor, Joseph Livesey of England, was the father of teetotalism, as I am of the public school abolition." All that sounds like the ravings of one demented, or "gone to a fock," as a man in Arkansas said of his neighbor who lost his mind. We are at a loss to know on what ground this man bases his charge. We can see some danger of destroying what little faith many children have in religion and the Bible in these cities where the authorities deliberately and publicly exclude from the schools the Bible and all forms of teaching calculated to impress the idea of God and responsibility to him. It has never occurred to us that the public schools are feeders of saloons. School boards will hardly substitute faith in the saloons for faith in God. Yet it is possible that where dependence is so largely placed on revenue from the saloons to carry on the schools, and so much said about it, to impress school children with the idea that saloons are good things to have, and should be licensed for the sake of the schools. That would be a calamity indeed.

HEART AND CONSCIENCE.

Wm. Rice Sims.

These are the governing forces of the moral world. If the preacher would reach them he must speak from his own heart and conscience. This is the true telepathy. The more one studies the simple and yet unfathomable life of Christ, the more one is convinced that it was through the avenue of heart and conscience that he sought to reach the world.

The New Testament is largely a book of personal experiences. The four evangelists are merely biographers. The title, "Acts of the Apostles," is self-descriptive. All the epistles are brimfull of individual life and character. And the Apocalypse: What does it say in its own preface? If you have been studying the Revelation of St. John the Divine and have not read the first verses of the first chapter you have missed the key to the whole book. Read them now:

"The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave unto him to show unto his servants things which must shortly come to pass; and he sent and signified it by his angel unto his servant John, who bare record of the Word of God, and of the testimony of Jesus Christ, and of all things that he saw."

The things that he saw. This is the clue: The old class-meeting of the Mthodists hit the same key-note, and in that key the hymns of Charles Wesley are all pitched. They are not idealistic. They are hot from the breath of human want, wet with tears of human penitence; and in their sublimer strains they soar on the wings of human faith. The journal of John Wesley is full of the same essential oil. So are the experiences of the other pioneers of Methodism.

The Salvation Army, which in some respects is doing the grandest work in the world to-day, is striking the same key-note. While others are debating (one might moderately say, quarrelling) over the revision of creeds, plenary inspiration, prophecy and miracles, this unlettered and untitled band of the slums is caring for the needy, the sick, the outcast, and in the end asking him only, "Tell us, tell the world, what Christ has done for you."

Might it not be wise for preachers to move away a block or so from dogma and precedent, break loose from the decrees of council and the fashion-plate of custom, swing out and away from ancestral traditions, ritualism and idolatry, abolish all this higher criticism and fetisch-worship, and get back to the simple Christ-life and the resulting life that is Christ-like?

The world is not ready for this yet. In the great capitalistic and trust systems that are governing finance to-day, Jesus would be called a communist. But death is a great leveler, and eternity cancels and obliterates the bank accounts and the fine-spun distinctions of earth, as they stand related to our temporal life. God has a wondrous way of turning Dives and Lazarus upside down.

Do not abolish creeds, organization, authority. To do so would mean anarchy. But below the crust of creed appeal to the conscience, asking how truly it subscribers to the creed. Below the tabulated syllabus of organization the legislative committees and the Conference boards, approach the indiivdual. Strip away the paraphernalia of authority, and put the residue in a crucible.

Thackeray (who would have been great as a caricaturist if he had not been greater as a novelist) has a very striking cartoon. He draws a picture of Ludovicus Rex, Louis the Great of France, clothed in all his royal robes. In a second panel, he draws a picture of exactly the same habiliments of state, though not shrouding any human figure, and labels this Rex, King. Then, in a show, all to itself, he draws the wan and bony and naked figure of Ludovicus, Louis. It is grim and ghastly; but it brings us face to face with what heart and conscience are when stripped of temporal and accidental accoutrements.

Heart and conscience. These alone. All crowns and robes shall be stripped away. All dignities and rank shall be ignored. All wealth and all ancestry shall be as naught. The supreme question shall be: What is your innermost and real self? What are you at heart? Is your conscience clear and void of offence toward God and man? What has Christ done for you through your co-operation with him?

Indianola, Miss.

MORE HONORABLE SUPPORT OF OUR MINISTERS.

BY AN EX-STEWARD.

The financial system operated by our pastoral charges, with a few distinguished exceptions, is detrimental to the best interests of preacher and people. Many of the charges in the early part of the year carefully estimate the needs of their pastor and assessment on the Churches is made accordingly, all of which is very good. But instead of providing for the payment of his salary in regular installments, like other reliable business organizations, the officials sometimes impale their preacher on one of the horns of a miserable trilemma: Either he must go in debt, go about "foraging," or resort to secular pursuits for a livelihood. To an honest, genteel, and conscientious minister either is extremely humiliating, and effectually incapacitates him for his holy calling. Most pastors and stewards know that the general rule is to pay the preacher, during the greater part of the year, in very irregular and inadequate installments. We do unmercifully "muzzle the ox that treadeth out the corn," and without doubt the time has come for this dishonoring and destructive custom to forever cease among us. We cannot, as a Church, long maintain our self-respect, nor the esteem of the world, nor yet "the good-will of him that dwelt in the bush," if we continue to deal unrighteously with the "laborer, worthy of his hire." If he be found not "worthy," then let our laymen, in the honesty of their convictions, lodge with the presiding elder a just complaint against him (when they have themselves discharged their duty), and the sequel will doubtless show the unworthy shepherd located.

Some charges pay in full each week and others each month. Some are magnanimous enough to pay the installments "in advance." Does any member or steward doubt that the pastors, thus unencumbered as to finances, will do much better service and more of it, for the people they dwell among? The writer believes that, under the most depressing financial conditions which have obtained, at no time has there been with any charge inability to pay in full, with cash and "in kind" together, by the month or by the quarter, the salary of the pastor. The alleged "sacrifice" that would be involved on the part of the people is unworthy of persons who are followers of the Nazarene.

Concerning this darkest phase in the economy of our beloved Methodism, and the way out, let the boards of stewards faithfully and fearlessly follow the Discipline, which substantially says:

First—The stewards shall report to the Church Conference the whole amount to be raised for the support of the ministry, and that part of it which each congregation is expected to pay.

Second—The Church Conference may adopt its own method of raising the money. Unless otherwise ordered by the Church Conference, the stewards shall adopt the plan of "assessment."

Third—Each member of the Church is expected to pay according to his or her several abilities for the support of the ministry, and the stewards of each pastoral charge shall determine whether payments are to be made weekly or monthly or quarterly during the year.

Fourth—The stewards shall ascertain how much each member is able and willing to pay in the installments fixed by the stewards as aforesaid.

McTyeire's Manual of the Discipline pertinently says: "A careless or inefficient steward may, without positive opposition, starve out the ministry in the midst of plenty and a willing people; for no other member feels at liberty to act in his place, without appointment. He stands between the pastor and his support. He is the commissary of the Church militant, and by his non-action contributes more to defeat than all the strategy of the enemy. On the contrary, where energetic and liberal stewards are employed, the Church partakes of their spirit; the congregation devises liberal things, poverty vies with wealth, and comparatively small and feeble organizations amply sustain the institutions of the Church."

May the great Head of the Church endue his servants, lay and clerical, with grace to do their duty. So shall a great reproach attaching to our Zion be put away. And let all the people say: Amen.

Postscript.—The following from the pen of Bishop Haygood has come to hand and is pertinent:

"There is great moving to and fro these Conference times. It is always a time of trial to preachers and their wives, particularly when it takes every dollar to straighten up little accounts before they start to the new place. We knew a preacher not long since to enter his new hired house with just twenty-five cents. He was a gentleman and did not like to go whining to his new stewards. He even preferred to ask a little 'credit' from the new broker and the new grocer. And those stewards let him go on two or three months without paying him a dime. The preacher was humiliated. What did God think of those stewards, 'muzzling the poor ox that treadeth out the corn?' . . . . Not far from these oxen-starving people was another Church—not richer, but truly religious. There was a close carriage in waiting at the depot when the preacher and his family got in; a young brother took charge of checks and baggage. The parsonage was in ship-shape, and comfortable. In the wood-house was a good supply of fuel. A new rope was on the windlass. The best of provisions for a month—for good cheer and never counted on salary account; enough good warm dinner to do till next day. How the battle-scarred soldier did sing that night when they set up the new family altar. She, the heroic wife and mother, tried to sing; but half through the first stanza broke into a little, happy sob; pressed her baby to her breast, and cried out: 'O God, bless these dear, kind people.' The next Sunday was communion day. There was a good time all round. They enjoyed one another, rejoiced in each other, and thanked God for one another as preacher and people."

"WHERE I WAS CONVERTED."

RECITED BY REV. H. P. LEWIS IN HIS SEMI-CENTENNIAL SERMON.

There is a spot to me more dear
Than ravine, vale or mountain:
A spot for which affection's tear
Springs grateful from its fountain.

'Tis not where kindred souls abound,
Though that is almost heaven.
But where I first my Savior found,
And felt my sins forgiven.

Hard was my toil to reach the shore,
Long tossed upon the ocean:
Above me was the thunder's roar,
Beneath the waves' commotion.

Darkly the pall of night was thrown
Around me faint with terror.
In that dark hour how did my groan
Ascend for years of error!

Sinking and panting as for breath,
I knew not death was near me:
I cried, "Oh, save me, Lord, from death,"
Immortal Jesus hear me.

Then, quick as thought, I felt him mine,
My Savior stood before me;
I saw his brightness round me shine,
I shouted glory, glory!

O sacred hour, O hallowed spot,
Where love divine first found me;
Wherever falls my distant lot,
My heart shall linger round thee.

And when from earth I rise to soar
Up to my home in heaven,
Down will I cast my eyes once more
Where I was first forgiven.

HAPPY CARROLLTON.

Bishop Hendrix has never visited us, though we have his promise of twenty years' standing to do so. We mean to have him fulfill that promise "with usury." We want to thank him for sending to us the best presiding elder and the best preacher-in-charge in the entire Conference. Somehow we manage to get the best everytime.

The writer was not present at the organization of the Church here, but was present at its re-organization, and is now the ninth oldest member on the roll (though in all other respects the youngest of the young). When he reflects on what good presiding elders and pastors we had in those far-away days, and during the succeeding years, it is marvelous how they continue to get better and better. Our Church was great then—it is greater now.

At our first Quarterly Conference this year Rev. E. S. Lewis preached three excellent sermons and delivered an address of pith, point and power before our Christian workers, which is a composite organization of the Epworth League, the Christian Endeavor and B. Y. P. U., instituted by our "elders" to keep such young fellows as the writer and others like him out of mischief and busy at good works.

The three pastors unite their congregations this week in observing the Week of Prayer, with good results.

Rev. R. I. Allen has entered industriously and hopefully upon his work. As pastor and preacher he is in the foremost ranks, and we look forward to the very best year of our history.

Rev. Jno. G. Johnson is in great favor with North Carrollton Circuit, and they with him. There will be large results on that important charge this year.

Our second Quarterly Conference will be held at Smith's Chapel. Dr. Boswell has heard what great doings they have there.

CARROLLTON MISSISSIPPI.

TO ENLARGE THE ENDOWMENT FUND.

It has been my firm conviction that our Sunday schools and Epworth Leagues in Mississippi should make subscriptions to the Endowment Fund of Millsaps College. After a year's study of the question I am more firmly convinced than ever that I have taken a correct position. Several reasons may be given:

First—The main advantage to be gained is to bring all the boys and girls, as well as all Church organizations, into vital touch with the College. If we are to serve the Church in Millsaps College we must grow a more vigorous denominational spirit among our people, especially among the boys.

Second—We will create a desire for collegiate training among our boys and girls if they are brought constantly to see what we are doing.

Third—We will thereby increase our funds. I believe the last reason is the smallest, hence I put it last.

Now, I again call upon the superintendents of our Sunday schools and the Presidents of our Epworth Leagues to consider this matter and send me a subscription, payable in four years. The following Sunday schools have made subscriptions payable in four or five years:

Oxford Sunday school	$100.00
Laurel, Main Street, Sunday school	25.00
New Albany Sunday school	25.00
Alligator Sunday school	25.00
West Point Sunday school	50.00
Water Valley, First Church, S. S.	50.00
Water Valley, Main St., S. S.	25.00
Lumberton Sunday school	50.00
Shubuta Sunday school	25.00
Shelby Sunday school	12.50
Columbus, Second Church, S. S.	25.00
Vicksburg, Washington St., S. S.	25.00
Hattiesburg, Broad St., S. S.	25.00

The following Leagues have subscribed:

Tupelo	$50.00
Laurel	50.00
Columbus, First Church	20.00
Columbus, Second Church	25.00
Oxford	20.00
Shelby	12.50
West Point	10.00
West	5.00
Houston	10.00

The following W. H. M. Societies have subscribed:

Vicksburg, Washington St.	$50.00
West Point	25.00
Oxford	25.00
Brooksville	25.00
Columbus, Second Church, cash	11.00
Ackerman	10.00
Sallis	25.00

May I urge all the friends who represent the organizations of the Church to help us. I include the Woman's Home Mission Society in this appeal. No more worthy cause is before them than this. Remember, every dollar you give is worth two dollars and sixty-six cents.

T. W. LEWIS.

Jackson, Miss.

Best you ever tasted
Luzianne Coffee
Try it and see.

We have just issued a handsome little booklet—free for the asking—which explains fully the three big LUZIANNE SECRETS, namely:

The secret of its Quality.
The secret of its Strength.
The secret of surpassing Goodness.

It also shows a freight train of 35 cars, each car a single order for 30,000 lbs. labelled with the name of the dealer ordering. Ask yourself why LUZIANNE is in such demand.

AT ALL GROCERS.

THE REILY-TAYLOR CO., N. O. LA.

GULFPORT, MISS.

Interesting propositions submitted to parties wanting to buy lots. Write for map to
GEO. L. CARLEY, Gulfport, Miss.

WORLD-WIDE PERILS OF THE SABBATH.

BY DR. WILBUR F. CRAFTS.

In the world tour to which I have devoted fourteen months not even heathenism has so saddened me as has the world-wide decline of Sabbath-observance among Christians. From the side of law the last two years have been most encouraging, with China closing shops and the United States its exposition at Jamestown, while Canada has kept the front in this reform with its new Sunday law. Such a group of governmental acts have led every pastor in the world to challenge his people to new loyalty to an institution so endorsed, or at least new study of its claims. But even the missionary Churches are feeling the lax standards of the Churches behind them. Not a few missionaries use public conveyances on Sunday, and while converts are expected to sacrifice even life itself in hours of trial rather than be disloyal in other matters, in some places they do not seem to be expected to make any sacrifice, not even to give up Sunday work for gain, to uphold the sign and ensign of the lordship of Christ. At one place we found Seventh Day Adventists, who are unevangelical in more ways than one, holding full membership in a missionary association, which gave them a point of vantage for their world-wide [illegible] against the sacred obser- vance [illegible] which their perverted minds [illegible] of the age. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] TRIUMPHS.

[illegible]

the effulgent light shineth more and more unto the perfect day. [illegible]

[illegible]

The Church [illegible]

It is daybreak everywhere.

THE CELESTIAL [illegible]

[illegible] We see [illegible] We see the universe only [illegible] [illegible] college pulpits we have been hearing during recent weeks through baccalaureate addresses the message of idealism. The [illegible] the young man's ever that he may [illegible] and the only thing that can [illegible] is sin and sinning.—[illegible]

COMMON DAYS.

[illegible] of the chief dangers of life is [illegible] We think that conspicuous events, [illegible] experiences, exalted moments have [illegible] character and [illegible] New Year. [illegible] common way.—[illegible]

An Ideal Gas Light for Reading.

NATIONAL AUTOMATIC INVERTED GAS LIGHT.

[illegible] half the cost. [illegible] in the market. [illegible]

509 Commercial Place.

FANCY POULTRY, ETC.

Fancy Poultry, Pedigreed Dogs, Cats, Canaries, Parrots, Guinea Pigs, Rabbits and Pet Stock of every description; Cyphers, Incubators and Feed at Factory prices, may be had by writing to H. W. Blanks & Co., New Orleans, La. Their catalogue sent free. Write to them.

EVERYONE THAT HAS USED

Vacher Balm for Catarrh, Colds, or Croup, thinks it the best thing they ever tried. I pay you to give samples of it to your friends, so you can use your spare time to do good, and make money. Write for particulars to E. W. Vacher, New Orleans, La.

Twelve Good Reasons for Patronizing Grenada College

First — The unexcelled Home Comforts, unequaled anywhere else in the State.

Second—The Health Conditions; we rarely require the services of a physician.

Third—Our unusually skilled corps of teachers, whom we were able to secure only by paying a salary much above that paid by other girls' schools of the State.

Fourth—The Fine Arts Department, unequaled in the State and unexcelled in the South. Our teacher of Art studied in Germany and France, and our teachers of Music are graduated from the best Conservatories of America.

Fifth — The Descriptive Course of Study, which is conscientiously carried out as indicated.

Sixth—The Lyceum Course, which is superior even to that sustained in the University of Mississippi.

Seventh — The Library, which is fuller and better adapted than that of most girls' schools of the South.

Eighth — Strong Christian Influence dominating all instruction.

Ninth — Personal Attention to the Individual Pupil, with a view to develop the best even out of peculiarities of character.

Tenth—A superior Student Body as Associates, since most of the indifferent have been eliminated.

Eleventh—The Rates are lower than those of any other school doing the same grade of work, owing to the Conference Assessment, which gives us an income not possessed by other schools; further, we have no stockholders to whom we are forced to pay dividends, as are some private schools. Our patrons receive back in excellence of service more than they pay in.

Twelfth — All these superior features enable us to turn out a larger percentage of graduates, who take high stand in the educational world, than any other school in the State. It means something to hold a diploma of the Grenada College.

Register for Rooms at Once and Thus Secure Choice of Location.

W. L. CLIFTON, A.B., Ph.B., President.

Grenada, Miss.

THE SAFEST AND QUICKEST WAY TO

TRANSFER MONEY

—Is By—

Long Distance Telephone

FOR RATES APPLY TO LOCAL MANAGER

Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Incorporated

BUY THE NEW BOOK—

The Harp of a Thousand Strings

Contains "The Chronicles of Modern Jerusalem," and other choice literary productions of the late REV. HENRY T. LEWIS. For sale at the Drug Stores and Clinton Jewelry and Mercantile Co., in Clinton, and W. R. McKowen & Co., in Jackson.

PRICE, ONE DOLLAR.

LET US HEAL THE BREACH.

BY REV. JOHN PAUL, In Christian Advocate (Nashville).

Having a great desire that as time goes by we may see the removal of a certain list of embarrassments which exists in Methodism, and having gradually undergone a change in sentiment and conviction due, as I see it, to observation, study, and growth in grace, permit me to submit six paragraphs containing as many thoughts upon the subject under consideration.

First — It appears to me that the encroachment of one Methodist Church upon territory justly claimed by the other, tends to reduce that fraternal feeling out of which it is hoped that union may grow.

Second—I admit that competition growing out of encreachment of one on territory of the other has had its salutary effects upon both but I now believe that the ill effects have always been greater than the good and that they will continue to increase.

Third—I find that an unwholesome and insurmountable reproach rests upon the M. E. Church in many parts of the South because it has been and must, in the nature of the case, continue to be the prey either of morally unworthy or mentally and socially inefficient ministers from two sources—from the M. E. Church, South, and from the M. E. Church in the North. But intelligent people will not construe this as a reflection upon the worthy men from the North and from the M. E. Church, South, who have, for reasons sufficient to themselves, entered the work of the M. E. Church in the South.

Fourth—The waste of men and money by one of the Churches where the other is doing the work or would do it is sin; and any supposition that the Holy Ghost will honor this is a delusion. (Perhaps this is too strong as throughout Christendom this is an intricate question involving all communions. At any rate, perfection in the adjustment of this question cannot be hoped for this side of the millennium.)

Fifth—The difference in doctrine and personnel is not sufficient to justify the invasion of the territory of one by the other. So great is their similarity that their existence side by side amounts to schism in the minds of thoughtful outsiders. I do not believe that the peculiar opposition in the M. E. Church, South, in some sections to the doctrine of sanctification has been intentionally directed at the genuine article, excepting in cases where men did not represent the Church in their antagonism. True Christian holiness, manifested and propagated in a spirit of perfect love, would have met no oppressive frowns in many instances where opposition was bitter, due to the advocacy of holiness in a defiant spirit, seeking to drive instead of draw, seeking to do the right thing the wrong way. The unwisdom of many of the methods of holiness people has been established by the results reached in so many instances where they have set up housekeeping for themselves. The Church could have been more tactful in utilizing the unorganized power of a great movement, but she could not have turned things over to the "holiness people" without a far greater disaster than has come.

Sixth—I do not ask, as a sudden result of my conviction, that any Church should be torn up because its location is improper. In so doing hastily, we might destroy some wheat. But I do modestly exhort that we pray and look forward to an adjustment of the situation in harmony with the mind of Christ.

Louisville, Ky.

THE DIVINITY WITHIN US.

We have received a book bearing the imprint of the Publishing House of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The title of the book is "The Divinity Within Us." We have not read the whole book thoroughly, but we gave the first chapter on the "Origin of the Human Body" a careful study. The author is an evolutionist, and we were anxious to learn what he knew about human origin. We found it in these words: "When the world was ready for man, and the old progress could go no farther without a new and higher order of being, God, in harmony with the law of progress prevailing from the beginning, touched with generative power the hidden fountain of life in the highest form of animal, and man was brought forth." The author does not tell us what that highest form of animal was—whether it was a baboon or a monkey, a horse, or that distinct species to which Paddy's friend returned after centuries of transmigration, and got to "look like his former self"—an animal with extended ears. And, as if to apologize for his scientific conclusion the author says: "Some are repulsed and horrified at the suggestion of their physical relationship with the lower animals. They might reflect that if these lower creatures have not dignified the dust of which we are formed, neither have they disgraced it as have some in the highest rank."

And this book is hailed by a few as the most brilliant of the day!

W. F. M. S.

NOTICE.

The office of District Secretary of the New Orleans District becoming vacant, Mrs. F. A. Dicks finding it necessary to resign, Mrs. John H. Carter, 1007 Dublin Street, has been elected to fill the unexpired term.

MRS. EDWARD ALVIS,
La. Conf. Cor. Sec.

W. H. M. S.

How many of us realize that the Conference year is fast drawing to a close? We are sending out circular letters and report blanks again for the last time this year. How much we would appreciate having them filled out and returned you will never know until you have gone "through the mill." If you think you are the only one who treats us with silent contempt you are greatly mistaken. You are the "rule" and not the "exception." Our women and preachers do not believe in letting the right hand know what the left hand doeth, or doeth not maybe.

Our line of Stoves, Kitchen Furnishings, and General Household Supplies is full of interest to all Good Housekeepers.

Suppose you take a look at it for yourself—

UNITED HARDWARE CO.,
LIMITED.

GET SOLID PROTECTION AND INSURE WITH
LEON IRWIN & CO.
Fire and Casualty Insurance.
338 GRAVIER STREET. PHONE, MAIN [illegible]

W. W. Carre Co., Ltd,
Manufacturers and Exporters of
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS LA

Finances are better than last year, and a few new auxiliaries are reported. How we wish every auxiliary in the State, new and old, would send one or more delegates to Minden in March. You can do it—"where there's a will there's a way"—and you would be surprised at the good results. You will learn more of the work there than anywhere else and thank yourself and everybody else for sending you.

WANTED.—A Press Superintendent in every auxiliary who will answer letters, fill out blanks and use the Bulletin as directed. Applicants please call at this office and surprise, Yours expectantly,

MRS. ALICE CARY MCKINNEY,
Press Supt. La. Conf.

VIDALIA, LA.

Brother Boswell: Another year has past, and gone, and we are in the land of the living. The summer is gone, the flowers are faded, but we are still here to do God's work. The Vidalia Sunday school is progressing. We have five teachers, all of whom take a deep interest in the children, especially in the infant class of thirty little ones. We have good music and educated teachers. The Sunday school was kept running all summer. Last Sunday, although the day was cloudy, there were thirty children present. "God bless our Sunday school." was the opening song. Remember us in your prayers, as we do you. Your sister in the work,

LAURA L. CHEVALIER.

MERIDIAN WOMANS' COLLEGE.

Many of your readers will be glad to know that the name of the Meridian Female College has been changed to Meridian Woman's College. Friends and correspondents please take notice of the change. We think the new name more dignified and more correct grammatically. It will be some time before changes can be made in all the literature, but it will be changed practicaly,

J. W. BEESON.
Meridian, Miss. President.

THE ENSIGN OF THE NATIONS.

BY MRS. L. C. SADLER.

See yon, yon glorious Ensign,
The rod of Jesus' stem;
Far o'er Judea's mountains
The star of Bethlehem.

The prophets said the eastern
Heavens should show the sign;
And, lo! our eyes behold it,
The star of David's line.

And long ago the wise men,
Beheld the glorious sight.
By faith we still can see it,
Shining for us to-night.

Sing all ye hosts of angels,
Ye planets, earth and skies,
Ye mountains leap for gladness,
We see that star arise.

Shine on, O blessed Ensign!
Shine on the world to bless,
Till every knee shall bow,
And every tongue confess.

Let every heart be joyful,
Let every soul now sing:
Glory in the highest,
Glory to God, our King.

The Cherubim are singing.
The Seraphim reply:
Peace on earth, good will to men,
Glory to God on high.

Pearl River, La.

OUR CHURCH AT TUNICA BURNED.

Dear Dr. Boswell: Our Church here was destroyed by fire a few days ago as doubtless you have seen already through the Commercial Appeal.

This was a very great loss to us just at this time, as we had just purchased a parsonage at a cost of $1800 to be paid in three years. We were compelled to glean pretty closely in order to meet the first payment of $500, and with a very small congregation it will be a tremendous burden to rebuild just now. However, this must be done in order to protect Methodism in this community.

I am the only preacher now in town and the community is dependent upon our Church for all preaching services. Our Church here was in a most prosperous condition in all her work, and the promise was never better. Our people fully appreciate the situation and are responding to the demands as courageously as their numbers and means will permit. With a little help from the Church throughout the Conference we will be able to rebuild soon. The brethren could not assist a more worthy cause or render aid that will mean more to Methodism than to contribute to the immedite rebuilding of our Church here. Personaly and as a Church we will most sincerely appreciate any aid given. Let all contributions be sent to the undersigned at Tunica, Miss. Very truly yours,

S. B. MYERS.

Tunica, Miss.

After all, politeness generally sweetens the way of life. It is an easy grace to cultivate, and it adds beauty to even the most commonplace affairs.

THE PASSING OF THE NEIGHBOR.

"Yes, I suppose it would be delightful for some reasons to live where life is not quite so strenuous," said the woman from the large city, thoughtfully, "but in a town like this the neighbors know everything that goes on. I couldn't endure the familiarity that prevails in small places. Then there would be the constant gossip. I could never stand it for more than a week."

The "town like this" was a small city of nine thousand inhabitants, and the woman who lived in it hastened to cry: "My dear ignorant child, don't you know that there are no more neighbors? We are so citified that we strictly attend to our own affairs and ignore the people living near us. I only wish I had one good, old-time neighbor to chum with. Last winter a baby was born in the house next door and it was three months old before I knew of its existence. I have never had it in my arms yet. In the good old days the mother would have come flying over here to ask what to do for colic or rash, for she is a young thing; but nowadays, the mothers refuse to allow old ladies to handle the wonderful babies. The times are sadly out of joint in many ways, but if we could have neighbors again everything else could go on. I, for one, could go on without a great many of the modern improvements if I could have my neighbors back."

There was a time when people were so sympathetic and friendly that everybody did know everybody's affairs, but what of that? If you were in sickness or trouble somebody ran in to tidy up the house and keep the children within bounds, while cookies and bread mysteriously appeared in the pantry. Those days are past and gone for most communnties, unless it be in regions remote from the advanced civilization of the hour. If you have sickness or trouble you have to look out for yourself. Oh, to be sure, people come in and say, "I wish there was something I could do," which means nothing at all in most cases. Ladies on their way to receptions make "sick calls" in their best clothes to save time, and murmur the conventional phrase, but who could ask a woman in a party dress to rescue the baby from his peaceful babbling in the bathtub or sweep up the crumbs on the sitting room floor? "Every one for himself," is the motto we live by in these progressive and, in many respects, quite heartless days.

Last winter a lady took sick while her husband was away from home, and for two days everything went to pieces in the home. She was a newcomer in the town and the children were too small to be of much help, so she was forced to suffer alone. The lady next door did come in to say, "It's too bad. If the woman we hire to do cleaning comes tomorrow we'll let you have her to help you out a few hours. Our work is not so pressing." And this when the hungry children were really crying for something to eat! There were three able-bodied women in the family of the caller, any one of whom might have cooked a simple meal and put the house to rights, but that formal call was all the attention they paid their suffering neighbor. The sick woman was amply able to hire help, if she could have obtained it, but as it was she was forced to wait until her husband came home with only such help as her little ones could give. Of course, by this time the housekeeping had lapsed so long that everything was in a dreadful way.

And even in villages the country people are becoming more and more selfish. The days when it took fifteen or twenty women and children to help get ready for harvesters are in the past.

Then every occasion that called for more than four or five extra men out of doors brought the women together for a social time.

Who ever hears now of a husking bee or an apple-paring? The machine is sent for and the fodder prosaically shredded, while the patent apple-parer provided the peeled apples for the butter, if indeed the family is not too far advanced to indulge in apple-butter.

Truly, the times are out of joint.

Nowadays the farmer employs a trained nurse if sickness invades the family, just as his city brother does, and the old habit of the neighbors taking turns supplying the afflicted family with bread and diet for the invalid has gone the way of the tallow candle and fireplace. They are all out of date.

And what have we gained? Well, that is as one looks at the matter. If being "let alone" is desirable, then we have gained a great deal. We surely are not called upon to bring our own home remedies for ailing babies just in the midst of our own work, or is our night's rest ever disturbed because we sit up with a sick neighbor. Our whole duty is done when we look sympathetic and say: "Isn't there something I can do? If there is don't hesitate to call on me," as we rapidly move toward the door.

But we have lost a great deal by the passing of the neighbor. The sweet old-time love and sympathy and helpfulness have faded almost out of existence. If you are fortunate enough to live in a community where neighbors still exist, "grapple them to your heart with hooks of steel," for they are fast disappearing and disappearing completely from the earth.

The poor, abused "good old times!" There is much can be said for them.—The Designer.

COLIC,
CRAMPS and DIARRHOEA are both painful and dangerous.
Prompt and permanent relief follows one or two doses of Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic. You should never be without it.
At all Druggists
25 and 50 Cents
Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic

Christian Advocate.

REV. JNO. W. BOSWELL, D.D., Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.
CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TERMS:
One Copy, one year, $2; six months, $1. To Preachers of all Denominations, half-price.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES:
LOUISIANA CONFERENCE—Rev. W. W. Drake, Rev. N. E. Joyner, Rev. J. M. Henry.
MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. M. L. Burton, Rev. W. H. Lewis, Rev. C. W. Crisler.
NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, D.D.; Rev. J. T. Murrah, Rev. W. W. Woollard.

THE CHURCH AND SOCIAL SERVICE.

Looking through one of our exchanges we read about the "Methodist Federation for Social Service," an article, including the constitution, that covered considerably more space than a page. Immediately following this was an article covering nearly two pages on the "National City Evangelization Union." It is more than likely that had we looked through other papers we would have encountered lengthy chapters on some other chartered organization. Things must be done these days through societies — the most of them ostensibly under the auspices of the Church, but really independent of Church control.

The two societies above named have the same objects in view—the difference being one is national or international, the other a federation of Methodists, but into which "others in sympathy with the objects" are admitted. The objects of the Methodist Federation are declared to be "to deepen within the Church the sense of social obligation and opportunity to study social problems from the Christian point of view, and to promote social service in the spirit of Jesus Christ."

All such societies, it seems to us, proceed upon the supposition that there is a gulf, broad and deep, between the Church and laboring people and others commonly known as "slum-dwellers." It used to be said "there is a gulf between the Church and the world," and it was thought that the simple gospel preached by the Church and accepted by the world was sufficient to bridge the gulf and produce every good intended by our Lord. And such were the results in city, town and country. This was before the day of corporations, and the amassing of great wealth in the hands of the few. Conditions have changed and there is more of the appearance of aristocracy in the ranks of the rich, many of whom are members of the Church. This has naturally widened the gulf between the several classes.

This great gulf can never be bridged by societies which do their work through committees, sustained by the money of rich men. By this method the differences are emphasized. If the rich have an interest in the religious and social welfare of the laboring people, they must do more than work by proxy. Under existing conditions working through a middle man does not appeal to the poor. Personal interest must be manifested by personal work and contact. Build a chapel in some neglected spot, and let it be known that it is the work of rich men for the special benefit of poor people, and the work of that chapel will be a drag. It will be known as a chapel for the poor, and will be shunned. But let rich men put their money in a respectable building on the same spot, and identify themselves with it and work for it, never saying a word about the poor, but make everybody welcome, and that Church will be a success.

The Church of to-day is not the enemy of the poor, but some men in the Church are so emphasizing the differences between the rich and the poor, making them prominent, as to humiliate the self-respecting and independent, and to drive them from the Church. People ought to be preached to and ministered to because they are sinners and need the gospel, and not because they are poor. It is not necessary to remind even the needy and helpless that they are poor.

A DIRE CALAMITY THREATENED.

For months past the Times-Democrat has been giving much valuable space to prohibition news, and to the doings of the Anti-Saloon League. The Times-Democrat has done this merely as a news-gatherer—not as a prohibitionist, nor advocate of the League—for the paper believes prohibition to be impracticable; and, besides, as we understand, is opposed to the principle. It stand for "high license" and well-regulated saloons. The editor may some day succeed in his battle for "high license" for there is money in it to the State and corporation. The well-regulated saloon he will never see. The regulations on paper will be all right, but he will find them as difficult of enforcement as any prohibition law. Saloon-keepers have no notion of obeying any ordinance that they can successfully evade.

But notwithstanding the opposition of the Times-Democrat to prohibition, which is occasionally rather vigorous, the brewers and distillers are not at all pleased with the course pursued by the paper in publishing so much prohibition news. The mere mention of the fact that prohibition is making headway is damaging to the liquor business, and at least one of the leaders in the trade threatens a combination against the paper, which if effected, will prove disastrous. This brewer will withdraw all his advertising patronage from its columns, and influence other patrons to do likewise. In other words, the brewers will inaugurate a boycott against this reputable daily journal, and injure as far as possible its finances for daring to publish bits of news as eagerly sought for and read by many friends of the Times-Democrat as are the advertisements of brewers and saloon keepers.

This doughty champion of beer bases his proposed action on the fact that he and his fraternity pay for the space they use and have a right to expect that papers favored by them should protect them from damage. The prohibitionists, he says, who derive so much pleasure from reading such news, and are so much encouraged, "pay nothing." There it is. That which pays nothing should have no place in the columns of papers partly supported by liquor dealers.

And what will the Times-Democrat do? It will defy the brewers, and go on publishing "all the news that's fit to print"—prohibition news not excepted. And so will every other respectable paper that cares anything for its respectable readers.

A NEW PROFESSORSHIP.

Under the head of "A New Professorship," the Western Christian Advocate gives out a piece of news that is rather surprising. What he saw, and writes about, was surprising to him. It occurred at one of the universities of our sister Methodism. After the opening devotions of the morning the "yell master" came to the platform and put the whole student body, "of magnificent young manhood and womanhood," through a "vocal gymnastic exercise," called the "college yell." It must have been a terrific explosion. When it was over the editor had to look around to see "where he was at," for the "yell master" in cap and gown had "a voice like a bull of Bashan."

The editor transferred the yell to the paper as well as he could, and notwithstanding some of it is nonsense he approved it:

"O-wee, wi-wow!
Al-lee, Ka-zee, zi-zow!
Ra-zee, zi-zu!"

and more that has nothing to recommend it except the sound.

These college yells are innocent things. We like to hear them. They are hearty and not infrequently fuller of melody than much of the operatic music we hear in our Churches. They doubtless help to insipre loyalty to ones Alma Mater, and encourage "the team" on the foot-ball field, but we fail to see wherein the honor of any college or university is involved, and needs to be vindicated on the foot-ball field. We can see how students take a pardonable pride winning a game, and how a vigorous yell may help, but we cannot see that a team or a college suffers any disgrace by losing a game. To us it seems like a poor defense of the "New Professorship," and the lusty drilling in the college chapel following the devotions, to say "after all there was nothing irreverent in it," and the yell "blended well with a fresh, vigorous type of Christianity in those healthy and hearty boys and girls."

PERSONALS.

The people of Tyro (Miss.) Circuit greatly appreciate their preacher, Rev. E. E. Langford, and give substantial expression of their feelings. In return he greatly appreciates their kindness.

Rev. A. H. Williams met with a generous reception on his arrival at Ripley, Miss., and the beginning of his ministry there is "in every way delightful." We trust he may have a happy and successful year.

Rev. Robt. A. Clark was cordially received by the good people of Okolona. The stewards increased the salary $150 above last year. This was thoughtful and generous, and was doubtless appreciated by the preacher.

Uncle Levin Lake, the patriarch of Mississippi Methodism, has recently been quite sick.

At last account he was improving. He has long been spared to the Church. May he remain with us to bless us for years to come.

Dr. J. P. Brushingham, Secretary of the Commission on Aggressive Evangelism of the Methodist Episcopal Church was in the city a few days last week, and on Sunday evening preached for the Rayne Memorial congregation.

We learn through a private letter that Rev. J. E. Cunningham, the young presiding elder of the Oxford District, "has taken hold of the work with a firm hand," and that the brethren "expect the Church to prosper under his administration."

The Publisher informs us that Brother J. T. Otts, of Homer, La., "has sent us in a good-sized club of subscribers." When our laymen begin to help out the preachers the prosperity of the ADVOCATE is assured. We appreciate Brother Ott's work.

Rev. H. T. Carley is delighted with his charge, Carrollton Avenue Church. He found it in fine shape and prosperous, with a new and handsome parsonage, elegantly fitted up, into which he has just moved. He says it is about the "best parsonage in the Conference."

Rev. R. W. Vaughan requests us to say that the minutes of the Louisiana Conference are now passing through the press and will be in hand the last of this week. If nothing happens he will send them out to the preachers next week. He is in the city at this writing looking after the work.

We printed last week a picture of the new and elegant Church at Ponchatoula, La., but omitted [illegible] anything about it. The house was built [illegible] year under the administration of Rev. F. N. Sweeney, the close of his quadrennium on the charge. The Church is active and prosperous, due largely to Brother Sweeney's faithful and incessant labors.

Bishop Luther B. Wilson, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, delivered on Sunday afternoon last a memorable address on the drink traffic, stressing particularly the evil of licensing saloons. The address was delivered at the Young Men's Christian Association hall, and was heard by a large number of people who were greatly pleased. Bishop Wilson is the President of the National Anti-Saloon League.

When a preacher and his wife leave a community, it is pleasant to hear a brother say: "We regret exceedingly to give them up. They had become a part of our Church life here, and their going away was an occasion of regret to every one." Thus speaks Rev. H. S. Spragins of Rev. S. M. Thames and his wife on leaving Oxford. Brother Spragins, who remains at Oxford, is beginning the new year "under favorable circumstances."

The Bolton (Miss.) Sunday school has sent us "resolutions of respect" in regard to Brother J. M. Black, who for forty years has been the superintendent. He has given up the position, and enters another field of labor. Hence the resolutions. It would be well if many others would give "bright flowers" to their hard and faithful workers while living. The most of us wait until our friends enter into rest, then put the flowers on their graves.

Rev. W. G. Harbin for several weeks to come may be addressed at Greenville, Miss. He will give all his time to revival work, in which he is remarkably successful. It has never been our fortune to be associated with him in a meeting, but we can well believe what others say—that he is safe and sound as a preacher, and knows how to sympathize and co-operate with the pastors. Our preachers need not hesitate to invite him to help them.

The Carrollton (Miss.) Conservative speaks in high terms of the visit of Rev. E. S. Lewis, the newly appointed presiding elder. "The three sermons preached by Rev. E. S. Lewis, the new presiding elder, greatly pleased all who heard him. The address delivered before the Christian workers was especially enjoyed by those present. His sermons and addresses and official administration [illegible] in social circles Mr. Lewis has at once won a high place in the hearts of this community. [illegible] and addresses were characterized as [illegible] order."

DISTRICT MEETING OF W. H. M. S. AND W. F. M. S.

A union District Meeting of the Woman's Home Mission and the Woman's Foreign Mission Societies of the New Orleans District will be held Wednesday, Jan. 22, at the Carrollton Avenue Methodist Church. It will be an all-day meeting, with lunch served by the Carrollton auxiliary. The meeting will open at 10:30 o'clock. The ministers and members of both Societies are cordially invited to attend. Every auxiliary will please send a report and a delegate.

MRS. JNO. CARTER,
District Secretary, W. F. M. S.
MRS. S. A. MONTGOMERY,
District Secretary, W. H. M. S.

NOTICE.

Members of the Ministers' Education Aid Association of the Louisiana Conference will please take notice that funds are immediately needed for beneficiaries whom we are now assisting in college. The collection of dues has been suspended for a year or two, but must now be resumed. Please forward the annual membership dues of five dollars to the undersigned.

R. H. WYNN, Secretary.

Minden, La.

THE SILENT FRIEND.

To the Members Louisiana Annual Conference:

Dear Brethren: The Silent Friend, my Orphanage paper, has not consolidated with the ADVOCATE, but the management of the ADVOCATE have consented to give me all of the space I need, so I will discontinue the Silent Friend. Please announce from your pulpits that I hope no more clubs will be organized and that I'll refund all money received on subscriptions to the Orphanage paper. Fraternally,

C. C. WIER.

Bunkie, La.

DUTY.

Duty! With regard to ourselves it is independence toward the senses, and with regard to others, it is assiduity in help, in support; help for their comfort, their doing good, their wishing well to their fellow creatures, their desiring what is good; help to be given by co-operation and by resistance, by giving and by refusing, by severity and condescension, by praise and blame, by silence and by words, by pain and by pleasure! Inhabitants of the same earth, travelers of the same moment, and companions on the same road, we ought to help each other, and when we arrive at the resting-place we shall have to give first an account of what we have done for the happiness and virtue of others. A smile, even, will have its reward then.—Selected.

HIGH GRADE PIANOS

MARSHALL & WENDELL

ESTABLISHED 1836.

A Piano that has been before the public for more than a half century must possess merit to maintain its popularity. Thousands of them are to-day singing their own praise in the homes of satisfied purchasers.

OUR POPULAR STYLE AT $350

ON EASY PAYMENTS.

Get particulars of our

Six Months Free Trial Plan.

Hakenjos Piano Mfg. Co.,

930 Canal Street

J. BART DAVIS Mgr. New Orleans

DELIGHT IN THE LORD.

The injunction, "Delight thyself also in the Lord," points to a height of Christian experience which many of us do not reach in the sense of permanent occupation. We submit to the Lord. We cherish a real faith in him. We are penitent when we think of our sins against him. We honestly strive to obey him, and are grateful for the mercies which he bestows. But we do not "delight" ourselves in him in any such real and precious fashion as we do in our kindred and companions, unless it be occasionally in peculiar circumstances and for brief periods of time. Yet this seems to be what he desires of us. It is perfectly possible to enter, reverently and humbly, yet very really and sweetly, into personal fellowship and even close and tender intimacy with our Lord and to preserve this pecious relation unbroken.—The Standard.

HOW GOD PROVIDES BLESSINGS.

We rarely foresee the richness of the blessing that God is planning for us. We know that blessing is sure to be found in the path of duty; and we may even know beforehand, in a general way, what blessings are likely to result from certain duties done. But God, like a loving parent, seems to delight in joyful surprises for his children, and never tires of outdoing our best hopes. Two men, from homes far apart, went to attend a summer Conference. Both went from a sense of duty; both counted upon receiving special information of a technical sort for their professional work. And this hope was met. But God had something better in store. He saw to it that those two men brought to each other a blessing which was richer than anything else the universe could offer them, and of which both were sorely in need. Neither had gone there for that purpose; neither had any thought of receiving such a blessing there. But each knew that that was his place of duty; the richer feeling followed. That is always the way with God's best gifts: they come when we are expecting simply the everyday rewards of duty-doing.—Sunday School Times.

Baby Laugh

It belongs to health for a baby to eat and sleep, to laugh and grow fat.

But fat comes first: don't ask a scrawny baby to laugh: why, even his smile is pitiful! Fat comes first.

The way to be fat is the way to be healthy.

Scott's Emulsion

is the [illegible] food, [illegible] at first.

[illegible]

Obituaries.

Obituaries not over two hundred words in length will be published free of charge. All over two hundred words will be charged at the rate of [illegible] a word. Count the words and send [illegible] amount necessary with the [illegible]. That will save [illegible].

Mrs. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] ters with a host of friends to mourn our loss. But we know that our loss is her gain, for we know that she is gone home to heaven, where there is no sickness, pain or death. She is with God forevermore. After funeral services, conducted at her [illegible] home on Nov. 1, by her pastor, assisted by Rev. J. M. Wyatt, of [illegible], Miss., [illegible] was laid to rest in the cemetery at Water Valley [illegible] await the [illegible] resurrection morn. May our Father's richest blessing rest upon all the bereaved ones and comfort them in this sorrow, is the prayer of her pastor.

W. J. WOOD.

Mrs. FRANCES J. WINTERS was born in Rising Sun, Ind., Feby. 12, [illegible] and released from her house of clay [illegible] in Natchez, Miss. [illegible] young she gave her heart to God and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. For many years she lived in Rodney, Miss., and [illegible] by a consistent life her devotion to Christ and his Church. She was married three times and was the mother of eight children, only one of whom is living. It was my privilege to serve [illegible] as pastor in Rodney [illegible] year and her beautiful life [illegible] Christian [illegible] influence [illegible] through my life. Her husband, [illegible] Winters, to whom she was married in [illegible], preceded her to the grave six years [illegible] Dr. J. G. [illegible] After [illegible] State Street [illegible] Miss Annie [illegible] several years. No [illegible] Mrs. Winters. [illegible]

ROBT. SELBY.

Miss [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] will her hands minister to the wants of loved ones with tender devotion, nor tend the sweet flowers of which she was so fond. Kind friends gathered them and laid them upon her casket in loving remembrance. [illegible] she was laid to rest by her pastor, Rev. [illegible] H. Griffin, under the [illegible] in the cemetery with other [illegible] where the Rev. Thomas [illegible] and his wife have long slept. [illegible] in her home because of her vacant chair, but they have the sweet assurance that she has [illegible] from pain to rest. Grieve [illegible] mother, brothers, sisters, your darling is now watching and waiting at the beautiful gate for the homecoming of her loved ones. May He who doeth all things well comfort the sorrowing ones.

ONE WHO LOVED HER.

Mrs. JOSEPHINE M. WUNSCH departed this life at Baton Rouge, La., Jan. [illegible], after a long and useful life of [illegible] years and [illegible] months. She was one of the charter members of the old Dryades Street Church, New Orleans. She was at the time of her death a member of the Second M. E. Church, South, of Baton Rouge, La. For many years she has been a consecrated Christian, and met death without fear, for the last few years she has been patiently waiting for the summons to come up higher.

J. S. PURCELL, Jr.

Whereas, an All-wise Providence has seen fit to take from our Sunday school and town our beloved friend and co-worker, Miss CLAYTON NEILL, and whereas it is with sorrowing hearts that we yield to Him who doeth all things well, and feel that not only our Sunday school but the Methodist Church has sustained an irreparable loss in the death of one who by her consistent Christian life constrained all who were associated with her to live better and more useful lives; be it therefore

Resolved, That we hold in loving remembrance her [illegible] and as a tribute to her memory we will try to emulate her noble Christian character. Be it

Resolved, That we extend our sympathy to the bereaved family whose loss is her eternal gain.

Resolved further, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the Sunday school record, a copy be sent to the [illegible] News and to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

MISS NONA STANLEY,
MISS ALICE HINTON,
MISS OLGA TYNER,
Committee.

Mrs. LOUISE S. DAVIDSON, aged [illegible] years, wife of Rev. J. H. Davidson, [illegible] died at her home in [illegible], Tex., Sunday evening, Dec. [illegible]. Mrs. Davidson was born in Mississippi [illegible]

W. S. DEMERY.

$100 Reward FOR a better remedy than "RHEX" [illegible] It will relieve when others fail. Recommended for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sore Throat, [illegible] Kidney Trouble, [illegible] See druggist.

MONUMENTS [illegible]

FOR 10 [illegible]

OHN LEWIS CHILDS, Floral Park

$100 MAKES YOU [illegible] OR STENOGRAPHER [illegible] POSITIONS.
WALDEN'S BUSINESS CO
Lake Charles, La. [illegible] highest character [illegible] anywhere at any [illegible] Only 25 [illegible] at reduced rates [illegible] ship course. A delightful [illegible] Write to-day to [illegible] L. E. WALDEN, Pres.

MONEY
IN TEXAS AND MEX
We offer splendid [illegible] established enterprise [illegible] payable monthly [illegible] installments [illegible] absolutely [illegible] you [illegible] people [illegible] Write now.
San Antonio Real Estate & Investment Co., 228 West Commerce St., San Antonio, Tex.

Queen & Crescent Route
Through Pullman Sleeper
TO NORFOLK,
Jamestown Exposition.

Lv. New Orleans daily [illegible] p. m.
Av. Norfolk [illegible] a. m.
Second Morning.

ROUND TRIP FARES:

Tickets Limited Dec. 15, '07 [illegible]
Tickets Limited 60 days [illegible]
Tickets Limited 15 days [illegible]
Tickets good in coaches only sold on Tuesday of each week. Limited 10 days [illegible]

CONFEDERATE REUNION,
Richmond, Va.
Round Trip Fare [illegible]

THE QUICKEST TIME
FOR DETAILS APPLY AT
Ticket Office, 211 St. Charles St.
Phone Main [illegible]

ILLINOIS
CENTRAL
The Double Track Route.

26 Hours to Chicago
21 Hours to St. Louis
22 Hours to Loisville
26 Hours to Cincinnati

Through Sleeping Cars to above points. Dining Cars, Library Cars, Chair Cars and Coaches.
Full Particulars at
City Ticket Office,
[illegible] ST. CHARLES STREET.
Phone Main [illegible]

BEAUTIFUL SOUVENIR POST CARDS
[illegible]

General News

The unprecedented decrease in the sale of high-priced gems has caused liquidation of the largest jewelry houses in New York city.

* * *

It is reported that the rice crop has been seriously damaged by the excessive rains. The streams have all been out of the banks, and a large part of the crop is still in the shock.

* * *

The Attorney General of Mississippi has commenced legal proceedings to oust the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Co. from that State on the grounds that it violates the Anti-Trust laws. By the very nature of the case anything but a monopoly would be a nuisane and an expense to the public. The remdy lies not in the number of companies, but in the rigid regulation of the one that is permitted to exist.

* * *

President Harahan of the Illinois Central says there has been a decrease of business on northern lines as a consequene of the panic, but for various reasons there has been a notable increase of business on the Southern lines. The Illinois Central has handled 250,000 bales of cotton, in excess of any previous year.

* * *

At the St. Louis World's Fair Germany learned that American hens far exceed the German hens in productiveness. After careful experiments, they have decided that the feeding of corn is largely responsible responsible for the difference. As a result, the German demand for corn has increased over one hundred per cent in the last three years.

* * *

The banks of New York now have over the legal reserve. In Chicago the banks are making large loans and buying commercial paper. The balances are increasing in the New Orleans banks. In a very short time all the special restrictions will be withdrawn and the banking of the country will resume its normal conditions.

* * *

This city celebrated the anniversary of the battle of New Orleans by laying the orner-stone to the new courthouse.

* * *

There is now being organized in New Orleans a "Travelers' Aid Association" for the protection of young women coming to the city.

* * *

The battleship fleet received a royal welcome in Rio Janiero. The torpedo fleet was to have kept four or five days in advance of the battleships, but owing to some break-downs has been unable to do so.

* * *

In a few days a ship-load of mules leave New Orleans for India. They will be used as pack mules by the British army in the mountain trails.

* * *

Governor Blanchard is determined that there shall be a fair and honest registration if it is possible. He has already removed one registar, and is investigating others that have been reported as not doing their duty honestly.

* * *

The liquor men propose to fight the Alabama prohibition in the courts. The saloon has no use for the law until some fancied privilege is threatened, and then it is quick to appeal.

* * *

In a message to the House of Representatives President Roosevelt urged that in preparing for the work of taking the next census the four thousand or more additional employees needed to be appointed only after competitive examinations under the rules of the Civil Service Commission and strongly denounces the "patronage system" of making the appointments, saying that the Civil Service Commission was fully capable of securing a most efficient force."

* * *

So many rumors of war between Japan and the United States have emanated from France, that France has made a diplomatic denial of a desire to see such a war.

* * *

Senator Aldrich has introduced a financial bill in the Senate which provides for the issue of an emergency circulation to national banks to be secured by State, county or municipal bonds that shall pass certain tests. One condition is that the state or community issuing the bonds shall not have defaulted in the payment of principal or interest for ten years past.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

THE QUIET HOUR QUARTERLY.

To all who feel the need of help in their daily devotions to Quiet Hour Quarterly will prove a great blessing. It will help you to form the habit of daily prayer and study of God's Word; it will give you that insight into Scripture which can only come from a systematic and consecrated study; it will bring to you the inspiration that comes from the "fellowship of the saints" in the joy of communion; it will help to lead you into the presence of him who will cause your heart to burn within you while he speaks to you by the way, while he opens to you the Scriptures. For the first quarter the studies in Mark by Bishop Hendrix are worth many times the cost of the Quarterly for a whole year. The remaining three series of studies on the other Gospels will conform to a very high standard. To secure the benefit of the studies in all the Gospels to as many as possible we will send a beautiful Vanderbilt Calendar which sells for 50 ents to evry one sending a club of ten new subsribers to the Quiet Hour Quarterly for 1908. Send all subscriptions to Smith & Lamar, Agents, Nashville, Ten. Subscrip price 25 cents a year.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

Colds on the Chest

Ask your doctor the medical name for a cold on the chest. He will say, "Bronchitis." Ask him if it is ever serious. Lastly, ask him if he prescribes Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for this disease. Keep in close touch with your family physician, and follow his advice carefully.
We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our preparations. J. C. Ayer Co. Lowell, Mass.

Jos. Weckerling, Pres. Geo. Stahler, Sec'y.
LOUISIANA GLASS and MIRROR WORKS Limited.
PAINTS, OILS AND GLASS.
MIRRORS, MEMORIAL WINDOWS, RE-SILVERING AND GLAZING.
Factory [illegible]-319 Lafayette Street. Office and Sales Rooms [illegible] Carondelet Street. Phone Main [illegible] New Orleans, La.
Distributors, JNO. W. MASURY & SON'S Paints, Colors and Varnishes.

W. H. BYRNES, Pres. JOHN T. GIBBONS, Vice-Pres. W. WOOD, Sec'y.
Capital..........$300,00.00
Assets..........$479,869.90
HIBERNIA INSURNCE CO.,
No. 300 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
LOSSES PAID PROMPTLY.

THE LIVERPOOL
and LONDON
and GLOBE
INSURANCE COMPANY.
AGENCIES THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

Pine-Brook Dairy Co., Ltd
ALL OUR COWS TUBERCULINE TESTED.
Milk and Cream Delivered Morning and Evening.
COR ST. CHARLES & WASHINGTON AVES. Phone 1514 Uptown.

Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company.
THROUGH DAILY PASSENGER SERVICE
Between
NEW ORLEANS and SHREVEPORT,
via
BATON ROUGE, BAYOU SARA and ALEXANDRIA,
FAST FREIGHT SERVICE.
C. ELLERBE, Asst. to Prest., Shreveport, La.
H. B. HELM, Gen'l Superintendent, Shreveport, La.
E. C. D. MARSHALL, G. F. & P. A., Shreveport, La.

THE AMERICAN PAINT WORKS,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.,
MANUFACTURES EVERYTHING IN PAINTS,
Guaranteed Strictly Pure
The Climatic Prepared Paints, Perfecto White and
SOLD SUBJECT TO A CHEMICAL ANALYSIS.
DIRECTORS:
Thos. S. Witherspoon, President. Francis Martin, Vice President.
R. B. Parker, John McCloskey, Geo. A. Hero.
PHONE, MAIN 918. Special Attention to Mail Orders

The Union Railraod Business College,
BUSINESS TAUGHT AS IT IS DONE.
Is backed up by thousands of dollars and expert teachers. Uses no text books or copying nonsense. Free scholarships given only to those between the ages of 13 and 35 years.
Business men everywhere are calling for the graduates of this school. For full particulars, address PROF. W. N. STEPHENSON, Texarkana, Texas.

QUARTERLY CONFRENCES.

Louisiana Conference.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—FIRST RND.
Wilson, at Wilson ....Jan. 4, 5
Clinton ....Jan. 5, 6
Ethel, at Ethel ....Jan. 11, 12
Jackson ....Jan. 12, 13
Baker, at Baker ....Jan. 18, 19
Zachary and Slaughter, at S..Jan. 19, 20
Touchatoula, at Touchatoula..Jan. 25, 26
Hammond ....7 p.m. Jan. 26,
Independence ....11 a.m. Jan. 27,
Amite City ....7:30 p.m. Jan. 27,
Franklinton, at F. ....Jan. 29, 30
Mt. Herman, at Tangipahoa Feb. 1, 2
Kentwood ....7 p.m. Feb. 2,
St. Francisville, at St. F....Feb. 8, 9
Port Vincent, at P. V....Feb. 15, 16
Live Oak, at Denham Spgs. Feb. 16, 17
Pine Grove, at P. G....Feb. 22, 23
St. Helena, at Center ....Feb. 28, 1
E. Feliciana, at Oak G....Feb. 7, 8
Melville, at Melville ....Feb. 14, 15
New Roads and Jacoby....Feb. 21, 22
First Church, Baton R....Feb. 29, 30
Second Church, Baton R....Feb. 29, 30

District Stewards will meet Jan. 20, at 2:30 p.m. in Slaughter Methodist Church.

R. W. TUCKER, P. E.

MONROE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.
Bastrop, at Bastrop....Jan. 4, 5
Rayville, at Oak Ridge....Jan. 5, 6
Downsville, at Downsville....Jan. 11, 12
Bonita, at Bonita....Jan. 18, 19
Monroe, at Monroe....Jan. 19, 20
West Monroe, at W. M....Jan. 21
Tallulah, at Tallulah....Jan. 25, 26
Lake Providence, at L. P....Jan. 26, 27
Farmerville, at Farmerville..Feb. 1, 2
Brookland, at Brookland....Feb. 7, 8
Eros, at Eros....Feb. 8, 9
Mer Rouge, at Collinston....Feb. 15, 16
Mangham, at Mangham....Feb. 16, 17
Harrisonburg, at H....Feb. 22, 23
Florence, at Florence....Feb. 23, 24
Waterproof ....Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Floyd, at Floyd....Mar. 7, 8

J. E. DENSON, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUSD.
Grand Cane, at G. C....Jan. 4, 5
Pelican, at Pelican....Jan. 11, 12
Coushatta, at Coushatta....Jan. 18, 19
Wesley, at Carrol Creek....Jan. 25, 26
La Chute, at La Chute....Feb. 1, 2
Shreveport, First Church....Feb. 9, 10
Shreveport, Texas Ave....Feb. 12
Mansfield Ct., at Bethel....Feb. 15, 16
Mansfield Ct., at Bethel....Feb. 15, 16
Zwolle, at Zwolle....Feb. 22, 23
Many, at Many....Feb. 23, 24
Ida, at Gillian....Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Greenwood, at Greenwood....Mar. 7, 8
Shreveport, City Mission....Mar. 8, 9
Hornbeck, at Holly Grove..Mar. 14, 15
Leesville Station ....Mar. 15, 16
Bon Ami ....Mar. 21, 22
De Ridder Station....Mar. 22, 23
Pleasant Hill, at P. H....Mar. 27, 28
Provincal, at Provincal....Mar. 29
Mooringsport, at M....Apr. 4, 5

T. J. WARLICK, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.
Benton, at Benton ....Jan. 11, 12
North Bossier at P. Dealing Jan. 13,
Haughton, at Haughton ....Jan. 15,
Simsboro, at Simsboro....Jan. 18, 19
Bienville, at B....11 a.m...Jan. 21,
Homer ....Jan. 22,
Haynesville, at H....Jan. 25, 26
Gibsland, at G....Feb. 1, 2
Louisville, at L....Feb. 3,
Winnfield ....Feb. 4,
Bernice, at Alabama ....Feb. 8, 9
Jonesboro, at J....Feb. 10,
Vernon, at Wesley Chapel..Feb. 12,
Ringgold, at R....Feb. 15, 16
Ruston ....Feb. 18,
Cotton Valley ....Feb. 22, 23
Minden ....Feb. 24,
Lisbon, at Lisbon....Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Arcadia ....Mar. 8, 9

BRISCOE CARTER, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST R'ND.
Parker Memorial ....a.m. Jan. 5,
Algiers ....p.m. Jan. 5,
Louisiana Avenue ....a.m. Jan. 12,
Epworth ....p.m. Jan. 12,
Bogalusa ....Jan. 15,
Plaquemine and White C....Jan. 25, 26
Donaldsonville and Vach....Jan. 26, 27
Covington, at Covington ....Feb. 1, 2
Slidell, at Slidell ....Feb. 8, 9
Carrollton Avenue ....a.m. Feb. 16,
Second Church ....p.m. Feb. 16,
First Church ....a.m. Feb. 23,
Felicity ....p.m. Feb. 23,
Reyne Memorial ....March 1

F. N. PARKER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.
Pollock and Olla, at P....Jan. 4, 5
Tioga, at Tioga ....Jan. 6,
Trout and Jena, at T....Jan. 11, 12
Somerville and Eden, at Jackson
Chapel ....Jan. 13,
West Alexandria ....Jan. 15,
Dry Creek, at Dry Creek....Jan. 18, 19
Glenmora, at Glenmora....Jan. 20,
Columbia ....Jan. 25, 26
Selma ....Jan. 27,
Chicot, at White's Chapel....Feb. 1, 2
Montgomery, at Montgomery Feb. 5,
Lecompte, at Lecompte....Feb. 8, 9
Bunkie ....Feb. 10,
Simsport ....Feb. 11,
Opelousas ....Feb. 15, 16
Natchitoches ....Feb. 22, 23
Boyce ....Feb. 24,

District Stewards will meet in the West Alexandria Church on Wednesday, Jan. 22, at 10:30 a.m.

N. E. JOYNER, P. E.

CROWLEY DISTRICT—FIRST ROUND.
St. Martinville ....Jan. 12,
Abbeville ....Jan. 14,
Franklin ....Jan. 15,
Morgan City ....Jan. 19,
Patterson ....Jan. 19,
Rayne ....Jan. 24, 26
Indian Bayou ....Jan. 25,
Gueydan ....Feb. 2,
[illegible] ....Feb. 1,
Prudhomme ....Feb. 2,
Crowley ....Feb. 8, 9
Lake Arthur ....Feb. 15, 16
Jennings ....Feb. 16,
Lake Charles ....Feb. 21, 23
Sulphur ....Feb. 22, 23
Grand Chenière ....Feb. 24,

J. M. HENRY, P. E.

North Mississippi Conference.

DURANT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.
Sallis, at Hurricane....Jan. 4, 5
Kosciusko Station ....Jan. 5, 6
Chester, at Nebo....Jan. 11, 12
Ackerman, at Ackerman....Jan. 12, 13
Pickens, at Pickens....Jan. 19, 20
Durant Station ....Jan. 26, 27
Rural Hill, at Rural Hill....Feb. 1, 2
McCool, at McCool....Feb. 2, 3
Ebenezer, at Hebron....Feb. 8, 9
Lexington Station ....Feb. 9, 10
Vaiden, at Vaiden....Feb. 12
Black Hawk, at B. H....Feb. 15, 16
Sidon & Tchula, at Cruger..Feb. 19
Kosciusko Cir., at Bethel....Feb. 22, 23
West, at West....Mar. 1, 2
Louisville, at Louisville....Mar. 4
Poplar Creek, at Friendship..Mar. 7, 8

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUSD.
Aberdeen ....Dec. 15, 16
Houston ....Dec. 22, 23
Tupelo ....Jan. 5, 6
Shannon, at Shannon....Jan. 11, 12
Verona ....Jan. 12, 13
Okolona Station....Jan. 19, 20
Buena Vista, at Beuna Vista Jan. 24
Prairie, at Prairie ....Jan. 25, 26
Amory and Nettleton, at A..Feb. 2, 3
Bounds Ct., at Tabernacle..Feb. 6
Pittsboro, at Sumrall....Feb. 7
Vardaman, at Vardaman ....Feb. 8, 9
Houlka, at Wesley Chapel..Feb. 15, 16
Montpelier, at Sparta ....Feb. 18
Palestine, at Algona ....Feb. 22, 23
Pontotoc, at Pontotoc ....Feb. 23, 24
Nettleton, at Evergreen..Feb. 29, Mch 1
Smithville, at Antioch ....Mch. 2
Okolona Ct., at Moore Chap..Mch. 4
Aberdeen Ct., at Gr. Spgs....Mch. 7, 8
Fulton, at Hardins Chap....Mch. 12

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST—FIRST ROUND.
Columbus, First Church ....Dec. 21, 22
Columbus, Second Church....Dec. 22, 23
West Point ....Jan. 4, 5
Columbus Ct., at New Hope Jan. 11, 12
Starkville Ct., at Smyrna....Jan. 18, 19
Starkville ....Jan. 19, 20
Shuqualak, at Salem ....Jan. 25, 26
Macon ....Jan. 26, 27
Winstonville, at Middleton..Feb. 1, 2
Mayhew, at Artesia ....Feb. 8, 9
Mathiston, at Mathiston....Feb. 15, 16
Crawford, at Crawford ....Feb. 22, 23
Sturges, at Sturges....Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Brooksville, at B....Mar. 7, 8
Hebron, at Hebron ....Mar. 14, 15
Cedar Bluff, at Phoeba ....Mar. 21, 22

L. M. LIPSCOMB, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FIRST ROUND.
Booneville Sta. ....Dec. 22, 23
Corinth Sta. ....Dec. 29, 30
Iuka Ct., at Harmony ....Jan. 4, 5
Iuka Sta. ....Jan. 5, 6
Kossuth Ct., at Wesley's C..Jan. 11, 12
Corinth Ct., at Gaines Chap..Jan. 14,
Mooresville and Saltillo, at S.Jan. 18, 19
Guntown and Baldwyn, at G.Jan. 19, 20
Mantachie Ct., at Hebron....Jan. 21,
Belmont Ct., at Pattersons..Jan. 25, 26
Tishomingo Ct., at Boggs....Jan. 28,
Wheeler Ct., at Wheelers....Feb. 1, 2
Marietta Ct., at Marietta....Feb. 4,
Myrtle Ct., at Hickory Flat....Feb. 8, 9
Blue Springs Ct., at B. S....Feb. 10,
New Albany Sta....Feb. 16, 17
N. Albany Ct., at Mt. Olivet.Feb. 18,
Booneville Ct., at Carolina....Feb. 22, 23
Jonesboro Ct., at Camp Gr....Feb. 26,
Rainey and Faulkner, at R.C.Feb. 28,
Ripley and N. H. at Ripley.Feb. 29, 1

BEN P. JACO, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.
Sardis ....Dec. 22, 23
Como ....Dec. 29, 30
Senatobia ....Jan. 4, 5
Mt. Pleasant ....Jan. 11
Byhalia ....Jan. 12, 13
Olive Branch, at Kelley....Jan. 14
Arkabutla, at Hunter's C....Jan. 18
Cold Water ....Jan. 19, 20
Cochrum ....Jan. 25, 26
Wall Hill ....Feb. 1, 2
Pleasant Hill, at Lewisburg..Feb. 8
Hernando and Hinds, at H.... 9, 10
Courtland 15, 16
Harrison 22, 23
Eureka, at Cole's Springs....Feb. 29, 1
Tyro, at Fredonia ....Mar. 7, 8
Long Town, at Davis Ch'l....Mar. 14, 15
Crenshaw....Mar. 21, 22
Batesville ....Mar. 28, 29

The District Stewards will please meet at Cold Water, Jan. 20.

W. M. YOUNG, P. E.

OXFORD DIST.—FIRST ROUND.
Abbeville Ct., at A....Jan. 4, 5
Oxford Station ....Jan. 8,
Holly Springs Ct., at Lamar Jan. 11,
Holly Springs Sta....Jan. 12, 13
Potts Camp Ct., at P. C....Jan. 17,
Red Banks, at R. B....Jan. 18, 19
Ashland Ct., at Liberty ....Jan. 21,
Water Valley, Main St....Jan. 23,
Water Valley, First Church..Jan. 24,
Grenada Ct., at Spring Hill..Jan. 25, 26
Grenada Station ....Jan. 26, 27
Charleston Ct., at Charleston.Jan. 28,
Coffeeville Ct., at C....Jan. 30,
Water V'd. Cir. at Palestine Feb. 1, 2
Paris Ct., at Paris ....Feb. 8, 9
Toccopola Ct. ....Feb. 14,
Randolph Ct. ....Feb. 15, 16
Waterford Ct. ....Feb. 22, 23

J. E. CUNNINGHAM, P. E.

Mississippi Conference.

MERIDIAN DIST—FIRST ROUND.
Meridian, Central, 11 a.m....Jan. 5,
East End, 7:30 p.m....Jan. 5,
South Side, 11 a.m....Jan. 12,
Seventh Ave., 7:30 p.m....Jan. 12,
Fifth St., 11 a.m....Jan. 19,
Shubuta, at Shubuta....Jan. 26, 27
Waynesboro, Wed., 7:30 p.m.,
Thursday ....Jan. 29, 30
Buckatunna, at B....Jan. 31,
Leakesville, at L....Feb. 1, 2
Enterprise, at E....Feb. 8, 9
Scooba, at Scooba....Feb. 15, 16
Lauderdale, at L....Feb. 22, 23
N. Kemper, at Spg. Hill Feb. 29, Mar. 1
De Kalb, Tuesday....Mar. 3,
Daleville, at Soule's Chapel..Mar. 7, 8
Linnsville, at B....Mar. 10,
Pachuta, at McGowan's....Mar. 14, 15
Middleton, at Manassa....Mar. 17,
Waynesboro Ct., at Fedora Mar. 19,
Matherville, at Winnifred....Mar. 21, 22
Eucutta ....Mar. 24,
Vimville, at Pleas. Ridge....Mar. 25, 26

W. C. BLACK, P. E.

LIGHTS

ALL STYLES OF WELSBACH GAS LIGHTS—Well Known.

TUBUS GAS LIGHTS Something New.

INVERTED GAS LIGHTS. Very Popular, at $1.10

THE FELLBOELEL COAL OIL LAMP that burns a mantle 60 hours to one gallon of coal oil. You must see this brilliant light.

Gasoline Hollow Wire Lamp Systems, substitute for gas and electric lights.

FULL STOCK OF LIGHTING SUPPLIES.

The N. O. Light-House.

636 Camp St. New Orleans, La.

Sunday School

By W. B. Campbell.

LESSON FOR JAN. 19.

Jesus and his first disciples.—John I. 35 to 51.

Golden Text: "We have found him of whom Moses in the law and the prophets wrote, Jesus of Nazareth." John I, 45.

The spirit of expectancy pervaded all classes in the days of John the Baptist. Everyone was looking for the advent of some great one, under whose leadership better times would come. That is why so many thought John the Baptist was the Messiah. The common people gathered to hear John preach, for his speech was along the line of thought that was ever in the public mind. John's sermons did not suit everyone, for he urged them to "bring forth fruits meet for repentance," pointing out their individual sins; and some began to ask questions that seem to indicate a desire to justify actions, that looked not well at first appearance. There are those in the world to-day to whom such preaching is equally distasteful; hence empty pews in church and standing-room only in the theatres on Sunday nights. John and Andrew, two fishermen, were much impressed with John's words, and it seemed that after the multitudes were gone they lingered as if to hear more, just as we have often done after a rousing meeting at which the demonstration and power of the Spirit is plainly manifested. It was after many years had passed that John wrote the words of this scripture, and the events had so impressed him that he recalls them as they transpire day by day. It is the third now since Jesus was formally announced and pointed out as "The lamb of God." Jesus was walking near where John the Baptist was with two of his disciples. John directed their attention to Jesus, in the same words that he had used on the first day, and the fact of using them to those two is made important by the grand eternal result that followed. On this sermon preached to two, and on their ready acceptance of the truth, is based the Gospel, and they are recorded in Holy Writ, producing a saving faith in millions upon millions who afterwards read and divided the word of truth.

"Behold the Lamb," not one like those brought to the temple and used in the sacrificial service, but a lamb of God's providing, like that spoken of by Abraham to Isaac: "My son, God will provide himself a lamb," which prophecy was being made plainly fulfilled by the Son of God himself, as he walked away followed by these two seekers after the everlasting truth. Jesus had only walked a little space when he saw the two following, and, turning, asked: "What seek ye?" What a question! They could not answer directly, and their reply was in a way evasive. In fact, there was no reply, and as it would require time to fully answer, they only asked: "Master, where dwellest thou?" Behold the Lord's invitation, not to those two alone, but to the whole world of them that are weary of the world's turmoil, and the search after pardon, peace and safety: "Come and see," said the King that would teach all men of this kingdom of heaven that had been announced by the great forerunner.

The two went with Jesus, "and abode with him that day." What a day that must have been! From that day's conference came Andrew with heart yearning to tell others of him who was, of a truth, the long-expected Messias. He goes to his own brother, Simon, and tells him the glorious news, and brings him to Jesus. Andrew went at once, and so it is with all who have found in Jesus the Savior they need. God has placed in the heart of the forgiven sinner a strong desire to tell of the love of Christ, a means of spreading the gospel. The first day's work of Jesus' ministry was starting Andrew to work. See the second; on that day Jesus went into Galilee, and it must have been near Bethsaida that he found Philip and set him to work, for he goes and finds Nathaniel. Philip and Nathaniel must have been close friends and fellow-students of the word of God. "We have found him of whom Moses and the prophets wrote," said Philip. "It is no other that Jesus of Nazareth." Nathaniel was not ready to at once accept a story so much at variance with his former conclusion. He had read that the Messias should come out of Judea, out of Bethlehem, but no good thing had he ever read of as coming from Nazareth.

"Come and see," said Philip. Come and see all ye who doubt; come and see all that was done by the Savior; see the life he lived; see how he went about doing good. Then cast your eyes inward on your own sinful heart and see how much you need just such a Savior as was this same Jesus that Andrew, and Simon, and Philip, and Nathaniel coming to him, not the outward man alone, but away down deep in the heart he beheld, "an Israelite indeed, in whom is no guile." "Why, Master, do you know me?" "Yes," said the loving Rabbi, "you were under the fig tree alone, as you thought, but I was even there with you; and I am always near the weakest of my children when on their knees in prayer." Nathaniel could not keep silent. "Thou art the Son of God; thou art the King of Israel," is the record of him whose heart was read as a book by him "who looketh on the heart." What are these wonderful words the Master is saying to this new-made disciple: "Hereafter ye shall see heaven open." This simple faith in the Son of God shall make the gates of God's eternal domain swing open, and angels shall descend to bear away the redeemed, ascending to the many mansions in the Father's house. Are not such truths as these worth all the world's wealth? O let us come and see more and more clearly this King of Israel, this King whose kingdom is within us, for we know by the Spirit he hath given us, that verily "we have found him of whom Moses in the law and the prophets wrote, Jesus of Nazareth."

INVISIBLE INK.

Boys and girls sometimes amuse themselves with what is called "invisible ink"—a fluid which makes no more color on paper than water does, but which becomes visible at once if you expose it to heat. An ink of that kind is a great curiosity to persons who have never before seen it, but a greater curiosity still is an ink which may be quickly made to disappear by rubbing it.

To make this fluid, get a little starch—just the common kind used by the laundress—and mix it with water until it becomes of about the consistency of cream. Then to it add a few drops of tincture of iodine, and it is ready for use.

Dip your pen into it, and write a few words on ordinary letter-paper; the writing will be of a dark-brown color, and will dry very quickly. It will look exactly like brown ink, and when you tell your friends that you are going to make the writing disappear simply by rubbing your hand or your handkerchief over it they will probably look incredulous, for it has a permanent appearance, just as the black ink of a letter has. But rub it, and every trace of the writing will vanish as quickly as though your hand had magic in it.

There are many ways in which this fluid may be used for amusing or mystifying people.—New York Press.

"Prophetic eloquence is the faculty of making dry bones live. He who can speak to men of the common things of duty or righteousness with such earnestness that they take heed and consider, has had his lips touched with a coal from off the altar upon which glow the Ten Commandments, and the Sermon on the Mount."—Sunday School Times.

POSITIONS SECURED or MONEY BACK
Contract given, backed by $300,000.00 capital and 18 years' Success
DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL BUSINESS COLLEGES
SHREVEPORT, JACKSON (MISS.),
DALLAS, GALVESTON, NASHVILLE
30 Colleges in 17 States
Bookkeeping, Banking, Shorthand, Penmanship, Telegraphy, etc. Indorsed by business men. Also teach by mail. Write, phone, or call for catalogue.

THE BEST MADE.
Angell's Cough and Whooping Cough Syrup
For Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Throat Trouble.
CONTAINS NO OPIUM OR MORPHINE,
All Druggists, Price 25 and 50 Cents.

Paris Commercial College
is a manufacture world of business. Every student is furnished a separate well-equipped private office and given individual instruction. The best board is secured at the least cost, in a city free from saloons and their kin, and where health is the best. Positions secured. You have missed your best opportunity if you fail to write for our large, free 94-page illustrated catalog before entering elsewhere. Address
A. P. LEVER or N. B. ABERNATHY, Assoc. Pres.
Box 167 D., Paris, Texas.

KING'S "LITTLE GIANT" COTTON
T. W. House, of Texas, says: The King produced double as much as others.
A. A. Williams, of Georgia, says: The King planted same time on same land with same manure and cultivation is twice as good as others.
It ought to Do as Well for You. Take agency and get your seed free.
Seed Sold on Long Time
We wish to show you what the "Genuine King" will do for you, and so we offer the seed on October, 1908 time, at fair prices. Write for application blanks and booklet of proof.
T. J. King Co.,
Richmond, Va.

Cheapest School on Earth
Because we charge enough to enable us to give something just a little better, just a little more up-to-date, and much more of it in the finished product than the other "fellow."
Write to-day for prices, full particulars and a few souvenir post cards.
Departments:—Preparatory, Bookkeeping, Shorthand, and Typewriting.
The best system of Bookkeeping, Shorthand, and general routine. The kind that is made up from actual office experience, not from supposition and a smattering book idea.
New typewriters—the touch system—with blanked keyboards.

SCROFULINE
The Wonderful Healer
Unsurpassed for all skin and scalp troubles, eczema, tetter, blood poison, old sores, ulcers and piles—any nature or duration. Goes to the very seat of the trouble, kills the germs and extracts all foreign matter. A powerful remedy, yet can be applied to the most delicate parts. Sold under a guarantee, 50c and $1.00 per jar. By mail upon receipt of price.
The Scrofuline Co. . . . . . . Waco, Texas.
SOLE OWNERS AND MANUFACTURERS.

STEWART HOME and SCHOOL FOR FEEBLE-MINDED CHILDREN AND ADULTS.
Expert training, mental development, and care by specially trained teachers, and experienced physician who has devoted his life to the study and treatment of nervous children. Home influences. Delightfully located in the blue grass section of Kentucky. 100 acres of beautiful lawn and woodland for pleasure grounds. Elegantly appointed building, electric lighted and steam heated. Highly endorsed and recommended by prominent physicians, ministers and patrons.
Write for terms and descriptive catalogue. Address
DR. JNO. P. STEWART, Supt., Box 4, Farmdale, Ky.

If you are not satisfied with your present salary write to-day for particulars. Good positions always ready for our graduates. We cannot supply the demand.
Harris Business University
THE ONLY BUSINESS UNIVERSITY IN THE SOUTH JACKSON, MISS.

You Look Prematurely Old
Because of those ugly, grizzly, gray hairs. Use "LA CREOLE" HAIR RESTORER. Price, $1.00, retail.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

Mississippi Conference.

NATCHEZ DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Liberty, at Liberty	Jan. 4, 5
Centreville	Jan. 11, 12
Homochitto, at Mt. Olive	Jan. 18, 19
Bethel, at Macedonia	Jan. 25, 26
Gloster	Jan. 26, 27
Barlow, at Rehoboth	Feb. 1, 2
Hamburg, at Hamburg	Feb. 8, 9
Fayette, at Fayette	Feb. 15, 16
Perry's Creek, at Dawson's	Feb. 22, 23
Woodville	Feb. 23, 24
Natchez, Pearl St.	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Natchez, Jefferson St.	Mar. 1, 2
Bayou Pierre, at P. V.	Mar. 7, 8
Caseyville, at New Hope, Monday, 11 a. m.	Mar. 9
Wilkinson, at Friendship	Mar. 14, 15
Meadville, at Providence	Mar. 21, 22
Washington, at W.	Mar. 28, 29

The District Stewards will meet in Gloster on Wednesday, Jan. 22, at 11:30 a. m. J. T. LEGGETT, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Utica, at Utica	Jan. 4, 5
Harriston, at Harriston	Jan. 11, 12
Port Gibson, at P. G.	Jan. 13
Crawford St., Vicksburg	Jan. 15
Lorman, at Lorman	Jan. 18, 19
South Warren, at Red Bone	Jan. 25, 26
S. Washington, Vicksburg	Jan. 27
Bolton, at Bolton	Feb. 1, 2
Hermanville, at H.	Feb. 8, 9
Silver City, at S. C.	Feb. 15, 16
Satartia, at Wesley Chapel	Feb. 18
Oak Ridge, at O. R.	Feb. 22, 23
Edwards, at Edwards	Feb. 24, 25
Anguilla, at Anguilla	Mar. 1, 2
Rolling Fork, at R. F.	Mar. 2, 3
Mayersville, at Mayersville	Mar. 3, 4
Rocky Springs, at R. S.	Mar. 7, 8

G. H. GALLOWAY, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Purvis	Jan. 4, 5
Eastabutchie	Jan. 11, 12
Americus, at Pleasant Hill	Jan. 18, 19
Lucedale	Jan. 19, 20
New Augusta	Jan. 21
McHenery and Wiggins, at McHenery	Jan. 21
Pass Christian	Jan. 25, 26
Bay St. Louis	Jan. 27
Pearlington and Logtown, at Logtown	Jan. 28
Van Cleave	Jan. 30
Escatawpa	Jan. 31
Moss Point	Feb. 1, 2
Pascagoula	Feb. 2, 3
Lumberton	Feb. 8, 9
Biloxi, Main St.	Feb. 15, 16
Long Beach	Feb. 17
Hattiesburg, Main St.	Feb. 21, 22
Hattiesburg, Broad St.	Feb. 22, 23
Hattiesburg, Court St.	Feb. 24
Carriere and McNeill, at Carriere	Feb. 29, 1
Brooklyn and Bond, at Brooklyn	Mar. 6
Mentorum and New Zion, at New Zion	Mar. 7, 8
Gulfport, 25th Ave.	Mar. 10
Gulfport, 29th St., at Handsboro	Mar. 11
Ocean Springs and Oak St., Oak St	Mar. 12
Coalville, at Poplarhead	Mar. 14, 15
Howison ann Saucier, at S.	Mar. 15, 16
Wolf River, at Durhams C.	Mar. 17

District Stewards will meet at Main Street, Hattiesburg, Jan. 15, at 11 a. m. M. L. BURTON, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND

Prentiss, at Prentiss (Thurs.)	Jan. 2
Hub, at Hathorn	Jan. 4, 5
Columbia	Jan. 5, 6
Silver Creek, at Bethel	Jan. 11, 12
Magnolia (Wed)	Jan. 15
McComb and Fernwood, at La-Branch	Jan. 18, 19
McComb, Centenary	Jan. 19, 20
Hazlehurst (Wed)	Jan. 22
Gallman, at Bethesda	Jan. 25, 26
Crystal Springs	Jan. 26, 27
Pearlhaven, at P. (Thurs)	Jan. 30
Tylertown, at T.	Feb. 1, 2
Brookhaven (Wed.)	Feb. 4
Bogue Chitto and Norfield, at B. C.	Feb. 8, 9
Adams, at Adams	Feb. 15, 16
Beauregard, at B.	Feb. 22, 23
Wesson	Feb. 23, 24
Monticello, At M.	Mar. 1, 2
Summit, at Summit	Mar. 8, 9
Topisaw, at Topisaw (Wed)	Mar. 11

GEO. H. THOMPSON, P. E.

JACKSON DISTRICT—FIRST ROUND

Jackson, Capitol St., 11 a.m.	Jan. 5
Jackson, Rankin St., 7 p.m.	Jan. 5
Magee, at Magee	Jan. 11, 12
Thomasville, at Greenfield, 11 a.m.	Jan. 18, 19
Brandon 7 p.m.	Jan. 19, 20
Seminary, at Williamsburg, 11 a.m.	Jan. 25, 26
Collins 7 p.m.	Jan. 26, 27
Canton	Jan. 31
Sharon, at Sharon	Feb. 1, 2
Madison, at Madison	Feb. 3
Jackson, First Church	Feb. 5
Fannin, at Oakdale	Feb. 8, 9
Florence, at Marvin Church	Feb. 14
Braxton, at Braxton	Feb. 15, 16
Terry, at Terry	Feb. 18
Deasonville, at Union	Feb. 22, 23
Benton, at Midway	Feb. 25
Yazoo City	Feb. 26
Eden, at Eden	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Flora, at Flora	Mar. 2, 3
Mount Olive, at Mt. O.	Mar. 6
Bethel and Mission, at B.	Mar. 7, 8
Pinola, at Mount Pisgah	Mar. 14, 15

The Board of District Stewards will convene in Jackson, First Church, on Thursday, Jan. 30, at 10 a.m. The meeting is one of unusual importance, and it is earnestly desired that in cases where there are no early morning trains the members will come in Wednesday evening. A. F. WATKINS, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Carrollton, at Carrollton	Jan. 4, 5
Itta Bena	Jan. 9, 10
Belzoni, at Belzoni	Jan. 11, 12
Eupora and Maben, at E.	Jan. 18, 19
Moorhead, at M.	Jan. 25, 26
Indianola, at I.	Jan. 27
Inverness, at Inverness	Jan. 28
Schlater, at S.	Feb. 1, 2
Webb, at Tutwiler	Feb. 4
Minter City, at M. C.	Feb. 8, 9
N. Carrollton, at Eden	Feb. 12
Winona Ct., at New Hope	Feb. 15, 16
Mar's Hill, at M. H.	Feb. 18
Tom Nolen, at Stewart	Feb. 22, 23
Ruleville, at Drew	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Vance, at Vance	March 3
Slate Springs	March 7, 8

The District Stewards Meeting will be held in the Methodist Church, Winona, Miss., Jan. 15, 1908, at 11 o'clock a. m. A full attndance is very much desired. E. S. LEWIS, P. E.

NEWTON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Bay Springs, at B. S.	Jan. 4, 5
Taylorsville, at T.	Jan. 8
Laurel	Jan. 9
5th Ave. and K.	Jan. 10
Montrose, at Montrose	Jan. 11, 12
Shiloh, at Shiloh	Jan. 15
Morton and P., at M.	Jan. 16
Forest and H., at F.	Jan. 17
Lake, at Lake	Jan. 18, 19
Newton	Jan. 19, 20
Raleigh, at Trinity	Jan. 23
Trenton, at Burns	Jan. 24
Homewood, at H.	Jan. 25, 26
Hebron, at Hebron	Feb. 1
Ellisville, at E.	Feb. 2, 3
Harperville, at H.	Feb. 7
Walnut Grove, at W.	Feb. 8, 9
Carthage, at C.	Feb. 9, 10
Edinberg, at Waldo	Feb. 15, 16
Philadelphia, at P.	Feb. 16, 17
Indian Miss., at Philadel.	Feb. 17
Neshoba, at Mt. Pisgah	Feb. 18
Decatur, at Union	Feb. 22, 23
Chunkey, at C.	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Vossburg and H., at V.	Mar. 7, 8
Rose Hill, at Rose Hill	Mar. 14, 15

District Stewards will meet in the Methodist Church in Newton, Jan. 3, at 11 a. m. JAS. M. WEEMS, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

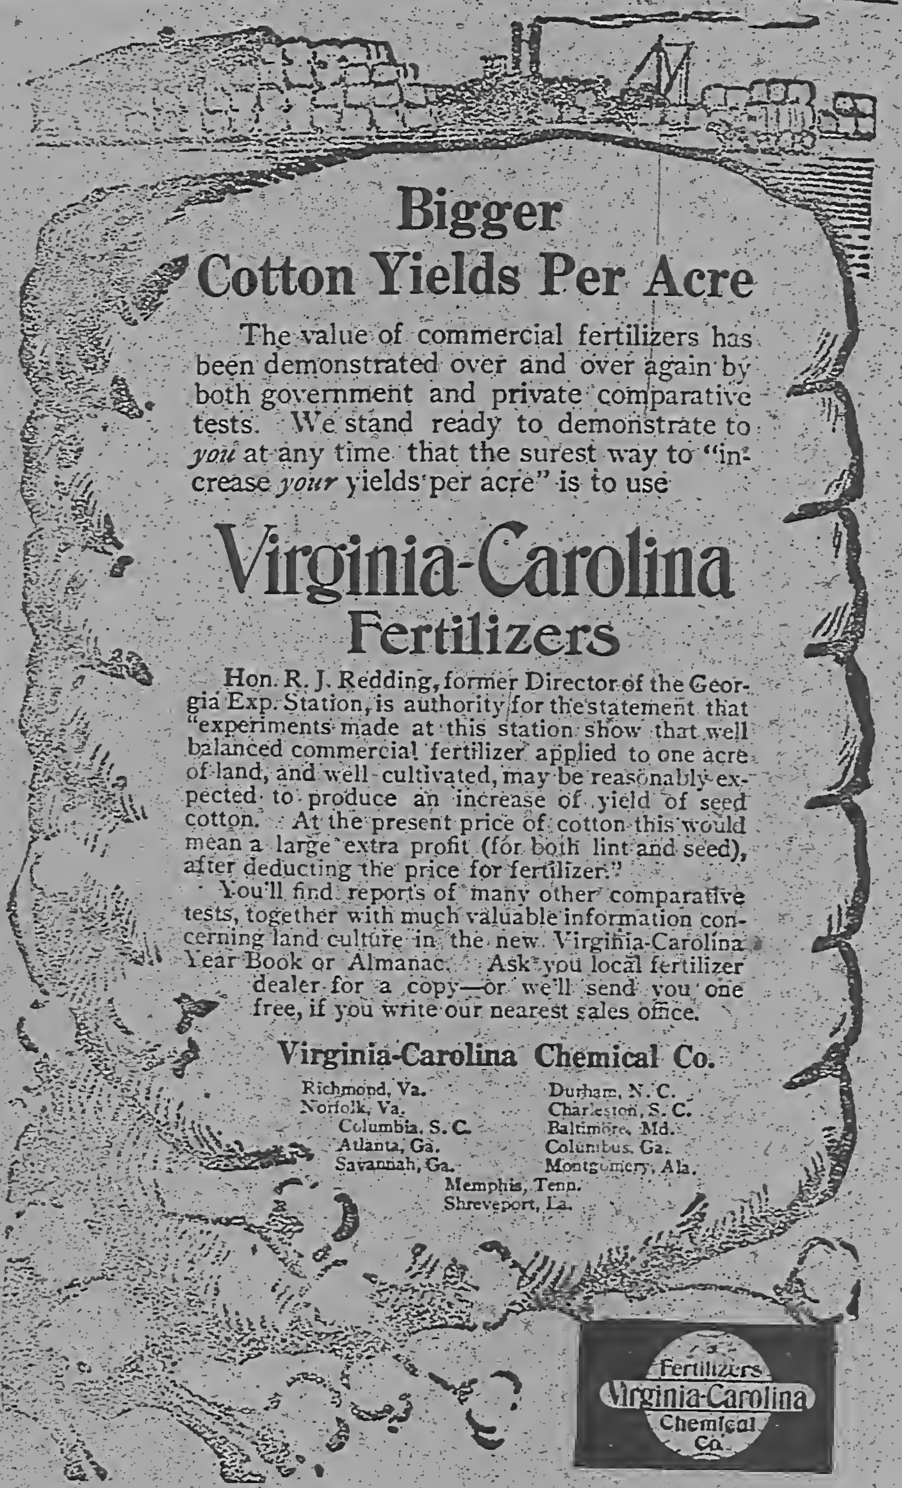
Clarksdale, 11 a. m.	Jan. 5
Lula, at Lyon, 7 p. m.	Jan. 5
Hollandale, at Arcola, 11 a. m.	Jan. 12
Leland 7 p.m.	Jan. 12
Greenville	Jan. 18, 19
Cleveland Ct. 11 a.m.	Jan. 26
Cleveland Sta. 7 p.m.	Jan. 26
Boyle, at B.	Jan. 25, 26
Duncan, at Alligator, p.m.	Jan. 26
Coahoma, at C., 11 a.m.	Feb. 2
Tunica, at T., 7 p.m.	Feb. 2
Robinsonville, at R	Feb. 3, 4
Rosedale 11 a.m.	Feb. 9
Hill House, at Gunnison, pm	Feb. 9
Friar's Point	Feb. 16, 17
Jonestown	Feb. 23, 24
Shaw	Mar. 1, 2
Glen Allan and Greenville Mission	Mar. 7, 8

District Stewards Meting will be held at Cleveland, Jan. 21, at 3 p. m., and there will also be a meeting of the prachers of the District at the same place, Jan. 21 and 22. In the case of the quarterly Conferences coming last, the Presiding Elder hopes to meet and confer with the Official Boards much earlier than the dates above announced. R. A. MEEK, P. E.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure

MISSISSIPPI LEGISLATURE
CONVENES TUESDAY, JAN. 6, 1908.
Take the DAILY NEWS during the session, the afternoon paper of to-day.
THE DAILY NEWS
goes to press every afternoon in time to make all outgoing trains.
SPECIAL SUBSCRIPTION PRICE
to the DAILY NEWS for the three months of the legislature. Daily and Sunday, for entire legislative session
ONLY $1.25
Cash must accompany all orders. Address DAILY NEWS, Jackson, Miss.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds



Bigger
Cotton Yields Per Acre

The value of commercial fertilizers has been demonstrated over and over again by both government and private comparative tests. We stand ready to demonstrate to you at any time that the surest way to "increase your yields per acre" is to use

Virginia-Carolina
Fertilizers

Hon. R. J. Redding, former Director of the Georgia Exp. Station, is authority for the statement that "experiments made at this station show that well balanced commercial fertilizer applied to one acre of land, and well cultivated, may be reasonably expected to produce an increase of yield of seed cotton. At the present price of cotton this would mean a large extra profit (for both lint and seed), after deducting the price for fertilizer."

You'll find reports of many other comparative tests, together with much valuable information concerning land culture in the new Virginia-Carolina Year Book or Almanac. Ask you local fertilizer dealer for a copy—or we'll send you one free, if you write our nearest sales office.

Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co.

Richmond, Va.
Norfolk, Va.
Columbia, S. C.
Atlanta, Ga.
Savannah, Ga.
Durham, N. C.
Charleston, S. C.
Baltimore, Md.
Columbus, Ga.
Montgomery, Ala.
Memphis, Tenn.
Shreveport, La.

Frank J. Matthew,
PAINTER and DECORATOR.
1003-1005 Gravier Street. Phone, Main 4087.
Box No. 141, Contractors' and Dealers' Exchange.

TO PRACTICAL FARMERS
THE COLE PLANTERS
HAVE PROVEN
That they are time and money savers.

The Cole Universal Planter No. 7

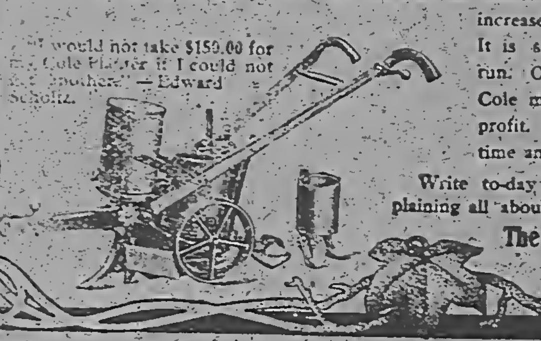
Distributes guano and drills cotton seed at the same time. Drops corn, one grain or more if wanted. Perfect pea planter; fine for peanuts, sorghum, beans, etc.

The guano is mixed with soil and is not in contact with seed. Gives better stands increases the yield, and saves labor. It is simple, practical and easy to run. Over 30,000 farmers are using Cole machines with satisfaction and profit. They will save you much time and money.

"I would not take $150.00 for my Cole Planter if I could not get another." —Edward Scholtz.

Write to-day for illustrated catalogue explaining all about them.

The COLE MANUFACTURING CO.
CHARLOTTE, N. C.



TO CURE ECZEMA.

The one infallible method by which Eczema can be quickly and permanently cured is by the use of HEISKELL'S OINTMENT. For half a century this great remedy has been the means of curing skin diseases of every nature. Erysipelas, Tetter, Ulcers, Pimples, Ringworm, Blotchy Skin, Eruptions, Rough Skin, Salt Rheum, Scald Head—all yield as readily to the marvelous curative virtues of HEISKELL'S OINTMENT as the dread disease—Eczema. Before applying the ointment, bathe the affected parts, using HEISKELL'S MEDICINAL SOAP. HEISKELL'S BLOOD AND LIVER PILLS tone up the liver and cleanse the blood. Ointment, 50 cents a box; Soap, 25 cents a cake; Pills, 25 cents a bottle—at all druggists. Send for interesting book of testimonials to JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & Co., 531 Commerce Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Catarrh Medicine Free

Write To-day

Send your name and address and say you have Catarrh. I will gladly explain my new system of treatment and tell you how to cure yourself quickly at your own home. In addition I will send a month's medicine free of charge to demonstrate that Catarrh of the Head, Nose and Throat, or Constitutional Catarrh in any form can be cured. Thousands have already been cured. Many in one month. Others who have been afflicted 15 and 20 years were cured in two and three months. I want to cure you to introduce my new system of treatment in your neighborhood.

Send No Money This offer is fair and square, the acceptance of it places you under no obligation to me whatever. I simply want to show one sufferer in every community that I have the greatest treatment in the world for catarrh. If interested write to

DR. T. F. WILLIAMS.
504 Flynn Bldg, Des Moines, Iowa

WHY PAY $15.00 TO $20.00 FOR A GOLD WATCH WHEN YOU CAN BUY ONE AT WHOLESALE FOR $3.75?

Sign your name and express office below and return this ad. Watch will then be sent C. O. D. Examine at office and if you think it a bargain pay the agent $3.75 and charges and it will be yours. If you don't live near express office send cash with order and 25c for registered mail. Mention whether you want Ladies' or Gents' size. H. A. SHEELER JEWELRY CO., Winston-Salem, N. C. 413 Liberty St. P. O. Box 514.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

Has been used for over SIXTY-FIVE YEARS by MILLIONS of MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING with PERFECT SUCCESS. It SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN; CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHŒA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number [illegible]. AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.

Southern Pacific
Sunset Route

Connections made at New Orleans with all lines to the

North East and Southeast

WRITE FOR INFORMATION
G. E. GUEDRY, D. P. A.
Lake Charles.
F. E. BATTURS, G. P. A.
New Orleans.

RHEUMATISM

Cured by Dr. Shafer's New System of Treatment, based upon the Chemical Analysis of the Urine. No charge for consultation, analysis of urine and report. Mailing case for urine sent free. Dr. Shafer has the Largest Practice of any specialist in the world. Address J. F. SHAFER, M. D., 461 Penn Ave., Pittsburg, Pa.

Epworth League

By Rev. H. Whitehead.

PRAYER-MEETING TOPIC.

January 19. The Example of Jesus in Prayer. II. Prayer as a Preparation. Mark i, 35-39; Luke vi, 12-16; Neh. iv, 3-6.

It is a notable fact in the life of the Master that each great event was preceded by prolonged prayer. From this is drawn the lesson of to-day, prayer as a preparation, as shown by the example of the Christ.

1. The preparation of communion with God.

Why should the Master pray? Every thoughtful man who has studied the subject closely has asked himself this question. He was the Son of God. Without him was not anything made that was made. Then why should he pray. Perhaps the best answer that we can give in our blindness is to say the union of the human and divine were perfect, and that he felt all the needs of our humanity. When man will commune with God he must pray. And so when Christ would make the important moves of his ministry, he spent hours and even nights in communion with his Father, seeking the Father's will. If the Master needed to ask for wisdom from above, much more do we. We are very short-sighted, and all our lives are filled with laments that we had not been able to foresee some things to come.

2. We need to pray as a preparation for the daily tasks.

Sometimes the work seems humdrum, and we do not feel like especial guidance was needed, and yet in these daily things we are either letting the light shine for Christ, or else we are going through life with our lights hidden. You are more apt to be off guard in commonplace things, than in the great issues that seldom come. Upon the day may hang the destiny of a soul. The Master has laid more stress upon faithfulness than upon results. If we are faithful the results belong to God. While but very few may do great things, there is not a servant of the King so weak but he can be faithful. Then before each day we need to ask the help of that friend who sees all things, who is never off guard; who knows all our weakness and understands all our desires that this day we may be faithful to him in every task.

3. Prayer as a preparation for the great tasks.

There comes to each of us things to do that to us are great, however commonplace they may seem to others. If the Master rose early for prayer, before he set out on an evangelization of the world; if he gave himself to prayer before facing the judges and the suffering of the cross, how much more should we make ready for each crucial moment by prayer. Have you to decide some question upon which your own welfare or the welfare of others may depend, seek wisdom in communion with the King.

4. Prayer before the search for light and knowledge.

Far beyond the little things we do it is important that each of us shall get our bearings and know our relations to the Lord of all, and to the works of his hands. He himself is the source of all wisdom, and before we seek to find out his ways, we should ask his help. It seems as if no school should open its study without praying together, "Father, we thy children seek to know some of thy ways, and to trace out some of thy footsteps; give us light then to shine upon the path we travel; and help us to understand that all we may learn is after all only the reading after thee, of a few of thy thoughts."

How much more essential then does it become that we pray when we seek not the footprints of God, but the King himself. Prepare for your search after the glory of God in humility upon your knees.

EPWORTH LEAGUE BOARD.

The North Mississippi Epworth League Conference will be held in Winona July 7-9 and we are planning to make this a great occasion for the young people of our Conference. We expect to have several of the best speakers to be had and expect to make the Conference practical and helpful for all who attend. We hope the Leagues in the Conference will begin now to arrange to send a full delegation to this Conference.

ROBT. A. CLARK.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

Church Directory

New Orleans District, Rev. F. N. Parker, D. D., Presiding Elder; residence, 241 Olivier St.

First Methodist Church, St. Charles Ave., near Calliope street; Rev. J. E. Wray, pastor; residence, 5830 Prytania St.; phone 329 (uptown.)

Second Methodist Church, 2531 Burgundy, near Lafayette Ave.; Rev. A. Inman Townsley, pastor; residence, 2531 Burgundy St.; office hours, 9 to 11 a. m.

Parker Memorial, corner Nashville avenue and Perrier street; Rev. C. D. Atkinson, pastor; residence 734 Nashville avenue.

Louisiana Avenue, Louisiana Avenue and Magazine Street; Rev. W. W. Holmes, pastor.

Rayne Memorial, St. Charles Avenue and General Taylor Street; Dr. John A. Rice, pastor; residence, 1101 Peniston Street.

Felicity Street Church, corner Felicity and Chestnut Streets; Rev. Albert S. Lutz, pastor; residence, 2421 Chestnut street; phone, Uptown 1832.

Carrollton Avenue, corner Carrollton avenue and Elm street; Rev. Henry T. Carley, pastor.

Algiers, Lavergne Street, corner Delaronde; Rev. J. F. Foster, pastor.

McDonoghville and Gretna, Rev. H. Whitehead, pastor; residence 5205 Magazine Street; phone, Uptown 2459.

Epworth Church, Corner Banks and Scott streets; Rev. L. A. Simms, pastor; residence, 4031 Palmyra street; phone, Main 4284.

Rev. L. E. Wicht, junior preacher, Lower Coast Mission; address, 509 Board of Trade Bldg., New Orleans.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

FREE TO ALL
D. M. FERRY & CO'S.
ILLUSTRATED DESCRIPTIVE SEED

Ferry's Seeds [illegible] known and [illegible]

Ferry's 1908 Seed Annual [illegible] FREE [illegible]

D. M. FERRY & CO., D[illegible]

Samples Mailed Free.

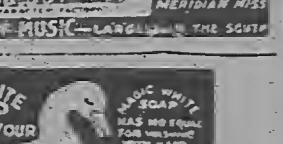
To Demonstrate the Merits of Dr. Blosser's Remedy, a Trial Box Will Be Sent Free to Any Sufferer From Catarrh.

His discovery is unlike anything you have ever used before. It is not a spray, douche, atomizer, salve or cream. By a unique, simple method it reaches directly the mucous membranes lining the head, nose, throat and lungs. A regular package containing enough to last one whole month is sent by mail for $1.00.

If you wish a free trial of the remedy, an interesting booklet about Catarrh, testimonials, etc., write at once to Dr. J. W. Blosser, 204 Walton St., Atlanta, Ga.

A MAN SAVED
BY USING A FOLDING SAWING MACHINE.

One man can saw more wood with it than two in any other way and do it easier. 9 CORDS IN 10 HOURS. Saws any wood on any ground. Saws trees down. Catalog free. First order secures agency.



Folding Sawing Mach. Co., 158 E. Harrison St., Chicago, Ill.

BELLS.

Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

UNLIKE ALL OTHERS
A SAFE HOME FOR GIRLS
MERIDIAN WOMAN'S COLLEGE
WRITE FOR CATALOG
MERIDIAN MISS
CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC—LARGEST IN THE SOUTH

MAGIC WHITE SOAP WILL MAKE YOUR WOOLENS SOFT & SWEET
MAGIC WHITE SOAP HAS NO EQUAL FOR WASHING WITH HARD WATER

SAY MA, IF I LIVE WILL I BE AS BIG A GOOSE AS YOU?
YES, MY CHILD, IF YOU DON'T USE

MAGIC WHITE SOAP

Rub Magic on soiled parts, leave them in water one hour. No boiling, no washboard, no backache, if you use MAGIC WHITE SOAP, will iron easy as magic; has no rosin like in yellow soap.

Get your grocer to order or send us $4.00 for one box of 100 5c cakes. We pay freight. Save the wrappers.

MAGIC, KELLER SOAP WORKS, LTD
NEW ORLEANS.

FOR RENT.

Two-story house, 545 Lowerline St., one-half square from St. Charles Ave., New Orleans, La. Eight rooms; reception hall; all modern conveniences; large yard, etc. Apply to Rev. J. W. Tinnin, Pelican and Lavergne, Algiers, La.

BLOOD POISONING POSITIVELY CURED

Hereditary, primary, secondary and tertiary. Scrofula, Eczema, Blood and Skin Disease. If you have exhausted old time methods, and want to get well, write me in fullest confidence for proof of cures. Take my treatment and get well. A. A. BROWER, M. D.
San Antonia, Tex.

Marriages.

At the residence of Mr. H. A. Johnston, near Downsville, La., Nov. 24, 1907, by Rev. H. B. Vaudenburg, Mr. G. C. PATTERSON to Miss MINNIE JOHNSTON.

At the Trinity M. E. Church, South, Ruston, La., on the evening of Dec. 25, 1907, by Rev. H. T. Cunningham, of the Texas Conference, and brother of the groom, Mr. EARLY CUNNINGHAM and Miss EPSEY BOND, both of Ruston. The couple left at once for Beaumont, Texas, where they will permanently reside.

On Sunday, December 22, 1907, at the home of the bride's father, Mr. W. O. Harris, by Rev. L. T. Sargent, Mr. E. B. BARNETT, of Booneville, Miss., to Miss ANNA HARRIS, of Marietta, Miss.

At the residence of the bride's mother in Minden, La., on Thursday, Dec. 26, 1907, by Rev. R. H. Wynn, assisted by Rev. A. L. Johnston, of the Baptist Church, Rev. J. M. DAVIES to Miss THERESA GRIGSBY.

Earthquakes and land slides have wrought singular transformation in what was a very wild part of the Canon of Colorado. Where there was a mile of dangerous rapids, and narrow falls, there is now a boad smooth channel.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D., 1886.

(Seal.) A. W. GLEASON,
Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO.,
Toledo, O.

Sold by all druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo,
Lucas County.

THE REMEDY FOR SKIN DISEASES.
Tetterine, the fragrant, antiseptic and healing ointment, is the finest prescription ever discovered for Eczema, Tetter, Skin and Scalp diseases, and Itching Piles. It relieves the worst itching in a few seconds and destroys the germs, thus curing the disease much quicker and surer than any other remedy. Costs only 50 cents at druggists, or by mail. The Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

FREE DEAFNESS CURE.
A remarkable offer made by one of the leading ear specialists in this country. Dr. Branaman offers to all applying at once two full months' medicine free to prove his ability to cure permanently Deafness, Head Noises and Catarrh in every stage. Address: Dr. G. M. Branaman, [illegible] Walnut St., Kansas City, Mo.

AGENTS WANTED
to sell household novelties. Quick Sellers and good commission. Westwood Supply Co., Milford, Conn.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS. UNLIKE OTHER BELLS SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.
Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

WHY IS IT?

That each month in all the best homes in this country, on the library table, and in every club reading room, you find the

METROPOLITAN MAGAZINE

It is because it keeps you in touch with those great public and human movements on which the American family depends.

It is because its stories are the best published anywhere.

It is because its illustrations in color, and black and white, set the standard.

It is because its articles are the most vital and interesting.

It is because there is something in each copy for every member of every American family.

A YEAR'S FEAST

1800 Beautiful Illustrations. 1560 Pages of Reading Matter.
85 Complete Stories. 75 Good Poems.
50 Timely and Important Articles.
1000 Paragraphs presenting the big news of the "World at Large."
120 Humorous Contributions.
Wonderful Color Work, presented in frontispieces, inserts and covers.

All Yours for One Year's Subscription to
THE METROPOLITAN MAGAZINE
Price $1.50 per Year or 15 Cents a Copy

The Publishers of

The New Orleans Christian Advocate

have made a special arrangement with

THE METROPOLITAN MAGAZINE

by which they are enabled to offer the following extraordinary bargain:

The Cost of One Year's Subscription to

The Metropolitan

is $1.50

The Cost of One Year's Subscription to

The Advocate

is $2.00

We Offer Both for $3.00

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Millsaps College Library.

REV. JOHN W. BOSWELL, Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.

NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY JANUARY, 23, 1908.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher,
Office, 512 Camp St., New Orleans.

VOL. 55—No. 4.

"PROVE ALL THINGS; HOLD FAST THAT WHICH IS GOOD."

WHOLE No. 5383.

"Faint, Yet Pursuing."

I strive, but fail; O, why, dear Lord,
Must this my constant record be?
Why finds each daily westering sun
My work for Thee but half begun,
Or done, alas, so selfishly?

I'm tempted oft, and often yield,
For Pleasure hath a siren voice;
She sings my scruples quite away,
And with her charming roundelay
Deprives me of the power of choice.

My faith is strong when skies are bright,
But sunny days are all too brief;
When clouds arise and sorrows come
My lips are sealed, my heart is dumb
And full of weary unbelief.

But this, dear Lord, my comfort is:
My troubled heart is known to Thee;
Thou knowest that I love Thee, Lord;
And, Saviour mine, I have Thy word
That this shall my salvation be.

(Dr. J. R. Miller.

Christian Advocate.

Published for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Csurch, South.

DIRECTIONS.

Correspondents will please direct all communications intended for the Editor to 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La. Communications intended for the Business Department should be addressed to the Manager of the New Orleans Christian Advocate. Write with ink, and only on one side of the paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after two weeks, notify us, and we will make it right. Papers will be continued unless subscribers order otherwise.

The Foreign Advertising Department of the N. O. Christian Advocate is in the hands of

Religious Press Advertising Syndicate

JACOBS & CO., CLINTON, S. C.,

J. F. JACOBS, Mgr., Home Office, Clinton, S. C.
Thornwell Jacobs, 85 Arcade, Nashville, Tenn.
J. D. Jacobs, 343 Fifth Street, Louisville, Ky.
C. C. Little, 614 Mutual Bldg., Richmond, Va.
L. J. Carter, 132 LaSalle Street, Chicago, Ill.
J. B. Gentry, Columbia, S. C.
E. J. Barrett, Dallas, Texas.
Thos. L. Bryan, 232 Courtland St., Atlanta, Ga.
Miss M. R. Middleton, 150 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.

Glances at the World.

The outcome of the trial of Mayor Schmitz and Abe Reuf, of San Francisco, for extortion is somewhat puzzling. Reuf on arraignment plead guilty and was sentenced to prison. Mayor Schmitz, on the same charge, declined to plead guilty, and let his case go to the jury. He was convicted and sentenced, but took an appeal. The higher court reversed the decision of the lower court on the ground that the thing charged against the Mayor was not a crime under the law. So, should the matter end there, Schmitz would go free and Reuf bear punishment for the same offence. But Schmitz was not set free. There are about forty more indictments against him, and he was denied bail, and remains in prison. The ruling of the appellate court was a surprise and disappointment. The prosecutors, led by State's Attorney Heney, are so confident of final victory that they have appealed to the State supreme court, which will finally determine the matter. Meanwhile both Reuf and his ally, Schmitz, are in safe keeping.

* * *

Busy bodies, some of whom might be characterized as mischief-makers, if all accounts be true, would be more than glad to see war inaugurated between Japan and the United States. Both in Europe and America, especially in Europe, it is constantly predicted that war is imminent. Knowing the troubles of the Japanese in California, and the difficulty in settling the immigrant question, the going of the United States warships to the Pacific ocean is declared to be somewhat in the nature of a dare to Japan which she will not take. Hence the prediction of an early war. But notwithstanding all this talk "the State Department at Washington announces that the Japanese government has agreed to issue no more passports to the United States for Japanese laborers. It is believed that Japanese cooly immigration to this country will thus be stopped, and the root cause of much recent friction thus be removed. It is also announced from Washington that the President has agreed to veto any Japanese exclusion bill which Congress may pass. The purpose of this is to "save the face" of the Japanese, who object to being classed with Chinese."

* * *

The temperance movement is making rapid strides in our country. Where it does not take the direction of entire prohibition it shows itself in voluntary pledges to total abstinence, or regulations, strictly enforced by those who control a large number of employees. The following quotation from the Chicago Inter-Ocean is vastly significant: "Probably the largest temperance movement any one business concern has ever known culminated to-day on the Northwestern Rrailroad when a temperance pledge signed by 25,000 employes became effective. An effort is being made to have every employe sign. The movement originated among the employes themselves. Three months ago, when the Northwestern began cutting its forces to a winter basis, every man discharged was a drinking man, the teetotalers being retained in their positions. It was announced that the road had inaugurated a policy of always retaining the non-drinking men. As a result the drinking men who remained with the road have decided to abstain, and during the last month pledges have circulated all over the 7,000 miles of the system. The monster pledge will be sent to the President of the road as soon as all the parts are assembled." If labor organizations throughout the country could be induced to take a like pledge a better state of feeling would at once be manifested in the business world.

* * *

Hon. E. F. Noel is now Governor of Mississippi. He was inaugurated on the 21st of the month. The Legislature had been in session about three weeks, and was in good working order when the new Governor took hold. He is a man of fine moral character, well poised, and in harmony with the progressive spirit of the day. He comes into office under auspicious circumstances, and is expected to have a prosperous administration. Happily for all concerned he is in thorough accord with the outgoing Governor on the most vital issue before the people, and also with the majority of the Legislature, viz: the prohibition of the liquor traffic. That matter is now uppermost in the minds of all—both those who favor prohibition, and those who are against it. A great mass-meeting of prohibitionists, held in Jackson a few days ago, composed of citizens from all sections of the State, favored statutory prohibition at once to be followed by a constitutional amendment forever barring the trade from the State. As the outgoing Governor recommended the measure, and the incoming one will do likewise, it is thought there will be no trouble securing the necessary legislation. Nine-tenths of the State are already under prohibition. Going from north to south over the Illinois Central railroad—from Osyka to Michigan City, over three hundred miles—there is not a saloon. Mississippi will doubtless join Alabama and Georgia. Then Louisiana will fall into line.

* * *

Sometime since the Pope of Rome began a war against what he was pleased to call "modernism," but what is generally called "higher criticism." His edict was aimed at the study without qualification. There are some in the Church who are disposed to resent the Pope's attitude. But resentment will amount to nothing. The Pope's word is final, and he is not likely to retract. His next effort, it is said, will be to crush Free-masonry, which the Roman Catholic clergy generally oppose. "It has come to the knowledge of the high dignitaries of the Catholic Church that in recent years, and especially during 1907, increasing numbers of Catholics have become Freemasons. In England and many other countries the order at the present time numbers thousands of adherents of the Catholic Church, and these will, no doubt, smile when they read the Papal bull, which, it is understood, will describe the craft as being engaged in a definite conspiracy against the state, religion and social order, it having been reported to the Pope on high authority that the Masons, who generally are regarded as brethren abounding in charity, tempered with some conviviality, are atheists, who deny the immortality of the soul, and communists, who aim at the subversion of society and who have undermined the foundation of every law, moral and divine." Were all these things true, not only Rome, but the whole of Christendom would be against Masonary. But we hear of no such accusations in places where Freemasonry flourishes. In fighting the order the Pope is not dealing with the clergy, but with the laity who do their own thinking, and are not dependent on the Church for their daily bread. This makes all the difference in the world.

* * *

Some years ago Miss Anna Gould, daughter of Jay Gould, married a Frenchman. He had nothing to recommend him save perhaps good looks, and a title. He belonged to the so-called nobility—was called a "count"—Count Boni De Castellane. He may have had good manners, for he was received into the society of New York's "Four Hundred," but he had bad morals, was overwhelmed in debt and was a spendthrift. Not long after marriage his wife's money went to pay his debts—it went by the millions. But the count's allowance was not sufficient to meet his extravagance, and trouble followed. He became involved in scandal, and this, coupled with bad treatment towards his wife, determined her to sue for a divorce. After a long and tedious trial she succeeded, and the count was left penniless and still in debt. Not long after securing a divorce Madam Gould, which name she assumed, began to attract another impecunious Frenchman with a higher rank than Count Boni, and quite as dissolute and as much of a money-spender. Rumor has it that Madam Gould and this gentleman will marry. She denies it, and Count Boni is in a bad humor about it. He and the gentleman had a fight. It began in a Church where they were attending divine service, and ended in the street—the two kicking and scratching, clinched and rolled in the gutter, and were picked up and separated by a butcher who happened along at the time. If Madam Gould ever had any notion of helping this nobleman out of trouble with her remaining millions, this unseemly fisticuff should put an end to it. Is it not about time American women had ceased buying empty titles and trouble with their money?

THE SUFFICIENCY OF THE GOSPEL TO MEET THE WORLD'S NEEDS.

BY REV. J. W. BROWN.

The definition of the gospel and its design deserve our consideration. The gospel is God's Word, his revelation to the world. Not only is it the complement of the Old Testament, but it includes it, if not in every particular, especially in its precepts and principles. Such was the actual scope of the very preaching of our Lord and his apostles. Thus they gave their sanction while they fulfilled the law. Within the compass of the Holy Book God speaks—has spoken. Outside of it no word, no voice of his to the world! One questions whether its fulness or its finality provokes the greater amazement. Wherein is our greater benediction that God spake, or that God has ceased speaking? Infinity dealing with the finite limits its utterances. Otherwise there had been hopelessness in the endeavor to receive and comply.

Infinite wisdom and love insure beneficence of design. Emanating absolutely from God for man's good, its efficacy is not to be questioned. It was evoked by the necessity of the world, and the pleasure of God. In fulfilling the one it transcends the other. Expressing not only the mind of God, but the heart also, it becomes a ministration of glory.

Man has been appropriately designated a microcosm. Under God as to be affected by the gospel mankind is a unit. Sufficiency for the individual implies sufficiency for all. The needs of body, mind and spirit are to be met. Conditions must be appreciated not only inherent in his creation, but resulting from the fall of man. The cry of his lowest nature, "what shall I eat, what shall I drink, wherewithal shall I be clothed," is heard and answered. Seed time and harvest shall not fail, the bow is in the cloud, the grass is clothed, lilies arrayed in splendor, the ravens are fed, all these things are to be added. A Savior of the body is revealed. A resurrection of life, spiritual in power, in glory is provided. Bodily death is to be abolished, swallowed up.

The gospel meets man's intellectual needs. Employment, delight and satisfaction are afforded the human mind for the unlearned and the philosopher. A system of truth, of fulness and depth and beauty are embodied in him who declares, "I am the way, the truth and the life," that might overwhelm a philosopher, while the common people hear gladly. The wayfarer, though a fool, does not err, yet the intellectual giant exclaims, "O, the depth of the riches, both of the wisdom and the knowledge of God; how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out." Come, let us reason together, says the Almighty to man, and man's mind is engaged, we are almost ready to say, forever.

More especially must the gospel meet the spiritual needs of man and of the world. By it the great requisites of the soul are met. It is the power of God unto salvation. It declares and reveals and remedies sin and death. Holiness and life are its product for the individual. Man is in absolute need of a Savior. Christ is revealed by the gospel while he also accompanies it. Man keeps God's Word and in love toward him Christ and his Father have their abode with him. Man hears and opens the door of his heart and the Savior enters and sups with him. The living ministry, of the living Word, of the living God, implies vitality. To the spiritually dead life abounds in Christ. "I am come that they might have life and have it more abundantly." The gospel provides heaven for the individual. Jesus saves to the uttermost. To eat his flesh and to drink his blood satisfies the soul. The abundant life is provided abundant scope. Investment and employment are provided. Obeying the "occupy till I come," up to the final statement, "inasmuch as ye have done," or "thou hast been faithful," there is met every demand of a life whose initial prattle or utterance is "What wilt thou have me to do?"

That gospel which so fully meets the needs of the individual body, mind and soul, is practically to meet the world's need because of its essential missionary element. A dual growth both endogenous and exogenous is the product of the gospel. There is the hear and the say. "Ye are the light of the world." "Go ye into all the world." "The field is the world," "the seed is the Word of God." The heart believes and the mouth confesses. From the believer flow rivers of living water. The conquest of the world shall be by the sword of the spirit which is the Word of God.

That provision of the gospel adequate for the whole world transcends the confines of time to meet the needs of the immortal spirit. From a world awaiting to be burned its hero declares "I go to prepare a place." There is revealed the "inheritance incorruptible," "that fadeth not away." The leading subject and gift of God in the gospel is eternal life. God is ready to supply all the world's need through riches of glory by Christ Jesus.

LEFT OUT.

I love to preach on Methodism, and in commending her polity I emphasize the fact that every itinerant gets an appointment. But I find there are exceptions, or, at least, one exception. I was read out at the last session of my Conference at Ruston for Standard. I went with wife and baggage, and on arrival I found no railroad station, no telegraph nor telephone office, and no place to live in, nor to preach in. Neither was there any appropriation made to help in the new place. Moreover, the Baptists had a small organization, and a subscription started to build a Church. Does not this mean "left out?" Is it not unprecedented? Why was it done? I suppose because of my serious physical troubles. I asked to be moved and given a work with one preaching-place. Have asked such favors before, and they have been granted. They are always granted where my presiding elder is in sympathy with me. None but myself and my Lord know how much I have suffered for more than thirty years from these afflictions. Does the reader think it improper or unreasonable to ask for appointments suited to my condition?

I have been shown love and sympathy in this Conference. My first presiding elder was J. D. Harper, and on learning my condition entered at once into full sympathy with me and consulted me about my appointments. The venerable John A. Miller and myself lived two years in La Fayette at the same time. He was on the District, and would come to me and say: "A man in your condition must be specially favored and suited." J. L. P. Sheppard, in correspondence with me, said: "My brother, I have been a great sufferer and sympathizer with you. You ought not to be away from home more than twenty-four hours at a time."

I have been in this Conference twenty years, and notwithstanding my afflictions, have made a fairly good record. If I mistake not, I have improved upon the report of every preacher that I have followed. Oh, but he grumbles and kicks. My colonel in the Civil War said "that I would suffer more without complaint than any other man in the regiment (9th Mississippi)." This cruel and shameful treatment hurts me more on wife's account than my own. For more than forty years she has been cooking for and waiting on preachers and presiding elders. Many nights she has given up her bed to them and lay on the floor, and now the old couple are turned out to starve. From my inmost soul I say, God bless them all!

H. Armstrong.

FROM REV. W. G. HARBIN.

More than once during my ministry have circumstances thrust me out into the wide field of so-called evangelistic work. The limitation "so-called" is used advisedly. I recognize that the Gospel from the deepest darkness of Calvary to the uttermost glory of Patmean vision, is evangelistic. So also is, or should be, all the work of the Church. An orphans' home, a Christian college, a denominational hospital, a slum kindergarten, a foreign mission station may be each a work as distinctly evangelistic as a protracted meeting. Just as truly is everyone of Christ's ministers an evangelist all the time. The taking up of his Conference collections may be as truly evangelistic as his work in his revival meetings.

That there was a calling, office or order, of evangelists in apostolic times is admitted by all. As to whether this calling, office or order, is continued to-day in the Church is for those who are better informed to say. But throughout the years of the Church's history God has been using men for the definite work of assisting other preachers in the special meetings for the unsaved. These helpers have been called "revivalists;" but that no man can be. God is the only revivalist, using men as his instruments.

Into this work I find myself thrust out again by sickness in my family, and my own personal infirmities. In the words of another, I can say, "I have not sought to cease from being a pastor among you." Constant horseback or buggy-riding would be impossible to me. Dr. C. H. Daniel, of Holly Springs, to whose brotherly goodness and surgical skill I owe my ability to get about at all, could testify to the suffering such effort would entail upon one afflicted as I have been for five years. Bishop Hendrix was kind enough to go into the whole matter with me, and acting on his advice I became a local preacher.

There are very few things of which we may be certain; but I am certain that God has called me to preach the gospel. More than one dear preacher, and Churches not a few, can testify that he has not ceased to bless my humble efforts. For sometime Mr. E. M. Jones, President of the University Club Extension of Chicago, publishers of the great work of Prof. Oliver J. Thacher of the University of Chicago, "The Ideas That Have Influenced Civilization," has held out to me a position paying several thousand dollars a year, and offering flattering prospects for the future. I prefer to preach the Word laid upon my heart, and there is open to me just now the work of a pastor's helper where I may continue to preach.

Whether this is to be my life work I do not know. My wife and I have had yearnings towards the great field of city missions. I do know this work of pastor's helper is mine for this year. To the pastors who are opening and have opened doors of service I send the thanks of a heart that is hungry only for more opportunities to serve my Lord.

It is far from my intent or wish to interfere with the Conference evangelists in their work. Brother Ellis' report at Jackson was one of the most inspiring features of the Conference. Brother Lagrone's at Water Valley, next year, will be as uplifting. There will be enough left after these noble men have done their utmost to employ a score of men.

In the local ranks my heart is still in the itinerant ministry. The saddest moment I have experienced in a long time was when I bowed my head beneath the benediction at Columbus without an appointment. If I have been too confidential it is because I have never lost the feeling I carried to my first Conference, that Methodist preachers sustain to each other a relation a little closer and finer than that of brothers in the flesh.

WALTER G. HARBIN.

Greenville, Miss.

A VISIT TO THE OLD HOME.

There are many things, which are things of the past, that we would do well to forget if we only could. Then there are things of the past we do well to think and speak of occasionally. A visit to the old home reecntly brought to my mind things that made me sad momentarily, also things that gladdened my heart. The time comes in the life of most people who live long in this world when it is a source of pleasure, as well as sadness at times, to think over the past or live in the past. On thinking over the past we find joy and sorrow, gladness and sadness sprinkled all along the way. The principal object of my visit was to see my oldest living sister, Mrs. Abigal Regan, who owns and lives in the house owned and occupied by my father's youngest brother, Rev. Wm. B. Lewis, many years ago. My uncle, Rev. W. B. Lewis, was at one time, perhaps seventy years ago or more, a member of the Mississippi Conference. He was the first one of our branch of the Lewis family to become a preacher, and enter the itinerancy. Later Rev. Alexander Lewis, son of James Lewis, brother of my father, went into the ministry, and after many years of faithful service, died out west. Our uncle, Rev. W. B. Lewis, died in Holmesville just fifty years ago. While in Holmesville I enjoyed a visit to the place where rests the ashes of three of the best people (or at least among us) that ever lived in Holmesville: viz: my uncle, who died in December, 1857; my mother, who quietly passed away in January, 1875, and my father, who fell asleep in Jesus in February, 1880. Their graves are side by side, father's in the middle, my mother on the right, my uncle on the left. On Sunday, the 28th of December, a dark, gloomy day, I kneeled at the foot of the graves and consecrated myself, my life, my all, anew to the service of my God. I could but feel that God, who had so faithfully and successfully guided these dear ones to the home of the soul, was very near, watching over me, and would be my guide, even till death. Near the graves of my parents rests the ashes of our precious little Ada, who was born and died in 1872 or 3. Our dead in Christ are scattered, but God can find them all on the morning of the resurrection. I found our dear Brother P. Howard, now in his seventy-seventh year, quite sick with "grippe." He is quite feeble and desires to be remembered by his brethren. He is my sister's son-in-law. My sister has a son, Rev. Thos. B. Regan, who is preaching out west, or rather northwest.

Kavanaugh College was established in Holmesville with Rev. H. Walter Featherstun as President, more than twenty years ago. The college did not live long, but accomplished much good while it lived. Several men are now preaching the gospel who were educated in Kavanaugh College. Dr. Featherstun deserves much credit for the good work done in and by the college. But the buildings of the college are all gone. The President's mansion is a thing of the past.

Our Church in Holmesville, Rev. J. B. King, pastor, is in good hands, and is doing well. A railroad is now running from Liberty to Holmesville, and will likely reach Columbia within the next eighteen or twenty-four months.

I was licensed to preach in Holmesville more than fifty years ago. At that time there were thirteen local preachers in the bounds of Pearl River Circuit, which took in Holmesville, Monticello, Brookhaven, Summit, and all between. There are now six or seven pastoral charges in the bounds of old Pearl River Circuit of fifty years ago.

H. P. LEWIS, SR.

Liberty, Miss.

FROM RUSTON.

Dear Mr. Editor: Did you ever hear of "swallowing your food and chewing it after?" That is what Ruston people have been doing with mental and spiritual pabulum for the last six weeks or longer.

Our beautiful new Church was dedicated by Bishop Ward in November, which was a great occasion, with a great sermon, by a great man, to a great people. Our former pastors, Rev. H. R. Singleton, who laid the corner-stone, and Rev. R. H. Wynn, who erected the building, were here to rejoice with the present pastor, Rev. A. G. Shankle, who, in spite of money panics, succeeded in prematurely paying off the debt. Free!—only those who have borne the burden of debt know what that means. We are ready to rejoice with everybody similarly blessed.

Following closely came the Louisiana Conference, which has already been reported through the ADVOCATE. We were sorry you could not be here, and glad to meet former and perhaps future pastors. If everybody knew what a pretty new district parsonage has been purchased in Ruston there might be several applicants for Brother Briscoe Carter's place at the end of this (his fourth) year as presiding elder of Arcadia District. Christmas brought good weather and "good cheer," which was followed by the crowning blessing—the Y. M. C. A. Conference. We wish everybody could have attended it. Dr. Zwemer, a returned missionary from Arabia, Dr. La Flam, from India, and Dr. Brown of Vanderbilt were the chief speakers, than whom there are none better or more deeply spiritual. There were several conversions during the session; thirteen volunteers for the foreign field; several called to preach, and a few pledged to the secretaryship of the Y. M. C. A. A more intelligent, consecrated and earnest body of students it has never been our privilege to see, and we predict a great future for many of these young men.

Fortunate above our sister towns have we been to have this Conference meet with us the past two years, and we hope to secure it as a permanent institution. If so, we extend you an invitation with the information that it is well worth traveling much further to attend. While "chewing" we are getting ready for the next course.

MRS. ALICE CARY McKINNEY.

Best you ever tasted
Luzianne Coffee
Try it and see.

We have just issued a handsome little booklet—free for the asking—which explains fully the three big LUZIANNE SECRETS, namely:

The secret of its Quality.
The secret of its Strength.
The secret of surpassing Goodness.

It also shows a freight train of 35 cars, each car a single order for 30,000 lbs. labelled with the name of the dealer ordering. Ask yourself why LUZIANNE is in such demand.

AT ALL GROCERS.

THE REILY-TAYLOR CO., N. O. LA.

GULFPORT, MISS.
Interesting propositions submitted to parties wanting to buy lots. Write for map to
GEO. L. CARLEY, Gulfport, Miss.

NOTES FROM VANDERBILT.

An unusually large number of new students have matriculated in the Biblical Department since the holidays. To the number of nearly a score new men have come from nearly every State in the South, and the vast majority of them are evidently here for solid, hard work. Many of them have given up pastoral charges and have made other sacrifices in order to reach Vanderbilt and the technical training it affords. The Junior Class alone now numbers forty-nine men.

The student Y. M. C. A. Convention, which met at Ruston, La., during the holidays, while not embracing Tennessee in its jurisdiction, yet called for the Vanderbilt Male Quartette to furnish the music. Our boys made a good impression on the Convention, and were cordially invited back. One of the principal lecturers before the Convention was Dr. Brown, of the chair of Church History.

A student Employment Bureau has been organized under the auspices of the Vanderbilt Y. M. C. A. The Bureau is, or will be, operative in every department of the University. The aims to have every man who may wish some remunerative employment signify on a printed slip what he is prepared to do and how much of his time he can devote to such work. It is hoped that this plan will very materially aid those who are dependent on themselves wholly or in part while pursuing their academic or professional studies. Students who desire to pursue work in Vanderbilt, but whose means are limited, will come with less hesitation when they learn of the facilities for obtaining profitable employment. The number of our students who are already self-supporting, in part at least, is a source of great gratification.

November 28, 29, and 30 there met at the Vanderbilt Y. M. C. A. rooms the Tennessee Bible Study Institute, organized chiefly for the benefit of the preparatory schools of the State and doing a great religious work among them. There were fifty delegates from the schools over the State, in addition to thirty from Nashville.

Outside of the Theological Department there are two hundred men in the various departments of the University organized into daily Bible study-circles. These men are pledged to spend a certain time each day in devotional reading of the Bible, together with the devotional helps furnished by the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A. The amount of good that is being accomplished by these courses cannot be reckoned. Forty men outside the Biblical Department are engaged in the systematic study of missions in the same way.

In addition to this systematic study about once a month an entire day is devoted to mission study in the Biblical Department. This is not a holiday in any sense of the word, attendance being as compulsory as in any other class-work. Lecturers from the faculty or from the outside are secured and the effort is made to make these days truly missionary in spirit. On the last "Mission Day," subject Mexico, Dr. Winton was one of the principal speakers. If these "Mission Days" continue to hold the interest of the student body they will be made a permanent feature of the Biblical Department.

NOTES FROM NEW ORLEANS PREACHERS' MEETING.

Our new officers for 1908 are: President, F. N. Parker; Vice-President, J. E. Wray; Secretary and Treasurer, C. D. Atkinson.

Rev. Henry T. Carley, the new pastor at Carrollton Avenue, has been appointed Chairman of our Programme Committee.

There will be monthly reports from each pastor in the city made at this meeting and items of interest will be given to the readers of the ADVOCATE.

Rev. J. L. Sutton is now a member of the Preachers' Meeting. He has charge of the Boys' Home in this city.

Rev. H. Whitehead, of the ADVOCATE office, made a talk before the Preachers' meeting Monday, Jan. 20. Rev. J. E. Wray spoke in high terms of the soundness of the editorials in our paper.

Dr. J. P. Brushingham, Chairman of Commission on Evangelism of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was presented to the Preachers' Meeting on Jan. 12, and made a good address.

Rev. C. V. Edwards, of the Baptist Church, and Dr. Taylor were visitors at our last Meeting. Dr. Taylor is one of the four lecturers sent out by the Scientific Temperance Federation of Boston, Mass. Dr. Taylor will be in our State for some weeks presenting the temperance question from the point of view of the best scientists.

C. D. ATKINSON, Secretary.

A HANDSOME APOLOGY.

Ned and his grandmother are the best of friends, but sometimes the little boy's tongue is too quick to please the old lady. Then Ned apologizes, which pleases his grandmother.

"I got tired lugging that wheelbarrow for grandmother when she was changing her plants," Ned said to his mother, recounting the day's events at bedtime, "and I said, 'I wish there wasn't another speck of this hateful dirt in all the world but then, afterward, I 'pologized."

"I'm glad of that," said his mother. "Did you tell her you were sorry?"

"No, that's not the kind grandmother likes best," said Ned. "I got another wheelbarrowful and just said: 'Don't you want some more of this nice dirt, grandmother?' and then we were all right again."—Youth's Companion.

"I HAPPIED HIM UP."

Agnes is a little girl with such a bright, happy face that it is a pleasure to look at her.

One day, in answer to her mother's call, she came running home from a neighbor's, two or three doors away.

Her eyes were bright, her lips so smiling, that her mother smiled too.

"Do you want me, mother?" asked Agnes.

"No, dear," said her mother. "Not for anything important. I missed you, that is all. Where were you, daughter?"

"At the Browns'. And, oh, mother, Walter was crossed, but I happied him up so that he got all over it; and then the baby cried, and I had to happy her up; then some one stepped on the kitten's tail, and I was just going to happy her up when you called me."

The mother laughed.

"Why, what a happying time you had! It must make you happy yourself to happy up little boys, and babies and kittens, for you look as happy as possible."

And this is true. The more we try to make others happy, the happier we shall be ourselves. Then put away frowns and pouting lips. Try to "happy up" those who are troubled, cross or sick, and soon you will find yourself so happy that your face will shine with smiles.—Young Churchman.

An Ideal Gas Light for Reading.

NATIONAL AUTOMATIC INVERTED GAS LIGHT

Twice the light at half the cost. The only guaranteed gas light on the market. Fits any gas fixture. Anybody can put them on. Your money refunded if it fails to do as we claim. See demonstrator at office and get booklet. Phone us, Main 1418. Agent will call. 609 Commercial Place.

EVERYONE THAT HAS USED

Vacher-Balm for Catarrh, Colds, or Croup, thinks it the best thing they ever tried. I pay you to give samples of it to your friends, so you can use your spare time to do good, and make money. Write for particulars to E. W. Vacher, New Orleans, La.

Twelve Good Reasons for Patronizing Grenada College

First—The unexcelled Home Comforts, unequaled anywhere else in the State.

Second—The Health Conditions; we rarely require the services of a physician.

Third—Our unusually skilled corps of teachers, whom we were able to secure only by paying a salary much above that paid by other girls' schools of the State.

Fourth—The Fine Arts Department, unequaled in the State and unexcelled in the South. Our teacher of Art studied in Germany and France, and our teachers of Music are graduated from the best Conservatories of America.

Fifth—The Descriptive Course of Study, which is conscientiously carried out as indicated.

Sixth—The Lyceum Course, which is superior even to that sustained in the University of Mississippi.

Seventh—The Library, which is fuller and better adapted than that of most girls' schools of the South.

Eighth—Strong Christian Influence dominating all instruction.

Ninth—Personal Attention to the Individual Pupil, with a view to develop the best even out of peculiarities of character.

Tenth—A superior Student Body as Associates, since most of the indifferent have been eliminated.

Eleventh—The Rates are lower than those of any other school doing the same grade of work, owing to the Conference Assessment, which gives us an income not possessed by other schools; further, we have no stockholders to whom we are forced to pay dividends, as are some private schools. Our patrons receive back in excellence of service more than they pay in.

Twelfth—All these superior features enable us to turn out a larger percentage of graduates, who take high stand in the educational world, than any other school in the State. It means something to hold a diploma of the Grenada College.

Register for Rooms at Once and Thus Secure Choice of Location.

W. L. CLIFTON, A.B., Ph.B., President.
Grenada, Miss.

THE SAFEST AND QUICKEST WAY TO

TRANSFER MONEY

—is By—

Long Distance Telephone

FOR RATES APPLY TO LOCAL MANAGER.

Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph Co

Incorporated.

BUY THE NEW BOOK—

The Harp of a Thousand Strings

Contains "The Chronicles of Modern Jerusalem," and other choice literary productions of the late REV. HENRY T. LEWIS. For sale at the Drug Stores and Clinton Jewelry and Mercantile Co., in Clinton, and W. R. McKowen & Co., in Jackson.

PRICE, ONE DOLLAR.

Choice Selections

A LAYMAN'S PLEA FOR THE MINISTER.

When a minister takes the vows of ordination he closes his life to the commercial world. We, the laymen, claim all that he has. We take his talents and ability, and require him to give us the best of his mind, soul and body. The minister who would engage in commercial work and devote any part of his time toward making a fortune for himself and his family, would lose his power in a year. The Methodists wouldn't have such a man. Ministers have as much sense and brains as attorneys. The average minister makes a salary of $700 a year. How many lawyers are there who would take a case and carry it through for that amount? No adequate provision is made for him during his active year, and yet in the twilight of his life and in the time of his necessity the laymen give him a pitiful reward for the sacrifice he has made.

SEEN THROUGH KINDLY BRITISH EYES.

Speaking to me in Washington in May about Methodism, President Roosevelt said that, though not himself a Methodist, he had been a student of the life and work of Wesley, and he added that he believed that there was no form of religious enterprise more suited to the genius of the American nation than Methodism. In Canada—and I speak with great hesitation, for I have not seen the Far West—Methodism seems to me to lack the spiritual abandon, the glorious elasticity and verve, the boundless optimism, and individual initiative which mark modern British Methodism. A warm-hearted local preacher from Yorkshire asserted to me that Methodism in Canada only existed in name. This I do not for one moment believe; but the services, so far as I had an opportunity of judging, are marked in some Churches by a formalism and decorum which would chill a Yorkshire or Cornish Methodist to the backbone.—Methodist Recorder.

BRIDEGROOM'S AND BRIDE'S STRANGE STUPIDITY.

A Devonshire rector sends us another interesting wedding incident. He says: "Some years ago, when I was vicar in a large Lancashire Parish, I was to marry two couples—John and Mary, and Thomas and Sarah. The question was asked of the couple on the right: 'John, wilt thou have this woman?' etc.; and then, 'Mary wilt thou have this man?' etc.; 'I will,' was answered by each. In due course the man said, 'I, John, take thee Mary, etc.; and the woman said, 'I, Mary, take thee John,' etc. The ring was put on, the prayer offered, John and Mary were pronounced to be man and wife together and the blessing was added. After that I went to the second couple. After the charge came the question, 'Thomas, wilt thou have——?' The bridegroom broke in, 'You've married us already—I'm John and she's Mary.' The first couple had actually answered to, and used, names that did not belong to them, and had to be married again with their own names—Thomas and Sarah."—Church Family Newspaper.

NAOMI MANNEY'S TESTIMONY.

Naomi Manney paused just inside the swinging doors of the lecture-room, to draw on her gloves. She heard low voices outside.

"Dave," said the familiar voice of the President of the young people's society, "I wish you boys would speak out in meeting. Just give the simplest testimony, you know; it will help you."

"Not much," replied the gruff voice of big Dave Hurlbut. "I can't spin out fine sentences, and I'm not going to make a fool of myself, not on your tintype!"

"But Dave——"

Naomi hastened away from the door, her cheeks burning. She would delay a little, and give them an opportunity to leave the Church ahead of her. She was the last to leave the afternoon mission Sunday school, where she taught a class of a dozen or fifteen lively youngsters. She did well with the class—everybody said so.

She sat down in one of the empty chairs, and picked up a tattered lesson-leaf absently. Dave and the President had unconsciously revived a troublesome whispering of her conscience. Several times it had said to her: "The younger young folks are afraid to testify in meeting, for they can't think of anything to say on the topic, and they are backward. Just get up and simply say, 'I love Jesus,' so as to encourage them."

But every one said she spoke so beautifully! How could she say anything so commonplace. They would wonder if she couldn't think of anything more to say. Many had complimented her on the beautiful wording of her testimonies, and had said, wistfully, that they wished they could speak so well. She flushed with pride at the recollection.

Her conscience was reasoning now: "You needn't necessarily limit yourself always, but try it just for to-night, and see if they don't follow your lead."

Oh, but to-night of all nights! It was the night appointed for the visiting committee, made up of delegates from the different societies, to visit that Church. There would be young people, the brightest of them, from all the Churches in the city. Surely she must do her best to-night. Many of the young people she knew and met in the union meetings. Besides, she was the secretary of the Union, and was always so particular to have her reports just right. Oh, dear! no, not to-night.

But her conscience said: "Then you weren't really testifying for Chirst? You were showing off!"

She got up then, walked across the empty room, pushed open the swinging doors, and left the Church.

That night she was a trifle late, and the seat she hurriedly chose was in the midst of a lot of the younger element—big, overgrown, awkward and bashful, full of promise, if they could only be coaxed to help, but, oh, so backward!

The leader spoke feelingly on the subject for the evening—the development of the spiritual life. A few epigrammatic sentences in a paper Naomi had once written for a state convention came to her mind; they were wonderfully appropriate just now. How fitting it would be to repeat them! How pleased the visitors would be!

Our line of Stoves, Kitchen Furnishings, and General Household Supplies is full of interest to all Good Housekeepers.

Suppose you take a look at it for yourself—

UNITED HARDWARE CO.,
LIMITED.

GET SOLID PROTECTION AND INSURE WITH
LEON IRWIN & CO.
Fire and Casualty Insurance.
838 GRAVIER STREET. PHONE, MAIN [illegible]

W. W. Carre Co., Ltd,
Manufacturers and Exporters of
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Should she, or should she not?

Besides, the leader had not asked them to give general testimonies. She ought to speak on the topic, surely. A few had taken part in a precise, proper way, and there was a lull.

Should she?

"I wish all might take part," said the leader.

Suddenly Naomi rose to her feet. "I love Jesus," she said, "and I want to do more for him."

Little Daisy Westover followed her quickly, lest her courage fail. "I want to be a better Christian," she said, timidly.

Meta Wenzel spoke, too.

"Splendid!" said the leader. "Just sentence testimonies."

Then even big Dave spoke. "I want to be a better Christian, too," he said.

Naomi's heart welled up in thankfulness. Her throat ached so it almost choked her. And to think how near she came to giving those convention-paper sentences!

After the meeting was over, they were all shaking hands with the visiting delegates, who had joined in the service.

"Such warm meetings you have!" exclaimed one, to Naomi, enthusiastically. "And how your boys and girls take part! Isn't it fine?"

Naomi's face glowed. This time it was not in pride for herself. No one said, "I envy you your command of language," and she did not even miss it; for somehow or other—and in her heart she knew why—that had been the best meeting she had ever known.—Grace Willie in Zion's Herald.

None could wish for greater tribute than that accorded General Gordon as inscribed on his tomb in St. Paul's Cathedral. His was an example inspiration in its effect. "Who at all times and everywhere gave his strength to the weak, his substance to the poor, his sympathy to the suffering, and his heart to God."

The Home Circle.

A CHILD'S PRAYERS.

A young mother left her guests one evening to go up and bid good night to the small daughter whom the nurse had just left.

"Why, Esther, you haven't said your prayers!" exclaimed the mother, as the child climbed into bed.

It was a perfunctory reminder, for she was anxious to be downstairs again. She herself had almost given up the custom of saying her prayers, but her two children had been taught the ceremony at bedtime.

"No, mother, I'm so very sleepy to-night. You know our Sabbath school prayer begins:

"To say my prayer is not to pray,
Unless I mean the words I say,
Unless I think to whom I speak,
And with my heart his favor seek."

The mother did not make many excuses, and she little understood the spiritual life of this child of hers.

"Do you think it's nice to go all day without saying your prayers?" she asked.

Esther sat up in bed, surprised and hurt, and her blue eyes widened as she exclaimed, "Why, mother, dear, you don't suppose, you don't think, that this is the only time I pray, do you?" She was wide awake now.

"When do you pray?" demanded the mother, in her turn.

"Oh, many times in the day!" answered the child, "whenever I need to."

The mother's glance fell before that of her child, and a tinge of crimson mounted to her cheek.

"Whenever I need to." Could she say as much with the same simple truthfulness? Were there not many times when the fretfulness, the selfishness, the sordidness had persisted, times when her better nature might have overcome if she had prayed "whenever she need to?"

"What do you pray about?" she asked again, with a strange sense of distance between her heart and that of the child.

"Oh, I talk to God about the things I'm doing!" said Esther, falling back on her pillow, "and when I do wrong, I ask his forgiveness, and his help to do better next time. Because he understands and is so great, you know," she added.

Yes, her mother knew; she had known for many years; but was she as conscious of that Presence and Power in her own daily life, or had her own praying degenerated into a more or less perfunctory "saying" of prayers at stated times, or a petulant demand for something which she could not secure through mortal assistance?

"And then," continued Esther, unconscious of the long pause, "sometimes I pray because I'm so happy. I just have to."

The mother suddenly felt her soul to be a small, darkened thing compared to the clear shining of her child's. How undeveloped her own spiritual nature seemd at that moment! She was a good woman; she cared for the little family; she took them to Church on Sabbath; she made her contribution indifferently when she was asked to give something for missions; but beyond that her life was mostly one of pleasure. And her pleasures were many, but were they the sort which made her "pray because she was so happy?" Was it not usually only a trial or a disappointment that reminded her for a moment of her dependence on a higher Power?

Esther's idea of praying was surely a very different thing from the "saying of prayers." Where had she learned the difference?

Her head dropped in self-accusation. Like many mothers, she had taught her child to repeat a childish prayer, but had she ever really taught her to pray? Now it seemed, in some strange way, the child was to lead her.

She stooped to kiss the earnest little face on the pillow. "We will talk about it more," she said, "and if you are sleepy you need not say, 'Now I lay me,' to-night, for God likes waking prayers best, we know. But," she added, wistfully, "won't you just pray one prayer for mother before you go to sleep? She needs it."—Youth's Companion.

HELPING TO SAVE LIFE.

A fatal accident happened last week to a little Philadelphian that is so sorrowful it is spoken of here only because of the lessons it teaches to boys and girls.

The little girl who lost her life was just ten years old. She had no mother, and she had coaxed to give a birthday party. Her father had consented, and her little friends were invited in and were all enjoying themselves greatly, in the care of the little hostess' older brother. There were games, then there was to be ice cream and cake, and then a magic lantern show.

While little Minnie's older brother was absent the child undertook to hasten the magic lantern show, and in some manner upset the lamp within it. Her flimsey dress caught fire, and she ran screaming, while the other children hid in fright. Neighbors found her in a back room upstairs so badly burned that she died.

It is all a pitiful ending to a birthday party, and one of the saddest features of it all is that perhaps she would have been saved if she and her little guests had not done just what they did.

In the first place, little Minnie, when she found her clothes on fire, should not have run. Every child who reads this story should remember that if his or her clothes begin to burn, running only fans the flames and makes them sharper and fiercer. The best thing to do is to drop on the ground or floor and roll over and over, trying to smother out the flames under the body, for a fire cannot burn if it gets no air. If a rug is near, lie down upon it and roll up in it. Anything woolen, such as a blanket, a couch cover, or overcoat, will do just as well, for the flames are smothered because they get no air, while wool is so slow in burning that it does not easily take fire.

How sad the little guests must feel when they realize that they might have helped Minnie if they had not all become panic-stricken! To be sure, there was great danger that little Minnie's burning clothes might have set fire to the thin dresses of any little girl who came near her; but if those girls or boys had only known to throw a rug over the child as we have described, instead of hiding away in terror, perhaps her life could have been saved.

These are things all boys and girls should think over enough to remember quickly what to do and how to do it. Even a child of six or seven years could save the life of a baby brother or sister if such an accident should befall it, and every one should be ready to act promptly and wisely to try to save her own life if it ever is endangered in this way.

To be sure, these were only little children, and grown people often "lose their heads," as we call it, from fright. That is why we wish to impress this on our young readers, so they can get ready for a time that may come to them or their friends.

Last year the writer of this saw a schoolboy about twelve years old save a little girl of about six from injury and perhaps death. The little girl was alighting from a car. She was so little the conductor, who was forward collecting fares, thought she was off and started the car. Her hand still clasped the rail, but she was dragged forward with the car. The boy on the platform, like a flash, caught her by her sailor collar and threw the other arm around as a support. "Hold on," he called encouragingly; "I've got you, but hold on!" The car was stopped before it had dragged her very far, and she was not hurt in the least, but her safety was due to the quick thought and action as well as the strong arm of the boy, who was the only person near enough to help her.—Southern Churchman.

FANCY POULTRY, ETC.

Fancy Poultry, Pedigreed Dogs, Cats, Canaries, Parrots, Guinea Pigs, Rabbits, and Pet Stock of every description; Cyphers, Incubators and Feed at Factory prices, may be had by writing to H. W. Blanks & Co., New Orleans, La. Their catalogue sent free. Write to them.

DOCTOR Tichenor's Antiseptic

THE GO-BETWEEN

whether it be a Burn, Bruise or Scald—

DR. TICHENOR'S ANTISEPTIC

affords instant relief. Its cooling effect prevents congestion and the antiseptic qualities prevent swelling, blistering and superation afterwards.

"It draws the fever"—you cannot afford to be without it at home.

All druggists 25 and 50 cts.

ASK ANY ONE WHO HAS EVER USED IT!

Christian Advocate.

REV. JNO. W. BOSWELL, D.D., Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.
CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TERMS:
One Copy, one year, $2; six months, $1. To Preachers of all Denominations, half-price.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES:
LOUISIANA CONFERENCE—Rev. W. W. Drake, Rev. N. E. Joyner, Rev. J. M. Henry.
MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. M. L. Burton, Rev. W. H. Lewis, Rev. C. W. Crisler.
NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, D.D.; Rev. J. T. Murrah, Rev. W. W. Woollard.

WAXING WORSE AND WORSE.

There can be no doubt that while the followers of Christ are growing in numbers and liberality, supporting the Church and all charitable institutions as in no other period of history, evil men and seducers are waxing worse and worse, making it constantly more difficult to produce an awakening among sinners, or to enforce the provisions of any righteous law.

Less than forty years ago a good man, with moderate gifts, if he possessed sufficient grace and energy, could go into almost any community and arouse religious interest. To-day, even with the employment of modern methods, no ordinary man can stir the people. The pastor who can do the work without the assistance of an evangelist or a brother pastor who has revival gifts, is an exception. Ordinarily, the man who succeeds in revival work must be preceded by a reputation so as to attract attention at the very beginning of his meeting. There are two reasons for this: One is, the Church is indifferent to revival efforts. Working up an interest among professed Christians is the first and hardest thing to do. Another reason is, sinners are harder to move than formerly, especially if conviction and repentance, are forced upon their attention.

The bad elements of society are no more numerous to-day in proportion to population than formerly, perhaps not as much so, but what they lack in numbers they make up in the use of evil devices, and boldness in the violation of law. In these they "wax worse and worse." Any man of fifty years of age can remember when a case of lynching shocked the whole country, save in the far west, where, in the absence of courts, "vigilance committees" were a law unto themselves and visited culprits with summary and merciless punishment. To-day the hanging of a man, white or black, by a mob, neither shocks nor excites the people. The leniency with which mobs are dealt with fosters the lynching spirit, and deadens the sense of the people to the enormity of the crime. This is an indication of one of two things: Either the people have less respect for law than formerly, or else they place a smaller estimate on human life.

Human society was never worse at any time than in the days of St. Paul. This we learn from the latter part of the first chapter of his Epistle to the Romans. In the course of time society improved, especially among civlized people, and during the last two or three centuries the better classes have been measurably free from the gross forms of corruption enumerated by the apostle. But to-day in our large cities, right in sight of Church spires and under their very shadows, are as corrupt practices indulged as ever disgraced Rome in its worst day. The records of the trial of a millionaire murderer in New York leaves no doubt as to the existence of gilded dens of corruption.

But the records of lust reveal a state of things no more deplorable, and less demoralizing to the young than the records of divorce courts. Divorce, under any circumstances, like lust, is a strike at the family, but in the majority of cases a suit for divorce attracts no great attention. The evil is wrought by divorces in high life, or among that class of people who are much in the public eye on account of their wealth or their calling. Theatrical people seem to be much given to suing for divorce. Judging by what we read in the papers an actress does not become "a star" until she goes through the divorce court. We seldom read of any children being involved among this class, and the consequences are not so bad as among others. The evil reaches the climax in the wealthy circles. There marriages are based on passion, or made through policy. Many rich girls of America marry foreign men for the sake of a title. They pay largely for empty and useless names, and reap a harvest of misery. The farce or tragedy, or whatever it may be called, is ended in the divorce court. Nothing so tarnishes high life to-day as the frequent divorces which reveal often, not only domestic misery, but in many cases unspeakable scandal. And these wax worse and worse.

The evil of widest range and most disastrous in its effects is the traffic in liquor. This could be said if every liquor saloon in the land were conducted on the highest and most honorable plane. But none of them are so conducted. The traffic has in it inherent evil. This finds recognition in the laws provided for its regulation. And bear in mind this fact was recognized before the traffic became general, and before so many men were found to be unreliable dispensers of drink. Everybody knows that these men have waxed worse and worse, until to-day every one engaged in the business is so hedged about by oaths and bonds of restrictions that would create a revolution if applied to men engaged in other lines of trade such as are common in our land. Thirty or forty years ago any law enacted for the regulation of the traffic would have been duly respected. Now, such are the numbers plying the trade, and such their influence in city politics that it requires the utmost diligence and faithfulness on the part of officers to keep them from open defiance of all law. Where officers are blind, or judges are lenient in dealing with violators, the law meets with no respect at all.

As a class saloon keepers are such constant and flagrant violators of the law that the patience of good citizens opposed to the principle of prohibition has about worn out, and hundreds of them are joining with the anti-saloon forces for the suppression of the whole thing. These good citizens are just beginning to see what other good citizens have seen for many years past, viz: that the liquor business cannot be reformed, and must be abated. The fact that liquor men have been growing more lawless and defiant as the years have gone by indicates all too clearly that they are beyond redemption. "As Jannes and Jambres withstood Moses, so do these also resist the truth: men of corrupt mind, reprobate concerning the faith. But they shall proceed no farther: for their folly shall be manifest unto all men, as theirs also was."

ONENESS IN CHRIST.

All true believers are one in Christ. They are members of his family, and are identified in their interests one with another as are all the various members of a household. It could not be otherwise since all are alike partakers of a divine nature, and have enstamped on their hearts the "image of Christ which is the hope of glory."

No matter what a man's nationality or creed, or what his family and social relations, or his condition in life, whether rich or poor, if he is in Christ he is in fellowship with all who love the Lord Jesus, and in one way or another he will make that fellowship known. It will be seen and felt. This recognition of universal kinship is the incontrovertible testimony that Christians bear to Jesus as the Son of God. This is the oneness for which our Lord prayed so earnestly, saying: "Holy Father, keep through thine own name those whom thou hast given me, that they may be one as we are. * * * * Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word; that they all may be one; as thou, Father, are in me and I in thee, that they also may be one in us; that the world may believe that thou hast sent me."

It necessarily follows from these words that all intelligent Christians agree on the essential facts and truths of the gospel, and if so there is no excuse for heart-divisions on denominational peculiarities of creed or practice. Yet it is true that these are the things that not only distinguish the different sects from one another, but so divide them as to create alienations, and in some cases lead zealous Christians to unchurch their brethren. Our Episcopal friends, for example, believe in what they call "apostolic succession," that is, tactual succession in the ministry from the apostles to the present time. Outside of this line of succession they recognize no preacher as having received valid ordination. No organization over which their priests and Bishops do not preside is a true Church, no matter how successful it is in saving souls.

Our Baptist brethren in some respects maintain a similar attitude. They repudiate the idea of direct succession in the ministry, but hold that the Churches which are independent and authoritative organizations have come down in regular succession from Christ. Some of them declare that the Lord organized the first Church "somewhere near the spot on which he delivered the sermon on the Mount. They also hold that the ordinances as observed by them are just as the Lord ordained. Outside of these Churches they tell us there is no regularity, and that all other so-called Churches are without divine authority. Extremists among them refuse affiliation and co-operation with other denominations.

Now, if these good Christians—Protestants in all essential particulars—would be consistent they would, like Roman Catholics and a few other sects, deny salvation to all outside their own pales. But this is further than they undertake to go. They believe that men are saved through the atonement of our Lord Jesus Christ; that "there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved." They believe also that the conditions of salvation are few and simple, and may be complied with without the aid of priest or preacher, viz: by "repentance toward God and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ," and that "to him that worketh not, but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly his faith is counted to him for righteousness." They see that other people, largely in the majority, who, though they do not endorse their ideas of succession, made of baptism, form of Church government, etc., have like faith in Christ, are quite as active in propogating the gospel, and produce just as abundantly the fruits of righteousness. Nor can they fail to see that these Christians are just as successful as themselves in saving souls.

If these facts teach anything they teach that all these evangelical orders of Christians are one in Christ notwithstanding they differ in administration. If one in Christ, what difference does it make whether they are brought to conviction and repentance by a preacher who is in the succession or out of it? or whether, in signifying their obedience to Christ by baptism, they do so by sprinkling or pouring or immersion? To deny fellowship to those who differ with them on these particulars is equivalent to saying that submission to the historic Episcopate, or baptism by a specific mode is essential to salvation. And all who do this, holding all true believers as one in Christ, yet deny them membership in the Church, grant their brethren the greater blessing of the gospel and deny them the lesser. This is inconsistent and stands in the way of keeping the unity of the Spirit in the bonds of peace."

Acknowledgment of oneness in Christ is far better without organic union than an organic union made up of diverse elements constantly disturbed by internal strife, which would certainly be the case, if all the Churches, as at present constituted, were to come together in one body.

PERSONALS.

Rev. J. W. Thompson writes: "I am on my new work (Coalville Charge), and am praying for a great revival of religion."

Rev. W. M. Johnson, who went from Mississippi to Colorado in search of health, and now supplying Hoeline Station, is well pleased and improving.

Rev. W. M. Young, presiding elder of the Sardis District, has begun his work "in earnest," and so have "the helpers." This means success in the end.

Dr. C. C. Godden, of the Little Rock Conference, for many years President of Galloway College, but now on the Superannuated list, is spending a few days in the city.

Dr. H. B. Carre favors the Advocate with notes from Vanderbilt University. He promises such notes "from time to time." They will be greatly appreciated by our readers, as well as by the editor.

Rev. J. W. Raper has commenced another year's work with the good people of the Louisville Charge. They gave him a kind reception, and the prospect is for a year of success. We trust his fondest hopes may be realized.

Rev. C. D. Atkinson, of Parker Memorial Church, has gone to work with his accustomed energy. He is devising plans by which the building, now incomplete though in use, may be finished. Brother Atkinson is not only full of energy, but he is of good judgment and will succeed.

Rev. J. A. Hall says: "We are highly pleased with our new field of labor. The good people of Winona gave us a warm reception and a hearty welcome. Everything seems to be in good shape. We have our pipe organ installed. It is a handsome instrument. We are delighted with it."

Rev. W. T. Woodward, appointed to Haynesville (La.) Charge, is "perfectly delighted with the work." The people treat him courteously and generously—they furnish him with a good house, and keep him well supplied with comforts and necessaries of life. And he finds plenty of work to do.

Mrs. O. G. Halliburton informs us that Brother Halliburton is in a great meeting at Hayti, Missouri. He is there at the request of the pastor, Rev. N. B. Berry. He is not a new man to the people, as Hayti was under his charge when presiding elder in the St. Louis Conference several years ago.

Rev. C. D. Atkinson furnishes us this week "Notes From the New Orleans Preachers' Meeting." We are glad to get them. We would be pleased if the presiding elders, or some one appointed by them, would furnish us once a month with notes from their respective districts. News items from the districts would please many people.

Rev. H. H. Griffin, recently transferred from the Mississippi to the Arkansas Conference and stationed at Atkins, has been in a great revival, led by Rev. J. T. Newsom. There were many conversions with one hundred and two additions to our Church. An Epworth League was organized with one hundred and eight members. Brother Griffin's friends will be glad to learn that he has been kindly received, and is doing such good work.

A card has reached our office signed "Exchange, but the hand-writing is so easily recognized that we accept its statements as true. It says: "The District Conference for the Winona District, Columbus District and Durant District will meet in contiguous towns: Kilmichael, Eupora and Mathiston. Effort is being made to have the Conferences held in immediate succession and to have one Bishop attend the three Conferences." We hope the effort will succeed, and "may we be there to see."

Mrs. Pharr, widow of the late Captain John N. Pharr, died at the family residence near Morgan City, La., on the afternoon of Jan. 17, in the seventy-second year of her age. Mrs. Pharr was a life-long Methodist, and deeply pious. She was a liberal supporter of the Church and its institutions, and her home the abode of hospitality. Her death will prove a great loss to the Church, and also to the cause of temperance, to which she was greatly attached. We could say more of this "elect sister," but we refrain, expecting her pastor, Dr. S. S. Keener, to furnish us a suitable memoir. We extend our sympathy to the family, who are so sorely bereaved.

Dr. H. M. DuBose, Secretary of the Epworth League, on Monday, Jan. 12, delivered an address before the New York Preachers' Meeting. The subject as given in the daily press was: "Is a Statement of the Methodist Doctrine Needed, or Do the Methodists Need a Creed?" He took the negative side of the question, and the applause which followed and adoption of resolutions of appreciation indicate that others are of the same mind. Dr. Tillett, of Vanderbilt University, before the same body argued for the other side of the question several weeks ago. It is something unusual for Southern men to undertake the enlightenment of dwellers in the East.

HIGH GRADE PIANOS
MARSHALL & WENDELL
ESTABLISHED 18[illegible].
A Piano that has been before the public for more than a half century must possess merit to maintain its popularity. Thousands of them are to-day singing their own praise in the homes of satisfied purchasers.
OUR POPULAR STYLE AT $350
ON EASY PAYMENTS.
Get particulars of our
Six Months Free Trial Plan.
Hakenjos Piano Mfg. Co.,
930 Canal Street
J. BART DAVIS Mgr. New Orleans

TO THE FRIENDS OF THE ADVOCATE.

The money panic of the past season has hurt the Advocate, as it has hurt hundreds of other enterprises, and we are feeling the effect of it just at this time more than ever. January is usually our best month, but this January our financial showing is not to be compared with previous seasons.

The subscriptions of many, especially of those who took advantage of club rates, are expiring. We would like for all to remain with us. We trust preachers will see the brethren as soon as possible and secure renewals. And, if not convenient for the preachers to call, let each subscriber write at once, and either send the money or give us the promise to do so as early as possible.

Every employe in the Advocate office has to be paid weekly, and all bills met monthly. Please, brethren and sisters, remember this, and let us have the small amount that you owe us. We will appreciate promptness.

THE HANDBOOK.

The Southern Methodist Handbook for 1908 by Dr. T. N. Ivey of the Raleigh Christian Advocate is just from the press. A copy lies on our table, thanks to the kind author. It is a book of Methodist History, Biography, Literature and Statistics. It is "brim full" of these things—things always of interest to intelligent and inquiring Methodists. We sometimes get letters asking information about certain Church matters. If all our people had this book they would have "in hand" the information for which they ask, and much, if not quite everything, else. And it would cost them but thirty cents for which amount it will be sent post-paid. Address Dr. T. N. Ivey, Raleigh, N. C.

The White Indian

A white Indian is a sick Indian. When the Indians first saw a white man they were sure he was sick. White skin—sick man was their argument. "Pale-face" is the name they gave us.

Pale faces can be cured. When blood is properly fed the face glows with health.

Scott's Emulsion

is a rich blood food. It gives new power to the bone marrow from which the red blood springs. : : :

All Druggists; 50c. and $1.00.

Obituaries.

Obituaries not over two-hundred words in length will be published free of charge. All over two hundred words will be charged at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and send the amount necessary with the obituary That will save trouble all around.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God in his providence and wisdom to take from our midst a member and very much loved sister, Mrs. Mary France Salder, wife of our beloved pastor; and, whereas, our hearts are greatly grieved and saddened by this untimely death, and go out in warmest and tenderest sympathy to the berieved ones left behind; therefore, be it Resolved, First, That we, the Woman's Home Missionary Society, bow in humble submission to the will of him who reigneth and ruleth over all and govern his children with a hand of love, righteousness and mercy.

Resolved, second, That the grief-stricken loved ones have our deepest love and sympathy in this sore honr, and trusting that they look to him who was a Man of Sorrow and acquainted with grief; yet, a victor over death and the grave.

Resolved, Third, That we helieve and know this dear one has passed from this world of sorrow, grief, disappointment and tears into a realm of sunshine, happiness and smiles, and that it shall be the purpose of each of us to so live that we may meet her at the final resurrection around God's white throne of eternal day.

Resolved, fourth, That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes, a copy furnished the loved ones and a copy be forwarded the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

MRS. LULU DOBSON,
MISS VIOLA GILBERT.
Meridian, Miss.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT BY THE BOLTON (MISS.) SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Whereas, Brother J. M. Black has been a faithful superintendent of the Bolton Sunday school for the period of forty years; and, whereas, he has seen proper to sever his connection with us hecause of more important interest in another field of labor, therefore, be it

Resolved, first, That we do profoundly appreciate his good service for us and among us, being ever ready to aid in every good "word and work," and hence we feel that his absence from us will be a great loss, and while we regret to lose him from our midst, we are comforted by the fact that it will be another's gain.

Resolved, second, That we most fervently pray that God's richest spiritual and temporal blessings may ever rest upon him and his family, and, too, that they may increase in usefulness unto the "perfect day."

Resolved, third, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the New Orleans Christian Advocate and also to the Hinds County Gazette for publication.

MRS. M. A. PEEBLES,
MRS. JNO. GADDIS,
MRS. HENRY WILLIAMS,
Committee.

ALEXANDER H. CARNES was born August 22, 1826, and departed this life Dec. 6, 1907, in his eighty-second year. He joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in early life. He was married to Miss Elizabeth McDonald Nov. 29, 1855. To them nine children were born, three of whom survive him. Brother Carnes' early life was characteristic of piety, which continued throughout his life. He loved the Church and served it with unswerving fidelity in any capacity the Church saw fit to place him. Life to him was a sacred charge from the hand of God—just and true in all his dealings. He was fearless, yet prudent and unfaltering in his devotion to the right; kind and patient with the wrong-doer, yet ever ready to lift up the fallen and restore the erring. His was the preacher's home, always glad to welcome them and was generous to a fault in providing for their comfort and happiness. It was my privilege to have known Brother Carnes from early childhood, and amoug the earliest of my recollections are the cheerful hours spent in his home. In subsequent years I found that to know him better was to love him more. Mature in judgment and wise in counsel, he was the sinner's friend and the Christian's brother. The dark cloud of God's providence frequently overshadowed his home, hnt he always came forth the better Christian, the nobler man. I visited him during his last illness. With unwavering faith he said: "I am in God's hands, I am willing and ready to go, or I am willing to stay, as God sees best." God said, "Come up higher." Our loss is his eternal gain. The funeral services were conducted by his pastor, R. A. Sibley, Jr., and Rev. Mr. Grafton, of the Presbyterian Church, after which his body was buried in the Uniou Church Cemetery to await the resurrectiou morn. Dear children, let us emulate his virtues, and prepare for the happy reunion by and by.

R. A. SIBLEY, JR.

Mrs. ELIZA E. MATHIS died Oct. 12, 1907. She was daughter of Rev. Hiram and Nancy A. Eulow, born Oct. 30, 1848. She was converted and joined the M. E. Church at the age of fourteen, and ever afterward lived a consistent Christian life. She was happily married to G. W. Mathis Dec. 24, 1873. To them were born twelve children, six sons and six daughters. She was afflicted for many years, but always attended services whenever able. She attended services Sept. 15, 16 and 17, Rev. C. M. Martin, pastor, assisted by Rev. W. L. Linfield, and enjoyed it very much. On the 18th, attended the funeral of an old lady friend, and this was the last time this writer had met her until she was on her death-bed. Her suffering was so severe that she could not talk much, but expressed her resignation to God's will. She leaves a sorrowing husband and eleven children to mourn their loss; also five sisters and many friends. But as she had so long lived in readiness and had instructed loved ones in everything concerning her departure we cannot sorrow as those who have no hope. Yes, she lived a sanctified life, and we know where to find her. Sorrow not loved ones, but follow her as she followed Christ, and all will be well in the end and we will all meet in heaven to part no more.

HER SISTER.

CHARLIE GALLOWAY MUCKENFUSS was born in Fayetteville, Ark., October 9, 1902, and died in Oxford, Miss., Dec. 2, 1907. He was the youngest son of Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Muckenfuss, and grandson of Bishop Charles B. Galloway. Little Charlie was a child of great promise. Everyone who knew him predicted for him a career of great usefulness. He was endowed with a splendid body, a bright mind, and a noble heart. Under the touch of a Christian home he had begun to develop those traits of character which would have distinguished him in after years. He was the pride of his mother's heart, and the joy of his father. Every indication gave promise that the mantle of his distinguished grandfather, whose name he so proudly bore, would one day rest upon his own shoulders. Our entire community was bowed in grief by the going away of one who gave promise of such a noble manhood. His life, though brief, was not without its mission. He lingered here just long enough to entwine himself about our affections and then went away. How much brighter and more attractive is heaven because he is there! Many have been the expressions of tenderness and sympathy extended to the sorrowing parents. May the good Father help them to bear with submission and Christian fortitude their great loss. "Even so, Father; for so it seemed good in thy sight."

HAL. S. SPRAGINS.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

FROM CARROLLTON, MISS.

Dear Dr. Boswell: We have been at home in the parsonage here for three weeks. We found the fire burning, dinner about ready, numerous supplies in the dining-room and kitchen, and best of all a cordial greeting and warm welcome, such as our Carrollton people know how to give.

We had our new "Elder" (already "beloved") Rev. E. S. Lewis with us last Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Our Quarterly Conference on Monday was his "maiden effort," but he had evidently seen the thing done before. We worked him much, and he works well. We are better for his coming. Come again, Brother Lewis, soon and often. We hope to have a good year. Your brother in Christ,

R. I. ALLEN.
Jan. 9, 1908.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

MISSISSIPPI LEGISLATURE
CONVENES TUESDAY, JAN. 6, 1908.
Take the DAILY NEWS during the session, the afternoon paper of to-day.
THE DAILY NEWS
goes to press every afternoon in time to make all outgoing trains.
SPECIAL SUBSCRIPTION PRICE
to the DAILY NEWS for the three months of the legislature. Daily and Sunday, for entire legislative session
ONLY $1.25
Cash must accompany all orders. Address DAILY NEWS, Jackson, Miss.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

Classified Advertisements.

EDUCATIONAL.

WANTED—30,000 telegraphers on account of the new 8-hour law. Draughon's Colleges, 30 in 17 states, give written contract to secure position or refund money. Address Jno. F. Draughon, Washington, Nashville, Atlanta, Raleigh, St. Louis, Dallas, Little Rock or San Antonio.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WANTED—Railway Mail Cler[illegible] examinations everywhere. Coaching free. F[illegible] Institute, Dept. F N, Rochester, N. Y.

The Victor Sanitarium—For the safe, speedy and scientific treatment of Alcohol and Opium addiction. Address, 321 Whitehall street, Atlanta, Ga.

Typewriter Ribbons—Finest quality guaranteed. Special introductory offer. One ribbon 40c, 3 ribbons $1.00, 25 typewriter carbons 25c. Palmer Co. 806 Walnut St. Phila.

Highest Grade Photo Finishing: promptly by mail, Expert workmen, best materials, satisfaction guaranteed. Enlargements a specialty, a trial will convince. Prices reasonable. Robt. Johnson-Kodak and Supplies 9 No. Main St., Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

FOR THE HOME.

Running Water supplied house, stock, grounds by Caldwell Tanks. Costs little, lasts lifetime. Used everywhere. Catalog T free. W. E. Caldwell Co., Louisville, Ky.

GEN. ROBERT E. LEE—The best portrait of the great commander is the steel plate engraving made by the John A. Lowell Bank Note Co., Boston, Mass. Send for circular and prices.

AGENTS WANTED.

Post Cards. Send 10c for sample lot with your name written on them in gold, and terms to agents. Southern Post Card Agency, Lexington, N. C.

$100 MAKES YOU A BOOKKEEPER OR STENOGRAPHER; It pays board, tuition, and stationery. POSITIONS.

WALDEN'S BUSINESS COLLEGE

Lake Charles, La. A select school of highest character. No better courses anywhere at any price. Only 25 scholarships at reduced rates. Free penmanship course. A delightful winter resort. Write to-day to

L. R. WALDEN, President.

MONEY
IN TEXAS AND MEXICO.

We offer splendid inducements to join established enterprise with or without services. Deposit $10 and up in monthly installments of only $5 in absolutely safe land proposition that will give you life income. A few capable office people can secure good positions. Write now. San Antonio Real Estate & Investment Co., 228 West Commerce St., San Antonio, Tex.

Queen & Crescent Route
Through Pullman Sleeper
TO NORFOLK,
Jamestown Exposition.

Lv. New Orleans daily......7:50 p. m.
Av. Norfolk ....9:05 a. m.
Second Morning.

ROUND TRIP FARES:
Tickets Limited Dec. 15, '07.......$42.65
Tickets Limited 60 days.......... 35.60
Tickets Limited 15 days.......... 32.75
Tickets good in coaches only sold on Tuesday of each week, Limited 10 days.................. 22.10

CONFEDERATE REUNION,
Richmond, Va.
Round Trip Fare.....................$21.10

THE QUICKEST TIME.
FOR DETAILS APPLY AT
Ticket Office, 211 St. Charles St.
Phone Main 4492.

ILLINOIS
CENTRAL
The Double Track Route.

26 Hours to Chicago
21 Hours to St. Louis
22 Hours to Loisville
26 Hours to Cincinnati

Through Sleeping [illegible] to above points. Dining Car [illegible] Library Cars, Chair Cars and Coaches.
Full Particulars at
City Ticket Office,
141 ST. CHARLES STREET.
Phone Main 3618.

If You Want
"Silver Plate that Wears"
Ask For
"1847 ROGERS BROS."
knives, forks, spoons, etc.
Sold by leading dealers.
Send for Catalogue "O 12"
INTERNATIONAL SILVER Co.,
Successor to
MERIDEN BRITANNIA CO.
Meriden, Conn.
SOLD BY LEADING DEALERS

Sunday School.

By W. B. Campbell.

LESSON FOR JAN. 26.

JESUS CLEANSETH THE TEMPLE.

John ii, 13-22.

Golden text: "Holiness becometh thy house, O Lord, forever."—Psalm xciii, 5.

As we follow the events related in our lessons we see Jesus next in social life. The marriage at Cana, to which he and his disciples had been invited, was sanctified by his presence, and the occasion was notable as being the time of his first miracle. The first faith of those that followed him received strength at the same time the Savior countenanced a season of festivity, authorizing Christians to engage in such with due decorum. After the marriage they went to Capernaum. Travelling was done on foot in those days, and his mother was of the company that journeyed. As they walked along we think he must have been by his mother's side, for there was never such a son as he. Knowing the thoughts of every heart, he knew his mother's tender solicitude. He knew of the shadow produced by Simeon's words, "A sword shall pierce through thine own soul." And now the time came for him to be about his Father's business; he must go out into the world, and be away from her. O, the yearning of a mother's heart when this time of parting comes. After a short stay at Capernaum, Jesus began his journey to Jarusalem, the Jew's passover being at hand. He even took part in the prescribed forms of worship, for as he had said to John at his baptism, "Thus it becometh us to fulfill all righteousness." It is our duty to consider it a privilege to have a part in all the religious exercises appointed by the Church. Leaving Galilee and walking along the way toward the city our Lord must have cast many a backward glance as the tender leave-taking of his mother recurred to him. How natural for him to turn his thoughts to his Father in heaven, and of how, through his love for the world, he had long years ago began to teach his chosen people that the God of Israel would redeem them from the power of sin and death. Now, he, the Lamb of God, was to attend a ceremony which was always intended to teach the deliverance that he came down from heaven to offer as the most precious gift of God. Of course, we know that when the Son of God came to earth from heaven he brought with him all the attributes of the God-head. Yet, we naturally think of him when he was on earth as being affected by external objects just as we are. We think of him approaching the great temple with a feeling of reverence and gratitude made ready by the mental contemplation of the passover-feast and its object.

The Jews had always been taught reverence for the temple. Beginning with the tabernacle when it was first pitched in the plain of Sinai, at Bethel, at Shiloh, and at Jerusalem, the place where God hath put his holy name, should be holy. With such thoughts our Lord must have entered the great city, and as he neared the temple there must have been a heavenly harmony in his soul. But, O, what discordant sounds grated upon his ear! Lowing of oxen, bleating of sheep, accompanied by the clinking sound of dropping coin. What! The house of God a market-place. The Son of the Most High had cause for the anger given vent in wielding the whip of cords he had plaited together. What a panic of fear came upon all as they fled away. After driving away the sheep and oxen he overturned the tables of the money-changers and scattered their coins. He then turned to those who held captive the mild-eyed doves, and in a gentler tone said, "Take these things hence." O, dear Savior, let us ever come here, in thy Father's ill-used house; for thou hast only just begun thy lonely journey to the cross; for we would be with thee, asking to share in the zeal for thine house that "eatest thee up!" The Lord was the more incensed because he knew that those who had charge of the sacred edifice, and ministerd therein, consented to the traffic carried on so scandalously, and even profited thereby. Those who had been set apart according to the law of temple service were responsible and almost wholly to blame. Most of them who had been rebuked fled away, but some, more bold, having not the fear of God before them, asked Jesus for a sign, expecting something greater to follow such a positive assertion of authority. They could not understand his answer; their hearts and minds were too full of thoughts contrary to the meaning of the Lord's word and actions.

So this was the condition of the Lord's holy temple when "He came suddenly," as prophesied in Malichi iii, 1. Suppose he should suddenly, to-day, come to our house of God, our own Church, where we have so often prayed for his presence—would he have aught to cast out? Are our houses of worship receiving their due of reverence and veneration? What is our social condition? We should be so closely drawn together in our common love for the Master, that we would be more like being bound by family ties. If he came and found any caste or class distinction, he would drive it out. If he found any but those who walk humbly before their God he would bid them leave. The last message brought from heaven by John, whose gospel we are now studying, was sent to the Churches. To one of them was said: "Remember from whence thou art fallen." If our Church is not as spiritual to-day as in former days we would do well to heed. To another Church it was said, "Thou art neither cold nor hot." O, let us take heed and strive against any worldliness in our dear Church. Against any formality that would grieve the Spirit. Let us think of the Church as of a place to which we come for renewed strength; it is his body, it cannot be destroyed. The attempt was made once to effect destruction, but in three days the victory was gained in the glorious resurrection. Let us never despond, but rather rejoice that it is through great tribulation we are made acceptable.

Suffering is endured by all, for we are all members of one body; so shall the personal religion of each be enjoyed by all. The time for united effort is at hand, and the Church is showing its power among men. Let us work in the field where we have been placed, and among those we are with day by day, remembering that as the Psalmist wrote of holiness becoming the house of the Lord, that the house of the Lord is of many members to whom God has said, "Be ye holy, for I am holy."

Coughs of Children
Especially night-coughs. Nature needs a little help to quiet the irritation, control the inflammation, check the progress of the disease. Our advice is—give the children Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Ask your doctor if this is his advice also. He knows best. Do as he says.
We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our preparations.
J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Jos. Weckerling, Pres. Geo. Stahler, Sec'y.
LOUISIANA GLASS and MIRROR WORKS Limited.
PAINTS, OILS AND GLASS.
MIRRORS, MEMORIAL WINDOWS, RE-SILVERING AND GLAZING.,
Factory 309-319 Lafayette Street. Office and Sales Rooms 408-410-412 Carondelet Street. Phone Main 792. New Orleans, La.
Distributers, JNO. W. MASURY & SON'S Paints, Colors and Varnishes.

W. E. BYRNES, Pres. JOHN T. GIBBONS, Vice-Pres. W. WOOD, Sec'y.
Capital....................$200,00.00
Assets....................$479,360.30
HIBERNIA INSURNCE CO.,
No. 300 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA
LOSSES PAID PROMPTLY.

Pine-Brook Dairy Co., Ltd
ALL OUR COWS TUBERCULINE TESTED.
Milk and Cream Delivered Morning and Evening.
COR ST. CHARLES & WASHINGTON AVES. Phone 1514 Uptown.

Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company.
THROUGH DAILY PASSENGER SERVICE
Between
NEW ORLEANS and SHREVEPORT,
via
BATON ROUGE, BAYOU SARA and ALEXANDRIA.
FAST FREIGHT SERVICE.
C. ELLERBE, Asst. to Prest., Shreveport, La.
H. B. HELM, Gen'l Superintendent, Shreveport, La.
E. C. D. MARSHALL, G. F. & P. A., Shreveport, La.

THE AMERICAN PAINT WORKS,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.,
MANUFACTURES EVERYTHING IN PAINTS,
Guaranteed Strictly Pure
The Climatic Prepared Paints, Perfecto White
and
SOLD SUBJECT TO A CHEMICAL ANALYSIS.
DIRECTORS:
Thos. S. Witherspoon, President. Francis Martin, Vice President.
R. B. Parker, John McCloskey, Geo. A. Here.
PHONE, MAIN 915. Special Attention to Mail Orders

The Union Railraod Business College,
BUSINESS TAUGHT AS IT IS DONE.
Is backed up by thousands of dollars and expert teachers. Uses no text books or copying nonsense. Free scholarships given only to those between the ages of 13 and 35 years.
Business men everywhere are calling for the graduates of this school. For full particulars, address PROF. W. N. STEPHENSON, Texarkana, Texas.

New Orleans Light House
FRIEDRICH MERCANTILE COMPANY
636 CAMP STREET
LIGHTS
(Friedrich Mercantile Co.)
Well-known Welbach Gas Lights, all styles. Something new. Tubus Gas Lights, very popular. Inverted Gas Lights at $1.10. The Practicus Coal Oil Lamp that burns a mantle 60 hours to one gallon of coal oil. You are invited to see this brilliant light. Gasoline Hollow Wire Lamp Systems, substitute for gas and electric lights.
Full Stock of Lighting Supplies.
Country Orders Solicited.

A DOCTOR'S PRAISE

What a Conscientious Physician Has to Say About a Great Female Medicine.

Many a doctor, who has tried the remedies of his particular school in vain, for the relief of his lady patients, falls back on nature's own remedy, Wine of Cardni, as a means of effecting a cure.

Its reputation, as a remedy for the relief or cure of the diseases peculiar to women, extends back over a half a century, and in that time it has benefited over a million women.

Dr. O. P. Walker, of Motz, Ark., writes: "I send you my unqualified indorsement of the two great medicines, Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught. I am, as most doctors are, slow to accept and slower to recommend patent medicines, but having seen so much good accomplished by the above remedies (especially Cardui), I unhesitatingly say they are all their manufacturers claim for them. I use Cardui in my practice and recommend it to my patients, and lastly, which is the highest proof of a doctor's confidence, I gave it to my wife all through pregnancy and one bottle after parturition with great benefit.

"I have also lately used Wine of Cardui in four cases, two of amenorrhea of young girls, aged 12 and 14, respectively, one of habitual miscarriage and one of sterility, with the happiest results, and hy the way, I have cured a case of fits with it. A colored girl, aged 16, would have, every month, cold hands and feet, shortness of breath, choking sensation, palpitation of the heart, severe headache, then a fit and at last a scanty period. I gave her the usual round of liver medicine, and put her to taking Wine of Cardui. She took two bottles, and all symptoms disappeared, and now I believe she is permanently cured, as she has not taken any for four months. I do not know what is in Wine of Cardui, hut it was of great benefit to my wife, and does what I want done, so I shall continue to use it."

No stronger indorsement could be written by a reputahle medical man than the above. Cardui relieves women's pains, hy acting as a remedy for the diseases which cause them. It regulates, restores, revives the female functions and constitution. Try it. Sold in every drug store in $1.00 bottles, or sent to any address prepaid on receipt of price.

For Free Medical Advice on your case, send a description of your symptoms, with age, to Ladies' Advisory Dept., The Chattanoogh Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., who will reply in plain sealed envelope. Do it today.

25 Beautiful Post Cards

In order to get agents in every town we will send 25 Souvenir Post Cards including FINE flower, hand paintings, FUNNY Comics, etc. No two cards alike, retail in all stores 2 for 5 cents. With your NAME WRITTEN IN GOLD on 10 of them for 25 cents in silver or stamps. If not satisfied, money will be refunded. Contract sent with first order. Address HOME CARD CO., Box E. Lexington, N. C.

RAISINS—PRUNES—APPRICOTS

Peaches, etc. Finest quality at wholesale prices by our plan of selling Dried Fruit.

California to Consumer Direct.

Everything fresh packed, satisfaction guaranteed. Send for prices delivered to your station. Sample assortment of Raisins, Prunes, Apricots and Peaches sent to any address 25c postpaid.

CALIFORNIA PRODUCTS CO.,
Dept. W. Colton, Calif.

QUARTERLY CONFRENCES.

Louisiana Conference.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—FIRST RND.

Wilson, at Wilson		Jan. 4, 5
Clinton		Jan. 5, 6
Ethel, at Ethel		Jan. 11, 12
Jackson		Jan. 12, 13
Baker, at Baker		Jan. 18, 19
Zachary and Slaughter, at S.		Jan. 19, 20
Touchatoula, at Touchatoula		Jan. 25, 26
Hammond	7 p.m.	Jan. 26,
Independence	11 a.m.	Jan. 27,
Amite City	7:30 p.m.	Jan. 28,
Franklinton, at F.		Jan. 29, 30
Mt. Herman, at Tangipahoa		Feb. 1, 2
Kentwood	7 p.m.	Feb. 2,
St. Francisville, at St. F.		Feb. 8, 9
Port Vincent, at P. V.		Feb. 15, 16
Live Oak, at Denham Spgs.		Feb. 16, 17
Pine Grove, at P. G.		Feb. 22, 23
St. Helena, at Center		Fb. 29, 1
E. Feliciana, at Oak G.		Feb. 7, 8
Melville, at Melville		Feb. 14, 15
New Roads and Jacoby		Feb. 21, 22
First Church, Baton R.		Feb. 29, 30
Second Church, Baton R.		Feb. 29, 30

District Stewards will meet Jan. 20, at 2:30 p.m. in Slaughter Methodist Church.

R. W. TUCKER, P. E.

MONROE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Bastrop, at Bastrop	Jan. 4, 5
Rayville, at Oak Ridge	Jan. 5, 6
Downsville, at Downsville	Jan. 11, 12
Bonita, at Bonita	Jan. 18, 19
Monroe, at Monroe	Jan. 19, 20
West Monroe, at W. M.	Jan. 21
Tallulah, at Tallulah	Jan. 25, 26
Lake Providence, at L. P.	Jan. 26, 27
Farmerville, at Farmerville	Feb. 1, 2
Brookland, at Brookland	Feb. 7, 8
Eros, at Eros	Feb. 8, 9
Mer Rouge, at Collinston	Feb. 15, 16
Mangham, at Mangham	Feb. 16, 17
Harrisonburg, at H.	Feb. 22, 23
Florence, at Florence	Feb. 23, 24
Waterproof	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Floyd, at Floyd	Mar. 7, 8

J. E. DENSON, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUSD.

Grand Cane, at G. C.	Jan. 4, 5
Pelican, at Pelican	Jan. 11, 12
Coushatta, at Coushatta	Jan. 18, 19
Wesley, at Carrol Creek	Jan. 25, 26
La Chute, at La Chute	Feb. 1, 2
Shreveport, First Church	Feb. 9, 10
Shreveport, Texas Ave.	Feb. 12
Mansfield Ct., at Bether	Feb. 15, 16
Mansfield Ct., at Bethel	Feb. 15, 16
Zwolle, at Zwolle	Feb. 22, 23
Many, at Many	Feb. 23, 24
Ida, at Gillian	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Greenwood, at Greenwood	Mar. 7, 8
Shreveport, City Mission	Mar. 8, 9
Hornbeck, at Holly Grove	Mar. 14, 15
Leesville Station	Mar. 15, 16
Bon Ami	Mar. 21, 22
De Ridder Station	Mar. 22, 23
Pleasant Hill, at P. H.	Mar. 27, 28
Provincal, at Provincal	Mar. 29
Mooringsport, at M.	Apr. 4, 5

T. J. WARLICK, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Benton, at Benton		Jan. 11, 12
North Bossier at P. Dealing		Jan. 13,
Haughton, at Haughton		Jan. 15,
Simsboro, at Simsboro		Jan. 18, 19
Bienville, at B.	11 a.m.	Jan. 21,
Homer		Jan. 22,
Haynesville, at H.		Jan. 25, 26
Gibsland, at G.		Feb. 1, 2
Louisville, at L		Feb. 3,
Winnfield		Feb. 4,
Bernice, at Alabama		Feb. 8, 9
Jonesboro, at J.		Feb. 10,
Vernon, at Wesley Chapel		Feb. 12,
Ringgold, at R.		Feb. 15, 16
Ruston		Feb. 18,
Cotton Valley		Feb. 22, 23
Minden		Feb. 24,
Lisbon, at Lisbon		Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Arcadia		Mar. 8, 9

BRISCOE CARTER, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST R'ND.

Parker Memorial	a.m.	Jan. 5,
Algiers	p.m.	Jan. 5,
Louisiana Avenue	a.m.	Jan. 12,
Epworth	p.m.	Jan. 12,
Bogalusa		Jan. 19,
Plaquemine and White C.		Jan. 25, 26
Donaldsonville and Vach.		Jan. 26, 27
Covington, at Covington		Feb. 1, 2
Slidell, at Slidell		Feb. 8, 9
Carrollton Avenue	a.m.	Feb. 16,
Second Church	p.m.	Feb. 16,
First Church	a.m.	Feb. 23,
Felicity	p.m.	Feb. 23,
Reyne Memorial		March 1

F. N. PARKER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Pollock and Olla, at P.	Jan. 4, 5
Tioga, at Tioga	Jan. 6,
Trout and Jena, at T.	Jan. 11, 12
Somerville and Eden, at Jackson Chapel	Jan. 13,
West Alexandria	Jan. 15,
Dry Creek, at Dry Creek	Jan. 18, 19
Glenmora, at Glenmora	Jan. 20,
Columbia	Jan. 25, 26
Selma	Jan. 27,
Chicot, at White's Chapel	Feb. 1, 2
Montgomery, at Montgomery	Feb. 5,
Lecompte, at Lecompte	Feb. 8, 9
Bunkie	Feb. 10,
Simsport	Feb. 11,
Opelousas	Feb. 15, 16
Natchitoches	Feb. 22, 23
Boyce	Feb. 24,

District Stewards will meet in the West Alexandria Church on Wednesday, Jan. 22, at 10:30 a.m.

N. E. JOYNER, P. E.

CROWLEY DISTRICT—FIRST ROUND.

St. Martinville	Jan. 12,
Abbeville	Jan. 14,
Franklin	Jan. 15,
Morgan City	Jan. 19,
Patterson	Jan. 19,
Rayne	Jan. 24, 26
Indian Bayou	Jan. 25,
Gueydan	Feb. 2,
Eunice	Feb. 2,
Prudhomme	Feb. 8,
Crowley	Feb. 7, 9
Lake Arthur	Feb. 15, 16
Jennings	Feb. 16,
Lake Charles	Feb. 21, 23
Sulphur	Feb. 22, 23
Grand Chenlere	Feb. 24,

J. M. HENRY, P. E.

North Mississippi Conference.

DURANT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Sallis, at Hurricane	Jan. 4, 5
Kosciusko Station	Jan. 5, 6
Chester, at Nebo	Jan. 11, 12
Ackerman, at Ackerman	Jan. 12, 13
Pickens, at Pickens	Jan. 19, 20
Durant Station	Jan. 26, 27
Rural Hill, at Rural Hill	Feb. 1, 2
McCool, at McCool	Feb. 2, 3
Ebenezer, at Hebron	Feb. 8, 9
Lexington Station	Feb. 9, 10
Vaiden, at Vaiden	Feb. 12
Black Hawk, at B. H.	Feb. 15, 16
Sidon & Tchula, at Cruger	Feb. 19
Kosciusko Cir., at Bethel	Feb. 22, 23
West, at West	Mar. 1, 2
Louisville, at Louisville	Mar. 4
Poplar Creek, at Friendship	Mar. 7, 8

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUSD.

Aberdeen	Dec. 15, 16
Houston	Dec. 22, 23
Tupelo	Jan. 5, 6
Shannon, at Shannon	Jan. 11, 12
Verona	Jan. 12, 13
Okolona Station	Jan. 19, 20
Buena Vista, at Beuna Vista	Jan. 24
Prairie, at Prairie	Jan. 25, 26
Amory and Nettleton, at A.	Feb. 2, 3
Bounds Ct., at Tabernacle	Feb. 6
Pittsboro, at Sumrall	Feb. 7
Vardaman, at Vardaman	Feb. 8, 9
Houlka, at Wesley Chapel	Feb. 15, 16
Montpelier, at Sparta	Feb. 18
Palestine, at Algona	Feb. 22, 23
Pontotoc, at Pontotoc	Feb. 23, 24
Nettleton, at Evergreen	Feb. 29, Mch 1
mithville, at Antioch	Mch. 2
Okolona Ct., at Moore Chap.	Mch. 4
Aberdeen Ct., at Gr. Spgs.	Mch. 7, 8
Fulton, at Hardins Chap.	Mch. 12

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST—FIRST ROUND.

Columbus, First Church	Dec. 21, 22
Columbus, Second Church	Dec. 22, 23
West Point	Jan. 4, 5
Columbus Ct., at New Hope	Jan. 11, 12
Starkville Ct., at Smyrna	Jan. 18, 19
Starkville	Jan. 19, 20
Shuqualak, at Salem	Jan. 25, 26
Macon	Jan. 26, 27
Winstonville, at Middleton	Feb. 1, 2
Mayhew, at Artesia	Feb. 8, 9
Mathiston, at Mathiston	Feb. 15, 16
Crawford, at Crawford	Feb. 22, 23
Sturges, at Sturges	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Brooksville, at B.	Mar. 7, 8
Hebron, at Hebron	Mar. 14, 15
Cedar Bluff, at Phoeba	Mar. 21, 22

L. M. LIPSCOMB, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Booneville Sta.	Dec. 22, 23
Corinth Sta.	Dec. 29, 30
Iuka Ct., at Harmony	Jan. 4, 5
Iuka Sta.	Jan. 5, 6
Kossuth Ct., at Wesley's C.	Jan. 11, 12
Corinth Ct., at Gaines Chap.	Jan. 14,
Mooresville and Saltillo, at S.	Jan. 18, 19
Guntown and Baldwyn, at G.	Jan. 19, 20
Mantachie Ct., at Hebron	Jan. 21,
Belmont Ct., at Pattersons	Jan. 25, 26
Tishomingo Ct., at Boggs	Jan. 28,
Wheeler Ct., at Wheelers	Feb. 1, 2
Marietta Ct., at Marietta	Feb. 4,
Myrtle Ct., at Hickory Flat	Feb. 8, 9
Blue Springs Ct., at B. S.	Feb. 10,
New Albany Sta.	Feb. 16, 17
N. Albany Ct., at Mt. Olivet	Feb. 18,
Booneville Ct., at Carolina	Feb. 22, 23
Jonesboro Ct., at Camp Gr.	Feb. 26,
Rainey and Faulkner, at R. C.	Feb. 28,
Ripley and N. H. at Ripley	Feb. 29, 1

BEN P. JACO, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Sardis	Dec. 22, 23
Como	Dec. 29, 30
Senatobia	Jan. 4, 5
Mt. Pleasant	Jan. 11
Byhalia	Jan. 12, 13
Olive Branch, at Kelley	Jan. 14
Arkabutla, at Hunter's C.	Jan. 18
Cold Water	Jan. 19, 20
Cochrum	Jan. 25, 26
Wall Hill	Feb. 1, 2
Pleasant Hill, at Lewisburg	Feb. 8
Hernando and Hinds, at H.	9, 10
Courtland	15, 16
Harrison	22, 23
Eureka, at Cole's Springs	Feb. 29, 1
Tyro, at Fredonia	Mar. 7, 8
Long Town, at Davis Ch'l.	Mar. 14, 15
Crenshaw	Mar. 21, 22
Batesville	Mar. 28, 29

The District Stewards will please meet at Cold Water, Jan. 20.

W. M. YOUNG, P. E.

Cured Me

"I suffered with pain under my left breast, and shortness of breath and nervousness. My heart would beat very fast, and then it would hardly beat at all. One doctor told me I had neuralgia of the heart, another said I had dyspepsia, and another only a weak heart, but none of them gave me any relief. I was not able to be out for four months. I wrote the Miles Medical Co. for advice, and they told me to take Dr. Miles' Nervine with the Heart Cure. I took both as directed, and entirely recovered."

MRS. P. JENNINGS,
James River, P. O., Va.

MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

OVFORD DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Abbeville Ct., at A.	Jan. 4, 5
Oxford Station	Jan. 8,
Holly Springs Ct., at Lamar	Jan. 11,
Holly Springs Sta.	Jan. 12, 13
Potts Camp Ct., at P. C.	Jan. 17,
Red Banks, at R. B.	Jan. 18, 19
Ashland Ct. at Liberty	Jan. 21,
Water Valley, Main St.	Jan. 23,
Water Valley, First Church	Jan. 24,
Grenada Ct., at Spring Hill	Jan. 25, 26
Grenada Station	Jan. 26, 27
Charleston Ct. at Charleston	Jan. 28,
Coffeeville Ct., at C.	Jan. 30,
Water Val. Ct., at Palestine	Feb. 1, 2
Paris Ct., at Paris	Feb. 8, 9
Toccapola Ct.	Feb. 14,
Randolph Ct.	Feb. 15, 16
Waterford Ct.	Feb. 22, 23

J. E. CUNNINGHAM, P. E.

Agents Wanted to sell REX OILS & REX CHILL TONIC to your neighbors. No traveling salesmen needed. J. S. BURTON, Medicine Co. Sherman, Texas.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

Epworth League

By Rev. H. Whitehead.

January 26. The Planting and the Training of the Church in the Foreign Fields. Atcs xiv, 21-28; Isa. xix, 18-22. (Missionary.)

Two men, Saul of Tarsus, and Barnabas, entered on an untried field when they left Antioch and sailed to the Island of Cyprus. They were the first Christian missionaries, and before them lay the whole world. But there was no experience of others to guide them. They could fall back upon the plans of no predecessors, but they went forth under the guidance of the Holy Spirit to tell men of the Christ.

Then after they had won converts, and had left an established Church, these men retraced their steps and trained the churches in their duties. They ordained elders in every church. Where he was not driven away by persecution, Paul stayed with the church until it was well established.

2. The Planting.

All subsequent missionary work has patterned after the first missionaries. There is first the planting period, and then the days of patient training of native workers to carry on the work. In every mission field the days of planting have tried the patience of men. Bishop Galloway writes, "missionaries have given new meaning to the grace of patient waiting. There is no higher expression of faith than that which, having done all, is able cheerfully to stand—after laborious toil can stand still and see the salvation of the Lord.'" We wonder at the sublime hopefulness of the missionaries.

"When Judson had been eighteen years in Burmah some one wrote and asked: 'What of the prospect?' The great souled apostle answered: 'bright as the promises of God.' To others it seemed that not a seed would grow, that it was all dry ground. The heavens shone like brass upon the blistered soil, with never a cloud so large as a man's hand to tell of a coming shower. Yet they confidently trusted and patiently waited. It is a strange coincidence that it was seven years before Carey in India, Judson in Burmah, Morrison in China, Moffat in Africa, or Henry Richard on the Congo baptized his first convert."

Either utter indifference, or violent opposition, has marked the early stages of every mission. When Paul and Barnabas journeyed through Europe, they gained an immediate hearing in every place because they found their countrymen everywhere, and they went first to the synagogues of the Jews. The pioneer missionary of modern times, has generally gone where there was no sympathy to help, and where he did find some of his own countrymen they were more apt to be a hindrance than a help.

3. The Training.

After a mission has passed its first stages, then the work of the foreign missionary has been to train the native evangelists, rather than to carry the Word with his own lips. Paul wrote his wonderful epistles, that he might train and direct, either the churches as a whole, or else that he might counsel special workers. The Holy Spirit breathed through this man's messages to the churches over which he was yearning, a message to men of every race and kindred to the end of the world. When a mission field is entering upon this second stage, there is work for men of every diversified talents. The one essential is that all who toil shall work for the glory of the Christ, and the salvation of the people among whom they work, and then there is place for teacher, for mechanic, for business man, each setting a pattern of the Christ.

A notable example of the second stage of mission work, is shown by the present status of our Church in Japan. There the native Methodist Churches have joined in the Methodist Church of Japan. The missionaries hold mainly an advisory relation, and work in such manner as to amplify and to magnify the work of the native Church. The world hopes to see a Christian Japan, itself organized for the evangelization of the other Oriental nations.

Don't you know
THAT CRADDOCK-TERRY CO.'S
Long Wear Shoes
wear longer than other shoes at the same price? If not, try a pair of these celebrated shoes and be convinced.

General News

Secretary of War Taft recently appeared before the House Committee on Inter-oceanic Canals, and gave some interesting information about the Panama Canal. He thinks the Canal will be completed in six years, at a probable cost of $300,000,000, including the original purchase price. He says the Spanish War taught us some valuable lessons about life in tropical countries and as a result the Canal Zone is comparatively healthy. The fear of leprosy has proven groundless, there being only a few cases, and they are isolated on an island, so that there is no danger of contagion.

* * *

The President has notified the Nevada authorities that he intends removing the troops sent to Goldfield, as he is convinced there is no necessity for keeping them there; that the State of Nevada must take care of its own internal disorders, and need not look to the Federal Government for assistance until it has exhausted its own resources.

* * *

The little town of Boyerstown, Pa., a place of 2,500 inhabitants, is plunged into terrible woe. At a recent entertainment of the Lutheran Sunday School given in the opera house, a lamp was upset, and before it could be righted, a gasoline tank exploded, enveloping the audience in flames, resulting in the death of one hundred and seventy persons.

* * *

The Chicago Public Schools are suffering from an absence of the teachers, the Board of Education having neither cadets or substitutes to supply an average of 52 rooms daily. The reports show that 10,360 pupils were without a teacher at least one day in the week. Sickness is the cause assigned for nine-tenths of the vacancies.

* * *

A large delegation of the Paducah, Ky., people were in New Orleans last week to present the Gunboat "Paducah" with a silver service.

* * *

Dr. Mayer of the State Board of Health recommends everybody to take advantage of every freezing spell, to throw open doors and windows, and to open up closets, shaking out clothing and brushing the walls, for the purpose of destroying the Stegomya mosquito, which exists during the winter in a semi-torpid state, ready to resume pernicious activity on the first warm day.

Personal to Rheumatics
I want to get a personal letter from every man and woman in America afflicted with Rheumatism, Lumbago or Neuralgia, giving me their full name and postoffice address, so I can send them Free a full-sized, One Dollar Bottle of my Rheumatic Remedy. I want to convince every Rheumatic sufferer at my expense that my Rheumatic Remedy does what thousands of so-called remedies have failed to accomplish—Actually and Permanently Cures Rheumatism. I know it does, I am sure of it and I want every Rheumatic sufferer to know it and be sure of it, before giving me a penny profit. You cannot coax Rheumatism out through the feet or skin with plasters or cunning metal contrivances. You cannot tease it out with liniments, electricity or magnetism. You cannot imagine it out with mental science. You Must Drive It Out. It is in the blood and you must Go After It and Get It. This is just what Kuhn's Rheumatic Remedy does and that's why it cures Rheumatism. Rheumatism is Uric Acid and Uric Acid and Kuhn's Rheumatic Remedy cannot live together in the same blood. The Rheumatism has to go and it does go for good. My Remedy cures the sharp, shooting pains, the dull, aching muscles, the hot, throbbing, swollen limbs, and cramped, stiffened, useless joints and cures them to stay cured.
I Can Prove It All To You
If you will only let me do it. I will prove much In One Week's Time if you will let me do it at my expense, if you will only sit down and write my Company to send you a dollar bottle Free Of Charge. I don't care what form of Rheumatism you have or how long you have had it. I don't care what other remedies you have used. If you have not used mine you don't know what a real Rheumatic Remedy will do. Read our offer and write to us immediately.
C. W. Kuhn.
A FULL-SIZED $1.00 BOTTLE SENT FREE
We want you to try Kuhn's Rheumatic Remedy, to learn for yourself that Rheumatism can be cured and we want no profit on the trial. A fair test and a just verdict is all we ask. If you like it and find it is curing your Rheumatism or Neuralgia, order more to complete your permanent cure and thereby give us our chance for profit. If it does not help you, no harm is done. We know what Rheumatism is, we know our treatment, know just how it works, and will take this chance. We do not send a small sample vial, containing about a thimbleful and of no practical value, but a full-sized bottle, selling regularly at drug-stores for One Dollar Each. This bottle is heavy and we must pay Uncle Sam to carry it to your door. We ask you to send us 25 cents to pay cost of packing and mailing case and postage and this full-sized One Dollar Bottle will be promptly sent you free, everything prepaid. There will be nothing to pay on receipt or later. No other Rheumatic Remedy has been or can be so offered. Don't wait until the valves of your heart are injured by Rheumatic Poison, but send today for this one dollar bottle free on trial. Only one bottle sent free to a family and only to those who have never before used this remedy and will send the 25 cents for charges. Address
KUHN REMEDY CO., Dept. B. N. HOYNE & NORTH AVES., CHICAGO.

INCUBATORS "THE MODEL" manufactured by Chas. A. Cyphers. The acknowledged leading authority on Incubation. We carry a full line also of Brooders, Coops, Etc. Our Steinmesch Poultry Feeds are conceded the finest on the market. They grow big chickens and a large percentage of those hatched. White Washing Machines, Spray Pumps save labor and money. Field Fencing, Root Cutters, Seeders, Seeds, etc. Everything for Poultrymen.
NEW ORLEANS POULTRY SUPPLY CO.,
R. E. Bruce, Manager. 531 Poydras Street, New Orleans.

POSITIONS SECURED or MONEY BACK
Contract given, backed by $300,000.00 capital and 18 years' Success
DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL BUSINESS COLLEGES
SHREVEPORT, JACKSON (MISS.),
DALLAS, GALVESTON, NASHVILLE
30 Colleges in 17 States
Bookkeeping, Banking, Shorthand, Penmanship, Telegraphy, etc. Indorsed by business men. Also teach by mail. Write, phone, or call for catalogue.

THE BEST MADE.
Angell's Cough and Whooping Cough Syrup
For Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Throat Trouble.
CONTAINS NO OPIUM OR MORPHINE,
All Druggists, Price 25 and 50 Cents.

KING'S "LITTLE GIANT" COTTON
T. W. House, of Texas, says: The King produced double as much as others.
A. A. Williams, of Georgia, says: The King planted same time on same land with same manure and cultivation is twice as good as others.
It ought to Do as Well for You. Take agency and get your seed free.
Seed Sold on Long Time
We wish to show you what the "Genuine King" will do for you, and so we offer the seed on October, 1908 time, at fair prices. Write for application blanks and booklet of proof.
T. J. King Co.,
Richmond, Va.

A New York lady, in taking off her cloak, dropped a $12,000 pearl necklace in one of the pockets. A few days after she gave the cloak to her maid, who sold it to a second-hand clothes dealer. An employee of the latter found the necklace, and not knowing whether it was valuable or not took it to a jeweler, where he learned its true value. By the books of the second-hand dealer the owner of the necklace was found, who did not know that her jewels were lost. How like this is the way in which men lose sight of the life of the soul.

* * *

It has been announced that the American forces will be withdrawn from Cuba in the Spring of 1909 if the political conditions will at all justify it.

* * *

Caddo Parish, in which Shreveport in situated, has gone dry. Prohibition is steadily gaining ground. Before long we will be ready for a campaign for State prohibition.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

Mississippi Conference.

NATCHEZ DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Liberty, at Liberty	Jan.	4, 5
Centreville	Jan.	11, 12
Homochitto, at Mt. Olive	Jan.	18, 19
Bethel, at Macedonia	Jan.	25, 26
Gloster	Jan.	26, 27
Barlow, at Rehoboth	Feb.	1, 2
Hamburg, at Hamburg	Feb.	8, 9
Fayette, at Fayette	Feb.	15, 16
Percy's Creek, at Dawson's	Feb.	22, 23
Woodville	Feb.	23, 24
Natchez, Pearl St	Feb.	29, Mar. 1
Natchez, Jefferson St	Mar.	1, 2
Bayou Pierre, at P. V	Mar.	7, 8
Caseyville, at New Hope, Monday, 11 a. m	Mar.	9
Wilkinson, at Friendship	Mar.	14, 15
Meadville, at Providence	Mar.	21, 22
Washington, at W	Mar.	28, 29

J. T. LEGGETT, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Utica, at Utica	Jan.	4, 5
Harriston, at Harriston	Jan.	11, 12
Port Gibson, at P. G	Jan.	13
Crawford St., Vicksburg	Jan.	15
Lorman, at Lorman	Jan.	18, 19
South Warren, at Red Bone	Jan.	25, 26
S. Washington, Vicksburg	Jan.	27
Bolton, at Bolton	Feb.	1, 2
Hermanville, at H	Feb.	8, 9
Silver City, at S. C	Feb.	15, 16
Satartia, at Wesley Chapel	Feb.	18
Oak Ridge, at O. R	Feb.	22, 23
Edwards, at Edwards	Feb.	24, 25
Anguilla, at Anguilla	Mar.	1, 2
Rolling Fork, at R. F	Mar.	2, 3
Mayersville, at Mayersville	Mar.	3, 4
Rocky Springs, at R. S	Mar.	7, 8

G. H. GALLOWAY, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Purvis	Jan.	4, 5
Eastabutchie	Jan.	11, 12
Americus, at Pleasant Hill	Jan.	18, 19
Lucedale	Jan.	19, 20
New Augusta	Jan.	21
McHenery and Wiggins, at McHenery	Jan.	21
Pass Christian	Jan.	25, 26
Bay St. Louis	Jan.	27
Pearlington and Logtown, at Logtown	Jan.	28
Van Cleave	Jan.	30
Escatawpa	Jan.	31
Moss Point	Feb.	1, 2
Pascagoula	Feb.	2, 3
Lumberton	Feb.	8, 9
Biloxi, Main St	Feb.	15, 16
Long Beach	Feb.	17
Hattiesburg, Main St	Feb.	21, 22
Hattiesburg, Broad St	Feb.	22, 23
Hattiesburg, Court St	Feb.	24
Carriere and McNeill, at Carriere	Feb.	29, 1
Brooklyn and Bond, at Brooklyn	Mar.	6
Mentorum and New Zion, at New Zion	Mar.	7, 8
Gulfport, 25th Ave	Mar.	10
Gulfport, 29th St., at Handsboro	Mar.	11
Ocean Springs and Oak St., Oak St	Mar.	12
Coalville, at Poplarhead	Mar.	14, 15
Howison ann Saucier, at S	Mar.	15, 16
Wolf River, at Durhams C	Mar.	17

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND

Prentiss, at Prentiss(.Thurs	Jan.	2
Hub, at Hathorn	Jan.	4, 5
Columbia	Jan.	5, 6
Silver Creek, at Bethel	Jan.	11, 12
Magnolia (Wed)	Jan.	15,
McComb and Fernwood, at La-Branch	Jan.	18, 19
McComb, Centenary	Jan.	19, 20
Hazlehurst (Wed)	Jan.	22,
Gallman, at Bethesda	Jan.	25, 26
Crystal Springs	Jan.	26, 27
Pearlhaven, at P. ..(Thurs)	Jan.	30,
Tylertown, at T.	Feb.	1, 2
Brookhaven (Wed.)	Feb.	4,
Bogue Chitto and Norfield, at B. C.	Feb.	8, 9
Adams, at Adams	Feb.	15, 16
Beauregard, at B.	Feb.	22, 23
Wesson	Feb.	23, 24
Monticello, At M.	Mar.	1, 2
Summit, at Summit	Mar.	8, 9
Topisaw, at Topisaw (Wed)	Mar.	11,

GEO. H. THOMPSON, P. E.

JACKSON DISTRICT—FIRST ROUND

Jackson, Capitol St., 11 a.m.	Jan.	5,
Jackson, Rankin St., 7 p.m.	Jan.	5,
Magee, at Magee	Jan.	11, 12
Thomasville, at Greenfield, 11 a.m.	Jan.	18, 19
Brandon 7 p.m.	Jan.	19, 20
Seminary, at Williamsburg, 11 a.m.	Jan.	25, 26
Collins 7 p.m.	Jan.	26, 27
Canton	Jan.	31,
Sharon, at Sharon	Feb.	1, 2
Madison, at Madison	Feb.	3,
Jackson, First Church	Feb.	5,
Fannin, at Oakdale	Feb.	8, 9
Florence, at Marvin Church	Feb.	14,
Braxton, at Braxton	Feb.	15, 16
Terry, at Terry	Feb.	19,
Deasonville, at Union	Feb.	22, 23
Benton, at Midway	Feb.	25,
Yazoo City	Feb.	26,
Eden, at Eden	Feb.	29, Mar. 1
Flora, at Flora	Mar.	2,
Mount Olive, at Mt. O.	Mar.	6,
Bethel and Mission, at B.	Mar.	7, 8
Pinola, at Mount Pisgah	Mar.	14, 15

The Board of District Stewards will convene in Jackson, First Church, on Thursday, Jan. 30, at 10 a.m. The meeting is one of unusual importance, and it is earnestly desired that in cases where there are no early morning trains the members will come in Wednesday evening. A. F. WATKINS, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Carrollton, at Carrollton	Jan.	4, 5
Itta Bena	Jan.	10
Belzoni, at Belzoni	Jan.	11, 12
Eupora and Maben, at E.	Jan.	18, 19
Moorhead, at M	Jan.	25, 26
Indianola, at I.	Jan.	27,
Inverness, at Inverness	Jan.	29,
Schlater, at S.	Feb.	1, 2
Webb, at Tutwiler	Feb.	4,
Minter City, at M. C.	Feb.	8, 9
N. Carrollton, at Eden	Feb.	12,
Winona Ct., at New Hope	Feb.	15, 16
Mars Hill, at M. H.	Feb.	18,
Tom Nolen, at Stewart	Feb.	22, 23
Ruleville, at Drew	Feb.	29, Mar. 1
Vance, at Vance	March	3,
Slate Springs	March	7, 8

E. S. LEWIS, P. E.

NEWTON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Bay Springs, at B. S.	Jan.	4, 5
Taylorsville, at T.	Jan.	8
Laurel	Jan.	9
5th Ave. and K.	Jan.	10
Montrose, at Montrose	Jan.	11, 12
Shiloh, at Shiloh	Jan.	15
Morton and P., at M.	Jan.	16,
Forest and H., at F.	Jan.	17,
Lake, at Lake	Jan.	18, 19
Newton	Jan.	19, 20
Raleigh, at Trinity	Jan.	23,
Trenton, at Burns	Jan.	24,
Homewood, at H.	Jan.	25, 26
Hebron, at Hebron	Feb.	1,
Ellisville, at E.	Feb.	2, 3,
Harperville, at H.	Feb.	7,
Walnut Grove, at W.	Feb.	8, 9
Carthage, at C.	Feb.	9, 10
Edinberg, at Waldo	Feb.	15, 16
Philadelphia, at P.	Feb.	16, 17
Indian Miss., at Philadel.	Feb.	17,
Neshoba, at Mt. Pisgah	Feb.	18,
Decatur, at Union	Feb.	22, 23
Chunkey, at C.	Feb.	29, Mar. 1
Vossburg and H., at V.	Mar.	7, 8
Rose Hill, at Rose Hill	Mar.	14, 15

JAS. M. WEEMS, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Clarksdale, 11 a. m.	Jan.	5
Lula, at Lyon 7 p. m.	Jan.	5
Hollandale, at Arcola 11 a. m.	Jan.	12
Leland 7 p.m.	Jan.	12,
Greenville	Jan.	18, 19
Cleveland Ct. 11 a.m.	Jan.	23,
Cleveland Sta. 7 p.m.	Jan.	23,
Boyle, at B.	Jan.	25, 26
Duncan, at Alligator p.m.	Jan.	26,
Coahoma, at C. 11 a.m	Feb.	2,
Tunica, at T. 7 p.m	Feb.	2,
Robinsonville, at R	Feb.	3, 4
Rosedale 11 a.m.	Feb.	9,
Hill House, at Gunnison, pm	Feb.	9,
Friar's Point	Feb.	16, 17
Jonestown	Feb.	23, 24
Shaw	Mar.	1, 2
Glen Allan and Greenville Mission	Mar.	7, 8

R. A. MEEK, P. E.

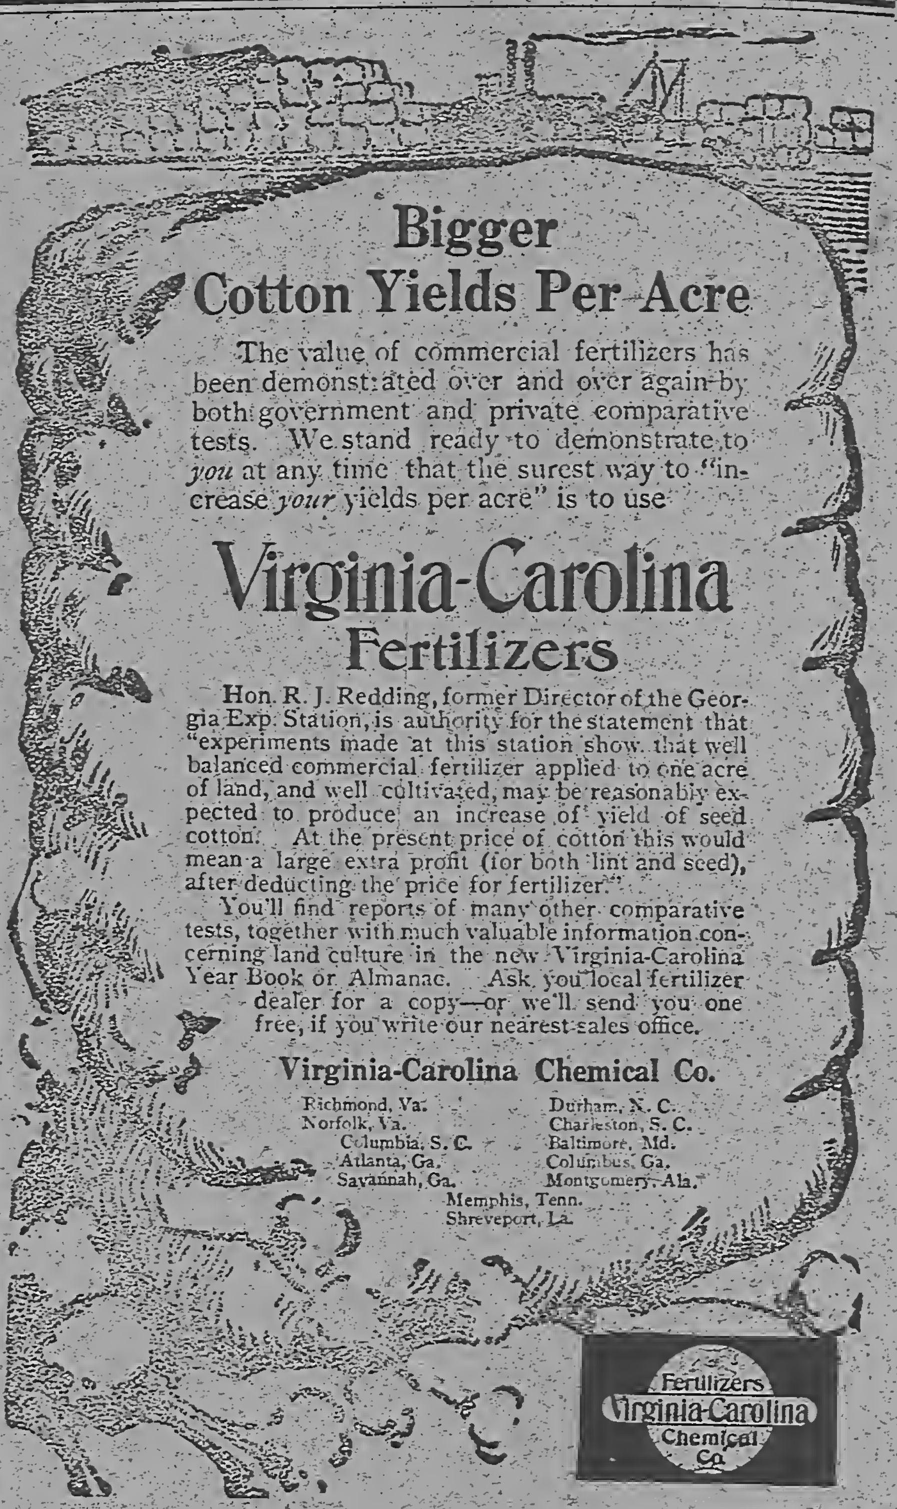
MERIDIAN DIST—FIRST ROUND.

Meridian, Central, 11 a.m.	Jan.	5,
East End, 7:30 p.m.	Jan.	5,
South Side, 11 a.m.	Jan.	12,
Seventh Ave., 7:30 p.m.	Jan.	12,
Fifth St., 11 a.m.	Jan.	19,
Shubuta, at Shubuta	Jan.	26, 27
Waynesboro, Wed., 7:30 p.m., Thursday	Jan.	29, 30
Buckatunna, at B.	Jan.	31,
Leakesville, at L.	Feb.	1, 2
Enterprise, at E.	Feb.	8, 9
Scooba, at Scooba	Feb.	15, 16
Lauderdale, at L.	Feb.	22, 23
N. Kemper, at Spg. Hill	Feb.	29, Mar. 1
De Kalk, Tuesday	Mar.	3,
Daleville, at Soule's Chapel	Mar.	7, 8
Binnsville, at B.	Mar.	10,
Pachuta, at McGowan's	Mar.	14, 15
Middleton, at Manassa	Mar.	17,
Waynesboro Ct., at Fedora	Mar.	19,
Matherville, at Winnifred	Mar.	21, 22
Eucutta	Mar.	24,
Vimville, at Pleas. Ridge	Mar.	25, 26

W. C. BLACK, P. E.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

We can help mage bright by our keenness, but we can never accomplish anything toward making people good except by our tenderness.—C. H. Parkhurst.



Bigger Cotton Yields Per Acre

The value of commercial fertilizers has been demonstrated over and over again by both government and private comparative tests. We stand ready to demonstrate to you at any time that the surest way to "increase your yields per acre" is to use

Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers

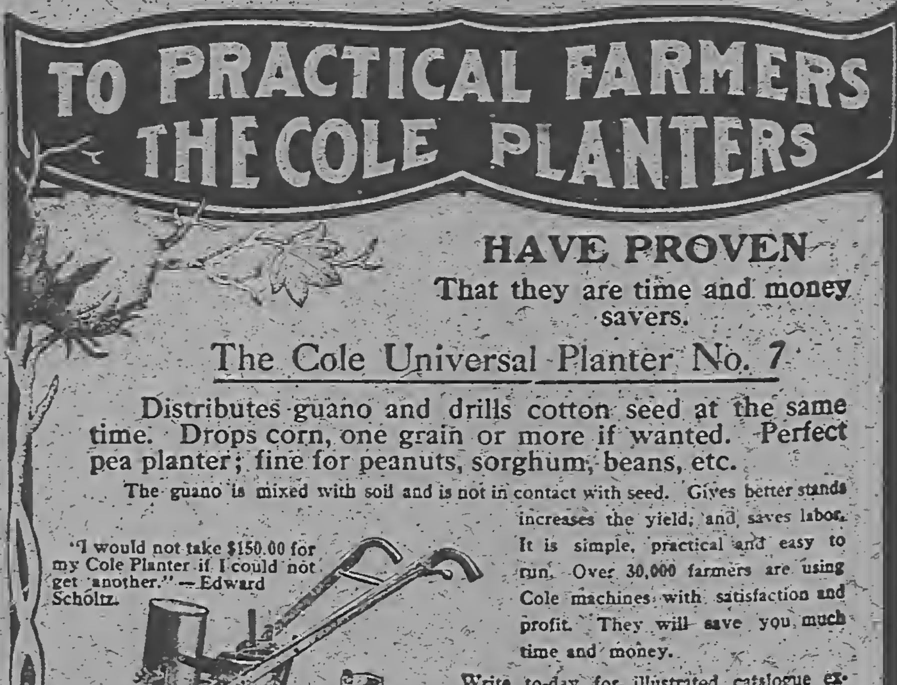
Hon. R. J. Redding, former Director of the Georgia Exp. Station, is authority for the statement that "experiments made at this station show that well balanced commercial fertilizer applied to one acre of land, and well cultivated, may be reasonably expected to produce an increase of yield of seed cotton. At the present price of cotton this would mean a large extra profit (for both lint and seed), after deducting the price for fertilizer."

You'll find reports of many other comparative tests, together with much valuable information concerning land culture in the new Virginia-Carolina Year Book or Almanac. Ask you local fertilizer dealer for a copy—or we'll send you one free, if you write our nearest sales office.

Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co.

Richmond, Va.
Norfolk, Va.
Columbia, S. C.
Atlanta, Ga.
Savannah, Ga.
Durham, N. C.
Charleston, S. C.
Baltimore, Md.
Columbus, Ga.
Montgomery, Ala.
Memphis, Tenn.
Shreveport, La.

Frank J. Matthew,
PAINTER and DECORATOR.
1003-1005 Gravier Street. Phone, Main 4087.
Box No. 141, Contractors' and Dealers' Exchange.



TO PRACTICAL FARMERS THE COLE PLANTERS

HAVE PROVEN
That they are time and money savers.

The Cole Universal Planter No. 7

Distributes guano and drills cotton seed at the same time. Drops corn, one grain or more if wanted. Perfect pea planter; fine for peanuts, sorghum, beans, etc.

The guano is mixed with soil and is not in contact with seed. Gives better stands increases the yield, and saves labor. It is simple, practical and easy to run. Over 30,000 farmers are using Cole machines with satisfaction and profit. They will save you much time and money.

"I would not take $150.00 for my Cole Planter if I could not get another."—Edward Scholtz.

Write to-day for illustrated catalogue explaining all about them.

The COLE MANUFACTURING CO.
CHARLOTTE, N. C.

The Sower Has No Second Chance
Good sense says make the most of the first.
FERRY'S SEEDS
have made and kept Ferry's Seed Business the largest in the world—merit tells.
Ferry's Seed Annual for 1908
tells the whole Seed Story—sent FREE for the asking. Don't buy seeds till you get it.
D. M. FERRY & CO., Detroit, Mich.

HEISKELL'S OINTMENT
is the one infallible remedy for all skin diseases. Relief is instant. The cure, quick and permanent. It quickly cures the worst case of
ECZEMA
Use Heiskell's Medicated Soap for bathing the affected parts. Heiskell's Blood and Liver Pills tone up the liver, purify the blood. Ointment, 50c a box; Soap, 25c a cake; Pills, 25c a box. Sold by all druggists or sent by mail. Testimonials free.
Johnston, Holloway & Co.,
531 Commerce Street,
Phila.

A BIG GARDEN FOR EVERY ONE FREE
THIS BIG ASSORTMENT OF SEED FREE
When We Say Free We Mean Free
We do not ask you to do any work or pay us one cent. We want you to try our seeds, this year, at our expense. Next year we know you will send us your order without any urging.
OUR GREAT OFFER
Send us your address today and we will send you by return mail an assortment of Garden Seeds such as Radish, Lettuce, Cabbage, Onions, Beets, Cucumber, Etc., also our big 1908 Garden Guide, Absolutely Free. Write today, a postal will do.
ST. LOUIS SEED COMPANY.
612-614 N. Fourth St., St. Louis, Mo.

BOOK OF PRAYERS
Complete Manual of several hundred terse, pointed, appropriate Prayers for use in Church, Prayer Meetings, Young People's Society, Sunday Schools, Missionary, Grace and Sentence Prayers. [illegible] of How and What to Pray in [illegible] fully covered by model, sug[illegible] and devout Prayers. Vest Pkt. size, 128 pages, Cloth 25c, Morocco 35c, postpaid; Stamps taken; Agts Wanted.
GEO. W. NOBLE, Lakeside Bldg, Chicago

Famous Invincible Hatchers
From $4.00 Up
Hot Air or Hot Water
The safe way to buy an Incubator is on a Real Free Trial. Invincible Hatchers are sold that way and results guaranteed. Brooders, Poultry Houses and supplies all at very low prices. 224-page book Free. Write to-day The United Factories Co., Dept X85, Cleveland, O.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup
Has been used for over SIXTY-FIVE YEARS by MILLIONS of MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. It SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN; CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHŒA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1098. AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.

Southern Pacific
Sunset Route
Connections made at New Orleans with all lines to the North East and Southeast
WRITE FOR INFORMATION
G. E. GUEDRY, D. P. A.
Lake Charles.
F. E. BATTURS, G. P. A.
New Orleans.

Marriages.

At the parsonage, Tyro, Miss., Jan. 1, 1908, 7:30 p. m., by Rev. E. E. Langford, Mr. GEORGE J. ROBERTSON to Miss GLENNIE JOHNSON.

Near Mount Vernon Church, Tate County, Miss., Jan. 5, 1908, 3 p.m., by Rev. E. E. Langford, Mr. L. A. BURFORD to Miss ANNIE HOUSE.

At the home of the bride's parents, near Luxahoma, Miss., Jan. 5, 1908, 3:30 p. m., by Rev. E. E. Langford, Mr. G. C. GORDON to Miss IRINE CROCKETT.

Near Tyro, Miss., Jan. 5, 1908, 5 p. m., by Rev. E. E. Langford, Mr. F. D. EDWARD to Miss VERNA O'NEILL.

At the home of the bride, Winnfield, La., Dec. 25, 1907, by Rev. R. R. Orne, Mr. FELIX H. BARBEROUSSE to Miss RUTH MILDRED PINNELL.

At the Methodist Church in Simmesport, La., by Rev. J. A. Parker, D. D., Mr. BEN S. GRAVES and Miss EMMA LEIGH.

REVIVAL AT MERIGOLD.

Dear Editor: I wish to report a Christmas meeting that the Lord gave his people at Merigold. Before the Conference came on we, the laymembers, were anxious for a meeting during the holidays.

The meeting began on Sunday, Dec. 22, and was run on the old Methodist style, a good mourner's-bench, and it was filled by those who saw their need of God. A number was saved Christmas week, and we thought to stop, but the Spirit seemed to say "go on." So it was announced to continue until the last night of the old year, and we thought to close out with watch-night service, but the Lord gave us a real landslide of conviction. Our pastor, Brother Collins, so got the burden of lost souls on him while in prayer that he could not stand up. Sinners were weeping all over the house. The meeting could not stop, so ran on until next Sunday, fourteen days in all. From new year's day on it was glorious to be there. The saints shouted and prayed, and sinners were converted at almost every service. It was a blessed time in the Lord. On Saturday night there was not a very large crowd, but grace came down on us, and almost all of the sinners in the house were converted; and one man who had fought the doctrine of perfect love, but had been reclaimed in the first days of the meeting, apologized for his criticism of the people and was gloriously sanctified. I have often read of the work of the Holy Spirit in the hearts of men in the time of Fletcher and others of the early days of our Church, but I never before saw strong men fall off their seats and groan as if the very pangs of hell had hold on them. The place was awful on account of the presence of God.

One brother had been seeking the blessing of holiness for four or five years, but always fell down on the tobacco habit, but this time the power of God came on him so strong that all taste for the stuff was taken away, and he was filled with love. He could not walk home, and had to be carried in a buggy. It would make one think of that day in Jerusalem when they were all filled with the Holy Ghost. This was a glorious victory for our Christ.

At the close of the meeting twenty-three joined the Church. Thirty-odd were reclaimed or sanctified, besides those that joined. A great many other things I could name, but will not at this time. We ask the prayers of all God's people for an out-pouring of his Spirit on our camp-meeting this summer, beginning on August 6, 1908. Let as many as can plan to come. Your brother in Christ,

CADE WILLIAMS.

THOUGHTS FOR THE THOUGHTFUL.

Kindness has converted more sinners than either zeal, eloquence or learning.—F. W. Faber.

It is worth while to do even the smallest kindnesses as we go along the way. Nothing is lost. No dewdrop perishes, but sinking into the flower makes it sweeter.—Southern Churchman.

"I have told you," said Southey, in one of his letter, "of the Spaniard who always put on his spectacles when about to eat cherries, that they might look bigger and more tempting. In like manner, I make the most of my employments, and pack away my troubles in as small a compass as I can."

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

Church Directory

New Orleans District, Rev. F. N. Parker, D. D., Presiding Elder; residence, 241 Olivier St.

First Methodist Church, St. Charles Ave., near Calliope street; Rev. J. E. Wray, pastor; residence, 5830 Prytania St.; phone 329 (uptown.)

Second Methodist Church, 2531 Burgundy, near Lafayette Ave.; Rev A. Inman Townsley, pastor; residence, 2531 Burgundy St.; office hours, 9 to 11 a. m.

Parker Memorial, corner Nashville avenue and Perrier street; Rev. C. D. Atkinson, pastor; residence 734 Nashville avenue.

Louisiana Avenue, Louisiana Avenue and Magazine Street; Rev. W. W. Holmes, pastor.

Rayne Memorial, St. Charles Avenue and General Taylor Street; Dr. John A. Rice, pastor; residence, 1101 Peniston Street.

Felicity Street Church, corner Felicity and Chestnut Streets; Rev. Albert S. Lutz, pastor; residence, 2421 Chestnut street; phone, Uptown 1882.

Carrollton Avenue, corner Carrollton avenue and Elm street; Rev. Henry T. Carley, pastor.

Algiers, Lavergne Street, corner Delaronde; Rev. J. F. Foster, pastor.

McDonoghville and Gretna, Rev. H. Whitehead, pastor; residence 5208 Magazine Street; phone, Uptown 2459.

Epworth Church, Corner Banks and Scott streets; Rev. L. A. Simms, pastor; residence, 4031 Palmyra street; phone, Main 4284.

Rev. L. E. Wicht, junior preacher Lower Coast Mission; address, 509 Board of Trade Bldg., New Orleans.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

DR. J. W. BLOSSER
Who sends by Mail a Free Trial Package of His Catarrh Remedy to Applicants.

It will cost you only a postal card (or two-cent stamp) to get a liberal free trial package of this wonderful remedy. No offer could be more liberal than this, but he has such confidence in the remedy that he is willing to submit it to an actual test.

If you have catarrh of the nose, throat or lungs, if you are constantly spitting, blowing the nose, have stopped-up feeling, headache, head noises, deafness, asthma, bronchitis or weak lungs, write at once for a trial treatment, then you will soon know its effect for yourself. A package containing enough to last one whole month is sent by mail for $1.00. A postal card with your name and address, sent to Dr. J. W. Blosser, 204 Walton St., Atlanta, Ga., will bring you the free treatment and an interesting booklet about catarrh.

BELLS.
Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

MAGIC WHITE SOAP WILL MAKE YOUR WOOLENS SOFT & SWEET
MAGIC WHITE SOAP HAS NO EQUAL FOR WASHING WITH HARD WATER

SAY MA, IF I LIVE WILL I BE AS BIG A GOOSE AS YOU?
YES, MY CHILD, IF YOU DON'T USE
MAGIC WHITE SOAP
Rub Magic on soiled parts, leave them in water one hour. No boiling; no washboard; no backache, if you use MAGIC WHITE SOAP; will iron easy as magic; has no rosin like in yellow soap.
Get your grocer to order or send us $4.00 for one box of 100 5c. cakes. We pay freight. Save the wrappers.
MAGIC, KELLER SOAP WORKS, LTD
NEW ORLEANS.

FOR RENT.

Two-story house, 545 Lowerline St., one-half square from St. Charles Ave., New Orleans, La. Eight rooms; reception hall; all modern conveniences; large yard, etc. Apply to Rev. J. W. Tinnin, Pelican and Lavergne, Algiers, La.

BLOOD POISONING POSITIVELY CURED
Hereditary, primary, secondary and tertiary. Scrofula, Eczema, Blood and Skin Disease. If you have exhausted old time methods, and want to get well, [illegible] in fullest confidence for proof [illegible]. Take my treatment and get [illegible]
A. BROWER, M. D.
San Antonio, Tex.

In the quest of a beautiful and happy life there is one important lesson to learn. It is mentioned by Paul when he says: "I have learned in whatsoever state I am, therein to be content." Contentment is a very lovely grace. It differs from satisfaction, for with our great souls we can never be satisfied, but must always aspire.—Southern Churchman.

Se how much it is our concern to carry our religion about with us wherever we go; for at every turn rising up, going out, coming in; and we have occsaiou for it, lying down, those are Christians indeed who confine not their religion to the new moons and the Sabbaths, but bring the influences of it into all the common actions and occurrences of human life.—Matthew Henry.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of Dcember, A. D., 1886.

(Seal.) A. W. GLEASON,
Notary Public

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucuous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO.,
Toldo, O.

Sold by all druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo,
Lucas County.

The chief duty of a Christian lies in the quiet, unseen life of his own home, and if he does not learn there to practice that noble virtue of unselfishness—that highest type of charity which consists in daily and hourly considerateness for the feelings of others, he will have lost one of the strongest resources and one of the most healing memories for all his future life.—F. W. Farrar.

THE REMEDY FOR SKIN DISEASES.

Tetterine, the fragrant, antiseptic and healing ointment, is the finest prescription ever discovered for Eczema, Tetter, Skin and Scalp diseases, and Itching Piles. It relieves the worst itching in a few seconds and destroys the germs, thus curing the disease much quicker and surer than any other remedy. Costs only 50 cents at druggists, or by mail. The Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga.

There has been a fierce fight between French soldiers and Moorish Tribes. The battle lasted ten hours and resulted in a complete victory for the French.

The first Swedish Parliament under King Gustave, was convened in Stockholm on the 16th.

Professional Card

DR. W. BAILEY WILLIAMS,
Rhea Springs, Tennessee.

Practice limited to Chronic diseases—Dropsy, Asthma, Catarrh, Cancer and disease of women. Removal of cancer without the knife a specialty. Fees in cancer work range from $25.00 to $500.00. Twenty years experience. Reference given. Personal attention to all correspondence. Free service to the regular Ministry.

INK AND RUST REMOVER.

Removes all spots and stains from white goods. No injury to fabric. Price, 25c. Send to-day. WESTWOOD SUPPLY CO., MILFORD, CONN.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS. UNLIKE OTHER BELLS SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.
Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

WHY IS IT?

That each month in all the best homes in this country, on the library table, and in every club reading room, you find the

METROPOLITAN MAGAZINE

It is because it keeps you in touch with those great public and human movements on which the American family depends.

It is because its stories are the best published anywhere.

It is because its illustrations in color, and black and white, set the standard.

It is because its articles are the most vital and interesting.

It is because there is something in each copy for every member of every American family.

A YEAR'S FEAST

1800 Beautiful Illustrations. 1560 Pages of Reading Matter.
85 Complete Stories. 75 Good Poems.
50 Timely and Important Articles.
1000 Paragraphs presenting the big news of the "World at Large."
120 Humorous Contributions.
Wonderful Color Work, presented in frontispieces, inserts and covers.

All Yours for One Year's Subscription to
THE METROPOLITAN MAGAZINE
Price $1.50 per Year or 15 Cents a Copy

The Publishers of

The New Orleans Christian Advocate

have made a special arrangement with

THE METROPOLITAN MAGAZINE

by which they are enabled to offer the following extraordinary bargain:

The Cost of One Year's Subscription to

The Metropolitan

is $1.50

The Cost of One Year's Subscription to

The Advocate

is $2.00

We Offer Both for $3.00

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Millsaps College Library

REV. JOHN W. BOSWELL, Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.

NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 30, 1908.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher,
Office, 512 Camp St., New Orleans.

VOL. 55—No. 5.

"PROVE ALL THINGS; HOLD FAST THAT WHICH IS GOOD."

WHOLE No. 5384.

Glances at the World.

A local option election was held a couple of months ago in the Seventh Ward of Tangipahoa Parish, and resulted in a large majority against the sale of liquor, but for some reason the election was contested by the liquor men, and the Police Jury failed to "officially promulgate" the result. The question will soon go to the Supreme Court of the State. In the meantime, three saloon-keepers at Ponchatoula secured licenses, and are running their houses. The Grand Jury of the Parish, in session last week, ignored the licenses of the saloonists, and returned forty-four indictments against them. Twenty of the indictments are for retailing, and twenty-four for selling to minors. Should the Supreme Court declare the recent election void, the indictments for retailing will be null, but will not affect the charge of selling liquor to the persons under age. Evidently, the saloon men at Ponchatoula have not joined the New Orleans dealers in promising to "be good." They are simply determined to sell liquor to anybody, law or no law.

* * *

Something over two years ago, at the close of a trial that revealed no little scandal, the Inspector of Police was put out of office and another put in his place. The newly-appointed officer made as good a record as the most optimistic citizen could expect under the circumstances. Indeed, he exceeded the expectations of many. Alas, this officer fell from grace, and has come to grief. He took the law into his own hands and endeavored to avenge insults cast upon him by another citizen who should have been more judicious than he was. This officer, Inspector Whitaker, smarting under the insults offered by the editor of the Morning World, took with him five of his under officers, all armed, and attacked the editor in his own room, slapping the editor in the face and shooting at him with intent to kill. He shot twice. Fortunately, both shots went wild. This was a bad example for a high officer to set before the thousands of bad men in this city. It is true, as the Times-Democrat says, that Mr. Whitaker had great provocation, but he should have restrained his temper, and trusted to the law to set himself right before the people. He has lost his position, and must face a jury, and possibly suffer punishment, all because of a hasty temper.

Certain judges of peculiar temperament and significant names get somewhat out of patience when the matter of prohibition is under consideration in their courts. Justice Joseph Marschauser, of Newburg, N. Y., seems to be one of them. Not long since Newburg "voted no license, and a saloon-keeper applied in court for another election. While the proceedings were pending, the no-license people bombarded Judge Marschauser with resolutions and letters urging him to deny the application. The Judge refused to hear the case, and sent it before another judge. He told the anti-license people who were in court that their action in addressing him was highly improper, and was contempt of court. He warned them that if they ever repeated the offense he would deal severely with them." As we see it, the Judge showed as much contempt for the people as they showed for the Court. If he had discretionary power, as would appear from the fact that one saloon-keeper applied for another election, the people had a perfect right, by petition and resolution, to protest. The right of petition is a guaranteed right, and if these good people were respectful in their approach to the Judge, they were not in contempt of Court, even though the law was mandatory.

* * *

The moral wave has not abated. The force is now being exerted in Louisiana. The next strongest hold of the liquor traffic—New Orleans being the strongest—has been won by the prohibitionists, and the fact has greatly encouraged the moral forces of other towns. Caddo Parish, in which the city of Shreveport is located, on Tuesday, the 14th of January, in a local option election, went dry by a majority of 70 votes, a good majority, considering the fact that Shreveport gave a majority of 300 for the saloon. A majority of 70 was better than many dared to hope, in view of the hold liquor has heretofore had on the people. The triumph of the Anti-Saloon forces in Caddo embolden other parishes which have so long been dominated by rum. The liquor men talk as if they would contest the election, but the Police Jury have announced the result of the election, and unless the liquor men go to court and win the case, prohibition will go into effect at the appointed time. The Daily Journal (two copies of which some friend has kindly sent us) counsels against such a move, and it is possible the advice will be heeded. This election shows one thing: that Louisiana, like other Southern States, is ripening for prohibition. If the wave does not subside, it will sweep the State into the prohibition column as soon as an opportunity is given to take the vote.

* * *

Under title of cost of speed the Philadelphia Ledger says: Now that the Cunard liner Lusitania has completed her first round trip across the Atlantic, incidentally capturing the records for the fastest passages both eastward and westward between Queenstown and New York, curiosity as to the cost at which these voyages were made is increasing. Some more or less accurate information has been given on this point, but there is an apparent tendency to exaggerate the amount of fuel consumed. It is a fact that speed can only be had at the cost of a vast increase of coal consumption, but the further fact is often overlooked that tremendous gains in efficiency have been made in connection with the rate of coal consumption over the early results in the trans-Atlantic trade. One of the fast steamships of twenty years ago burns more coal per day than a modern ship of more than three times its tonnage; while, to give specific instances, the 8,000-ton Fuerst Bismark (1890), of the Hamburg-American Line, is said to burn twice as much coal as the 17,000-ton President Lincoln, built this year for the same company, and the Baltic, with a gross tonnage of 24,000, burns less fuel than La Bretagne (1886), of 7,000 tons. At the very beginning of ocean steam navigation it took 550 tons of coal to drive 2,000 tons across the Atlantic at a speed of only eight and one-half knots. Had this rate of consumption been continued, the bills of the 22-knot liners of 20,000 tons would be for 9,000 tons of coal instead of 3,000. To put the case still differently, the marine engineers of 1840 only got two horse-power per ton out of their slow machinery, but the engines of to-day produce from six to seven horsepower per ton weight of propelling apparatus. Thus, the cost of speed is very great, but it is not so great as it might have been had not the skill and inventive genius of designers and constructors been brought constantly to bear on this vital part of the problem."

"He that is slow to anger is of great understanding."

Christian Advocate.

Published for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

DIRECTIONS.

Correspondents will please direct all communications intended for the Editor to 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La. Communications intended for the Business Department should be addressed to the Manager of the New Orleans Christian Advocate. Write with ink, and only on one side of the paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after two weeks, notify us, and we will make it right. Papers will be continued unless subscribers order otherwise.

The Foreign Advertising Department of the N. O. Christian Advocate is in the hands of

Religious Press Advertising Syndicate

JACOBS & CO., CLINTON, S. C.,

J. F. JACOBS, Mgr., Home Office, Clinton, S. C.
Thornwell Jacobs, 85 Arcade, Nashville, Tenn.
J. D. Jacobs, 343 Fifth Street, Louisville, Ky.
C. C. Little, 614 Mutual Bldg., Richmond, Va.
L. J. Carter, 122 LaSalle Street, Chicago, Ill.
J. B. Gentry, Columbia, S. C.
E. J. Barrett, Dallas, Texas.
Thos. L. Bryan, 232 Courtland St., Atlanta, Ga.
Miss M. R. Middleton, 150 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.

PROHIBITION IN MISSISSIPPI.

BY REV. H. WALTER FEATHERSTUN.

It is generally conceded, even by liquor advocates, that Mississippi is to have statutory prohibition at once, and a little later constitutional prohibition. Possisbly the statute will have been passed by the time this article gets into print. An immense audience of enthusiastic prohibitionists gathered in the capital at Jackson on the 9th presided over by Governor-elect Noel. Both he and Governor Vardaman, whose term ends next week, are outspoken prohibitionists, committed to do all in their power to further the movement. Governor Noel, whose term begins next week, declares that when the law is passed he will do everything in his power to enforce it fully. The Clarion-Ledger declared in its issue of Jan. 10 that fully ninety per cent of the members of both houses of the Legislature favor the movement. It is certain that a large majority of them are openly committed to it. A prominent State official prophesies that it will pass by a viva voce vote. The enthusiasm manifested at the mass meeting, in the proceedings of which the legislators partook, certainly suggests some such fortune for the bill.

The bill has been carefully prepared by the Prohibition Central Committee, on which are some of the best lawyers of the State, and has already been presented in the House by Mr. Cavett, of Noxubee. It is very strong. If passed as drawn, there will not be a saloon in Mississippi one month from now. Where liquor licenses are annulled by it, adequate reparation is to be made to those who hold them, and the saloons banished at once.

Dear Brother Methodist, and Sister Methodist too, if you live in Mississippi, hear me and heed! When you have read this article, if the bill has not already become a law, write at once to the representative from your county and the senator from your district, and urge them to give this bill their heartiest support. Let it be that Mississippi's prohibition law has behind it the strongest legislative vote that ever passed an anti-liquor law.

Then, when we have the law, let every man and woman who loves Christ and humanity consider himself a special commissioned officer of God and the State whose business is to see that it is enforced. There will be weak ones who will not wish it enforced and cowardly ones, always afraid, who will not believe that it can be enforced. Strong in faith and brave to maintain the right we should vigilantly fight this foe now that his overthrow may be complete and final. False and foolish arguments will still be made in defense of the old villainy. These must be met. The question will still be asked:

Does prohibition prohibit? What is meant? Does a law prohibiting the sale of liquor absolutely prevent liquor selling? Does the law against murder prevent murder altogether? Are not men killed in Mississippi almost every day? Does the law aaginst stealing keep everybody from stealing? Have not very many thieves plied their vocation in every city this year? Some say the law against liquor selling causes men to commit perjury. So, in the same way, does the law against murder. Some say that because the law does not absolutely prevent liquor selling and does lead some to perjure themselves it ought to be repealed. If so, for the same reason, the law against murder and that against stealing ought to be repealed. Some say that the very law against liquor selling makes men wish to drink. Does the law against murder make men wish to kill? and the law against thievery create a thirst for stealing? All such reasoning is but the silly mouthing of ignorance, as unreasonable and illogical as the ghost stories that frighten the ignorant and superstitious.

Now and then we read a sneering insinuation to the effect that there is an alliance between the Prohibitionists and the blind tigers. The insinuation is as slanderous as the assertion would be false, and there is not the slightest foundation in fact for either. The only positive opposition that the blind tiger meets comes from Prohibitionists—and this the blind tiger men know full well. Again, the absence of the saloon neither encourages nor makes place for the blind tigers; and the presence of the saloon does not do away with the blind tigers. There are blind tigers in Natchez and Vicksburg as well as in Jackson and Hattiesburg. Not very much is said about them in Natchez and Vicksburg, because there are very few prohibitionists there; and the few who are there feel that it would be inconsistent to make vigorous war on the lesser evil while the greater stood defiantly entrenched behind a license. Every intelligent student of the liquor problem knows that any saloon is a far greater evil than any blind tiger.

Judge Harris Dickson of the city court of Vicksburg has lately declared—and he is in position to know—that there are at least nine times more blind tigers in saloon towns than in those without saloons. Mr. Dickson made this statement in a recent article in the Saturday Evening Post. Others have made the same discovery. The data from which this fact is drawn are official records. The statement is perfectly accurate. The question is not saloon or blind-tiger! It is: saloon and more blind tigor. Let us quickly be done with both! With faith in God, and vigilant courage we can.

HUMANITY, DEFORMED AND REFORMED.

A few days ago two good friends of mine grieved because the new arrival in their home came into the world badly deformed. Where they had hoped and prayed for physical perfection, with such longings as only parents can know, there was imperfection; and, as it seemed to them, they had brought into the world a parody of the image in which man was first begotten. This grieved me; for I knew that it would grieve them. I knew full well that no chastening for the present seemeth joyous, but grievous. Yet, why should it be so? The afflicted child is always dearer than any other to the heart of the parent. God had other children besides the inhabitants of our planet—("Other sheep have I which are not of this fold")—but it took the curse of deformity of sin to bring the supreme sacrifice of divine love on the cross.

Moreover, physical perfection is not requisite to the highest and best development of the soul. The whole system of Christian ethics exalts the care of the body, yet paradoxically discounts it. Paul's bodily presence was weak and contemptible, and he suffered untold agony with that mysterious thorn in the flesh, from which he sought in vain to be delivered. George Whitefield, the flaming evangelist of the Wesleyan reformation, was a man of feeble health. Mary Lamb, the gifted sister of Charles Lamb, was hopelessly afflicted. Bishop Simpson was an invalid till he took to the hygiene of the itinerancy. Frances Ridley Havergal, the sweetest songstress of English devotional poetry, was bedridden; and it took just that condition to wring from her the consolations that have helped us all as when she sang,

> "I had rather walk with God in the dark
> Than to walk alone in the light."

Sargeant S. Prentiss, the most gifted orator ever sheltered beneath the skies of Mississippi, had a club foot. Helen Keller is deaf, dumb and blind.

Get thoroughly discouraged; get down-cast and disheartened; get into the depths, so that you can say with David that all the billows of the great sea of God have passed over you. Imagine yourself so that you could say with the psalmist, "Lover and friend hast thou put far from me, and mine acquaintance into darkness." Then look up, and see the star of hope still shining. Believe that while God does not punish for sin in this life, he sends affliction to draw us closer to himself.

Then turn from the deformities of our physical life, its disease and imperfections, to the glories of the resurrection, when that which has been sown in weakness shall be raised in power; when that which has been sown in corruption shall be raised in incorruption; when that which has been sown a natural body shall be raised a spiritual body; when the divine Christ, who manifested his power to a few in Judea, shall take the whole human race and rejuvenate it; giving us not only a new heaven, but a new earth; shall take the old sightless soldier of the cross and surprise him with a new vision to behold the glories of the celestial city; shall take the armless son of misfortune and put a harp into his heaven-begotten hands; shall smooth away the wrinkles that the sharp agonies and heart-pangs of earth have traced across the brow; shall take the dwarf of adverse circumstances and give him the full measure of the stature of a man in Christ Jesus; shall take the cripple and wind his heaven-born feet to run upon swift and specially far-reaching missions for the Prince Emanuel.

Get more away from earth and its temporalities. Learn to work the divine rule of three. Cancel your earthly years as set over against a billion billion of years or of seasons. Be faithful in little as in much, knowing that the eye of the Master is upon you.

Faultless? Who is faultless? Are you? Only through divine grace, which covers your frailties as with a mantle, or blots them out. But Jude, whose short epistle is worth more than its weight in gold, tells us that he is able to keep you from falling, and to present your faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy.

WM. RICE SIMS.

CENTENARY COLLEGE.

To the Friends of Christian Education in Louisiana:

It is the desire of those in charge of Centenary College always to keep our friends informed as to what we are planning and what are the results of our work.

It may be well to recapitulate: Under the leadership of Dr. W. E. Boggs, as Commissioner of Education, there has been erected on grounds presented to our Church an attractive and commodious building of three stories and a basement. In round numbers this building has cost $33,000. Of this amount the people of Shreveport have supplied approximately $30,000.

Before our next session opens, September 16, 1908, this building is to be eqnuipped with light and water fixtures. An artesian well should be dug and our own waterworks provided. Our library must be housed, the recitation rooms are to be equipped and the dormitory will be furnished. The kitchen and dining-rooms are to be provided for. To supply all these immediate needs we come to ask from our friends the sum of $25,000. We, by no means, intend to say that this sum, small compared with what one city has done, will satisfy our rightful expectation as to what we may look to our Church to do. Shreveport has given property not over-valued at $100,000. Surely our Church in Louisiana cannot afford to do less than duplicate this amount. Our motto shall be not "we can if we will," but "we can and we will."

It is not the intention of our Board of Trustees now or at any time to go before the people of Louisiana asking for the payment of debts. It is our deliberate and officially expressed purpose to avoid the incurring of indebtedness. We come, then, asking the friends of Christian education to provide for growth and expansion.

May we not ask our preachers and laymen to consider the form of investment we are offering? Money may be lost in the channels of trade, but money invested in character is transmuted into the currency of immortality. We are not seeking charity. We are offering our people a splendid investment.

I begin at once a systematic canvass of our Churches. May I not look for a patient hearing and a generous response from all of our people. Faithfully and fraternally yours,

WILLIAM LANDER WEBB.

CHURCH EXTENSION.

The Annual Meeting of the Board of Church Extension will be held in St. Joseph, Mo., May 7-10. Letters of inquiry as to the method of procedure to secure assistance from this Board are reaching the office. It is well for all interested to know that applications to this Board must be made upon a printed form furnished by the Corresponding Secretary. The Annual Conference Boards have blanks for use by all who apply to them for help, but they differ from the forms used by applicants to the General Board. Do not get them confused.

The application blank to be used may be had for the asking and it explains itself. After being properly filled out it must go to the Secretary of the Conference Board of Church Extension in order that the following rule may be complied with, viz:

"Every application for consideration at the Annual Meeting of the General Board must first receive the approval of the Board of Church Extension of the Conference from which it comes and such approval must be given at a regular meeting of said Board, or its Executive Committee, to be held in the month of March. Said Board or Committee shall consider all the applications from their respective Conferences and forward such as they approve so as to reach the Board's office at Louisville, Ky., by April 1 of each year. Each application so approved must have the action of the Conference Board written thereon, certified by the President and Secretary, and all applications from a given Conference must be, by the Conference Board, graded and marked in the order of their relative importance. The Secretary is hereby directed not to put on the calendar any application not in conformity to this rule."

W. F. MCMURRY.

FROM THE COLPORTER'S DESK.

The Lord crowned the year 1907 with his goodness to us and by his grace we begin the new year, A. D. 1908, with a propitious outlook for success and prosperity in the work assigned us. We praise him for mercies past and trust him for future good.

I record with feelings of great gratification that the book business at the Conferences at Columbus and Jackson and during December was the best we have ever had in all the years past. Thanks to all who helped to this achievement. It only remains for the small "equivalents" to be turned in in due time, i. e., two months at furtherest, and we'll be happy together.

The preachers of the two Conferences who failed to furnish me their "Photograph and Sketch," as requested for Kidner's Pictoral-Biographical Sketch-Book," will please forward [illegible] as early as practicable to Rev. [illegible] D. Kidner, Church Hill, Md. In the [illegible] sent to each preacher last October [illegible] that the book "is designed to provide [illegible] sketch of the life of the brethren [illegible] our beloved Methodism." And request was made of each as follows: "Let us have the facts concerning date of birth, nativity, education, literary life, the charges which you have served and any suggestions which you deem expedient to make in view of the publication, also a photograph, medium size. We kindly insist upon a typewritten sketch, but should this not be convenient, let us have it in script; but please enclose four cents postage and the sketch will be typewritten by us and and mailed to you for inspection and correction."

The furnishing the sketch does not in anywise obligate any one to buy the book, although it will be sold at actual cost of making.

Let us each and all do our part as thus kind*ly* asked by Brother Kidner, and aid him in the noble work he is endeavoring to do for the preservation of our Church history and the strengthening of our brotherly ties. For further information that may be derived, address Brother Kidner as above.

G. W. BACHMAN.

Winona, Miss.

BE OF GOOD CHEER.

In the issue of the ADVOCATE of January 9 there appears an article from a brother in which he criticises some views I gave of "pessimism," in an article published several weeks ago.

In the very first sentence the good brother shows he wholly misunderstood the article he reviewed. I made no plea for the righteousness of pessimism without qualification, but used the turn as it seemed to be construed by brethren who had wielded it as a shillalah in their warfare on those who found any thing wrong in the Church. I wrote in the article reviewed that "if finding things wrong in the Church, and calling attention to those wrongs (I write from memory not having my article before me) is pessimism, then no one who was not a pessimist was considered worthy of mention in ecclesiastical history. Then in vindication of the position assumed cited the examples of Christ, Paul, Luther and Wesley.

I am not a pessimist, but believe fully in the ultimate triumph of the gospel.

But this ultimate triumph will not be brought about by those who simply "speak unto us smooth things." Optimism is to be commended, but not such as was manifested by the prophets to whom Ahab had looked for light, when they said, "Go up to Ramoth-Gilead and prosper, for the Lord shall deliver it into the King's hand." 1 Kings xxii, 12.

J. M. HUGGIN.

MILLSAPS COLLEGE.

The second term of the current session will begin Monday, February 3. This will be a favorable time for new students to enter. Let all persons interested send for catalogue giving full information.

W. B. MURRAH, President.

LETTER FROM REV. H. H. GRIFFIN.

Dear Dr. Boswell: [illegible] my friends and good people [illegible] Mississippi Conference would like [illegible] through your paper. I served R[illegible] Springs Charge for two years, [illegible] pleasantly spent. The good people of [illegible] Springs were so kind and thoughtful [illegible] preacher. We shall never [illegible] kindness shown us while there. [illegible] find a better people. They are [illegible] intelligent, and noted for their [illegible]. Brother Whidden has an excellent people.

I was transferred from Mississippi Conference by Bishop Hendrix and stationed at Atkins, Ark. We reached here on December 4th, were met at train by Brother J. M. Barker, who conducted us to a lovely cottage in town, and informed us that it was our home. The good ladies of Atkins were there and had made everything comfortable and pleasant for us. They had also filled the pantry full of good things, which were much appreciated by us.

Atkins is a nice town of about two thousand inhabitants on the Iron Mountain Railroad. On Dec. 29, 1907, Rev. J. T. Newsom, the noted Kentucky evangelist came to us and began a revival meeting in my Church. He preached with power for about fifteen days, which resulted in 225 conversions and reclamations; 132 joined the Church, and more will follow. Our Church and town have been blessed by the meeting.

We had a long move, and left friends and loved ones behind; but have been made to feel at home on account of kindness shown us by our good people of Atkins, and have fallen in love with Arkansas on account of the encouragement given me by the preachers of this Conference, and especially my presiding elder, Rev. John H. Glass, who has been untiring in his efforts to make everything pleasant for us. It is a source of inspiration to any one to have him with them. May God bless him. I am delighted with my work at Atkins, which has only been a station two years. Let all glory be to God. Yours in Christ, H. H. GRIFFIN.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE INSTITUTES.

At the recent session of the Louisiana Conference a committee was appointed to arrange for a series of institutes to be held in each presiding elder's district, or accessible to each, and with programmes covering the various special interests of the Church. The committee was appointed to represent the Boards of Missions, Epworth League, Education, Sunday school and the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Societies, and consists of W. Winans-Drake, W. S. Holmes, N. E. Joyner, P. M. Brown, Mrs. E. R. Kennedy and Mrs. S. A. Montgomery.

The plan is to consolidate the Missionary and Sunday School Institutes required to be held in each presiding elder's district together with similar work in the interest of Epworth Leagues and Education, and secure the services of experts in the different departments to do real teaching on these subjects. It is proposed to secure representatives of the General Mission and Epworth League Boards and of Vanderbilt University and make the instruction and inspiration of these gatherings worth coming after.

In order to make the plan a success it is necessary for the presiding elders to co-operate by assisting to secure proper places in their districts for the holding of these institutes, and by consolidating the institute work of their districts upon these gatherings. It is necessary for the pastors to co-operate by their own presence and by inducing the attendance so far as possible of their Sunday school and League workers and others interested in these movements of the Church.

In order to begin early the preparation for this work, I wish to hear at once from presiding elders in reference to their co-operation and any suggestions they may have to offer as to the place, time, etc. I should like also to have expressions of interest and promises of co-operation as well as suggestions from pastors and others.

Any place desiring to have the blessing and uplift of such a gathering will please notify me as soon as possible. Fraternally,

W. W. DRAKE, Chairman.

DIVISION OF EDUCATIONAL COLLECTION.

During the recent session of the Louisiana Conference the Auditing Board turned over to the treasurer of the Board of Education an amount for Education Extension, the name of the combined assessment of the General Board, and a separate amount for education. Assuming that the division had been made by pastors, the treasurer paid to Dr. Hammond the amount designated for the General Board.

An investigation since Conference shows that a number of the preachers reported an undivided lump sum for education, of which the General Board was entitled to a share. The Board of Education will have to arrange with the General Board for further settlement, but to secure uniformity and equity at the next Conference I suggest that the one item of education, including both claims, be reported without division, allowing the Board of Education to make the prorata separation.

W. W. DRAKE, Treasurer.

SUPERINTENDENTS' INSTITUTE.

A special commissioner from the Sunday School Board of the Mississippi Conference met with the Sunday School Board of the North Mississippi Conference, in their annual session, at Columbus, Miss., and arranged for a joint "Supedintendents' Institute" for both Conferences.

W. H. Carter, of Columbus, and N. A. Mott, of Yazoo City, were to work out the details as to dates, place and programme. May 12, 13 and 14 have been set as the time, and Durant, Miss., will entertain the meeting. Pastors, please call your superintendents' attention to this meeting, and urge them to arrange to attend.

N. A. MOTT,
Yazoo City, Miss.

NOTICE, LOUISIANA PREACHERS!

The Minutes have gone to each preacher by express wherever there was an express office, otherwise by mail; and should have reached you by the end of last week. If you have not received your supply, please notify me at once and I will have the package traced.

Rev. J. R. Moore's name, through some unaccountable means, has been omitted from the Alphabetical Roll in the Appendix to the Minutes and his post office address also. His address is Lake Providence.

The package of minutes sent to Rev. S. W. B. Colvin has been returned marked "no such office." We tried the express offices with the same result. Let Brother Colvin instruct Searcy & Pfaff Co., Ltd., 726-728 Perdido St., New Orleans, how to send his package.

ROBT. W. VAUGHAN, Editor.

Franklin, La.

LOUISIANA STATISTICS.

The Louisiana Conference Minutes are out and will be in your hands in a few days. While you honored me with election to the office of statistical secretary, I was called away from the Conference before the work was done, and all the checking and proofreading fell upon the assistants, and finally to your very capable editor of the minutes, Brother R. W. Vaughan. All the honor of the results must belong to the editor, as the statistical secretary never saw the statistics after the work was partially completed. Another year, Brother Vaughan should be the statistical secretary. H. WHITEHEAD.

NOTICE.

Through an oversight no report from the treasurer of the Louisiana Conference Bible Society Board appears in the minutes of our last Conference. The following amount, $197.40 (and vouchers for $62, total $259.40) was handed the treasurer and was transmitted to the Bible Society, New York.

J. E. WRAY,
Treasurer La. Conf. Bible Society Board.

MINUTES OF THE NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

By a mistake of the printer, three pages of the Minutes of the North Mississippi Conference were misplaced, appearing out of their proper order. Page 52 should be 56, 54 should be 52, and 56 should be 54. Part of the Minutes were sent out before the error was discovered. It will be corrected and a few corrected copies sent to each member of the Conference. Fraternally,

J. R. COUNTISS, Sec'y.

EARLY COLLECTIONS FOR MISSIONS.

Dear Dr. Boswell: Please allow me space in the ADVOCATE to thank a goodly number of the preachers for their prompt and encouraging answers to the cards sent out asking for the assessment for Foreign and Domestic Missions to be paid by the 1st of April. The secretaries of the Parent Board have explained the necessity for early collections, and I am sure our pastors will see the importance of doing our part in relieving the Board by meeting this demand by the time the Board meets the 25th of March. We cannot afford now to take a backward step. The command of the Master is to "Go," and the responsibility for saving the whole world is

YOU MAY FIND OTHER COFFEES AS GOOD AS

LUZIANNE

BUT THEY WILL COST YOU TWICE AS MUCH. OTHER COFFEES MAY BE AS LOW IN PRICE, BUT YOU'LL FIND THEM ONLY HALF AS STRONG AND ONE-FOURTH AS GOOD.

LUZZIANNE COFFEE is of perfect purity, flavor, quality, and freshness. It's sold everywhere.

The REILY-TAYLOR COMPANY,
New Orleans, La.

GULFPORT, MISS.

Interesting propositions submitted to parties wanting to buy lots. Write for map to
GEO. L. CARLEY, Gulfport, Miss.

upon us, and every known land is crying: Come over and help us. Our individual and Church life depend upon our obedience to this command of our Lord.

Let us labor and pray for the largest measure of success, and may this be the greatest year in the history of North Mississippi Methodism. "All things are possible to him that believeth."

We have visited Belzoni, Inverness, Moorhead, Winona, Kilmichael, Durant, Sallis, Kosciusko, McCool, Ackerman, Aberdeen and West Ponit, and there is a desire for larger and better things among the preachers and people. I need the prayers of my brethren. Fraternally,

W. S. LAGRONE.

Winona, Miss.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS AND AGENTS.

We take you into our confidence and send you a statement every week. On the margin of your paper you will find a copy of the sole record we keep of your subscription. The little pink or yellow label shows both the preacher and layman the date on which his subscription expires. If your address label reads "Dec. 08," it means that you are paid to December, 1908. If the label on your paper is not correct, write to us about it, and tell when you made the last payment. But when you do so, please observe several things for our mutual benefit: It is sometimes three weeks after a subscription is paid before the changes are put into type and appear on the paper. When you write about some error, as the office force is very limited, and as the daily routine must first be attended to, it may be a week or ten days before the error is hunted up, and your record rectified. Do not let an error go a year before asking for its correction. If you let us tell you once a week for a year that your subscription has not been paid up, we do not think you should ask us to make any allowance when the records are practically out of reach. And the last request that we make is that you keep sweet, when you write to correct errors. There is not a man in this office that would willingly defraud you out of a cent, and no one realizes the difficulty of keeping correct a mail list until he has tried it.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

In regard to the new rates, the regular subscription rate will remain at $2, and the preachers' rate at $1. The commission allowed on the (regular) $2 rate is 25 cents for renewals and 50 cents for new subscriptions.

The preacher-in-charge will have authority to let any poor person have the paper at $1 whom they deem unable to pay the $2 rate. All it requires will be the pastor's recommendation.

The new club rate for 1908 is $1.50 per annum in clubs of five. The club may be indefinitely extended. On this rate there is a commission of 25 cents for each subscriber, whether old or new.

We have decided to renew our offer of a rate of $1.25 in clubs of twenty, with a commission of 25 cents to the person securing the club. But the club must really consist of twenty persons, and be practically a cash transaction. Last year we had several clubs started that claimed the twenty rate, and never secured more than two or three names. In other words, we are willing to grant the club rates only to clubs.

The pastors are our recognized agents, but we will be very glad to have [illegible] point agents for the Advocate [illegible]. We are sure that [illegible] any member of his congregation [illegible] club, for each Advocate [illegible] friend to speak a good word [illegible]. Who will be the first to send us a [illegible] twenty?

It costs us 10 cents to collect a check, so please send us postoffice money orders.

NEW ORLEANS PREACHERS' MEETING.

Every regular pastor was present at First Church Monday at 10:30 a. m. with one or two exceptions.

Monthly reports from each pastor were made. They reported the following number of additions to Church membership: First Church, 17; Rayne Memorial, 26; Epworth, 12; Parker Memorial, 10; Louisiana Avenue, 2; Carrollton Avenue, 1; Second Church, 7.

The note of progress and hope was sounded by each preacher-in-charge in our city. Rev. J. F. Foster has a crowded house at his Sunday night services, and fifty attendants at prayer-meetings. Rev. H. T. Carley has been given a warm reception by his well-organized membership. Dr. Rice has made the most hopeful new year's start in all of his ministry. Rev. W. W. Holmes is making a special effort to reach men. Rev. J. E. Wray is at the hub of New Orleans Methodism for his fourth year. Rev. A. L. Townsley reports his mission work in connection with Second Church a success.

Rev. Glenn Flinn, of Dallas, Tex., addressed the Preachers' Meeting on his work as secretary-agent for the Bible Society. He paid Carrollton Avenue Church, New Orleans, a high compliment in saying that Church had given more for the Bible cause than any other Church in his whole territory. Brother Flinn was much impressed with our work in New Orleans.

FROM EUNICE, LA.

Dear Dr. Boswell: We have just erected a real nice, neat, comfortable parsonage, and moved in it one week ago. We met with a warm reception when we came. We were met by a special committee at the train and thence conducted to Brother George McGill's, where we partook of a most delightful and bountiful supper. We have three Churches—Eunice, Long Point and Iota. We have three nice Sunday schools, and have opened a first-class prayer-meeting here, which is being well attended. The kind people gave us a real nice pounding last Monday night, after which we had a delightful time socially, and the pounding was made up of good, wholesome things. Our doors are always open to any good thing, and we pray God's blessings upon the people, the ADVOCATE and its Editor and workers.

S. D. HOWARD, P. C.

CHURCH EXTENSION NOTES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

The Executive Committee of the Conference Board of Church Extension will meet in Winona, Miss., on Monday, March 9, 1908, at 1:30 p.m. [illegible] the Executive [illegible] recommendation [illegible] brethren who [illegible] W. F. McMurry [illegible] forward them to Rev. [illegible] Miss.

T. W. LEWIS.

[illegible]

An Ideal Gas Light for Reading.

NATIONAL AUTOMATIC INVERTED GAS LIGHT

[illegible] the light at half the cost. The only guaranteed gas light on the market. Fits any gas fixture. Anybody can put them on. Your money refunded if it fails to do as we claim. See demonstrater at office and get booklet. Phone us, Main 1148. Agent will call. 609 Commercial Place.

EVERYONE THAT HAS USED

Vacher-Balm for Catarrh, Colds, or Croup, thinks it the best thing they ever tried. I pay you to give samples of it to your friends so you can use your spare time to do good, and make money. Write for particulars to E. W. Vacher, New Orleans, La.

Twelve Good Reasons for Patronizing Grenada College

First—The unexcelled Home Comforts, unequaled anywhere else in the State.

Second—The Health Conditions; we rarely require the services of a physician.

Third—Our unusually skilled corps of teachers, whom we were able to secure only by paying a salary much above that paid by other girls' schools of the State.

Fourth—The Fine Arts Department; unequaled in the State and unexcelled in the South. Our teacher of Art studied in Germany and France, and our teachers of Music are graduated from the best Conservatories of America.

Fifth—The Descriptive Course of Study, which is conscientiously carried out as indicated.

Sixth—The Lyceum Course, which is superior even to that sustained in the University of Mississippi.

Seventh—The Library, which is fuller and better adapted than that of most girls' schools of the South.

Eighth—Strong Christian Influence dominating all instruction.

Ninth—Personal Attention to the Individual Pupil, with a view to develop the best even out of peculiarities of character.

Tenth—A superior Student Body as Associates, since most of the indifferent have been eliminated.

Eleventh—The Rates are lower than those of any other school doing the same grade of work, owing to the Conference Assessment, which gives us an income not possessed by other schools; further, we have no stockholders to whom we are forced to pay dividends, as are some private schools. Our patrons receive back in excellence of service more than they pay in.

Twelfth—All these superior features enable us to turn out a larger percentage of graduates, who take high stand in the educational world, than any other school in the State. It means something to hold a diploma of the Grenada College.

Register for Rooms at Once and Thus Secure Choice of Location.

W. L. CLIFTON, A.B., Ph.B., President.

Grenada, Miss.

THE SAFEST AND QUICKEST WAY TO

TRANSFER MONEY

—Is By—

Long Distance Telephone

FOR RATES APPLY TO LOCAL MANAGER

Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph Co

Incorporated

BUY THE NEW BOOK—

The Harp of a Thousand Strings

Contains "The Chronicles of Modern Jerusalem," and other choice literary productions of the late REV. HENRY T. LEWIS. For sale at the Drug Stores and Clinton Jewelry and Mercantile Co., in Clinton, and W. R. McKowen & Co., in Jackson.

PRICE, ONE DOLLAR.

THE PRESIDING ELDERSHIP.

Rev. J. H. Light, of Fredricksburg, Va., in the Nashville Christian Advocate is full of thought and suggestion. The light shines, but with a variety of shades. At one time he shows us the Bishop sitting idly by endorsing the appointments the presiding elders make, except a few vest-pocket specials that he holds to still play the role of authority by surprising the presiding elders when he reads the appointments—while the presiding elders dominate the whole Annual Conference.

Again he shows us the Bishop with presumption and assertion, "Lording it over God's heritage," with authority unknown even to military tactics, while the presiding elders crouch before him and beg for position.

But Brother Light leaves us to guess which one of these pictures he thinks true to life. But, strange to say, he thinks an elective presiding eldership would correct all evils. Some how he has a suspicion that the constitutionality of his position might be called in question, and he reviews Bishop Soule's position, which likely, he would not have done were Bishop Soule not in his grave. He reminds me of the negro who cursed his master, and "master took it, yes, he did, case master didn't hear him." But Brother Light forgets that Bishop Soule's position has not been overruled for all these years, that it has the endorsement of nearly a hundred years of unimpeached practice and unprecedented success. There is no field of labor known to the Southern Methodist itinerancy to which the preacher is elected and not appointed. So, of course, an elective presiding eldership is unthinkable.

Brother Light must have some quarrel with the presiding eldership, for he thinks also that we have too many of them. He wants to thin them out. This would indeed be progression backward for this twentieth century age.

The policy of all systems of business now is to cut down the volume of work done and to intensify the character of work for better profits and better results generally. The farmer theorizes on fewer acres and better cultivation.

The shops and factories have more workers and a specialist at every wheel and forge. In the commercial world there are departments and specialists at every place. The educational systems, whether of Church or State, male or female, professional, business or otherwise in all our colleges and universities, the work is almost without exception done in narrow spheres and by specialists.

The Churches have caught the spirit of the age—even our own Southern Methodist Church is falling into line. The great preachers are supposed to be those who have charge of but one Church, and the great Churches are those that have a preacher all their own.

We need more Bishops than ever before, and, of course, by analogy we need more presiding elders than ever before. It would be folly to narrow and intensify the work at both ends of the line, and let it go to pieces in the middle. Let us get fully in harmony with all successful business systems, and above all, let us be consistent with ourselves by narrowing and intensifying the work of the presiding elder, and stop the rattling and creaking of this part of our machinery, and the croakers and doctors will let it alone, and we will move on to greater and more glorious success in our Master's vineyard. Yours in word and work for souls,

J. H. SMITH.

Vaiden, Miss.

LETTER FROM COLORADO.

Dear ADVOCATE: Perhaps a word from a supernumerary preacher of the North Mississippi Conference in far away Colorado will not be amiss. My friends will remember that by advice of physicians I gave up my pleasant work at Eupora and Maben and came to Colorado in search of health. That was six months ago. I first went to Colorado Springs, a city of beautiful homes and a noted tourist and health resort. About five weeks later I attended the session of the Denver Conference at Walsenburg. Here I found a band of faithful, loyal preachers from different parts of the South. There is no prejudice here against transfers—they are all transfers. It was a very enthusiastic Conference, but more like our District Conferences than an Annual Conference. There are about seventeen charges in the Conference, all stations. Some of the brethren who are so anxious for stations might transfer here and then they would be sure of having their aspirations gratified unless some changes are made. Preachers are rather scarce here as elsewhere, so the Bishop kindly consented to give me supply work, and sent me to Hoehne, Colo., a small flag station on the Santa Fe Railroad, ten miles northeast of Trinidad in the southern part of the State.

My health has improved considerably and I have been able to meet every appointment, besides preaching some in Trinidad during the illness of their pastor.

At Trinidad a beautiful mountain stream rushes boldly out into broad, rolling plains, too dry for agriculture, but where thousands of heads of cattle graze. Here thrifty farmers have come from many states, and have taken many irrigation ditches out of the little river, and now for twenty miles or more from Trinidad, down the river hundreds of well laid-out farms with splendid country homes and many fine schools may be seen. It is here in the midst of this farming population that our Church has wisely laid the foundation for future work. We have a neat chapel and comfortable parsonage—the only Protestant Church in this rich valley. Something for our brethren who think there is no place for us here to think about, although we have people in our congregation from many northern states, and find no prejudice against us because we are Southern Methodists.

We have never been better received or more kindly treated anywhere. The people have shown us many substantial favors, and during Christmas gave us a real pounding, leaving enough groceries, meats and vegetables to last us a full month I think. We have the support of the most cultured and progressive element of the valley, and yet there are hundreds here affiliated with no Church whatever who can only be interested by close personal labor and much Christian tact. The field is truly missionary, and calls for much prayer and labor. I hope the brethren in the well-developed charges of Mississippi will kindly remember in their supplications their far-away brother in Colorado. I may write later on on the country, customs, etc. Sincerely,

W. M. JOHNSON.

Hoehne, Colo.

Our line of Stoves, Kitchen Furnishings, and General Household Supplies is full of interest to all Good Housekeepers.

Suppose you take a look at it for yourself—

UNITED HARDWARE CO.,
LIMITED.

GET SOLID PROTECTION AND INSURE WITH
LEON IRWIN & CO.
Fire and Casualty Insurance.
838 GRAVIER STREET. PHONE, MAIN [illegible]

W. W. Carre Co., Ltd,
Manufacturers and Exporters of
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

READ THIS.

Rev. W. S. Lagrone, our Conference Missionary Secretary and Evangelist, is now with his wonted zeal and enthusiasm engaged in the work of his new charge, which, by the way, is no little circuit, as it embraces the whole of North Mississippi Conference.

He means to visit as many of the pastoral charges as he can before protracted meeting season in order to urge upon the preachers and the people the vast importance of having the Conference collections for Foreign and Domestic Missions in hand by the first of April.

The Board of Missions heartily endorses his plan since to carry it out would mean the saving of some $800 in interest to the Parent Board. We do hope that the preachers will readily and faithfully co-operate with Brother Lagrone and the Board in this effort.

To the preachers who are expecting to secure the services of Brother Lagrone for their meetings, but who have not done so let me say you had better write him or me at once, or you will be too late, as he will soon have all the engagements he can fill.

J. A. HALL.

TO LOUISIANA PASTORS.

Our Epworth League Board stands ready to assist you in a forward move for organizing, reorganizing, instructing, and equipping your young people along aggressive lines of Epworth League work and any member of the Board stands ready for a call to visit your charge in the League interest. The writer's work is so arranged that he can give an occasional Sunday to the work and could assist some of the pastors in revivals and crystalize them into Epworth League movements. To our utmost we will be glad to serve you. Fraternally,

P. O. LOWREY, President.

The Home Circle.

NOT GETTING ALONG.

Twenty years ago a discouraged young doctor in one of our large cities was visited by his father, who came up from a rural district to look after his boy. "Well, my son," he said, "how are you getting along?"

"I'm not getting along at all," was the disheartening answer. "I'm not doing a thing."

The old man's countenance fell, but he spoke of courage and patience and perseverance. Later in the day he went with his son to the "Free Dispensary," where the young doctor had an unsalaried position, and where he spent an hour or more every day.

The father sat by, a silent but intensely interested spectator, while twenty-five poor unfortunates received help. The doctor forgot his visitor while he bent his skilled energies to his task; but hardly had the door closed on the last patient when the old man burst forth: "I thought you told me you were not doing anything! Why, if I had helped twenty-five people in a year as much as you have in the morning, I would thank God that my life counted for something."

"There isn't any money in it, though," explained the son, somewhat abashed.

"Money!" the old man shouted, still scornfully. "Money! What is money in comparison with being of use to your fellow man? Never mind about your money; go right along at this work every day. I'll go back to the farm and gladly earn money to support you as long as you live—yes, and sleep sound every night with the thought that I have helped you to help your fellow men."—Weekly Witness.

A GENUINE SURPRISE.

Something had to be done. The Rev. Mr. Brough had been pastor of Hardensburg Church for twenty-five years, and the anniversary was to be properly celebrated. Hardensburg was a small place. The Church was small and the people were poor, but after much consultation it was decided to give the aged couple a surprise donation party.

It was a real donation party, with a barrell of flour, a sack of yams, a side of bacon, a ham, and all the other luxuries of Hardensburg life. And as a crowning feature, Deacon Rogers, who had just introduced electric lights into the village, had the parsonage wired as a gift to the Church, and agreed to turn on the light on the evening of the donation.

To make it all complete, he left the parson without knowledge that the wiring was finished, and installed a switch on the outer wall by which every light in the house could be thrown on at once. Then, in the dusk of a hot autumn evening, the members of the Hardensburg Church brought their gifts to the minister's door.

The parsonage was dark. Not even a candle glimmered from a window. Parson Brough and his wife had the good habit of sitting quietly in the dark on such evenings, resting their eyes and discussing the affairs of the day.

Cautiously, quietly, the supplies were carried to the foot of the front steps, quietly the parishioneers were arranged in a semicircle in front of the parlor windows, and then, in the darkness, Deacon Rogers softly tiptoed up to the switch, and with a quick turn threw on every light in the house.

The surprise was a grand success. From the parson's sitting-room came a quick gasp and an exclamation of dismay. The callers, waiting outside, had a glimpse of two well-known forms scurrying away through the glaring light, from room to room, vainly seeking a place of retreat. And in the parlor, beside two still rocking easy chairs, stood four battered shoes and two pairs of neatly darned stockings. The Rev. Mr. Brough had been completely surprised.—Youth's Companion.

THE CRITICAL HABIT.

The habit—for it is nothing more—of disparaging speech is so common that it would be well for us to stop and think about it.

This sort of thing is so often heard: "I don't think she is so very pretty, as people say;" or, "I don't think he (or she) is so clever;" or economical, or stylish, or bright, or cheerful, or a thousand other things. We do not think her so very pretty as we have heard, we do think her pretty; and again, if not very clever, surely interesting, and all the others in like measure. It is merely a habit with many people, not skin-deep, but just the cruel and unfortunate habit of deprecating speech.

A woman with a sharp tongue, but with the tenderest of hearts, the most generous of natures, but with a keenly critical mind and a rare intuition as to character, was brought up "all standing," as she expressed it, after she had been talking one day with a friend about several people, and before a young girl who was visiting her friends. In a sudden lull in the talk the girl said, as if by uncontrollable impulse: "Don't you like anybody?" "What do you mean?" said the startled woman. The girl blushed and hesitated, and then said: "Please pardon me, but it seemed so." Very little more was said; it was passed off and passed by, as in the polite world things which are unpleasant are passed over; but into the heart of that woman the criticism sank deep, and from that hour she watched and guarded her tongue. Now she does not depreciate in speech, and if she cannot appreciate, she is silent.

It is well to remember the wise words of Emerson: "Omit the negative propositions. Don't waste yourself in rejection, nor bark against the bad, but chant the beauty of the good." What a changed and better world we should all live in, if we only followed that advice!—Harper's Bazar.

DICK'S GOOD MORNING.

"I had a curious thing happen to me this morning," said Mrs. Norton. She was putting away her best bonnet, folding up her soft kid gloves, and putting the tiny scroll of lace veil into a small roll. "As I crossed the street by Dr. Campbell's, I asw Mrs. Howell's little Dick dancing along before me, his yellow curls bouncing up and down under his broad-brimmed hat. 'Good morning, Dick,' I called after him in a friendly tone.

"He did not hear me, but a poor, miserable-looking mulatto boy, dirty and ragged, rose from the curbst[illegible] '[illegible] Mawnin', mistis [illegible] mawnin'; thank you for [illegible]' He evidently thought I [illegible] I said, 'Good morning, Dick,' and I [illegible] I meant Mrs. Howell's little boy. I [illegible] and chatted with him a while, and [illegible] poor [illegible] as he seemed to think, [illegible] friends. I hope I encouraged him [illegible]."

That was Mrs. Norton's side of the little [illegible] heard the rest [illegible] Dick himself.

"[illegible] said Dick, ''cause I [illegible] sick, and I [illegible] 'gainst [illegible] 'bout bein' sick, 'bout losin' my place, 'bout most everything. Seemed to me lek nobody in all dis big shinin' world cared nothin' for po' Dick. 'Let him lib, let him die, it all de same; sun gone on shinin'; people keep goin' dat-an' Dick jes' drap out.' Well, here comes along one o' dem high-steppin' ladies, everything 'bout her lookin' like a posy of garden pinks, and says out loud and cheerful like; 'Good-mawnin', Dick,' says she.

"'Cheer up, Dick,' says she.

"Then she gave me a card with her name writ on it. 'You take this down to Baker & Norton,' says she, 'an' ax 'em to give you some work to-day.' I took myself down dar in a hurry, and time I show dat scrap of white card de gentleum smiled kind 'o pleasant, and set me to rightin' up his lumber room.

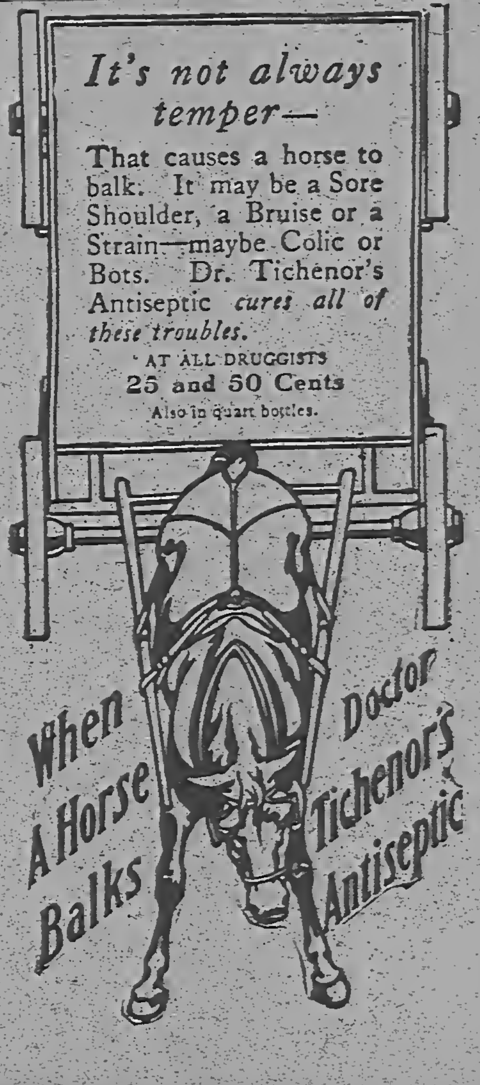
"'I'll hat ter lock dat lady up, Dick,' says he; 'ef I don't she'll send me all der city.'

"'Best let her 'lone, Master,' says I; 'ef I ain't mighty mistaken de great Master set her doin' his work; else how she come to know Dick's name? I want you to 'splain dat, sir.'"

And we who listened to Dick's story were sure he was right: the "chance" that made the kind voice call out "Good morning, Dick," was one of God's "chances," one of the kind that keeps the sparrow from falling to the ground till God's best time.—Pittsburg Advocata.

FANCY POULTRY, ETC.

Fancy Poultry, Pedigreed Dogs, Cats, Canaries, Parrots, Guinea Pigs, Rabbits, and Pet Stock of every description; Cyphers, Incubators and Feed at Factory prices, may be had by writing to H. W. Blanks & Co., New Orleans, La. Their catalogue sent free. Write to them.



It's not always temper—

That causes a horse to balk. It may be a Sore Shoulder, a Bruise or a Strain—maybe Colic or Bots. Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic cures all of these troubles.

AT ALL DRUGGISTS
25 and 50 Cents
Also in quart bottles.

Christian Advocate.

REV. JNO. W. BOSWELL, D.D., Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.
CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

OFFICE, [illegible] CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TERMS:

One Copy, one year, $2; six months, $1. To Preachers of all Denominations, half-price.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES:

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE—Rev. W. W. Drake, Rev. N. E. Joyner, Rev. J. M. Henry.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. M. L. Burton, Rev. W. H. Lewis, Rev. C. W. Crisler.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, D.D.; Rev. J. T. Murrah, Rev. W. W. Woollard.

TO THE FRIENDS OF THE ADVOCATE.

The money panic of the past season has hurt the ADVOCATE, as it has hurt hundreds of other enterprises, and we are feeling the effect of it just at this time more than ever. January is usually our best month, but this January our financial showing is not to be compared with previous seasons.

The subscriptions of many, especially of those who took advantage of club rates, are expiring. We would like for all to remain with us. We trust preachers will see the brethren as soon as possible and secure renewals. And, if not convenient for the preachers to call, let each subscriber write at once, and either send the money or give us the promise to do so as early as possible.

Every employe in the ADVOCATE office has to be paid weekly, and all bills met monthly. Please, brethren and sisters, remember this, and let us have the small amount that you owe us. We will appreciate promptness.

THE BASIS OF PROHIBITION.

There may be persons who look at the prohibition of the liquor traffic from a purely economical point of view and vote to suppress the saloon because it is a non-productive institution, while others would suppress it because those who conduct it have no respect for law and order. More than once since Georgia and Alabama out-lawed the traffic have saloon-keepers been told that they are themselves to blame for the ruin of their business—that patience with their lawless methods had ceased to be a virtue and the people in their wrath have sworn vengeance against the trade. The head of the largest brewery in the country entertains this idea, and has given notice that he will sell no more of his output to retailers who persist in violating the law. And the idea is so thoroughly pounded into the heads of the liquor dealers in New Orleans that in conference assembled they resolved to be good.

Those who set forth the two notions above noted seem to overlook the fact that the question has a moral as well as an economic and legal aspect. Granting all the force to which they are entitled we are free to say that prohibition does not owe its origin to the fact that the liquor traffic is a money-waster or an inciter of strife, nor to the fact that it breeds contempt for law and order, but to the fact that it is essentially a godless and wicked business. Of course, it is seen by all that one who drinks does worse than to burn his money or throw it into the sea. It is also seen that the seller does worse than violate the statutes of the State. But there are those who see far more. They see that the drunkard impoverishes his wife and children, and often abuses them to the point of death, thus endangering his soul. They see that the poor man, "bound fast in his slavish chains," is helpless. They know there is but one remedy—not high license, for it neither lessens the number of saloons nor diminishes the quantity of liquor, but to get liquor out of the victim's reach. They see that the seller, even though he may never violate the law of the land, violates the law of God in putting the bottle to his neighbor's mouth, not only making him drunk, but building up his own fortune at the expense of the victim—may be at the expense of the victim's wife and children—never giving him value received for his omney.

Prohibition, therefore, is a moral question, having its basis in Christian ethics. Nothing can turn those who are under conviction from their purpose to put an end to the business. Were it a question of economy, or if law and order only were involved, it might be regulated and saved. But no business that destroys souls, as well as the lives and property of men, is subject to law, neither indeed can be. Extirpation is the only word descriptive of its deserts, and neither threats nor hard names, nor cursings nor revilings can turn men and women bent on the destruction of the traffic from their purpose. They may be "cranks" and "fanatics," poor "political economists," or whatever else politicians and time-servers may see fit to call them, but this one thing they are—they are prohibitionists. They say the saloon is an enemy of God and souls, and must go. And it is going.

WHATSOEVER IS NOT OF FAITH.

St. Paul says "whatsoever is not of faith is sin." The connection with which the expression stands (Rom. xiv) leads us to believe that, by the term "faith," the apostle does not mean a man's creed founded on certain interpretations of the Scriptures by which he determines human conduct and relation to God, but that faith in God which influences him to do everything for the glory of God and the good of his fellow-beings. A man's chief desire should be to please God. Without faith in his existence and personal responsibility to him, this is impossible. His next desire should be to do good to men.

These two things strike directly at the root of selfishness, and that spirit which leads men to live without God. The latter no man can do, for "in him we live and move, and have our being," but the spirit of independence exists all the same, and in that spirit men ignore their obligations and incur the divine displeasure. And if in the unregenerate state men indulge their passions and appetites regardless of the effect on their fellow-men, when they accept the gospel and live according to "faith," this selfishness is eliminated, and they strive to live with consciences void of offense toward men as well as toward God. They will not only try to do good to all men, but will not knowingly put a stone of stumbling in a brother's way. Paul's illustration of this is plain and simple. (I Co. viii.)

If all Christian people understood and applied the principle thus declared by the apostle they would neither hurt their own consciences nor defile themselves by any line of conduct, but would likewise refrain from everything adapted to wound the weak consciences of others. Many persons, especially the young, are sometimes at a loss to know what to do when called upon to decide questions of conduct. Not infrequently are they invited and urged to engage in certain social diversions, as card-playing, dancing, etc. On one hand they are told that such diversions are innocent, and "can do no harm." On the other, they are characterized as "works of the flesh," and "exceeding sinful." Advisers on both hands may be wrong. They may not be the harmless things represented, nor may they be the worst things a young Christian can do. In such a strait, if one could be reminded that "whatsoever is not of faith is sin," the matter would be instantly settled, for the individual, if intelligent and conscientious, would see at a glance that these diversions do not "tend to the knowledge and love of God." They do not glorify God, nor promote personal piety. All such things looked at from St. Paul's standpoint soon lose their influence over genuinely converted persons. The desire for them leaves, no matter how long they may have been indulged. A young lady, troubled perhaps, in conscience, carried the matter to her Bishop, and earnestly asked: "Bishop, may Christians dance?" The reply was instant and emphatic: "My daughter, Christians do not desire to dance."

Mrs. Susanna Wesley, mother of John Wesley, notwithstanding she lived when notions of personal piety and conduct were exceedingly liberal, had very clear conceptions of Christian ethics, and expressed herself in no uncertain words: "Would you judge of the lawfulness or unlawfulness of pleasure, of the innocence or malignity of actions? Take this rule: Whatever weakens your reason, impairs the tenderness of your conscience, obscures your sense of God, or takes off the relish of spiritual things—in short, whatever increases the strength and authority of your body over your mind, that thing is sin to you, however innocent it may be in itself." This is in perfect accord with St. Paul, who would have man judge the moral quality of one act, not always by the act itself, but by its effect on the doer or on some one else. This he allowed because it is possible for a man to do a thing that would not mar his moral character, or interfere with his relations to God, but would prove a stumbling-block in his brother's way. When he does that his act becomes sinful, and is to be condemned. It does not spring from faith.

He is a poor Christian who is not willing to give up any indulgence, however innocent and harmless it may be to him, if it is an offense to others. "For meat," said the apostle, "destroy not thy brother." "When ye so sin against the brethren, and wound their weak conscience, ye sin against Christ. Wherefore, if meat make my brother to offend, I will eat no flesh while the world standeth, lest I make my brother to offend."

PERSONALS.

Rev. Jno. F. Foster is taking well with the Algiers Church, and is working up a fine interest, especially in the prayer-meeting, which is largely attended.

Rev. J. A. Poe, of Mayhew, Miss., tells us of the serious sickness in his charge. Among the sufferers are Mrs. W. V. Connell and Mrs. Willis Lock. He asks the prayers of the Church in behalf of these good women.

The good people of Louisiana Avenue Church are treating their pastor, Rev. W. W. Holmes, in a royal manner. They have furnished him a home in fine style, and propose at no distant day (some time next week) to give him and his bride a grand reception.

Rev. Ben P. Jaco has been "gladly received" by the charges of the Corinth District, and is enthusiastically at work and hopeful. All the charges have adopted "Forward" as a motto. Mail may be addressed to him at Booneville, Miss., as he "stops there occasionally."

We thank Rev. R. W. Vaughan, editor of the Louisiana Conference Minutes, for a copy. Brother Vaughan has succeeded this year in getting out his minutes in a much shorter time than usual. He is the first of our patronizing Conferences to get out the "Conference Annual." We thank him for the copy left on our table.

Rev. R. W. Tucker, presiding elder of the Baton Rouge District, is filling his engagements and doing highly acceptable work. He reaches the larger number of his appointments by private conveyance, and finds the travel difficult on account of miserably bad roads. He reports the district in good condition and moving along without friction.

Rev. Glenn Flinn has been in the city several days in the interest of the American Bible Society, which he represents in a very large territory. He is working to supply the people with the Word of God, many of whom in certain sections of Louisana, as well as other sections are destitute. On Tuesday last he started to New York to meet the managers of the Society. Brother Flinn realizes that he is engaged in a great work.

A preacher must be in dead earnest who goes, a stranger, to a new charge without a parsonage and in less than two months "erects a nice, comfortable house and moves into it," and secures a good list of new subscribers for his Conference organ. Such a preacher is Rev. S. D. Howard, of the Louisiana Conference, who, in the middle of December, was appointed to Eunice Circuit. Honor to Brother Howard! Who will not agree that "the preacher-in-charge is the key to situations?"

Rev. W. W. Jones, writing from Kossuth, Miss., says: "Quarterly Conference met on the Kossuth Circuit Jan. 11-12. Owing to unfavorable weather there was not a large attendance, though we had a good Conference. Brother Jaco preached two good sermons to attentive congregations. The people are delighted with Brother Jaco, and we expect a great year for him and his people throughout the district. Brother Preachers, let's all help to make this a great year for the Church."

A note from Rev. H. S. Johns, Ida, La., dated January 23, informs us of the death of his wife from an attack of pneumonia, with inflammation of the brain as a complication, and nervous breakdown." She had been a great sufferer from head-ache, which could never be arrested. Brother Johns says: "We had been married nearly twenty years, and, as all the brethren can testify, her life was one of beautiful devotion to duty." We extend sympathy to our bereaved brother, and pray the Lord to sustain him in this great distress. A suitable memoir may be expected in due time.

Carrollton Avenue Church enjoyed two interesting occasions last week. On Wednesday the Woman's Foreign and Home Mission Societies held a joint district meeting, which was well attended by members from various charges—the particulars of which have not yet been reported to the ADVOCATE. On Friday evening the pastor, Rev. H. T. Carley, was tendered a reception at the new and elegant parsonage. The good people showed their appreciation of Brother Carley, who has entered hopefully on his important work. The reception was largely attended and much enjoyed.

FERRY'S SEED ANNUAL.

We are again under obligation to D. M. Ferry & Co., of Detroit, Mich., for their annual catalogue of garden and field seed, and also for a large package of choice seeds. We have used Ferry's seeds many years, and have always found them thoroughly sound, and under suitable conditions and cultivation productive. D. M. Ferry & Co. are large growers and dealers in all kinds of seed, are entirely reliable, and we take pleasure in recommending them to our many readers.

THE COURSE OF STUDY.

(Effective 1908.)

543. FOR ADMISSION ON TRIAL.— English grammar; rhetoric; geography; arithmetic, with special reference to bookkeeping; "Outlines of World's History" (Swinton); "Manual of Christian Doctrine" (Banks); Wesley's Sermons on "Justification by Faith," and the "Witness of the Spirit;" the Book of Discipline; Written Sermon.

544. First Year.— "The Cyclopedic Handbook of the Bible" (Angus-Green); Chapters xvii-xxi; "Personal Salvation" (Tillett); "Ministry to the Congregation" (Kern); Wesley's "Doctrinal Standards," Sermons 1-26; The Book of Discipline; "The Apostolic Age" (Purves); Written Sermon on Repentance.

To be Read: Telford's "Life of John Wesley;" Broadus on the Preparation and Delivery of Sermons; "The Tongue of Fire" (Arthur); "Ecclesiastical Architecture" (Martin).

545. Second Year—"The Cyclopedic Handbook of the Bible" (Angus-Green); Chapters i-x; "System of Christian Doctrine" (Sheldon), Parts I, II, III; Wesley's "Doctrinal Standards," Sermons 27-52; "How to Conduct a Sunday School" (Lawrance); "The Kingdom in the Cradle" (Atkins); "The Training of the Twelve" (Bruce); Written Sermon on Justification by Faith.

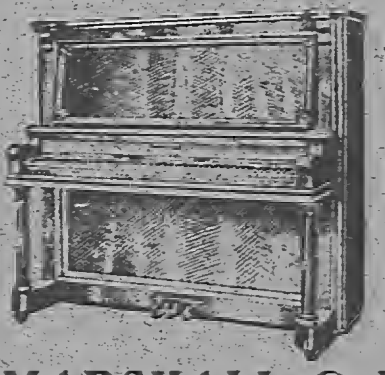
To be Read: Schaff's "History of the Christian Church" (Volume VII); "The Doctrine of the Prophets" (Kirkpatrick); "Short History of the English People" (Green); "Life of Alexander Duff" (Smith); Manual of the Discipline.

546. Third Year — "The Cyclopedic Handbook of the Bible" (Angus-Green), Chapters xi-xvi; "System of Christian Doctrine" (Sheldon), Parts IV, V; "History of Methodism" (McTyeire); "Elements of Psychology" (Davis); "The Pastor and Modern Missions" (Mott); Written Sermon on the Witness of the Spirit.

To be Read: Paine's "Life of McKendree"; Peabody's "Christ and the Social Question;" Bernard's "Progress of Doctrine in the New Testament;" Sanday's "Life of Christ;" The Methodist Review.

547. Fourth Year—"History of the Christian Church" (Fisher); "Constitutional History of American Episcopal Methodism" (Tigert); Jevons' "Elements of Logic;" "Elements of Ethics" (Davis); "Grounds of Theistic and Christian Belief" (Fisher); Written Sermon on Regeneration.

To be Read: Conybeare and Howson's "Life and Epistles of St. Paul;" "The Son of Man" (Alexander); "The Hymn Book and the Modern Church" (Gregory); "The World as a Subject of Redemption" (Freemantle); The Methodist Review.



HIGH GRADE PIANOS

MARSHALL & WENDELL

ESTABLISHED 1836.

A Piano that has been before the public for more than a half century must possess merit to maintain its popularity. Thousands of them are to-day singing their own praise in the homes of satisfied purchasers.

OUR POPULAR STYLE AT $350

ON EASY PAYMENTS.

Get particulars of our

Six Months Free Trial Plan.

Hakenjos Piano Mfg. Co.,

930 Canal Street

J. BART DAVIS Mgr. New Orleans

A CASE OF DISTRESS.

Dear Dr. Boswell: Please permit me to communicate to the brethren of the North Mississippi Conference the following: Brother I. W. Hickham's health having failed, he consented to take a superannuated relation this year, hoping the rest would build him up. Like 99 per cent of itinerant Methodist preachers, who live on a salary, he is poor, and needs help to tide him over this year. A dollar or two from many would be much to him. I ask this in the name of our blessed Lord, for whom he left everything to preach the gospel. Address him at Weir, Miss. Fraternally, H. T. GAINES.

DEATH—GOING HOME.

For the loving child of God, death is the going home to the Eternal Father, the ending of warfare, the removing of temptation, the ceasing of failure. No more unfaithfulness, no more miserable weakness, no more grieving God. The solemnity and awfulness of death make the loving servants of God very careful in their preparation for it; but they do not destroy the desire of being with God which can only be attained through death.

Therefore, death must be regarded as the Gate of Life. It is the opening of the door into Judgment, therefore it must be prepared for with all earnestness. But the thought of death ought not to over-sadden us, for it has a very bright side. A true servant of God has looked forward to the meeting with God, and has prepared; he has realized his own need for repentance, and has repented—does repent—with a growing, deepening sorrow; he has searched out his sins, he has taken them to the Foot of the Cross, and has left them there. The thought of God's love in Christ brightens all to him, he awaits humbly and trustingly the call home.—Canon Williams.

Obituaries.

Obituaries not over two hundred words in length will be published free of charge. All over two hundred words will be charged at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and send the amount necessary with the obituary That will save trouble all around.

A TRIBUTE.

There lived in Mississippi for a great number of years two eminent and faithful servants of God and every good cause, Mr. JOHN HARVEY THOMPSON and his wife, Mrs. ANN WATSON THOMPSON, whose services were so many and whose lives were so excellent and full of blessing that they deserve to be held in lasting and grateful remembrance. Both were natives of this State, born in Marion County, one in 1818, the other in 1821. While both were youths the two familes removed to Copiah County, and settling in the same community, these two persons became acquainted with each other, and were married in 1842. The greater part of their lives was spent in the same County on a large plantation, where they built up a beautiful, prosperous and happy home. At the close of the Civil War they removed to Beauregard, where Mr. Thompson engaged in merchandising, and there it was that I first knew them. Mr. Thompson was possessed of a liberal education, acquired in a classical school of the neighborhood, and also at Augusta College, Kentucky, where he spent two years. He would gladly have remained there longer, but the care of his mother and the plantation, his father having died, called him home. To many striking natural virtues there was added in the case of both the grace of a truly regenerated Christian life. Mr. Thompson became connected with the Church when he was of mature years, perhaps in the early part of the decade from 1850 to 1860, in a revival conducted by that eminent evangelist, Rev. Samuel L. L. Scott, for whom he always afterward entertained a loyal affection and the highest esteem. The time of his conversion was a vivid and shining one, to which he always reverted with joy and thanksgiving. He knew whom he had believed, and this knowledge was to him a light and inspiration through all the after years. The fair and gentle woman who walked by his side through all their long journey had been a devoted Christian from girlhood. They were members of the large and historic Pleasant Valley Church, long distinguished above many for the zeal and spirituality of its members, and from which men went forth into the inistry, who became useful and eminent. By evident tokens, Mr. Thompson was fitted for leadership and soon he became prominent as class-leader, steward and Sunday school superintendent. He was Sunday school superintendent at Pleasant Valley for a number of years, being succeeded by his brother, Jesse Thompson, of sacred memory. At Beauregard he was superintendent for twenty years. As a steward none was more efficient. Liberal himself he induced others to be so, and the claims of the Church were always met. His influence throughout the community was wide and deep, and it was strenuously exerted on the right side. He seemed never to be hopeless of the reformation of any, and so rough men were converted to a better life, and families irreligious before became Christian. Mr. Thompson had a decided fondness for public affairs, and there his voice and hand were always potent. Two terms he was sent by the people to the Mississippi legislature, where he served them ably and faithfully. He was fitted for public life by his accurate and large information, by his well-trained mind, as well as by his force of character. In the Church he served many times in District and Annual Conferences, and once in the General Conference in 1874, at Louisville, Ky. In this account it must not be omitted that his capacity for friendship was of the best, always true and loyal, while he was a man of the finest sense of honor. Mrs. Thompson was a refined and cultured woman, a true and faithful Christian. In her presence you always felt that the Savior's benediction came right to her, "Blessed are the pure in heart." She sought for purity of heart earnestly and sat meekly at the Master's feet. She read much and always good books, while her own literary ability sometimes flowering out into graceful verse, was shown by her contributions to papers and magazines. But most of all she was in the highest degree unselfish and a woman who cared for her home.

What a beautiful home that was! There were there such simplicity and sincerity and love and large-hearted hospitality as you will rarely find. Outside there were forest trees and beautiful flowers and the singing of birds, while inside elevated conversation abounded and good books, while the altar of prayer stood through all the years. Mrs. Thompson said late in life, "It is a joy to know that so many good men have prayed in our home for us." In that home was trained the granddaughter, Clara Chrisman, the bright and noble girl, who gave herself to the missionary cause, and who on her way to Brazil, met death in one wild moment in the Johnstown flood. In their latter days they made their home in Brookhaven, and from that home in a good old age they went to the home above, Mrs. Thompson surviving her husband by several years. It was a beautiful incident that just twenty-two hours before her death she read the Bible in a clear and strong voice to two of her old negro servants who had come in to see her. Three of the children of these noble persons survive them, Mrs. Julia T. Chrisman, of Houston, Texas; Hon. R. H. Thompson, of Jackson, one of the most prominent lawyers of the State; and Mrs. Margarett Butler, of Brookhaven. These feel that life has been chastened and enriched for them by the memories of that beautiful home, and by the sacred example of their father and mother. And still their lives are as ointment poured forth.

E. H. MOUNGER.

ALEX. STORMENT was born in Tishomingo County, Miss., and died at his home in Iuka, Miss., Jan. 12, 1908. Between these dates we find a life that deeply impressed itself upon his large circle of friends for good. As a father he was loving and kind, as a husband he was faithful and true. He was a consecrated Christian, having professed faith in Christ and united with the M. E. Church, South, in August, 1885, of which he remained a consistent member until he died. His remains were brought to Boggs Chapel, ten miles south of Iuka, for interment. After funeral services conducted by the writer he was quietly laid to rest to await the resurrection morn. Brother Storment had suffered a long time, but he bore his suffering with Christian fortitude and patience. He welcomed the summons. He said: "It will only relieve me of my suffering." Truly God giveth his beloved sleep, and, in that sleep realities, not dreams, come around their quiet rest and fill their conscious spirits with blessedness. In his own time he will make eternal morning dawn and touch his own into waking and clothe them in his glory. Then can we say, "I am satisfied, for I awake in thy likeness." Brother Storment leaves a loving wife, two children and a host of friends and relatives to mourn their loss. May God comfort them in their bereavement is the prayer of his pastor.

W. L. BROOM.

GEO. W. FAISON was born in South Hampton County, Virginia, Aug. 7, 1830, and moved to Mississippi in early life; was twice married, both wives have preceded him; his last wife died about twenty years ago. He leaves five sons and one daughter. He has ben quite feeble for more than two years, and was taken with cramping suddenly, and died the 29th of Dec., 1907, in his home at Faisonia, in Sunflower County, where he has lived many years. He was brought down to Indianola Sunday afternoon to the residence of his son, W. M. Faison, and the funeral services took place at the Methodist Church Monday afternoon at three o'clock, and then interred in the cemetery, with a large concourse of people in attendance. The large and beautiful flower wreaths gave some expression of how the people loved this good man. Brother Faison was well known throughout this great delta. He was one of the most conspicuous figures in the great Mississippi delta for the past half century as a planter and merchant. He acquired a vast property by a dilgence and persistency, and by good business sense that marked him as far above the average man. He had been a member of the Methodist Church for years, and loved his Church and her ministry. He died at the ripe age of 77 years, with a character for integrity and honesty unspotted and unsoiled. His death is a great loss, his life has been most valuable. May he rest in peace.

W. M. YOUNG.

Miss CLAYTON NEILL was born in Jasper County, Miss., at Montrose, Nov., 1870. She was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at ten years of age, and lived a consistent Christian life up to her death, which occurred at the home of her brother in Montrose, Dec. 27, 1907. She was educated at the Rose Hill Academy, and adopted teaching as her life-work. She had taught for twenty years in Jasper County and served her County as member of the Board of Examiners for ten years. The writer was closely associated with her in her professional work for ten years, and never knew a more thorough, painstaking official or teacher. She loved her work, and the influence she had over the young, as wellas the old, will live on through generations. She left one sister and two brothers, with a host of relatives to mourn their loss. It was hard to give Miss Clayton up, yet we know that our loss is her eternal gain, and we bow in humble submission to the will of the heavenly Father. May that same Christian grace and fortitude that kept her unto the end sustain and keep the heart-broken relatives and friends and enable them to meet her on the eternal shore. She is not, for God hath taken her. Her friend,

P. L. BLACKWELL.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

MISSISSIPPI LEGISLATURE
CONVENES TUESDAY, JAN. 6, 1908.
Take the DAILY NEWS during the session, the afternoon paper of to-day.
THE DAILY NEWS
goes to press every afternoon in time to make all outgoing trains.
SPECIAL SUBSCRIPTION PRICE
to the DAILY NEWS for the three months of the legislature. Daily and Sunday, for entire legislative session
ONLY $1.25
Cash must accompany all orders. Address DAILY NEWS, Jackson, Miss.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

9 CORDS IN 10 HOURS

RUNS EASY
No Backache
weighs only 41 lbs.
EASILY CARRIED
SAWS DOWN TREES

BY ONE MAN. It's KING OF THE WOODS. Saves money and backache. Send for FREE illus. catalog showing latest improvements and testimonials from thousands. First order gets agency. Folding Sawing Mach. Co., 158 E. Harrison St., Chicago, Ill.

Poultry Pays
a larger profit for the money invested than any other business. Anybody can make a success without long training or previous experience.
Our Big New Free Poultry Book tells in detail how to start. Explains why the double heating system of Reliable Incubators and Brooders have kept them on top for 26 years. Shows why you will get bigger hatches—save time and money. Write today for book.
Reliable Incubator & Brooder Co.
Box B8 Quincy, Ill.

$100 MAKES YOU A BOOKKEEPER OR STENOGRAPHER: It pays board, tuition, and stationery. POSITIONS.
WALDEN'S BUSINESS COLLEGE
Lake Charles, La. A select school of highest character. No better courses anywhere at any price. Only 25 scholarships at reduced rates. Free penmanship course. A delightful winter resort. Write to-day to
L. R. WALDEN, President

MONEY
IN TEXAS AND MEXICO.
We offer splendid inducements to join established enterprise with or without services. Deposit $10 and up in monthly installments of only $5 in absolutely safe land proposition that will give you life income. A few capable office people can secure good positions. Write now. San Antonio Real Estate & Investment Co., 228 West Commerce St., San Antonio, Tex.

Queen & Crescent Route
Through Pullman Sleeper
TO NORFOLK,
Jamestown Exposition.
Lv. New Orleans daily......7:30 p. m.
Ar. Norfolk ....9:05 a. m.
Second Morning.
ROUND TRIP FARES:
Tickets Limited Dec. 15, '07.......$42.05
Tickets Limited 60 days..........35.00
Tickets Limited 15 days..........28.75
Tickets good in coaches only sold on Tuesday of each week, Limited 10 days..........22.10
CONFEDERATE REUNION,
Richmond, Va.
Round Trip Fare..........$21.15
THE QUICKEST TIME.
FOR DETAILS APPLY AT
Ticket Office, 211 St. Charles St.
Phone Main 4482.

ILLINOIS
CENTRAL
The Double Track Route.
26 Hours to Chicago
21 Hours to St. Louis
22 Hours to Loisville
26 Hours to Cincinnati
Through Sleeping Cars to above points. Dining Cars, Library Cars, Chair Cars and Coaches.
Full Particulars at
City Ticket Office,
141 ST. CHARLES STREET.
Phone Main 3618.

Weak Little Boys

may become fine strong men. Some of the strong men of to-day were sickly boys years ago. Many of them received at their mother's knee. This had a power in it that changed them from weak, delicate boys into strong, robust boys.

Scott's Emulsion

It has the same power to-day. Boys and girls who are pale and weak get food and energy out of SCOTT'S EMULSION. It makes children grow. : : :

All Druggists; 50c. and $1.00.

Marriages.

Nov. 28, 1907, at the home of the bride's parents, Westville, Miss., by Rev. M. R. Jones, Mr. PHILLIP QUINN to Miss NANNIE BELK, both of Westville, Miss.

Dec. 15, 1907, at the home o fthe bride's parents, Pinola, Miss., by Rev. M. R. Jones Mr. G. A. PEACOCK to Miss NANNIE L. DICKSON, both of Pinola, Miss.

Jan. 12, 1908, at the home of the bride's parents, Harrisville, Miss., by Rev. M. R. Jones, Mr. W. L. BARLOW to Miss HATTIE HARRIS, both of Harrisville, Miss.

In Louisville, Miss., Nov. 28, 1907, by Rev. J. W. Raper, Mr. GATES and Miss MAGGIE CARSON.

At the home of the bride in Winston County, Miss., Dec. 1, 1907, by Rev. J. W. Raper, Mr. J. Q. GREGORY and Miss HATTIE G. HUDSON.

In Louisville, Miss., Dec. 24, 1907, by Rev. J. W. Raper, Mr. H. W. WHITE and Miss HILDA ANTONETT VINSON.

In Louisville, Miss., Jan. 13, 1908, by Rev. J. W. Raper, Mr. THOS. RICHARDS and Miss MOLLIE LOU DREWRY.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

THE LIKENESS OF CHRIST.

"I will not believe there ever was a Jesus till I see a picture of him. The while people have pictures of the other people they tell us about, even of their friends who are dead. If there ever was a Jesus, I want to see his picture; then I will see if I love him."

So spoke the Zulu woman, whose husband had lately become a Christian. He did not know how to answer her. She had little love for his new religion, for with it he had put away his other wives, who had afforded her much company and assistance, as also an opoprtunity for the exercise of authority over them. The household sacrificed to the spirits of the dead was abandoned also, and the new religion, with its worship of a Goon unseen, was little short of atheism to this dark-faced woman of the kraals.

One day, visiting the mission house, she saw on the wall a photograph of one of Hofmann's heads of Christ, and at once was struck by it.

"Who is that?" she asked the missionary's wife; but she knew before she was told.

It did not occur to any one to explain to her that this was but an ideal picture, and it was long before she understood; and by the time she knew about it it made little difference. The picture had done its work. For her the Christ not only was real, but some spiritual conception of what he was like had begun to grow in her mind.

Yet she grew the more bitter and hateful, spitting at the Christians as they passed, and showing temper toward her husband. The new upright house he built in place of the kraal pleased her but little, and she hardened her heart against the Christ and his people.

Then her little son grew sick. She sent for the Zulu doctors, but they gave him no relief. She brought the witch-doctor secretly, but the child did not improve. She sacrificed a goat to the spirits, pleading with them to take the evil spell from her child, but the fever did not abate. Then she prayed to "the Christian's God." And even as she prayed, there rose before her mind the vision of the Christ who showed in human life what kind of God the Christian's God is.

The missionary came when she sent for him; and because of his care and medicine the child lived.

Then she became a Christian; for she loved her child, and she believed in Christ. It was hard work fo rher to go to Church. She was unaccustomed to sitting on benches. But when she brought her mat and squatted on it near the front, and was a devout and attentive listener.

The other woman smiled at her at first, but after a little they grew used to her habit, for her knees were prematurely old and stiff.

One Sunday a mother laid her sleeping baby on the corner of the mat where she was squatting, and that was the beginning of a custom. After that, whenever a baby went to sleep in meeting, it was brought by a tiptoeing mother and laid on her mat, till she was sometimes surrounded by babies.

This gave her delight. She assumed the little ones as her care. All the children came to know and love her, and she became their protector and friend. She became a BiMble woman aud went from kraal to kraal, reading as best she could to other women the story of Christ.

Year by year the hard lines of her old face relaxed, and the joy of a new life within shone out through her features. And there were times on Sundays, as she sat surrounded by the little ones, and caring for them and eagerly learning new lessons of the Christ, when the homely old black face grew radiant with a beauty not its own, and her friends saw in it something of the reflected glory which she had discovered and made her own, in the face of Christ.—Youth's Companion.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

He that allows himself everything is permitted is very near to that which is forbidden.—St. Augustine.

Fear not lest they life come to an end; but rather lest it never have a beginning.—Newman.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

FREE DEAFNESS CURE.

A remarkable offer made by one of the leading ear spcialists in this country. Dr. Branaman offers to all applying at once, two full month's medicine free to prove his ability to cure permanently Deafness, Head Noises and Catarrh in every stage. Address, Dr. G. M. Branaman, 1338 Walnut St., Kansas City, Mo.

The Cough of Consumption

Your doctor will tell you that fresh air and good food are the real cures for consumption. But often the cough is very hard. Hence, we suggest that you ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.
[illegible] formulas. J. C. Ayer Co.
[illegible] Lowell, Mass.

Jos. Weckerling, Pres. Geo. Stahler, Sec'y.

LOUISIANA GLASS and MIRROR WORKS Limited.

PAINTS, OILS AND GLASS.

MIRRORS, MEMORIAL WINDOWS, RE-SILVERING AND GLAZING.

Factory 309-319 Lafayette Street. Office and Sales Rooms 408 410-412 Carondelet Street. Phone Main 792 New Orleans, La.

Distributers, JNO. W. MASURY & SON'S Paints, Colors and Varnishes.

W. H. BYRNES, Pres. JOHN T. GIBBONS, Vice-Pres. W. WOOD, Sec'y.
Capital..$200,00.00
Assets...$479,266.90

HIBERNIA INSURNCE CO.,
No. 305 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS ,LA

LOSSES PAID PROMPTLY.

Pine-Brook Dairy Co., Ltd

ALL OUR COWS TUBERCULINE TESTED.

Milk and Cream Delivered Morning and Evening.

COR ST. CHARLES & WASHINGTON AVES. Phone 1514 Uptown.

Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company.

THROUGH DAILY PASSENGER SERVICE
Between
NEW ORLEANS and SHREVEPORT,
via
BATON ROUGE, BAYOU SARA and ALEXANDRIA.
FAST FREIGHT SERVICE.

C. ELLERBE,
Asst. to Prest.,
Shreveport, La.

H. B. HELM,
Gen'l Superintendent,
Shreveport, La.

E. C. D. MARSHALL, G. F. & P. A., Shreveport, La.

THE AMERICAN PAINT WORKS,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.,

MANUFACTURES EVERYTHING IN PAINTS,

Guaranteed Strictly Pure

The Climatic Prepared Paints, Perfecto White and

SOLD SUBJECT TO A CHEMICAL ANALYSIS.

DIRECTORS:

Thos. S. Witherspoon, President. Francis Martin, Vice President.
R. B. Parker. John McCloskey. Geo. A. Hero.

PHONE, MAIN 915. Special Attention to Mail Orders

The Union Railraod Business College,

BUSINESS TAUGHT AS IT IS DONE.

Is backed up by thousands of dollars and expert teachers. Uses no text books or copying nonsense. Free scholarships given only to those between the ages of 13 and 35 years.

Business men everywhere are calling for the graduates of this school. For full particulars, address PROF. W. H. STEPHENSON, Texarkana, Texas.

New Orleans Light House
FRIEDRICH MERCANTILE COMPANY
636 CAMP STREET
LIGHTS

(Friedrich Mercantile Co.)
Well-known Welbach Gas Lights, all styles. Something new. Tubus Gas Lights, very popular. Inverted Gas Lights at $1.10. The Practicus Coal Oil Lamp that burns a mantle 60 hours to one gallon of coal oil. You are invited to see this brilliant light. Gasoline Hollow Wire Lamp Systems, substitute for gas and electric lights.
Full Stock of Lighting Supplies.
Country Orders Solicited.

FOR A GOOD
PIANO,
PIANO PLAYER or PLAYER PIANO see the Grunewald's
Before You Buy.
Agents for the Latest Improved and best Instruments on the Market.
FISCHER

THE BEST MADE.
Angell's Cough and Whooping Cough Syrup
For Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Throat Trouble.
CONTAINS NO OPIUM OR MORPHINE.
All Druggists, Price 25 and 50 Cents.

KING'S "LITTLE GIANT" COTTON
T. W. House, of Texas, says: The King produced double as much as others.
A. A. Williams, of Georgia, says: The King planted same time on same land with same manure and cultivation is twice as good as others.
It ought to Do as Well for You. Take agency and get your seed free.
Seed Sold on Long Time
We wish to show you what the "Genuine King" will do for you, and so we offer the seed on October, 1908, time, at fair prices. Write for application blanks and booklet of proof.
T. J. King Co.,
Richmond, Va.

General News.

The appeal to the Supreme Court by a negro, who has been convicted [illegible] eight years in the penitentiary, for a reversal of sentence on the grounds that he was tried by a jury composed wholly of white men, instead of a jury composed of white and black, has been dismissed. The Supreme Court took the ground that the law applies with equal force to all citizens, and that a jury may be composed of all white, or all negroes, or part white and part black, and in either case it is a perfectly lawful jury, provided no one has been excluded simply because he belongs to one race or the other.

* * *

Mr. Kent, of Chicago, has donated to the United States Government 295 acres of redwood forest, located six miles from San Francisco. The Government will make a forest reserve out of this tract, and thus preserve from destruction for the benefit of future generations samples of this noble tree. The present rapid demolition of the redwood forests for lumber makes it certain that in a few years only these reserves will be left to show what the tree looks like.

* * *

The Supreme Court of Louisiana has decided that the shares held in any corporation are not taxable, only the tangible property, movable and immovable, held by the corporation is taxable.

* * *

The Recorder of the City Court of Atlanta, Ga., has ruled that no liquid preparation that contains any percent of alcohol can be sold in that city without a physician's prescription. This rules out nearly all liquid medicines, patent or otherwise, as alcohol is the basis of all of them. It also rules out listerine, rosewater, cologne, and scores of other articles for which there is constant demand.

* * *

The Times-Democrat of New Orleans, in a series of editorials, is exposing the much higher cost of running the city of New Orleans, as compared with other cities of like population. It charges the discrepancy to ring politics.

* * *

Senator McCreary has introduced a bill in Congress to make ex-presidents ex-officio representatives for life at the Pan-American and International Conferences in which the United States may participate, with an annual salary of $10,000 and expenses. It is to be hoped that this or some similar bill will pass through Congress as an ex-president, from the very nature of the case, continues to represent the dignity of the nation as long as he lives. The [illegible] should provide the means for the ex-president to meet the demands that are always made upon him. There are some pitiful chapters in the lives of some of our ex-presidents which should never be repeated in the future.

The Committee on Judiciary of the Senate is giving hearings on the bills relating to interstate traffic in liquor. It is to be hoped that relief will be granted, for the federal laws go far to defeat the purpose of the people by making express offices and depots practically saloons. If Congress prohibits the importation of liquor into states which now forbids the sale, it will go far to put an end to the jug trade.

North Mississippi Conference.

DURANT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Sallis, at Hurricane	Jan. 4, 5
Kosciusko Station	Jan. 5, 6
Chester, at Nebo	Jan. 11, 12
Ackerman, at Ackerman	Jan. 12, 13
Pickens, at Pickens	Jan. 19, 20
Durant Station	Jan. 26, 27
Rural Hill, at Rural Hill	Feb. 1, 2
McCool, at McCool	Feb. 2, 3
Ebenezer, at Hebron	Feb. 8, 9
Lexington Station	Feb. 9, 10
Vaiden, at Vaiden	Feb. 12
Black Hawk, at B. H.	Feb. 15, 16
Sidon & Tchula, at Cruger	Feb. 19
Kosciusko Cir., at Bethel	Feb. 22, 23
West, at West	Mar. 1, 2
Louisville, at Louisville	Mar. 4
Poplar Creek, at Friendship	Mar. 7, 8

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUSD.

Aberdeen	Dec. 15, 16
Houston	Dec. 22, 23
Tupelo	Jan. 5, 6
Shannon, at Shannon	Jan. 11, 12
Verona	Jan. 12, 13
Okolona Station	Jan. 19, 20
Buena Vista, at Beuna Vista	Jan. 24
Prairie, at Prairie	Jan. 25, 26
Amory and Nettleton, at A.	Feb. 2, 3
Bounds Ct., at Tabernacle	Feb. 6
Pittsboro, at Sumrall	Feb. 7
Vardaman, at Vardaman	Feb. 8, 9
Houlka, at Wesley Chapel	Feb. 15, 16
Montpelier, at Sparta	Feb. 18
Palestine, at Algona	Feb. 22, 23
Pontotoc, at Pontotoc	Feb. 23, 24
Nettleton, at Evergreen	Feb. 29, Mch 1
Smithville, at Antioch	Mch. 2
Okolona Ct., at Moore Chap.	Mch. 4
Aberdeen Ct., at Gr. Spgs.	Mch. 7, 8
Fulton, at Hardins Chap.	Mch. 12

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Columbus, First Church	Dec. 21, 22
Columbus, Second Church	Dec. 22, 23
West Point	Jan. 4, 5
Columbus Ct., at New Hope	Jan. 11, 12
Starkville Ct., at Smyrna	Jan. 18, 19
Starkville	Jan. 19, 20
Shuqualak, at Salem	Jan. 25, 26
Macon	Jan. 26, 27
Winstonville, at Middleton	Feb. 1, 2
Mayhew, at Artesia	Feb. 8, 9
Mathiston, at Mathiston	Feb. 15, 16
Crawford, at Crawford	Feb. 22, 23
Sturges, at Sturges	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Brooksville, at B.	Mar. 7, 8
Hebron, at Hebron	Mar. 14, 15
Cedar Bluff, at Phoeba	Mar. 21, 22

L. M. LIPSCOMB, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Booneville Sta.	Dec. 22, 23
Corinth Sta.	Dec. 29, 30
Iuka Ct., at Harmony	Jan. 4, 5
Iuka Sta.	Jan. 5, 6
Kossuth Ct., at Wesley's C.	Jan. 11, 12
Corinth Ct., at Gaines Chap.	Jan. 14,
Mooresville and Saltillo, at S.	Jan. 18, 19
Guntown and Baldwyn, at G.	Jan. 19, 20
Mantachie Ct., at Hebron	Jan. 21,
Belmont Ct., at Pattersons	Jan. 25, 26
Tishomingo Ct., at Boggs	Jan. 28,
Wheeler Ct., at Wheelers	Feb. 1, 2
Marietta Ct., at Marietta	Feb. 4,
Myrtle Ct., at Hickory Flat	Feb. 8, 9
Blue Springs Ct., at B. S.	Feb. 10,
New Albany Sta.	Feb. 16, 17
N. Albany Ct., at Mt. Olivet	Feb. 18,
Booneville Ct., at Carolina	Feb. 22, 23
Jonesboro Ct., at Camp Gr.	Feb. 26,
Rainey and Faulkner, at R. C.	Feb. 28,
Ripley and N. H. at Ripley	Feb. 29, 1

BEN P. JACO, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Sardis	Dec. 22, 23
Como	Dec. 29, 30
Senatobia	Jan. 4, 5
Mt. Pleasant	Jan. 11
Byhalia	Jan. 12, 13
Olive Branch, at Kelley	Jan. 14
Arkabutla, at Hunter's C.	Jan. 18
Cold Water	Jan. 19, 20
Cochrum	Jan. 25, 26
Wall Hill	Feb. 1, 2
Pleasant Hill, at Lewisburg	Feb. 8
Hernando and Hinds, at H.	9, 10
Courtland	15, 16
Harrison	22, 23
Eureka, at Cole's Springs	Feb. 29, 1
Tyro, at Fredonia	Mar. 7, 8
Long Town, at Davis Ch'l.	Mar. 14, 15
Crenshaw	Mar. 21, 22
Batesville	Mar. 28, 29

The District Stewards will please meet at Cold Water, Jan. 20.

W. M. YOUNG, P. E.

OVFORD DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Abbeville Ct., at A.	Jan. 4, 5
Oxford Station	Jan. 8.
Holly Springs Ct., at Lamar	Jan. 11.
Holly Springs Sta.	Jan. 12, 13
Potts Camp Ct., at P. C.	Jan. 17.
Red Banks, at R. B.	Jan. 18, 19
Ashland Ct., at Liberty	Jan. 21,
Water Valley, Main St.	Jan. 23,
Water Valley, First Church	Jan. 24,
Grenada Ct., at Spring Hill	Jan. 25, 26
Grenada Station	Jan. 26, 27
Charleston Ct. at Charleston	Jan. 28,
Coffeeville Ct., at C.	Jan. 30,
Water Val. Ct., at Palestine	Feb. 1, 2
Paris Ct., at Paris	Feb. 8, 9
Toccapola Ct.	Feb. 14.
Randolph Ct.	Feb. 15, 16
Waterford Ct.	Feb. 22, 23

J. E. CUNNINGHAM, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Clarksdale	11 a. m.	Jan. 5
Lula, at Lyon	7 p. m.	Jan. 5
Hollandale, at Arcola	11 a. m.	Jan. 12
Leland	7 p.m.	Jan. 12,
Greenville		Jan. 18, 19
Cleveland Ct.	11 a.m.	Jan. 23,
Cleveland Sta.	7 p.m.	Jan. 23,
Boyle, at B.		Jan. 25, 26
Duncan, at Alligator	p.m.	Jan. 26,
Coahoma, at C.	11 a.m.	Feb. 2,
Tunica, at T.	7 p.m.	Feb. 2,
Robinsonville, at R		Feb. 3, 4
Rosedale	11 a.m.	Feb. 9,
Hill House, at Gunnison	pm	Feb. 9,
Friar's Point		Feb. 16, 17
Jonestown		Feb. 23, 24
Shaw		Mar. 1, 2
Glen Allan and Greenville Mission		Mar. 7, 8

R. A. MEEK, P. E.

Sunday School

A WORD ABOUT OUR SUNDAY SCHOOL LITERATURE.

My Dear Brother Editor: Will you kindly grant me the privilege of saying a few words through the New Orleans Christian Advocate to our Sunday school workers in Mississippi and Louisiana?

1.—First of all, I wish to express my sincere thanks for the many messages of appreciation of the improvements recently made in our Sunday school literature. The changes which have called forth these kindly expressions are as follows:

(a) A complete readjustment of the matter contained in the Magazine with a view of more thoroughly meeting the wants of all teachers above the primary grade.

(b) The publication of the Adult Student, a beautiful illustrated monthly designed to meet the wants of adult classes, particularly of those that are organized for combined Bible study and Christian service. The rapidity with which subscriptions to this new periodical have come in show that it meets a real need.

Every adult class in the Church that is not supplied with the Magazine should have the Adult Student.

(c) The publication of the Primary Teacher, an attractive 64-page illustrated quarterly written by one of the very best primary teachers in the world and giving just the help needed by those who are charged with the difficult and supremely important work of teaching our boys and girls between the ages of six and nine.

(d) The change of Our Little People and Junior Lessons from leaflets to quarterlies.

2. These additions and changes have been made at large cost both of money and labor by the Sunday school department. It is always vastly cheaper and easier to continue to run in the old ruts. In no other department of Christian activity, however, has there been such rapid progress during the last ten years as in Sunday school work; and, of course, there has been a corresponding development in Sunday school literature. Our own Church owes it to her large constituency to keep pace with this progress. There is no reason why our Publishing House should not issue and our people use as good literature as there is in the world. It is solely with the view of encouraging the most effective work in our Sunday schools by furnishing to both our teachers and scholars the very best helps that we have made the additions and changes mentioned above.

You Look Prematurely Old
Because of those ugly, grizzly, gray hairs. Use "LA CREOLE" HAIR RESTORER. Price, $1.00, retail.

3. By way of illustration, let me call particular attention to the changes in our primary and junior literature.

Our Little People and Junior Lessons in their present form not only furnish original illustrations of each lesson, but also supply much fuller treatment of the lessons than the leaflets.

(a) The former gives the lesson in story form, as this is now universally conceded to be the most effective way of presenting truth to children of tender years. It should be kept in mind, however, that each pirmary teacher will need our Primary Teacher's quarterly, which supplies additional illustrative stories and full information as to how each lesson is to be taught. Any primary teacher who will make an honest effort will find that, with the help of this quarterly, she can use the story method much more easily and effectively than the old question and answer methods. In this connection I [illegible] call attention to our Olivet Picture Cards, which may be used to supplement Our Little People for children of the primary grade (six to nine); or in connection with the Picture Roll, to meet the needs of children in the beginners' grade (three to six) in case they are not supplied with the Beginners' Course. Later we hope to issue an illustrated paper in order more fully to meet the needs of children of both the primary and junior grades.

(b) Junior Lessons, in its new form, takes cognizance of the fact that the junior age, namely, from nine to twelve, is the memorizing age, and is prepared with the view of encouraging children of this grade to store their minds with precious gems from the Word of God. It is also designed to encourage the use of the Bible itself by the scholars—a matter which all must regard as of the very greatest importance. Indeed, one of the serious objections to the leaflet for children of this grade is that it tends to banish the Bible altogether and to develop loose and haphazard methods of study. It may be that some of our junior teachers may not be able at once to induce their scholars to do all the work outlined in Junior Lessons. In that case, they should use in the beginning so much of each lesson as they find available, endeavoring meanwhile to lead their classes as rapidly as they are able into the practice of more thorough methods. Note also that the Magazine is henceforth to contain a special department of "Suggestions for the Junior Teacher."

(c) Do not be content to run along in the old rut, but adopt an ideal and work towards it. You will not be able to accomplish everything in a month or a quarter, but if you will adopt improved methods and resolutely try to put them into practice, you cannot fail to make substantial progress.

☞ Because it is easier to stand still than to go forward, some teachers may be tempted to complain at the demand for study and preparation made upon them by the changes which we have introduced; but we trust that no earnest teacher will for a moment yield to this temptation. And we particularly ask that our superintendents and pastors take pains to encourage any who may be timid about trying to take a step forward. Tell them that our Church is just now only undertaking to do what every other great Protestant denomination in the country has already successfully done, and that we owe it to the children for whose religious training we are responsible to use the best helps and the best methods, and not to be content simply with the easiest. Finally, take these primary and junior quarterlies and carefully study a few lessons for yourself in order that you may personally understand their vast superiority over the old leaflets and so be able to make it clear to your teachers.

Meanwhile, if there are points about which you need further information, write to the Sunday school department. It is our business to study Sunday school problems and to help in every possible way our Sunday school workers, and we always welcome both enquiries and suggestions.

Let me, in conclusion, express for the Sunday school department our deep and sincere appreciation of the loyal and hearty support and co-operation of our Sunday school leaders in our efforts to improve the quality of our literature. Sincerely,

E. B. CHAPPELL,
Sunday School Editor.

Don't you know
THAT CRADDOCK-TERRY CO.'S
Long Wear Shoes
wear longer than other shoes at the same price? If not, try a pair of these celebrated shoes and be convinced.

Agents Wanted to sell BEX OILS & BEX CHILL TONIC to your neighbors. No traveling salesmen wanted. J. S. BURTON, Medicine Co. Sherman, Texas.

ALTAR CHAIRS, SUNDAY School Seats, School Desks, Portable Chairs, Collection Plates, Communion Tables, Lodge Furniture, etc. Ask for free catalog No. 60 E. H. Stafford Mfg. Co., Chicago, Ill.

Paris Commercial College
[illegible] Every student [illegible] a separate [illegible] individual instruction. [illegible] free from saloons and [illegible] large, free, 54-page illustrated catalog before entering [illegible]
A. P. LEVER or N. B. ABERNATHY, Assoc. Pres.
Box 157 D., Paris, Texas.

Skin Diseases
TETTER, ECZEMA, RINGWORM, PIMPLES which disfigure the face and torment the body, can be permanently cured by killing the germs through the application of TETTERINE
to the affected parts. The greatest of skin cures and household remedies in the world. Price only 50 cents.

Tetterine Soap—medicinal and toilet—the best skin purifying and beautifying soap, as well as the purest and sweetest for toilet, bath, and nursery. Price 25c.

If your druggist does not keep them send direct to Shuptrine Company - - - Savannah, Ga.

SCROFULINE
The Wonderful Healer
Unsurpassed for all skin and scalp troubles, eczema, tetter, blood poison, old sores, ulcers and piles—any nature or duration. Goes to the very seat of the trouble, kills the germs and extracts all foreign matter. A powerful remedy, yet can be applied to the most delicate parts. Sold under a guarantee, 50c and $1.00 per jar. By mail upon receipt of price.
The Scrofuline Co. . . . . Waco, Texas.
SOLE OWNERS AND MANUFACTURERS.

STEWART HOME and SCHOOL FOR FEEBLE-MINDED CHILDREN AND ADULTS.
Expert training, mental development, and care by specially trained teachers, and experienced physician who has devoted his life to the study and treatment of nervous children. Home influences. Delightfully located in the blue grass section of Kentucky. 100 acres of beautiful lawn and woodland for pleasure grounds. Elegantly appointed building, electric lighted and steam heated. Highly endorsed and recommended by prominent physicians, ministers and patrons. Write for terms and descriptive catalogue. Address
DR. JNO. P. STEWART, Supt., Box 4, Farmdale, Ky.

If you are not satisfied with your present salary write to-day for particulars. Good positions always ready for our graduates. We cannot supply the demand.
Harris Business University
THE ONLY BUSINESS UNIVERSITY IN THE SOUTH JACKSON, MISS.

112 PIECE
DINNER SET
FREE

To Every Lady Reader
Here is a life time opportunity whereby every woman in the United States can get a handsomely designed 112 piece Decorated Dinner Set absolutely free. All we ask is, that you sell a few cans of our Perfection Baking Powder and the Dinner Set is yours. You can realize how easy, and with what little effort you can do this, for a full size cut glass pattern pitcher and six glasses is included with each can of Baking Powder, etc., in our offer No. 420. But this is not all. To every lady who sends in her name and address right away, we will give in addition, as a Special Premium, absolutely free, the Handsome Parlor Lamp described below, with first order. You simply can't realize what a great big offer this is until you actually see these beautiful premiums.

This Parlor Lamp Absolutely FREE
We are determined to push our Baking Powder to the front and to get you to help us, we will send with your first order this Handsome Decorated Parlor Lamp and it will not cost you a penny. Remember we will send the Lamp in addition to the Dinner Set. This Parlor Lamp is 17 in. high with 8 in. decorated globe and all trimmings polished brass. These Lamps are going fast and if you want one, write quick.

NO MONEY NECESSARY You risk absolutely nothing. We will pay all freight charges and ship you the Baking Powder and send your premium with the Baking Powder, and also send the Glass Pitcher and Six Glasses all together, and then

WE GIVE YOU TIME TO DELIVER AND COLLECT BEFORE REMITTING TO US
You start in business on our money. Did you ever hear of such a liberal offer? Now don't delay. These handsome Dinner Sets will be grabbed up mighty quick by prudent ladies all over the country. While it is on your mind sit down and send us your name and address so that you can get our big Special Premium; also free our Mammoth Catalogue and Premium List. Be sure and write today.

HAGOOD MFG. CO.
385 N. Commercial Street ST. LOUIS, MO.
If the Hagood Method is not the BEST why do others try to imitate it?

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

Mississippi Conference.

NATCHEZ DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Liberty, at Liberty	Jan. 4, 5
Centreville	Jan. 11, 12
Homochitto, at Mt. Olive	Jan. 18, 19
Bethel, at Macedonia	Jan. 25, 26
Gloster	Jan. 26, 27
Barlow, at Rehoboth	Feb. 1, 2
Hamburg, at Hamburg	Feb. 8, 9
Fayette, at Fayette	Feb. 15, 16
Percy s Creek, at Dawson's	Feb. 22, 23
Woodville	Feb. 23, 24
Natchez, Pearl St.	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Natchez, Jefferson St.	Mar. 1, 2
Bayou Pierre, at P. V.	Mar. 7, 8
Caseyville, at New Hope, Monday, 11 a. m.	Mar. 9
Wilkinson, at Friendship	Mar. 14, 15
Meadville, at Providence	Mar. 21, 22
Washington, at W.	Mar. 28, 29

J. T. LEGGETT, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.— FIRST ROUND.

Utica, at Utica	Jan. 4, 5
Harriston, at Harriston	Jan. 11, 12
Port Gibson, at P. G.	Jan. 13
Crawford St., Vicksburg	Jan. 15
Lorman, at Lorman	Jan. 18, 19
South Warren, at Red Bone	Jan. 25, 26
S. Washington, Vicksburg	Jan. 27
Bolton, at Bolton	Feb. 1, 2
Hermanville, at H.	Feb. 8, 9
Silver City, at S. C.	Feb. 15, 16
Satartia, at Wesley Chapel	Feb. 18
Oak Ridge, at O. R.	Feb. 22, 23
Edwards, at Edwards	Feb. 24, 25
Anguilla, at Anguilla	Mar. 1, 2
Rolling Fork, at R. F.	Mar. 2, 3
Mayersville, at Mayersville	Mar. 3, 4
Rocky Springs, at R. S.	Mar. 7, 8

G. H. GALLOWAY, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Purvis	Jan. 4, 5
Eastabutchie	Jan. 11, 12
Americus, at Pleasant Hill	Jan. 18, 19
Lucedale	Jan. 19, 20
New Augusta	Jan. 21
McHenery and Wiggins, at McHenery	Jan. 21
Pass Christian	Jan. 25, 26
Bay St. Louis	Jan. 27
Pearlington and Logtown, at Logtown	Jan. 28
Van Cleave	Jan. 30
Escatawpa	Jan. 31
Moss Point	Feb. 1, 2
Pascagoula	Feb. 2, 3
Lumberton	Feb. 8, 9
Biloxi, Main St.	Feb. 15, 16
Long Beach	Feb. 17
Hattiesburg, Main St.	Feb. 21, 22
Hattiesburg, Broad St.	Feb. 22, 23
Hattiesburg, Court St.	Feb. 24
Carriere and McNeill, at Carriere	Feb. 29, 1
Brooklyn and Bond, at Brooklyn	Mar. 6
Mentorum and New Zion, at New Zion	Mar. 7, 8
Gulfport, 25th Ave.	Mar. 10
Gulfport, 29th St., at Handsboro	Mar. 11
Ocean Springs and Oak St., Oak St	Mar. 12
Coalville, at Poplarhead	Mar. 14, 15
Howison ann Saucler, at S.	Mar. 15, 16
Wolf River, at Durhams C.	Mar. 17

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND

Prentiss, at Prentiss(. Thurs.	Jan. 2
Hub, at Hathorn	Jan. 4, 5
Columbia	Jan. 5, 6
Silver Creek, at Bethel	Jan. 11, 12
Magnolia (Wed)	Jan. 15,
McComb and Fernwood, at La-Branch	Jan. 18, 19
McComb, Centenary	Jan. 19, 20
Hazlehurst (Wed)	Jan. 22,
Gallman, at Bethesda	Jan. 25, 26
Crystal Springs	Jan. 26, 27
Pearlhaven, at P. (Thurs)	Jan. 30,
Tylertown, at T.	Feb. 1, 2
Brookhaven (Wed.)	Feb. 4,
Bogue Chitto and Norfield, at B. C.	Feb. 8, 9
Adams, at Adams	Feb. 15, 16
Beauregard, at B.	Feb. 22, 23
Wesson	Feb. 23, 24
Monticello, At M.	Mar. 1, 2
Summit, at Summit	Mar. 8, 9
Topisaw, at Topisaw (Wed)	Mar. 11,

GEO. H. THOMPSON, P. E.

JACKSON DISTRICT—FIRST ROUND

Jackson, Capitol St., 11 a.m.	Jan. 5,
Jackson, Rankin St., 7 p.m.	Jan. 5,
Magee, at Magee	Jan. 11, 12
Thomasville, at Greenfield, 11 a.m.	Jan. 18, 19
Brandon 7 p.m.	Jan. 19, 20
Seminary, at Williamsburg, 11 a.m.	Jan. 25, 26
Collins 7 p.m.	Jan. 26, 27
Canton	Jan. 31,
Sharon, at Sharon	Feb. 1, 2
Madison, at Madison	Feb. 3,
Jackson, First Church	Feb. 5,
Fannin, at Oakdale	Feb. 8, 9
Florence, at Marvin Church	Feb. 14,
Braxton, at Braxton	Feb. 15, 16
Terry, at Terry	Feb. 19,
Deasonville, at Union	Feb. 22, 23
Benton, at Midway	Feb. 25,
Yazoo City	Feb. 26,
Eden, at Eden	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Flora, at Flora	Mar. 2,
Mount-Olive, at Mt. O.	Mar. 6,
Bethel and Mission, at B.	Mar. 7, 8
Pinola, at Mount Pisgah	Mar. 14, 15

The Board of District Stewards will convene in Jackson, First Church, on Thursday, Jan. 30, at 10 a.m. The meeting is one of unusual importance, and it is earnestly desired that in cases where there are no early morning trains the members will come in Wednesday evening. A. F. WATKINS, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Carrollton, at Carrollton	Jan. 4, 5
Itta Bena	Jan. 10
Belzoni, at Belzoni	Jan. 11, 12
Eupora and Maben, at E.	Jan. 18, 19
Moorhead, at M	Jan. 25, 26
Indianola, at I.	Jan. 27,
Inverness, at Inverness	Jan. 29,
Schlater, at S.	Feb. 1, 2
Webb, at Tutwiler	Feb. 4,
Minter City, at M. C.	Feb. 8, 9
N. Carrollton, at Eden	Feb. 12,
Winona Ct., at New Hope	Feb. 15, 16
Mar's Hill, at M. H.	Feb. 18,
Tom Nolen, at Stewart	Feb. 22, 23
Ruleville, at Drew	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Vance, at Vance	March 3,
Slate Springs	March 7, 8

E. S. LEWIS, P. E.

NEWTON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Bay Springs, at B. S.	Jan. 4, 5
Taylorsville, at T.	Jan. 8
Laurel	Jan. 9
5th Ave. and K.	Jan. 10
Montrose, at Montrose	Jan. 11, 12
Shiloh, at Shiloh	Jan. 15
Morton and P., at M.	Jan. 16,
Forest and H., at F.	Jan. 17,
Lake, at Lake	Jan. 18, 19
Newton	Jan. 19, 20
Raleigh, at Trinity	Jan. 23,
Trenton, at Burns	Jan. 24,
Homewood, at H.	Jan. 25, 26
Hebron, at Hebron	Feb. 1,
Ellisville, at E.	Feb. 2, 3,
Harperville, at H.	Feb. 7,
Walnut Grove, at W.	Feb. 8, 9
Carthage, at C.	Feb. 9, 10
Edinberg, at Waldo	Feb. 15, 16
Philadelphia, at P.	Feb. 16, 17
Indian Miss., at Philadel.	Feb. 17,
Neshoba, at Mt. Pisgah	Feb. 18,
Decatur, at Union	Feb. 22, 23
Chunkey, at C.	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Vossburg and H., at V.	Mar. 7, 8
Rose Hill, at Rose Hill	Mar. 14, 15

JAS. M. WEEMS, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST—FIRST ROUND.

Meridian, Central, 11 a.m.	Jan. 5,
East End, 7:30 p.m.	Jan. 5,
South Side, 11 a.m.	Jan. 12,
Seventh Ave., 7:30 p.m.	Jan. 12,
Fifth St., 11 a.m.	Jan. 19,
Shubuta, at Shubuta	Jan. 26, 27
Waynesboro, Wed., 7:30 p.m., Thursday	Jan. 29, 30
Buckatunna, at B.	Jan. 31,
Leakesville, at L.	Feb. 1, 2
Enterprise, at E.	Feb. 8, 9
Scooba, at Scooba	Feb. 15, 16
Lauderdale, at L.	Feb. 22, 23
N. Kemper, at Spg. Hill	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
De Kalk, Tuesday	Mar. 3,
Daleville, at Soule's Chapel	Mar. 7, 8
Binnsville, at B.	Mar. 10,
Pachuta, at McGowan's	Mar. 14, 15
Middleton, at Manassa	Mar. 17,
Waynesboro Ct., at Fedora	Mar. 19,
Matherville, at Winnifred	Mar. 21, 22
Eucutta	Mar. 24,
Vimville, at Pleas. Ridge	Mar. 25, 26

W. C. BLACK, P. E.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of Dcember, A. D., 1886.

(Seal.) A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucuous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO.,
Toldo, O.

Sold by all druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo,
Lucas County.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

We can help mage bright by our keenness, but we can never accomplish anything toward making people good except by our tenderness.—C. H. Parkhurst.

Plain Talks on Fertilizers
How to Get the Greatest Possible Yield per Acre

It is a well-known scientific fact that in order to produce the very greatest possible yield from any soil it must contain an actual excess over and above all demands that can possibly be made on it by the plants.

Many farmers will feed their stock as much nourishing food as they can possibly assimilate, yet will starve their crops on the mistaken notion that they are "economizing" on fertilizer. The experiences of farmers, government experts, and agriculturalists everywhere confirm the fact that plants, like animals, need the fullest possible amount of nourishment that they can obtain if they are to be developed to the utmost.

The economy in fertilizers is not in the amount used but in the ratio of quality to cost. Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers are the best in the world for the least money. More than one million tons were sold to Southern farmers last year; and every year the demand becomes greater.

The best results in producing corn, the good old stand-by crop of the South, follow the application of 200 to 300 pounds of the right fertilizer. Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers will greatly "increase your yields per acre" of corn or any other crop, even on poor land—and the most wonderful result are produced through its use on good land.

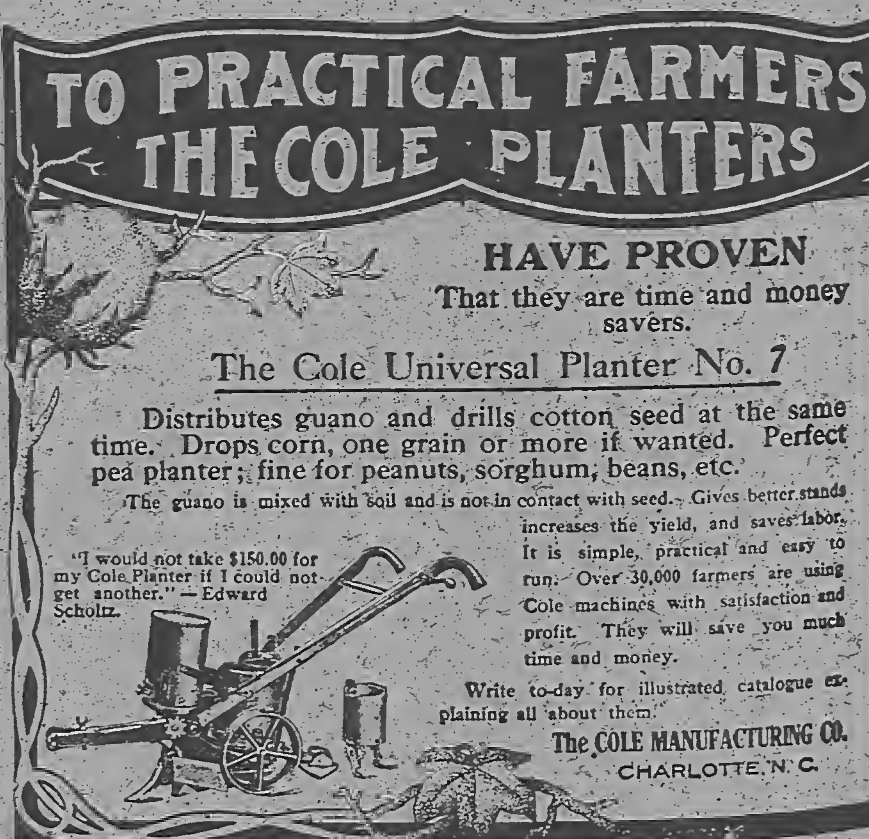
Write today to the nearest office of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company for a copy of their latest Year Book or Almanac, a large 130-page book of the most valuable and unprejudiced information for planters and farmers.

VIRGINIA-CAROLINA CHEMICAL CO.

Richmond, Va.
Norfolk, Va.
Columbia, S. C.
Durham, N. C.
Charleston, S. C.
Baltimore Md.
Atlanta, Ga
Columbus, Ga.
Savannah, Ga.
Montgomery, Ala.
Memphis, Tenn.
Shreveport, La.

Fertilizers Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co.

Frank J. Matthew,
PAINTER and DECORATOR.
1003-1005 Gravier Street. Phone, Main 4087.
Box No. 141, Contractors' and Dealers' Exchange.



TO PRACTICAL FARMERS THE COLE PLANTERS

HAVE PROVEN
That they are time and money savers.

The Cole Universal Planter No. 7

Distributes guano and drills cotton seed at the same time. Drops corn, one grain or more if wanted. Perfect pea planter; fine for peanuts, sorghum, beans, etc.

The guano is mixed with soil and is not in contact with seed. Gives better stands increases the yield, and saves labor. It is simple, practical and easy to run. Over 30,000 farmers are using Cole machines with satisfaction and profit. They will save you much time and money.

"I would not take $150.00 for my Cole Planter if I could not get another." — Edward Scholtz.

Write to-day for illustrated catalogue explaining all about them.

The COLE MANUFACTURING CO.
CHARLOTTE, N. C.

FERRY'S SEEDS

[illegible] Ferry's Seed Annual [illegible] Address D. M. FERRY & Co., DETROIT, MICH.

Heiskell's

The most [illegible] cases of Eczema can be quickly and completely cured by the application of Heiskell's Ointment. It also cures Blotches, Rough and Pimpled Skin, Erysipelas, Tetter, Ulcers, and all other skin diseases. Before applying the ointment, bathe the parts affected, using Heiskell's Medicated Soap. Heiskell's Blood and Liver Pills tone up the liver and purify the blood. Your druggist sells these preparations. Ointment, 50c a box; Soap, 25c a cake; Pills, 25c a bottle. Send for book of testimonials and learn what these wonderful remedies have done for others.

JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO.,
531 COMMERCE STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Ointment

CURES FITS
RIGHT REMEDY IS FOUND AT LAST.

Don't Take our Word
Try It Yourself.
$2.50 worth FREE

[illegible]

Institute of Health, [illegible]

POCKET S. S. COMMENTARY
FOR 1908: SELF-PRONOUNCING Edition on Lessons and Text for the whole year, with right-to-the-point practical HELPS and Spiritual Explanations. Small in Size but Large in Suggestion and Fact. Daily Bible Readings for 1908, also Topics of Epworth League Society, with Pledge, etc. Red Cloth 25c, Morocco 35c, Interleaved for Notes 50c, postpaid. Stamps Taken. Agents Wanted. Address GEO. W. NOBLE, Lakeside Bldg, Chicago

FOR RENT.

Two-story house, 545 Lowerline St., one-half square from St. Charles Ave., New Orleans, La. Eight rooms; reception hall; all modern conveniences; large yard, etc. Apply to Rev. J. W. Tinnin, Pelican and Lavergne, Algiers, La.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

Has been used for over SIXTY-FIVE YEARS by MILLIONS of MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING with PERFECT SUCCESS. It SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN; CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHŒA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1098. AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.

Southern Pacific
Sunset Route

Connections made at New Orleans
with all lines to the

North East and Southeast

WRITE FOR INFORMATION
G. E. GUEDRY, D. P. A.
Lake Charles.
BATTURS, G. P. A.
New Orleans.

Epworth League

By Rev. H. Whitehead.

THE EXAMPLE OF JESUS IN PRAYER: III. PRAYER AS A SAFEGUARD IN SUCCESS.

John vi. 14-15; Luke x. 17-22; Ps. [illegible]

Topic for February 2.

Perhaps we are more accustomed to the association of prayer with experiences of need and trouble that compel the soul to reach out beyond its tangible environment and to seek support in God. In fact, trouble, loss, difficulty, defeat drive men to prayer, and success often induces them to cease from praying. The lifting of the pressure of need is often the removal of the incentive to pray. But the example of Jesus teaches us that in success there is special need. When outward circumstances favor, there may be an inward, spiritual menace. The change of the circumstances that have forced us to rely upon the divine help may itself be a serious condition requiring especial watchfulness. Success has its own temptations as well as failure.

Jesus's popularity in Galilee about the mid period of his ministry there was so great that the multitude were ready to hail him as Messiah. After the miracle of feeding the five thousand, the Galileans desired to raise the standard of rebellion and to follow the leadership of Christ in an effort to throw off the Roman yoke and place the Son of David upon David's throne. His success in winning the multitudes could not have been greater. But here was a recurrence of the wilderness temptation to gain the world by worldly means. (Matt. iv. 8.) Jesus met it by going to a lonely place in the mountains that he might pray. The return of the seventy heralds whom he had sent in advance of his Paraean journey with the triumphant announcement that even the devils were subject unto them was the occasion for a lesson to them, lest they be overelated, and for his own prayer of thanksgiving, in which the simplicity of the child is preferred over the powers of merely human sagacity and knowledge.

1. Success brings with it temptations to pride; safety for the Christian is in the consciousness of dependence. Pride is incompatible with faith; for faith is the grace that renounces personal merit, while pride assumes it. Looking upon the vastness and magnificence of Babylon, Nebuchadnezzar's heart was elated, and he took to himself the credit of having brought into being the whole wonderful political and material structure of a great empire. Conquerors are that way. Men who have achieved great results in material things become proud. Indeed, they cannot but be conscious of the quality of their own work which has been, humanly speaking, the means of bringing about results that elicit the admiration of the world. In the heat of his triumph and while applause is ringing in his ears the orator is most likely to think of his own talents and the toilsome process of preparation. It is therfore when most successful that one has need of remembering that all things come from God. Prayer cannot be prayer unless it proceeds upon the assumption of dependence upon God. Elation, pride, self-sufficiency all give way to humble trust when the soul is bowed before God.

2. Success induces carelessness. The very same disposition of the human mind and heart that results in pride tends to make one overestimate his powers and achievements. Industry and carefulness are suspended on the assumption of peculiar advantages and unequaled abilities. In the Christian life [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] often [illegible] and [illegible]. Every [illegible] does not comport with [illegible]. Selfish [illegible] callous to the appeals of suffering and need. But prayer [illegible] before God [illegible]. When the soul [illegible] with God [illegible] ence to the [illegible] other souls [illegible] Christian's [illegible] in the kingdom of God.

4. Success [illegible] and [illegible] tions and trials of [illegible] communion with God has been maintained during [illegible] of prosperity and wealth the soul will often find itself [illegible] into darkness by a turn of fortune or as the result of a providential affliction, or often as the result of the operation of natural processes inseparable from prosperity come the days of disappointment. If the key to the sources of heavenly comfort has been lost when the world seemed to be sufficient in itself, the soul is desolate. Indeed Christians who profess to have attained a high degree of holiness are usually not far from temptations. The Times of material prosperity are more dangerous because subtle for the soul because often accompanied by spiritual neglect. The rejection by the people of Capernaum, by which our Lord was driven from his own city, followed close upon the attempt of the same people who rejected him to make him a king. The tragedy of Jerusalem and the cross were not far from the triumphant return of the seventy evangelical messengers. The example of Jesus is one for our careful study and imitation at every point. It is all helpful. Perhaps at this point we are more likely than at some others to overlook our need. The perfect poise and consistency of the life of Christ are not separable from prayer, which constituted an essential part of his life.

For the Leader.

That we may learn to pray without ceasing, and in everything give thanks (Phil. iv. [illegible]) should be the aim of the presentation of this topic. Prayer being essential in the Christian life, every Leaguer has some experience of prayer, some knowledge of how to pray. We may therefore give the meetings this quarter more of an [illegible] character than is always possible. For a responsive reading the [illegible] Psalm will be excellent. Hymns 95, 517, 505 should be well practiced by the League choir as preparations for the praise and song part of the meeting.

As usual we give for previous distribution

Bible Illustrations.

1. Pride and its natural sequence (Dan. iv. [illegible]). 2. The error of overestimating [illegible] (Mark xiv. [illegible]). 3. How the apostle was guarded in spiritual prosperity (2 Cor. xii. [illegible]). 4. The source of failure in success (Josh. vii. 1-5). 5. A motto (1 Cor. x. 12).—Epworth

Free Catarrh Remedy.

Dr. Blosser Offers to Mail Free a Trial Package of His Remedy.

This remedy was [illegible] three years ago by Dr. Blosser [illegible] with such [illegible] that he was induced [illegible] the world. [illegible] hundred people [illegible] and all his great [illegible] giving [illegible] creams cannot possibly be applied. It "opens up" and clears out the head, nose and throat, stops the hawking and spitting and nose blowing, relieves the headache, head noises, deafness, sore throat, etc.

Send a postal card (or letter) at once to Dr. J. W. Blosser, 204 Walton St., Atlanta, Ga., if you wish to receive the free package and an illustrated booklet.

This week we give the lesson published by the Epworth League Department, and take pleasure in commending the Epworth Era to our young people.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

Church Directory

New Orleans District, Rev. F. N. Parker, D. D., Presiding Elder; residence, 241 Olivier St.

First Methodist Church, St. Charles Ave., near Calliope street; Rev. J. E. Wray, pastor; residence, 5830 Prytania St.; phone 329 (uptown.)

Second Methodist Church, 2531 Burgundy, near Lafayette Ave.; Rev. A. Inman Townsley, pastor; residence, 2531 Burgundy St.; office hours, 9 to 11 a. m.

Parker Memorial, corner Nashville avenue and Perrier street; Rev. C. D. Atkinson, pastor; residence 734 Nashville avenue.

Louisiana Avenue, Louisiana Avenue and Magazine Street; Rev. W. W. Holmes, pastor.

Rayne Memorial, St. Charles Avenue and General Taylor Street; Dr. John A. Rice, pastor; residence, 1161 Peniston Street.

Felicity Street Church, corner Felicity and Chestnut Streets; Rev. Albert S. Lutz, pastor; residence, 2421 Chestnut street; phone, Uptown 1832.

Carrollton Avenue, corner Carrollton avenue and Elm street; Rev. Henry T. Carley, pastor.

Algiers, Lavergne Street, corner Delaronde; Rev. J. F. Foster, pastor.

McDonoghville and Gretna, Rev. H. Whitehead, pastor; residence 5208 Magazine Street; phone, Uptown 2459.

Epworth Church, Corner Banks and Scott streets; Rev. L. A. Simms, pastor; residence, 4031 Palmyra street; phone, Main 4284.

Rev. L. E. Wicht, junior preacher Lower Coast Mission; address, 509 Board of Trade Bldg., New Orleans.

BELLS.
Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. [illegible] BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

BLOOD POISONING POSITIVELY CURED

Hereditary, primary, secondary and tertiary. Scrofula, Eczema, Blood and Skin Disease. If you have exhausted old time methods, and want to get well, write me in fullest confidence for proof of cures. Take my treatment and get well. A. A. BROWER, M. D.
San Antonio, Tex.

Classified Advertisements.

EDUCATIONAL.

WANTED—30,000 telegraphers on account of [illegible] hour law. Draughon's Colleges, 30 in 17 states, [illegible] written contract to secure position or refund money. [illegible] Jno. F. Draughon: Washington, [illegible] Atlanta, Raleigh, St. Louis, Dallas, [illegible]

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Victor Sanitarium [illegible] and scientific treatment [illegible] addiction. Address [illegible]

OPPORTUNITIES AND INVESTMENTS.

Wanted [illegible] for positions [illegible] Positions [illegible] guaranteed [illegible]

8% Investment for Your Savings [illegible] Fixed [illegible] investment that should [illegible] of this paper [illegible] safe [illegible] Jefferson County Building & Loan Association, 217 North [illegible] St., Birmingham, Ala.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

WOMEN. $10 per week using spare time at home; any woman can earn it. Write at once. Vermin Powder Co., Scranton, Pa.

FOR THE HOME.

GEN. ROBERT E. LEE—The best portrait of the great commander is the steel plate engraving made by the John A. Lowell Bank Note Co., Boston, Mass. Send for circular and prices.

Everybody's Doctor. The People's Book of Medicine and Health. By Leading Physicians. Suitably illustrated. Now being published in 24 fortnightly parts. 15c per part. Stamps accepted. Part one will convince you. Cassell & Company, 43 East 19th Street, New York.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC

Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

Birmingham is carrying the Sunday Law to the extreme. Not only are all games prohibited, such as golf, tennis, pingpong, etc., but drug stores, soda water fountains and newspaper dealers are under the ban. As an example of the rigidity which the laws are being enforced, two prominent gentlemen were arrested for matching pennies, to see which should pay for the dinner.

* * *

The one hundred and first anniversary of the birth of General Robert E. Lee was fittingly and appropriately celebrated in New Orleans. On account of the birthday falling on Sunday, the services were held by the different chapters of the U. D. C. on Monday, the 21st.

* * *

The cruiser Des Moines has been sent to Hayti on account of the disturbed conditions there.

* * *

Owing to the improved financial conditions the Secretary of the Treasury, has begun the withdrawal of the deposits from the National banks.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC

Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

Professional Card

DR. W. BAILEY WILLIAMS,
Rhea Springs, Tennessee.

Practice limited to Chronic diseases—Dropsy, Asthma, Catarrh, Cancer and disease of women. Removal of cancer without the knife a specialty. Fees in cancer work range from $25.00 to $500.00. Twenty years experience. Reference given. Personal attention to all correspondence. Free service to the regular Ministry.

MOXINE

Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS. UNLIKE OTHER BELLS SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.
Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

WHY IS IT?

That each month in all the best homes in this country, on the library table, and in every club reading room, you find the

METROPOLITAN MAGAZINE

It is because it keeps you in touch with those great public and human movements on which the American family depends.

It is because its stories are the best published anywhere.

It is because its illustrations in color, and black and white, set the standard.

It is because its articles are the most vital and interesting.

It is because there is something in each copy for every member of every American family.

A YEAR'S FEAST

1800 Beautiful Illustrations. 1560 Pages of Reading Matter.
85 Complete Stories. 75 Good Poems.
50 Timely and Important Articles.
1000 Paragraphs presenting the big news of the "World at Large."
120 Humorous Contributions.
Wonderful Color Work, presented in frontispieces, inserts and covers.

All Yours for One Year's Subscription to
THE METROPOLITAN MAGAZINE
Price $1.50 per Year or 15 Cents a Copy

The Publishers of

The New Orleans Christian Advocate

have made a special arrangement with

THE METROPOLITAN MAGAZINE

by which they are enabled to offer the following extraordinary bargain:

The Cost of One Year's Subscription to

The Metropolitan

is $1.50

The Cost of One Year's Subscription to

The Advocate

is $2.00

We Offer Both for $3.00

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Millsaps College Library

REV. JOHN W. BOSWELL, Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.

NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY FEBRUARY 6, 1908.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher,
Office, 512 Camp St., New Orleans.

VOL. 55—No. 6.

"PROVE ALL THINGS; HOLD FAST THAT WHICH IS GOOD."

WHOLE No. 5385.

Glances at the World.

Strong efforts are being made in various directions to so discourage Mr. Bryan that he will decline to be a candidate for the presidency. There can be no doubt that, while Mr. Bryan is to-day the strongest man before his party, he is opposed by many influential men—men who believe that the Democrats, with the right man, will have a fair chance to win, but do not believe that Mr. Bryan is the man. But he has his head and heart set on the presidency, and has, in unmistakable terms, given the people to understand that he will not be side-tracked. He is in the race and proopses to stay until the matter is settled at the convention in July. But Mr. Bryan is a man of sense, and devoted to principle, and if at last he finds himself in the way, he will sacrifice his ambition and personal feelings for the sake of harmony in the ranks.

* * *

The Legislature of Mississippi, now in session, will enact a prohibtion law, more than two-thirds of the members being in favor of the move. Several bills are now before the two houses, some of them asking for statutory prohibition; and some asking the Legislature to submit a constitutional amendment. It is probable that both measures will be adopted. The State is ripe for prohibition, and can get it quickly only by a special law. With that secure, the people can wait the slow process of obtaining an amendment forever prohibiting the traffic in the State. The whiskey party have about concluded that it is useless to contest the question. Some members, of course, will oppose any move in that direction, but no costly lobby will be maintained at the capitol, nor any large amount of money be spent to defeat the proposed measures. The people have been saying a long time, "the saloon must go." They are now saying, "the saloon must go soon."

* * *

The Supreme Court of the United States has just handed down a decision which will prove of great interest to the public and possibly prove of far-reaching consequence. The master mechanic of the Louisville and Nashville railroad discharged an employe because the said employe had connected himself with a labor union. The discharge of the man was in violation of the act of Congress prohibiting railroad companies engaged in interstate commerce from discriminating against members of labor organizations in the matter of employment. The Court held this law to be unconstitutional, saying the "master mechanic of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company had a right to discharge an employe because he was a member of a labor organization, just as it was the employe's right to quit such employment because of his membership in such organization. Such a course, the decison added, might be unwise, but regarded as a mere matter of right, there could be no doubt. Congress could not, under the constitution, authorize a violation of contracts under the guise of protecting interstate commerce." The court stood seven to two, Justices McKenna and Holmes dissenting.

* * *

There is great discontent and destitution among the working classes in the large cities, arising mainly from the lack of employment. In Chicago they proved a disturbing element by organizing and parading the streets. They did so against the orders of the chief of police, and it required a large force of men to disperse them. Their object was to force the authorities to give them work. The same thing is threatened in New York, where it is said that on the East Side alone there are 160,000 unemployed men, though representatives of charitable organizations say this is largely an overestimate of the number. Among these workers there is a show of socialism, verging nigh into anarchism, that bodes no good. Leaders among them declare that the laboring people do not get their share of what they produce. To get more one said, "we must organize and demand our right." Another "declared that the working people were not yet strong enough to take what they produce, as the police would crack their heads if they attempted it. 'We must organize,' said he, 'and raise a fund to help those in distress, and when the time is ripe, march down in a great body to the city hall, and there demand of the mayor that he give us work.'" There seems to be trouble ahead for somebody.

* * *

The question of dealing with liquor in prohibition territory is now being considered in Congress. As is well known, several bills are before the bodies, all agreeing on the main question, viz: to withdraw Federal protection from the trade in states that have outlawed it. As the matter now stands local authorities cannot deal with traders who ship liquor from one state to another in original packages. The result is in many places the state laws are nullified, and railroad and express offices are virtually converted into saloons. The object in view is to subject all such liquors to the law of the state to which they are shipped. Liquor dealers and the anti-prohibitionists are opposed and doing all they can to block such legislation. They have their attorneys at Washington who are closely watching every move. The Anti-Saloon League is likewise on guard, and will leave nothing undone to press the matter to a favorable conclusion. It is necessary to do something, else prohibition victories will in many places amount to but little. The sentiment of the people is all right. They are willing to enforce the law, but they are powerless, when a Federal tax receipt and inter-state commerce law protect the dealer in his traffic. Congress should be bombarded until it gives the states relief.

* * *

Dr. Wiley, the chemist of the Agricultural Department, has made a report to the Committee on Agriculture of the Lower House of Congress in which he expresses the belief that diseases of the kidneys and appendicitis, now so common, but formerly almost unknown, are largely due to the use of food preservatives and adulterants, such as borax, benzoic and benzoate of soda, sulphate of copper, sulphur dioxide, formaldehyde ,and other so-called harmless things. Dr. Wiley has been experimenting on "poison squads"—individuals who have consented to live on such things as he would prescribe in the interest of health. He did this at the instance of manufacturers who claimed that the adulterants did no harm. "Dr. Wiley said that the expulsion of those and kindred drugs from the body is performed almost entirely by the kidneys, and that he is satisfied that kidney disease, so prevalent among Americans, is partly the result of constant introduction into the system of such preservative substances as benzoate of soda, carried in foods. Before modern chemistry poured out its wonderful discoveries upon the present generation, the only preservatives of food substances were salt and wood smoke, containing a small proportion of creosote, for meats, while vinegar and sugar were used on fruits and vegetables. In these days the food of the people was perfectly wholesome, and the dishes made from it were as delicious and palatable as they ever could be, and appendicitis and Bright's disease of the kidneys were practically unknown. To-day they have become the most common disorders from which we suffer, and they are among the most fatal. There seems to be good reason to charge them to pernicious chemicals that are constantly mixed with our food."

Christian Advocate.

Published for the [illegible] and North Mississippi [illegible] Episcopal [illegible]

DIRECTIONS.

Correspondents will please address all communications intended for the Editor [illegible] St., New Orleans, La. Communications intended for the Business Department should be addressed to the Manager of the New Orleans Christian Advocate. Write with ink, and only on one side of the paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

The Printed Label on [illegible] paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after two weeks, notify us, and we will make it right. Papers will be continued unless subscribers order otherwise.

The Foreign Advertising Department of the N. O. Christian Advocate is in the hands of

Religious Press Advertising Syndicate,
JACOBS & CO., CLINTON, S. C.,

J. F. JACOBS, Mgr., Home Office, Clinton, S. C.
Thornwell Jacobs, 85 Arcade, Nashville, Tenn.
J. D. Jacobs, 343 Fifth Street, Louisville, Ky.
C. C. Little, 614 Mutual Bldg., Richmond, Va.
L. J. Carter, 132 LaSalle Street, Chicago, Ill.
J. B. Gentry, Columbia, S. C.
E. J. Barrett, Dallas, Texas.
Thos. L. Bryan, 232 Courtland St., Atlanta, Ga.
Miss M. R. Middleton, 150 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.

A MATTER OF GRAVE IMPORTANCE.

The fiscal year of the Board of Missions ends March 1. The Board will meet in annual session early in May, at which time the appropriations for the ensuing year will be made. It is a rule of the Board to limit the appropriations for any one year to the amount collected during the year preceding. That is the only safeguard against indebtedness. Unofficial figures compiled from reports made to the recent Annual Conferences, which may be accepted as approximately correct, show a very small advance in the amount collected for foreign missions. The final figures for the year will depend on the amount collected between the adjournment of the Annual Conferences and the end of the fiscal year. Should the prevailing financial depression cause a serious falling off in the collections during the months of January, February and March, we would come to the annual meeting with a small increase, or possibly with a decrease, in our offerings for this great cause. Just how much that would mean can only be fully understood by those directly charged with the administration of our mission work. Urgent appeals for advance, for additional forces and resources are coming from home and foreign fields alike. Needs are many and opportunities are great. To be unable to make any advance in the work this year would be bad. To be forced to retrench would be nothing less than a calamity. Where could we begin to cut off supplies, or to call men home? I sincerely hope that the collections during these remaining weeks may render any such action upon the part of the Board unnecessary, but it is time for the whole Church to take warning. The figures furnished by Dr. T. N. Ivey, in his admirable Handbook, show a very large increase in the amount contributed for the support of the ministry in the year just passed. We can poorly afford to report a substantial increase in our own support and a meager advance in our offerings for the world's evangelization.

This is not a time for argument. Even exhortation ought not to be required. Surely a reminder of the importance of acting promptly and vigorously is all that is needed. Let every [illegible] foreign missions and [illegible] the Treasurer of [illegible]. If you can secure the [illegible] so by all means, but in [illegible]. This is a matter of [illegible]. Wise and vigorous effort [illegible] the next few weeks will mean much for the [illegible] in every field occupied by Southern Methodism. Brother, act at once!

SETH WARD.

THEN AND NOW.

In Buckley's History of Methodism in the United States, Vol. I, page 340, there are two interesting items. Referring to the second General Conference in 1796, he says: "The Conference explained that Methodists were not prohibited from marrying persons not of the Society, provided such have the form and are seeking the power of godliness. If they wedded those who did not come after this description it could be necessary to expel them."

Also, "Question. What directions shall be given concerning the sale and use of spirituous liquors?" "Answer. If any member of our Society retail or give spirituous liquors, and anything disorderly be transacted under his roof, on this account the preacher who has the oversight of the Circuit shall proceed against him as in the case of other immoralities."

Methodists could be bar-keepers if their places were orderly, but could not marry anyone not at least a seeker who already had assumed the form of godliness!

On page 410, speaking of the General Conference of 1812, he says: "James Axley, a member from the Western Conference, moved that no stationed or local preachers shall retail spirituous or malt liquors without forfeiting his ministerial character among us." This motion was defeated. It passed in 1816 after another fight. But the pastoral addresses urge [illegible] distilling and selling liquors. Even preachers could be bar-keepers! Now we properly require all our ministers to be total abstainers.

Page 410: "John Sale moved a resolution to prevent the preachers and private members from buying or holding lottery tickets. Conference divided and postponed action till 1816."

The world is moving.

FROM PHOENIX, ARIZONA.

Dear Dr. Boswell:—I am doing now what I have been wanting to do ever since I came to Phoenix, that is, to write a few lines to tell you how much I enjoy the ADVOCATE, which I have been receiving through the kindness of a friend in New Orleans. It does me good spiritually and keeps me in touch with friends at home. One of my resolutions for 1908 is that whenever I feel that I ought to do a deed, or give a word of praise or cheer to anyone, is to do it at once. Too often we (that are not able to do great things) put off the little things in this life that might amount to great things in eternity. On account of my brother's late illness I have had to neglect reading the recent issues of the ADVOCATE, so last Sunday, not being able to attend Church, I gave the day up to the dear old harbinger of good news. And so I know now that you are elected editor again. Also that Hammond is made a station and will have a resident preacher. To God's name be all the glory for answering our prayers. I rejoice with you all and I want you to know that I consider myself one of you, if I am out in the "wild and woolly" west. When I read the editorials in the ADVOCATE I can imagine myself in the Hammond Church listening to your sermons, which I used to enjoy so much, even if you did "hit" me once in awhile. I am so glad that they will still have you with them there, for I know what a great help you are to them, and how sadly they would miss you in different ways. I enjoy the articles of different writers in the ADVOCATE so much, and when I read letters from "Gilderoy" I always feel like saying, "these are my sentiments." I wish he could know how I look forward to his letters and how I enjoy them. Our Church is doing good work here, and has the name of being the least in wealth, greatest in hospitality and deepest in spirituality of the Phoenix Churches. Our pastor and presiding elder are both deeply spiritual, consecrated men from the South.

Well, Dr. Boswell, I feel quite contented here. Am doing all I can in the Lord's work. This is a grand country, and such good people. Their kindness and devotion touches me deeply, and while I feel unworthy of it all, I give the praise to God because I believe that when we are in the path of duty, regardless of sacrifices, that he will not let us be forsaken, nor cast down, nor left without his sustaining grace.

The temperance rally is going on here, too, and Arizona is working hard to come into the Union as a prohibition State. God grant that she will, and be a bright star of the west that will stand firm for God's glory and illuminate the dark places around her.

There is a poem in a late issue of our Pacific Methodist Advocate entitled, "And the South Is Going Dry," that fills me with pride and joy at the thought of such a good thing, until I feel like shouting glory to God. We have been having a grand union meeting of all the Churches of Phoenix lately held in the M. E. Church, South, (of course it was good) conducted by Evangelist Dr. Henry. It was grand to see so many young men come forward and take a decided stand for God in answer to our special prayers. His temperance talks were all they should be. I told him that there was only two things that I envied the men: they could vote for prohibition and could shout "amen" as loud as they wanted, to his temperance talks. He laughed and said, "Yes, it is too bad you can't." That night in his sermon he said, "women cannot vote; if they could we would have had prohibition long ago." But he said, "every woman ought to have a voter, and every one before me to-night is sweet enough and good-looking enough to get one if she would, and ought to do so." Well, everybody laughed and some of my friends were unmerciful (they heard me talking with him) enough to turn and look at me. But I laughed, too, and pretended not to see any of them.

Well, Dr. Boswell, I have done the best I can, and am even using my best paper, which was a Christmas gift from a dear friend at Tickfaw, La., and which I am to use for special occasions, but I had better quit before I wear my welcome out, and so not be invited to call again. May God bless and cheer you in your work and make you even a greater blessing to his cause, is the prayer of yours in Christ,

LAURA E. FRASER.

FROM REV. G. W. HIVELEY.

Mr. Editor: I reached Hermitage, Ark., Tuesday evening, Dec. 10, about 9:30. As I was transferred to the Little Rock Conference by Bishop Ward, I brought my baggage with me when I left Slidell, Dec. 2. I certainly have cause to love the brethren of the Louisiana Conference for their patience and kindness to me while among them.

Hermitage is a small, new town on the Rock Island Railroad, about 125 miles below Little Rock. Although only about eighteen months old, it claims a population of four hundred and is growing steadily.

I find a Church here about half completed, and with no funds in the treasury. Being a preacher, you know what this means, Mr. Editor, when I also tell you that our District (the Monticello) Conference will meet here in July.

It is only about twenty-five miles distant, across Sabine river, to my childhood home, in Drew County. Near that place my father and one brother slumber, awaiting the resurrection morn.

The NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE comes to my table each week and seems to have lost none of its freshness, because of its many miles of travel. May the Lord graciously bless you and all the readers of the ADVOCATE.

I have been received very kindly by these dear people. With one Church to build and two that need repair, I shall doubtless be kept busy until Conference. Should this escape the waste-basket, I may be tempted to write again. Yours truly,

GEO. W. HIVELEY.

Hermitage, Ark.

SATARTIA CHARGE.

Dear Dr. Boswell: Allow me to say a few words to the public through the columns of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. This is my second appointment to Satartia Charge. We were very kindly received, and have received many tokens of appreciation from the good people of Satartia, not only in words, but in deeds of kindness, in gifts, donations, etc. And specially so during my wife's severe illness, for which we are very grateful, and I am glad to be able, through the goodness of God, and the faithful services of Dr. Crisler, to say that she is up again and able to be about her work. But we are in the midst of grief and sorrow from the work of death. Phoenix has lost three of its oldest citizens since Conference. Old Sister McCoy died on the 26th of December, 1907. She was a good Christian woman. She lost her eye-sight several years ago, but she was cheerful and patient, and while she was deprived of the pleasure of looking on the beauties of nature, she had eyes of faith to see the beauties and goodness of God. On the 15th instant Peter O'Conner, known as uncle "Pete," died in the home of Brother R. L. Fletcher. He was an Irishman, a brick-mason by trade. A good man, and had many friends in the community, though no relatives near here to see to his burial. But he had a nice burial. He was buried at Wesley Chapel Church at Phoenix, Miss. On the 22nd instant Capt. J. B. Hart departed this life. He was captain in the civil war, and but few of his men are living to-day. Some time since the war he joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and died a member of the same. During his time as a member of the Church he served as Sunday-school superintendent and also as steward. He was a faithful attendant of his Church. He was a good husband and father, provided well for his family, but leaves his wife and children and many relatives and friends to mourn their loss, while he enjoys his great reward. May God bless the bereaved ones. The above named persons were Methodists. How important it is for the Church to pray to God to prepare the young people to take the places of the old members as they drop out. We hope and pray for a great revival this year. May God bless the editor and manager of the ADVOCATE.

E. M. MASSEY.

Satartia, Miss.

FROM ACKERMAN, MISS.

Dear Dr. Boswell: At our Annual Conference at Columbus I was read out for Ackerman Charge, a new field to me. I went back to my home in Corinth and began to arrange for an itinerant move. After having spent the ten years of service that I have given to the Church in the Corinth District, and it being my home District, it made me very sad to leave. But such is the life of an itinerant preacher. So we packed our goods, took the train and started to our new field.

We arrived at Ackerman at 8 o'clock p. m. We were met at the train and went at once to the parsonage, found a warm fire, and things neat and comfortable. After having spent a pleasant night we awoke to begin a new day in a new place. Our reception was a very warm one, and we felt at once that we were in good hands, and that "the lines had fallen unto us in pleasant places." At once the people began to pound us. So after the storm had blown over we found that we had plenty to eat, from a box of ground pepper to a barrel of flour, amounting to thirty or fifty dollars, besides some cash to buy nice things for Christmas.

We have just held our first Quarterly Conference with good interest. The stewards raised the assessment one hundred dollars over last year. Brother Thames, presiding elder, came to us, and with much interest preached two very fine sermons. Brother Thames has lost none of his power as a preacher, and knows how to make a Quarterly Conference interesting.

We are just beginning a new Church. We hope to have it ready for us in two months. Brother Duke did a good work here, which will abide. We are praying, working and expecting a good year.

I. D. SIMPSON.

FROM REV. GEO. JACKSON.

My Dear Brother Boswell: Another Conference year has come and gone; the able bodies have gone with their captain to the battle, but we who are no longer able through age and infirmity, like David's two hundred, that were so faint they could not go and were left at the brook Besor, while the young men and the strong ones go forth to fight the battle of the Lord, we who are left behind, "even we may bear in mind Milton's wise saying, 'They also serve who only stand and wait.'"

I am glad you are still editor. I have been a reader of the ADVOCATE almost as long as the ADVOCATE has been in existence, and I must say we have to-day the best we ever had. There is no telling what amount of good the ADVOCATE is doing. No mind but that of God can tell the full result the ADVOCATE is doing in the Church and in the world. "It may go on in its unforeseen consequences forever and forever."

"Think for one moment, great and noble men, such as the disciples of our Lord, the martyred, ages ago, for their good works on the earth, are still extant, leading on the human race." Such men as Luther, Wesley, Asbury, McKendree, Soule, McTyeire, Pierce and Keener, and an host of other great and good men are not dead, but live to-day.

[illegible] Main

ROOMS and BOARD

634 and 638 SOUTH STREET LAFAYETTE SQUARE

CORNER ST. CHARLES ST. NEW ORLEANS.

UNLIMITED MEALS. ALVIN PORTER, Manager.

ESTABLISHED [illegible]

JOHN DAVID BURGHARDT CO.,

THE RELIABLE PLUMBERS GAS FITTERS.

Agency: Born's Patent Steel Ranges. Hygeia Water Filters.

613-615 Bienville St. Phone Main 2026.

Jobbing and Repair Work a Specialty. New Orleans, La.

St. Paul and those holy men who have gone before were never more alive and powerful on the earth than they are at this time. John tells us in the Revelation that the Spirit said unto him, write: "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth. Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

"More than conquerors at last,
Here they find their trials o'er,
They have all their suff'rings passed,
Hunger now and thirst no more;
No excessive heat they feel
From the sun's directer ray;
In a milder clime they dwell,
Region of eternal day."

Yours fraternally,

GEORGE JACKSON.

FROM MAYHEW, MISS.

Dear Brother Editor: We are thankful to have a good and agreeable people to serve again this year. We are praying and planning for a great year. By the end of the year we hope to have one new Church, and all the others on the charge in first-class condition. When this is done we will have one of the best circuits in the Conference. We humbly ask for the prayers of the readers of the ADVOCATE.

May God bless the editor, his staff and all the readers of the dear ADVOCATE. Yours truly,

J. A. POE.

FROM KOSSUTH, MISS.

Dear Dr. Boswell: We came to our new field of work the same week Conference adjourned, and by this time are acquainted with a number of our people, whom to know means to love. We, like other preachers who move, come to a people who, in one sense, were strangers, but just for a while, for soon after we had gotten established the ladies of the village and vicinity called to welcome us with New Year greetings; they all came—Presbyterians, Baptists, Methodists and all. You can't tell the difference here. You would think, so far as Kossuth is concerned, the great prayer for unity had been answered.

I was about to forget the pleasant occasion was what they call a "pounding." I guess you know what it is, though this was our first experience, as I, until sometime after Conference last year, have been a bachelor, and Mrs. Jones a Texas school teacher, and they don't pound bachelors or Texas teachers either (I mean that way). So we didn't know just what we should do, but hope we did respectably well, with a promise to do better next time. The pounding consisted of many things good to put on the table—some cooked, some canned and some to cook—enough to last a month or more and a [illegible]. What a [illegible] that [illegible] was [illegible]—Editor.

Well, with [illegible] introduction to the work has been pleasant. We pray that the year's labors may be profitable. May the Lord bless the open-hearted people of Kossuth and the entire Circuit. WALTER JONES.

Mrs. Jones expresses herself in the following lines:

Dear Dr. Boswell—May I take a short space in your paper this week?

To express gratitude and thanks to the people who on Kossuth Circuit abound:
Also the good Presbyterian and Baptist ladies around,
Who, on the afternoon of January 10th,
Came as blessings from heaven sent,
To gladden the hearts of a Methodist preacher and wife.
And with good-will, love and friendship rife,
They brought such greetings of the bright new year,
As ever to our hearts their names endear.
There were sausage and peaches and cake,
Potatoes and candy, rolled oats and meat,
Soap and soda, bluine and pears,
Preserves and a pretty little dish were there;
Coffee and corn and fire wood and rice,
And ribs and pickles and other things nice.
After spending with us an hour or more
They departed, leaving sunshine within the parsonage door,
Where the pastor and wife were encouraged and strengthened,
While we pray as the days of this year are lengthened,
So may our abilities to work be increased,
Until our spirits from this prison of clay are released.
We pray God's benediction on them to descend.
And may we all reach heaven together—amen.

MRS. W. W. JONES.

PEARL STREET, NATCHEZ.

Dear Doctor: The beginning of our second year here opens up with very bright prospects. There is not a cloud to darken the horizon. Unity and harmony abound. We are well organized and expect, by God's help, to make the best record in the history of our little Church.

The stewards have taken hold of their work in a very business-like way. They raised the assessment for preacher's salary $100 above last year's assessment.

We are preparing to hold a revival in March, and request the prayers of all Christians for its success. Yours fraternally,

H. P. LEWIS, JR.

AS TO CHURCH EXTENSION IN NORTH MISSISSIPPI.

During the year 1907 we raised $3,223 for Church Extension, which was an increase over the year 1906 of $172. This is gratifying progress, but it does not meet the growing demands upon us. Consider a few facts:

1. There are 584 organized churches within our bounds and 89 of these are without houses of worship. That is, there are 89 homeless churches in our territory. They worship in schoolhouses, or hired halls, or in private residences. In our entire connection there are 3,100 homeless congregations.

2. In addition to these 89 homeless church families there are many churches now planning to build new and better houses of worship. This will mean a vast outlay of money within the next few years. Okolona, Water Valley, Pontotoc, Macon, Houlka and a number of other points are building.

3. The new towns must have church buildings as rapidly and as early as we can secure them. Towns like Crenshaw, Calhoun City, Vardaman, Tishomingo City and Derma are growing rapidly, and must have help. A railroad usually changes the social and religious centers of the country through which it passes, and we must meet the needs of those changing conditions.

4. The country church must be preserved. Our territory covers an agricultural country, and we dare not give up the care of our work in the country.

5. This is the twenty-fifth year of our existence as a Church Extension Society, and we want to make it memorable by raising $25,000 as a Loan Fund, in memory of our departed Bishops. In order to bring the work of Church Extension before each District Conference, I hereby appoint the following brethren to special service in each district:

Aberdeen and Corinth Districts, W. C. Lester; Durant District, N. C. Curtis; Greenville District, W. S. Lagrone; Sardis District, J. T. Murrah; Oxford District, J. M. Wyatt; Winona District, J. R. Bingham.

I ask the presiding elders to please give an hour during their District Conferences to the consideration of this subject. I will attend the Columbus District Conference.

T. W. LEWIS.

NOTICE TO ALL SUNDAY SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS IN MISSISSIPPI.

The services of J. B. Greene, of Okelika, Ala.; E. E. French, of Nashville; W. H. Carter, of Columbus; J. R. Pepper, of Memphis; Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Hamill, as well as many other noted workers, have been secured for the very interesting programme of the "Superintendents' Institute," which is to be held under the direction of both Conference Sunday School Boards in Mississippi, at Durant, Miss., May 12, 13 and 14. More definite announcement and programme later. Watch your mail and the papers for such notices. For further information, address N. A. Mott, Yazoo City, or W. H. Carter, Columbus.

WHERE AND HOW SHALL I INVEST?

At the beginning of the new year devout men and women who possess means are planning to place their contributions where the greatest results may be achieved for the outlay. The person who makes an outlay which reaches the youngest of the young for Christ and shapes a whole life for Him certainly makes a fine investment of his means. Our schools and colleges afford the earliest and best opportunity to touch young life in a public way for permanent development. As our training schools reach the young in a crude and undeveloped state, so these schools are in many respects of more importance than the college. The Methodists own only one such training school in our State; therefore we ought to direct some of our contributions to this school. There is no way of estimating the good which may be accomplished by investing a few thousand dollars in permanent fixtures and buildings for our training school at Montrose, Miss. I wish some philanthropic Mississippian would make the same offer to this school that Major Millsaps has made to Millsaps College. Twenty thousand dollars would give us buildings and fixtures adequate to accommodate 200 boarders. We could then command a large proportion of the patronage for the school which now goes to the training schools of Tennessee and Kentucky. As Methodists, we ought to do this for the school, and we can do it. We have had eighty-four boarders in our Training School this session. Brethren and friends, give us the $20,000, and let us have here in Mississippi a Methodist Training School second to none in the South.

WALDO W. MOORE,
Financial Agent.

Homewood, Miss.

"Dat aint no Angel!

BUT, h'it's de bodiment ub goodness jes de same. Ah tells you, when you gits a taste ub dat dar LUZIANNE COFFEE you feels moughty close to de Good Place sho'."

LUZIANNE COFFEE comes in airtight, freshness-preserving, dust and germ proof, easily-opened cans and is sold by reliable grocers everywhere.

25 CENTS PER POUND

THE Reily-Taylor Co.
NEW ORLEANS, U. S. A.
ONE POUND
LUZIANNE
ROASTED
THE REILY-TAYLOR

GULFPORT, MISS.

Interesting propositions submitted to parties wanting to buy lots. Write for map to
GEO. L. CARLEY, Gulfport, Miss.

PREMATURE JUDGMENT.

It is not always possible to estimate the amount of good a man may be doing while looking at his work at too close range. A well-meaning deacon once suggested to his pastor that there must be something wrong with his preaching and other work, for the only convert in a whole year was a mere boy." But that "boy" became a missionary, and few greater names are associated with the redemption of Africa than that of Robert Moffat. He gave the Bible to strange tribes, and greatly enriched the world's knowledge of Africa's geography. It was under the inspiration of his life and words that Livingstone was turned to the Dark Continent. The pastor who won that little boy's soul for Christ did mighty work for the kingdom; though it required the passing of many years to reveal that fact.—Selected.

FANCY POULTRY, ETC.

Fancy Poultry, Pedigreed Dogs, Cats, Canaries, Parrots, Guinea Pigs, Rabbits, and Pet Stock of every description; Cyphers, Incubators and Feed at Factory prices, may be had by writing to H. W. Blanks & Co., New Orleans, La. Their catalogue sent free. Write to them.

MISSISSIPPI COAST MISSION.

BILOXI, MISS.

No doubt it will be of interest to all concerned in the Mississippi Conference to know that a settlement home has been established at Biloxi, Miss., as a result of the City Mission work begun here last June.

After entering upon my mission last June in Biloxi, I soon found myself in the midst of a great work. The district mapped out by my presiding elder is three and a quarter miles long, and two miles wide, extending from Point Cadet to Back Bay. This territory is full of people, and the great majority of them of the working class. About three parts of the population are Roman Catholics.

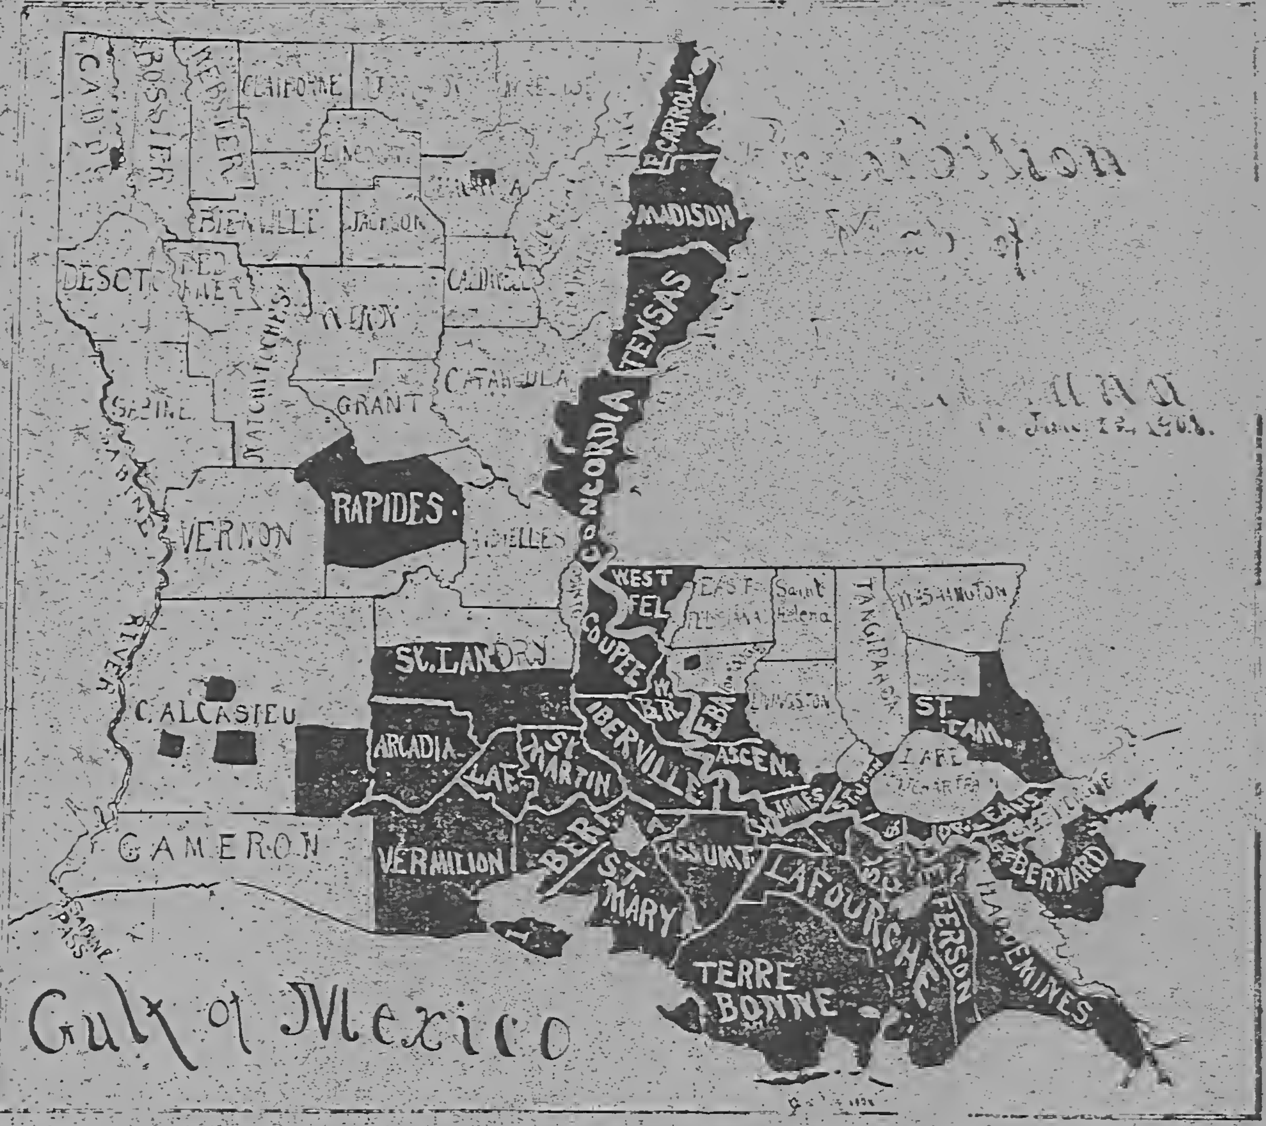
After a thorough and systematic study of the field I saw that without a settlement home, where a complete system of institutional work could be carried out this great mass of working people could not be reached. Fully realizing this, every plan made for the work, and every feature of work organized was with such a home in view. But it was not hoped to see this development of the work before another Conference year. God saw this great need, and by his direction and guidance and his power made it possible for us to get this home the last of September.

A small house was rented on the corner of Howard Avenue and Oak Street, which is almost in the central part of the district. This house was vacated and just in the right location for a settlement home. I did not think it possible to secure this house, as there was no means in sight of paying the rent, and what seemed more impossible, there was no hope of getting it furnished. But God was again equal to the need. With the consent of the presiding elder, the house was rented with no means in sight of getting it furnished, but believing that if God saw that this home was necessary for the establishment of this mission work in Biloxi that he would in some way provide the means.

Before this an old lady had died, leaving all her property and household goods to a niece and stepdaughter. Just at this time this furniture was to be sold. God was again in the move, and through him money enough was secured to pay for enough of this furniture to furnish the cottage just rented. By hard work it was possible for me to get moved into the home the second week in October. We are now established in our little settlement home, which is serving its purpose the best it can in the community with the means and help we now have. It is wonderful how God has blessed his work here and in every feature of the work he has manifested himself. To some, this settlement home may seem rather a presumptuous undertaking at this time, but realizing that it was absolutely necessary to reach this great mass of people, and knowing that all money belongs to God and that we can trust him for all our needs, we have undertaken this settlement home trusting to him for all support.

We have in the home a free reading-room. Quite a number of papers and magazines have been sent, which are being used, but no books have yet been sent. We are very much in need of books to begin a library, which is very much needed. We have one Mothers' Club, which meets twice a month, and a prayer-meeting which meets twice a month; a sewing school which meets every Saturday. This sewing school is for girls from five to fourteen years.

We are now having a great deal of opposition by the Roman Catholics. We have already been forbidden to visit in the "camps" of one of the factories, and we have to be very careful in visiting among the others as all the factories are owned by Roman Catholics. These "camps," as they are called, are large shed-like buildings, where hundreds of people live without the gospel.



Prohibition Map Of Louisiana.

The above map, which is published through the courtesy of Dr. S. A. Smith, Superintendent of the Louisiana Anti-Saloon League, gives a correct idea of prohibition in Louisiana. The area of the State that is under prohibition law is represented by white, and that which is still dominated by the saloon is presented in black. It is easy to see that fully 70 per cent of the territory of the State is dry. Several parts of the black area have elections ordered that may transfer them to the white area during the next few months.

The sick and the dying are cared for and the gospel taught to the sinful and perishing. The "City Mission Home," as it is called, is a common meeting-place for all in the community. Everybody is free to come and find welcome at all times. If we would save men and women of the great mass of working people then we must live among them and become one among them. Let their needs be our needs and their sorrows our sorrows. We must sympathize with them and not for them. Christ laid down the first principle of settlement work when he became man and came to earth and dwelt with men and lifted them up to a higher plane of living with himself.

We have also organized a Woman's Home Mission Society at Oak Street, Biloxi, which will be of some help in our city mission work. We have also organized a Mission Sunday School on Back Bay, the far end of our mission district, where there has never been a Sunday school or Church of any kind. A lot has been donated here for a Church and will be built on, we hope, next year.

You may ask if this work has been carried on and developed smoothly, easily and without difficulties. I can tell you, no. There is no one but God who knows what it has cost, or what it is going to cost. There have been hardships and trials, there has been suffering, there have been difficulties to overcome and problems to solve. But God, who is our leader, has been a present help in it all. The missionary who comes to do coast mission work has got to suffer, and she must be willing to suffer, and if she is not willing then she had better not come here.

The system of work needed to be done here cannot be done on less than a hundred dollars a month. A complete system of institutional work must be done. There is also a very great need of hospital work in connection with our work. We need money, we need prayer, we need co-operation, we need more trained workers. As yet we have only one. We need an institution which is worthy of the name. To this end let us work and let us pray.

MINNIE BOYKIN,
City Missionary in Charge.

EVERYONE THAT HAS USED
Vacher-Balm for Catarrh, Colds, or Croup, thinks it the best thing they ever tried. I pay you to give samples of it to your friends, so you can use your spare time to do good, and make money. Write for particulars to E. W. Vacher, New Orleans, La.

THE SAFEST AND QUICKEST WAY TO TRANSFER MONEY
—Is By—
Long Distance Telephone
FOR RATES APPLY TO LOCAL MANAGER
Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph Co
Incorporated.

Choice Selections

HEART PEACE.

We need the peace of God in our heart just as really for the doing well of the little things in our secular life as for the doing of the greatest duties of Christ's kingdom. Our face ought to shine, and our spirit ought to be tranquil, and our eyes ought to be clear, and our nerves ought to be steady, as we press through the tasks of our commonest day. Then we shall do them all well, slurring nothing, marring nothing. We want heart peace before we begin any day's duties, and we should wait at Christ's feet ere we go forth.—J. R. Miller.

HOPEFULNESS IN WEED-GROWN GROUND.

One wonders that out of such a character of deceit and falsehood as Jacob could ever come a powerful "prince." The other day I went with a friend to see a piece of land which he thought of buying. We went over the ground—twenty acres of level land. Part of the ground was covered with tall, rank weeds, but most of the land was covered with a delicate yellow grass. We were undecided about the soil until a neighbor came up and, on inquiry, told us that the only good was where the tall rank weeds grew, and the rest of the land was alkali, where nothing, not even weeds, would grow.

As we turned homeward, I thought how much land was like people. The best ground grows either a heavy crop of grain or weeds, but the poor land will bear neither. When Jacob and Peter have received good seeds, there springs up a marvelous harvest.—Sunday School Times.

HUNGRY AND THIRSTY.

There are precious promises for those who hunger and thirst after God. "He satisfieth the longing soul, and the hungry soul he filleth with good." "Happy is he that hath the God of Jacob for his help,......who giveth food to the hungry." "I will pour water upon him that is thirsty, and streams upon the dry ground; I will pour my Spirit upon thy seed, and my blessing upon thine off-spring." "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price." "Now on the last day, the great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink." "Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness; for they shall be filled." The constantly recurring need of the body for food and drink is the daily reminder of our need of spiritual blessings, and the same God feeds both the body and the soul. "Eat ye that which is good, and let your soul delight itself in fatness."—Review and Herald.

"FORGIVE US OUR DEBTS."

A pathetic story told by a state's prison chaplain was about a little girl whose father had been murdered by a man awaiting death in the prison. The little girl was motherless, and the father had been everything to her. When he died from injuries received from the man who wanted to rob him, the child in an agony of grief cried: "The wicked man! I hate him! I hate him!"

She repeated this for several days, until praying the Lord's Prayer one morning, she stopped at the petition, "Forgive us our debts."

For days she wrestled with the anguish of her heart, and then she went to the warden, and asked to be admitted to the cell. She stood before him, and with trembling voice, not trusting herself to look into his face, she said: "I forgive you! I forgive you, as I hope to be forgiven!"

The criminal, whom nothing had moved up to this time, gave way to tears, confessed his crime, sent for the chaplain, and asked for his prayers. The child had "gained" the wicked man by her forgiving spirit.—Selected.

SIN.

Sin is the great central fact about which the creeds of the world are grouped. To say it is all powerful is to be a pessimist; to think you can buy immunity from it is to be a Romanist; to flee from it is to be a Buddhist; to deny it is to be a materialist; to stroke it and call it "nice doggy," is to be a Christian Scientist; to believe in its permanence is to be a Calvinist; to hold you can escape its consequences is to be an Arminian; to maintain that all will escape its consequences is to be a Universalist; to play with it is to be a fool; to triumph over it is to be a Christian.—Rev. F. L. Loveland in Central Christian Advocate.

GOD'S GUEST.

I think I could go near to be a perfect Christian if I were always a visitor, as I have sometimes been, at the house of some kind, hospitable friend. I can show a great deal of self-denial where the best of everything is urged upon me with kindly importunity. It is not so very hard to turn the other cheek for a kiss, and when I meditate upon the pains taken for our entertainment in this life, in the endless variety of seasons, of human character and fortune, on the costliness of the hangings and the furniture of our dwellings here, I sometimes feel a singular joy in looking upon myself as God's guest, and cannot but believe that we should be wiser and happier, because more grateful, if we were always mindful of our privilege in this regard. And should we not rate more cheaply any honor that men could pay us if we remembered that every day we sat at the table of the Great King?—James Russell Lowell.

PRUDENCE.

It deserves to be considered whether men are more at liberty, in point of morals, to make themselves miserable without reason, than to make other people so; or dissolutely to neglect their own greater good for the sake of a present lesser gratification than they are to neglect the good of others. It should seem that due concern about our own interest or happiness, and a reasonable endeavor to secure and promote it, which is, I think, very much the meaning of the word prudence in our own language; it should seem that this is virtue, and the contrary behavior faulty and blameable; since in the calmest way of reflection we approve of the first, and condemn the other conduct, both in ourselves and others. * * * It is true, indeed, that nature has not given us so sensible a disapprobation of imprudence and folly, either in ourselves or others, as of falsehood, injustice and cruelty; I suppose, because that constant habitual sense of private interest and good, which we always carry about with us, render such sensible disapprobation less necessary, less wanting, to keep us from imprudently neglecting our own happiness, and foolishly injuring others, to whose good we cannot have so strong and constant a regard. * * * Prudence is a species of virtue and folly of vice; meaning by folly, somewhat quite different from mere incapacity; a thoughtless want of that regard and attention to our own happiness which we had capacity for.—Bishop Butler.

Our line of Stoves, Kitchen Furnishings, and General Household Supplies is full of interest to all Good Housekeepers.

Suppose you take a look at it for yourself—

UNITED HARDWARE CO.,
LIMITED.

GET SOLID PROTECTION AND INSURE WITH
LEON IRWIN & CO.
Fire and Casualty Insurance.
838 GRAVIER STREET. PHONE, MAIN [illegible]

W. W. Carre Co., Ltd,
Manufacturers and Exporters of
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

In regard to the new rates, the regular subscription rate will remain at $2, and the preachers' rate at $1. The commission allowed on the (regular) $2 rate is 25 cents for renewals and 50 cents for new subscriptions.

The preacher-in-charge will have authority to let any poor person have the paper at $1 whom they deem unable to pay the $2 rate. All it requires will be the pastor's recommendation.

The new club rate for 1908 is $1.50 per annum in clubs of five. The club may be indefinitely extended. On this rate there is a commission of 25 cents for each subscriber, whether old or new.

We have decided to renew our offer of a rate of $1.25 in clubs of twenty, with a commission of 25 cents to the person securing the club. But the club must really consist of twenty persons, and be practically a cash transaction. Last year we had several clubs started that claimed the twenty rate, and never secured more than two or three names. In other words, we are willing to grant the club rates only to clubs.

The pastors are our recognized agents, but we will be very glad to have the pastors appoint agents for the ADVOCATE in any community. We are sure that no pastor would object to any member of his congregation securing a club, for each ADVOCATE circulated is another friend to speak a good word for the pastor. Who will be the first to send us a real club of twenty.

It costs us 10 cents to collect a check, so please send us post office money orders.

The Home Circle.

A SEVERE EPIDEMIC.

Good morning, Mr. Doctor Man;
I'm coming to you quick,
Because I am so dreadful 'fraid
My dollies will get sick.
Ruth's doll has got the fever,
An' Flossie's has the mumps,
An' Stella's has a hookin' cough,
An' Beth's some awful bumps.
Clarissa's has a broken leg,
An' Faye's has lost one eye,
An' Susie's has some chicken-pox
An' measles, too—O, my!
So hurry, Mr. Doctor Man,
An' Vaccinate my two,
For if these dreadful things should spread,
Whatever should I do?
—The Sunbeam.

PRESERVING THE HEALTH OF YOUNG GIRLS.

Two well-known singing-teachers have recently testified that their girl pupils are ailing most of the time. Lessons are skipped, progress is impeded, voices are injured by such indispositions, life is demoralized generally. One of these teachers said that at least half his pupils were under the doctor's care all the time.

"And then I am blamed for not developing their voices properly," he complained. "Sick girls can not learn to sing, even if they could keep up their lessons regularly."

A young college girl has just brought the news that a large proportion of her classmates are either in the hospital or their own rooms under the care of physicians. There is no epidemic in the institution. The girls are just "laid up" with that ordinary ailment generally called the grippe.

"Of course, they are sick," commented the girl nonchalantly; "girls are always sick. They can't stand the strain of college life like boys; it isn't to be expected."

Remarks of that sort are too common. It seems as though a large class of people take it for granted that women are naturally invalids, which sounds almost as if they accused their Maker of having done his work badly.

But we are persuaded better things of humanity. Reverently, we believe that the Creator meant girls and women to be strong, bright, merry and useful; to possess health, and all the glories and blessings which go with it.

In the first place, the singing-teachers and the college girls probably took no account of the fact that most of the ailing maidens were wearing lingerie waists, coming down to breakfast in them on cold mornings; sitting in them through draughty lectures, concerts, plays; their bare necks and shoulders showing through the dainty embroideries, and their sleeves short. If our boys had been arrayed so foolishly, they, too, would have had "all kinds of the grippe."

Perhaps boys and girls are equally subjected to the strain of late hours, indigestible food, wet feet and constant excitement. Quiet evenings at home are rare for either girls or boys over seventeen. Even in our colleges for girls there is a continual succession of class and society and general entertainment, which, coupled with their study, keep the nerves of the student in a steady quiver—a paradox, but true—from one week's end to another.

The girls, too, have almost or quite as much outdoor exercise as boys do in these days. In fact, the only sanitary condition in which boys have the advantage would seem to be in this matter of clothing. Costume of men is not entirely hygienic; but it is far and away more comfortable and more conducive to health than that of girls and women.

Thin shoes are responsible for [illegible] of girlhood; tight shoes [illegible] long-continued wearing of tight shoes [illegible] to give even a single [illegible] nervous [illegible] tion. The heavy [illegible] health among girls. [illegible] "pretty" hats [illegible] and [illegible] must be [illegible] if our girls are to keep well.

Given a coherence and [illegible] plenty of outdoor exercise, [illegible] quiet [illegible] each twenty-four [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] would be [illegible] heart with [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] cities which it [illegible] has [illegible] for the modern young girl in her preparation for the important responsibilities of free and happy American womanhood.—Kate Upson Clark in Christian Herald.

HOUSEKEEPING AND HOME-MAKING.

"Eric, I wish you would come in or else go out. You're holding that screen door open as an invitation to the flies."

The boy, who was standing in the doorway looking up and down the street, turned at his sister's impatient call and entered the house.

"I didn't think about the flies," he said, good-naturedly. "Did any of them dodge in over my head?"

Frances did not reply. She was looking at the floor, an expression on her face which was somewhere between horror and indignation.

"Eric Fraser, where in the world could you have found any mud to-day? No matter if there hasn't been any rain for a month, you'll come into the house and make muddy tracks across the floor. And I spent such a long time polishing it this morning," sighed Frances, with what her brother called her "martyr-like tone."

"Well, I don't hunt up the wet places, if that's what you mean," was Eric's rather short answer. He pulled an easy chair into the bay window and settled himself comfortably with the morning paper. Frances, who had gone for a dusting cloth to remove the traces of his tracks on the polished floor, uttered an exclamation as she reëntered the room.

"Eric Fraser, would you mind leaving that chair where I put it? The room is simply spoiled with all the furniture huddled into that end of the room. If you want to sit in the window take the window seat."

"Oh, no, I'll go up-stairs to my own room, and maybe there I can have a little peace." The slam of the door behind him was very expressive, and Frances sighed as she looked at her aunt. "You see how it is," she said. "Eric doesn't appreciate how hard I work to keep things nice. I think housekeepers have very hard times."

Her tone seemed to indicate that a little sympathy would be welcomed. Aunt Elizabeth was sorry for the girl, who was trying so hard to fill her mother's place, but she did [illegible] [illegible] at Frances [illegible] [illegible] ead, "what [illegible] [illegible] scrubbing [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Why [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] She stared [illegible] Aunt [illegible] No- [illegible] house that [illegible] [illegible] pleased. [illegible] family are [illegible] cleanli- [illegible] as [illegible] they [illegible] too far."

"I suppose you think it's right to let Eric track all around and not say a word," remarked Frances crossly.

"I mean, my dear, that home-making is a higher art than housekeeping. I knew a woman once," said Aunt Elizabeth reflectively, "who had a reputation as a good housekeeper, and she was determined to live up to it. When her husband came home at night he found his slippers waiting for him on the outside steps. He put them on before he crossed the threshold."

"That was going rather far, but still it had its advantages," said Frances, laughing in spite of herself.

"Yes, but it didn't stop there. The mania for keeping things in order grew on her till after she had a room arranged to her liking, she would lock the door and not allow any one of the family to use it. The kitchen was the last to be closed. Her husband came home one night and found a cot on the back porch and the cooking stove in the back yard."

"Why, she must have been crazy!" Frances exclaimed.

"That's what the doctor said. But I have always thought that she should be a warning to the housekeepers who keep their homes neat at the expense of family comfort. I have known," added Aunt Elizabeth, with a twinkle in her eye, "a number who have started on the same path, even though they never went as far."

Frances looked at her, and her eyes reflected the twinkle.

"I wonder if Eric would like to make candy," she said reflectively. "I've objected several times lately when he's proposed it, because the chafing dish gets into such a condition, and the room is always out of order, before he's through. I suppose the good housekeeper you were telling about would never have thought of allowing such a thing."

"I don't believe she would, but a good home-maker might," said Aunt Elizabeth smiling back.

And then the aggrieved Eric, sulking in his room upstairs, was as surprised as delighted to hear his sister's voice in the hall. "Eric, come down. We've just time to make fudge before supper."—Southern Presbyterian.

Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic
For all the Ills and Accidents which come to the Hunter or Fisherman—invaluable!
Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Sprains, Insect Bites and Prickly Heat—internally for Colic and Cramps. Always have a bottle in your kit.
AT ALL DRUGSTORES
25c and 50c
THE SPORTSMAN'S SAFEGUARD

Christian Advocate.

REV. JNO. W. BOSWELL, D.D., Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.
CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TERMS:
One Copy, one year, $2; six months, $1. To Preachers of all Denominations, half-price.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES:
LOUISIANA CONFERENCE—Rev. W. W. Drake, Rev. N. E. Joyner, Rev. J. M. Henry.
MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. M. L. Burton, Rev. W. H. Lewis, Rev. C. W. Crisler.
NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, D.D.; Rev. J. T. Murrah, Rev. W. W. Woollard.

A RECENT OFFICIAL RULING.

IMPORTANT!

The Postmaster General has ruled that the names of all subscribers to periodicals (quarterly, monthly and weekly) entitled to go through the mails at second-class rates shall be stricken from the mail lists, if, on the 1st of April next, said subscribers are found to be one year or more behind in payment, else the publishers of such papers shall be required to pay one cent on each paper every week sent to such delinquents.

When the ruling goes into effect it will put us to a greater expense than we are able to bear, and to a great deal of trouble, if forced to attach a one-cent stamp to all such papers. The result will be, many subscribers, (preachers and others) will fail to get the ADVOCATE.

We beg all our subscribers who are interested in the paper to look into the matter, and, if behind, send us enough money to pay up to date, and we will trust for the year to come.

To the majority, the payment of one year's subscription is a small matter, but to us, with many subscribers—good men and women—it is a great matter, and one of vital interest.

Many of these subscribers intend to pay, and will pay; we can trust them—but the Government says we shall not trust them any longer. We will obey the law.

SOME EVILS OF OPEN COMMUNION.

By open communion is meant the gathering of members of different denominations around the Lord's table. A plain, honest Christian who would engage in such a service, "eating and drinking as discerning the Lord's body," would be hard to convince that he was perpetrating an evil. Even in looking on such a scene we do not see how he could refrain saying: "See how these Christians love one another." Wonderful strides in this direction are being made. Christians are getting closer together all the while. And yet there are men, honest we do not doubt, who think such communion is an evil, and argue against it as if it were a real crime.

There lies before us an exchange with an article in which is named ten evils of open communion. The writer heads his article, "Some of the Evils of Open Communion." We suppose that in his opinion there are others besides those he names. The whole article reads as if it was a reproduction of what was written and said more than forty years ago. It reminds us of the famous "Cotton Grove Resolutions" presented to and passed by a flourishing congregation of Christians in the middle of the last century, which forever divorced that congregation and all others adopting them from the sympathy and good will of all dissenting brethren, who by every token were as intelligent and active, consecrated Christians as those who so assumed thus to speak for the Lord.

We really think it is about time to quit talking such foolishness, and printing it in an up-to-date paper. The time has passed. None but one who "sees through a glass darkly" can say that when good men and women of various orders sit at the Lord's table and commemorate his death, they "endorse all the heresies of the so-called religious world," "that they encourage division among the people of God," and that it "tends to the persecution of those who adhere to the Scriptural terms of the Lord's supper." And for one to say that he and those of his way are the only authorized dispensers of the Word and administrators of the ordinances is vaunting wholly unjustified by the law of love and without warrant in the gospel.

It is a remarkable fact that in the denominational papers coming from the great centers of influence we see no such libels on Christian charity. Perhaps these great papers are not orthodox. We do not say. But they are religious and active in promoting denominational work.

We did hope some years ago to see no more of this kind of matter in print. But we despair.

THE SUPERNATURAL.

Our holy religion is a revelation from God. His purpose is to make the fact universally known. To accomplish this purpose he has always worked in a supernatural way—through prophecy and miracles.

When God first called Moses he set a bush afire and spoke to him from the midst of the flame. Thenceforward Moses knew the voice of God, and when commanded to perform wonders in the sight of Pharaoh he promptly obeyed, and though Pharaoh was persuaded concerning the mission of Moses, it was not until the slaying of the first-born of every family in Egypt (the first-born of the Israelites miraculously escaping) did he fully believe and let the people go. When Jesus was born he was hailed as "Emmanuel, God with us," and when he entered upon his mission he declared himself the Son of God, and wrought miracles to prove it, the crowning one of which was his resurrection. Had it been otherwise our Lord would not have been to the people as much of a "Master in Israel" as one of the old prophets. From all this we infer that God deemed it wise to establish his authority among men by largely relying on miracles or supernatural manifestations.

How else could God have commanded the attention and the faith of men? We do not say there is no other method, or that God could not have devised some other. But we do say that in establishing the mission of Moses, and the mission of his Son, this was the method employed, and we take it for granted that God deemed it the best and wisest.

Why men who believe the Scriptures should undertake to depreciate the value of miracles or try to explain them on some natural principle, or to commend them to men of science by declaring that our Lord was a complete scientist, and worked in harmony with the laws of nature, we do not understand. To us it seems like an apology to unbelieving minds for entertaining faith at all in the miraculous. If it be an effort, as has been suggested, to make it easy for men to believe, we venture to say that if the effort to convince men that all miracles were wrought in accordance with the laws of nature should succeed, instead of making it easy for men to believe the Word of God, they would be led to the conclusion that the prophets and our Lord and his apostles were no more workers of miracles than is the great electricians, Tesla and Edison, and the discoverer and operator of miracles than are the great electricians, Teslatians verge dangerously near to this conclusion. They lead us to infer that when all nature's laws become known to us as some of them are, nothing will appear supernatural.

Can all the occurrences set forth as supernatural be explained as in accordance with the laws of nature? Not many of them can. Take for example the one, easiest of all explained in accordance with this view—the stopping of Jordan to give the Israelites a dry path across into Canaan. It is suggested that a landslide occured and dammed the Jordan. In a low stage of water it would not have required a landslide of great magnitude to dam the lower channel, but the river has two or three banks, and at the time of the crossing it was harvest, when "Jordan overfloweth all his banks," and unless a slide of sufficient magnitude occurred to fill both the lower and the upper banks, the water could not have been stopped. And if the water was even with the upper banks, then to have given the people a dry passage the landslide must have been sufficient to reach entirely across the plain of the Jordan. If it was just sufficient to dam the lower channel all traces of it might have been wiped out in a comparatively short time, but if it was of sufficient magnitude to dam the river when "all his banks are overflowed all the time of harvest" (Joshua iii, 15), it would have left a trace well nigh imperishable. Of such a trace we have no account. The only sign left of that memorable crossing was a monument of stones, gathered and heaped to commemorate the event (Joshua iv, 1-9).

The landslide is an invention, pure and simple. The plain Bible account leads us to believe that the stoppage of the flow of Jordan on this occasion was supernatural: "The waters which came down from above stood and rose up upon an heap." This was not in accordance with the law of nature.

This miracle occurred in connection with the conquest of Canaan. Further on in the history of the conquest we are informed that, at the command of Joshua, the "sun stood still in the midst of heaven, and hasted not to go down about a whole day, and there was no day like that before it or after it." Was that a natural phenomenon to be explained as occuring in accordance with the law of nature? We may properly ask the same question concerning our Lord's first miracle in Cana of Galilee, and concerning his power over nature as shown in the stilling of the storm. The same question may be pushed in regard to his many miracles of grace.

Eliminate the miraculous or supernatural from our religion and we have no proof of divine communication with man. If God is able to work miracles, and the Book declares that he has worked them, why should we not believe the record? If God is what he is represented to be it is just as easy to believe the plain, common sense way of stating the facts of his dealings with men and nature as to believe that, like men, when he undertakes anything, he undertakes it in accordance with the laws of nature. There may be "no merit in making it as difficult as possible" to believe in miracles. There is certainly none in stripping them of the supernatural.

PERSONALS.

Rev. W. C. Harris, appointed to New Albany, has been kindly received by the good people of the charge, and is "hopeful of a year of great success."

Bishop Ward is on the eve of going to Mexico, where he will spend February and part of March in looking over the field. He has a communication of much interest to the Church in this issue of our paper. We hope it will be read with care.

Rev. C. C. Weir, Field Agent of the Louisiana Methodist Orphanage, is spending several days in the city. Sunday morning last he was with the Louisiana Avenue Church, and in the evening with the Second Church. He is working hard in behalf of the orphans.

Rev. C. M. Crossley, writing from Utica, Miss., says: "The former pastors of Utica will regret to learn of the death of Major L. T. Hart, which occurred at 4:30 p.m., Jan. 27. He had been a member of the Board of Stewards for a number of years. He will be greatly missed."

Dr. W. L. Weber, President of Centenary College is spending the present week in the city in the interest of the great work committed to his care. He spoke Sunday morning at Rayne Memorial, and in the evening at Carrollton Avenut Church. We had the pleasure of meeting him Monday afternoon.

Rev. W. R. Williams writes from Cockrum, Miss: "I have a bright prospect for a fine year on Cockrum Circuit along all lines of church work. In fact, I feel that I have the best circuit and the best people of the North Mississippi Conference." We thank Brother Williams for kind words and promises concerning the ADVOCATE.

Rev. W. W. Mitchell met with a cordial reception on entering his pastorate at Grenada, and everything is moving smoothly. Fine congregations have greeted him every Sunday, despite the inclement weather. He has a good impression of the place, and is hopeful. We venture to say that he has also well impressed the people.

After an absence of about a year, most of the time being spent in China and Japan, Bishop and Mrs. A. W. Wilson have reached home. The Bishop held up remarkably well during the long absence and got back in good health. Mrs. Wilson was not so well, and at last account was seriously sick. May a kind Providence spare her valuable life.

Bishop Galloway has had in hand for several years "all papers and necessary data" for a biography of the late Bishop Holland N. McTyeire. We learn from the Christian Advocate (Nashville) that "the work is now well advanced." Great character! great bigorapher! the book will be hailed with delight by hundreds of readers.

Rev. J. H. Bass is in his third year on the Charleston Circuit, North Mississippi Conference, and is meeting with encouragement. The Stewards, at the First Quarterly Conference, raised his salary to $900, a clever thing to do, and much appreciated by the pastor. The presidin elder, Rev. L. E. Cunningham, was with him, and by his preaching and other work "made a fine impression on the people."

The following paragraph, taken from the Carrollton (Miss.) Conservative, speaks in high praise of the pastor, Rev. R. L. Allen. We quote with pleasure: "Last Sunday was an ideal day, the first Sunday without rain for a month. The people took advantage of the good weather. All the Sunday schools were crowded. At 11 o'clock a large congregation, made up of representatives of all our churches, assembled in the Methodist Church. It was an inspiring occasion, and greatly enjoyed by all. Mr. Allen preached a sermon great in thought, unique in conception, felicitous in illustration and surcharged with spiritual power. The evening sermon was similar in character. His address to Christian workers in the afternoon on "Songs of the Heart" was an interesting discussion of a number of great hymns. It was a good day for all church-goers."

CHURCH EXTENSION.

The Executive Board of the Conference Board of Church Extension will meet in First Church, Shreveport, March 25, at 10 a.m. All applications to the General Board for loans or donations should be sent to any one of the Board in time to be acted on. Let all applications be carefully filled out; omit nothing required; answer all questions. Blanks can be obtained of Rev. P. O. Lowrey, Many, La.

J. D. HARPER, Bunkie, La.
P. O. LOWREY, Many, La.
W. G. WADLEY, Shreveport.

NOTICE.

Mrs. M. McMullan, of Mize, has been elected Secretary of Home Mission in Newtown District, to fill the vacancy caused by the removal of Mrs. J. W. Thompson to Seashore District.

Mrs. J. K. Dunn, of McComb, has been elected Secretary of Brookhaven District, to fill the vacancy caused by the removal of Mrs. J. E. J. Ferguson to Jackson District.

MRS. T. B. HOLLOMAN,
President of Miss. Conf. H. M. S.

UNCONSCIOUS CHRISTIANITY.

"The truest Christianity is that which is most unconscious," some man has said. What does this mean? The tottering child has to think at every step he takes, because he has walked so little. But the man does not think how to walk, because constant practice has made it a part of his nature.

Breathing is one of the most unconscious of acts, because it is so natural a thing. But when anything hinders my breathing how quickly the effort to breathe becomes the most intense purpose and effort of my whole nature.

For a Christian, prayer is the breath of the soul. So it may become, and often does become, an almost unconscious act. But it can never be a forgotten act, unless the soul is dead. If anything interferes with my prayer my soul should at once struggle to recover its breath.

Alms-deeds are the walk of the soul. They are the best when I think of them the least. But if I become careless in regard to them, soul stops.

Here then is the difference between true a false Christianity. True Christianity may unconscious of its doings; false Christianity careless about them. The true Christian is unconscious, because religious acts are such a necessary part of his inner life. The false Christian is careless and formal because they are no part of his inner life.

Again, if my unconsciousness is the res of lesser things and thoughts which occupy my mind then it is carelessness, and my act is not a religious act. I can be unconscious only because my mind and heart are full of greater things.

Yes, the truest Christianity is unconsciou but only because it is a constant exercise of t religious activities,—a mind so full of God th lesser things make little impression upon it. So I may render true service; pray true prayers truly receive the sacraments.—The North Dakota Sheaf.

Dare to think of your humanity as somethin so sublimely precious that it is worthy of being made an offering to God. Count it a privilege to make that offering complete as possible.—Phillips Brooks.

It is useless to urge men to live a Christi life until they become Christians. The "Imitation of Christ" is impossible to the man who does not know Christ, and he only knows Chris who has accepted him by faith, and becomes a new man in him.—Examiner.

HIGH GRADE PIANOS
MARSHALL & WENDELL
ESTABLISHED 18
A Piano that has been before the public for more than a half century must possess merit to maintain its popularity. Thousands of them are to-day singing their own praise in the homes of satisfied purchasers.
OUR POPULAR STYLE AT $
ON EASY PAYMENTS.
Get particulars of our
Six Months Free Trial Plan.
Hakenjos Piano Mfg. Co.,
930 Canal Street
J. BART DAVIS Mgr. New Orlea

AFTER NINE YEARS, RELIEF

A True Story, With a Moral Which Points to Some Interesting Ways for Women to Cure Themselves From the Agonies Caused by Female Disease and Disturbance.

LETTER FROM A LADY

Nine Years of Constant Suffering and Failure of Doctors to Give Relief, Left the Writer No Chance But to Try This Method of Home Treatment, Which Afforded Prompt and Permanent Relief.

FREE ADVICE FOR LADIES

Nine years is a long time to suffer from the terrible pangs of female disease. Think of it! Nine long, weary years, of seemingly endless suffering! A long, dark inferno, with no turning! And then, one day, a light in the distance, a feeling of new health, freedom, relief and realization of perfect cure.

Such, in brief, is the story of Lizzie Matthews, of Mount Vernon, Ga., whose letter we print below. She says:

"I was troubled with female disease for nine (9) years. The doctors first called it 'nervous prostration,' then 'change of life,' and finally 'catarrh of the organs,' but no matter what they called it, they could give me no relief.

"At last I decided to take Wine of Cardui. I have now taken three (3) bottles and can say that my health is better than it has been in nine years. Before I began to take Cardui I could not eat anything, could hardly sleep, my [illegible] and hips would ache, and then I would be nervous and I was troubled with leucorrhoea. Once a month I would have to go to bed for two or three days. Since taking Cardui I do not have to stay in bed more than a half a day, and all my other troubles have gone.

"I have praised Cardui to all my friends, and shall continue to do so. I wish every suffering lady would try it."

For young, middle-aged and old, Wine of Cardui forms a perfect female tonic. It is a pure scientific vegetable extract, perfectly harmless, absolutely non-intoxicating, always reliable and effective.

Obtainable at all prominent drug stores in $1.00 bottles.

You are earnestly urged to write for Free Advice about your case to Ladies' Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., stating age and describing frankly your symptoms. All requests for advice sacredly confidential, and replies sent in plain sealed envelopes.

BELLS.

Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. ☞ Send for Catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

BLOOD POISONING POSITIVELY CURED

Hereditary, primary, secondary and tertiary. Scrofula, Eczema, Blood and Skin Disease. If you have exhausted old time methods, and want to get well, write me in fullest confidence for proof of cures. Take my treatment and get well.

A. A. BROWER, M. D.
San Antonio, Tex.

ALTAR CHAIRS, SUNDAY School Seats, School Desks, Portable Chairs, Collection Plates, Communion Tables, Lodge Furniture, etc. Ask for big Catalog No. 60. E. H. Stafford Mfg. Co. Chicago, Ill

Obituaries.

Obituaries not over two hundred words in length will be published free of charge. All over two hundred words will be charged at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and send the amount necessary with the obituary. That will save trouble all around.

Mrs. CLARA JOHNSON FAULK, aged 52 years, wife of A. Faulk, and daughter of the late C. and Elizabeth Johnson, of Grand Gulf, Claiborne Co., Miss., died Dec. 29, 1907, at 11:30 p. m. at her home at Warrenton, Warren County, Miss., after an illness of more than seventy days. She leaves a husband, three daughters and two sons. She was laid to rest in the cemetery at Port Gibson on the last day of the old year. Brother Lewis and Brother H. G. Hawkins conducting the funeral services. Yes, the year wife and mother has gone home to be with her Lord, whom she loved and served while life lasted, and all know she is serving him in a more perfect way in that bright and beautiful home of the soul. She was a consistant members of the M. E. Church, South, which she joined in early life. At the time of her death she held her membership in the Red Bone Church. We — mamma, papa and all five of the children—were received by letter into that Church by Brother Hogg last August. I thank God that he let my dear wife stay in his life to see her children all about town. My darling was a true Christian, a loving wife and devoted mother. We had walked hand in hand down life's rough way for thirty years. How I miss her sweet companionship, her sacred love and tender care God only knows; but he does all things well, and it will not be long until I can join my darling in that home over there where there is no parting. I am ready, dear Lord. "Thy will, and not mine be done." "Tho he slay me, yet will I trust him."

HER HUSBAND.

HAMMETT TURNER—On the 12th of August, 1907, the death angel entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Turner, near Pope, Miss., and claimed as his own Hammett, the baby boy. Hammett was born August 21, 1901. He lacked only nine days of being six years old. He was an unusually bright child and won friends wherever he went. He was the idol of an indulgent father and mother. Their hopes seemed clustered around him. But God saw fit to take him away and leave a vacancy in the home that can never be filled. Yet, in this sad hour, the consoling thought comes to them that all is well with him. He can never come back to cheer their homes, but they can go to him. Life has one charm less, and heaven one more to urge them to a Christian. Written by one who loved him,

C. W. BALEY.

Hon. H. H. PARNELL, who passed away at his home in Sardis, Miss., Jan. 9, 1908, was 72 years old. He was born in the State of Tennessee, Oct. 2, 1835, and came with his parents to Mississippi when a boy only six years old and settled in Panola County. He professed faith in Christ and joined the Peach Creek Baptist Church at the age of 22. He was married to Eliza E. Carter March 17, 1869. To this union was born eight children. Three had preceded the father to the spirit-world; five, a son and four daughters and the mother, still live to mourn the loss of their dead. Brother Parnell lived for many years at Pleasant Grove in the western portion of this County, where his home was the preacher's home. He was very energetic and successful in business, honest and true and deeply pious. His good wife and most of his children were Methodists. So he was just as much interested in the Methodist pastors as in his own. Once when one of the writer's Churches was behind on the salary just before Conference Brother Parnell got on his horse, put in the day riding, came in late at night with all and much more than the Church had been assessed. He certainly fulfilled the apostle's injunction to "be diligent in business, fervent in spirit, serving the Lord." When the Civil War broke out he volunteered in March, 1862, in Company "C," under Capt. Tom. Wilson, of the 29th Mississippi, under Gen. Walthall, was in the service till the close of the war. In 1896 he was elected to the state legislature, where he served his people faithfully for four years. For the past few years he has been a great sufferer. His was a noble Christian life. Family prayers never died out of his home; no amount of business could crowd out the morning and evening services; his was a model home where love abounded. The tired preacher always found a welcome and a place of comfort where he could rest in Brother Parnell's home. The true, good man has gone to his reward. We commend his faith and life to all the friends and pray the blessing of our Father above on the bereaved family.

W. M. YOUNG.

The subject of this sketch, Mrs. BETTIE HICKS (nee Autry) was born February 13, 1852, and died in her home in Benton County, Miss., Dec. 12, 1907. She was happily married to Capt. J. J. Hicks in 1870. She professed religion and joined the Presbyterian Church in 1880; eight years later she joined the M. E. Church, South, at Liberty, where she remained a faithful member till her death. Mrs. Hicks was a woman of so many fine traits of character that a volume might well be written about her good deeds. She had an only daughter who lived to become the wife of Mr. R. B. McGaughey; after three children were born to them Mrs. McGaughey was carried to her reward on high, leaving the care of her three children with her mother, who did all for them that was possible for any one to do. Mrs. Hicks was a woman that loved God, her Church, her neighbors and her family. No sacrifice was too great for her in contributing pleasure to any one. Her home was her preacher's home. She never made any great display over anything but was always calm and composed. Those who knew her longest loved her best, which is always a true test of Christian character. During my life I have never known a more devout, loyal Christian than Mrs. Hicks. When old Aunt Peggy Blackburn, an old relative on earth, was left without a home, Mrs. Hicks took her to her home, where she had the family to build her a house at the corner of her yard, where she could look after her wants. Mrs. Hicks never had anything too good for her Aunt Peggy as she always called her. Yes, the world has been made better by her life, and became poorer by her death, but heaven has been made richer and greater. May the soft winds of coming years chant a gentle requiem over slumbering ashes till time shall be no more; then we expect to meet her beyond the grave, where hearts and never more made sad. Yes, while on earth we may not meet, but we will miss her. There will be one vacant chair. To her aged husband, to her son-in-law and grandchildren we extend sympathy and condolence in these hours of sad bereavement; a few more years and you will join her upon the golden shores of the sweet by-and-by, there to live and to bask in the eternal sunlight of God forever and forever. Her former pastor,

W. R. WILLIAMS.
Cockrum, Miss.

Classified Advertisements.

EDUCATIONAL.

WANTED—30,000 telegraphers on account of the new 8-hour law. Draughon's Colleges, 30 in 17 states, give written contract to secure position or refund money. Address Jno. F. Draughon, Washington, Nashville, Atlanta, Raleigh, St. Louis, Dallas, Little Rock or San Antonio.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Victor Sanitarium. For the safe, speedy and scientific treatment of Alcohol and Opium addiction. Address 321 Whitehall street, Atlanta, Ga.

OPPORTUNITIES AND INVESTMENTS.

Wanted. Young men and women to prepare for positions paying [illegible] monthly. [illegible] paid. Positions guaranteed. Wheeler Bus. College, Birmingham, Ala.

FEMALE HELP.

$2.00 PER DAY paid one lady in each town to distribute circulars and take orders for Concentrated Flavoring in tubes; permanent business. J. S. Zeigler & Co., Chicago, Ill.

FOR THE HOME

A HOME ORCHARD FOR $3.00 For only $3.00 [illegible] will send by express, prepaid, 50 choice, [illegible] Trees, Vines and Shrubs, including 4 apples, [illegible] 2 pears, 2 plums and 2 cherries, [illegible] 2 and [illegible] year trees; 10 grapes, 10 raspberries, 10 blackberries, and 6 roses and ornamental shrubs. This is lusty, healthy, mountain-grown stock, warranted true to name and sure to grow. References, R. G. Dun & Co. or any Chattanooga bank. Write TO-DAY for details to Chattanooga Nurseries, 81 Missionary Ridge, Chattanooga, Tenn.

$100 MAKES YOU A BOOKKEEPER OR STENOGRAPHER; It pays board, tuition, and stationery. POSITIONS.

WALDEN'S BUSINESS COLLEGE

Lake Charles, La. A select school of highest character. No better courses anywhere at any price. Only 25 scholarships at reduced rates. Free penmanship course. A delightful winter resort. Write to-day to

L. R. WALDEN, President.

MONEY IN TEXAS AND MEXICO.

We offer splendid inducements to join established enterprise with or without services. Deposit $10 and up in monthly installments of only $5 in absolutely safe land proposition that will give you life income. A few capable office people can secure good positions. Write now. San Antonio Real Estate & Investment Co., 228 West Commerce St., San Antonio, Tex.

Queen & Crescent Route

Through Pullman Sleeper

TO NORFOLK,

Jamestown Exposition.

Lv. New Orleans daily.........7:50 p. m.
Av. Norfolk.........9:05 a. m.

Second Morning.

ROUND TRIP FARES:

Tickets Limited Dec. 15, '07......$42.65
Tickets Limited 60 days.........25.60
Tickets Limited 15 days.........28.75
Tickets good in coaches only sold on Tuesday of each week, Limited 10 days.........22.10

CONFEDERATE REUNION,
Richmond, Va.

Round Trip Fare.........$21.15

THE QUICKEST TIME.
FOR DETAILS APPLY AT

Ticket Office, 211 St. Charles St.

Phone Main 4482.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL

The Double Track Route.

26 Hours to Chicago
21 Hours to St. Louis
22 Hours to Loisville
26 Hours to Cincinnati

Through Sleeping Cars to above points. Dining Cars, Library Cars, Chair Cars and Coaches.

Full Particulars at

City Ticket Office,

141 ST. CHARLES STREET.
Phone Main 3612.

Dog's Cold Nose

is a sign of health, but warm nose means sick dog. Doctors judge a dog by his nose and a man by his hands. Folks with cold hands need

Scott's Emulsion

Cold hands often mean thin blood, low vitality and poor feeding. SCOTT'S EMULSION has warmth and vitality and feeding power in it. In consumption and other wasting diseases it feeds the blood and gives the power to produce flesh. :: :: :: :: :: :: ::

All Druggists; 50c. and $1.00.

Sunday School

By W. B. Campbell.

LESSON FOR FEB. 9.

Subject—Jesus and the Woman of Samaria.—John iv. 1-42.

Golden Text: "If any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink."—John vii. 37.

Our Lord had closed his ministry for the time being in Judea, and was returning to Galilee. He "must needs go through Samaria," which lies between the two first-named countries. During this ministry his "Father's business" was attended to most vigorously, for he made and baptized more disciples than John; that is, his disciples baptized (not the Master), as the Scripture particularly tells us. He came near the city of Sychar, of Samaria, and how plainly we can see him, wearied by travel. He seats himself on the curbing of Jacob's well. Surrounding scenes must have taken him back to the time of Jacob, and to the events connected with Jacob's change of name and character. Jacob was born again of the Spirit and the change was effected after a struggle. O, the battles that are fought and won by millions on the same ground! We wonder if Nicodemus found light and life in the Master's gracious words. Ever ready to enlighten the darkened mind, the time was at hand when his kindness should be bestowed on one in the lowest walks in life. The rich Jewish rabbi received no more marked consideration than the sinful Samaritan woman. No name is given to this woman, but she is known to-day wherever in all the world the love and works of Jesus are known. Jesus knows her and saw her inmost soul and although she was vile and full of sin and of a despised people (the Samaritans and Jews hated each other), he had compassion and taught her the lesson by which millions of souls learned of the living water.

He came to seek and to save, and that was his object in making a way for conversation, saying to the woman, "Give me to drink." Then she: "How is it that you, a member of the proud Jewish nation, ask of me a drink of water?" There might have been irony in her voice, for the Samaritans were proud also. In the conversation that followed the Lord laid the foundation for doctrines that were taken up and preached and written of, first by the apostles, and by every succeeding minister of Christ down to the present day. This woman was very near the Savior of sinners, and she did not know it. She did not know that she had only to ask, to receive the living water. It was the subtlety of the evil one that made her seek refuge in the question of formality. Paul preached to the men of Athens on the same line when he said: "He be not far from every one of us," and "now he commandeth men everywhere to repent."

When the soul is near its Redeemer and feels the inspiration of Divine presence there is a sense of unworthiness that turns the eye to self to determine the cause. This woman of Samaria was made to first feel the need of salvation for herself before she went into the near-by town to tell of the Messiah, describing him as a man who told her all things that ever she did. Jesus had told her, and in telling her, tells all the world that God seeks no formal worship. His presence in the old meeting house at the crossroads where spiritual worshipers are gathered together, is more in line with Jesus' teaching than that worship consists in processions, retreats and afflictions of the body. God did place his name, and designated Jerusalem as the place to worship. Now he has made of each one of us the temple of the Holy Ghost, and wherever we may be under the broad blue sky. God is very near to him that communes with the One in whom we live and move and have our being.

It is a consoling thought that, while the soul is turning this way and that, from a world of sin and trouble, seeking rest, God is seeking just such to worship him. "God is a spirit," said the Master. No confession box is needed to bring us pardon. As the sin of this woman was open to the eyes of him with whom we have to do, so does he know of the burdens we bear, and under which we grow so weary. The woman said that the Messiah would tell us all things. How much more could be told her? What does the Spirit tell us if we depart one step out of the path marked by the footsteps of Jesus? Then Jesus reveals himself to the woman more plainly than ever before to anyone: "I that speak to thee am he." That was enough for her, and for the whole universe. Can anyone doubt the words so plainly spoken? The woman was so filled with wonder and surprise that she had mind for nothing but to carry the glorious news to Sychar. See the water-pot lying on the ground, and see her disappearing form, as she goes to tell of one that she feels must be the Captain of her salvation.

So it was ever, and ever it shall be, that when Christ has told the benighted soul "I that speak to thee am he," it must be told. Far and near, over all the world, the rejoicing millions are telling of him who is the Savior of the world. It cannot be kept to one's self, this glorious news; it must be told; it is part of the great plan to tell it. Tell it to-day to a restless world, to men who turn everywhere for peace. Say to them the words spoken by him who spoke as never man spake: "If any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink."

By faith I to the fountain fly,
Opened for all mankind and me.

MOXINE

Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

FOR RENT.

Two-story house, 545 Lowerline St. one-half square from St. Charles Ave. New Orleans, La. Eight rooms; reception hall; all modern conveniences; large yard, etc. Apply to Rev. J. W. Tinnin, Pelican and Lavergne, Algiers, La.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC

Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

Desperate Coughs

Dangerous coughs. Extremely perilous coughs. Coughs that rasp and tear the throat and lungs. Coughs that shake the whole body. You need a regular medicine, a doctor's medicine, for such a cough. Ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for these severe cases.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our preparations.

J. C. Ayer Co.,
Lowell, Mass.

Jos. Weckerling, Pres. Geo. Stahler, Sec'y.

LOUISIANA GLASS and MIRROR WORKS Limited.

PAINTS, OILS AND GLASS.

MIRRORS, MEMORIAL WINDOWS, RE-SILVERING AND GLAZING...
Factory 309-319 Lafayette Street. Office and Sales Rooms 408-410-412 Carondelet Street. Phone Main 792. New Orleans, La.
Distributers, JNO. W. MASURY & SON'S Paints, Colors and Varnishes.

W. H. BYRNES, Pres. JOHN T. GIBBONS, Vice-Pres. W. WOOD, Sec'y.

Capital..........$300,000.00
Assets..........$479,860.90

HIBERNIA INSURNCE CO.,

No. 305 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEAN, LA.

LOSSES PAID PROMPTLY.

Pine-Brook Dairy Co., Ltd

ALL OUR COWS TUBERCULINE TESTED.

Milk and Cream Delivered Morning and Evening.

COR ST. CHARLES & WASHINGTON AVES. Phone 1514 Uptown.

Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company.

THROUGH DAILY PASSENGER SERVICE

Between

NEW ORLEANS and SHREVEPORT,

via

BATON ROUGE, BAYOU SARA and ALEXANDRIA.

FAST FREIGHT SERVICE.

C. ELLERBE,
Asst. to Prest.,
Shreveport, La.

H. B. HELM,
Gen'l Superintendent,
Shreveport, La.

E. C. D. MARSHALL, G. F. & P. A., Shreveport, La.

THE AMERICAN PAINT WORKS,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

MANUFACTURES EVERYTHING IN PAINTS,

—Guaranteed Strictly Pure—

The Climatic Prepared Paints, Perfecto White and

SOLD SUBJECT TO A CHEMICAL ANALYSIS.

DIRECTORS:

Thos. S. Witherspoon, President. Francis Martin, Vice President.
R. B. Parker, John McCloskey, Geo. A. Hero.
PHONE, MAIN 315. Special Attention to Mail Orders

New Orleans Light House

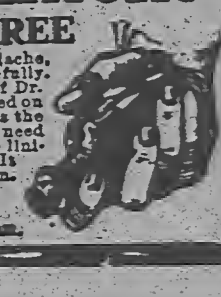
FRIEDRICH MERCANTILE COMPANY
636 CAMP STREET

LIGHTS

(Friedrich Mercantile Co.)
Well-known Welbach Gas Lights, all styles. Something new. Tubus Gas Lights, very popular. Inverted Gas Lights at $1.10. The Practious Coal Oil Lamp that burns a mantle 60 hours to one gallon of coal oil. You are invited to see this brilliant light. Gasoline Hollow Wire Lamp Systems, substitute for gas and electric lights.
Full Stock of Lighting Supplies.
Country Orders Solicited.

Dr. Brown's Magic Liniment

This bottle for you---FREE



Those who seek relief from rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, headache, backache, lumbago, sprains, sore muscles, and other pains—Read carefully. We want to help you. We know the marvellous curative power of Dr. Brown's Magic Liniment; how wonderful it is; that when it is poured on a piece of cloth and pressed closely to the place where the pain exists the pain instantly vanishes. It is different from other liniments which need rubbing. You simply smother the cloth under your hands and the liniment penetrates to the source of the pain and instantly relieves it. It soothes the nerves, produces warmth, and starts up the circulation. We know it does all these things—AND WE WANT YOU TO KNOW IT. Send for the sample bottle and try it. Write to

BROWN CHEMICAL CO., Dept. A. Nashville, Tenn.

"Silver Plate that Wears"

If you want knives, forks, spoons, etc., that last a lifetime, ask for those marked

"1847 ROGERS BROS."

The best-wearing, best-designed silver-plate on the market.

Send for Catalogue "O 12"

INTERNATIONAL SILVER CO., Successor to MERIDEN BRITANNIA CO.
Meriden, Conn.
SOLD BY LEADING DEALERS

General News

The street car men of Muncie, Ind., now on strike, having declared that they would boycott any merchant who patronized the cars, fifty of the most prominent merchants in the town devoted a whole day to riding on the cars. They patronized every car line in the town, as a protest and a defiance.

* * *

The President's message will stir up the authors of "high finance" in corporation, trust and railroad stock manipulation to a greater hatred of his policies than ever, and if possible to a more vigorous denunciation. It would be hard to find anything in the message that is detrimental to the higher interests of the country. He emphatically asserts that all he wants is equal rights for all, rich and poor, employer or employe, and he asks Congress to pass such laws as will enable the administration to accomplish this effectively.

* * *

A cyclone swept over Mississippi, near Wesson, a few days ago, leveling everything in its way — trees, farmhouses, barns, etc. Nine persons were killed and a number of others were wounded.

* * *

The fleet of battleships is reported as passing through the Straits of Magellan. So far the fleet has been singularly free from accidents. The next report will probably be of their progress north in the Pacific Ocean.

* * *

Edward Honore, a leader in the fanatical sect called "Council of God," has been convicted of murder for killing Policeman Cambias. It will be remembered that the officer was endeavoring to arrest one of the negroes, who had committed a murderous assault on a young man. Jaques Piere, also accused of being a participator in the crime, will be tried next.

* * *

January broke all records in the Panama Canal contruction, 2,500,000 cubic yards of dirt being removed.

* * *

The House, of the Mississippi Legislature, has passed a bill raising the age of consent from 10 years to 14. The age should be fixed at 18.

* * *

The jury in the second trial of Harry K. Thaw for the killing of Stanford White brought in a verdict of acquittal. Thaw has been sent to an asylum for the criminally insane, until released by due process of law.

* * *

The Supreme Court of the United States has decided that the law forbidding railroads to discriminate against labor organizations in the matter of employment was unconstitutional. Justices McKenna and Holmes dissented. The Court held that the Louisville and Nashville R.R. Co. had a right to discharge an employe because he was a member of a labor organization, just as it was the employe's right to quit such employment because of his membership in such organization. Such a course, the decision added, might be unwise, but, regarded as a mere matter of right, there could be no doubt. Congress could not, under the Constitution, authorize a violation of contracts under the guise of protecting interstate commerce. This decision may become one of the campaign issues of the next presidential election.

* * *

The New Amsterdam National Bank (with a capital of $1,000,000) and the Merchants' and Traders' State Bank (with a capital of $2,000,000), both of New York City, have been forced to suspend. They announce that they will be able to pay all depositors. These banks were tided over by the New York Clearing House until they could liquidate without danger to the financial conditions of the country at large.

* * *

The first trial of Louisiana's new primary law was fairly satisfactory, except to defeated candidates and their friends. Lieutenant Governor J. Y. Sanders was nominated as the Democratic candidate for governor. In several instances, where there were three candidate, a second primary will have to be held.

* * *

On Jan. 20 King Edward opened the British Parliament with the usual ceremonies, that remind the onlooker of scenes brought down from the middle ages.

* * *

King Carlos of Portugal and the heir-apparent to the throne, Luis Philippe, were assassinated on last Saturday. A band of men shot at them while driving in an open carriage. Manuel, a young son of the king, was slightly wounded, while the Queen, his mother, who tried to shield her boy with her own body, escaped unhurt. Every capital in Europe is disturbed, fearing it may portend a fresh outbreak of anarchistic troubles. Prince Manuel has been proclaimed king, as Manuel II.

CORINTH DISTRICT.

The preachers of the Corinth District are all at their posts and are hard at work. I attended the District Stewards' Meeting and met many of the pastors and stewards, and every one seemed highly pleased with our new presiding elder. He is organizing and planning for a great year's work. You may rest assured that all the interests of the Church will be carefully looked after by this faithful servant of the Church.

We of Iuka Charge regretted to lose Brother Jaco, who had so endeared himself to the people of the town, but we are delighted with Brother Savage. He is a strong preacher and a fine pastor.

I am at home resting, praying and reading, trying to get ready for my work. A number of the brethren want me to assist them in meetings during the spring and summer. If any can use me during the month of February I would be glad to hear from them.

Last year was the greatest of my life. The Lord has been good to me and I am trying to be all for him.

The Lord bless you, Doctor, in your great work as editor. You are giving us a great paper. You only need the hearty co-operation of all the pastors to make it better. Yours fraternally, W. M. McINTOSH.

Iuka, Miss.

Quick Relief for Skin Diseases.

Tetterine—following baths with Tetterine Soap—quickly relieves the itching and promptly cures diseases of the Skin and Scalp. Eczema, Tetter, and Itching Piles yield readily to its antiseptic and healing qualities. Tetterine is a fragrant antiseptic and healing ointment, the finest prescription ever discovered for skin and scalp troubles. Ask your druggist or send 50 cents in stamps to

The Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

For Your SUNDAY DINNER

Jell-O

With Whipped Cream

A 10 cent package and a pint of boiling water Makes Enough Dessert for a Large Family.

FLAVORS: Lemon, Orange, Raspberry, Strawberry, Chocolate, Cherry, Peach.

No trouble to prepare—simply add boiling water—cool and serve. Flavored just right. Sweetened just right. Perfect in every way. Cheaper and better than fruit, pies or pastry.

CAUTION: Don't accept a substitute, or you will be disappointed. There's no other dessert just like JELL-O. Sold by all good grocers. Complies with all Pure Food Laws.

THE GENESEE PURE FOOD CO., Le Roy, N. Y.

JELL-O
LEMON

FOR A GOOD PIANO, PIANO PLAYER or PLAYER PIANO see the Grunewald's Before You Buy.

Agents for the Latest Improved and best Instruments on the Market.

POSITIONS SECURED or MONEY BACK

Contract given, backed by $300,000.00 capital and 18 years' Success

DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL BUSINESS COLLEGES
SHREVEPORT, JACKSON (MISS.),
DALLAS, GALVESTON, NASHVILLE

30 Colleges in 17 States

Bookkeeping, Banking, Shorthand, Penmanship, Telegraphy, etc. Indorsed by business men. Also teach by mail. Write, phone, or call for catalogue.

KING'S "LITTLE GIANT" COTTON Seed Sold on Long Time

T. W. House, of Texas, says: The King produced double as much as others.

A. A. Williams, of Georgia, says: The King planted same time on same land with same manure and cultivation is twice as good as others.

It ought to Do as Well for You. Take agency and get your seed free.

We wish to show you what the "Genuine King" will do for you, and so we offer the seed on October, 1908, time, at fair prices. Write for application blanks and booklet of proof.

T. J. King Co.,
Richmond, Va.

DON'T BE A CABBAGE HEAD

HAVE YOU BEEN TO JAMESTOWN

If so, you no doubt received free, one of these buttons from the S. C. exhibit, given you by the N. H. Blitch Co., the largest Vegetable and Plant farm combined in the world. We will be glad to have your orders for cabbage and garden plants of all kinds, raised in the open air. Special express rates. Prices as follows:—1,000 to 5,000 at $1.50 per 1,000; 5,000 to 10,000 at $1.25 per 1,000; over 10,000 at $1.00 per 1,000, f. o. b. express office Meggett, S. C. We guarantee count, make good all bona-fide shortage, and give prompt shipments. All seed purchased from the most reliable seedsmen, guaranteed true to type. We have extra early or large type Wakefield, the [illegible] and Flat Dutch varieties of cabbage plants. Send all orders to N. H. BLITCH CO., Meggett, S. C.

LARGEST PLANT & TRUCK GROWERS ON EARTH

The Union Rilraod Business College

BUSINESS TAUGHT AS IT IS DONE

Is backed up by thousands of dollars and expert teachers. Uses no text books or copying nonsense. Free scholarships given only to those between the ages of 13 and 35 years.

Business men everywhere are calling for the graduates of this school. For full particulars, address PROF. W. N. STEPHENSON, Texarkana, Texas.

Don't you know THAT CRADDOCK-TERRY CO.'S Long Wear Shoes
wear longer than other shoes at the same price? If not, try a pair of these celebrated shoes and be convinced.

QUARTERLY CONFRENCES.

Louisiana Conference.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—FIRST RND.

Mt. Herman, at Tangipahoa	Feb. 1, 2
Kentwood ... 7 p.m.	Feb. 2
St. Francisville, at St. F.	Feb. 8, 9
Port Vincent, at P. V.	Feb. 15, 16
Live Oak, at Denham Spgs.	Feb. 16, 17
Pine Grove, at P. Gr.	Feb. 22, 23
St. Helena, at Center	Fb. 29, 1
E. Feliciana, at Oak G.	Feb. 7, 8
Melville, at Melville	Feb. 14, 15
New Roads and Jacoby	Feb. 21, 22
First Church, Baton R.	Feb. 29, 30
Second Church, Baton R.	Feb. 29, 30

R. W. TUCKER, P. E.

MONROE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Farmerville, at Farmerville	Feb. 1, 2
Brookland, at Brookland	Feb. 7, 8
Eros, at Eros	Feb. 8, 9
Mer Rouge, at Collinston	Feb. 15, 16
Mangham, at Mangham	Feb. 16, 17
Harrisonburg, at H.	Feb. 22, 23
Florence, at Florence	Feb. 23, 24
Waterproof	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Floyd, at Floyd	Mar. 7, 8

J. E. DENSON, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.— FIRST ROUSD.

La Chute, at La Chute	Feb. 1, 2
Shreveport, First Church	Feb. 9, 10
Shreveport, Texas Ave	Feb. 12
Mansfield Ct., at Bether	Feb. 15, 16
Mansfield Ct., at Bethel	Feb. 15, 16
Zwolle, at Zwolle	Feb. 22, 23
Many, at Many	Feb. 23, 24
Ida, at Gilliah	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Greenwood, at Greenwood	Mar. 7, 8
Shreveport, City Mission	Mar. 8, 9
Hornbeck, at Holly Grove	Mar. 14, 15
Leesville Station	Mar. 15, 16
Bon Ami	Mar. 21, 22
De Ridder Station	Mar. 22, 23
Pleasant Hill, at P. H.	Mar. 27, 28
Provincal, at Provincal	Mar. 29
Mooringsport, at M.	Apr. 4, 5

T. J. WARLICK, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Gibsland, at G.	Feb. 1, 2
Louisville, at L.	Feb. 3
Winnfield	Feb. 4
Bernice, at Alabama	Feb. 8, 9
Jonesboro, at J.	Feb. 10
Vernon, at Wesley Chapel	Feb. 12
Ringgold, at R.	Feb. 15, 16
Ruston	Feb. 18
Cotton Valley	Feb. 22, 23
Minden	Feb. 24
Lisbon, at Lisbon	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Arcadia	Mar. 8, 9

BRISCOE CARTER, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST R'ND.

Covington, at Covington	Feb. 1, 2
Slidell, at Slidell	Feb. 8, 9
Carrollton Avenue ... a.m.	Feb. 16
Second Church ... p.m.	Feb. 16
First Church ... a.m.	Feb. 23
Felicity ... p.m.	Feb. 23
Reyne Memorial	March 1

F. N. PARKER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Chicot, at White's Chapel	Feb. 1, 2
Montgomery, at Montgomery	Feb. 5
Lecompte, at Lecompte	Feb. 8, 9
Bunkie	Feb. 10
Simsport	Feb. 11
Opelousas	Feb. 15, 16
Natchitoches	Feb. 22, 23
Boyce	Feb. 24

N. E. JOYNER, P. E.

CROWLEY DISTRICT—FIRST ROUND

Gueydan	Feb. 2
Eunice	Feb. 2
Prudhomme	Feb. 8
Crowley	Feb. 7, 9
Lake Arthur	Feb. 15, 16
Jennings	Feb. 16
Lake Charles	Feb. 21, 23
Sulphur	Feb. 22, 23
Grand Cheniere	Feb. 24

J. M. HENRY, P. E.

North Mississippi Conference.

DURANT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Rural Hill, at Rural Hill	Feb. 1, 2
McCool, at McCool	Feb. 2, 3
Ebenezer, at Hebron	Feb. 8, 9
Lexington [illegible]	Feb. 9, 10
Vaiden, at Vaiden	Feb. 12
Black Hawk, at B. H.	Feb. 15, 16
Sidon & Tchula, at Cruger	Feb. 19
Kosciusko Cir., at Bethel	Feb. 22, 23
West, at West	Mar. 1, 2
Louisville, at Louisville	Mar. 4
Poplar Creek, at Friendship	Mar. 7, 8

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUSD.

Amory and Nettleton, at A.	Feb. 2, 3
Bounds Ct., at Tabernacle	Feb. 6
Pittsboro, at Sunrall	Feb. 7
Vardaman, at Vardaman	Feb. 8, 9
Houlka, at Wesley Chapel	Feb. 15, 16
Montpelier, at Sparta	Feb. 18
Palestine, at Algoma	Feb. 22, 23
Pontotoc, at Pontotoc	Feb. 23, 24
Nettleton, at Evergreen	Feb. 29, Mch 1
Smithville, at Antioch	Mch. 2
Okolona Ct., at Moore Chap.	Mch. 4
Aberdeen Ct., at Gr. Spgs.	Mch. 7, 8
Fulton, at Hardins Chap.	Mch. 12

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Winstonville, at Middleton	Feb. 1, 2
Mayhew, at Artesia	Feb. 8, 9
Mathiston, at Mathiston	Feb. 15, 16
Crawford, at Crawford	Feb. 22, 23
Sturges, at Sturges	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Brooksville, at B.	Mar. 7, 8
Hebron, at Hebron	Mar. 14, 15
Cedar Bluff, at Phoeba	Mar. 21, 22

L. M. LIPSCOMB, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Wheeler Ct., at Wheelers	Feb. 1, 2
Marietta Ct., at Marietta	Feb. 4
Myrtle Ct., at Hickory Flat	Feb. 8, 9
Blue Springs Ct., at B. S.	Feb. 10
New Albany Sta.	Feb. 16, 17
N. Albany Ct., at Mt. Olivet	Feb. 18
Booneville Ct., at Carolina	Feb. 22, 23
Jonesboro Ct., at Camp Gr.	Feb. 26
Ripley and Faulkner, at R. C.	Feb. 28
Ripley and N. H., at Ripley	Feb. 29, 1

BEN P. JACO, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Wall Hill	Feb. 1, 2
Pleasant Hill, at Lewisburg	Feb. 8
Hernando and Hinds, at H.	9, 10
Courtland	15, 16
Harrison	22, 23
Eureka, at Cole's Springs	Feb. 29, 1
Tyro, at Fredonia	Mar. 7, 8
Long Town, at Davis Ch'l	Mar. 14, 15
Crenshaw	Mar. 21, 22
Batesville	Mar. 28, 29

W. M. YOUNG, P. E.

OXFORD DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Water Val. Ct., at Palestine	Feb. 1, 2
Paris Ct., at Paris	Feb. 8, 9
Toccapola Ct.	Feb. 14
Randolph Ct.	Feb. 15, 16
Waterford Ct.	Feb. 22, 23

J. E. CUNNINGHAM, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Coahoma, at C. ... 11 a.m.	Feb. 2
Tunica, at T. ... 3 p.m.	Feb. 2
Robinsonville, at R.	Feb. 3, 4
Rosedale ... 11 a.m.	Feb. 9
Hill House, at Gunnison, pm	Feb. 9
Friar's Point	Feb. 16, 17
Jonestown	Feb. 23, 24
Shaw	Mar. 1, 2
Glen Allan and Greenville Mission	Mar. 7, 8

R. A. MEEK, P. E.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

FREE TO THE READERS.

We take great pleasure in announcing to our readers that Dr. Coffee, the famous Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist of Des Moines, Iowa, offers to send any one afflicted with Deafness, Catarrh, Failing Sight, Sore or Weak Eyes, his 128 page book free of charge together with instructions how you can cure yourself at home by a simple harmless method. In addition to this if you will write a description of your case he will make you a proposition whereby you can get a full month treatment on trial free, of all cost if it fails to satisfy. Accept this unusual offer to-day. Address Dr. W. O. Coffee, National Eye and Ear Infirmary, Dept. 210, Des Moines, Ia.

Easter Post Cards Free Six beautiful cards All different if you send 10 cts. for 3 mos. trial subscription to our story paper, 3 sets 25 cts. Post Card Co., Dept. 64, Topeka, Kan.

POST CARDS FREE

Cut out this ad. and we will send you a set of a most beautiful post cards you ever saw. Send 2-ct. stamp for postage. Full set of 12 for 10 cts: 3 full sets 25 cts. Everyone answering this ad. immediately will also receive our family magazine and story paper 3 months on trial free. We make this great offer to introduce our big magazine which already has more than a half million readers. Address at once THE HOUSEHOLD, 38 CRAWFORD BLK., TOPEKA, KANSAS.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

MISSISSIPPI LEGISLATURE
CONVENES TUESDAY, JAN. 6, 1908.
Take the DAILY NEWS during the session, the afternoon paper of to-day.
THE DAILY NEWS
goes to press every afternoon in time to make all outgoing trains.
SPECIAL SUBSCRIPTION PRICE.
to the DAILY NEWS for the three months of the legislature. Daily and Sunday, for entire legislative session
ONLY $1.25
Cash must accompany all orders. Address DAILY NEWS, Jackson, Miss.

MEDICAL OPINIONS OF BUFFALO LITHIA SPRINGS WATER

Strong Testimony From the University of Virginia.

"IT SHOULD BE RECOGNIZED AS AN ARTICLE OF MATERIA MEDICA"

James L. Cabell, M. D., A. M., LL. D., former Prof. Physiology and Surgery in the Medical Department of the University of Virginia, and Pres. of the National Board of Health: "BUFFALO LITHIA WATER in Uric Acid Diathesis is a well-known therapeutic resource. It should be recognized by the profession as an article of Materia Medica."

"NOTHING TO COMPARE WITH IT IN PREVENTING URIC ACID DEPOSITS IN THE BODY."

Dr. P. B. Barringer, Chairman of Faculty and Professor of Physiology, University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Va.: "After twenty years' practice I have no hesitancy in stating that for prompt results I have found nothing to compare with BUFFALO LITHIA WATER in preventing Uric Acid Deposits in the body."

"I KNOW OF NO REMEDY COMPARABLE TO IT."

Wm. B. Towles, M. D., late Prof. of Anatomy and Materia Medica, University of Va.: "In Uric Acid Diathesis, Gout, Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, Renal Calculi and Stone in the Bladder, I know of no remedy comparable to BUFFALO LITHIA WATER Spring No. 2."

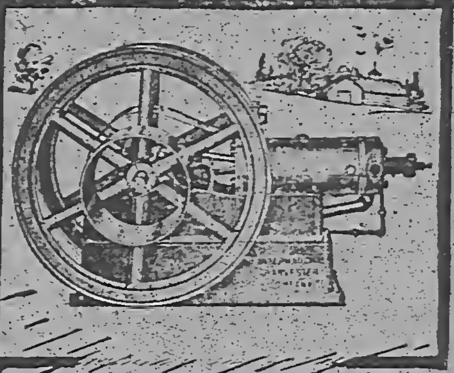
Voluminous medical testimony sent on request. For sale by the general drug and mineral water trade.

BUFFALO LITHIA SPRINGS WATER CO. BUFFALO LITHIA SPRINGS, VIRGINIA

THE BEST MADE.
Angell's Cough and Whooping Cough Syrup
For Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Throat Trouble.
CONTAINS NO OPIUM OR MORPHINE,
All Druggists, Price 25 and 50 Cents.

INCUBATORS "THE MODEL" Manufactured by Chas. A. Cyphers The acknowledged leading authority on Incubation. We carry a full line also of Brooders, Coops, Etc. Our Steinmesch Poultry Feeds are conceded the finest on the market. They grow big chickens and a large percentage of those hatched. White Washing Machines, Spray Pumps save labor and money. Field Fencing, Root Cutters, Feeders, Seeds, etc. Everything for Poultrymen.
NEW ORLEANS POULTRY SUPPLY CO.,
R. E. Bruce, Manager. 531 Poydras Street, New Orleans.



A Reliable Power as a Farm Help

FARMERS are getting over doing things the hard, slow way. The very general use of farm powers is an example.

As a matter of fact, the farmer has as great need of a reliable power as the mechanic.

Take the average barn for illustration. Locate one of the simple, dependable I. H. C. gasoline engines, such as is shown here, outside the barn door, or within the barn [illegible] You will have a power house on your farm.

It will shell the corn, grind feed, cut ensilage, turn the fanning mill, pump water, run the cream separator, elevate hay to the mow, and do a dozen other things.

The old way was to use the horses in a tread power or [illegible] to operate a complicated system of gear wheels.

The consequence was that most of the hard power jobs were hand jobs.

I. H. C. engines, being so simple, so efficient, so dependable, and furnishing abundant power at so little cost, have established a new order of things.

Any one who will carefully consider the matter must see that they are money makers and money savers.

They make short, easy, pleasant work of what always has been hard, slow work.

They save the farmer's strength, save him wages of hired men, save time, and enable him to do more work and make more money out of his farm than ever was possible before.

There is no doubt that on the average farm an I. H. C. gasoline engine will more than repay its first cost each year.

The nice adaptation of these engines to all farm duties is one of their most excellent features.

They are built in—

VERTICAL, 2 and 3 Horse Power.

HORIZONTAL, Stationary and Portable, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 15 and 20-Horse Power.

TRACTION, 10, 12, 15 and 20 Horse Power.

AIR COOLED, 1 Horse Power.

Also sawing, spraying and pumping outfits.

There is an I. H. C. engine for every purpose.

It will be to your interest to investigate these [illegible] engines. Call on the International local agent and get catalogues and particulars, or write the home office.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER COMPANY OF AMERICA, CHICAGO, U. S. A.
(Incorporated).

Why Your Head Aches

You do not endure headache because you want to. It is because you haven't a satisfactory remedy. You haven't tried Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They stop pain quickly, leave no bad after-effects, do not derange the stomach. That ought to be satisfactory—if so, try them. Your druggist has them.

"I have used Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for the past three years. They never failed to give me relief. They never leave any bad after-effects. Before I began taking them I had been a great sufferer from headache, for years.

GEORGE W. SAYLOR,
637 N. 13th Street. Philadelphia, Pa.

If they fail to help, your druggist will refund the money on first package.

25 doses, 25 cents. Never sold in bulk.

MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

Mississippi Conference.

NATCHEZ DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Barlow, at Rehoboth	Feb. 1, 2
Hamburg, at Hamburg	Feb. 8, 9
Fayette, at Fayette	Feb. 15, 16
Percy's Creek, at Dawson's	Feb. 22, 23
Woodville	Feb. 23, 24
Natchez, Pearl St.	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Natchez, Jefferson St.	Mar. 1, 2
Bayou Pierre, at P. V.	Mar. 7, 8
Caseyville, at New Hope, Monday, 11 a. m.	Mar. 9
Wilkinson, at Friendship	Mar. 14, 15
Meadville, at Providence	Mar. 21, 22
Washington, at W.	Mar. 28, 29

J. T. LEGGETT, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.— FIRST ROUND.

Bolton, at Bolton	Feb. 1, 2
Hermanville, at H.	Feb. 8, 9
Silver City, at S. C.	Feb. 15, 16
Satartia, at Wesley Chapel	Feb. 18
Oak Ridge, at O. R.	Feb. 22, 23
Edwards, at Edwards	Feb. 24, 25
Anguilla, at Anguilla	Mar. 1, 2
Rolling Fork, at R. F.	Mar. 2, 3
Mayersville, at Mayersville	Mar. 3, 4
Rocky Springs, at R. S.	Mar. 7, 8

G. H. GALLOWAY, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST. — FIRST ROUND.

Moss Point	Feb. 1, 2
Pascagoula	Feb. 2, 3
Lumberton	Feb. 8, 9
Biloxi, Main St.	Feb. 15, 16
Long Beach	Feb. 17
Hattiesburg, Main St.	Feb. 21, 22
Hattiesburg, Broad St.	Feb. 22, 23
Hattiesburg, Court St.	Feb. 24
Carriere and McNeill, at Carriere	Feb. 29, 1
Brooklyn and Bond, at Brooklyn	Mar. 6
Mentorum and New Zion, at New Zion	Mar. 7, 8
Gulfport, 25th Ave.	Mar. 10
Gulfport, 29th St., at Handsboro	Mar. 11
Ocean Springs and Oak St., Oak St	Mar. 12
Coalville, at Poplarhead	Mar. 14, 15
Howison ann Saucier, at S.	Mar. 15, 16
Wolf River, at Durhams C.	Mar. 17

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND

Tylertown, at T.	Feb. 1, 2
Brookhaven	(Wed.) Feb. 4,
Bogue Chitto and Norfield, at B. C.	Feb. 8, 9
Adams, at Adams	Feb. 15, 16
Beauregard, at B.	Feb. 22, 23
Wesson	Feb. 23, 24
Monticello, At M.	Mar. 1, 2
Summit, at Summit	Mar. 8, 9
Topisaw, at Topisaw (Wed)	Mar. 11,

GEO. H. THOMPSON, P. E.

JACKSON DISTRICT—FIRST ROUND

Sharon, at Sharon	Feb. 1, 2
Madison, at Madison	Feb. 3,
Jackson, First Church	Feb. 5,
Fannin, at Oakdale	Feb. 8, 9
Florence, at Marvin Church	Feb. 14,
Braxton, at Braxton	Feb. 15, 16
Terry, at Terry	Feb. 19,
Deasonville, at Union	Feb. 22, 23
Benton, at Midway	Feb. 25,
Yazoo City	Feb. 26,
Eden, at Eden	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Flora, at Flora	Mar. 2,
Mount Olive, at Mt. O.	Mar. 6,
Bethel and Mission, at B.	Mar. 7, 8
Pinola, at Mount Pisgah	Mar. 14, 15

A. F. WATKINS, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Schlater, at S.	Feb. 1, 2
Webb, at Tutwiler	Feb. 4,
Minter City, at M. C.	Feb. 8, 9
N. Carrollton, at Eden	Feb. 12,
Winona Ct., at New Hope	Feb. 15, 16
Mar's Hill, at M. H.	Feb. 18,
Tom Nolen, at Stewart	Feb. 22, 23
Ruleville, at Drew	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Vance, at Vance	March 3,
Slate Springs	March 7, 8

E. S. LEWIS, P. E.

NEWTON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Hebron, at Hebron	Feb. 1,
Ellisville, at E.	Feb. 2, 3,
Harperville, at H.	Feb. 7,
Walnut Grove, at W.	Feb. 8, 9
Carthage, at C.	Feb. 9, 10
Edinberg, at Waldo	Feb. 15, 16
Philadelphia, at P.	Feb. 16, 17
Indian Miss., at Philadel.	Feb. 17,
Neshoba, at Mt. Pisgah	Feb. 18,
Decatur, at Union	Feb. 22, 23
Chunkey, at C.	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Vossburg and H., at V.	Mar. 7, 8
Rose Hill, at Rose Hill	Mar. 14, 15

JAS. M. WEEMS, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST—FIRST ROUND.

Leakesville, at L.	Feb. 1, 2
Enterprise, at E.	Feb. 8, 9
Scooba, at Scooba	Feb. 15, 16
Lauderdale, at L.	Feb. 22, 23
N. Kemper, at Spg. Hill	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
De Kalk, Tuesday	Mar. 3,
Daleville, at Soule's Chapel	Mar. 7, 8
Binnsville, at B.	Mar. 10.
Pachuta, at McGowan's	Mar. 14, 15
Middleton, at Manassa	Mar. 17,
Waynesboro Ct., at Fedora	Mar. 19,
Matherville, at Winnifred	Mar. 21, 22
Eucutta	Mar. 24,
Vimville, at Pleas. Ridge	Mar. 25, 26

W. C. BLACK, P. E.

Agents Wanted to sell REX OILS & REX CHILL TONIC to your neighbors. No traveling salesmen wanted. J. S. BURTON, Medicine Co. Sherman, Texas.

The least action of life can be as surely done from the loftiest motive as the highest and noblest. Faithfulness measures acts as God measures them. True conscientiousness deals with our duties as God deals with them. Duty is duty, conscience is conscience, right is right and wrong is wrong, whatever sized type they are printed in. "Large" and "small" are not word for the vocabulary of conscience. It knows only two words, "right" and "wrong."—Alexander Maclaren.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

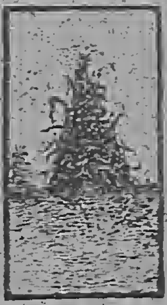
A REMARKABLE DOG.

A dog who, it is claimed, spells not only his own name but such puzzling words as Constantinople, phthisic, and pneumonia; who has the appearance of doing problems in fractions, and making change, is worthy of public discussion; and the February Century will publish the owner's own story of Roger's remarkable performance; with a scientific discussion of Roger's powers, by Robert M. Yerkes, Instructor in Comparative Pschology, Harvard University. Prof. Yerkes bases his comment on personal investigation.

"PROGRESS IN PHOTOGRAPHY."

The interesting career and development of the painter-photographer, Eduard J. Steichen, will be the subject of Charles H. Caffin's discussion in the February Century of "Progress in Photography," with illustrative reproductions of Mr. Steichen's work—work which exhibits "an unfailing resourcefulness in the conception of the composition and the handling of the medium. * * * It is this constant freshness of invention, backed by incessant experiments with the various medius, that has made the career of the artist-photographer so brilliant, and leaves one wondering to what further achievements it may lead."

Plain Talks on Fertilizers
How to Get the Greatest Possible Yield per Acre



It is a well-known scientific fact that in order to produce the very greatest possible yield from any soil it must contain an actual excess over and above all demands that can possibly be made on it by the plants.

Many farmers will feed their stock as much nourishing food as they can possibly assimilate, yet will starve their crops on the mistaken notion that they are "economizing" on fertilizer. The experiences of farmers, government experts, and agriculturalists everywhere confirm the fact that plants, like animals, need the fullest possible amount of nourishment that they can obtain if they are to be developed to the utmost.

The economy in fertilizers is not in the amount used but in the ratio of quality to cost. Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers are the best in the world for the least money. More than one million tons were sold to Southern farmers last year; and every year the demand becomes greater.

The best results in producing corn, the good old stand-by crop of the South, follow the application of 200 to 300 pounds of the right fertilizer. Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers will greatly "increase your yields per acre" of corn or any other crop, even on poor land—and the most wonderful results are produced through its use on good land.

Write today to the nearest office of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company for a copy of their latest Year Book or Almanac, a large 130-page book of the most valuable and unprejudiced information for planters and farmers.

VIRGINIA-CAROLINA CHEMICAL CO.

Richmond, Va.
Norfolk, Va.
Columbia, S. C.
Durham, N. C.
Charleston, S. C.
Baltimore Md.
Atlanta Ga.
Columbus, Ga.
Savannah Ga.
Montgomery, Ala.
Memphis, Tenn.
Shreveport, La.

Fertilizers Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co.

Frank J. Matthew,
PAINTER and DECORATOR.
1003-1005 Gravier Street. Phone, Main 4087.
Box No. 141, Contractors' and Dealers' Exchange.

TO PRACTICAL FARMERS THE COLE PLANTERS

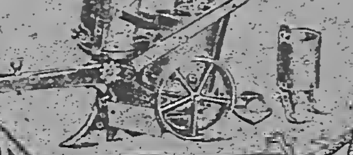
HAVE PROVEN
That they are time and money savers.

The Cole Universal Planter No. 7

Distributes guano and drills cotton seed at the same time. Drops corn, one grain or more if wanted. Perfect pea planter; fine for peanuts, sorghum, beans, etc.

The guano is mixed with soil and is not in contact with seed. Gives better stands increases the yield, and saves labor. It is simple, practical and easy to run. Over 30,000 farmers are using Cole machines with satisfaction and profit. They will save you much time and money.

"I would not take $150.00 for my Cole Planter if I could not get another." — Edward Scholtz.



Write to-day for illustrated catalogue explaining all about them.

The COLE MANUFACTURING CO.
CHARLOTTE, N. C.

FREE
TO ALL
D. M. FERRY & CO'S.
ILLUSTRATED
DESCRIPTIVE AND PRICED SEED ANNUAL for 1908

Ferry's Seeds
are the best known and the most reliable seeds grown.
Every package has behind it the reputation of a house whose business standards are the highest in the trade.

Ferry's 1908 Seed Annual will be mailed FREE to all applicants. It contains colored plates, many engravings and full descriptions, prices and directions for planting over 1200 varieties of Vegetable and Flower Seeds. Invaluable to all. Send for it.

D. M. FERRY & CO., Detroit, Mich.

Pride and Pimples

The woman who "sits back" is generally the woman with pimples or unsightly eruptions. Get in the beauty row by cleaning up the face with the magic healer of all skin diseases—with a half century record of miraculous cures. Removes ugly blotches, roughness or redness of the skin, and heals all scaly, tettery eruptions. After the cure Heiskell's Soap will keep the skin smooth and fine. Heiskell's Blood and Liver Pills are especially recommended for use with the ointment and soap. They act on the blood.

HEISKELL'S OINTMENT

Ointment 50c a box. Soap 25c a cake. Pills 25c a bottle.

Sold by all druggists or sent by mail.

JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO.
531 Commerce St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

Has been used for over SIXTY-FIVE YEARS by MILLIONS of MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING with PERFECT SUCCESS. It SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN; CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHŒA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1098. AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.

Southern Pacific
Sunset Route

Connections made at New Orleans
with all lines to the

North East and Southeast

WRITE FOR INFORMATION

G. E. GUEDRY, D. P. A.
Lake Charles.
F. E. BATTURS, G. P. A.
New Orleans.

Epworth League

By Rev. H. Whitehead.

TOPIC FOR FEB. 9, 1908.

The Example of Jesus in Prayer. -IV. Prayer the Final Resource in Seeming Defeat. Matt. xxvi. 36-46; Ps. lxxxvi.

Walk reverently, for our lesson carries us into one of the sacred places, where the Son of God fought his hardest battle, and where he met with the disappointment of unanswered prayer. That is prayer as near unanswered as the prayer of faith can ever be. The Master, in the agony of his soul, prayed that the cup might pass from him. He was comforted and strengthened, but in a few minutes, when impulsive Peter drew his sword, he said "The cup which my father giveth me, shall I not drink it." The great throngs that had gathered around him had all departed. The hozannas had died from their lips, and they were ready to cry crucify him. The rulers of the people all rejected him. He came unto his own, and his own received him not. It was in such an hour as this that the Master gave himself to agonizing prayer.

We may not go too deeply into the sacred mysteries of Gethsemane. It is enough to realize that the Christ was as truly a man as any man that ever walked the earth, as well as being the Son of God. He saw the horror and disgrace of sin and death, as we do not. And, added to all else, his own refused him.

2. The Humiliation of Defeat.

If aught will break the power of pride, defeat will. In the days that are gone, no disgrace was too great to impose upon those who had been defeated in battle. We do not impose the physical ills, but there is something of the same spirit still. The man who is defeated in the battle of life, does not receive such sympathy from his successful neighbors. Of old the conquerers placed their feet upon the necks of the conquered, exacted tribute from them; and perchance sold them into slavery. To day the defeated one feels as if he was in bondage because of the weaker elements of his life.

3. There Are Sharp Lessons in defeat.

Men who refuse to hear will learn from the bitter lessons of experienced defeat. You discover that there are some things that you cannot do, or that some one else can do these things better than you can. You discover your limitations. Sometimes your defeat may be not your own rejection, but the turning away from the one who sent you. As the sorrow of the Christ turned to the salvation of the world, sometimes your defeat has in it the largest ultimate blessings.

4. Dangers of Defeat.

He is a great general, who can prevent a defeated army, from becoming panic-stricken. Men are apt to give up everything, when merely some outpost has been carried by the enemy. They may over-read the meaning of the defeat. More than one soul has turned back to despair, when overconfidence had brought a setback, while the true reading of the lesson would have been more confidence in the Master and loss in self.

5. Prayer is the True Refuge in Defeat.

Then, if ever we need help. Strength has failed, and the source of strength needs to be found. While the Master drank the cup to the dregs, he found comfort and strength to go forward. When a man kneels before the throne, he finds that some things which he had stressed are not very important after all. Milton wrote, "They also serve, who only stand and wait." But while shut out from the light of day he wrote the poem that has stirred the hearts of men. Many a man has never found God until he has felt the bitterness of defeat. The defeat of the cross was the triumph of divine grace for all the ages. At the Master's feet in prayer, a man may realize that what the world calls defeat is an eternal triumph.

CHURCH EXTENSION NOTICE.

The Executive Committee of the Mississippi Conference Church Extension Board is hereby called to meet in Hattiesburg on Tuesday, March 17, 1908, at 10 a. m. All applications to the General Board must come before this Committee. They should be in the hands of our Secretary, Rev. L. E. Alford, Meridian, Miss., early in March. He will furnish blanks on appliaction.

W. B. LEWIS,
Chairman.

WOMAN'S FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

To the Members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Mississippi Conference:

Dear Sisters: The Annual Meeting of the W. F. M. S. of the Mississippi Conference will convene in Brookhaven on Wednesday night before the fifth Sunday in March, and adjourn on Sunday night. A month remains to us before the fiscal year closes, and it behooves us to make the most of it in collecting all dues and making good all financial obligations. Let the Pledge Fund, in particular, have careful attention. Only by the full payment of this fund will we be able to meet the salaries of our two missionaries, Janie Watkins and Nell Drake, who are so nobly representing us in China, and to whose support we are pledged. The women of the Mississippi Conference have never failed in meeting their obligations, and while those for the present year are greater than ever before, it only gives us the privilege of doing greater things for our Lord.

Let the auxiliaries elect delegates at once and send names of same to Mrs. Anna Middleton, Brookhaven, Miss.

Brookhaven is preparing to entertain a large number of women, and there will be great disappointment should these fail to show up. This must be our best meeting up to date.

BESSIE W. LIPSCOMB, Pres.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

THE TRUTH REVEALED.

Here are the results of some actual investigations made by Woman's Home Companion in its campaign for clean grocery stores:

I asked the grocer whose customers could not afford to buy package goods how he sold the best grade of rice in his stock. He weighed out a pound of large, plump-grained rice at sixteen cents. I duplicated that pound at another store in a dust-and-germ-proof package at fifteen cents.

He did have both the bulk and package oatmeal. I bought a pound of bulk at five cents, and a two-pound package of a recognized brand at ten cents. On reaching home I weighed both. The bulk, poured into the scales, weighed an ounce less than a pound. The package weighed exactly two pounds when poured out of the carton. The honest grocer handles package goods that weigh as much as advertised without the carton, understand.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

How to Get Rid of Catarrh.

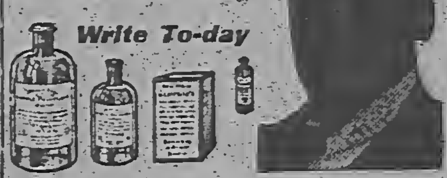
A Simple, Safe, Reliable Way, and it Costs Nothing to Try.

Those who suffer from it well know the miseries of catarrh. There is no need of it. You can get rid of it by a home treatment originated by Dr. J. W. Blosser, who for over thirty-three years has been engaged in the treatment of catarrh in all its various forms.

His treatment is unlike anything you ever tried. It is not an atomizer, spray, douche, salve, cream or any such thing, but it is a direct and thorough local application that clears out the head, nose, throat and lungs, so that you can again breathe the free air and sleep without that choking, stopped-up feeling that all catarrh sufferers have. It avoids the wear and tear of internal medicines which ruin the stomach. It will heal up the diseased membranes and thus prevent colds, so that you will not be constantly blowing your nose and spitting.

If you have never tried Dr. Blosser's discovery, and want to make a test of it without cost, send your address to Dr. J. W. Blosser, 204 Walton street, Atlanta, Ga., and he will send you entirely free enough to satisfy you that it is a real, genuine remedy for catarrh, scratchy throat, stopped-up feeling in the nose and throat, catarrhal headaches, catarrhal deafness, etc. He will also send you free an illustrated booklet, which will show you how you can treat yourself privately at home. Write him immediately.

Catarrh Medicine Free



Send your name and address and say you have Catarrh. I will gladly explain my new system of treatment and tell you how to cure yourself quickly at your own home. In addition I will send a months medicine free of charge to demonstrate that Catarrh of the Head, Nose or Throat or Constitutional Catarrh in any form can be cured. Thousands have already been cured. Many in one month. Others who have been afflicted 15 and 20 years were cured in two and three months. I want to cure you to introduce my new system of treatment in your neighborhood.

Send No Money This offer is fair and square, the acceptance of it places you under no obligation to me whatever. I simply want to show one sufferer in every community that I have the greatest treatment in the world for catarrh. If interested write to

DR. T. F. WILLIAMS.
504 Flynn Bldg, Des Moines, Iowa

25 Beautiful Post Cards

In order to get agents in every town we will send 25 Souvenir Post Cards including FINE flower, hand paintings, FUNNY Comics, etc. No two cards alike, retail in all stores 2 for 5 cents. With your NAME WRITTEN IN GOLD on 10 of them for 25 cents in silver or stamps. If not satisfied, money will be refunded. Contract sent with first order. Address HOME CARD CO., Box E. Lexington, N. C.

Young's BUSINESS COLLEGE VICKSBURG, MISS.

If interested in business education send your name NOW for a booklet we are getting out; entitled, "For They Themselvs Have Said It."

RIDER AGENTS WANTED
In each town to ride and exhibit sample Bicycle. Write for special offer.
We Ship on Approval without a cent deposit, allow 10 DAYS FREE TRIAL and prepay freight on every bicycle.
FACTORY PRICES on bicycles, tires and sundries. Do not buy until you receive our catalogs and learn our unheard of prices and marvelous special offer.
MEAD CYCLE CO., Dept. L366 Chicago, Ill.

Church Directory

New Orleans District. Rev. F. N. Parker, D. D., Presiding Elder; residence, 241 Olivier St.

First Methodist Church, St. Charles Ave., near Calliope street; Rev. J. E. Wray, pastor; residence, 5830 Prytania St.; phone 329 (uptown.)

Second Methodist Church, 2531 Burgundy, near Lafayette Ave.; Rev A. Inman Townsley, pastor; residence, 2531 Burgundy St.; office hours, 9 to 11 a. m.

Parker Memorial, corner Nashville avenue and Perrier street; Rev. C. D. Atkinson, pastor; residence 734 Nashville avenue.

Louisiana Avenue, Louisiana Avenue and Magazine Street; Rev. W. W. Holmes, pastor.

Rayne Memorial, St. Charles Avenue and General Taylor Street; Dr. John A. Rice, pastor; residence, 1101 Peniston Street.

Felicity Street Church, corner Felicity and Chestnut Streets; Rev. Albert S. Lutz, pastor; residence, 2421 Chestnut street; phone, Uptown 1882.

Carrollton Avenue, corner Carrollton avenue and Elm street; Rev. Henry T. Carley, pastor.

Algiers, Lavergne Street, corner Delaronde; Rev. J. F. Foster, pastor.

McDonoghville and Gretna, Rev. H. Whitehead, pastor; residence 5208 Magazine Street; phone, Uptown 2459.

Epworth Church, Corner Banks and Scott streets; Rev. L. A. Sims, pastor; residence, 4031 Palmyra street; phone, Main 4665.

Rev. L. E. Wicht, junior preacher Lower Coast Mission; address, 509 Board of Trade Bldg., New Orleans.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten-fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials fre.

Sold by Druggists. Price, 75c. per bottle.

Take Hall's Family Pills for consti-

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

Professional Card

DR. W. BAILEY WILLIAMS,
Rhea Springs, Tennessee.

Practice limited to Chronic diseases —Dropsy, Asthma, Catarrh, Cancer and disease of women. Removal of cancer without the knife a specialty. Fees in cancer work range from $25.00 to $500.00. Twenty years experience. Reference given. Personal attention to all correspondence. Free service to the regular Ministry.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS. UNLIKE OTHER BELLS SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.
Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

WHY IS IT?

That each month in all the best homes in this country, on the library table, and in every club reading room, you find the

METROPOLITAN MAGAZINE

It is because it keeps you in touch with those great public and human movements on which the American family depends.

It is because its stories are the best published anywhere.

It is because its illustrations in color, and black and white, set the standard.

It is because its articles are the most vital and interesting.

It is because there is something in each copy for every member of every American family.

A YEAR'S FEAST

1800 Beautiful Illustrations. 1560 Pages of Reading Matter.
85 Complete Stories. 75 Good Poems.
50 Timely and Important Articles.
1000 Paragraphs presenting the big news of the "World at Large."
120 Humorous Contributions.
Wonderful Color Work, presented in frontispieces, inserts and covers.

All Yours for One Year's Subscription to
THE METROPOLITAN MAGAZINE
Price $1.50 per Year or 15 Cents a Copy

The Publishers of

The New Orleans Christian Advocate

have made a special arrangement with

THE METROPOLITAN MAGAZINE

by which they are enabled to offer the following extraordinary bargain:

The Cost of One Year's Subscription to

The Metropolitan

is $1.50

The Cost of One Year's Subscription to

The Advocate

is $2.00

We Offer Both for $3.00

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Millsaps College Library.

REV. JOHN W. BOSWELL, Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.

NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY FEBRUARY 20, 1908.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher,
Office, 512 Camp St., New Orleans.

VOL. 55—No. 8.

"PROVE ALL THINGS; HOLD FAST THAT WHICH IS GOOD."

WHOLE No. 5387.

PROHIBITION IN MISSISSIPPI.

On February 5 the Joint Committee on the Liquor Traffic in the Legislature of Mississippi reported the result of their labor. The following is the full text of the bill submitted:

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Mississippi, That it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation or association within this States to manufacture, to sell, or barter, or give away to induce trade, or keep for sale or barter, or to be given away to induce trade, any vinous, alcoholic, malt, intoxicating bitters or other drinks, which, if drunk to excess, will produce intoxication, except as hereinafter provided. But this section shall not be construed to prohibit the making of home-made wine for domestic or household uses only.

Sec. 2. That any licensed retail druggist in this State may sell in the manner herein set out pure alcohol for medicinal purposes only; grain alcohol to chemists and bacteriologists actually engaged in scientific work and for the purpose of being used only in such work; and wine to be used for sacramental purposes only; provided that wholesale druggists domiciled and doing business in this State may sell pure alcohol in quantities not less than one gallon to licensed retail druggists, and to public or charity hospitals, and to medical or pharmaceutical colleges; but all wholesale druggists shall make and preserve for two years after such sales a complete record of sales of alcohol which shall at all times be open for inspection to any conservator of the peace of the county; and provided further, that nothing in this act shall be construed to prohibit the manufacture or sale of wood and denatured alcohol for art, scientific and mechanical purposes. A person shall not be deemed a licensed druggist within the meaning of this act by reason of being a licensed physician or pharmacist.

Sec. 3. That no sale of pure alcohol for medicinal purposes shall be made except upon the written prescription of a licensed and practicing physician of this State, who, before writing such prescription, shall have made an actual examination of the patient for whom the prescription is issued, which prescription shall be dated and signed by the physician and shall be in substantially the following form: "State of Mississippi, —— county. I, ——, a regular licensed and practicing physician under the laws of this State, do hereby certify that I have examined ——, a patient in my charge, and hereby prescribe for the use of said patient —— of pure alcohol, and I certify that the use thereof is necessary to alleviate or cure the illness or disease from which such patient is suffering. Dated ——. ——, M.D." No prescription shall be filled hereunder except upon the day upon which it is issued or the following day, and no more than half a pint of alcohol shall be furnished on any one prescription, and when such prescription is filled it shall not be refilled, but shall be delivered to the druggist filling the same, and at the end of the month in which the same is filled shall be filed by such druggist in the office of the circuit clerk of the county. In towns having a population of 1000 or more the physician's prescription shall not be filled at any drugstore of which he is the proprietor, or in which he has a financial interest, either as partner, stockholder or otherwise. Any person purchasing alcohol for any purpose set out in this act, for which a prescription is not required herein, shall first sign a written or printed statement, properly dated, and deliver the same to the drug store, stating his name, residence and occupation, and the purpose for which he intends to use said alcohol.

Sec. 4. That it shall be unlawful to sell wine for sacramental purposes, except to a minister, pastor, priest or officer of a regularly organized Church or religious congregation, and before such a sale is made the person desiring to make such purchase shall sign and deliver to the druggist a written or printed statement giving his name, residence, and the name and location of the Church for which the wine is purchased in good faith to be used only for sacramental purposes.

Sec. 5. That all statements or prescriptions required by this act shall be delivered at the end of the month in which they were given, or within five days thereafter, to the circuit clerk of the county in which the sale was made and shall be filed and preserved by the circuit clerk in his office for a period of not less than two years, and shall, moreover, be promptly listed and indexed in a book kept for that purpose, which shall contain the name of the druggist making the sale, the name of the purchaser, the date of the statement or prescription and the quantity of alcohol purchased. The original statement or prescription, with the certificate of the circuit court clerk indorsed thereon, showing that it has been registered, or a certified copy of such record shall be prima facie evidence in any prosecution, suit or proceeding of the facts recited therein; the circuit clerk for filing and registering each statement or prescription shall be entitled to a fee of ten cents, which shall be paid by the druggist filing the same.

Sec. 6. That any person who violates any provision of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, any physician who signs or issues any prescription containing any false statement, any druggist who shall sell any alcohol or shall fill any prescription for alcohol in anywise other than herein allowed, or who shall refill any prescription for alcohol, or who shall fail to file a prescription filled by him in the office of the cricuit clerk within the time prescribed; any person who shall obtain alcohol or wine for any purpose authorized herein, and who shall convert the same to any other use, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, on conviction, be fined not less than $50 nor more than $500, or be imprisoned in the county jail not less than one week, or more than three months, or both. But in no case of a conviction of any person for an offense under this section committed after a conviction and punishment for a former offense hereunder shall the punishment be less than a fine of $100, nor more than provided in this section, or imprisonment in the county jail for not less than sixty days, nor more than six months, or both, in the discretion of the court.

Sec. 7. On and after the date when this act goes into effect all licenses and privileges to sell intoxicating liquors issued by the State of Mississippi, or any municipality, or Levee Board thereof, shall cease and be void, and that all such licenses hereafter issued shall not be issued or valid for a period beyond the 31st of December, A. D. 1908.

Sec. 8. That the repeal or amendment by this act of any existing statutory provisions shall not affect any act done or any cause of action, or any right accruing or accrued or established, or any suit or proceeding had or commenced in any civil case, or any plea of defense, or bar thereto, previous to the time when this act takes effect. And any offense committed or penalty or forfeiture incurred previous to the time when this act shall take effect, and any indictment or prosecution for any offense, or for the recovery of any penalty or forfeiture, pending at the time when this act shall take effect, shall not be effected by its adoption; but all such offenses, penalties and forfeitures shall remain subject to the laws in force before this act shall take effect.

Sec. 9. This act shall go into effect and be in force on and after Dec. 31, 1908, and all laws and parts of laws in conflict with this act, shall on and after that date be repealed.

Christian Advocate.

Published for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Csurch, South.

DIRECTIONS.

Correspondents will please direct all communications intended for the Editor to 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La. Communications intended for the Business Department should be addressed to the Manager of the New Orleans Christian Advocate. Write with ink, and only on one side of the paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after two weeks, notify us, and we will make it right. Papers will be continued unless subscribers order otherwise.

The Foreign Advertising Department of the N. O. Christian Advocate is in the hands of

Religious Press Advertising Syndicate,

JACOBS & CO., CLINTON, S. C.,

J. F. JACOBS, Mgr., Home Office, Clinton, S. C.
Thornwell Jacobs, 85 Arcade, Nashville, Tenn.
J. D. Jacobs, 343 Fifth Street, Louisville, Ky.
C. C. Little, 614 Mutual Bldg., Richmond, Va.
L. J. Carter, 132 LaSalle Street, Chicago, Ill.
J. B. Gentry, Columbia, S. C.
E. J. Barrett, Dallas, Texas.
Thos. L. Bryan, 232 Courtland St., Atlanta, Ga.
Miss M. R. Middleton, 150 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.

LETTER FROM GILDEROY.

Preachers will never know in this world the amount of good they are doing. Eternity alone will reveal it. This thought is forced upon me now, in the closing weeks of my sixty-ninth year, more than ever. I am reading my Bible through with more care and greater interest than ever before. Here and there memory turns back to recall the historical sermons I heard from Rev. J. H. Brooks along in the years from 1853 to 1857. Brother Brooks was a man of fine presence, of graceful manners in the pulpit, and a clear, sweet, pathetic voice. He was the meekest looking man I ever saw. I always went to hear him when he preached anywhere in twenty miles of our home. I was then along in my teens and impressed with a call to preach.

It was said that Brother Brooks could not preach a doctrinal sermon at all. Later in life I heard him try to preach one on the work of the Spirit, but it would not reel off, if it had ever been reeled on. Give him a story to tell, as of Joseph, or Jacob, or Daniel, or John the Baptist, and no man was ahead of him. The whole history came, interspersed all along with the most telling practical suggestions. It was charming as he told it. It was history set to music. One could not forget it if he wanted to. The people laughed and wept and shouted for an hour and a half or two hours when Brother Brooks preached, and the time did not seem long, either. Interesting sermons are always short, the other kind always long. Now, as I read the call of Abraham, I go back to Palmetto, and I see Brother Brooks in the pulpit and hear again his sweet voice as he tells of Abraham, of Sarah, of Isaac, of Mt. Moriah and of the cave of Macpelah. I go to Smyrna and hear him recite the history of Jacob and the ladder he saw, to Harrisburg and hear all the story of Jeroboam and Rehoboam, the whole history of Joseph and all about Daniel in the lions' den. I go to Chesterville and hear the life of John the Baptist and I am stirred to utter indignation when the dancing damsel leaves the hall with the head of John the Baptist on a platter and the blood staining the floor.

Here, too, I see the preacher and hear all about the three Hebrew children and the fiery furnace, and one like unto the Son of God appearing to them in the flames. That was great preaching. Great because it was pre-eminently Spiritual—almost in the exact words of Holy Scripture—great because it went in and stuck, great because the Holy Ghost ground it into the mind and heart never to be forgotten.

Brother Brooks had a great gift and he used it for the glory of God and for the good of men. I would laugh and cry myself away when I heard him preach—laugh for joy. I rarely ever shout, but I take it out in laughing and crying. This is my way of expressing high-wrought religious feeling.

It was never my privilege to spend any time in company with Brother Brooks until the last year of his life. I have been sorry I did not tell him how much good his preaching had done me. When I get home, if he does not know it, I want to sit down with him on a grassy knoll on the banks of the river of life, and tell him how much his preaching has been to me and how he had helped to make me. Preachers do not know much of the great good they are doing here. It is like leaven in meal—they will not see it till the rising day.

Along in the eighties Brother Brooks visited his daughter in Senatobia. He was old and very feeble. I insisted on his preaching for us. I conducted the introductory services. When he arose he recited a few prophesies about the coming of Christ and began with his birth and told the story of his life, his miracles, his preaching, his parables, his trials, his betrayal, his condemnation, his crucifixion, his burial, his resurrection, his ascension and his mediation. I rarely or never saw an audience so moved and stirred. It was the gospel in concrete. The memory of it lingers with me like the refrain of some old song.

If I only knew that I was so impressing some boy, some girl, some man, some woman, how much good it would do my old heart. This is what I live for, this why I preach. I suppose the good work is done in some measure and in some few cases and I may not know it until the light of an eternal day reveals it. It may be best for me not to know much of it here. I greatly admired the Bible story-telling gift of Rev. J. H. Brooks, but never tried to imitate him, for he was inimitable, a master in that line. The one gift that I have coveted above all others is the gift of clear, strong expository preaching—preaching that instructs the people, edifies the Church and strengthens and confirms Christians. This is the sling and these the stones that I can use to advantage in the battle for God. Another man's armor would not fit me. It would be too large for me every way. Each preacher has his special gift and needs to make the best use of it for the glory of God and the salvation of souls. Yours,

GILDEROY.

Strong, Miss.

A BAPTIST REVIVAL AND ITS LESSONS.

There has just closed in Many a Baptist revival led by Evangelists Sledge and Beville, who are sent out by the Southern Baptist Association that in some ways is worthy of study and imitation.

We are first impressed with the wisdom of the Church utilizing the office of evangelist. Here are two men peculiarly adapted to the work assigned them and working with might and main for the building up of their denominational institutions. Their aim was to leave the Baptist Church the strongest thing in town, and so were persistent both in public and in private in exhorting all, both sinners and Methodist saints to "be obedient in following Christ in baptism," and of encouraging all that if they were once saved they could never be lost, no matter how much they sinned. They told of their great preachers, their schools, their mission work, and their forward moves, and rallied their forces, inspired with new zeal and intelligence, to make their's an aggressive Church. They told the people that if the Methodist preachers' children were not in Sunday school to endeavor to bring them to the Baptists', and even intimated that they might speak for some children for their Sunday school before they were born. They poked fun at the Sunday school graduates and called for a meeting of "the alumni association." They had put out the old rickety stove, and talked about a new organ. They distributed their denominational tracts and took subscriptions for their home mission paper. What a contrast to the work of the independent evangelist, who so often "holds" our Methodist meetings! But it has taken us all these years to find it out, and to authorize our men with gifts and graces for the work to go forth under the appointment of the Church to do what heretofore they were forced to do independently, or leave a very needy field unsupplied. And here now is one work which our Church must take back to the example of Wesley and Whitefield.

We were impressed also with the value of persistent work. The first evangelist came and spent a week with the Sunday school, choir, and in preaching to the Church—and a finer series of sermons on the duties of Church members in personal service we have never heard. All were made to feel that they belonged to the army—or navy—and would be shot as deserters unless they went into the conflict for the Church and for the Lord. And they came for three times a day for almost three weeks and worked. They were subject to the orders of their leader. The second week the second evangelist came and both worked for one week, the one especially with Church members and the choir, and the other appealing to sinners. At the end of this time the first man moved on to another meeting, everything here being in full swing, many having already accepted Christ, or returned from their back-slidings, making the work comparatively easy for the second evangelist to spend the third week in gleaning and in indoctrinating quite different from some of our piddling efforts between two Sundays, just long enough in most cases to create an interest.

We learn also anew of the importance of getting the people to work. They were called upon to work. They were called upon to work publicly, and were counseled in private. They went in to the homes and stores, talked to their friends on the street, and in the after services and during the public visitations they were co-workers with the preacher. They stayed one night until towards midnight in prayer, and had their lists for whom prayer was asked and for whom prayer was earnestly made. One school girl reported at the conclusion that all —several—for whom she had prayed had been converted.

Again we had an example of carrying the gospel to the people, in keeping with Christ's method and commands to "go." At 10 o'clock a. m. services were held either in the courthouse, one of the stores, or the public school—anywhere to reach the people. And the people appreciated it and followed the workers to the Church, and some of the hardest sinners came under the gospel influence, and, no doubt, will become habitual Church-goers and followers of Christ.

Another lesson of no little importance we had impressed upon us anew was the need of indoctrinating our people in what Methodists believe and practice. The impossibility of apostasy and the all importance of "being buried with Christ in the liquid grave" were stressed from first to last. They flooded the town—Methodist people and all—with tracts on their mode of baptism, close communion, and final perseverance. Besides this, they would take their Bibles and try to show our people and the new converts the importance of believing and practicing these things themselves, especially to be "baptized." Fortunately we were prepared for this and had our people reading Nichols' and other tracts on these subjects, and they were more than a match for them, and Methodism is stronger in Many than ever, our Sunday school having gone beyond any previous record the Sunday before the revival closed, and we will get a considerable increase in membership as a result of the meeting. Our plan was to give hearty co-operation in soul-winning, and after any who should belong to our Church accepted Chirst we made it our business to let them know what our Church stood for and that we wanted them. The meeting did good and we are sure there will be a more loyal Church membership in Many than has been for years, if ever, and we will have more zeal in soul-winning for having worked in this meeting.

P. O. LOWREY.

Many, La.

SHARP LETTER WRITING.

We received a letter a short time since, sharp and stinging. It cut to the quick because it accused the managers of the ADVOCATE with wrong-doing. The letter was doubtless written in haste, and we dare say the brother by this time is heartily sorry for his misdoing. The sharpness of that letter and the unjust accusations impressed us with the force and wisdom of an article, which came under our observation. We herewith print the article and commend it to all:

"When one feels tempted to write a bitter sharp or acrimonious letter to another, it is always best to make sure of the facts and then do not write the letter. Perhaps the facts, when fully known will make the letter unnecessary. If the facts seem to justify an explosion of temper in ink, do not let her explode. Ink is always colored, black, red, violet or blue. Whatever the color of the ink it is deep enough without adding any coloring matter to it. Be gentle and kind on paper. Paper is too white and pure to be soiled by a display of temper in harsh words. If you must have your say to keep from bursting open, wait until you come face to face with the party and then don't say it. You will think all the better of yourself after you have time to cool down if you neither write nor say the thing that was first in you. It was an impulse that your calm, mature judgment will not approve. If you must write any how, be sure to dip your pen in a heart of love and not in a can of gall. Harsh words look ugly on paper and a soft answer turns away wrath. Grievous words, written or spoken, always stir up strife. If you must talk the matter over with your friend or men, be certain to do it kindly and gently. No other spirit will win or bring you together. The better man of the two will always be the quietest and gentlest. The man who has no rule over his own spirit is like a city broken down and without walls. He will have little control over men, horses, cows or mules. A man must rule himself before he can rule other men or animals. Be sure not to write what you dare not say to a man's face. No one but a coward will do that. It is not manly. Spoken words are modified and softened, or hardened by the tone and manner of the speaker. Written words are cold and stiff, and they have no tone or manner. They may say more or less to the reader than was intended by the writer. If at all ruffled, if vexed or provoked, if the least bit out of humor, be sure not to put your pen on paper, for, if you do, ten to one you will make an ape of yourself. Grit your teeth and hold on to the tail of your temper till you master it, then pour out your heart in words of tenderness and love."

MRS. ALMENA D. LEWIS.

Mrs. Almena D. Lewis was the daughter of Caroline Taylor and Absalom Cleveland, born March 2, 1833, near Clinton, La. She married Mr. Joseph Poole in 1852, and was left a widow in 1856. In 1861 she married Rev. Henry T. Lewis, of the Louisiana Conference. In 1870 Brother Lewis died, leaving Sister Lewis with the care of their five small children, for whose support she heroically battled, bringing them up "in the nurture and admonition of the Lord," until they were able to depend upon their own resources. For a time her home was in Homer, La., from which place she removed to a home that she had inherited in Clinton, La.

The last years of her life she spent with her children, who all have comfortable homes of their own. Her last illness and death occurred in the home of her son-in-law, Brother Townsend, of Blairstown, La. It was the writer's pleasure to visit her during these days of patient waiting for the home-call, and it was an inspiration to witness her peaceful trust in her Savior. She had the children, grand-children and the writer to gather in her room and sing some of the grand old gospel songs that had so often cheered her heart in the weary days of life's earthly pilgrimage.

At 2 a. m., Nov. 20, she peacefully passed beyond the horizon of time to enter into the eternal glories of a perennial day. May the same good Spirit that was ever her guide lead the children and friends in ways of righteousness and holiness until they at last join their departed mother and friend in the eternal city of our God.

W. H. COLEMAN.

THE JACKSON DISTRICT MISSIONARY INSTITUTE.

Dr. A. F. Watkins, presidng elder of the Jackson District, Mississippi Conference, held a missionary institute with his preachers on Jan. 29 and 30. The meeting was in connection with that of the district stewards and proved highly interesting and profitable.

The papers and addresses showed close study of the fields and their problems. It was clearly shown that Southern Methodism is facing its "day of opportunity" in its mission fields both at home and abroad.

There was awakened in the heart of each a determination to have a larger share in the world's evangelization than ever before. There will be a deeper study of the work by the pastors and a clearer presentation of it and its opportunities to their people.

So excellent was the paper of Rev. C. W. Crisler on "The History and Significance of the Laymen's Movement," that a committee was appointed to edit and circulate it throughout the district. The same committee was afterward made permanent for the printing and circulation over the district of missionary literature during the year.

Resolutions were passed pledging the charges to hold missionary mass-meetings and institutes and inviting the missionary evangelist to attend and assist in these; also thanking the Jackson Churches and pastors for hospitality extended.

The district stewards occupied the time from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. of the 30th completing their work with business-like dispatch. Many of those present also participated in the missionary institute.

A delightful feature of the occasion was the elegant luncheon served at noon by the ladies of First Church to all in attendance. For this they were accorded a most hearty vote of thanks.

Phone Main
ROOMS and BOARD
634 and 638 SOUTH STREET LAFAYETTE SQUARE
CORNER ST. CHARLES ST., NEW ORLEANS.
UNLIMITED MEALS. ALVIN PORTER, Manager.

ESTABLISHED 1891
JOHN DAVID BURGHARDT CO.,
"THE RELIABLE" PLUMBERS and GAS FITTERS.
Agency: Born's Patent Steel Ranges. Hygeia Water Filters.
613-615 Bienville St. Phone Main 2026.
Jobbing and Repair Work a Specialty. New Orleans, La.

The district missionary institute is undoubtedly the place, "early in the Conference year," for the exchange of experiences and methods, the broadening of vision, the deepening of purpose, the kindling of zeal and the mobilizing of forces for uniform and effective advance along the whole front. May the present administration be true and wise in the use of it.

H. M. ELLIS.

WHITWORTH COLLEGE TO SUPPORT A MISSIONARY.

Dr. I. W. Cooper, the wike-awake and capable President of Whitworth College, Brookhaven, Miss., gave me the welcome news during the session of our Conference that the college would undertake the support of a missionary in the foreign field this year, and I hastened to make the announcement to the Conference. To-day I received a message from him which shows how joyously he and his college officers and students enter on this holy service:

"We beg the support of our missionary in March. We are happy. The Lord has graciously honored us in giving us such an opportunity." You can see that message vibrate and hear it ring. Good for Dr. Cooper, and good for Whitworth! Southern Methodism may well be proud of such an institution in which to educate her girls.

H. M. ELLIS.

MISSION NOTES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

One of the quiet little meetings that mean a great deal to Southern Methodism is the annual council of war in Nashville of the chosen leaders of missionary effort for the various Annual Conferences. No selfish or ambitious motive bring these men together from far separated points, but an intense desire to learn the best plans and equip themselves for the best work in their respective fields. Choice spirits are these, with broad vision, deep sympathies and intense resolve both to do their best themselves and to inspire all others, so far as they may be able, for nobler endeavor. It was a great privilege for me to be thrown with such men and catch something of their enthusiasm.

With such skilled leaders as Lambuth, Pinson, Nelson and Cook, a missionary meeting is bound to have profitable and practicable results. I believe it would be well worth the expense of the trip to Nashville to have the secretaries come annually under the influence of these great-souled and zealous men. They certainly believe in their cause and are doing their utmost for its advancement and success.

The speeches, papers and discussions were all on live themes and problems of to-day—such as are pressing for solution in all fields.

It was highly educative to hear those who had been in the thick of the fight tell what they had learned to do, and what to avoid, by the hard lessons of experience. It thus became a "school of methods," where those who knew could tell those who were eager to learn, and became an intellectual and spiritual exchange, where each held by yet securer tenure that by the gift of which he had enriched the others.

Dr. D. L. Anderson was a welcome guest and gave an inspiring presentation of the present unparalleled opportunity of Christianity in China. Dr. Lambuth, just from his visit to the Orient (and circuit of the globe), in his address, which opened the Conference, gave his view of the present appealing situation and promising outlook. This is indeed "the day of our opportunity." The world seems awake to its ruin and needs, and is stretching out appealing hands. Oh, that the Church were awake to her mission, her privilege, her high calling, that she might capture this world for her King and bring him speedily to the throne of his empire!

H. M. Ellis.

THE IMMIGRATION QUESTION—ANOTHER SIDE.

It is said that more than half a million immigrants returned to their European homes last year from American and Canadian ports. During the past ten years the number has reached the astonishing total of two and a half million, about one-third the number who have come to this country in the same period of time.

A national immigration commission appointed a little over a year ago has discovered, among other things, that the influence of these "home-comers" on domestic and civic life is not inconsiderable. In many instances whole villages have been stirred and received an impetus upward. A question of vast moment is suggested: What would have been the effect on those European families and even villages had the evangelical Churches of America been alive to their opportunity, yea, obligation, during these ten years? Would not the home-life of vast numbers of these returned wanderers have been sweetened? Would not the individual life have been gentler? Would not heaven have been nearer and dearer? Would not America to-day be looked upon by not less than ten millions of Europeans as a land, not only of great wealth, rich in promise, but a land where Christ may be found and life become worth living? But we have lost this opportunity. Are we going to let five hundred thousand slip through our fingers this year? Or will we try to help them to know him, whom to know is life everlasting? Is it not time for a change?

B. F. Lewis.

PROHIBITION IN MISSISSIPPI.

Dear Dr. Boswell: All hail! You may rejoice with the good citizens of Mississippi, with psaltery and harp and all instruments of music, and especially with a lifted voice. There is occasion. The passage of the State Prohibition Bill is completed, and our noble State takes her honorable place in the States that are clean of legalized whisky traffic. The way it has come about lends glory to the achievement. It is the fruit of many years' strenuous and patient cultivation. Our own Charles B. Galloway has been the chief leader of the temperance hosts of Mississippi, aided, of course, by many other noble leaders in their respective spheres, and also by the unflagging and ardent work of the good women of the State. What do we not owe to the peerless womanhood of Mississippi in winning this glorious victory? The sentiment of the people had grown so settled and fixed against the liquor traffic that, in the election last fall, they spontaneously, without open issue in the canvass, elected men of their own mind on the whisky question. It was taken for granted that the Legislature would pass a State prohibition act. A great prohibition mass meeting was held in Jackson, over which the new Governor, E. F. Noel, presided. This meeting took action towards framing and presenting a bill to the Legislature for State prohibition. The joint committee on temperance in the Legislature made slight changes in the original bill and presented a substitute which contained all the vital points well protected, except that Dec. 31, 1908, was fixed as the date for the bill to take effect, rather than an earlier date, as strongly advocated by others.

On Friday, Feb. 7, the bill was taken up in the Lower House. There was no discussion, except a stirring appeal by the chairman of the committee for a unanimous vote for the measure. The previous question was ordered, and the roll was called. It was time for the doxology when the vote was announced—110 to 0. The bill came up in the Senate yesterday, Feb 13. Few speeches were made. Two, which employed most wind, were made against the measure, invoking with a good deal of physical strength, but with small logic, the great Democratic doctrine of local self-government. When the vote was taken the roll-call showed 36 yeas and 4 nays. It will hardly be likely that these four stalwarts will be returned to the Senate at the next election, except they repent.

This is a great victory for the anti-whisky people; a great victory for the people of the State in every phase of their life and welfare. But the whisky forces will doubtless rally again and try to retake the ground they have lost. But they must be confronted with the same great Christian forces that have been used to crush this demon of destruction. He will use every art and device that treachery and falsehood can employ to recover some of his lost treasure, but the friends of truth and goodwill to men may be encouraged by what they have already achieved to press forward to the completion of salvation from whisky.

I should think that this victory for prohibition should strengthen the faith of the Christian people of the State so that they would marshal all the forces for a determined campaign for a great spiritual revival in the churches this year. Why not? No doubt God has heard the prayers of his people, who have long prayed and labored and waited for the coming of this glad victory. Why not look for the larger and higher things? With the chief obstruction to evangelical progress removed or disabled, we may enter the field for a great revival of spiritual power in the churches.

W. T. J. Sullivan.

CAUSE FOR JOY.

BY BISHOP O. P. FITZGERALD.

Whatever we would do for one another must be done quickly. The old Book so tells us. That it can be done quickly is cause for joy. We have time enough—but none to throw away.

Seabreeze, Fla.

MERIDIAN DISTRICT NOTES.

Our Church in De Kalb came near being destroyed by fire a short time since. Fortunately, it was day, and the fire was extinguished, after doing about $50 damage.

All church work is being hindered by incessant rains.

The Scooba Charge has begun the year well. The Church in Scooba last year voluntarily raised the pastor's salary $100 over the year before, and now it voluntarily raises the salary $50 additional. The membership at the beginning of last year was thirty, and at the close it numbered eighty-five.

Rev. R. H. Barr, pastor at De Kalb, has already won the love of his people, and he and family were given a cordial reception.

Rev. R. A. Allums and his young wife have met with favor on the Binnsville Mission.

Dr. W. C. Black is on his first round of quarterly conferences, and is delighting the brethren and people with his strong sermons.

The writer will be glad to receive items of interest from the pastors in the District to incorporate in these "notes." A postal card will do.

Jno. W. Ramsey.

Remarkable
for its fine quality, its delicious flavor, its double strength, and most remarkable for its moderate price.

Luzianne Coffee

is the best value you
can possibly get for your coffee money

SOLD EVERYWHERE

The REILY-TAYLOR COMPANY,
New Orleans.

GULFPORT, MISS.

Interesting propositions submitted to parties wanting to buy lots. Write for map to
GEO. L. CARLEY, Gulfport, Miss.

FANCY POULTRY, ETC.

Fancy Poultry, Pedigreed Dogs, Cats, Canaries, Parrots, Guinea Pigs, Rabbits, and Pet Stock of every description; Cyphers, Incubators and Feed at Factory prices, may be had by writing to H. W. Blanks & Co., New Orleans, La. Their catalogue sent free. Write to them.

NOTICE.

Rev. Jno. F. Foster will lecture in Parker Memorial Church, in New Orleans, Friday, Feb. 21, at 8 p.m. His subject will be a "Horseback Ride Through Palestine." All are invited.

A FEW OF OUR HELPERS.

We give below the names of those who have sent in five or more subscriptions and renewals this year:

Rev. Robt. Randle, Lisbon, La., 5; Rev. J. M. Corley, Prentiss, Miss, 5; Rev. J. E. Craig, Tickfaw, La., 6; Rev. S. D. Howard, Eunice, La., 6; Rev. J. L. Lay, Alberta, La., 9; Rev. B. E. Meigs, Carthage, Miss., 5; Rev. R. T. Nolin, Philadelphia, Miss., 12; Rev. Robt. Randle, Lisbon, La., 5; Mrs. T. S. Randle, Lanesville, La., 9; Rev. S. L. Riggs, Kentwood, La., 6; Miss Susie Reed, Natchez, Miss., 5; Rev. E. L. Whiddon, Rocky Springs, Miss., 7; Rev. T. H. Porter, Webb, Miss., 18; Rev. G. W. Bachman, Winona, Miss., 22.

Other brethren are working up clubs, but prefer to complete the number before sending in the names. Besides these many others are working and doing the best they can. We thank them all.

PREACHERS' MEETING.

The following members were present: E. N. Parker, J. E. Wray, J. A. Rice, L. A. Sims, A. I. Townsley, J. F. Foster, R. H. Harrel, H. Whitehead, H. T. Carley and C. D. Atkinson.

Rev. J. M. Henry, presiding elder of the Crowley District, honored our meeting with his presence. He made a very encouraging report of his District.

The address, or lecture, for the morning was delivered by Dr. F. N. Parker on the subject of "The Policy of Our Church in New Orleans."

Dr. Rice will speak next Monday morning on his recent visit to Alabama.

Committee on District Conference entertainment was appointed by the Presiding Elder: A. I. Townsley, J. E. Wray and A. S. Lutz.

Rev. W. W. Holmes reports the re-organization of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Louisiana Avenue Church with twenty-two members.

LAYMAN'S MOVEMENT.

On last Monday evening there was held in the pastor's study, at First Church, a well-attended meeting of the New Orleans District Committee of the Layman's Movement. Besides the delegates, there were present a committee of preachers from the Preachers' Meeting. The committee on rules made their report, recommending for adoption a set of rules as an outline of the scope of the work to be done by the District organization.

The Secretary was instructed to write to pastors of churches in the district not represented in the Movement, and request that they take steps to have said churches send a member to the meetings of the District Committee.

It was decided to hold a mass meeting for laymen on the 10th of March, and a committee was appointed to draft a programme and secure speakers for the mass meeting, where the general plan will be made public and the work of the organization formally inaugurated. The mass meeting will be held at First Church, and important subjects will be discussed by prominent laymen. The programme and particulars will be given in our next issue.

AN APPEAL TO CHRISTIANS.

It is earnestly requested that all who read this notice, and who believe in prayer, make daily intercession at the throne of grace in behalf of New Orleans, that God may give us abundantly of his Holy Spirit, and get glory unto his name in the awakening of his Church here, and in the salvation of many souls.

A number of our churches have invited Rev. M. F. Ham, of Bowling Green, Ky., to come and lead in a joint soul-winning campaign. Mr. Ham has accepted the invitation, and expects to begin Feb. 23, in the Lafayette Presbyterian Church, Magazine Street, near Jackson Avenue. The churches taking part in this movement are drawn about equally from the Methodists, Baptists and Presbyterians.

J. C. Barr, Chairman.
J. W. Caldwell, Jr., Sec.
E. F. Schuessler.
W. W. Holmes.
C. V. Edwards.

TO PASTORS AND SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

At the recent session of our Conference the Sunday School Board authorized the Agent to purchase "a Sunday School Teachers' Library;" to be the custodian of the same and notify, through the Advocate, all who would be interested, that any one of these books could be had for a period of two weeks for the asking and the postage.

This library is now at the disposal of the brethren of the Conference. If you are interested, write for particulars and watch the papers for a complete list of these books, and when you wish to read, or have your officers or teachers read, any one of them may call for it and return it in two weeks.

The Board is trying in every way possible to help the individual pastor, superintendent, teacher or worker who cannot, or does not care, to purchase these books. Please let us help you by sending these books, and have your teachers read them.

R. P. Neblett, Agent.
Shelby, Miss.

W. H. M. S.

The Annual Meeting of the Woman's Home Mission Society of the Louisiana Conference will be held in Minden, La., March 28 to 31. Opening session 9:30 a.m., Saturday, March 28; closing session 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, March 31.

Every Auxiliary in the State is urged to send a delegate. We wish we could make the request imperative, as your Auxiliary will be greatly benefited by contact with others, and a sufficient number of delegates will insure cheap rates for all, provided each delegate remembers, as she is annually asked to do, to buy her railroad ticket on the certificate plan. If you do not know what that means, ask your agent. We trust that no one will forget this; it may seem a small matter to individuals traveling but a short distance, but to the collection of individuals from all parts of the State it is quite an item of economy. Therefore, be it Resolved that you

Be sure to remember the dates;
And don't you forget the rates.

For the first time in our history, I believe, our Society considers the Conference Expense Fund adequate to include the expense of the District Corresponding Secretaries. These good women have been cumbered with much serving at their own expense heretofore, and should be allowed their traveling expenses, and we are glad it has at last been made possible. If you cannot go, you can help to send. Mrs. Hardy, Corresponding Secretary of Arcadia District, has just returned from Dubach, where she effected an organization with twenty members. We trust that they will start right by sending a delegate to the Annual Meeting. While we urge the attendance of Delegates, all visitors and ministers will be cordially welcomed.

Mrs A. C. McKinney,
Conference Superintendent Press Work.

W. F. M. S.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Mississippi Conference will meet in Brookhaven, March 25-29. Delegates will please send names promptly to Mrs. Anna Middleton, Brookhaven, Miss.

Mrs. B. W. Lipscomb, Pres.
Mrs. A. E. Wyatt, Secy.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI MINUTES.

As stated in my note to the Advocate of Jan. 30, a mistake was discovered in the Minutes after a part of them had been sent out by the publishers. This made it necessary to reset the type for more than half of the statistical tables. This work has been delayed by sickness among the printers, but a telephone message assures me that the remainder of the stock as corrected will go out by the 15th inst., which should put them in the hands of those who have not received their part before this Advocate is issued. As soon as I receive the balance of the stock I will presonally apportion them to those who have had incorrect copies.

The first installment contains all the statistics, but page 54 should be 52, 56 should be 54, and 52 should be 56. By thus renumbering the pages, any charge can be traced by its appropriate number in the district. A correct copy may also be made by cutting leaves from another and pasting over the pages wrongly numbered.

The mistake in setting up forms was doubtless made in placing Sardis District first, following copy of last year, instead of placing in alphabetical order, as I directed. It has cost me much worry and the publishers much loss. I regret it exceedingly and hereby reply to the scores of letters received from the preachers, explaining the delay and the mistake, and thanking them for their courtesy and consideration.

Let the brethren notify Rev. W. L. Duren, of Clarksdale, Miss., of any typographical errors in the statistics, and they will be corrected through the Advocate. Fraternally,

J. R. Countiss, Sec.

THE "STATEMENT" SPEECH.

Many members of our own and other Conferences have asked for copies of the address on the proposed Methodist "Statement," delivered by the Editor of the Era before the Methodist Preachers' Meeting in New York in January. The issue of the Midland Methodist which contained this address was early exhausted. To meet these and other requests, I have printed the address in pamphlet form, twenty-four pages. To cover the cost of printing and postage, a nominal charge will be made per copy. It will be sent, postpaid, for four cents per copy (send stamps) or five copies for ten cents. Larger quantities at same rate. Address Epworth Era, Book Department, Nashville, Tenn.

H. M. Du Bose.

EVERYONE THAT HAS USED

Vacher-Balm for Catarrh, Colds, or Croup, thinks it the best thing they ever tried. I pay you to give samples of it to your friends, so you can use your spare time to do good, and make money. Write for particulars to E. W. Vacher, New Orleans, La.

BUY THE NEW BOOK

HARP OF A THOUSAND STRINGS

contains the immortal burlesques of Rev. Henry Talliaferro Lewis. One Dollar at McKowen and Co., Jackson, La., and W. L. Linfield, Woodville, Miss.

THE SAFEST AND QUICKEST WAY

TRANSFER MONEY

—Is By—

Long Distance Telephone

FOR RATES APPLY TO LOCAL MANAGER

Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph Co.

INCORPORATED.

Choice Selections

THE DAUGHTER AT HOME.

The daughter at home is a personage of more importance than she dreams. In the hour of her birth years ago she brought an element of joy and satisfaction to the heart of her mother, and so soon as she could walk about on her little feet, holding to his hand with clinging fingers, she became her father's idol and pride. Through the pleasant years when she was a little girl growing up and constantly developing new beauty her influence in the life of her home was a vital force. If she had brothers with whom she romped and played in the freedom of outdoors, her sisterly companionship helped to make them braver and gentler. The adjective "dear" belongs especially to the daughter. When she has reached the stage at which she leaves her school days and looks forward to the future wistfully and eagerly, she is often at a loss what to do. Simply to remain at home as daughter and sister does not fill the measure of every young girl's ambition. The atmosphere of the moment vibrates with energy and is charged with electric restlessness. I may as well say in the beginning of this talk that I have great sympathy with restless girls. All the more earnestly, if they are conscientious and aware of powers that may be put to good use, girls of this type long for a sphere of action. The question for their decision is where shall they find this sphere?

In common with every question of values, this one of deciding on a future course has several aspects and many phases. It cannot be justly considered or fairly settled by a girl who regards herself only and does not take into account her people, her home surroundings, and possibly the debt she owes to young children in the family.

If sacrifices have been made in order for her thorough education and her special advantages, it is only fair that in turn she shall deny her desire for immediate work, and stay at home until sisters and brothers have had their turn.

A mother in delicate health has a claim on her daughter's time and devotion that cannot be waived. That her mother needs her should be enough to induce a daughter to stay at that mother's side. It would be extremely unjust and untrue to declare sweepingly that right-minded daughters should be glad in every circumstance to linger by the hearth fulfilling the obligations of home-makers. There is no real reason incumbent on a daughter, for instance, that is not equally incumbent on a son, to continue at home unmarried, that invalid or aged parents may be tenderly cared for. Yet the common opinion of the social world demands that daughters, insofar as marriage is concerned, shall be less self-considerate than sons. Equally, if a son in pursuit of business or a profession, locates himself in Shanghai or Yokohama or sets up a shop in Honolulu, nobody complains that he is neglecting his father and mother, although he may not return to the roof-tree for a period of years. If, on the contrary, a daughter in the first flush of her youthful ardor finds her vocation in anything that takes her across the sea, whether it be teaching, foreign missions or business, she is often openly accused of forgetfulness and indifference in her home relations. More is apparently expected in this line of duty from daughters than from sons. How shall we account for a state of thought that is almost universal?

Must we not admit that daughters belong more intimately, more exclusively, to the home circle than sons?

A grown-up son in the house would necessarily be idling about, wasting his time and getting into everybody's way. A daughter at home finds a thousand things to do, is eminently in the right place, and need never have time hang heavy on her hands. Few situations in life are so honorable, and on the whole so dignified and charming, as the situation of the girl who willingly gives a few beautiful years of girlhood to the service of her home, and who resigns the opportunities of a broader career that she may minister to her dear ones.

Thousands of self-supporting young women obliged to spend many daylight hours in offices, factories and schoolrooms do continue in a very real sense the affectionate service of daughters in the family, generously contributing a share to the home expenses, and abating their interest in the home pleasures and pains in no degree.

As I have said before, the subject is a big one, many-sided and to be settled finally by each girl for herself.—Mrs. Margaret E. Sangster, in Woman's Home Companion.

WALKING WITH GOD.

Man was made to be the friend and companion of God. It is a great mystery but a wonderful fact. God put into man just such a spirit as he wishes to associate and commune with. Enoch walked with God, and Noah walked with God, and Abraham was the friend of God. All through the Bible we find God calling men to come to him, to be reconciled to him, and to cleave to him. Of course, all this is for man's good. We often say God does not need man, but man needs God. Let us be on our guard when we speak thus. It is not at all certain that it is not for the delight and joy of the Lord as well as for the comfort and salvation of man that he is called to return unto the Lord. The Father is not content without the son who is lost.

God has promised, not only to be with us, but to dwell in us. We may be conscious of his presence. He will manifest himself unto us. We know what it is to live a whole year in perfect love and friendship with a human spirit. There is no break in the delightful relationship from the beginning to the end of the year. This friendship is tried. The world is full of trials of love and friendship. But when the relation is genuine, it may be tried every day, but is not broken, nay, it is not strained. The cord holds. Not one moment of doubt arises. So one may live one whole year in perfect friendship with God. This friendship also is tried, but it is too strong, too precious to be strained. One may not think of it every moment. He may not be sensible of the great fact every hour. But the relation is not strained for all that. The tie is as strong when the thoughts are fixed on something else as when engaged in fervent prayer.

It is not enough to be near to God during the years of innocent infancy and childhood. It is not enough to walk with God through the valley of the shadow of death. Everyone wishes to be with God then. It is not enough to be with God in eternity. We all hope to be with him forever. But it is not reasonable to expect that we shall be with him in heaven if we live apart from him in this world. We are called to walk with God through the dangers, the sorrows, the prosperity and adversity of this world. It is not enough to have his blessing, we need him. His gifts are good, but he is best of all.

Not thy gifts I seek, O Lord,
  Not thy gifts, but thee.
What were all thy boundless store
Without thyself? What less or more?
  Not thy gifts, but thee.

Our line of Stoves, Kitchen Furnishings, and
General Household Supplies is full of interest to all Good Housekeepers.

Suppose you take a look at it for yourself—

UNITED HARDWARE CO.,
LIMITED.

GET SOLID PROTECTION AND INSURE WITH
LEON IRWIN & CO.
Fire and Casualty Insurance.
838 GRAVIER STREET. PHONE, MAIN [illegible]

W. W. Carre Co., Ltd,
Manufacturers and Exporters of
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

One day with God in the world is a high day, a day of holy emotions and high thoughts, a day of peace and joy and love, like unto one of the days of heaven upon earth. One year with God is a golden year, a year of jubilee. Then he is with us and in us, ruling our spirit, imparting strength to our arm, breathing courage and peace into our heart, and completely satisfying the soul.

My God, the spring of all my joys,
  The life of my delights;
The glory of my brightest days,
  And comfort of my nights;

In darkest shades if thou appear,
  My dawning is begun;
Thou art my soul's bright morning star,
  And thou my rising sun.
—Christian Advocate (New York).

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS AND AGENTS.

We take you into our confidence and send you a statement every week. On the margin of your paper you will find a copy of the sole record we keep of your subscription. The little pink or yellow label shows both the preacher and layman the date on which his subscription expires. If your address label reads "Dec. '08," it means that you are paid to December, 1908. If the label on your paper is not correct, write to us about it, and tell when you made the last payment. But when you do so, please observe several things for our mutual benefit: It is sometimes three weeks after a subscription is paid before the changes are put into type and appear on the paper. When you write about some error, as the office force is very limited, and as the daily routine must first be attended to, it may be a week or ten days before the error is hunted up, and your record rectified. Do not let an error go a year before asking for its correction. If you let us tell you once a week for a year that your subscription has not been paid up, we do not think you should ask us to make any allowance when the records are practically out of reach. And the last request that we make is that you keep sweet, when you write to correct errors. There is not a man in this office that would willingly defraud you out of a cent, and no one realizes the difficulty of keeping correct a mail list until he has tried it.

The Home Circle.

BEING TRUE.

Ethel Morrison sat in school biting her pencil and looking with puckered brows at the fifth question, which contained the only two points in the whole test she did not remember. She knew that for that month her record so far was perfect in geography, and Miss Earle had promised her 100 on her report if she earned a hundred on this monthly review. Oh, if she could only remember whether Harvard College was in Cambridge or Hartford, and why Springfield, Mass., was noted; but, think as she would, she could not come to any definite conclusion. She answered everything else, and then returned to those questions, but still memory refused to aid her.

She glanced at Ruth Lee. Yes, she had answered them all, and she now sat reading over her paper with a very happy, satisfied air. Feeling Ethel's eyes upon her she raised her head, smiled, then lifted her eyebrows questioningly at Ethel's puzzled look. Ethel dropped her eyes, flushed, paled, then scribbled rapidly: "Where's Harvard? Why is Springfield noted?" and laid it on her desk. Ruth reached over and took it, and read the questions. She hesitated a second, glanced at Miss Earle, and saw that she was busy, then wrote the answers and laid them on Ethel's desk. Ethel wrote them on her paper, and handed it in with every very heavy as she returned to her seat. point answered. But somehow her heart felt

At recess she did not play with her schoolmates in her usual whole-hearted way. She felt that she had cheated, and yet she did so want that hundred! Surely, such a little thing wouldn't matter.

In the recitation that followed, Miss Earle herself noticed that Ethel seemed strangely flushed and unusually inattentive, and when she laid her hand on her shoulder as the girls passed out after school, and asked her if she was well, Ethel started violently, and without looking into the kind eyes she had loved always to meet before, said she was quite well.

Until late that night Ethel lay awake trying to persuade herself that what she had done was not very wrong, and then wondering if she could ever look Miss Earle in the eye again. At last, after turning the matter over and over in her mind, she came to a definite decision, and slipping down beside her bed she knelt there a minute and then lay down and slept peacefully till she was awakened by the bright sunlight shining into her room. That morning, as Miss Earle sat at her desk correcting papers before the tap sounded for school to begin, a little figure slipped up and stood respectfully waiting until Miss Earle should be ready to listen to her. In a minute the teacher's head was raised, and she said: "Well, Ethel?" Then Ethel, flushing and hesitating, said in a voice so low it could hardly be heard: "Have you corrected my geography paper yet, Miss Earle?"

"Yes, Ethel, you have earned your hundred."

"Well, I don't deserve it; I cheated yesterday. I asked two things of Ruth Lee."

Miss Earle said nothing for a minute, then drawing out Etehl's paper, she said, quietly: "Show me which ones."

Ethel pointed them out and said earnestly: "I am so sorry, Miss Earle, but I honestly never will do it again. Won't you please trust me?"

"My dear," said her teacher, putting her arm about her, "I do trust you, and I admire you for your courage in telling me this."

And Ethel slipped back into her seat with her heart so light she could scarcely believe she was the same girl who had returned from the desk with so different a feeling the day before. —Exchange.

A TINY MISSIONARY.

"Gertrude, could you spare a doll for the missionary-box?" asked mamma. "The ladies have a small corner not filled and we want to send it to-day. The minister has a little girl three years old, who has never had a doll in her life, so I think you ought to let her have one of your children. Which shall it be?"

"Why, mamma, I don't see how I could give up any of my dolls," said Gertrude. "I love every one of them. I might send Polly, since she has lost her wig, but that is the only one. I'll tie her hood on and maybe the little girl will think all dolls are like that if she has never had one. The others are too nice to go to that cold country papa was telling about."

Some one was speaking to mamma from the kitchen, so she did not hear what Gertrude said. The ladies met that afternoon to pack the last things and send the box away, so when they were in the sitting-room mamma called to Gertrude and Guy to bring their things for the children. Everything but the one corner of the big box was filled, and the dray had been engaged for four o'clock.

"You are not going to give your very best books and ball, are you, Guy?" said Gertrude, as her little brother brought his nicest things for the missionary-box. "Don't you know that isn't the way to do? Why, mamma and the other ladies gave their very oldest things, and I'm going to send Polly because she's lost her wig. Folks only put in the missionary-box what they don't want themselves."

"I'm going to give these," said Guy, sturdily. "If they only get old things in the boxes, they can have a little s'prise party with my good books. I guess the baby will like the ball if he can't read."

"I am afraid Guy is right," said one of the ladies, with very red cheeks, while Guy's mamma fell on her knees beside the box and took out a very shabby old dress.

"Let's follow Guy's example, and send something very nice this time," said another lady. "In an hour we can get lots of things together and I'm going to try."

Guy did not know what it was all about, but the ladies all hurried away and came back in a short time with nice new clothes for the missionary and his family, some lovely shoes for the baby, pretty handkerchiefs, and even some candy and popcorn.

"Isn't it going to be a missionary-box, mamma?" asked Gertrude, with wide-open eyes. "I thought you never sent nice things to the poor people in the West."

"We are going to this time," said mamma, crowding the nice new clothes into the vacant space. "Do you want to send Polly?"

"Not if you are going to leave out all the old things like that. I'll send Josephine, for she is the very nicest child I have. Do you know, mamma, I'm glad not to send Polly, for she has no wig? I'm glad those poor people are going to get some nice presents, aren't you?"

And all the ladies kissed Guy, and said he was a dear little missionary himself for giving his pretty things first.—Cumberland Presbyterian.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

In regard to the new rates the regular subscription rate will remain at $2, and the preachers' rate at $1. The commission allowed on the (regular) $2 rate is 25 cents for renewals and 50 cents for new subscriptions.

The preacher-in-charge will have authority to let any poor person have the paper at $1 whom they deem unable to pay the $2 rate. All it requires will be the pastor's recommendation.

The new club rate for 1908 is $1.50 per annum in clubs of five. The club may be indefinitely extended. On this rate there is a commission of 25 cents for each subscriber, whether old or new.

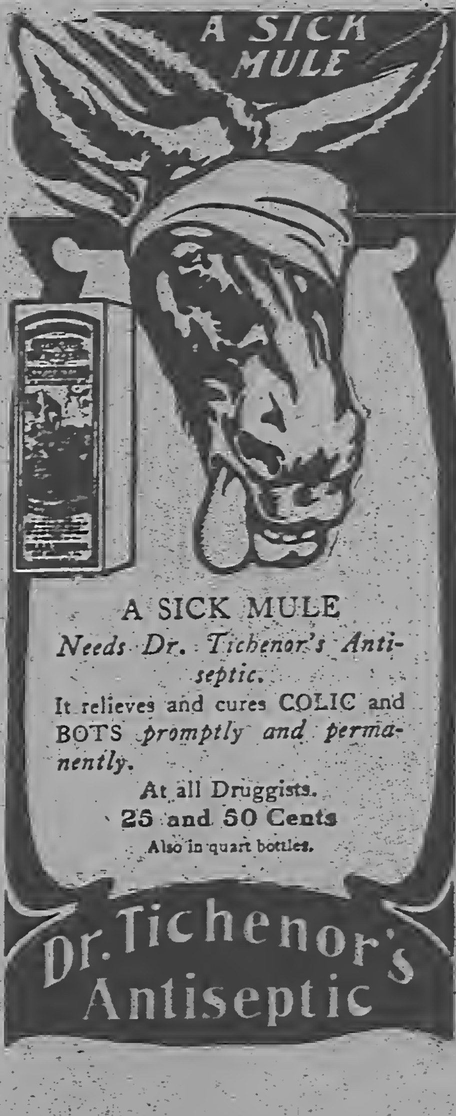
We have decided to renew our offer of a rate of $1.25 in clubs of twenty, with a commission of 25 cents to the person securing the club. But the club must really consist of twenty persons, and be practically a cash transaction. Last year we had several clubs started that claimed the twenty rate, and never secured more than two or three names. In other words, we are willing to grant the club rates only to clubs.

The pastors are our recognized agents, but we will be very glad to have the pastors appoint agents for the ADVOCATE in any community. We are sure that no pastor would object to any member of his congregation securing a club, for each ADVOCATE circulated is another friend to speak a good word for the pastor. Who will be the first to send us a real club of twenty.

It costs us 10 cents to collect a check, so please send us post office money orders.



A SICK MULE

A SICK MULE
Needs Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic.
It relieves and cures COLIC and BOTS promptly and permanently.
At all Druggists.
25 and 50 Cents
Also in quart bottles.

Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic

Christian Advocate.

REV. JNO. W. BOSWELL, D.D., Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.
CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TERMS:

One Copy, one year, $2; six months, $1. To Preachers of all Denominations, half-price.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES:

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE—Rev. W. W. Drake, Rev. N. E. Joyner, Rev. J. M. Henry.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. M. L. Burton, Rev. W. H. Lewis, Rev. C. W. Crisler.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, D.D.; Rev. J. T. Murrah, Rev. W. W. Woollard.

CHRISTIAN STEWARDSHIP.

No man owns himself or lives to himself. Ownership is lodged in God. It is his province to direct and dispose. This he does for his glory and man's good. "None of us liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself: whether we live or die, we are the Lord's." "Ye are not your own: for ye are bought with a price." Likewise does everything else belong to God. "The earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof; the world and they that dwell therein." Job recognized the truth of all this when he said, after being dispossessed of his property and bereaved of his children: "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away: blessed be the name of the Lord."

If the statements here made are true, it is easy to see why God deals with man as a steward rather than as an absolute owner of property. Absolute ownership implies the right to use and dispose of what a man has in hand without responsibility or accountability to any other being, human or divine, and without respect to anybody's will except his own. But, as a matter of fact, while God for wise purposes distributes worldly goods to men, he puts them into their hands as stewards, never relinquishing his ownership for a moment. It is true many use what they call their possessions for their own selfish interests, and in hundreds of ways dispose of them as though they were the sole and rightful owners, but this is because they wholly disregard God's law of stewardship.

In various ways our Lord emphasized the stewardship of man, and the proper use of worldly means. The plainest and easiest understood is given us in the parable of the talents recorded by St. Matthew (Chapter xxv, 14-30), which parable is paralleled by St. Luke (Chapter xix, 11-27). Observe: In the kingdom of heaven or gospel dispensation, God deals with men as "a man" or a "nobleman" going on a long journey is said to have dealt with his servants. In the parable the man, on the eve of his departure, is represented as calling his servants and delivering unto them his goods. To one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one. The distribution, though unequal in amount, was equitable. No man received more than he was able to manage, none less. The ability of each was fully considered. The fact that each man was called to account for the manner in which he used the talents shows that the Master never intended that these servants should appropriate his money to their own selfish desires, or to squander it, or let it remain idle. Otherwise he could not have consistently claimed it as his own and demanded its return with the proper interest.

God, our Master, commits his goods into the hands of his earthly stewards—to every man according to his several ability. These goods may be one thing or another—time, talents or worldly means—all are God's to be employed as he directs. And just as the man in the parable reckoned with his servants on his return from the long journey, holding the individual with the one talent to account as rigidly as those with two or five, so God will reckon with men at the judgment.

In dealing with men God will take into account their opportunities as well as the number of talents given into their hands. This Jesus signified when he said: "The men of Nineveh shall rise up in judgment with this generation, and shall condemn it because they repented at the preaching of Jonas; and, behold, a greater than Jonas is here. The queen of the South shall rise up in the judgment with this generation, and shall condemn it; for she came from the uttermost parts of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon: and, behold, a greater than Solomon is here."

As to the manner in which men, as God's stewards, should employ their worldly means, the Scriptures furnish sufficient information. Besides the lesson taught and exemplified in the parable of the Good Samaritan (Luke x, 25-37), the teachings of Jesus and the apostles abound with intsruction. "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven." "Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow of thee, turn not thou away." "Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven (by doing good on earth), where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal." "Ye have the poor always with you, and whensoever ye will ye may do them good." As men use God's gifts to bless their fellows and advance his cause, he encourages them in the work by assuring them that what they do for a suffering world is work done for him: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Both St. James and St. Paul are explicit in applying and enforcing the teachings of the Lord. Paul said, "do good to all men, especially to them who are of the household of faith." He charged Timothy to say to the rich, "That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate, laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life." St. James says, "Pure religion, and undefiled, before God and the Father is this: to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction and keep himself unspotted from the world," and bluntly tells us that a man's religion which does not measure up to this standard is vain.

How strict God is in enforcing the terms of the stewardship, and how terrible the punishment meted to the unfaithful are facts about which there is no secrecy, and for which no apology is made. The unfaithful steward was not only put out of the stewardship, but was denied that which was his own. His shrewd dealing with the men with whom he conspired to defraud his lord availed him nothing. Nor did the complacency of the rich fool, who lived luxuriously, but forgot God and his poor neighbors. "Thou fool; this night shall thy soul be required of thee; and then whose shall these things be? So is every one that layeth up treasure for himself and is not rich toward God."

In this day the facilities for increasing riches are greater than in any period of the world's history, and men are not slow to make use of their opportunities. They amass great fortunes with ease. Likewise opportunities for doing good were never greater or more numerous, for the poor increase in numbers quite as fast as their more fortunate fellows increase in riches. With the increase in wealth comes enlargement of responsibility. Who can measure the responsibility of men into whose hands God has placed the wealth of modern days? And, if there were no poor in all the land, opportunities for doing good would not be lacking, for man would still be brother to his fellow man, and under obligation to lift him higher in the scale of intelligence, civilization and religion. No man can get so far removed from his fellow-being as to say: I am not my brother's keeper.

If the rich and well-to-do men of the Church fully realized the duty and blessings of Christian stewardship the jubliee of the kingdom would soon be sounded. They would really feel that to live without giving would be shameful, and to die without remembering God an eternal disgrace.

PERSONALS.

Rev. C. D. Atkinson was sick in bed for over a week with lagrippe, but was able to fill his pulpit last Sunday.

Rev. G. D. Parker is doing good service and seems to have his time fully occupied. Last week he led the prayer-meeting for the Louisiana Avenue Church.

Rev. R. T. Nolen, on the Neshoba Circuit, is again at work, and succeeding, in behalf of the ADVOCATE. He is also doing faithful pastoral work, having recently visited fifty-two families. The work moves along nicely. He will succeed as he deserves.

Many of our brethren are working up clubs for the ADVOCATE and sending in subscribers' names as they procure them, but Rev. T. H. Porter heads the list with eighteen names at once, and money for the full club of twenty, being sure that he can "complete the club, with probably a few more than is necessary." Brother Porter brings this office under obligation to him for such faithful service.

It would afford the editors of this ADVOCATE great pleasure to attend the approaching Pittsburg Missionary Conference, and the attendance would doubtless prove profitable, but pressing duties at home will keep us here. We thank the promoters for special invitation to the Conference. All persons who desire to attend may obtain necessary information by addressing Rev. Ed. F. Cook, Nashville, Tenn.

Rev. E. O. Taylor, A.M., D.D., is in New Orleans delivering lectures on scientific temperance. He is an interesting speaker, and discusses his subject from the viewpoint of the physical effects of alcohol. He represents the Scientific Temperance Federation that has its home in Boston. In this federation are some of the foremost scientific investigators of this country and Europe. If you have a chance to hear him, either in New Orleans or elsewhere, do so.

Some brethren are of the opinion that communications written with indelible pencils meet all the requirements of a printer. They certainly will if the paper is first dampened; but if the paper is dry and hard, they do not. The writing is "shiny" and changeable in color, and has to be turned in all sorts of ways to be read. A printer cannot turn it, as his hands must be free to pick up his type, or run the machine, as is the case in this office. There lies before us an article of nearly five pages, written far better than four-fifths of the matter that reaches us, but the writer used an indelible pencil. When communications thus written fail to appear in the ADVOCATE the brethren may know the reason why.

A card from Rev. J. H. Felts, Tupelo, Miss., dated Feb. 10, received last week after the paper had gone to press, conveyed the news of the serious illness of Brother S. T. Harkey, one of the noble members of his charge. A note written February 15 brings the sad news of Brother Harkey's death. Brother Felts says: "We buried our dear Brother Harkey to-day. The loss to our town and Church is beyond computation. His love for the Church was shown by deeds. Other good men are found in Tupelo—good and true—but that does not make the loss of Brother Harkey less a calamity." The death of such a man is a calamity indeed. We share the grief of the pastor and his Church, for Brother Harkey was our friend as well as theirs. For the faithful wife and dutiful, loving children we have the profoundest sympathy. But only grace can heal their broken hearts. The pastor promises us a memoir in due season.

AT MILLSAPS COLLEGE.

Dr. W. B. Murrah is in Washington, attending the great Educational Convention now in session there. He will be absent about ten days.

Dr. J. A. Moore is recovering from an attack of fever and la grippe.

Mr. C. H. Kirkland, of the Senior Class, has been selected to represent Millsaps College in the State oratorical contest, to be held in May. He is a fine speaker, and we confidently expect Millsaps to be winner this year.

Rev. Charles Lane, of Atlanta, Ga., is to hold revival services for the Y. M. C. A. in March. The boys are expecting great things from this meeting.

The Glee Club has had a great time recently. The boys went to Macon, Columbus, Grenada and Carrollton in one week, and great audiences greeted them at each place. Prof. Henry Moore is receiving congratulations on every hand for the excellent work the Glee Club is doing under his wise and intelligent management.

MILLSAPS SUBSCRIPTIONS NOW DUE.

May I ask the pastors of those churches where subscriptions were taken for Millsaps College last year, to call attention to the following request?

There are $5,800 due now on the subscriptions for Millsaps College. We need this money very much. If we had it we could invest it, and it would bring us a nice interest, which would help us during the next session.

Notices have been sent to our friends, and I ask that public announcement be made by the pastors of the churches urging these friends to send us the money now due.

New Albany has paid up in full. Tupelo owes a small balance now, but at all the other places where I have been quite a number are yet in arrears. Kind friends, help now.

T. W. LEWIS.

THE MILLSAPS ALUMNI FUND.

To All the Old Millsaps Students: It has been the purpose of my endeavor to secure a subscription from every one of you for the enlargement of Millsaps College. I want to raise a Special of $10,000 from all of you. Thus far only $4,200 have been secured. Not one-third of the old students have yet subscribed, and I most earnestly call upon every one of you to send me a subscription. Take four or five years to pay it, as most of the subscribers have done. Liberal subscriptions have been made by many of the students. Among the bankers are: W. M. Buie, $200, and A. L. Rogers, $100. Among the preachers: H. S. Spragins, $150; J. T. Lewis, W. N. Duncan, W. L. Duren, H. B. Watkins and J. W. McGee, $100 each. Among the lawyers: H. S. Stevens and W. F. Cook, $100 each. Miss Mary L. Holloman, $50. The Alumni of Randolph-Macon have raised $30,000. Millsaps is much younger, but surely we can raise $10,000. Send in your subscriptions.

T. W. LEWIS.

MOSS POINT, MISS.

Our first Quarterly Conference for 1908 was announced for Feb. 1 and 2, so we decided to try to have a sure enough Quarterly Meeting, as our presiding elder was to be with us Saturday and Sunday. We announced the Quarterly fast for Friday and preaching for Saturday at 10 a. m. We had only twenty-five at the service Saturday, but we had a good sermon, and we closed with a consecration service, with every one present at the altar, save two or three. Sunday morning a large congregation listened with manifest interest to a good sermon, which was followed by an edifying communion service. The Quarterly Conference was well attended by the officers of the Church, and was satisfactory in every respect. When all was over we felt like we had had a Quarterly Meeting.

I mention these facts in order to say that we have gained nothing and lost much by so enlarging our districts as to almost entirely rule out the old-time Quarterly Meeting. The love-feast is a thing of the past, the Quarterly-fast is practically gone, and the Quarterly Meeting reduced to a mere business meeting as a rule. The result is, the presiding elder is little known, and consequently little appreciated by the masses of our people. He is looked upon by many as a mere officer, to hold Quarterly Conferences and divide the quarterage. When he comes nobody scarcely thinks of inviting him to their homes. He is expected to be, and generally is, entertained at the parsonage. All this is wrong, but we have done it by enlarging our districts.

Let me not be misunderstood. It is always a pleasure to entertain a presiding elder, or any other minister of God at this parsonage. The influence of a minister of the gospel, or any other good man, as a guest in the home is a contribution to the Spiritual life of the home, and comes to a long ways more than it costs. If our people appreciated this fact the grace of hospitality would be revived among us. It is generally supposed that enlarging the districts makes it easier to raise the presiding elder's salary. This I believe to be a mistake. Give us a good presiding elder, and let him come round every three months and hold a two days' meeting, preaching Saturday and Sunday; give us back the quarterly fast and the love-feast, and let our people come to know the presiding elder, and there will be no trouble about his salary. Besides, his administration will be wiser and better on the same principle that a small farm well cultivated will yield better results than a larger farm poorly cultivated.

ROYAL

ROYAL
ROYAL
BAKING POWDER

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

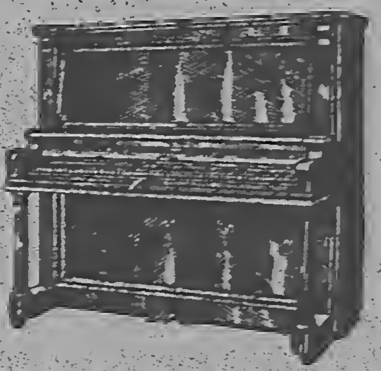
The only baking powder made with Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

No Alum, No Lime Phosphate

We need the presiding elder, but we need him in the pulpit as badly as in the Quarterly Conference, or worse. Any pastor can hold his own Quarterly Conference better than he can supply the lack of service of the presiding elder in the pulpit and in the homes of the people. With smaller districts a presiding elder could not only render more efficient service to the people, but he could command more time for reading, and for preparation for preaching, and thus prevent running to seed.

W. B. LEWIS.

Moss Point, Miss.



HIGH GRADE PIANOS

MARSHALL & WENDELL

ESTABLISHED 1836.

A Piano that has been before the public for more than a half-century must possess merit to maintain its popularity. Thousands of them are to-day singing their own praise in the homes of satisfied purchasers.

OUR POPULAR STYLE AT $350

ON EASY PAYMENTS.

Get particulars of our

Six Months Free Trial Plan.

Hakenjos Piano Mfg. Co.,

930 Canal Street

J. BART DAVIS, Mgr. New Orleans

Broken Down

Over-work, worry, mental effort, sickness or any strain upon the nervous system affects the whole body. All the organs depend upon the nerves for strength. If they don't get it they can't do the work demanded of them. Dr. Miles' Nervine restores nervous energy, and builds up the broken-down system.

"Two years ago my wife was almost at the point of death with nervous prostration. I shall never forget how she suffered, it was night and day, until we commenced to use Dr. Miles' Nervine and she speedily began to recover. To-day she is enjoying as good health as she ever did."
REV. J. F. HERSHEY, Lititz, Pa.

If first bottle fails to benefit, money back.
MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

Obituaries.

Obituaries not over two hundred words in length will be published free of charge. All over two hundred words will be charged at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and send the amount necessary with the obituary. That will save trouble all around.

MARY P. PRICE, the subject of this sketch, was one of God's chosen children. She was patient in suffering, hopeful in disappointment and cheerful in adversity. A more beautiful life I have not seen. She was born Jan. 17, 1840, professed religion when a child and joined the Methodist Church in early age. Her childhood was spent under the sheltering care of a religious home. When a young woman of twenty summers she was married to J. A. Price, one of the noblest souls that ever lived. Her home-life was ideal. It was a benediction to visit that home and feel the genial warmth of its religious atmosphere and see the gentle mother as she guided its affairs. She and Brother Price were lovers always, and hand in hand, they walked through the shadows of woe and the sunshine of peace. Were I to attempt an analysis of her character I would consider: 1. Her life as a model wife and mother. Her home was her throne and her kingdom. Her consuming thought was the care and comfort of her husband and five children. Without ostentation, but in a spirit truly heroic, she forgot herself in her devotion to the loved ones of her home. Always sunny in disposition, with a temper of unusual gentleness, and a devotion that never wavered; she was the model wife and mother. 2. She was the ideal friend: though reserved in nature, she was refined in manner and strong in her friendship; hers was the friendship of Ruth for Naomi; it was the friendship that excited the best in one, and it always enriched and ennobled the life; she was a friend without treachery, hence she was a neighbor without reproach; her life helped and blessed all who knew it. 3. She was conspicuous as a patient sufferer: while her friends and loved ones might have questioned the providence of her affliction, she bore them with a Christian fortitude that was more eloquent than golden speech; she loved the services of the sanctuary, but personal infirmity kept her at home for many months, annd yet she was always anxious for the Church to prosper. Suffering with her Lord while living, she is now reigning with him in glory. On Saturday, Dec. 7, at 3 p. m., she fell on sleep, leaving a husband, five children and ten grand-children behind. Her funeral was conducted by her pastor, Rev. L. M. Broyles, from the First Methodist Church, Corinth, Miss., on Sunday, Dec. 8, 1907. A great throng was present to testify to their love for one who was beautiful in life and mourned in death. May God comfort the bereaved husband and children.

T. W. LEWIS.

MARY C. McNIELL was born in North Carolina, April 21, 1836, and fell asleep Sept. 29, 1907. She moved with her parents when a child to Waterford, Marshall County, Miss. She was married to Milton M. McKie Jan. 17, 1855. Five children were born to them, two died in infancy. Two sons and one daughter, with several grandchildren, are left to mourn her departure. After her marriage she moved to Chulahoma, where she remained two or three years. She then moved to Tyro, Miss., where she spent the remainder of her long and useful life. Sister McKie's early life was characterized by piety which continued throughout her life. She loved the Church and served it to the best of her ability. Life to her was a sacred charge from the hand of God. She was just and true in all the relations of life, was always kind and patient with the erring. Hers was the home of the preachers, always glad to welcome them and generous to provide for their comfort. It was my privilege to be her pastor for five years, and I ever found her the same sweet, God-like woman. I always felt better after having a talk with her. Hers was a religion of sunshine. For her to die was gain. Weep not, children, mother is watching and waiting for you in her heavenly home. I am satisfied there never lived a better wife or sweeter mother. Our Church papers, along with her Bible, were her daily companions. So look up children and friends, she is not dead, but alive for evermore, for the blessed Christ said, "He that liveth and believeth in me shall never die." So in Christ she lived, and, thank God, is alive for evermore. Her former pastor,

R. P. GOAR.

Mrs. HENRIETTA C. ANDRUS PHARR was born in Opelousas, La., the 6th of November, 1836; passed to her reward on Friday, Jan. 17, 1908, at 2:50 p. m., at her home near Berwick, La. Thus ended a most successful life, full of years and devoted service to her Lord and Savior. Sister Pharr's father was of mingled Spanish and French blood, while her mother was a combination of German and English blood. The paternal side were devout Roman Catholics, and on her maternal side they were devoted Methodists. At fourteen she joined the Methodist Church in Opelousas, La. At sixteen years of age she was soundly converted, and though growing cold and "following afar" sometimes, she never denied her Savior, nor doubted that signal work of grace during all her long life. Mrs. Andrus, sister Pharr's mother, was left a widow with three children at twenty-eight years, two boys and a girl. The oldest son died at nineteen, just when able to assist his mother; then the youngest died at sixteen, leaving the mother and daughter to battle alone. The war swept away what property they had. After the war they moved to New Iberia, where Mrs. Pharr had to earn the living for both as music teacher and by sewing. In 1868, on August 11, she married Capt. Jno. N. Pharr, who was interested in a sawmill. He was irreligious, but with great courage, love and faith she began to pray for her husband's conversion. Her pastor and a devoted steward of the Church at 5 o'clock every afternoon united with her in sacred prayer for the salvation of Capt. Pharr. Their prayers were soon answered by the Captain's joining the Church, then his conversion soon followed. By her consistent, prayerful life, her pronounced adherence to the Church, the holy Sabbath and the cardinal doctrines of prayer, faith, repentance and conversion, she moulded her husband's character till the promise given his dying mother to meet her in heaven was fulfilled by his passing away fully trusting in the Savior. Mrs. Pharr always had the courage of her convictions and declared herself for Christ on every decisive occasion. Her vigorous action in furthering an enterprise sometimes made her appear imperious; she was never intolerant, but was charitable towards those who differed with her. She was full of sympathy and compassion for those in trouble and needing help. Her character ripened as the years went by. Affluence did not dim her faith or tarnish her experimental religion by worldliness or pride. She had kept her faith clear in privations, and days of adversity, so when the days of plenty came she was ready to sympathize with those in want. Her greatest work was in so living before her husband and sons as to leave upon their manhood the imprimatur of her personal knowledge of Christ as her Savior. With all Christian humility and modesty she declared for prohibition and was a devoted and assiduous worker in the Christian Temperance Union. Her public works of generosity and charity were many, but unobtrusively and privately there were many deeds which like her prayers went up as a memorial to the throne of Grace. Like the alms and prayers of Cornelius, they were there beforehand as witnesses to her love for Christ. Her last works were for the betterment of the children of Berwick in sustaining a kindergarten school, and during the Christmas just before her going several families were beneficiaries of her thoughtful generosity. A bolt of cloth was received only a few days before her going home she had ordered for clothing for the needy. How successful her life!—a leader in the Church, a sincere experimental Christian, a mother whose sons rise up to call her blessed, a wife who won her husband to Christ by her strong faith and consistant walk before him, a Christian woman ready for every good work in the Church and community where her lot was cast. Her life was full of good works to the very end. She almost ceased to live and work at the same time. With all her sterling characteristics her memory will abide, and sorely shall she be missed in the community. She was planning a memorial chapel to her sainted husband. Her works will follow on. She rests, but her toils abide and will bring in a full harvest after awhile. Our sister could not abide a scorning compromise on any great moral law. So strongly declarant was she that some might have called her puritanical, but it was this very decision of character that told upon husband and sons in forming their characters. Mrs. Pharr was the mother of six children, two daughters and four sons. Three of the children died in infancy. Three sons survive her and are faithful members of the Methodist Church, South, avowed followers of the Savior. Thus our sister's life stands forth as eminently successful. Amid the great congregation that attended her funeral many could have stood up as witnesses of her benefactions (like the crowd about Peter who mourned the departure of Tabitha) for her life was "full of good works." We feel how irreparable the loss of our sister to the Church at Morgan City, but the past proves God takes his workman but his work goes on. May the comfort of the Holy Spirit be with her noble sons, and fit them to take up her labor of love, and carry forward the work contemplated and planned by her to completion.

S. S. KEENER.

Church Authorities will find our Special Communion Ware Catalogue of great benefit in selecting Communion Ware
A wide variety of patterns are shown. This communion ware is of the highest quality, it being made by the makers of the famous "1847 ROGERS BROS." Silver Plate that Wears. Sold by leading dealers. Write for our Special Communion Ware Catalogue.
MERIDEN BRITANNIA CO., MERIDEN, CONN.
(International Silver Co., Successor)

ALTAR CHAIRS, SUNDAY School Seats, School Desks, Portable Chairs, Collection Plates, Communion Tables, Lodge Furniture, etc. Ask for big Catalog No. 60. E. H. Stafford Mfg. Co, Chicago, Ill

BLOOD POISONING POSITIVELY CURED
Hereditary, primary, secondary and tertiary. Scrofula, Eczema, Blood and Skin Disease. If you have exhausted old time methods, and want to get well, write me in fullest confidence for proof of cures. Take my treatment and get well
A. A. BROWER, M. D.
San Antonia, Tex.

$100 MAKES YOU A BOOKKEEPER OR STENOGRAPHER; It pays board, tuition and stationery. POSITIONS.
WALDEN'S BUSINESS COLLEGE
Lake Charles, La. A select school of highest character. No better courses anywhere at any price. Only 25 scholarships at reduced rates. Free penmanship course. A delightful winter resort. Write to-day to
L. R. WALDEN, President.

Queen & Crescent Route
Through Pullman Sleeper
TO NORFOLK,
Jamestown Exposition.
Lv. New Orleans daily.......7:50 p. m.
Av. Norfolk..................9:05 a. m.
Second Morning.
ROUND TRIP FARES:
Tickets Limited Dec. 15, '07.......$42.65
Tickets Limited 60 days.........35.60
Tickets Limited 15 days.........28.75
Tickets good in coaches only sold on Tuesday of each week, Limited 10 days...........22.10
CONFEDERATE REUNION,
Richmond, Va.
Round Trip Fare...............$21.15
THE QUICKEST TIME.
FOR DETAILS APPLY AT
Ticket Office, 211 St. Charles St.
Phone Main 4482.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL
The Double Track Route.
26 Hours to Chicago
21 Hours to St. Louis
22 Hours to Loisville
26 Hours to Cincinnati
Through Sleeping Cars to above points. Dining Cars, Library Cars, Chair Cars and Coaches.
Full Particulars at
City Ticket Office.
141 ST. CHARLES STREET.
Phone Main 3618.

Classified Advertisements.

EDUCATIONAL.

WANTED—[illegible] telegraphers, on account of the new 8-hour law. Draughon's Colleges, 30 in 17 states, give written contract to secure position or refund money. Address Jno. F. Draughon, Washington, Nashville, Atlanta, Raleigh, St. Louis, Dallas, Little Rock or San Antonio.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Victor Sanitarium—For the safe, speedy and scientific treatment of Alcohol and Opium addiction. Address, 321 Whitehall street, Atlanta, Ga.

OPPORTUNITIES AND INVESTMENTS.

Wanted.—Young men and women to prepare for positions paying $50 to $150 monthly. R.R. fare paid. Positions guaranteed. Wheeler Bus. College, Birmingham, Ala.

[illegible] Sash Factory and Planing Mill for sale cheap. In heart of timber district; transportation facilities the best. Lack of money causes sale. Fisher Real Estate Agency, Pensacola, Fla.

FOR THE HOME.

A HOME ORCHARD FOR $3.00. For only $3.00 we will send by express, prepaid, 50 choice, named Fruit Trees, Vines and Shrubs, including 4 apples, 4 peaches, 2 pears, 2 plums and 2 cherries, all fine 2 and 3-year trees; 10 grapes, 10 raspberries; 10 blackberries, and 6 roses and ornamental shrubs. This is lusty, healthy mountain-grown stock; warranted true to name and sure to grow. References, R. G. Dun & Co., or any Chattanooga bank. Write TO-DAY for details to Chattanooga Nurseries, 31 Missionary Ridge, Chattanooga, Tenn.

AGENTS WANTED.

In Every Town in the U. S. Samples free to reliable persons to take orders for McKibban's "Money Back" Hosiery, Underwear, etc.; direct factories to wearer; no experience required. McKibban Hosiery Co., Box 285, Royersford, Pa.

GOOD MAN WANTED in every locality to sell lubricating oils and prepared paints. Salary or commission. Address The Harvey Oil Co., Cleveland, Ohio

Obituaries

Miss ATHA A. WOODARD was born August 2, 1842, and died Jan. 16, 1908, at New Orleans Sanitarium. She was the daughter of John S. and Elizabeth Ann Woodard, of Tensas Parish, La. She was converted and joined the Methodist Church in 1856, during a revival held at Elizabeth Chapel, Tensas Parish, by Rev. Robert J. Harp. Her Bible was her constant companion and she caried her joys and woes to God. She was an invalid for three years and at times suffered greatly. During the hours of her greatest suffering she would say, "If it takes such pain to fit my soul for the mansions prepared for us by our Savior, I am willing, and will not murmur against the Lord's will." She realized that death to those that love and serve the Lord is only the gate to everlasting life. Her funeral, which was held at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. D. Koskie, was conducted by Rev. J. E. Wray, D. D., of the First Methodist Church, in New Orleans. She was laid to rest in the New Firemen's Cemetery. L. WOODARD.

✓ Mrs. AMMA GULDAGE (nee Weston) was born in Holmes County, Miss., March 21, 1884. She joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at six years of age and lived a consistent Christian until the day of her death, which took place at Bowling Green, Miss., Dec. 14, 1907. The writer, who had been her pastor, performed the last sad tribute of respect and her remains were laid to rest in the Odd Fellows' Cemetery at Lexington Miss., on the morning of the 15th, to await the resurrection morn. She was married to Joel Guldage on Nov. 7, 1906, with the promise of a bright and happy future; but death cut short their happiness and she passed away, her death being like her life had been, calm, yet trusting. As she was going out a smile came over her face which seemed to betoken the sweet experience of the soul entering into its eternal rest. Her life on earth was short, but well spent in the service of her Lord, and to her loved ones I would say, "Weep not as those who have no hope," for Amma has just gone on before you. She will be there watching and waiting for you. May the Lord comfort the troubled family and bereaved husband, and may his tenderest care be over the little motherless infant left behind.

J. J. GARNER.

F. M. SIMPSON was born in Leake County, Miss., Oct. 11, 1846, and died of apoplexy, Nov. 8 1907. Fortunately he was born into a Christian home and with the savoring influences of such a parentage thrown about him in early life he developed into a most noble character. Brother Simpson was converted early in life and joined the M. E. Church, South, and remained to the day of his death a strong believer in her doctrines, and an ardent supporter of her institutions. He was one of the men who, like David, found great pleasure in the services of God's house. He not only enjoyed religion in the sanctuary, and on the Sabbath, but he put it into practice in his every-day life, and it was seen by all who had dealings with him in any way. It was the pleasure of this scribe to serve as his pastor for two years, and to have been frequently and very intimately associated with him, and we never heard an unchaste word escape his lips. No purer-minded man has lived. He was informed in the literature of his Church far above the ordinary. When a boy in his father's home he began reading the New Orleans Christian Advocate, a paper which has been going to his father's home and to his own since the second year of its existence, with the exception of two years during the Civil War. On Dec. 20, 1871, Brother Simpson was happily married to Miss Thonie Leslie, and to this union four children were born, all of whom, with their mother, still live to mourn their irreparable loss. His devotion to his family was beautiful. He was never harsh, but always firm. A father "who governed his household aright." The four children, three sons and one daughter, have all reached the years of maturity and are living consistent Christian lives, after the worthy example of a noble father. Brother Simpson was a Mason, true and tried. He possessed extraordinary talents and had become very efficient, and filled a very important office in his lodge at the time of his death. It brings deep sorrow to our hearts to no longer find him in his accustomed place in the "west." As a neighbor he was never too busy to answer the calls of his friends. A great portion of his life was given to those about him. The esteem in which he was held by his friends was shown forth in the fact that a number of times they elected him to positions of public trust. Honors he appreciated, and duties imposed upon him he always discharged faithfully. His funeral took place in the Methodist Church in Sallis, conducted by this scribe, after which the Masonic fraternity took charge of the corpse, and a very beautiful and impressive service was conducted at the grave, led by Brother Paul Murphy, of Durant, and the body of this noble son, faithful husband, loving father, consecrated Christian, loyal Mason and true friend was laid to rest beneath a mantle of beautiful flowers to await the resurrection morning. He is gone, but not forgotten. Peace to his ashes.

J. D. McWHORTER.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

Dare to think of your humanity as something so sublimely precious that it is worthy of being made an offering to God. Count it a privilege to make that offering complete as possible.—Phillips Brooks.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

Have One Doctor

No sense in running from one doctor to another. Select the best one, then stand by him. Do not delay, but consult him in time when you are sick. Ask his opinion of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs and colds. Then use it or not, just as he says.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our preparations. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

W. H. BYRNES, Pres. JOHN T. GIBBONS, Vice-Pres. W. WOOD, Sec'y
Capital..........$200,00.00
Assets..........$479,860.90

HIBERNIA INSURNCE CO.,
No. 305 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
LOSSES PAID PROMPTLY.

Pine-Brook Dairy Co., Ltd
ALL OUR COWS TUBERCULINE TESTED.
Milk and Cream Delivered Morning and Evening.
COR ST. CHARLES & WASHINGTON AVES. Phone 1514 Uptown.

Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company.
THROUGH DAILY PASSENGER SERVICE
Between
NEW ORLEANS and SHREVEPORT,
via
BATON ROUGE, BAYOU SARA and ALEXANDRIA.
FAST FREIGHT SERVICE.
C. ELLERBE, Asst. to Prest., Shreveport, La.
H. B. HELM, Gen'l. Superintendent, Shreveport, La.
E. C. D. MARSHALL, G. F. & P. A., Shreveport, La.

THE AMERICAN PAINT WORKS,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.,
MANUFACTURES EVERYTHING IN PAINTS,
—Guaranteed Strictly Pure—
The Climatic Prepared Paints, Perfecto White and
SOLD SUBJECT TO A CHEMICAL ANALYSIS.
DIRECTORS:
Thos. S. Witherspoon, President. Francis Martin, Vice President.
R. B. Parker, John McCloskey, Geo. A. Hero.
PHONE, MAIN 915. Special Attention to Mail Orders

New Orleans Light House
FRIEDRICH MERCANTILE COMPANY
636 CAMP STREET
LIGHTS

(Friedrich Mercantile Co.)
Well known Welbach Gas Lights, all styles. Something new. Tubus Gas Lights, very popular. Inverted Gas Lights at $1.10. The Practicus Coal Oil Lamp that burns a mantle 60 hours to one gallon of coal oil. You are invited to see this brilliant light. Gasoline Hollow Wire Lamp Systems, substitute for gas and electric lights.
Full Stock of Lighting Supplies.
Country Orders Solicited.

THE BEST MADE.
Angell's Cough and Whooping Cough Syrup
For Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Coughs Colds and Throat Trouble.
CONTAINS NO OPIUM OR MORPHINE,
All Druggists, Price 25 and 50 Cents.

THE Wonderful HEALER

If you are suffering from Ulcers, Old Sores, Blood Poison, Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Pimples, Boils, Barber's Itch, Scrofula, or any other skin disease, no matter how old or stubborn, you can be quickly and permanently cured by a few applications of the wonderful cure.

Scrofuline

Goes to the very seat of the trouble, kills the germs and extracts all foreign matter. Soothing and refreshing. A powerful remedy. Absolutely harmless; and can be applied to the most delicate parts. Sold under a positive guarantee to cure—50c and $1.00 jars—at your druggist's, or sent by mail on receipt of price. Write for testimonials of prominent people.

THE SCROFULINE CO. WACO, TEXAS.

Don't you know
THAT CRADDOCK-TERRY CO.'S
Long Wear Shoes
wear longer than other shoes at the same price? If not, try a pair of these celebrated shoes and be convinced.

Sunday School

By W. B. Campbell.

LESSON FOR FEB. 23.

Subject: "Jesus at the Pool of Bethesda."—John v, 1-8.

Golden Text: "Himself took our infirmities, and bear our sickness."—Matt. viii, 17.

In our endeavor to connect the events of one lesson with those of the succeeding one, as they are selected in our present year's study, let us not lose sight of the fact that the author of the gospel we are studying had always in mind the spirituality of the words and works of the Master. Hence he does not record many incidents mentioned by the other three writers, and which happened in chronological order. The thought of the divinity of Christ it is now our point to learn and teach, and for this purpose he that was the beloved disciple is our teacher. Things that happened after the healing of the nobleman's son, up to the time that Jesus made another trip to Jerusalem, are not mentioned in John's gospel. It is God's will that all these things should be "rightly divided," and he knows best. What feast this was that Jesus went to attend is not mentioned, because there was a more important lesson to be learned from what Jesus did after he arrived at the great city. He was there near the temple, but the glorious preparations for the feast, the pomp and circumstances of those who sat in Moses' seat had not the attraction for the Man of Sorrows as did the throng of sufferers that gathered on the porches that surrounded the pool of Bethesda, as they waited for the moving of the water, and then scramble to be the first to plunge therein and be cured.

What a motly throng it must have been; just such a crowd as gathered at the door of Peters' house, as at sundown on a Sabbath eve; he had laid his hands on them and healed them all. His great heart was touched even now as it was then, and full of tenderness and pity he turned to one lying helpless, and being helpless he was hopeless of ever being cured, for he could not move, and while he was being moved, others would spring before him and get the blessing that could be received by only one at a time.

We can almost hear the tender words of the Master as he said to the impatient man, the man who had suffered for thirty-eight years: "Wilt thou be made whole?" "Sir, you see how it is—I cannot move and everything is against me, none to help, none to help." O, thou sufferer, there are thy brothers in this world that are just as helpless, and know not that Jesus stands just at hand ready to save.

The Son of God said to the man, "Rise, take up thy bed and walk." The disease that had enslaved the man left him and he took up his bed and began his walk toward his home rejoicing in his newly-found blessing. He had not gone far before he was halted by some who angrily said, "Do you know that it is unlawful to carry that bed on the Sabbath day." The man's heart was so full of joy that he forgot all about the Sabbath day. Jesus knew it was the Sabbath day, and he also knew that it was lawful to do good on the Sabbath day as he taught at another time. The man that was healed made reply, perhaps after these words, "I have been bed-ridden for thirty-eight years, my case was hopeless, I lay on my back on my bed in a public place with none to help; there came a man who bade me rise, take up my bed and walk. Now do you think a man with this power for good can command one to do anything that would be evil?" The man did not know who Jesus was, he would have confessed him then and there had he known from whom he had received his blessing. There are those around and about us now who will tell you of how lucky they have been, and never once think of giving praise and thanks to God for good that has been done them.

Jesus must have turned back into the temple with a heavy heart, for he know there were those even among the highest of the temple servitors that needed him and all his healing powers much more than did the impotent man at the pool of Bethesda.

It was not long until the man returned after having taken his bed home. He returned to give testimony and praise to the one who had done so much for him. It was the Spirit that led him back, for he was to learn that his bodily ill was the effect of sin, and the warning from the Healer was his to receive.

What a warning it was to the man. What a warning it is to any of us. If we should ever go back to the world and serve the devil as once we did, a worse thing would come upon us. O God forbid that we shall ever for one moment forget that we have been purged from our sins; that we shall ever forget to give thanks and a hearty service to him who hath shed his precious blood and washed us white and clean. It is in just such scenes of suffering that Jesus reveals himself to the world. He bids us come unto him when weary and heavy-laden. Read the liii chapter of Isaiah and see how often he tells us that he is our burden-bearer. "Cast thy burden upon the Lord." Cast thy care upon him, for he careth for you. If these promises are true, then we should live in perfect trust and perfect peace. Our heaven should begin here, now, on earth. O, brother, they are true; just trust him, and believe and see for yourself that "himself took our infirmities and bear our sickness."

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten-fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials fre.

Sold by Druggists. Price, 75c. per bottle.

Take Hall's Family Pills for consti-

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

This is the true athlete—he who in the great stadium, the fair world, is crowned for the true victory over all the passions.—Exchange.

The end of piety is eternal rest in God.—Exchange.

ECZEMA, TETTER AND SKIN TROUBLES.

Tetterine, the fragrant, antiseptic and healing ointment, instantly relieves and quickly cures skin and scalp diseases and tching piles. It is the finest prescription ever dicovered for these conditions. Apply after bath with Tetterine Soap. It s elegantly prepared by The Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga. If your druggist cannot supply you, send 25 cents in stamps.

FOR A GOOD

PIANO,
PIANO PLAYER or PLAYER PIANO see the Grunewald's
Before You Buy.
Agents for the Latest Improved and best Instruments on the Market.

The Union Railraod Business College

BUSINESS TAUGHT AS IT IS DONE.

Is backed up by thousands of dollars and expert teachers. Uses no text books or copying nonsense. Free scholarships given only to those between the ages of 13 and 35 years.

Business men everywhere are calling for the graduates of this school. For full particulars, address PROF. W. N. STEPHENSON, Texarkana, Texas.

POSITIONS SECURED or MONEY BACK

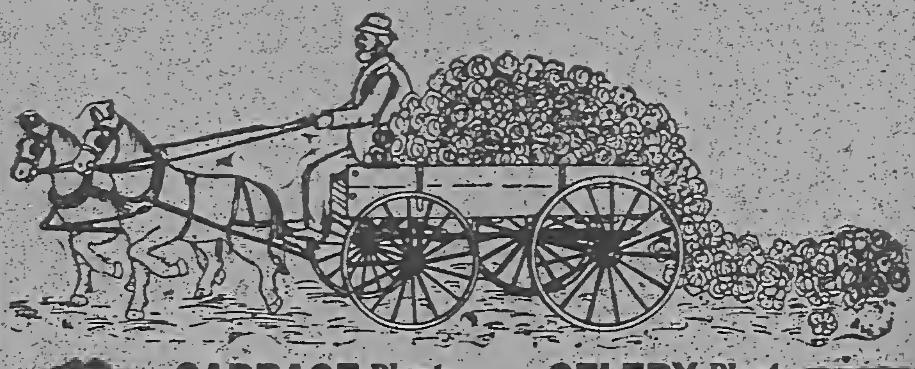
Contract given, backed by $300,000.00 capital and 18 years' Success.

DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL BUSINESS COLLEGE.

SHREVEPORT, JACKSON (MISS.), DALLAS, GALVESTON, NASHVILLE

30 Colleges in 17 States

Bookkeeping, Banking, Shorthand, Penmanship, Telegraphy, etc. Indorsed by business men. Also teach by mail. Write, phone, or call for catalogue.



CABBAGE Plants. CELERY Plants.
and all kinds of garden plants. Can now furnish all kinds of cabbage plants, grown in the open air and will stand great cold. Grown from seeds of the most reliable seedmen. We use same plants on our thousand acre truck farm. Plants carefully counted and properly packed. Celery, Lettuce, Onion and Beet plants. Reduced express rates give us 60 per cent less than merchandise rates. Prices: $1.50 per thousand up to 5,000; 5,000 to 10,000 at $1.25 per thousand; 10.000 and upwards at $1.00 per thousand, F. O. B. Meggetts, S. C. The United States Agricultural Department has Established an experimental Station on our farms, to test all kinds of vegetables, especially Cabbages. The results of these experiments we will be pleased to give you at any time.

Yours respectfully. N. H. BLITCH COMPANY. MEGGETTS, S. C.

Dr. Brown's Magic Liniment
This bottle for you---FREE

Those who seek relief from rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, headache, backache, lumbago, sprains, sore muscles, and other pains—Read carefully.

We want to help you. We know the marvellous curative power of Dr. Brown's Magic Liniment; how wonderful it is; that when it is poured on a piece of cloth and pressed closely to the place where the pain exists the pain instantly vanishes. It is different from other liniments which need rubbing. You simply smother the cloth under your hands and the liniment penetrates to the source of the pain and instantly relieves it. It soothes the nerves, produces warmth, and starts up the circulation. We know it does all these things—AND WE WANT YOU TO KNOW IT.

Send for the sample bottle and try it. Write to

BROWN CHEMICAL CO., Dept. A. Nashville, Tenn.

Because we charge enough to enable us to give something just a little better, just a little more up-to-date, and much more of it in the finished product than the other "fellow."

Write to-day for prices, full particulars and a few souvenir post cards.

Departments:—Preparatory, Bookkeeping, Shorthand, and Typewriting.

The best system of Bookkeeping, Shorthand, and general routine. The kind that is made up from actual office experience, not from supposition and a smattering book idea.

New typewriters—the touch system—with blanked keyboards.

Weigh Yourself

and then after a few weeks weigh yourself again. If you are losing weight take SCOTT'S EMULSION. Breathe fresh air day and night. Eat simple food.

Try this for a few weeks.

Then weigh yourself again. The experience of thousands of men, women and children is that increases the weight. It contains a power that produces new flesh. This simple treatment often cures consumption.

Scott's Emulsion

All Druggists: 50c. and $1.00.

Epworth League

By Rev. H. Whitehead.

PRAYER-MEETING TOPIC.

February 23. Church-Building a Loving Service. Luke vii, 1-7; 1 Chron. xxii, 1-5. (Church Extension Topic.)

After preaching to the people in the plain, Jesus entered into Capernaum. Then there came to him certain elders of the Jews in behalf of a centurian's servant, who was sick. They plead in behalf of the centurian that he was worthy, and loved their nation—he has built us a synagogue. Rightly enough they regarded this as a mark of love, both for the people and for the God whom the people served. With this thought of loving service in Church-building we study the work of Cuhrch-building and Church-extension.

1. Every Church needs a Church home.

Primarily, the Church was not the building, but the assembly of people that met in the building. This spiritual association is the essential factor. Churches have met in all sorts of places. A large part of the pioneer worship was conducted in the homes and the school-houses. But buildings of every conceivable sort have been used as places of worship. Churches have assembled in caves, and even in tombs. Because the places of burial were not molested by the Romans, the early Church met in the Catacombs under the city during the times of persecution. Preaching in the fields was a very important part of the work of early Methodism, and street preaching is common in every large city.

Yet, despite all this, it may be put down as an indisputable fact that no Church can do its best work, until it is properly housed in a building suited to the needs of its work. Boarding and visiting are all well enough for a season, but the family must have its own dwelling place, before it can really create a home. So a Church needs a fixed gathering-place, with that element of permanency that the ownership of property gives, before men will throw themselves freely into its work and undertake those things which shall abide.

2. It is for the glory of God that a Church be suitably housed.

David was right when he desired to see a temple built for the worship of God. When the children of Israel wandered in the wilderness they could not have had a better place of worship than the tabernacle. It represented the offerings of love and zeal. It was the workmanship of the most skilled artists of the day. It was easily moved, and it suited the days of Israel's sojourning in strange lands. But when they had dwelt long in the land and their homes were fixed; when they began to honor themselves with fine homes, it was no longer suitable. Mark you, divine wisdom did not ask for this temple, but when the heart of men would honor God then he approved the building.

Wonderful revivals have been held in log cabins, but in those days the people dwelt in cabins. When the homes have improved, and men honor themselves with the houses that they build, it is high time that they honored God as well. As life becomes more complex, the duties and tasks of the Church increase, and with increased machinery comes the demand for special accommodations.

3. Have love and zeal done all that they can for your own Church.

In every league this question should be raised. Does your Church meet the real needs of your community. Would the passing stranger who had seen your homes, regard your Church as an expression of love for the Master? Church pride and rivalry can very easily be substituted for love for the Christ. But if the Master was to come into the league to-night, what would love for him prompt this league to do towards beautifying his house? Love in itself is beautiful, and it adorns all who truly love, and in some way finds the means to beautify the objects of its love.

4. What would love for the Christ prompt you to do for other Churches.

All up and down the land there are Churches struggling to get a shelter over their heads. The Church Extension Boards have appeals coming to them all the time. For every dollar that they have to give they are asked for three or four. Every case is a needy case, and it seems hard to withhold, but you cannot send out one dollar that someone has not given for this work. In many communities the crucial struggle has been over the question of a shelter for the Church. Does your heart glow with love for the kingdom you will do well to house its advance guards and to help even its older Churches fit themselves for larger service.

But, O, Leaguer, while you strive to build, pray that love may enter into your Church from foundation-stone, to the last cap on the spire; and that your house may be built for the glory of God and not for the glory of some selfish and unworthy follower of the Christ. And if your own heart is free from evil you will find only good in those with whom you toil, and your Church will be built in love and peace, and for the glory of God.

ANNUAL SESSION OF MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE LEAGUERS.

To the Presiding Elders, Pastors and Epworth Leaguers, Mississippi Conference:

The Sixth Annual Session of the Mississippi Conference Epworth League will convene June 18 continue through Sunday, 21st, in Gulfport, and I am very anxious that no meeting conflict with this, and to this end I am addressing this letter. At the meeting of the League Board during the Annual Conference at Jackson they tried to fix the meeting so as to not conflict with any other meeting that had already been arranged for, and requested that none of the presiding elders fix their District Confernces or that any of the pastors fix their protracted meetings at this time, so that all can go. You will notice that the date this year is earlier than heretofore, and this was done at the suggestion of those that are to entertain us.

The League Board asked Dr. H. W. Featherstun, Rev. J. M. Morse and myself to arrange the programme, and any suggestion you wish to make will be gladly received. We wish to make it the best Conference we have ever had from every standpoint and earnestly ask your co-operation in doing this. It is in the mind of the committee to make it an "Inspirational Meeting" and have some of the Bishops, some one from the mission room, and some of the best department workers. Please bear this in mind and begin now to arrange to come and have your League represented.

Watch the columns of the Advocate for another letter with reference to a plan we are working on to further the interest of the League movement. Now is a good time to organize an Epworth League if you haven't one at your Church, you will have all of the spring and summer to get it going so as to run through the next winter. The following are the officers, and if you need some help, call on your district secretary or any Conference officer that is near you, for all literature address Smith & Lamar.

LEAGUE OFFICERS OF THE MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

President, W. D. Hawkins, Meridian, Miss.; First Vice-President, Rev. H. M. Ellis, Jackson, Miss.; Second Vice-President, Mrs. Z. M. Davis, Vicksburg, Miss.; Third Vice-President, Miss Edith Reid, Jackson, Miss.; Fourth Vice-President, Rev. M. M. Black, Purvis, Miss.; Secretary, C. S. Carleton, Meridian, Miss.; Treasurer, C. LaHatte, Vicksburg, Miss.; Era Agent, Miss Lessie Rowan, Laurel, Miss.; Supt. Junior League, Mrs. T. B. Clifford, Meridian, Miss.

District Secretaries.

Meridian, C. H. Poythress, Meridian, Miss.; Jackson, A. P. Holt, Jackson, Miss.; Seashore, J. E. Cooper, Purvis, Miss.; Natchez, Miss Jessie Porter, Natchez, Miss.; Vicksburg, Rev. O. S. Lewis, Mayersville, Miss.; Brookhaven, C. B. Sauls, McComb City, Miss.; Newton, R. H. Stumbaught, Laurel, Miss.

Let us go to work in earnest to make this Conference a great gathering; one that shall prove helpful to the cause. Yours in the work,

W. D. HAWKINS,
President.

BROOKS' NEW CURE FOR RUPTURE

Brooks' Appliance. New discovery. Wonderful. No obnoxious springs or pads. Automatic Air Cushions. Binds and draws the broken parts together as you would a broken limb. No salves. No lymphol. No lies. Durable, cheap. Pat. Sept. 10, '01.

SENT ON TRIAL.
CATALOGUE FREE.

C. E. Brooks, 7145 Brooks' Bldg.
Marshall, Mich.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS.

UNLIKE OTHER BELLS SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.

Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

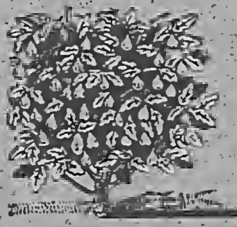
Please mention this paper.

12 GRAPE VINES 50c
1 ROSE BUSH FREE

For 50c. cash with order (stamps will do) we will ship you all charges paid, one dozen first-class grape vines as samples:
3 Concord 3 Niagara 3 Moore's Early
1 Ives 1 Catawba 1 Delaware
If we get your order in the next 3 days, we will add free as a premium 1 Baby Rambler Rose (or your choice of roses). Address Dept. 563
IOWA NURSERY CO., Des Moines, Iowa

MONINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

Free Tour to Europe. To those who can induce SIX friends to join one of my tours a free ticket will be given. Apply to EDWIN JONES, 462 Putnam Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.



FORTUNE IN FIGS. Texas Figs Prize Winners at World's Fair. Figs grown at Aldine, near Houston, make the best preserves known. Demand unlimited. Crop certain. Now is the time to buy a home in South Texas and enjoy life under your own "vine and fig tree." One Town Lot and one acre set in Figs only $230. Payable $10 down and $10 per month. Single crop more than pays cost of land. Particulars free. Agents wanted.

Address, E. C. ROBERTSON, 316-R Kiam Bldg., HOUSTON, TEXAS.

NASAL DOUCHE
FREE TO YOU

CURE YOUR CATARRH MY NASAL DOUCHE FREE

MY FREE OFFER TO CATARRH SUFFERERS

I want to have the name of every man, woman or child who suffers from Catarrh, Hawking or Spitting, Headaches, Discharging Ears, Head Noises, Ringing or Buzzing in the Ears, so I can send them absolutely free my Nasal Douche, Five Days' Treatment and my New Book on Catarrh, Eye and Ear Troubles. My Nasal Douche is my own invention, constructed on scientific principles, easily cleaned, perfectly sanitary and so simple that any child can use it. I've proved its value in thousands of cases and I want to convince you that I can cure you: I can prove this statement to you in five days' time if you will only let me do so. I don't care how serious your case may be or how long you may have suffered, or what other doctors have told you. I want you to prove it for yourself at my expense. Simply send me your name and address and I will send

My 50c Nasal Douche, Five Days' Treatment and My Illustrated Book—ALL FREE.

My illustrated book tells how to quickly relieve and cure Distressing Head Noises, Ringing and Buzzing in the Ears, Discharging Ears and Catarrh. It tells how deaf people, except those born deaf, may be restored to perfect hearing. It tells in plain, simple language how all diseases and defects of the Eye, such as Failing Eyesight, Cataract, Granulated Lids, Scums, Sore Eyes, etc., etc., may be successfully treated by my patients in their own homes. It tells all about my Mild Medicine Method which has cured so many Catarrh sufferers and has restored hearing and sight to scores of supposedly incurable patients in every State.

Send No Money Simply your name and address on a post card and you'll receive by return mail my 50c Nasal Douche, 5 Days' Treatment and my new Book on Catarrh, Eye and Ear Troubles—all Free. This means absolutely free, no obligation, no promise to pay, no condition whatever. Write today.

DR. F. G. CURTS, 120 Gumbel-Curts Building, KANSAS CITY, MO.

Delicately
Flavored
Pure and Wholesome
Jell-O
THE DAINTY DESSERT
7 delightful flavors
Complies with all pure food
Laws

Marriages.

At the residence of the bride's uncle, Mr. R. E. Cumbie, Biloxi, Miss., Jan. 6, 1908, by Rev. J. L. Jordan, Mr. JOSEPH MARIE and Miss LIZZIE HILL.

At the residence of the bride's parents, near Woolmarket, Miss., Sunday, Feb. 2, 1908, by Rev. J. L. Jordan, uncle of the bride, Mr. JOSEPH H. ROUSE and Miss OLIVIA JORDAN.

On Dec. 11, 1907, in First M. E. Church, Monroe, La., by Rev. H. G. Davis, Mr. W. A. PENNINGTON to Miss E. R. FEARSON. Both of Monroe, La.

At the Methodist Church, Bolton, Miss., Feb. 3, 1908, by Rev. Isaac L. Peebles, Mr. THOMAS G. ROBERTSON to Miss MARY CADE GILLESPIE, both of Bolton, Miss.

On Feb. 3, 1908, at 8:30 p. m., Monroe, La., at the district parsonage, by Rev. James E. Denson, Dr. LAWRENCE McCASKILL JONES, of Monroe, and Miss ALICE IRENE MILLIKIN, of Millikin, La.

On Dec. 14, 1907, at the residence of the bride's parents, by Rev. A. W. Turner, Mr. CHARLES F. EMERY, Jr., to Miss LENNIE THOMPSON, Opelousas, La.

On Sunday, Feb. 2, at the residence of the bride's uncle, W. S. Crook, in Rankin County, by Rev. C. F. Emery, Mr. WILLIAM ELBERT DARNALL and Miss ANNIE EOLIN CROOK, both of Brandon, Miss.

At the residence of Mr. J. P. Ivy, brother-in-law to the bride, Desark, La., Feb. 5, 1908, by Rev. R. O. Wier, Mr. S. T. HARWELL, of Shreveport, La., to Miss MATTIE STIDHAM, of Desark, La.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

The starch of propriety which keeps us from inviting sinners to Christ will wilt before the judgment bar of God.—Central Christian Advocate.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.
Mississippi Conference.

NATCHEZ DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Barlow, at Rehoboth	Feb. 1, 2
Hamburg, at Hamburg	Feb. 8, 9
Fayette, at Fayette	Feb. 15, 16
Percy's Creek, at Dawson's	Feb. 22, 23
Woodville	Feb. 23, 24
Natchez, Pearl St.	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Natchez, Jefferson St.	Mar. 1, 2
Bayou Pierre, at P. V.	Mar. 7, 8
Caseyville, at New Hope, Monday, 11 a. m.	Mar. 9
Wilkinson, at Friendship	Mar. 14, 15
Meadville, at Providence	Mar. 21, 22
Washington, at W.	Mar. 28, 29

J. T. LEGGETT, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Bolton, at Bolton	Feb. 1, 2
Hermanville, at H.	Feb. 8, 9
Silver City, at S. C.	Feb. 15, 16
Satartia, at Wesley Chapel	Feb. 18
Oak Ridge, at O. R.	Feb. 22, 23
Edwards, at Edwards	Feb. 24, 25
Anguilla, at Anguilla	Mar. 1, 2
Rolling Fork, at R. F.	Mar. 2, 3
Mayersville, at Mayersville	Mar. 3, 4
Rocky Springs, at R. S.	Mar. 7, 8

G. H. GALLOWAY, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Moss Point	Feb. 1, 2
Pascagoula	Feb. 2, 3
Lumberton	Feb. 8, 9
Biloxi, Main St.	Feb. 15, 16
Long Beach	Feb. 17
Hattiesburg, Main St.	Feb. 21, 22
Hattiesburg, Broad St.	Feb. 22, 23
Hattiesburg, Court St.	Feb. 24
Carriere and McNeill, at Carriere	Feb. 29, 1
Brooklyn and Bond, at Brooklyn	Mar. 6
Mentorum and New Zion, at New Zion	Mar. 7, 8
Gulfport, 25th Ave.	Mar. 10
Gulfport, 29th St., at Handsboro	Mar. 11
Ocean Springs and Oak St., Oak St	Mar. 12
Coalville, at Poplarhead	Mar. 14, 15
Howison ann Saucier, at S.	Mar. 15, 16
Wolf River, at Durhams C.	Mar. 17

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND

Tylertown, at T.	Feb. 1, 2
Brookhaven (Wed.)	Feb. 4,
Bogue Chitto and Norfield, at B. C.	Feb. 8, 9
Adams, at Adams	Feb. 15, 16
Beauregard, at B.	Feb. 22, 23
Wesson	Feb. 23, 24
Monticello, At M.	Mar. 1, 2
Summit, at Summit	Mar. 8, 9
Topisaw, at Topisaw (Wed)	Mar. 11,

GEO. H. THOMPSON, P. E.

JACKSON DISTRICT—FIRST ROUND

Sharon, at Sharon	Feb. 1, 2
Madison, at Madison	Feb. 3,
Jackson, First Church	Feb. 5,
Fannin, at Oakdale	Feb. 8, 9
Florence, at Marvin Church	Feb. 14,
Braxton, at Braxton	Feb. 15, 16
Terry, at Terry	Feb. 19,
Deasonville, at Union	Feb. 22, 23
Benton, at Midway	Feb. 25,
Yazoo City	Feb. 26,
Eden, at Eden	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Flora, at Flora	Mar. 2,
Mount Olive, at Mt. O.	Mar. 6,
Bethel and Mission, at B.	Mar. 7, 8
Pinola, at Mount Pisgah	Mar. 14, 15

A. F. WATKINS, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Schlater, at S.	Feb. 1, 2
Webb, at Tutwiler	Feb. 4,
Minter City, at M. C.	Feb. 8, 9
N. Carrollton, at Eden	Feb. 12,
Winona Ct., at New Hope	Feb. 15, 16
Mar's Hill, at M. H.	Feb. 18,
Tom Nolen, at Stewart	Feb. 22, 23
Ruleville, at Drew	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Vance, at Vance	March 3,
Slate Springs	March 7, 8

E. S. LEWIS, P. E.

NEWTON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Hebron, at Hebron	Feb. 1,
Ellisville, at E.	Feb. 2, 3,
Harperville, at H.	Feb. 7,
Walnut Grove, at W.	Feb. 8, 9
Carthage, at C.	Feb. 9, 10
Edinberg, at Waldo	Feb. 15, 16
Philadelphia, at P.	Feb. 16, 17
Indian Miss., at Philadel.	Feb. 17,
Neshoba, at Mt. Pisgah	Feb. 18,
Decatur, at Union	Feb. 22, 23
Chunkey, at C.	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Vossburg and H., at V.	Mar. 7, 8
Rose Hill, at Rose Hill	Mar. 14, 15

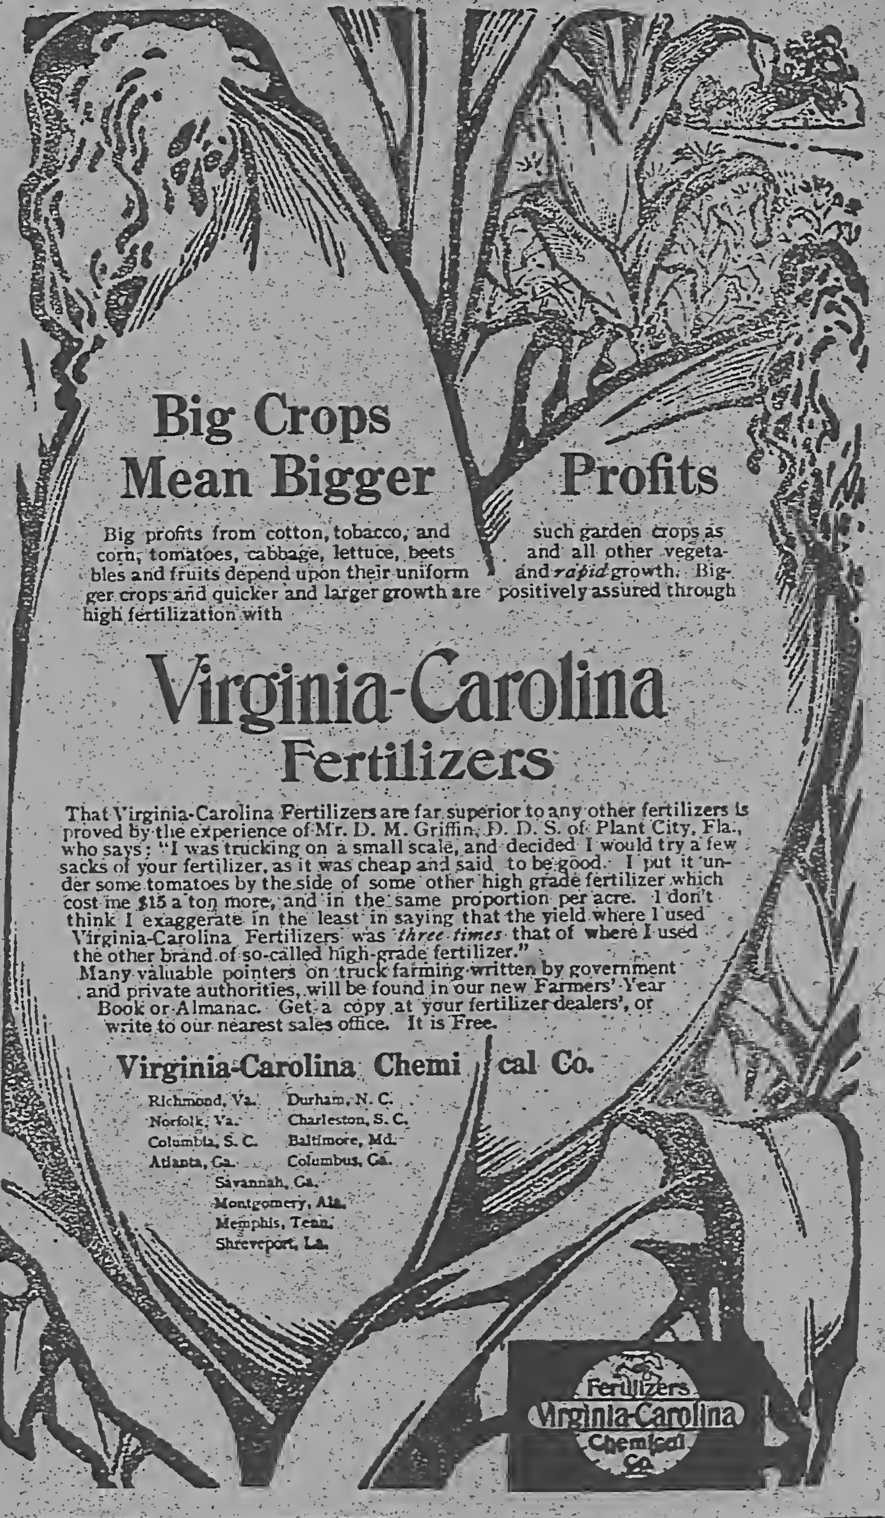
JAS. M. WEEMS, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST—FIRST ROUND.

Leakesville, at L.	Feb. 1, 2
Enterprise, at E.	Feb. 8, 9
Scooba, at Scooba	Feb. 15, 16
Lauderdale, at L.	Feb. 22, 23
N. Kemper, at Spg. Hill	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
De Kalk, Tuesday	Mar. 3,
Daleville, at Soule's Chapel	Mar. 7, 8
Binnsville, at B.	Mar. 10,
Pachuta, at McGowan's	Mar. 14, 15
Middleton, at Manassa	Mar. 17,
Waynesboro Ct., at Fedora	Mar. 19,
Matherville, at Winnifred	Mar. 21, 22
Eucutta	Mar. 24,
Vimville, at Pleas. Ridge	Mar. 25, 26

W. C. BLACK, P. E.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.



Big Crops
Mean Bigger Profits

Big profits from cotton, tobacco, and corn, tomatoes, cabbage, lettuce, beets such garden crops as and all other vegetables and fruits depend upon their uniform and rapid growth. Bigger crops and quicker and larger growth are positively assured through high fertilization with

Virginia-Carolina
Fertilizers

That Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers are far superior to any other fertilizers is proved by the experience of Mr. D. M. Griffin, D. D. S. of Plant City, Fla., who says: "I was trucking on a small scale, and decided I would try a few sacks of your fertilizer, as it was cheap and said to be good. I put it under some tomatoes by the side of some other high grade fertilizer which cost me $15 a ton more, and in the same proportion per acre. I don't think I exaggerate in the least in saying that the yield where I used Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers was three times that of where I used the other brand of so-called high-grade fertilizer."

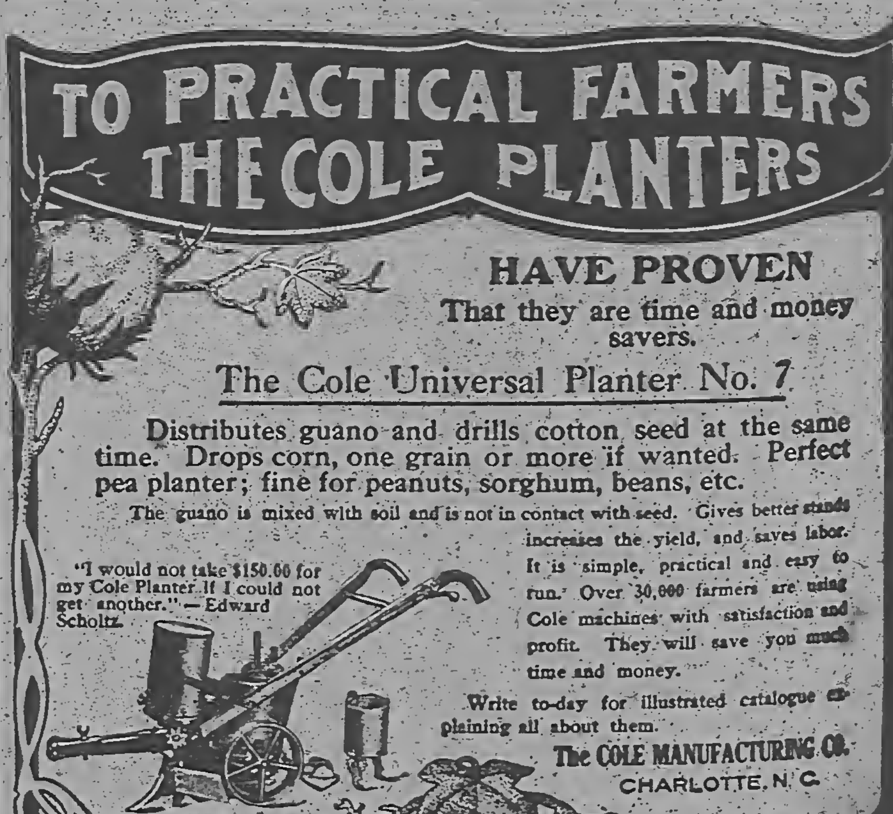
Many valuable pointers on truck farming written by government and private authorities, will be found in our new Farmers' Year Book or Almanac. Get a copy at your fertilizer dealers', or write to our nearest sales office. It is Free.

Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co.

Richmond, Va.
Norfolk, Va.
Columbia, S. C.
Atlanta, Ga.
Durham, N. C.
Charleston, S. C.
Baltimore, Md.
Columbus, Ga.
Savannah, Ga.
Montgomery, Ala.
Memphis, Tenn.
Shreveport, La.

INCUBATORS "THE MODEL" Manufactured by Chas. A. Cyphers The acknowledged leading ithority on Incubation. We carry a fll line also of Brooders, Coops, Etc. ur Steinmesch Poultry Feeds are con'ded the finest on the market. They row big chickens and a large percentae of those hatched. White. Washing achines. Spray Pumps save labor an money. Field Fencing, Root Cutters, eeders, Seeds, etc. Everything for Piltrymen.

NEW ORLEANS POULTRY SUPPLY CO.,
R. E. Bruce, Manager. 531 Poydras Street, New Orleans.



TO PRACTICAL FARMERS
THE COLE PLANTERS

HAVE PROVEN
That they are time and money savers.

The Cole Universal Planter No. 7

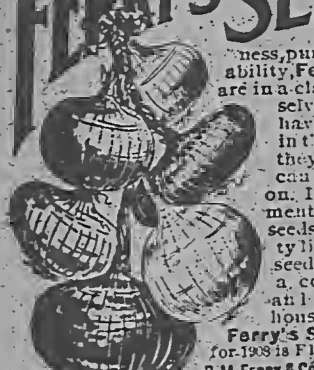
Distributes guano and drills cotton seed at the same time. Drops corn, one grain or more if wanted. Perfect pea planter; fine for peanuts, sorghum, beans, etc.

The guano is mixed with soil and is not in contact with seed. Gives better stands increases the yield, and saves labor. It is simple, practical and easy to run. Over 30,000 farmers are using Cole machines with satisfaction and profit. They will save you much time and money.

"I would not take $150.00 for my Cole Planter if I could not get another."—Edward Scholtz.

Write to-day for illustrated catalogue explaining all about them.

The COLE MANUFACTURING CO.
CHARLOTTE, N. C.



FERRY'S SEEDS

For freshness, purity and reliability, Ferry's Seeds are in a class by themselves. Farmers have confidence in them because they know they can be relied upon. Don't experiment with cheap seeds—your surety lies in buying seeds sent out by a conscientious and trustworthy house.

Ferry's Seed Annual for 1908 is FREE. Address D. M. FERRY & CO., DETROIT, MICH.

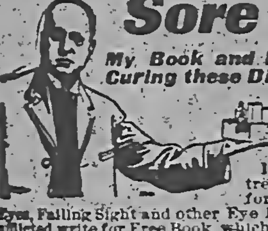
HEISKELL'S OINTMENT

is the one infallible remedy for all skin diseases. Relief is instant. The cure, quick and permanent. It quickly cures the worst case of

ECZEMA

Use Heiskell's Medicated Soap for bathing the affected parts. Heiskell's Blood and Liver Pills tone up the liver, purify the blood. Ointment, 50c a box; Soap, 25c a cake; Pills, 25c a box. Sold by all druggists or sent by mail. Testimonials free.

Johnston, Holloway & Co., 531 Commerce Street, Phila.



Free for Weak Sore Eyes

My Book and Instructions for Curing these Diseases at Home

One Month's Treatment ON TRIAL

I have the greatest treatment in the world for curing Sore Weak Eyes, Failing Sight and other Eye Diseases. If you are afflicted write for Free Book which tells how you can cure yourself at home. Toll me about your case and I will tell you how to get a month's treatment on trial, free of all cost, if it fails to prove satisfactory. Address Dr. W. O. COFFEE, Dept. 240, Nat'l Eye & Ear Inf. Des Moines, Ia

FREE DEAFNESS CURE.

A remarkable offer made by one of the leading ear specialists in this country. Dr. Branaman offers to all applying at once two full months' medicine free to prove his ability to cure permanently Deafness, Head Noises and Catarrh in every stage. Address Dr. G. M. Branaman, 1338 Walnut St., Kansas City, Mo.

BELLS.

Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

Has been used for over SIXTY-FIVE YEARS by MILLIONS of MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. It SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN; CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHŒA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1098. AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.

Southern Pcific Sunset Route

Connections made at New Orleans with all lines to the

North East and Southeast

WRITE FOR INFORMATION:

G. E. GUEDRY, D. P. A.
Lake Charles.
F. E. BATTURS, G. P. A.
New Orleans.

FROM AUCILLA, FLA.

When my physician told me that for health's sake I must seek a warmer and more even climate, Mr. Perritt didn't hesitate any longer, but immediately made arrangements with his presiding elder for a transfer to Florida. But it was a blue day for us, the day we left our native State and looked for the last time, perhaps, on the familiar scenes and faces. We landed in Aucilla, Fla., on Christmas eve night. We were given a cordial welcome. Brother G. C. Mills met us at the train and we spent the night and the next day in his hospitable home. Aucilla is in Jefferson County, Fla., on the Seaboard Air Line Railroad, about one hundred miles west of Jacksonville. We found a nice little parsonage and everything needful for keeping house all in readiness for us. We are serving a kind-hearted and generous people.

Mr. Perritt has made his first round and seems pleased with his work and I am glad, for it was a sacrifice on his part to leave the Mississippi Conference and come here. My heart ached for him when the appointments were read out in that Conference and his name was not called, because I knew it was all for my sake that he was leaving.

Judging from what I have seen, Florida is a beautiful country; begemmed with crystal lakes, embowered in giant and spreading oak and far-famed for health. They say this is the very place for me to get well and strong. I don't know—I hope so.

We visited Tallahassee about two weeks ago to meet our new presiding elder, whom we already admire very much. We spent some time in the city, visted all the principal places, went to all the Churches and visited the cities of the dead. It was an ideal spring day, the sun was shining warm and bright, and the air was ladened with the odor of blooming flowers, and the wind sighed softly through the trees, gently swaying back and forth the beautiful Spanish moss that hangs in two and three yards length, and as I stood that morning and looked I thought that I would like to be living when Jesus comes and to be standing right where I was then and see all those graves burst open and all those people come forth to life. Many of them have been sleeping more than a hundred years.

There are many beautiful things to be seen in Tallahassee. Nature has indeed dealt generously with it. There are all manner of beautiful green trees and blooming flowers, and a soft velvety carpet of grass everywhere. It is the quietest city I ever saw. There seems to be a dreamy stillness over everything which has a charm for me that I cannot express, and as my eyes wandered away from these scenes they rested on the beautiful hills surrounding the city and the words of the song came to me:

"Is not this the land of Beulah,
Blessed, blessed land of light,
Where the flowers bloom forever,
And the sun is always bright?"

And I thought that if God had made this world so beautiful, what must the heavenly world be?

Florida is rightly called the land of flowers, but with all of its beauty it hasn't near the wealth of my dear home-state. The Church is nothing to campare with that of Mississippi either spiritually or financially. There isn't near the rush and push here in anything that there is in Mississippi.

Well, we travel around a great deal and see lots of strange, new and beautiful things, but we are sad sometimes, and no matter what we do, a longing will steal over us to return to our dear homeland. We miss our friends and especially the preachers. We hope they will keep a warm place in their hearts for us, as we will for them, for if the Lord is willing and our purpose in coming here is accomplished we will return sometime.

We are working, praying and trusting for great things. I thought that some of our friends in Mississippi who read the Advocate would like to know how we are getting on, is my excuse for writing.

MRS. H. B. PERRITT.

Aucilla, Fla.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

LA CHUTE AND ATKINS.

Dear Brother Boswell: We have been well received at La Chute and Atkins. Our first Quarterly Conference was held in the first of this month. Brother Warlick was with us and did the work of an elder well. Our people love him and he makes a fine presiding elder. Our stewards made a liberal assessment for pastor. They raised it $200 over last year and fixed it at $1000. We have very few people here, but what we have are the very best. I am going to try to put the Advocate in every home.

Wishing you much success in your work I am, Yours fraternally,

R. O. WIER.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

WOMAN'S FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

To the Members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Mississippi Conference:

Dear Sisters: The Annual Meeting of the W. F. M. S. of the Mississippi Conference will convene in Brookhaven on Wednesday night before the fifth Sunday in March, and adjourn on Sunday night. A month remains to us before the fiscal year closes; and it behooves us to make the most of it in collecting all dues and making good all financial obligations. Let the Pledge Fund, in particular, have careful attention. Only by the full payment of this fund will we be able to meet the salaries of our two missionaries, Janie Watkins and Nell Drake, who are so nobly representing us in China, and to whose support we are pledged. The women of the Mississippi Conference have never failed in meeting their obligations, and while those for the present year are greater than ever before, it only gives us the privilege of doing greater things for our Lord.

Let the auxiliaries elect delegates at once and send names of same to Mrs. Anna Middleton, Brookhaven, Miss.

Brookhaven is preparing to entertain a large number of women, and there will be great disappointment should these fail to show up. This must be our best meeting up to date.

BESSIE W. LIPSCOMB, Pres.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

SALVATION ARMY WORKER

Wife of a Captain in Charge of Army Work at Jonesboro, Ark., Writes Interesting Letter.

HER MOTHER ALSO

Mrs. J. Donaldson, of Jonesboro, Ark., a well-known worker in the Salvation Army, found herself ten years ago in very poor health, as the result of hard work, a weakened constitution and household cares.

In a letter recently written, she tells the story of how, after much suffering, she finally managed to permanently cure herself, at home.

She writes: In 1895 and 1896 I suffered much with ovarian trouble. My limbs would swell, until great ridges would form out over my shoes. I was weak, with scarcely energy enough to do house-work at all.

Having read much of the merits of Wine of Cardui for female complaint, I decided to try it, and after taking two bottles was never troubled again.

During change of life, four years ago, my mother, Mrs. G. W. Wadsworth, nearly died. She had from sixteen to twenty-four cramping or sinking spells during a day and night, and many times we laid her down for dead. At last I persuaded her to take Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, which cured her.

In De Kalb, Ill., a young woman had taken cold and was irregular six months. I recommended Cardui, and after taking three bottles, she was entirely well."

Wine of Cardui is a pure, non-intoxicating medicine for sick women. It has a specific, healing action on the womanly organs, which it builds up, adjusts and restores to health. It relieves womanly pains and regulates womanly functions, and should be taken by all women, especially those who suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to their sex.

Thousands of women have written to testify of its great value in all cases of female weakness and disease.

You need it, dear reader, whether you are young, middle-aged or old—married or single. Get it at the nearest druggist's, in $1 bottles.

If you want Medical Advice, write us freely and frankly, in full confidence, and we will send you the advice you need, in plain sealed envelope. Address: Ladies' Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

FREE We will send you this beautiful Gold Plated Ring absolutely Free if you will send us the names of five of your neighbors and 10c to pay postage, etc. ELKINS MFG. CO., Kansas City, Mo.

CHURCH EXTENSION NOTICE.

The Executive Committee of the Mississippi Conference Church Extension Board is hereby called to meet in Hattiesburg on Tuesday, March 17, 1908, at 10 a. m. All applications to the General Board must come before this Committee. They should be in the hands of our Secretary, Rev. L. E. Alford, Meridian, Miss., early in March. He will furnish blanks on appliaction.

W. B. LEWIS,
Chairman.

General News

Louisiana equally with Mississippi has been visited with heavy rains, and nearly all the rivers are on the rampage. A rise of thirteen to fifteen feet in the Mississippi is predicted, consequent on these rains. Notice has been given to the various Levee Boards to be prepared as far as possible.

* * *

A movement to unite the Protestant Episcopal Church with the Roman Catholic Church has been started in this country by several Episcopal and Roman Catholic priests. This is in sympathy with a similar movement in England, in which country it is claimed to have quite a large following. In England the Episcopal Church is called the Anglican Church. It is very doubtful whether such a movement will receive material support in this country, except from the High Church party, which is but a small proportion of the Episcopal Church.

* * *

Honduras is becoming weary of being a refuge for criminals, and is now negotiating an extradition treaty with the United States. When this is an accomplished fact, Morocco will be about the only country left to which criminals can flee from their crimes.

* * *

The American fleet has passed the Straits of Magellan safely, and at last reports was passing Valparaiso. The torpedo destroyer fleet has also reached the Pacific Ocean, arriving at Port Monte, a Chilian town, about 600 miles south of Valpariaso.

* * *

Mississippi is having more than its share of cyclones. Another has just swept over the southeastern portion of the State, killing three persons and destroying a large amount of property. Three towns have been wrecked, and the floods have rendered the roads almost impassable, and practically stopped farming occupations.

* * *

The financial fight is on in good earnest in Congress. The Aldrich bill is meeting with strong opposition, being characterized by its opponents as not only wrong, but vicious.

* * *

A very important bill has been introduced in the Senate. It provides for a parcels post on rural free delivery lines at very low rates. If it passes it may prove to be the entering wedge for the general parcels post, that is greatly to be desired.

* * *

The treaty signed recently between France, Great Britain, Germany, Russia and Norway, the object of which is to guarantee the independence and territorial integrity of Norway, was made public.

* * *

The press of Spain is occupied with recitals of an alleged divergence of views betwen the governments of France and Spain relative to the inauguration of a more aggressive policy on Morocco.

It is expected that Russia and Great Britain will enter upon an agreement for joint action with regard to the situation in Macedonia and that these two powers will be supported by France and perhaps Italy.

* * *

The report of Admiral Converse on the condition of the ships of the American Navy, states that they are the equals of any in the world. The critics who pointed out defects only had half knowledge, and were not aware of the defects in the ships of the foreign navies. That the designers of our ships tried to avoid the mistakes of others. There is a constant development, and it is not just to compare the ships of one period with those of a subsequent period in any navy.

London is planning a monster indignation meeting to enforce reforms on the Congo. The United States would take some part in the general remonstrances if the way would open to do so without hurting somebodies' feelings.

WALLACE REAL ESTATE CO.,
Wallace, Cal.

Methodist Church, fine climate, land for growing oranges, apples, olives, peaches, figs, prunes, plums, pears, quinces, grapes, small fruits, vegetables, oats, barley and wheat. For sale or rent.

Correspondence solicited.
Wallace Real Estate Co.,
Per Irving Hill.

Personal Paragraph to our Readers:

Every lady reader of this paper ought to be interested in the offer made on this page.

Here is a watch offered just for an effort. Here is a genuine gold-plated watch absolutely given away just for trying for a premium. Look at the picture of the watch, and ask yourself, how can any lady "pass up" this offer when the watch is given just for making an honest effort.

Besides the watch there is a set of dishes. These dishes are not exactly free like the watch—it is a premium that you must earn with only a slight effort. You can earn it by a few hours' work. I know you can easily earn these dishes, and anyway you get the beautiful gold watch free. Send your name and address to-day, either on the coupon, or send your name and address to-day in a letter; but write to-day to Mr. Roberts.

Ladies

Ladies, just write today for this elegant gold-plated watch, a watch that is stem wind and stem set and guaranteed to keep perfect time. You can have this watch just for your effort and promptness in fulfilling the simple conditions of the offer below.

Remember this beautiful watch IS given away—it is sent you free, prepaid, just for your promptness and your effort in our behalf. Our object in giving you the watch is because we want to introduce our firm in your locality, but even if you do not earn the dishes, you can get the watch anyway. So send your name and address to-day. That is all we ask.

We will guarantee this watch to be gold-plated and genuine throughout. We guarantee it to you to be a good time-keeper, more substantial, more durable than many watches sold at high prices. It is only by special arrangement with the manufacturers, who want a few of these great watches introduced at once, that we are enabled to give this splendid gold-plated watch away with our magnificent and superb set of dishes.

This Beautiful Watch Is Free Yes, we mean free! If you send your name and address at once and fulfill these simple conditions of our great offer. Just send your name and address and tell us you want the watch.

An Honest Dinner Set Offer

A Real, high-grade, genuine, gold medal dinner set. Not given away, but easily earned—when we say easily earned, we mean easily earned. We do not intend to give you this genuine gold medal dinner set for nothing. We want some of your time and some of your recommendation and some work from you. We do not want any canvassing nor peddling, but we want your help. We want just five hours' worth of your time, and you can give us your time in the evening, or in any of your spare hours. If you haven't the time yourself, you can have your children help you. In fact, your children can do all the work if you will only show them how.

Then this grand, glorious genuine gold medal dinner set will be yours. It will be sent you absolutely free of charge to you, and you pay absolutely nothing for it. Not one penny of your money will we accept.

We cannot describe the beauty of this genuine gold medal dinner set, with its hansome decorations of Arbutus Blossoms in all their natural colors and its beautiful gold bands. We know that a great many dinner sets have been sold which are not up to expectations, and when we tell you that this is genuine gold medal china it ought to be enough. It ought to convince you that we mean what we say, that our offer is an honest one, and that when you have done the work for us, you will get this dinner set free. This grand dinner set is really worth your while, a dinner set of which you and your family will be proud—for this is not a cheap premium, but just the kind of a dinner set that you would buy at the store for a high price.

There are twenty-five pieces in this beautiful set. It is not as large a set as some people claim to give you, but we know you would rather have fewer dishes of a very higher grade than a lot of poor grade china, and as we do not want to ask too much of your time, and do not want to keep you busy on our little work for more than an evening or two, we are offering this 25-piece set. If you or your children can put in more time, or more work, we will give you larger sets, even a 176 piece set of genuine gold medal china.

But of the china that we do give you, the 25 pieces or more, will be of the highest genuine gold medal grade.

I know you want that kind of china on your table. I want you to have the very best china—the kind of china used in the homes of rich people. I want you to have it and enjoy it, and I want you to picture to yourself how your table will look set with the beautiful, genuine gold medal china. Look closely at this picture of the dishes. See the fine wild rose decorations—a picture can hardly do justice to the set, but you can get a faint idea of the beauty of the dishes by looking at the picture.

See the gold—the rich, deep gold effects—the pure white alabaster quality. All those marks which have distinguished this china won for it the gold medal at the St. Louis World's Fair. This was the only china that won the gold medal at the World's Fair. Even though you become very rich and have the finest kind of house furnishings you will always be proud to entertain your friends with this dinner set. You can truthfully and honestly tell your friends that this is the only china that won the gold medal at the St. Louis Exposition. You can show them the gold medal mark of quality on every set.

Now do you want this dinner set?—this beautiful, genuine, gold medal dinner set, just for a few of your spare hours? Would not your children, or your neighbors or some of the members of your family be willing to help you on the little work we ask? We do not want to delay you one minute. Our offer is limited. Those want to earn the dinner set, should earn it at once.

Just Your Name and Address

Just your name and address on this coupon or on a postal card, or in a letter, will be enough. We will promptly send you the material so that you can earn the beautiful, genuine Gold Medal Dinner Set. If you decide that you cannot do the work, or that your children don't want to, there is no harm done—just return the material, and you will be under no obligations whatever. We do not ask you to sign any order or any contracts. Just your name and address, and we will send you everything prepaid, and it will cost you nothing. "Thinking about it" does not earn you any gold medal dinner set. No harm done if you don't succeed. Send your name and address today. Remember, the gold-plated watch free anyway just for trying. As is fully explained in our circular. So write at once

M. S. ROBERTS
Department 1075
40 Dearborn
Ave.

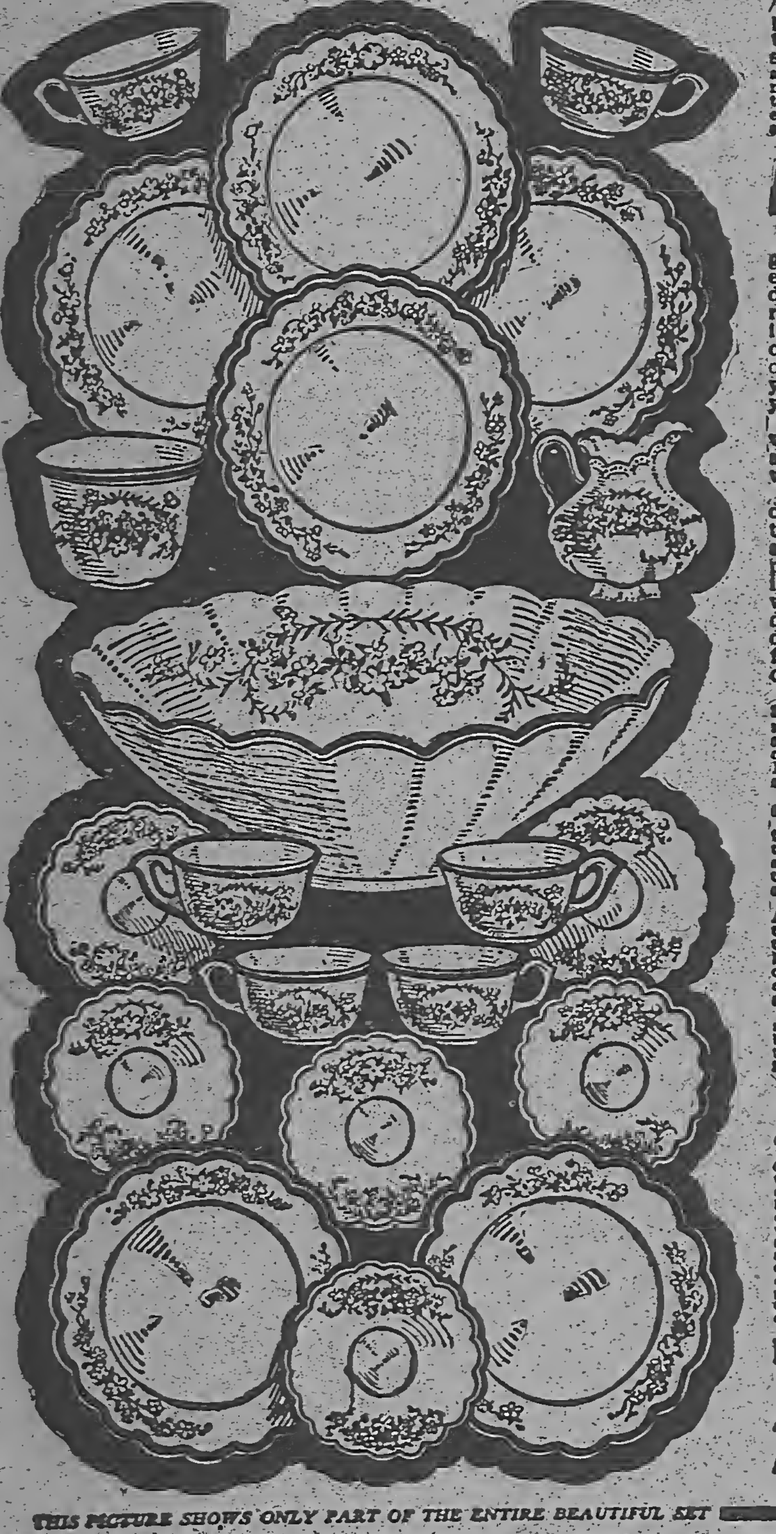
CUT OR TEAR OFF ALONG THIS LINE

M. S. ROBERTS, Dept 1075 40 Dearborn Avenue, CHICAGO.

Name ____________________

Address ____________________

Do not bother with letter. Coupon will do.



THIS PICTURE SHOWS ONLY PART OF THE ENTIRE BEAUTIFUL SET

Professional Card

DR. W. BAILEY WILLIAMS,
Rhea Springs, Tennessee.

Practice limited to Chronic diseases—Dropsy, Asthma, Catarrh, Cancer and disease of women. Removal of cancer without the knife a specialty. Fees in cancer work range from $25.00 to $500.00. Twenty years experience. Reference given. Personal attention to all correspondence. Free service to the regular Ministry.

Agents Wanted to sell REX OILS & REX CHILL TONIC to your neighbors. No traveling salesmen wanted. J. S. BURTON, Medicine Co. Sherman, Texas.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

This handsome 1000 Shot Rifle absolutely free to any boy who will send us 45 cents for one of our Samples, and give us a few hours of his spare time for one week. This Rifle is great for target practice, and is sure death to small game and rats. Address with 45 cents, stamps or money order.
J. D. Mitchelson & Co., Pawpass, Mich.

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Millsaps College Library.

REV. JOHN W. BOSWELL, Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.

NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, MARCH 6, 1908.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher,
Office, 512 Camp St., New Orleans.

VOL. 55—No. 10.

"PROVE ALL THINGS; HOLD FAST THAT WHICH IS GOOD."

WHOLE No. 5389.

Glances at the World.

We noted the fact last week that Mr. Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, had determined "to cool off" before offering to the people any strictures on the labor decisions by the United States Supreme Court, and characterized the determination as wise. But Mr. Gompers did not wait to "cool off," or, if he cooled any, he must have been red hot. In the Federationist, organ of Mr. Gompers' labor unions, over his own signature he attacks the recent decision, and uses language he would not dare to use in the presence of the Court. He says: "In our opinion the Supreme Court, in this and other recent decisions affecting labor, tends to revert to the mediæval procedure rather than to make the application of legal principles to the present industrial situation," and that "it is clear the Supreme Court has not informed itself on modern economics." Verily, the court of last resort must be made up of ignorant and indifferent men.

* * *

Many Mississippi prohibitionists have been greatly disappointed. The lower house of the legislature voted unanimously for statutory prohibtion, and only four votes were cast against it in the senate. The friends of the cause hoped to secure a constitutional amendment by which prohibition would be written into the organic law, but when the matter came to a vote it was defeated, the proposition lacking two votes of a constitutional majority. Some of the members, it is said, declared that "the prohibtionists got what they asked for, and should be satisfied." If they had asked and demanded constitutional prohibition they would have secured it. Now the antis have the advantage of them, and unless the law is rigidly enforced, and produces the good fruit so ardently wished for, they will move for the repeal of the law at the next session of the legislature. It would be well for the people to keep their eyes on the members who voted against the proposed amendment. The liquor men and their supporters are not going to give up the fight until they are thoroughly whipped.

* * *

Young Harry K. Thaw, the millionaire spendthrift and murderer, who occupied the attention of the newspapers more than any one private individual during the past two years, was adjudged insane and acquitted. If reports are true, he now proposes the role of a knave. He has turned against his wife. This young and beautiful woman, for whose sake he killed Standford White, by her testimony saved him from being convicted of murder in the first degree. Having stood by him faithfully through long and weary months, he is going heartlessly to divorce her. It may be that he is really insane. If so, he is not so much to blame as the members of his family, who, at the conclusion of the last trial, severed from the young woman their friendly relations, and will do the chief part in securing the divorce. Indeed, they are going to plead that the marriage is null and void on the ground that Pennsylvania law does not recognize the legality of the marriage of insane persons. It is a shame that some rich and intelligent people will thus outrage modern civilization.

* * *

The following paragraph may be an exaggeration, but hundreds of men have starved in the midst of plenty. We copy: "With thousands of dollars hid away, his granaries filled to the bursting point, and his little dugout house well stocked with smoked hams, preserves, and many other good things to eat, Lewis Sadler, miser and hermit, starved himself into insanity. He is now in the state hospital in Massillon. Yesterday his chattels were sold on his farm near New Buffalo, this county. The story that Sadler had hidden away some $25,000 in gold coin on his farm took hundreds of people to the scene of the auction sale conducted by county officers. Charles Whitmore, of Canfield, purchased a bag of grain, paying for it 10 cents. No one bid against him. He shook the bag and there was a mysterious jingle inside! Hastily it was opened and three glass jars, which were found to contain $2,175 in gold, were discovered. He at once turned the money over to Sadler's guardian, who conducted the sale. This is a part of the hidden fortune. The rest of the money is supposed to be buried some place about the farm, and it may never be found, as there are no hopes of Sadler recovering his mind."

* * *

For weeks past considerable interest has been manifested in this city over certain measures affecting the retail liquor business. It seemed that the reform measures proposed met with hearty approval, and would encounter no difficulty that could not be easily overcome. One measure looked to the stopping of selling liquors to children. Another was a proposition to separate the liquor bar from the retail grocery departments, nearly every grocery having a bar, which is distasteful, and more or less damaging to women and children. These measures had the endorsement of the Retail Grocers' Association, and not a few liquor dealers. Other influential citizens favored them. But they were all killed by the committee having the ordinances in charge. It is thus that the city council, in pandering to the pleas of the liquor sellers is "heaping up wrath against the day of wrath." The decent element of the city, which we are happy to believe is growing stronger all the time, will not always stand the abuses so prevalent in New Orleans. If the city itself will not correct them, the State at large will. The idea that the separation of liquors from a stock of groceries will drive out of business and ruin many retail dealers, especially women, and, therefore, should not be interfered with, is preposterous. It was an excuse, but no reason for the action of the committee.

* * *

A few faddists are attempting to formulate a universal language. It is called Esperanto. We are not acquainted with it, but we gather that it is a patch-work of all other languages. It is not meeting much more encouragement than Mr. Roosevelt's and Mr. Carnegie's "simplified spelling." The people generally who have time to learn but one language, prefer their native tongue. The few who desire to speak several languages, and are more or less acquinted with Greek, Latin, French, German, and other tongues, find it easy to learn and speak Esperanto. A writer in Lippincott's Magazine says: "The rest of the people, comprising probably as much as 90 per cent of the population, have about as much chance with Esperanto as a horse doctor in a garage. In thirty minutes the college professor can learn more about theoretical Esperanto than he can ever find in books about the practical slang that passes current on the lower East Side of New York. And don't forget that this slang is expressive. The inhabitants of the Bowery understand one another. They lose no time in turning beautiful diplomatic phrases. With them expression follows concept, quick as a flash. There is no doubt that Esperanto is an elegant and ingenious contrivance to those who are able to appreciate it, but, after all, its success or failure turns upon the fundamental question whether a language can be fabricated and instituted by statute or otherwise formally, or necessarily confined by its nature to the "jest growed" Topsy class. A little of both, perhaps, with a preponderance in favor of the latter. If Esperanto succeeds in keeping some well-intentioned people out of mischief, it will have served a good purpose."

MASS MEETING OF NEW ORLEANS LAYMEN.

On March 10, at 8 o'clock in the evening, a mass meeting of Methodist laymen will be held at First Church, which has for its object the organizing of the laymen of the district into the Laymen's Missionary Movement. A good programme has been arranged and prominent laymen have been selected to make addresses on important subjects.

Christian Advocate.

[illegible] Mississippi and North [illegible]

DIRECTIONS

[illegible] communications [illegible] New Orleans, [illegible] Business De- [illegible] the Manager of the [illegible] Write with ink, and [illegible] paper. No attention will be [illegible]

[illegible] paper shows the date to [illegible] is as good as a written [illegible] if the date is not moved [illegible] and we will make [illegible] continued unless subscribers order otherwise.

The Foreign Advertising Department of the N. O. Christian Advocate is in the hands of

Religious Press Advertising Syndicate,

JACOBS & CO., CLINTON, S. C.

J. F. Jacobs, Mgr., Home Office, Clinton, S. C.
[illegible] Nashville, Tenn.
[illegible] Louisville, Ky.
[illegible] Richmond, Va.
[illegible] Street, Chicago, Ill.
[illegible] S. C.
[illegible] Dallas, Texas.
[illegible] St., Atlanta, Ga.
Miss M. R. [illegible] 150 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.

CHURCH EXTENSION LOAN FUND DAY.

A STATEMENT AND APPEAL.

General Methodism is bringing to completion more than [illegible] houses of worship every week, and the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is contributing her proportional part toward this achievement. She is awakening to the fact that the spiritual [illegible] must have a material home. He who recognizes the relation of Church Extension to [illegible] other benevolences cannot escape the conviction which compels endeavor in its behalf.

This statement and appeal of the Board of Church Extension of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is sent forth just as it is receiving the last money due on the 25th assessment made upon the Church; and, notwithstanding that its resources were never so large as at the present, yet the Board is embarrassed by calls for aid from every quarter of the Church, to which it is powerless to respond.

We are in the midst of a revival of Church building. The fact that our people are conscious of a need for better material equipment is most significant. A larger service in the conquest of the world for Christ is not possible without [illegible].

Every missionary agency looks for support to the housed congregation, and the life of that congregation depends upon the character of its material home to a degree not usually recognized.

The success of our missionaries on the foreign field is turned into defeat for lack of Church buildings.

The growing cities, as well as the rapidly multiplying industrial centers of the South and Southwest, cry to us for help, and words are not at our command to adequately express the need. Our efforts to evangelize the foreign element, as well as the native-born in the down-town sections, has hitherto produced little result, on account of the lack of Church edifices adapted to this end. The city has become, in a peculiar sense, the frontier. No city, except the heavenly, is safe without a temple.

The foreign population already settled in many sections of our country, must be reached by the gospel, and the man sent to break the Bread of Life to such must have a suitable house in which to preach.

The great west, from Montana to Lower California, is crowded with opportunities for our Methodism, if we but enter the open door with adequate Church equipment. The spiritual harvest everywhere must be garnered.

Church Extension, as an organized department, had its birth in the General Conference held at Nashville, Tenn., in May, 1882, and completed the first fiscal year of its work on March 31, 1883.

March 31, 1908, will witness the close of the 25th year of its history. The first year was one of organization. The first assessment was placed on the Conferences in the fall of 1882, and receipts from same received in 1883.

During the quarter of a century more than two and one-half millions of dollars have been collected and invested in Church buildings through this organization. These figures do not speak of the sentiment created and the inspiration given to Church building by the messages of this department to the Church at large. It is generally accepted that every Church Extension dollar calls forth ten other dollars; and only the accountants of the skies reckon the results of the efforts of these twenty-five years.

We speak the sober truth when we say that the vast majority of Churches now owned by our connection have been erected since organized Church Extension had a place among us.

This will be readily seen from the fact that 50 per cent of our Church buildings of to-day have Church Extension money in them. The statement of this fact alone will be recognized as a sufficient ground for this special appeal.

The constitution from the beginning gave the Board "authority to raise and administer a loan fund, which shall be held separate from funds raised for general distribution, and which shall be used only in loans on adequate security to be determined by the Board."

Believing that "such a fund would be especially useful from the consideration that a large portion of the work we are called upon to do might be accomplished by temporary loans, which, after serving once, come back and then go again, and repeat their work, and continue thus to go and come, reproducing their blessings year after year," the Board at its very first meeting ordered "That of all funds derived from gifts, devices and bequests, 50 per cent shall go into and be a part of the loan fund, unless otherwise directed by the donors." And in addition to this, the Board set apart to the loan fund twenty per cent of the amount received from collections through the Annual Conferences, for the first fiscal year.

About the same time the Centenary Committee took the following action: "Resolved, That the cause of Church Extension be strongly urged upon the attention of our people as a leading object for their contributions in 1884, and that we seek to raise a loan fund of $500,000."

A consideration of these facts must necessarily impress the Church of to-day that the fathers who inaugurated this movement believed strongly in the necessity for a large loan fund capital.

The Church has not yet reached the mark set by the men of 1883. At the close of the last fiscal year (March 31, 1907) the loan fund capital was $238,343.43. This amount is altogether inadequate for the needs of to-day.

After much prayer and thought and exchange of opinion, the Board has decided to inaugurate the beginning of its second quarter of a century's work by calling upon the Church at large for a "thank-offering" of $100,000, to be added to the loan fund capital. We rejoice to be able to state that during the present fiscal year already $24,107.50 of this amount has been obtained in cash or good securities. Will not the entire Church unite with us in an effort to increase this amount to $100,000 by the date fixed for our Annual Meeting?

To this end we have designated Sunday, May 10, 1908, as Loan Fund Day.

This is the Sunday embraced in the dates set apart for the next Annual Meeting of the Board, which is to be held in St. Joseph, Mo., May 6-10, 1908.

We most earnestly appeal to every presiding elder and pastor in our Methodism to present this cause to the congregations on the date fixed, and give the people in every place an opportunity to make an offering for the purpose of increasing the loan fund of your Board of Church Extension. This offering may be in cash, securities, or subscriptions, as the donor may elect.

We most earnestly appeal to every Sunday school superintendent in the entire connection to present this claim to their Sunday schools on May 10, 1908, so that this ever-growing constituency, sharing so largely as it does in the benefits of every Church building, may have an opportunity to contribute to this important interest.

We appeal also to the Epworth Leagues of the Church, and trust that, without exception, they will make contributions for this purpose.

In a word, we pray that every organization within the Church, and every individual member of the Church, will lay to heart this great cause, and make an offering on the date mentioned, or as nearly thereto as possible.

It is not our desire to lay a heavy burden on any Church or individual, nor to interfere in any wise with any collection ordered by the General or Annual Conferences. Of course, it is not designed that this call shall in any way interfere with the present Church Extension assessment.

We simply ask in the interests of the Redeemer's kingdom, that the people be informed of the need and given an opportunity to contribute, and that their contributions be sent to W. F. McMurry, Corresponding Secretary of the Board, at his office, 705 West Chestnut Street, Louisville, Ky., who will receipt for same, and cause the results of this appeal to be published in suitable form.

Our confidence in the merit of this appeal is absolute, and our faith in the Church at large is such that we are willing to abide the results if the leaders of Zion will open the way by providing information for the people, and an opportunity for them to make their contributions.

With grateful hearts for what has already been accomplished, and praying that the God of all grace may abundantly bless and prosper every one of the 1,700,000 of ministers and members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, we are, Your servants for Christ's sake,

Signed: Alpheus W. Wilson, W. W. Duncan, Chas. B. Galloway, Eugene R. Hendrix, Joseph S. Key, Oscar P. Fitzgerald, Henry C. Morrison, Warren A. Candler, E. Embree Hoss, Seth Ward, James Atkins, Walter R. Lambuth, Thos. L. Jefferson, Jno. L. Wheat, Thos. B. Morton, R. B. Gilbert, Presley H. Tapp, T. S. Garrison, T. W. Lewis, M. J. Cofer, Jno. C. Strother, J. M. Henry, Nelson B. Henry, Jno. E. Godbey, N. E. Linebaugh, Henry Trawick, W. J. Johnson, W. J. Young, W. F. McMurry.

Louisville, Ky., March 2, 1908.

MISSIONARY INTEREST AT VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY.

COMMUNICATED

The last monthly Mission Day, observed by the Biblical Department, January 24, was notable for the presence of Drs. W. R. Lambuth and D. L. Anderson, the former senior Missionary secretary of our Church, the latter president of Soo Chow University, Soo Chow, China. Just back from his tour of the globe, on which he has studied at first hand the new opportunities and problems of the Church, Dr. Lambuth gave an interesting account of the work that has been done, and laid before the students the present and future needs of the field. Dr. Anderson told of the revolutionary forces that are stirring the Chinese Empire to the depths, and showed that these forces are traceable to Christianity and Christian education. In the evening a banquet was tendered the visitors by the students of the Biblical Department, the faculty and their families being invited. At the banquet Dr. O. E. Brown presided, and toasts were responded to by Chancellor Kirkland, Drs. Lambuth and Anderson, and several of the students.

The remainder of this article will review briefly a few of the most striking facts brought out in the addresses of the visitors. Dr. Anderson began by saying that, although he had been on the Vanderbilt campus only once before, he felt at home here because half the missionaries of our Church have gone out from Wesley Hall. It may be added parenthetically here, that the same percentage holds true of all the foreign mission fields of our Church. That Vanderbilt has trained only one-twelfth of our preachers, and yet has furnished one-half of all our missionaries, is a fact that speaks eloquently for the missionary and religious spirit that pervades the only institution of our Church which undertakes to give technical training to her young preachers.

Dr. Anderson's stay in America will be brief. He has come for men and money with which to enlarge the usefulness of Soo Chow University. This University has prospered greatly and is recognized as one of the leading institutions of learning in the Chinese Empire. From the day of its opening it has been self-sustaining, having paid all its expenses out of students' fees. This is a remarkable record when we recall that the colleges for men in our own country require endowments. The utmost capacity of the University up to the present year has been two hundred students, and last year one hundred eager men had to be turned away. What institution in America has been blessed with such an overflow of students that fifty percent had to be refused admittance? So profoundly have the foundations of the old order been shaken that these students are not from the lower classes of Chinese society. The best families of the empire are furnishing their quota of earnest students who are begging for an opportunity to secure an education. This year just two hundred and eighteen men can be taken, and between one and two hundred will have to be denied the boon of a Christian education. It is a mistake to suppose that Soo Chow University is in reality but little above the secondary school of our country, for its graduates are the intellectual equals of the graduates of our foremost colleges.

China is much misunderstood by nearly all westerners. We usually think of the Chinese as densely ignorant, whereas there are more scholars in China than in any other country on the globe. There are at least as many books in China as there are in America, and they are of all classes just as with us. From the earliest times the positions of honor and profit in the state have been bestowed on the best educated men, and a thorough system of competitive examinations has been operative all over the empire for the purpose of determining who the best educated men were. While this education has omitted many branches that we consider important, upon it in large measure has rested the foundations of that unchanging civilization which was old when Abraham went out with his bride from Ur of the Chaldees into the land of Canaan.

In many other respects we have underrated the Chinaman. We have imagined him to be a weakling, but in the days before he outgrew his barbarity he was the most dreaded warrior in the world. To-day the strongest men in the world are Chinamen, but the Chinese mind has in some directions so far surpassed ours, that physical force, especially of a warlike nature, is there already regarded with an utter disdain and disgust. The Chinaman has learned so perfectly the great lesson that there is something in the nature of a man that is immeasurably higher than brute force. No self-respecting Chinaman will be a soldier, and in the army none but the lowest rank of soldiers wear that mark of infamy—uniform. The armed forces of the western nations win easy victories over the Chinese, but they regard the fact with no more self-reproach than they would the superior physical powers of wild beasts. They invented the powder that is used against them, but they have gotten beyond expertness in its use. It is a wonderful Providence that allows the Christian workers of this century to carry the gospel to such a people. The noble pioneers have prepared the ground, but the number of the laborers must be increased ten-fold and at once if China is to be saved.

An illustration will suffice to show the great and growing influence of the Christian missionaries. The Anti-Opium League had its rise in Soo Chow and there has its headquarters. "Down with the opium traffic," has been the watchword of the League. The movement has grown until recently the management felt justified in attempting to influence the government directly. Dr. Du Bose, president of the League, and a Presbyterian missionary, wrote to the Viceroy at Nankin, laying the matter before him. Promptly he received an answer, advising him to go before the imperial government at Pekin with his cause, and offering a letter of introduction to the Secretary of State, as we should call him. Dr. Du Bose went. He was cordially received by the State Department, and secured a promise of an earnest consideration of the matter. Hardly had he reached his home when an imperial edict went out into all the provinces of the Chinese Empire, ordering all opium dens to be closed and making the operation of them in the future punishable with severe penalties. Thus the great crime of England in forcing the opium trade on China has been as nearly annulled as is now possible by government action, and it came about through the efforts of missionaries.

Most of us do not have a correct idea of the geographical extent of China. China is larger than the whole of Europe by a territory equal to New England. If all of the territory of the United States and Alaska could be placed on the Chinese Empire, there would be enough of China over to make a Great Britain.

The natural resources of China are so vast as to stagger the imagination. The soil is the richest on the face of the earth; the possibilities in water power are surpassed only by those of Brazil among all the nations of the earth; coal and iron are present in vast quantities. A party of scientists was recently sent out by the German government to report on the amount of coal in China. The commission spent all its time in the careful investigation of one province, and then reported that there is enough coal in that one province to last the world several thousand years at the present rate of consumption. Other provinces are believed to be as rich, and several are known to have more coal than Pennsylvania.

No one can question that the Chinese make good Christians when he hears the story of Chen, who, on joining the Methodist Conference, requested the special privilege of having as his first appointment the circuit which his father was serving during the Boxer movement. Here the father was murdered, being hacked to pieces along with his wife and two daughters. In compliance with his request, Chen was sent to the circuit, and served it two years, trying to win by love those whom ignorant hatred had driven to a mad deed.

It is needless to say that such addresses as Drs. Lambuth and Anderson delivered produced a profound impression on the students of Wesley Hall. They are unanimous in their opinion that no nation has ever in the history of Christendom been so wide open to the gospel as China is now.

X.

Phone Main

ROOMS and BOARD

634 and 638 SOUTH STREET LAFAYETTE SQUARE
CORNER ST. CHARLES ST., NEW ORLEANS.

UNLIMITED MEALS. ALVIN PORTER, Manager.

ESTABLISHED [illegible]

JOHN DAVID BURGHARDT CO.,

THE RELIABLE PLUMBERS and GAS FITTERS.
Agency: Born's Patent Steel Ranges. Hygeia Water Filters.

613-615 Bienville St. Phone Main 2026.
Jobbing and Repair Work a Specialty. New Orleans, La.

ANOTHER "LIGHTNING-BUG" CONVENTION.

Dear Dr. Boswell: It will be remembered by many that a few years ago Dr. G. A. Lofton (a Baptist divine in Tennessee), published a book, "Character Sketches," in which he has a lecture on "The Lightning-bug Convention." It will be remembered that Dr. Lofton describes the lightning-bugs as protesting against the stars ever shining again. They characterized the sun as a nuisance and a humbug, an enemy to the human race, and the sooner obliterated the better for the world. This convention of lightning-bugs appointed a committee to draft some resolutions expressive of the sense of the body. Drastic measures were instituted looking towards the annihilation of the sun and moon and stars. It will be remembered that the chairman of this committee took the very apropos title of "Mr. Fizzlefizz."

History repeats itself! Verily, the "lightning-bugs" have called another convention to devise ways and means to check the fast-growing sentiment in favor of prohibition. If these "lightning-bugs" had any respect for the Word of God, we would feel like saying to them what Gamaliel said to the council who were about to kill Peter and the other apostles: "Refrain from these men and let them alone; for if this counsel or this work be of men it will come to naught; but if it be of God ye cannot overthrow it; lest haply ye be found even to fight against God." Acts v. 38, 39.

In this "convention" it was declared by one famous "bug" that they would rely for their strength on the "moral righteousness of their cause." It is sincerely hoped by all prohibitionists that this will be the thing on which they will rely for their strength. If the "moral righteousness" of the liquor business was all we had to contend with, the victory would already have been won. For, lo! the moral righteousness of the whisky traffic is like the truthfulness of falsehood and the honesty of theft. It is a misnomer! A contradiction! A paradox! A humbug, as well as a "lightning-bug!"

Let all the right-thinking people inform themselves on this question and let us have decided convictions in the matter. The time has come when we must be aggressive in opposing evil.

J. M. Alford.

Baker, La.

FROM REV. G. W. BACHMAN.

Dear Brother Boswell: I always hail the coming of the Advocate with delight and read its contents with great pleasure. I have just read this week's paper with peculiar interest.

The editorial on "Christian Stewardship" is capital. It would be well if it could be read to every congregation or in some way made to reach the thousands that will not see it in the paper.

The reflections of Brother W. B. Lewis on Quarterly Conferences and the presiding eldership are deserving of thoughtful consideration by presiding elders, pastors and people, O, for a returning to the "good old ways." Gilderoy's reminiscences of the preaching power of Rev. Joseph H. Brooks revives within me pleasant memories of five years when he was my truly beloved presiding elder. Our association was close and affectionate, and to me it was of great and abiding benefit.

Of the style and force of his preaching Brother Porter gives a true representation. And Oh! how preachers and people did enjoy it. But if he had heard him as I did on one occasion on "The Work of the Spirit," I think he would say that it "reeled off," for one time. It was a clear, Scriptural, logical and powerful deliverance on the subject.

And that great sermon that he preached at Harmony Camp-Meeting one Sunday morning, in 1870, on the possibility and awful consequences of apostasy, demonstrated the fact that he could preach with ability and effectiveness at least on one doctrine.

The meeting had been lagging from the beginning—Friday night: but little spiritual life was apparent. But that sermon, preached "with the Holy Ghost sent down from heaven" to an immense congregation, alarmed backsliders and sinners and awakened the Church and a great revival began.

Space forbids to mention many other good things appearing from time to time in the ADVOCATE that will do the soul good of any and all who will read and think.

Let us all do what we can to aid the diligent and very competent editor in furnishing suitable matter for the paper, and to induce the people to take and read it.

G. W. BACHMAN.

Winona, Miss.

AN ENCOURAGING LETTER.

My Dear Dr. Boswell: I was glad to have a letter from you—have always had a warm place for you in my heart.

After a good deal of thought about the matter, I have concluded to have a thorough canvass of my membership in the interest of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Of course, I want and will receive no "commission" for myself, but I have secured the services of an estimable widow lady, who is highly respected here. She will begin work next Monday. No doubt she will get a large list. The commission will help her, and she needs it.

God blesses our work here. The Church is moving forward. Enclosed find one dollar for renewal of my own subscription to the ADVOCATE. Cordially your friend and brother,

FELIX R. HILL.

INSTALLATION OF SUNDAY SCHOOL OFFICERS AND TEACHERS.

Some years ago a brother pastor sent me a sample copy of an installation service for the officers and teachers of his Sunday School, and it appeared to have in it a fine means and to give a splendid opportunity to impress on the officers and teachers the sacred importance of the work the Church had committed to them. I know not where the programme came from, as it was a reprint by the local printer, but for bringing together appropriate Scripture and reverent and well arranged programmes of its kind it was well nigh perfect and seemed to have been the work of an expert, and was probably taken from a master's work on Sunday Schools.

Feeling the need of some such programme to impress the importance of their work upon them, the programme was brought before our Sunday School weekly teachers' meeting, and all agreed that it would be a good thing to have and that they were ready to take the vows of fidelity in office, in loyalty and in service. And we wrote the publishing house for a programme and found that they had none. Thereupon we had this one reprinted and set the service for Sunday night, and had it well announced, and a large congregation gathered to see what this new thing should be. So the pastor turned bishop, and the Sunday School officers and teachers—organist included—were ordained deacons and deaconesses and received into full connection. And it is the sense of those participating and of the congregation, as well, that the service was worth while and would yield a fine harvest in Sunday School official fidelity and efficiency. In the "pastor's charge" was an exceptional opportunity to hold up true ideals to all church officials and to let the audience know who were their children's religious teachers and what they stood for, and in the sermon following to discuss at some length the Sunday School work with application to modern progress and local needs.

Why should our pastors be ordained with so reverent a service and under such solemn vows, and our public school teachers selected after such rigid examination and held to such progress in Normal methods, and our Sunday School teachers who embrace in their work the spiritual needs of the preacher and the thorough and progressive preparation of the teachers he picked up anywhere and allowed to do pretty much as they please in the matter of attendance and preparation? Such teachers at best can only be makeshifts and be but a degree better than nothing. This programme tended to make all feel that their place in the Church was a sacred and important one, and we believe that the future will yield a rich harvest from this Sunday night's sowing.

P. O. LOWREY.

Many, La.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Dear Dr. Boswell: Will you kindly say to the North Mississippi Conference that the executive committee of the Board of Missions have appointed Mr. Fletcher Johnson, Tupelo, Miss., to serve as treasurer of the board until we can all meet and elect a permanent successor to Brother Harkey? Brother Johnson is the cashier of the First National Bank, of which Brother Harkey was president. He will continue the same account. The pastors and official boards having funds on hand for foreign or domestic missions will make remittances to him.

He informs me that there is on hand of the Home funds considerably less than enough to make the first quarterly payment. The brethren who are serving these mission charges should have their quarterly stipend promptly and in full. They need it. It is impossible for the board to make the payment unless the pastors collect and remit the Home Mission assessment. Will not the brethren give this immediate attention? The first quarter is due March 10th. Just a little work now on the part of each pastor will relieve the pressure on these good and faithful men serving our missions.

The call from the parent board is just as imperative for money for foreign work. Our Conference is much behind last year: a few pastors have sent in the entire amount of both assessments—some of these from charges where it required much effort. Why not all of us do this right away? W. W. WOOLLARD, Pres.

Water Valley, Miss.

FIRST INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION.

Arrangements for the First International Convention, to be held at Pittsburg, March 10-12, 1908, under the direction of the Young People's Missionary Movement of the United States and Canada, are being rapidly completed. The Home and Foreign Mission Boards and Societies are daily receiving applications for attendance. From the present outlook a full attendance is assured. Already some denominations are asking for more than their apportionment of delegates. The Committee in Pittsburg is making superb arrangements and the result is gratifying.

The presiding officer of the Convention will be Mr. John Willis Baer, president of Occidental College, Los Angeles, Cal., and ex-secretary of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor. The programme promises to be one of the most effective that has been built, and among the participants are Mr. Robert E. Speer, Mr. John R. Mott, Prof. William Douglas Mackenzie, Prof. O. E. Brown, Rev. James I. Vance, Mr. J. E. McAfee and Rev. Lemuel Call Barnes.

This Conference promises to be of great value to the leaders of the young forces in the Church. The making of the Missionary Church of tomorrow will be rendered feasible and easy through the adoption of the plans to be presented and discussed at this Convention.

YOU MAY FIND OTHER COFFEES AS GOOD AS

LUZIANNE

BUT THEY WILL COST YOU TWICE AS MUCH. OTHER COFFEES MAY BE AS LOW IN PRICE, BUT YOU'LL FIND THEM ONLY HALF AS STRONG AND ONE-FOURTH AS GOOD.

LUZZIANNE COFFEE is of perfect purity, flavor, quality, and freshness. It's sold everywhere.

The REILY-TAYLOR COMPANY,
New Orleans.

FROM THE CROWLEY DISTRICT.

In the Crowley District of the Louisiana Conference there are some signs of life. Rev. J. I. Hoffpauir's presence in Abbeville is creating a demand for a $12,000 or $15,000 church. Rev. L. N. Hoffpauir is making preparation to build a new church in Lake Arthur. Rev. J. D. Nesom has a church building enterprise on hand in Sulphur. Rev. S. D. Howard is in need of a larger church at Eunice. Rev. C. A. Battle has reduced the debt on the Jennings Church to $220, and has plans on foot to get rid of this remainder by May 1. Rev. M. Hebert is busy with his enlarged French Mission, much of the work since Conference having been preparatory to evangelistic work later. Last Sunday the Lake Charles Sunday School observed Decision Day with gratifying results. The preachers are all in place, and all are hopeful.

J. M. HENRY.

BUY THE NEW BOOK

HARP OF A THOUSAND STRINGS

contains the immortal burlesques of Rev. Henry Talliaferro Lewis. One Dollar at McKowen and Co., Jackson, La., and W. L. Linfield, Woodville, Miss.

W. F. M. S.

NOTICE.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Louisiana Conference will be held April 1 to 5 in Shreveport. Delegates and visitors will please send their names and the time at which they will arrive to Mrs. J. A. Sewall, Texas Avenue, Shreveport, La. Every Auxiliary is urged to send a delegate.

Mrs. J. B. Cobb, who has just returned from the mission fields, burdened with information about our work and its needs, will be with us.

Miss Daisy Davis, secretary of the Young Peoples' Work, will be present, filled with inspiration from the great missionary meeting in Pittsburg.

Mrs. W. F. Barnum, of Ft. Worth, Texas, who is vice-president of the Western Division, will also be present to take part in the meeting.

We hope to have one of the returned missionaries also. Mrs. Cobb will visit through the Conference two or three weeks before the annual meeting, and Miss Davis will spend the month of April visting through the Conference. Any auxiliary or pastor wishing either or both of these ladies will notify Mrs. Edward Alyis, 5216 Pitt Street, New Orleans, La.

Their traveling expenses will be met by the Woman's Board, but they must be entertained for the day or two that they may be with you. Don't wait too long to write if you do not want to be crowded out.

Announcement will be made later to whom the delegates to Shreveport will send their names. Be sure to get your tickets on the certificate plan.

Mrs. S. A. Montgomery,
Conference President.
Mrs. B. C. English,
Recording Secretary.

W. H. M. S.

Mrs. S. L. Pope wrote an article entitled; "The Relation Between the Home Mission Society and the Pastor's Wife," which was published in the New Orleans Christian Advocate, bearing date Nov. 14, and as I greatly differ with her in some respects, I felt like "speaking up and expressing myself" right away, but duties, which I considered more important, prevented my doing so then. However, dear Editor, if you will allow me a little space, I will do so now.

Sister Pope seems to think that on some charges there is a discord between the pastor's wife and the Woman's Home Mission Society. In fact, this seems to have been the case with her a time or two, for she says, "The Society has always been 'my friend,' and I have certainly tried to add my 'mite' to its welfare, but notwithstanding all, my pot of ointment has sometimes had a fly in it, and occasionally two or three flies." I am sorry to know this. It should not be so; and I cannot see why it is so, for, surely, the Woman's Home Mission Society, whether connectional or simply local, is doing all it can to make the pastor and his family comfortable and happy.

Differences sometimes arise from misunderstandings; and possibly this is the cause of the "flies" in Sister Pope's "pot of ointment;" but whatever the cause, perhaps we can remove it by "speaking the truth in love."

Sister Pope suggests, as a cure, that each member try to imagine herself placed in the same position as the pastor's wife. This is a most excellent suggestion, and vice-versa.

As to building, or remodeling, or adding to a parsonage, I think that those to whom the parsonage belongs are the ones to say how or what should be done. If we will all read section 2 and 3 of chapter 14 in our Discipline, it may give us a clearer idea as to our parsonages. Of course, the pastor's wife's suggestions are always listened to, but I am truly thankful they are not always followed, although it would be better, sometimes, if they were.

Now as to the furnishings. This work is generally given into the hands of the Woman's Home Mission Society, if there is one; if not, the women of the Church, or Churches, as the case may be, voluntarily take it up, and they plan and work through heat and cold until they have quite a nice little sum. Now, whose money is this? If it is theirs, have they not a right to spend it just as they see fit? I think so; and I, for one, do not feel like dictating to them as to how they should spend it. I would not like for them to tell me how I must spend my money. Let us try to live by the golden rule. I might follow their suggestions, and they might follow mine; but it is not their duty to suit my individual tastes any more than their own, because I may be the occupant of that parsonage but a very short time after the articles are purchased, and they will be just as apt to suit the tastes of the next occupant as I would be. For I think that as a rule "two heads are better than one, if one is a * * *." It is true that the Society has a delicacy sometimes about entering an occupied parsonage for the purpose of ascertaining what is needed, so they ask the pastor's wife. Then she should feel perfectly free to say what she thinks is needed, and as a rule the Society will come just as near supplying her wants as their means will allow, for they are just as anxious that the preacher and his family should be comfortably domiciled as the preacher's wife is. We must remember that the parsonages are furnished for the pastor's wives, and not for any particular pastor's wife. If Sister Pope's idea of how the "average pastor's wife" feels, is correct, then I am not an "average pastor's wife," for I feel that I have no more right to say how the Society should use its money than any other member of the Society; and I don't think that it is a good plan, as a rule, to turn money over to the pastor's wife for her to spend on the parsonage as she sees fit, or to make her treasurer of the Society. My reasons for this are too numerous to mention. I have been given money a time or two in this way, but I have taken it very reluctantly, and have always talked it all over with the Society, trying to show them the needs, and get their idea as to what they would like to have in their parsonage. Then when the purchases were made, I would give the Society an itemized account of everything. Not because they would exact it, but because it is right, it is business.

Now, let me add this: If we pastors' wives will try harder to take care of the things in the parsonage, use them, but not abuse them, and then, if possible, when we leave, leave the parsonage and premises clean and in good order. It will be very encouraging to these earnest, faithful women who work hard and often make sacrifices to have their parsonage look just as nice, and be just as comfortable as any other parsonage.

Mrs. J. W. Campbell.

Rolling Fork, Miss.

AN EXPLANATION.

"Rev. W. B. Pinson, who went from the North Mississippi to the White River Conference two years ago, has withdrawn from the ministry and membership of the Church. We have not learned the reason why."

Dr. J. W. Boswell: Dear Brother—Having found the above in the New Orleans Christian Advocate (issue of Jan. 2, 1908), I felt it my duty to make the following correction and explanation. It was only one year ago, and not two, as you have it in your columns. I find in the course of study, prescribed by the College of Bishops of the M. E. Church, South, to be passed by all itinerant preachers before being ordained elders in said Church (I passed this course in 1900-1901-1902-1903) that the doctrine of entire sanctification subsequent to or following regeneration, as a separate or second and distinct experience, is taught in said course. Watson's Institutes, also Binney, Fletcher, Wesley, McTyeire, Pope, Hudson, and others; also in the Discipline and Hymn Books. Yet, finding that the greater part of her membership and ministry absolutely denied the fact of the doctrine and ridiculed the idea of the experience of entire sanctification by faith instantaneously as a second work of the Holy Ghost, and God asking the question, "How can two walk together except they be agreed," I quietly withdrew and connected myself with the Holiness Church of Christ, where I am to preach genuine Wesleyan Methodism as it was taught before her days of apostasy and worldliness.

To all my dear brethren, with whom I labored many years, I extend to you a hand of sympathy and a heart of love. While with you I did my best. When God said "move," I obeyed, and am now abundantly satisfied. I am full of evangelistic and pastoral labors, preaching from two to five times a week. At present I am commissioner of Arkansas Holiness College, and secretary and treasurer of her Board of Trustees. Hence the Lord is keeping me busy. I am determined that the devil will not get any more of my time. Have a praying wife, full of faith and the Holy Ghost, and I have my children in college. I am having the hardest battles of life, but God is giving me victory in it all. I am living in the sunshine of God's love, saved, sanctified and kept by power Divine.

Praying God's richest blessings upon you and yours in him, according to Eph. iii. 14-21.

W. B. Pinson.

Vilonia, Ark.

HIGH GRADE PIANOS
MARSHALL & WENDELL
ESTABLISHED 1836.
A Piano that has been before the public for more than a half-century must possess merit to maintain its popularity. Thousands of them are to-day singing their own praise in the homes of satisfied purchasers.
OUR POPULAR STYLE AT $350
ON EASY PAYMENTS.
Get particulars of our
Six Months Free Trial Plan.
Hakenjos Piano Mfg. Co.,
930 Canal Street
J. BART DAVIS, Mgr. New Orleans

GULFPORT, MISS.
Interesting propositions submitted to parties wanting to buy lots. Write for map to
GEO. L. CARLEY, Gulfport, Miss.

Harness and Saddles
E. G. AWCOCK,
333 BARONNE STREET,
Phone Main 4467. New Orleans, La.
Repairs Neatly and Promptly Done.

A NEWSY LETTER.

During the past three weeks it has been my good fortune to be in many charges in both Conferences in Mississippi. I have seen the preachers entering upon their work, and heard the people talk of the prospects for the new year. We are entering upon a year when preachers and laymen are attempting and hoping great things. The Church is thrilling with quickening life and power.

I fell in with Revs. C. W. Crisler and B. F. Jones at the Edwards House in Jackson, Miss., and inquiring what was meant by such a conjunction of theological planets, learned that the Jackson District Missionary Conference was in session. The excellent programme of this gathering has already appeared in the ADVOCATE. The sessions I was able to attend were both interesting and edifying. Brother Ellis' splendid report and stirring address were full of promise that the work of the Conference evangelist would go beyond the magnificent success of last year. Brother Crisler's paper on the "Layman's Movement" was ordered printed and distributed. Not an unimportant and certainly an enjoyable feature of the occasion was the delightful repast served by the ladies of First Church and Capital Street, in First Church parlors.

The following Sunday I spent with Brother Crossley, at Utica. There are some men who win the heart at sight, and apparently without effort, and Crossley is that sort. He has already stolen the heart of Israel in Utica, and is entering largely upon what promises to be a year of great success. He has in Mr. W. W. Ellis a wide-awake, progressive Sunday school man. If one hangs around Ellis' drug store a bit he'll be sure to have a little card stuck under his nose that he can't keep from reading to save his life, and that leaves him feeling like he'd rather go to Sunday school than a picnic. Ellis has an insatiable hunger for methods, better methods, more successful methods. He reads everything that will put him in the way of them, and what he can't find in books and papers he makes up as he goes along. The Sunday school had determined to raise $50 for missions. This Sunday they had a pig they had been fattening. I dropped a small coin into the slot in Mr. Piggy's back, and thoroughly enjoyed myself. It happened to be hog-killing-day, and the secretary smote piggy with a gavel, and out rolled pennies, nickles, dimes and larger coins—quite a stride towards the $50.

Everybody in that part of Mississippi, and not a few folks in Louisiana, know Dan Kelly. I got off at Bogue Chitto in the rain and felt cold and lonesome until a big, warm hand seized upon my own and I felt like I was at home. Folks go to Church at Bogue Chitto when Dan Kelly preaches. At regular services the house will sometimes hardly hold the crowd. Kelly has revival talents, too. He has conducted some wonderful meetings.

I found Brother Parker entering into his second year at Summit with a fervent spirit. His people are in love with their preacher. One of his Churches sent him up to Conference as handsomely clad as a Bishop could be. Summit charge had a remarkable time last year. A tidal wave of revival fire swept round it. Every Church showed large increases in membership and gains in every line.

After the glorious experiences at Crystal Springs last autumn it was pleasant to be there again. Rev. J. W. Crisler has a strong hold upon the hearts of a loyal people. He is doing a magnificent work there. Under his wise leadership every branch of the Church has grown. The esteem in which he is held appears in the fact that the stewards voluntarily increased the assessment for the pastor's salary $300. A new Church is talked of, and it will not be long until it, too, comes to pass under Brother Crisler's splendid management.

I cannot bring this news-letter to a close without mentioning the work of Prof. Foster in the Crystal Springs Academy and High School. He has filled the town with enthusiasm for education. He is abreast of the times. Flower beds and landscape-gardening furnish the pupils with outdoor work, and in bad weather a well-equipped shop gives occupation indoors during spare moments. The pupils have undertaken the painting and refitting of several rooms, and their work is most creditable. In addition to these things, Prof. Foster has installed a high-class stereoptican and moving picture machine with which he is prepared to give occasional lectures of interest and help in the study of history, literature and several scientific branches. But beneath, behind and beyond all this is the splendid teaching, the enthusiasm for study and the esprit de corps which he and his staff have made the splendid characteristics of the school life of Crystal Springs.

WALTER G. HARBIN.

Greenville, Miss.

RIPLEY, MISS.

Dear Dr. Boswell: The latest revolution of the "great iron wheel" brought us to Ripley, of the Corinth District, North Mississippi Conference. Ripley is located upon something less than "seven hills," and is not distant from the famous pine tree of the hill tops, which designate, by government survey, the highest point in Mississippi. Holly Springs is mentioned as the acme of the situation from New Orleans to Memphis, but Ripley, on the M. J. & K. C., looks down even upon Holly Springs. "Hills and hollers" exist, however, in most States in other respects than in merely the physical topography of the country.

Intellectually, Ripley classes high; also in splendid homes and in people of excellence. "No finer people," said a preacher, and compliments many were heard at the Conference.

The new depot, with electric lights and latest in sidewalks, have not yet appeared upon the scene. The intelligence and wealth to justify such conveniences already are at hand. Meantime lantern dealers prosper, and ointments sell for sprains and bruises.

The Churches are well represented, and the high school academy grades among the best of the State. A long line of worthy pastors and congregations have wrought here as the years have sped by. The new and first-rate parsonage was erected during the pastorate of Rev. J. W. Bell, now of Minter City, and the Church, of earlier origin, was dedicated by Bishop C. B. Galloway. No few of this membership are people of resources and competent unto anything reasonable in religious effort.

Our four Churches out of town are not infantile, but have a history and know the ways of the kingdom. Just now they are investing to improve the houses of worship, and the Ripley congregation anticipates similar work to the amount of several hundred dollars at the earliest possible time.

Our reception was generous and cordial, and the parsonage was in neat and inviting condition. My predecessor here and successor at Grenada, Rev. W. G. Burke, had completed a record of four years, and considerable numbers were added to the Churches. His tall form and quiet methods had grown familiar to all the people, and he and family are kindly mentioned.

Dr. Jno. Y. Murry, often a Conference delegate, and several times at the General Conference, is a leading spirit here in Methodist movements, as is also true of him as a citizen and prominent Mason of the State.

Tippah County, taken as a whole, is more fertile than many other sections of Mississippi, and not a few really elegant homes are seen in passing the highways.

Our line of Stoves, Kitchen Furnishings, and General Household Supplies is full of interest to all Good Housekeepers.

Suppose you take a look at it for yourself—

UNITED HARDWARE CO.,
LIMITED.

GET SOLID PROTECTION AND INSURE WITH
LEON IRWIN & CO.
Fire and Casualty Insurance.
338 GRAVIER STREET. PHONE, MAIN 585

W. W. Carre Co., Ltd,
Manufacturers and Exporters of
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Rev. Ben R. Jaco, the new and youthful presiding elder, has not yet visited in this location of his diocese, but some who know him are pledged for his good qualifications. He is understood to be "whole stock and a yard wide," and already has some reputation for getting down to his work—the "going around" being merely an incidental feature of the procedure.

We really like right well to be at Ripley, and have settled upon the conclusion to remain a year, the Lord so willing. Conditions look inviting for sincere service in the work of the vineyard.

Call up, Doctor, and become acquainted with your native State, and enjoy the high atmosphere and helpful surroundings of the capital of Tippah.

Brother Neblett has been here and pronounced it "Tipper," but with all the brightness of his Vanderbilt polish, and native acuteness, consequent upon his educated Methodist ancestry, he has the name wrong. It is simply Tippah of the hill country of North Mississippi. John the Baptist originated in the hill country of Judea, and no few good people and true—prominent often and cultured—have gone out from Tippah to bless humanity, and a great company remain to push the interests of the country and to keep aloft the banner of the Divine Christ.

Grenada College is doing well (you may tell them Brother Burks, and Ripley are fully represented at that place of learning) and likewise Millsaps College is entitled, of course, to every proper opportunity for sufficient endowment. The "lion's share" no longer goes to the sons of Adam, but a consistent divide is conceded by the Conference college management. A paid agent's full time will bring the equal and much-sought opportunity for further improvements at the College and campus, and the increased patronage and finer advantages which come as a consequence of proper advertising and plenty in money.

A. H. WILLIAMS.

Ripley, Miss.

EVERYONE THAT HAS USED

Vacher-Balm for Catarrh, Colds, or Croup, thinks it the best thing they ever tried. I pay you to give samples of it to your friends, so you can use your spare time to do good, and make money. Write for particulars to E. W. Vacher, New Orleans, La.

FANCY POULTRY, ETC.

Fancy Poultry, Pedigreed Dogs, Cats, Canaries, Parrots, Guinea Pigs, Rabbits, and Pet Stock of every description; Cyphers, Incubators and Feed at Factory prices, may be had by writing to H. W. Blanks & Co., New Orleans, La. Their catalogue sent free. Write to them.

The Home Circle.

THE COMFORTED.

Out of my grief I made a joy,
  Out of my tears a song,
Since sorrow is so hard to bear
  And life is overlong.

And peace I call the joy I made—
  Forgiveness is the song.
One could not have it otherwise
  Since life is overlong.

—Theodosia Garrison.

MY CARELESS GUEST.

It was a genuine and cordial invitation I had sent to my old friend, Mrs. Bancroft, in Montreal, to make me a visit in my home some time during the winter. I had met her for a few hours at a hotel on the St. Lawrence last summer, and had enjoyed so much seeing her again after ten years of separation. She was as bright and vivacious as ever as we sat on the veranda of the hotel telling over our experience and talking about our families and the peculiarities of our children. She was a handsome woman, and she carried herself well, with quite a distinguished and well-bred air. I could see people turn and look after her as she passed, and I knew by their looks that the remarks they were making were complimentary.

She seemed as pleased to meet me again as I was to meet her. We were really sorry that our visit was so short. When I asked her if she could leave her family and come and spend two weeks with me in the winter, she replied, most enthusiastically: "Thank you, indeed I could. Nothing would delight me more. I should love to see your home and your children, while the city itself has many attractions, and I've not been there for years."

"I'll arrange it in some way to leave the children," she added, "though I won't drown them to be rid of them."

"What do you mean?" I said, laughing. "I surely hope you will not have to dispose of them in any such summary fashion."

"The man who cares for our furnace," she replied, "thought I was most fortunate to have a good cook and a good-hearted one. 'You're in luck,' said he, in his strong brogue; 'most ladies has worthless ones, or can't keep any at all—and if ye have children—well, ye may as well drown them to begin with if ye want to keep a cook.'"

Well, it was agreed as we parted that I should write after a while and arrange the time of the visit, and we bade each other good-by with that pleasure to look forward to.

In time the letter was written. My family arrangements were auspicious; Mrs. Bancroft made satisfactory plans for her children and down she came in January to my home. We gave her a warm welcome, although the thermometer was pretty near zero, and we made her happy and comfortable in our guest room and by the open fire in our living room. I had made some plans for her entertainment, although I did not plan to keep her on the go all the time. I had arranged for two luncheons and two dinners, and had thought out whom among my friends I would ask to meet my delightful guest, and I knew several of them would take pleasure in entertaining her. Besides there were art exhibits, musicals and much else which would interest her. The next morning, as I glanced into my guest room at ten o'clock, when my house was in pretty good order, my heart sank within me. Mrs. Bancroft had been unpacking her trunk and had told me a few minutes before this that she would be ready at any time to go out with me. Imagine, then, my astonishment as I glanced about the room to see the bureau literally covered with gloves, veils, boxes, powder puff and many other things; every drawer more or less open, trunk trays on the chairs, a kimona hanging on a gas fixture, and the room in general confusion. Of course, I could say nothing to my guest. With an inward [illegible] smoothed my face and assumed a [illegible] Mrs. Bancroft I would be ready [illegible] go to the art exhibit in a few minutes.

Another surprise awaited me as we stepped out of the house. I could but notice that several buttons were missing on my friend's boots and also from her gloves, that her hair was not in good order, and, when she had removed her wrap before going into the picture gallery, I also noticed that the lace-trimmed waist was much soiled and the lace torn. I was cross with myself for my keen observation, and I determined then and there that I would try to ignore it all, and just enjoy Mrs. Bancroft, introduce her, entertain her as if all the buttons were on and everything about her person and in her room neat and in good condition.

"That is the only way to have a happy visit, and I'm bound to have one," I said to myself, and so I began at once to feel better. I even steeled myself to seem unconscious of any mental criticisms. I met one friend after another, and could see that they noticed just what troubled me.

That evening as we sat in the living room waiting for my husband to come to dinner I could not but think that he would notice all I had seen and be more tried perhaps than I, as he had a wonderful bump of order and always wanted to see women neat in every particular. I went to our room to speak with him a moment just before dinner when instantly he exclaimed: "Has any bad news come to your friend? Is she packing to go home?"

"Why, no. What suggested that to you?" I asked.

"Her room. Just passed it. It looks as if a cyclone had struck it. I thought she must have been packing her trunk."

"No, my dear," I said. "She unpacked it this morning, and has arranged it to suit herself. The cyclone will not pass while she is with us. She likes it."

"Well, what is the matter with her?" he said. "Can't you get her to sew on her shoe buttons and make herself more tidy?"

"I don't see how I can, my dear. I guess we'll have to stand it," and we walked down to dinner.

During all the visit I disciplined myself every day anew. We had two delightful luncheons, two most enjoyable dinners. The guests were bright, congenial, entertaining. Mrs. Bancroft charmed them all by her brilliant conversations, her original ideas and her bright comments on all she saw and enjoyed. Several of my guests were most hospitable in entertaining her, and what their comments were on my guest-room or the personal appearance of Mrs. Bancroft, which was never what it should be, I never knew. They were too well-bred to speak of them to me. But I really suffered all that time, and I

[illegible]

whose [illegible]

[illegible] recorded by the omniscient Holy Spirit of [illegible], that secret [illegible] hid with Christ in God. Then [illegible] the reality of their repentance and [illegible] walk of the [illegible] and to [illegible] thanksgiving, confessions, intercessions, and [illegible] with [illegible] their plans, longings and sacrifices for the [illegible] gospel and [illegible] glory of God [illegible] fenses forgiven by [illegible] which is the result [illegible] will be evidenced [illegible] it in the [illegible] Weekly.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Woman's Board of Home Missions of the M. E. Church, South, will hold its Tenth Annual Session in [illegible] Avenue Church, Louisville, Ky., April 23 [illegible] 1908. The session will open Thursday evening, April 23, with a sermon by Bishop [illegible].

The names of delegates and visitors should be sent promptly to [illegible] 1219 Fourth Avenue, Louisville, Ky. Hospitality will be extended [illegible] to the meeting of the Board.

The Chairman of the Southeastern Passenger Association has announced the usual reduction [illegible] persons [illegible] certificate receipts [illegible] rates are obtained [illegible] will be made in the April [illegible] Our Homes.

Mrs. [illegible], President.
Mrs. [illegible], Recording Sec'y.

SARDIS DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

The Sardis District Conference will convene at Batesville, Miss., May 27, and embrace the fifth Sunday.

W. M. Young.

DOCTOR Tichenor's Antiseptic
ASK ANY ONE WHO HAS EVER USED IT!

NO MORE TIRED FEET

After using

Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic

It promptly and effectively relieves Sore, Chafed Tired, Aching feet.

The soothing coolness felt immediately upon application is indeed grateful—it is not greasy and "feels good on the feet."

Use it tonight—you will be delighted.

All Druggists 25 and 50 cts.

Christian Advocate.

REV. JNO. W. BOSWELL, D.D., Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.
CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TERMS:

One Copy, one year, $2; six months, $1. To Preachers of all Denominations, half-price.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES:

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE—Rev. W. W. Drake, Rev. N. E. Joyner, Rev. J. M. Henry.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. M. L. Burton, Rev. W. H. Lewis, Rev. C. W. Crisler.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, D.D.; Rev. J. T. Murrah, Rev. W. W. Woollard.

EPISCOPAL ADMINISTRATION.

Our Episcopacy seems to be giving certain brethren a great deal of trouble. They find the trouble both in the office and in the manner in which it is administered by "a small per cent of the Episcopal College."

All who are acquainted with the polity of Episcopal Methodism know that the Bishops fix the appointments of the preachers, and are, therefore, legally responsible for them. This, as we see it, is essential to the Itinerant General Superintendency as planned by Mr. Wesley and set forth in the credentials of Dr. Thomas Coke, the first Bishop, or General Superintendent, of Methodism in America. This form of Episcopacy is generally acceptable to our preachers and people. It is only when an administrator undertakes to make the appointments on his own judgment (if he can be credited with judgment), without full information, or in opposition to advice of brethren better informed than himself, that we hear of the "one-man-power," in Methodism.

In order to an intelligent and judicious arrangement of the work and appointment of the preachers, the Bishops must have satisfactory knowledge of the Churches and of the men. This knowledge they have not the time and opportunity to obtain by personal contact with the Churches and the preachers. They could not get it through preachers looking after their own interests, nor through Churches looking after their own welfare. It must come to them through intermediaries, who have both the interest of the Churches and the preachers at heart—the presiding elders—officers such as Mr. Wesley never dreamed of, but the product of a fast growing and wide-spread movement that required special oversight, which Bishops could not render.

In the work of marking out districts and appointing to them sub-superintendents, or presiding elders, as the representatives of the Bishop, it naturally followed that these presiding elders were expected, not only to superintend the work as directed by the law, but also to keep the Bishop informed as to the state and general needs of the Church within his bounds. The information needed includes far more than an account of the growth and spiritual state of the Church and the amount of the collections for the ministry and the various benevolences. Much of the needed information may be brought out in open Conference, and much is; but everyone who has looked into the matter knows that in the character and conduct of some preachers there are things to be considered which would not be advisable or prudent to talk about in public. They are not such things as affect a preacher's character—that is always considered in the open. They are such things as in his own life, or the life of his family, that utterly disqualify him for some places, but do not make against his usefulness in others.

How can a Bishop, who is almost a stranger to an Annual Conference, get all the facts necessary to a proper adjustment of men to places except through presiding elders? What time more convenient for the purpose than at its yearly sessions? And how appropriate to call the presiding elders together for private consultation. This has been the method of proceeding ever since the introduction of presiding elders. It is the rule to-day and has well nigh the force of written law. One who violates the custom runs the risk of working confusion, dissatisfaction and harm. It has never been our fortune to labor as presiding elder under the direction of a Bishop who fixed the appointments without consultation. Generally they followed the advice of the presiding elders. When differences arose, they allowed full discussion, and then decided according to the facts as developed. But we learn through some of our Church papers that "a small per cent" of our present college of Bishops treat their presiding elders with indifference—in some instances ignoring their advice altogether. It is this violation of an honored and invaluable custom that has brought about dissatisfaction with Episcopal administration, and caused some of the brethren to look about for a remedy.

One proposes to curb this autocratic rule by limiting the tenure of office to four or eight years. We fail to see how this would accomplish the purpose without also changing the law making the Bishop responsible for the appointments. Another would have the Annual Conference elect the presiding elders and make consultation with them by the Bishops compulsory. Some extremists would go further and require a majority vote of the presiding elders to fix any appointment. In that case we would have the Annual Conference charged with the responsibility of the appointments—not only relieving the Episcopacy, but absolutely taking from it the function of an arbiter.

Some of our brethren labor under the impression that an elective presiding eldership is an easy thing to obtain, nothing being necessary but to secure a majority of the General Conference to favor such a change. They forget the facts of history. In 1820 the General Conference made the presiding elders elective. At the same Conference Joshua Soule was elected to the Episcopacy, but declined ordination on the ground that the law requiring presiding elders to be elected was unconstitutional and would hamper him in the administration of the office. Bishop McKendree joined him in the opinion, whereupon the law was suspended for the ensuing four years, and in 1824 was repealed. What was a violation of the constitution in 1820 is a violation to-day. To secure the end desired, if presiding elders must be elected by the Annual Conference, the proposition must take the Disciplinary course, which is long and tedious; and, as we believe, not demanded by the requisite majority to effect the innovation.

CHURCH EXTENSION.

Nothing before the people called Methodists is more intensely practical in its purposes and results than the Church Extension Board. Its work is sooner seen and stands out more clearly than the work of the missionary evangelist. It is hardly through sowing before the harvest begins to appear. Dr. McMurry to-day calls for contributions to build a Church in a weak and sparsely settled country, and in a little while the building is up and the people worshiping in it. But for such help years would elapse before the people could realize their hopes. In many instances the hope of a Church long deferred made the hearts of the people sick and they died without the sight.

As pastor and presiding elder we have been compelled to use private houses and public school buildings to shelter our congregations in winter, and brush arbors to protect them in summer. For lack of means the people used these places for worship many years. But for the Church Extension Society they would have been in them yet, or would have been disbanded. A Church, like a family, is never safe without a home of its own. To give each Church a home is the purpose of the Church Extension Board. How successfully it is accomplishing its purpose the figures amply testify.

But how slow the people have been to recognize the worth of this younger sister of the Mission Board! Many have not yet learned—possibly because they have never stood in need of such help as the Society renders. When all the Churches and preachers fully realize its worth—how necessary it is to the prosperity of our Zion—the Church Extension collection will not be the last taken up, or compelled to put up with what is left after paying all other claims. It will stand on its merits, and its calls be responded to accordingly. Every Methodist should be fully acquainted with its methods of operation.

In this connection it may be well to call attention to "a custom of long standing" which hampers the Board in its work. We allude to the custom of preachers and Conference treasurers holding the amount collected for Church Extension until the meeting of the Annual Conference. How this custom hampers the reader will readily see by considering one single paragraph in the appeal Dr. McMurry will make to the Church. He says: "We are now approaching the Annual Meeting, which will be held at St. Joseph, Mo., May 6-10. As soon as the grants are made the Churches will begin to demand the money, and we cannot pay a dollar until the money is received from the assessment now upon the Church." The importance of sending the amount due the General Boards as soon as collected is apparent.

Let every reader of the ADVOCATE be on the look-out for Dr. McMurry's appeal and give it a thorough study.

PERSONALS.

The City Board of Home Missions in New Orleans held its Annual Meeting Feb. 29, and discussed the Deaconess Work, the Immigrant Question, the Problem of Prison Reform and kindred subjects. A full report will appear.

Bishop Duncan, who has had a severe spell of sickness recently, and reported to be in a critical condition at last account was very much better. We trust he may entirely recover. Let the Church everywhere make prayer in his behalf.

Rev. W. G. Harbin, we learn, will begin a meeting with Rev. E. W. Tinnin in Hammond, La., the third Sunday in this month. We learn also that Brother Tinnin is endeavoring to secure the services of Senator Tillman for a lecture.

We hereby thank Rev. E. R. Countiss, Secretary and Editor, for a copy of the North Mississippi Conference Minutes for 1907. Brother Countiss mailed us a bundle of five copies several weeks ago, but up to this writing the bundle has not come to hand.

On Tuesday night, March 10, Rev. Hamilton R. Singleton, of Alexandria, La., will deliver his delightful lecture, "Wedding Bells," in the College Hall at Verda, La. The lecture is for the benefit of the new Verda Methodist Church. All who know Brother Singleton know what a treat he has in store for the Verda people.

We regret to learn of the serious illness of Rev. T. M. Bradley, who is being treated at St. Joseph's Hospital, Memphis, Tenn., for appendicitis. A note from his brother, Rev. O. W. Bradley, assures us that the patient is receiving the best of attention, and it is hoped that Brother Bradley's recovery will be a matter of a few days.

Rev. W. T. Woodward has organized a Sabbath School with twenty-two members at New Salem, and an Epworth League with twenty-eight members at Haynesville. This League has ordered a good library, and is planning to have Dr. J. H. Riggan, of Mosspoint, Ark., deliver his lecture on Methodism the third Sabbath in March.

The increase in the assessments for salaries on the Corinth District will reach about $1,000. The actual payments are coming up very well. Five preachers in the district are raising money to build parsonages. This district is looking after the interests of the ADVOCATE, and the presiding elder, Rev. Ben P. Jaco, is preaching to fine audiences as he makes his rounds.

Rev. W. B. Pinson, writing to us from Viloma, Ark., informs us that he left our Church because the belief and practice of our preachers do not accord with our doctrines as set forth in the standards. He has gone where the profession and the standards agree, as he thinks, and has become one of the teachers and leaders. Brother Pinson was a useful man among us. We trust that usefulness will be maintained.

We have received an invitation from Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. Stewart, to be present at the wedding of their daughter, Ada May, to Rev. Geo. D. Parker on the 10th of March. Both parties are missionaries to Brazil, home for a vacation. They will be married in Wittacoochie, Ga., the home of the bride's parents. The ADVOCATE prays a large blessing upon this couple, and that they may be wonderfully used of the Master for the uplift of Brazil.

The General Board of Education of the M. E. Church, South, will meet in annual session in Atlanta, Ga., at 9 a.m., Tuesday, May 19, 1908. In connection with the meeting there will be held an educational convention, beginning on the evening of May 19, and ending on the evening of May 21. The programme, which is now being prepared, will be given to the Church in a few days, together with information relating to representation, transportation and entertainment.

Rev. Roland P. Orne writes: "On the first Sunday of this month Brother N. E. Joyner was with me at Verda, La., where we organized a new church with twelve members. We had a glorious day of it. I have had four accessions since, and we have a fine Sunday School and Epworth League. The good people there are building a fine house of worship that will cost $2500 when complete. The people all over the charge have received me with open arms, and, together, we will press on to a glorious victory."

Rev. J. M. Weems, of Zwolle, La., has been sick for about six weeks, but we rejoice to learn that he will be in his pulpit in a short time again. He has had a severe attack of pneumonia.

Rev. S. M. Thames, presiding elder of the Durant District, reports that Rev. W. M. Johnson, his predecessor, left the district in fine shape. Brother Johnson is doing a notable work at Pickens as pastor. His charge is making progress on all lines, and already has the Foreign and Domestic Mission money ready for the Treasurer.

SIGNS OF PROMISE.

The Sunday school of First Church, Jackson, gives $100 to the Endowment Fund of Millsaps College. That puts two, Oxford and First Church, Jackson, in class No. 1. Let other Sunday schools report. Since Conference I have visited Capital Street, Rankin Street, Madison, Pocahuntas, Flora, Sidon, Tehula, Columbia, Sturges, Columbus, Houston, Tupelo and Guntown.

T. W. LEWIS.

Jackson, Miss.

A GREAT LIFE.

One of the most magnificent figures that ever beautified the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has recently stepped out from life to the glory land of God. Mrs. Henrietta C. Pharr was distinctly great. She was a perfect wife and mother and home-maker. She was a beautiful Christian, a changeless friend, a philanthropist, a patriot. She loved as Christ loved; she gave her heart to the people in royal service, in unselfish devotion. It is not difficult for a poor woman, with unlovely surroundings, to enter the field of public work, for it means all gain to her. It requires the spirit of self-sacrifice for one in the midst of affluence, and with love glowing like a star about her, to give herself that humanity may be lifted. But that is what Mrs. Pharr did. She lived in a mansion on Berwick Bay, just where the dreamy Atchafalaya, after passing through the romantic Teche country, turns its face toward the Gulf.

MRS. H. C. PHARR.

That was at Fairview Plantation, which joins its rich acres to others, hundreds upon hundreds, stretching their fields of sugar-cane along the level lines of the Southern Pacific in the State of Louisiana. Mrs. Pharr had everything to make her life complete—wealth, a noble husband, three ideal sons and a host of friends. She was queen in her realm. Her first eminent accomplishment was the building up of Protestantism in St. Mary Parish, erecting Churches, establishing Sunday schools, supporting the ministry. Then came the call to the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which she gladly entered and consecrated to it her best—her brain, her energy, her means. The boys were at college, and her husband was deeply engrossed in caring for his estates; so, no one was neglected. In those splendid days Mrs. Pharr called one speaker after another into southern Louisiana to lecture and organize for the W. C. T. U. She went with them from town to town, from village to village, from country place to country place, sharing every hardship, bearing every burden, rejoicing in every victory, and expending upon the cause the most lavish amount of money known in the annals of our work, except that given by Lady Henry Somerset. This wonderful service to her State was continued until sorrow and broken health came to the great heart at Fairview. Her husband, Capt. John N. Pharr, was as deeply devoted to Christianity and the temperance movement as was his famous wife. We can never forget the striking personality he presented while making his notable campaign for the governorship of Louisiana. On every occasion, whether at a banquet, or upon the streets, or addressing the multitudes, he wore the white ribbon badge of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. His death came as a distinct loss, not only to his family and to his friends, but to that larger world known as our country.

FROM ROYAL GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR
ROYAL
Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

Mrs. Pharr had a superbly handsome appearance. She was usually elegantly attired and carried herself with all the grace and distinction of a princess. The sweet old years that were made holy and beautiful because she lived in them and worked shall not have the gates closed upon them. They shall stand ajar, and through them the radiance of our comrade's life shall shine like sunlight, that those of us who stand in the shadows may see and walk and climb toward God.

BELLE KEARNEY.

UNION CHURCH DEMOLISHED.

My Dear Brethren: Our church building at Union Church, Miss., was completely demolished by the hurricane on Jan. 31, 1908. A number of other houses were destroyed. Some families were left without homes. It would be impossible to describe the scene after the destruction. Our Church membership is very small, and at least two-thirds of them are women and children. The pastor and members of the Presbyterian Church have very kindly and cordially given us the use of their church until we can build again. For this we are very greatful, but we must build again as soon as possible. We need help to do this. Will not our liberal-hearted laymen, as well as our faithful members of the ministry, come to our assistance and lend us a helping hand in this time of need? Any amount will be gratefully received and due credit given.

Send by registered letter to

R. A. SIBLEY, JR., Caseyville, Miss.

A CALL.

The Woman's Home Mission Society, Louisiana Conference, will hold its Sixteenth Annual Session in Minden, La., March 28-31. The session will open Saturday, at 9:30 a.m., in the Methodist Church, and close the following Tuesday evening. The names of delegates and visitors should be sent promptly to Mrs. J. R. Miller, Minden, La. Please secure certificates that fare is paid when purchasing railroad tickets. All ministers are cordially invited to attend the meeting.

MRS. E. R. KENNEDY, President.
MRS. CROW GIRARD, Cor. Sec'y.

NOTICE.

The Annual Meeting of the City Home Mission Board, of New Orleans, will be held at Second Church on Saturday, Feb. 29. Miss Belle Bennet is expected to be there with others of the official members of the Home Mission Society.

Fruit
Scarce and High
JELL-O
Very Economical
Has the Flavor of the Fruit
10c. package
All grocers

Obituaries.

Obituaries not over two hundred words in length will be published free of charge. All over two hundred words will be charged at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and send the amount necessary with the obituary That will save trouble all around.

Judge THOMAS PARK BELL was born in Anson County, North Carolina, Dec. 6, 1835, and departed this life at his home in DeKalb, Kemper County, Miss., on Monday morning at 12:20, Dec. 9, 1907. Surrounded by his family he breathed his last, and the tired, suffering spirit took its flight heavenward to receive a crown of rejoicing in that place where there is no more pain, nor suffering, nor death, and where God, with his own soft hand, will wipe all tears away. Brother Bell was married twice—first to Miss Amelia Eiland, daughter of Dr. O. G. Eiland, of Winston county, Miss. God blessed this union with two sons, S. O. Bell, now chancery clerk of Kemper County, and Dr. C. T. Bell, a practicing physician in DeKalb. He was married the second time in Meridian, Miss., by Rev. S. N. Cox to Mrs. M. E. Coleman, widow of Rev. A. J. Coleman, late of the Alabama Conference, and daughter of L. N. McLendon, of Kemper County, Miss., who, with five sisters and two sons, survive him. Judge Bell was one of the oldest and most distinguished members of the bar of East Mississippi. He was admitted to the bar before he was twenty, and was elected probate Judge of Kemper County before he attained his majority, and for a number of years he was judge of the court district in which DeKalb at that time was the center. He was a lawyer and pleader of great force, a jurist whose record on the bench was clean and whose garments never trailed in the dust of commercial taint. During the days of his mental and physical vigor he was perhaps as widely known and as much honored as any lawyer at the bar of Mississippi. He was a brave soldier of the Confederacy: He enlisted in Captain J. W. Carter's Company, "the Kemper Legion"; was second lieutenant in Company C, Thirteenth Mississippi Regiment, and in a very short while he was appointed aid-de-camp to General Barksdale. During this struggle between the States he was one of the South's patriots, taking part in several of the most bitterly-fought actions of that terrible conflict. He was a Methodist from conviction, having joined the Church of his choice in early childhood. He lived a faithful soldier of the cross of Christ until the day of his death. He was a man who felt that the call of his Church was the call of God, and whatever duties the Church put upon him he did, representing his Church as steward, trustee, delegate to District and Annual Conferences for more than twenty-five years. He was a constant reader of both the Nashville and New Orleans Advocates. His brother-in-law, Rev. O. P. Thomas, of Terrell, Tex., writes: "Judge Bell was truly a noble specimen of true manhood. My acquaintance with him ran through nearly fifty years. To me he seemed truly a brother beloved. In all of my association with him I never saw anything but goodness of life and nobility of soul. He wrought well while living, and now that he is gone he will be greatly missed both in State and Church. I am sure his transition from this to the life beyond was glorious." It was my happy privilege to be his pastor for four years during the latter part of his active life. His humbleness of spirit, nobility of soul, firmness of character and godly advice were quite an inspiration. His place in the Church was never vacant. During the last two years of his life he was a great sufferer; but he never murmured or complained, but, resigning himself into the hands of God, he waited patiently for the end. Though weak in body, his faith was strong. Brother Bell loved and served with tenderness those who were bound to him by ties of affliction. He was, all in all, a great American, a great soldier, a great lawyer, and a true Christian. May God's infinite goodness to his creatures pour balm into the wounded souls of the loving ones so sadly stricken by his loss.

B. W. LEWIS.

Mrs. MARGARET J. MATTHEWS was born in Copiah County, Miss., May 7, 1837, and died in Crystal Springs, Miss., Jan. 23, 1908, of blood poisoning, induced by cutting her finger with a pecan shell. She was the daughter of M. W. and Laura Eagan, a leading family of Copiah County. Sister Matthews was married three times, and three times left a widow. She married first John Cook, by whom she had four children—Ed. E. and John, of Crystal Springs; W. K., of Prentiss, Okla., and Mrs. Mary Cook Sterling, of Memphis, Tenn. Her second husband was Josiah Sterling, by whom she had one daughter, Mrs. Clara Belle Bucklin, of Jennings, La. All the children are grown and living. By her last husband, S. Matthews, she had no children. For many years succeeding her first two marriages she resided in Hinds County within a few miles of Utica. When a widow the second time she removed to Crystal Springs, where she lived the remainder of her life, among many friends, and with an unmarried son. Sister Matthews gave her heart to God and joined the Methodist Church early in life, living a consistent Christian, and was ready for the summons. She was a member of the Crystal Springs Church, and attended upon its services as devotedly as her health and strength would permit. She was not strong, nor in the best of health, but, as much as she could, did her duty patiently and faithfully. We feel her loss very much, and shall miss her greatly, but bow submissively to the will of him who doeth all things well, believing that we shall see her again. May the God of all comfort keep the loved ones left behind against that day, and for that glorious meeting beyond the skies!

JOHN W. CRISLER.

W. P. HEMPHILL was born Sept. 9, 1860, in Yorkville, Pickens County, Ala. In 1880, while strong in body and mind, with a large fund of natural resources at his command and buoyant with hope of a long and useful life, at Paynes Chapel Camp-Meeting he was apprehended of the Lord, experienced the new birth and joined the M. E. Church, South. Here he lived and labored in the name of the Lord until Jan. 23, 1908, when the Master said it is enough, come up higher. Surrounded by his wife and children, aged parents, friends and relatives, in his home in Webster County, Miss., he passed to his last reward. Billy Hemphill had been a member of the board of stewards for a long time, and was faithful in the discharge of all his duties, a lover of the Church and a warm personal friend of all his pastors. Upon whose shoulders will the falling mantle rest? The large concourse of citizens (many colored) from far and near attest his real character and worth in his community. After a sermon by the writer on the Christian's hope, he was buried from Spring Hill Church by the Masons, and will there await the resurrection. In the faith of Christ he triumphed in life and death. Our entire circuit will miss him. May God help us all to study and emulate his virtues. May his spirit nourish and keep the bereaved.

H. C. EDMONDSON.

✓

Mrs. LOUISA AMANDA GUICE, daughter of Samuel and Delila Guice, was born in Franklin County, Miss., Oct. 25, 1820. She was married to William Freeman Nov. 24, 1836. Five children sealed this marriage; three of whom, with her husband, preceded her to the home of the soul. Her second marriage was to G. A. B. Guice, on December 25, 1851. Four children blessed this union, three of whom, Rev. G. A. Guice, Rev. D. F. Guice and Mrs. J. S. Costley, remain to cheer and comfort the aged father, as he passes through the valley of his great sorrow. Sister Guice was converted and joined the Church at old Mt. Carmel when only twelve years of age. She was true to this profession all her life. It was exemplified in her devotion to her daily duties. The results of her fidelity are seen in the beautiful Christian character of her children, two of whom are ministers of the gospel. Her life was positive, her thought and speech independent. She was loyal to her friends, her family, her Church and her Lord. She fell quietly to sleep in Jesus at her residence near Meadville, Miss., August 14, 1907, coming to her "grave in a full age, like as a shock of corn cometh in his season." Her end was peaceful, her victory triumphant in the Lord.

B. F. JONES.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Whereas the heavenly Father saw fit, on the 17th day of December, 1907, to remove from our midst our friend and fellow Sunday school pupil, POWHATEN CROCKETT, be it, therefore,

Resolved, by Tyro Methodist Sunday school, first: That while we bow in humble submission to the will of God, knowing that "he doeth all things well," we deplore the death of this exemplary young man, and shall greatly miss him from the Sunday school, where he was always present, and from the community, where he was held in high esteem by all, and that we commend his example of noble young manhood to all young men as worthy of emulation. Second: That we hereby assure the sorrowing family of our sympathy, commending them, in our prayers, to the Father in whom alone is comfort for the sorrowing. Third: That a copy of these resolutions be placed upon the records of our Sunday school, and a copy be furnished the New Orleans Christian Advocate for publication in its columns.

THE TYRO METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL. Wm. Carter, Supt.

MONINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

$100 MAKES YOU A BOOKKEEPER OR STENOGRAPHER; It pays board, tuition, and stationery. POSITIONS.

WALDEN'S BUSINESS COLLEGE
Lake Charles, La. A select school of highest character. No better courses anywhere at any price. Only 25 scholarships at reduced rates. Free penmanship course. A delightful winter resort. Write to-day to
L. R. WALDEN, President.

WALLACE REAL ESTATE CO.,
Wallace, Cal.

Methodist Church, fine climate, land for growing oranges, apples, olives, peaches, figs, prunes, plums, pears, quinces, grapes, small fruits, vegetables, oats, barley and wheat. For sale or rent.
Correspondence solicited.
Wallace Real Estate Co.,
Per Irving Hill.

Aches

Are in the nerves—all feeling is. Headache, toothache, neuralgia, sciatica, rheumatic pains, backache, etc.—they're all there, but in different parts. It's nerve irritation. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve nerve irritation, and pain subsides. They do not derange the stomach, or leave disagreeable after-effects. Your druggist can tell you that many use them, and would not be without them.

"I take Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for headache, neuralgia, stomach ache and pains of any nature. The best medicine."
MISS [illegible], Macon, Ga.
If they fail to help, your druggist will refund the money on first package.
25 doses, 25 cents. Never sold in bulk.
MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

HIS CHANCE IS GONE YOUR CHANCE IS HERE

The question is, are you qualified to hold a responsible position? Have you had a thorough commercial training? Bankers, Merchants and Manufacturers want you if you are competent. Now Is Your Chance. Two roads are open to young people. One requires no training and leads to failure. The other requires training and leads to success. We prepare young men and women and start them on the road to success by securing them high-salaried positions. Fine climate, board cheap. Write for illustrated catalog and further information.
HATTIESBURG BUSINESS COLLEGE, HATTIESBURG, MISS.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL
The Double Track Route.

26 Hours to Chicago
21 Hours to St. Louis
22 Hours to Loisville
26 Hours to Cincinnati

Through Sleeping Cars to above points. Dining Cars, Library Cars, Chair Cars and Coaches.

Full Particulars at
City Ticket Office,
141 ST. CHARLES STREET.
Phone Main 2618

NEW YORK
CINCINNATI
ST. LOUIS
QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE
MERIDIAN
NEW
THROUGH SLEEPING CARS
All Meals in DINING CARS
TICKET OFFICE
211 ST. CHARLES ST

Free Catarrh Remedy.

Dr. Blosser Offers to Mail Free a Trial Package of His Remedy.

This remedy was discovered thirty-three years ago by Dr. Blosser, and used with such success in his practice that he was influenced to make it known to the world. His business now occupies a large four-story building, and over one hundred people are employed in preparing and sending it out to patients, and all this great business is secured simply by giving the sufferers a free trial and allowing them to judge for themselves before buying it.

Dr. Blosser's Remedy reaches and drives out catarrh where liquids, sprays, douches, salves and medicated creams cannot possibly be applied. It "opens up" and clears out the head, nose and throat, stops the hawking and spitting and nose blowing, relieves the headache, head noises, deafness, sore throat, etc.

Send a postal card (or letter) at once to Dr. J. W. Blosser, 204 Walton St., Atlanta, Ga., if you wish to receive the free package and an illustrated booklet.

Epworth League

TOPIC FOR MARCH 8, 1908.

Some of Jesus' Teachings Concerning Prayer. III. Forgiveness. Luke xi, 1-4; xvii, 1-10; Ps. xxvi.

1. It is the fashion to speak of the Apostles of Jesus as ignorant men because they did not have all the advantages that the schools of that day could give them. But these men for three years walked with the greatest man that ever trod the earth, and he gave the most of this time to training the twelve men. Many things that he said, and many of his miracles take on new meaning when studied in their relation to the apostles. If we can bring ourselves into the atmosphere in which they walked, these studies of prayer from the life of Christ will be most helpful.

In all the Master's teachings concerning prayer he was never more emphatic than in the thought of this lesson. If you do not forgive men their sins, neither will your Father in heaven forgive you your sins.

2. All men need to pray for mercy. It is the only hope for men.

All men have sinned and come short of the glory of God. If you will search your Bible you will find this thought running all through. When you turn from your Bible and begin to study the lives of men, you will find evil on every side—you do not know any flawless man. The newspapers are a daily record of the sins and follies of men. As you study your own heart, you see abundant fault. It is evident that you need mercy, and you do not need to be told. In fact, your own needs are so manifest that you are scarcely willing to admit that any one else escapes any of your own faults. There are no lives that are without the violation of law. There are many who live without conscious violation of law from day to day; but even in the very best of those who are walking closest to the King, through ignorance and weakness, there are faults that need the mercy of God. Mark you, ignorance of the law will not exempt you from its penalties in the courts of men. Before the Father's throne it will take the blood of Jesus to wash out the sins of ignorance. But great as your need for mercy may be, you must ask for it if you are to obtain it. Lowell wrote:

"'Tis heaven alone is given away,
'Tis only God may be had for the asking."

But the asking is essential if mercy is to be obtained in your life. If you desire mercy you will ask for it. No man seeks for mercy who is not conscious of sin; but he who sees sin in his own soul and fears the overhanging wrath of God will cry for help.

3. Your mercy to man made the measure of God's mercy to you.

The blood of Christ can save all who come, but it will not avail unless you forgive men. This is not unreasonable when you consider how little in comparison you have to forgive. Have men been ungrateful to you? You have shown little appreciation of the blessings that you have received. Have men robbed you? You have robbed God of means, of time, of love, and of obedience. Have men injured you? Because of your sins, as for any other person that ever lived, Christ died. Your offences have run through all your life.

4. The mercy that some men pray for.

The man who never forgives a wrong prays that his soul shall be cast into the fires of hell; that there shall be no mercy for him. His case is already settled. The man who forgives, but reminds you occasionally that he does not forget, prays that God will write his sins in letters of scarlet, and keep them before him through all eternity. There would be no escape from the shame of his wrong doing. This sort of mercy would plague forever. The man who forgives, but declares he will have nothing more to do with the one that wronged him, prays that he may be suspended over the abyss between heaven and hell. There would be no place for a man in hell whose sins were forgiven; but if God were to have nothing more to do with him there would be no room for him in heaven. The man who forgives in that sort of style really prays that he may have fellowship neither with the lost nor the redeemed. But he who, from his heart, forgives those that wrong him prays that he may obtain the fulness of divine mercy and dwell with the All Merciful forever.

A FEW SUGGESTIONS.

Which is the "penitential psalm?"

Where did Christ speak of forgiving seventy times seven, and what did he mean by it?

"In the parable of the unmerciful servant his lord forgave him all his debt, but after he refuses to forgive his fellow-servant he was cast into prison till he should pay the uttermost farthing. What application does this passage have to sins forgiven in your past, if you refuse to forgive today?"

Agents Wanted to sell REX OILS & REX CHILL TONIC to your neighbors. No traveling salesmen wanted. J. S. BURTON, Medicine Co. Sherman, Texas.

Young's BUSINESS COLLEGE VICKSBURG MISS

If interested in business education send your name NOW for a booklet we are getting out; entitled, "For They Themselvs Have Said It"

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

CHURCH EXTENSION NOTICE.

The Executive Committee of the Mississippi Conference Church Extension Board is hereby called to meet in Hattiesburg on Tuesday, March 17, 1908, at 10 a. m. All applications to the General Board must come before this Committee. They should be in the hands of our Secretary, Rev. L. E. Alford, Meridian, Miss., early in March. He will furnish blanks on appliaction.

W. B. LEWIS,
Chairman.

Throat Coughs

Ask your doctor about these throat coughs. He will tell you how deceptive they are. A tickling in the throat often means serious trouble ahead. Better explain your case carefully to your doctor, and ask him about your taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Then [illegible] Get the best medicine, always.

W. H. BYRNES, Pres. [illegible] W. Woods
Capital [illegible]
Assets [illegible]

HIBERNIA INSURNCE CO.,
No. 305 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
LOSSES PROMPTLY PAID.

Pine-Brook Dairy Co., Ltd
ALL OUR COWS TUBERCULINE TESTED.
Milk and Cream Delivered Morning and Evening.
COR ST. CHARLES & WASHINGTON AVES. Phone 1514 Uptown.

Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company.

THROUGH DAILY PASSENGER SERVICE
Between
NEW ORLEANS and SHREVEPORT,
via
BATON ROUGE, BAYOU SARA and ALEXANDRIA.
FAST FREIGHT SERVICE.

C. ELLERBE, Ass't to Prest., Shreveport, La. H. B. HELM, Gen'l Superintendent, Shreveport, La.
E. C. D. MARSHALL, G. F. & P. A., Shreveport, La.

THE AMERICAN PAINT WORKS,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.,
MANUFACTURES EVERYTHING IN PAINTS,
—Guaranteed Strictly Pure—
The Climatic Prepared Paints, Perfecto White
and
SOLD SUBJECT TO A CHEMICAL ANALYSIS.
DIRECTORS:
Thos. S. Witherspoon, President. Francis Martin, Vice President.
R. B. Parker. John McCloskey. Geo. A. Hero.
PHONE, MAIN 915. Special Attention to Mail Orders.

New Orleans Light House
FRIEDRICH MERCANTILE COMPANY
636 CAMP STREET
LIGHTS

(Friedrich Mercantile Co.)
Well-known Welbach Gas Lights, all styles. Something new. Tubus Gas Lights, very popular. Inverted Gas Lights at $1.10. The Practicus Coal Oil Lamp that burns a mantle 60 hours to one gallon of coal oil. You are invited to see this brilliant light. Gasoline Hollow Wire Lamp Systems, substitute for gas and electric lights.
Full Stock of Lighting Supplies.
Country Orders Solicited.

The Union Railroad Business College
BUSINESS TAUGHT AS IT IS DONE.
Is backed up by thousands of dollars and expert teachers. Uses no text books or copying nonsense. Free scholarships given only to those between the ages of 13 and 35 years.
Business men everywhere are calling for the graduates of this school. For full particulars, address PROF. W. N. STEPHENSON, Texarkana, Texas.

Seed Free "THE WATSON" $5.00 Prize
ALEXANDER SEED CO.'S NEW WATERMELON.
OUR OFFER. A packet of seed sent free to every farmer, melon raiser or gardener who will send for it, also $5.00 in Gold for the largest melon raised therefrom. This is our BRAG melon, and the best we have ever seen. And we have had some experience growing the finest Georgia melons for seed only select Georgia melons. It was introduced by us two years ago, and the demand for it is certainly great. It is the only "Combination" melon we know of high quality. Away ahead of the Kleckley. Very sweet for home use. For shipping it is superior to "Kolb Gem," "Eden," "Rattlesnake" or any other we have seen. We want every melon fancier, for either home use or shipping to grow this melon. Packet seed sent same day your address reaches us, and prize awarded Aug. 15. Write early. ALEXANDER SEED CO., P. O. Box 34, Augusta, Ga.

Dinner Forks

Exclusive and handsome in design, made by the world's largest works, are stamped

"1847 ROGERS BROS."

This mark on knives, forks, spoons, etc., means durability, style and beauty.

Send for Catalogue "O 12"

INTERNATIONAL SILVER CO., Successor to MERIDEN BRITANNIA CO.
Meriden, Conn.

SOLD BY LEADING DEALERS

General News

The battleship fleet has sailed from Calao for Magdalena Bay, Mexico.

* * *

The new King Manuel of Portugal is planning to rule as a constitutional monarch. He has convoked the Cortez, and fixed a date for a general election.

* * *

Harry K. Thaw seems doomed to spend the rest of his days in an insane asylum. Alienists who have examined him since his commitment to the asylum are convinced that he is a paranoic, and as paranoia is a progressive disease it would appear that nothing short of a miracle can intervene to secure his freedom.

* * *

Cardinal Gibbons resents the attack of prohibitionists upon the Catholic leaders for their position on the prohibition question, but his reply is an attack upon prohibition. While a great many priests and members of the Catholic Church are bitter foes of liquor, the Catholics as a church are not opposed to the use of liquor.

* * *

An Anarchist in Denver, Colo., while at the altar rail, and just after partaking of the Sacrament, shot the priest, Rev. Leo. Henrichs, through the heart. The priest exclaimed "My God, my God!" and fell dead. The Right Rev. Edward Dunne, chancellor of the archdiocese of Chicago, believes that the man got his inspiration for the deed from the Anti-Clerical Society of that city.

* * *

The liquor interests of the country are badly frightened by the prohibition wave that is sweeping over the country. In Chicago, New Orleans and other large cities the distillers, brewers and saloon proprietors are organizing to correct abuses. They are decreeing that the saloons must stop violating the law and be respectable. Yet, in the face of all resolutions, the violation of law continues, and all the resolutions in the world will not make a saloon respectable.

* * *

The Hudson River Tunnel was opened on February 26 by President Roosevelt pressing a button that gave the signal for the first train to start. This enterprise represents an investment of $60,000,000. The tunnel itself and the great buildings constructed in connection therewith represent a work of extraordinary magnitude, represent extraordinary difficulties successfully overcome, while difficulty and magnitude are even surpassed by the usefulness of the achievement. The whole system is practically below tidal water, and this makes it much the greatest sub-aqueous tunnel in the world. It is a bigger undertaking than any Alpine tunnel which has yet been constructed, and the successful completion represents the moving of New Jersey bodily three miles nearer to New York in point of time and immensely increases the means of access from one State to the other.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

JONESBORO CIRCUIT.

Dear Advocate: We have met with a warm reception on Jonesboro circuit. Owing to the fact that the old parsonage had already been condemned, and we must of necessity seek quarters somewhere else, which we found at Jonesboro at a reasonable cost, we were late in getting domiciled; but in due time after this was effected, a storm arose, and we were pelted with pounds from many sources. The social feature of the occasion was desirable — Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians and worldlings mingling nicely together, we had a pleasant stay of two hours. After the dispersal we found the pantry supplied with eatables for many days. After the affair was over, the news rapidly spread into localities where the previous summons had not gone; in consequence of which we hear the mutterings of distant thunder indicative of another storm. Come on, ye clouds of supplies! We will welcome your presence with many thanks.

We have a building committee of enterprising men working at a new parsonage for Jonesboro circuit. We think it will be ready for occupancy before a great while. We hope the Woman's Home Mission Society will be kind enough to give us one hundred dollars on the same. We want to thank these good women in advance. Quite a number of our people are already taking the New Orleans Christian Advocate. We hope they will all renew and many others subscribe.

Our first Quarterly Conference is near at hand; from what we know of Brother Jaco, we are expecting him to get a good hold on this people for good work. So I think we will be able to report many good things at Conference. E. C. SULLIVAN.

P. S. We are highly pleased with the Advocate and appreciate the way in which it defends the old landmarks. E. C. S.

DON'T SUFFER WITH SKIN DISEASES.

Itching, redness and pain are quickly relieved and the germs of skin and scalp disease destroyed by TETTERINE, the fragrant antiseptic and healing ointment. This splendid remedy is an invaluable boon to sufferers from Eczema, Tetter, Itching Piles, and all diseases of the skin and scalp. Costs 50c at your druggist's or by mail. Address, the Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga.

Are You Deaf!

If you are bothered with "head noises," are hard of hearing and becoming deaf, write to-day for the addresses of people in your vicinity whose hearing has been restored by our new scientific mechanical device, which is invisible and unfelt, and easy to put in and take from the ear. It is the greatest boon ever brought to sufferers from imperfect hearing and has helped nine out of every ten who have tried it. Don't doubt, don't wait. Send for our free book now. Tell us as near as you can the cause of your deafness and our specialist will advise you free of charge. Address, Way Ear Drum Co., 322 Majestic Building, Detroit, Mich., U. S. A.

Protected by patents in United States, Great Britain, Canada, France and other countries. Any infringement will be prosecuted.

Great Money-Raising Plan for Church Workers

Send to-day for my free plan of raising money for your Church. I supply everything necessary. You do not risk a penny. Men, women, boys and girls, all can raise money on this plan. This plan is the surest, easiest, quickest and best money-raiser ever devised. Send for it to-day. Addres

H. M. BLOSS COMPANY,
428 Fourth St. Milwaukee, Wis.

"Discussion of Baptism."

Several dozen copies of a Plain Discussion of Baptism, by Joel B. Sturdivant, of the North Alabama Conference, still on hand. Single copy 15 cents; one dozen copies $1.35. Order of Smith & Lamar, Nashville, Tenn., or of the author at Huntsville, Ala.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

FOR A GOOD PIANO,
PIANO PLAYER or PLAYER PIANO see the
Grunewald's
Before You Buy.
Agents for the Latest Improved and best Instruments on the Market.

THE Wonderful HEALER

If you are suffering from Ulcers, Old Sores, Blood Poison, Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Pimples, Boils, Barber's Itch, Scrofula, or any other skin disease, no matter how old or stubborn, you can be quickly and permanently cured by a few applications of the wonderful cure,

Scrofuline

Goes to the very seat of the trouble, kills the germs and extracts all foreign matter. Soothing and refreshing. A powerful remedy. Absolutely harmless; and can be applied to the most delicate parts. Sold under a positive guarantee to cure—50c and $1.00 jars—at your druggist's or sent by mail on receipt of price. Write for testimonials of prominent people.

THE SCROFULINE CO. WACO, TEXAS.

POSITIONS SECURED or MONEY BACK

Contract given, backed by $300,000.00 capital and 18 years' Success

DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL BUSINESS COLLEGES

SHREVEPORT, JACKSON (MISS.),
DALLAS, GALVESTON, NASHVILLE

30 Colleges in 17 States

Bookkeeping, Banking, Shorthand, Penmanship, Telegraphy, etc. Indorsed by business men. Also teach by mail. Write, phone, or call for catalogue.

IF YOU SUFFER From Rheumatism, Kidney, liver, stomach or bladder troubles, neuralgia, catarrh, Chronic Colds, Female Trouble, or any other ills, write to me, (enclose stamp for reply) describe your trouble, and I will write you a special prescription for just the right medicine you need by your condition; explain the natural and reasonable rules of diet and health for you to follow, and I will tell you just what to do to get well. After I have shown you how hundreds of others have been cured you can decide for yourself whether you wish to follow my suggestions. It will cost you nothing to write to-day and find out all about the method of treatment that will "CURE YOU." Address,

DR. FRED A. BARRET, 1271 South 7th St., St. Louis, Mo.

INCUBATORS "THE MODEL" Manufactured by Chas. A. Cyphers The acknowledged leading authority on incubation. We carry a full line also of Brooders, Coops, Etc. Our Steinmiesch Poultry Feeds are considered the finest on the market. They grow big chickens and a large percentage of those hatched. White Washing Machines, Spray Pumps save labor and money. Field Fencing, Root Cutters, Feeders, Seeds, etc. Everything for Poultrymen.

NEW ORLEANS POULTRY SUPPLY CO.,
R. E. Bruce, Manager. 531 Poydras Street, New Orleans.

THE BEST MADE.

Angell's Cough and Whooping Cough Syrup

For Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Throat Trouble.
CONTAINS NO OPIUM OR MORPHINE.
All Druggists, Price 25 and 50 Cents.

QUARTERLY CONFRENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

CORINTH DISTRICT—SECOND RND.
(In Part.)

Kossuth Cts. at Bethel	Mar 7, 8
Corinth Sta. at Corinth	Mar 8, 9
Booneville Sta. at B.	Mar. 10,
Iuka Ct. at Snowdown	Mar 14, 15
Iuka Sta. at Iuka	Mar 15, 16
Corinth Ct. at Box's Chap.	Mar 21, 22
Mooresville & Saltillo, at M.	Mar 28, 29

BEN P. JACO, P. E.

DURANT DIST. — SECOND ROUND.
(In Part.)

Kosciusko Station	Mar 22, 23
Sallis Circuit	Mar 28, 29
Louisville	Apr 4, 5
Ackerman Circuit	Apr. 10.
Chester, at Pisgah	Apr 11, 12
McCool	Apr 17,

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

CROWLEY DIST.—SECOND ROUND.
(In Part.)

Lafayette	March 8
Franklin	March 8
Abbeville	March 15
Gueydan	March 15
St. Martin	March 22
New Iberia	March 22
Indian Bayou, at Hebron	March 29
Crowley	March 29

J. M. HENRY, P. E.

Vice-President E. L. Russell, of the Mobile and Ohio and Southern Railway in Mississippi, submitted to the joint Committee on Railroads a voluntary offer to establish a flat passenger rate of 2 1-2 cents per mile on intrastate business, and to issue interchangeable mileage books in 1,000 and 2,000-mile forms at 2 cents per mile. The experiment is to be tried for twelve months from April 1, with the right to abandon it, if it should prove unremunerative to the railroads.

FREE RIFLE

This handsome 1000 Shot Rifle absolutely free to any boy who will send us 45 cents for one of our Samples, and give us a few hours of his spare time for one week. This Rifle is great for target practice, and is sure death to small game and rats. Address with 45 cents, stamps or money order, Universal Household Spice Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Stokers Way Down

in the boiler-room of the steamship shovel in the coal night and day that gives her power to make a record. The best coal gives the best power.

That is why

Scott's Emulsion

produces flesh when other things fail. It contains more power. It is truly a body fuel. Many a man, woman and child have broken their records for weight by the pounds of flesh gained from SCOTT'S EMULSION. It is a powerful flesh-producer.

All Druggists; 50c. and $1.00.

Sunday School

By W. B. Campbell.

LESSON FOR MARCH 8, 1908.

JESUS THE BREAD OF LIFE.

John vi, 22-51.

Golden text: "Jesus said unto them: 'I am the bread of life.'" John vi, 35.

The great multitude that witnessed the miracle by which they were fed were not all impressed as were those who concluded that Jesus was the prophet foretold by Moses. Some of them came to a far different conclusion.

It was as difficult to separate worldly and religious matters in those days as it is for some in the present time. Also as there are now those who affect a religious life for the benefit of self, so were there among the multitude many that were attracted by the loaves and fishes, and the apparently easy manner in which the food was produced. It was these that knew no better than to attempt to take the Lord of Glory by force, and make him an earthly king. Jesus' pity and compassion must have been renewed in his heart as he quietly turned away and sought the solitude of the mountain. It must have been his divine power that kept the rabble away from him then—even the twelve did not intrude; they knew that at times he wanted to be alone. These faithful ones lingered near, hoping that Jesus would return; but as night came on they directed their ship on a northerly course toward Capernaum. They must have sailed near the shore watching for the Lord. Night came on and with it a storm, raising the sea in great waves. They used all of their power rowing to keep the ship in its course, but their safety was greatly imperiled. In this, their extremity, they looked and saw Jesus calmly walking upon the water, coming directly toward them. It was only natural that they should be frightened. Jesus knew that, and soon allayed their fear by the assuring words: "It is I. Be not afraid." At once they received him into the ship, and at once the ship was safe from the tempest, and at its destination. Verily, miricles came so thick and fast that faith had no time to weaken or doubt any room to stand.

It was on the next day (and they were still near the sea) that some who had seen the great miracle of the loaves and fishes were still trying to follow and be near him. Their questions showed the bent of their minds. They knew nothing of what had transpired since they saw Jesus leave them going in an opposite direction from the sea, and now to behold him on the eastern side of the water, they asked the material question: "Rabbi, whence camest thou hither?" Jesus' answer was a rebuke, and the beginning of a lesson that they were to learn. Jesus said: "Ye seek me, not because of the miracles, but because ye did eat of the loaves and were filled." They little knew they had to deal with him by whom motives are of first importance. It is most needful that the depths of the heart be searched for motives in desiring to be identified as a follower of Christ; for our good it is so, and it is the Holy Spirit alone that can set us right in this respect. In time the true disciple will know that he follows Christ only because he loves him, for such love that Christ gives cannot fail to bring forth its kindred feeling in the heart of him who has given himself to the Savior.

Then Jesus began to tell them not to labor for worldly things that perish, but for that which endureth unto everlasting life. There was a materialism in the next question: What shall we do to work the works of God? "This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent." That was all there was for them, and it is all there is for us; for when we have believed on him whom the Father hath sent, there has been planted in our hearts the root and germ from which all the Christian graces grow. The words of the Master was not enough for them, they wanted a sign. "Our fathers did eat manna in the desert," said they, and in so saying they themselves set the text from which Jesus preached the discourse that followed. With the same authority that always attracted his hearers, Jesus began: "I say unto you," explaining to them that the bread that came down to the fathers in the wilderness was at the time necessary for the preservation of life, and that it was also sent as a lesson, that they should look for that bread that should come down from heaven to give life unto the world. "Lord evermore give us this bread!" A laudable request if the suppliant is ready to receive it, knowing the conditions and understanding what bread is meant.

"I am the bread of life," said Jesus. Could the assembled people understand that? Do we understand it? Do we understand how he satisfies every hunger of the heart and every thirst of the soul? Do we also understand how complete in him is our salvation? When "he, through the eternal Spirit, was offered without spot unto God," then it was plainly shown that to be saved it must be from a power high over and above us. The two symbols follow one after the other: saved by the blood of the Lamb, sustained by the living Bread.

There seemed to be a pause in the Master's gracious discourse, a pause seeming long enough to insert an accusation made in this kindly, reproachful manner: "You also have seen me, and believed not." How awfully true is this of many in our midst to-day—many who know and are familiar with the story of the gospel, but who are so wedded to the ways of the world that their coming to and believing in Jesus grows more remote as the days and opportunities pass. The people Jesus spoke to had seen him not only in bodily form, but they had seen and heard of him in his divine power—yet they believed not. Many have seen him in the godly life of father and mother; have felt his presence in the old home when all were gathered around, when he, the eldest and most revered, would lead in humble, grateful prayers. Yet even many of them believe not to the saving of their souls. O, why does not the whole world listen and heed as he cries: "Him that cometh unto me, I will in no wise cast out." Then the Lord shows them so clearly that it is the will of the Father in heaven that not one of them who come to him should be lost. It was not to them that had only seen the Lord, but to them that believed on him, that hath eternal life. Our Lord continued his sermon, making his meaning more and more plain, and however we may view the capacity of his audience to understand, we study his words in a spirit of prayer that we may heartily say amen to doctrines that arouse us to thanksgiving.

But the Jews murmured. Jesus heard them and said: "No man can come to me unless the Father draw him." He quotes: "They shall all be taught of God;" therefore, says the Master, "Every man that hath heard of the Father cometh to me," showing plainly that the Father draweth with the blessed gospel of salvation.

Many other truths he taught in this chapter that we love to read and meditate on, feeling a kind of proprietorship in them, for long, long ago have we settled them, together with every other act and word of our Master, as among those things he may have meant when he said, "What I do, thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter."

It must have been with a sad heart that the Lord knew in himself that some of the disciples murmured. He then turned to them and told them things that seemed stranger still—so strange that many turned back and followed the Lord no more from that day. O, how grieved must have been his great, big, loving heart as he turned to the chosen twelve and asked: "Will ye also go away?" O, how we have often wished we could have been there, near to urge Peter in a quicker reply: "Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life."

HOW'S THIS?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions, and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

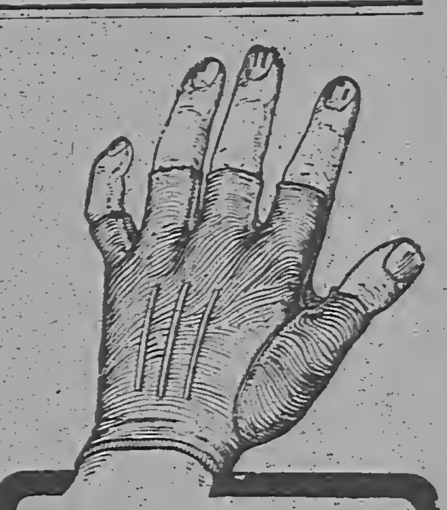
Walding, Kinnan & Marvin,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and the mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Wu Ting Fang, one of China's most able statesmen, is for the second time ambassador in Washington.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.



An Eczema Hand

should not be covered by a glove. A fresh antiseptic bandage every day after applying Heiskell's Ointment is all that is needed to cure the trouble, no matter how old or stubborn it may be.

Heiskell's Ointment

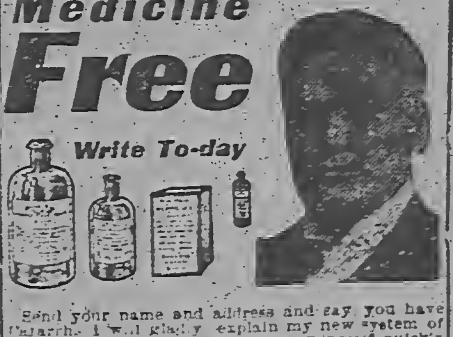
goes right to the spot. It cools the skin, stops the burning and itching, and cures. There is no case too obstinate. All skin diseases yield to its magical influence. Used successfully for half a century.

In all cases it is best to bathe the part affected with Heiskell's Medicinal Soap before applying the Ointment. To make the blood pure and clean up the liver take Heiskell's Blood and Liver Pills.

Ointment 50c. a box; Soap 25c. a cake; Pills 25c. a box. Sold by all druggists, or sent by mail.

JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO.,
531 Commerce St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Catarrh Medicine Free



Send your name and address and say you have Catarrh. I will gladly explain my new system of treatment and tell you how to cure yourself quickly at your own home. In addition I will send a months medicine free of charge to demonstrate that Catarrh of the Head, Nose or Throat or Constitutional Catarrh in any form can be cured. Thousands have already been cured. Many in one month. Others who have been afflicted 15 and 20 years were cured in two and three months. I want to cure you to introduce my new system of treatment in your neighborhood.

Send No Money This offer is fair and square; the acceptance of it places you under no obligation to me whatever. I simply want to show one sufferer in every community that I have the greatest treatment in the world for catarrh. If interested write to

DR. T. F. WILLIAMS.
504 Flynn Bldg, Des Moines, Iowa

ANGELL PHARMACY COMPANY,

2300 Baronne Street, corner Philip.
PRESCRIPTIONS OUR SPECIALTY Phone Main 4269.
Pure Drugs, Chemicals, Toilet Articles, Perfumery, Stationery, etc.

TRY ANGELL'S COUGH & WHOOPING COUGH SYRUP

Price 25 and 50 cents. Sold by all Druggists.

HOMŒPATHIC DEPARTMENT.

Homoeopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, Globules, Sugar of Milk, Etc.
Prices, 1-2 ounce vial 15 cents, 1 ounce vial 25 cents.
PROMPT DELIVERY.

FORTUNE IN FIGS. Texas Figs Prize Winners at World's Fair. Figs grown at Aldine, near Houston, make the best preserves known. Demand unlimited. Crop certain. Now is the time to buy a home in South Texas and enjoy life under your own "vine and fig tree." One Town Lot and one acre set in Figs only $230. Payable $10 down and $10 per month. Single crop more than pays cost of land. Particulars free. Agents wanted.

Address, E. C. ROBERTSON, 316-R Kiam Bldg., HOUSTON, TEXAS.

Teachers' Training Course of South Mississippi College,

MARCH 23 TO MAY 16,

offers thorough review of all public school branches. Examination for State licenses at close. For particulars address

SOUTH MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE,
Hattiesburg, Miss.

OPELOUSAS, LA.

Mr. Editor; We have made a fairly good start on this charge. Indications seem to point to a good year's work. Our "beloved" was with us Feb., 15-16, and preached some fine sermons. Our people are delighted with Brother Joyner as presiding elder. The board of stewards assessed $1,460 for minsterial support, and have agreed to collect monthly. Our city is growing, having already passed the 5000-mark. Our Church is getting her share of Protestants moving in.

We will have an election in this Parish in April, and expect to vote the saloon out of business.

A. W. TURNER, P. C.

HAZLEHURST CHARGE.

Dear Dr. Boswell: We are well into our third year at this place, and have every prospect of the best of the three. Our first Quarterly Conference has been held, our new presiding elder, Brother George H. Thompson, taking hold of the work in a manner which made a good impression on our people. We look forward to a most pleasant and profitable year with him.

We are working and praying as a congregation for a year of great spiritual prosperity, and are asking for a hundred souls to be added to our number during the year, fourteen of which have already been received. I said in our Quarterly Conference that the best work of the Church is being done in our Sunday school, our little band of officers and teachers having upon their hearts the salvation of every attendant on their services. We are trying to take John xx, 31, in which he states the purpose of his gospel as the end toward which we labor and pray this year: "That ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing ye might have life through his name!"

Our ladies in the next week or so will organize a brand-new auxiliary to the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society and expect to be represented at their meeting at Brookhaven.

Our board of stewards has made the most generous provision for the pastor's salary, and his needs are always promptly attended to. During last year we spent $500 on the pastor's home, which has made it both comfortable and attractive. While our own needs are so well supplied, we earnestly pray to be made a blessing to the town to which we minister.

Cordially, H. B. WATKINS.

Church Directory

New Orleans District, Rev. F. N. Parker, D.D., presiding elder; residence, 241 Olivier St.

Rev. John T. Sawyer, D.D., Conference Missionary Evangelist; resi- Orleans.; phone 28 28 2)3)3)3. dence, 2421 Chestnut St.; phone, Uptown 1832.

First Methodist Church, St. Charles Ave., near Calliope St.; Rev. J. E. Wray, pastor; residence, 5830 Prytania St.; phone, Uptown 329.

Second Methodist Church, 2531 Burgundy, near Lafayette Ave.; Rev. A. I. Townsley, pastor; residence, 2728 N. Rampart St.; office hours, 9 to 11 a.m.; phone, Main 978.

Parker Memorial, corner Nashville avenue and Perrier street; Rev. C. D. Atkinson, pastor; residence 734 Nashville avenue.

Louisiana Avenue, corner Louisiana Ave. and Magazine St.; Rev. W. W. Holmes, pastor; residence 2903 Camp St.; phone, Uptown 1391.

Rayne Memorial, St. Charles Avenue and General Taylor Streets; Dr. John A. Rice, pastor; residence, 1101 Peniston Street.

Felicity Street Church, corner Felicity and Chestnut Streets; Rev. Albert S. Lutz, pastor; residence 2321 Chestnut Street.

Carrollton Avenue, corner Carrollton avenue and Elm street; Rev. Henry T. Carley, pastor.

Algiers, Lavergne Street, corner Delaronde; Rev. J. F. Foster, pastor.

McDonoghville and Gretna, Rev. H. Whitehead, pastor; residence 5208 Magazine Street; phone, Uptown 2459.

Epworth Church, Corner Banks and Scott streets; Rev. L. A. Sims, pastor; residence, 4031 Palmyra street; phone, Main 4665.

Rev. Jno. L. Sutton, Superintendent Orphan Boys' Asylum; residence, 5220 St. Charles Ave.; phone, Uptown 128.

Rev. L. E. Wicht, junior preacher Lower Coast Mission; address, 509 Board of Trade Bldg., New Orleans.

The rain that keeps some people from Church is just enough to make an evening at whist a real pleasure. —Exchange.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

Mississippi Conference.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—SECOND RND.

Prentiss, at Carson	March 14, 15
Silver Creek, at S. C.	March 15, 16
Oloh, at Oloh	March 21, 22
Sumrall	March 22, 23
Hub, at Hub	March 28, 29
Columbia	March 29, 30
Crystal Springs	Apr 4, 5
Hazlehurst	Apr 5, 6
McComb, Centenary	Apr 11, 12
Magnolia	Apr 12, 13
Gallman, at Mt. Pleasant	Apr 18, 19
Bogue Chitto and Norfield, at Norfield	Apr 19, 20
McComb and Fernwood, at F.	Apr 25, 26
Pearlhaven, at Hawkins Ch.	May 2, 3
Brookhaven	May 3, 4
District Conference at Tylertown	May 6, 10
Tylertown, at China Gr.	May 11,

GEO. H. THOMPSON, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Natchez, Pearl St.	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Natchez, Jefferson St.	Mar. 1, 2
Bayou Pierre, at P. V.	Mar. 7, 8
Caseyville, at New Hope, Monday, 11 a. m.	Mar. 9
Wilkinson, at Friendship	Mar. 14, 15
Meadville, at Providence	Mar. 21, 22
Washington, at W.	Mar. 28, 29

J. T. LEGGETT, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.— FIRST ROUND.

Anguilla, at Anguilla	Mar. 1, 2
Rolling Fork, at R. F.	Mar. 2, 3
Mayersville, at Mayersville	Mar. 3, 4
Rocky Springs, at R. S.	Mar. 7, 8

G. H. GALLOWAY, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST. — FIRST ROUND.

Mentorum and New Zion, at New Zion	Mar. 7, 8
Gulfport, 25th Ave.	Mar. 10
Gulfport, 29th St., at Handsboro	Mar. 11
Ocean Springs and Oak St., Oak St	Mar. 12
Coalville, at Poplarhead	Mar. 14, 15
Howison ann Saucier, at S.	Mar. 15, 16
Wolf River, at Durhams C.	Mar. 17

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

JACKSON DISTRICT—FIRST ROUND

Eden, at Eden	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
Flora, at Flora	Mar. 2,
Mount Olive, at Mt. O.	Mar. 6,
Bethel and Mission, at B.	Mar. 7, 8
Pinola, at Mount Pisgah	Mar. 14, 15

A. F. WATKINS, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST—FIRST ROUND.

N. Kemper, at Spg. Hill	Feb. 29, Mar. 1
De Kalk, Tuesday	Mar. 3,
Daleville, at Soule's Chapel	Mar. 7, 8
Binnsville, at B.	Mar. 10,
Pachuta, at McGowan's	Mar. 14, 15
Middleton, at Manassa	Mar. 17,
Waynesboro Ct., at Fedora	Mar. 19,
Matherville, at Winnifred	Mar. 21, 22
Eucutta	Mar. 24,
Vimville, at Pleas. Ridge	Mar. 25, 26

W. C. BLACK, P. E.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

The Greatest Possible Cotton Crop of the best possible quality, is the aim of every enterprising cotton planter. And "it is as easy as rolling down hill" if you only use enough

Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers

Is there any reason why you cannot do just as well as Mr. James M. Swint, of Chipley, Ga., who used 600 lbs. per acre of Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers on his cotton crop? He gathered one and a half bales of cotton per acre, and there were more bolls yet to open.

This is the experience of hundreds of other cotton planters. Careful preparation of your soil, and liberal use of high grade Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers will surely "increase your yields per acre." Numerous unprejudiced authorities tell how it is done in the new Virginia-Carolina Farmers' Year Book or Almanac, a copy of which may be secured from your fertilizer dealer, or from our nearest sales-office. An interesting picture of Mr. Swint's cotton will be found in this Year Book.

Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co.

Richmond, Va.
Norfolk, Va.
Columbia, S. C.
Atlanta, Ga.
Durham, N. C.
Charleston, S. C.
Baltimore, Md.
Columbus, Ga.
Savannah, Ga.
Montgomery, Ala.
Memphis, Tenn.
Shreveport, La.

Fertilizers
Virginia-Carolina
Chemical Co.

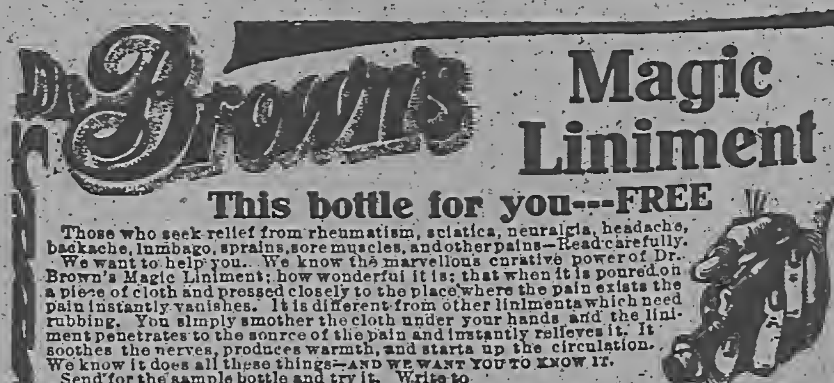
CABBAGE Plants. CELERY Plants.

and all kinds of garden plants. Can now furnish all kinds of cabbage plants, grown in the open air and will stand great cold. Grown from seeds of the most reliable seedmen. We use same plants on our thousand acre truck farm. Plants carefully counted and properly packed. Celery, Lettuce, Onion and Beet plants. Reduced express rates give us 60 per cent. less than merchandise rates: Prices: $1.50 per thousand up to 5,000; 5,000 to 10,000 at $1.25 per thousand; 10,000 and upwards at $1.00 per thousand, F. O. B. Meggetts, S. C. The United States Agricultural Department has Established an experimental Station on our farms, to test all kinds of vegetables, especially Cabbages. The results of these experiments we will be pleased to give you at any time.

Yours respectfully, N. H. BLITCH COMPANY, MEGGETTS, S. C.



Dr. Brown's Magic Liniment

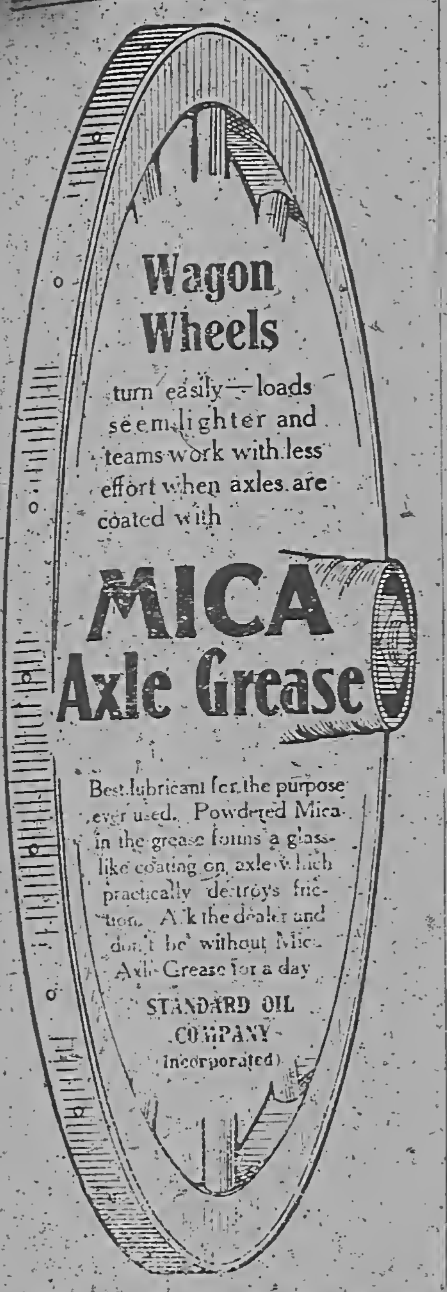
This bottle for you---FREE

Those who seek relief from rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, headache, backache, lumbago, sprains, sore muscles, and other pains—Read carefully.

We want to help you. We know the marvellous curative power of Dr. Brown's Magic Liniment; how wonderful it is: that when it is poured on a piece of cloth and pressed closely to the place where the pain exists the pain instantly vanishes. It is different from other liniments which need rubbing. You simply smother the cloth under your hands and the liniment penetrates to the source of the pain and instantly relieves it. It soothes the nerves, produces warmth, and starts up the circulation. We know it does all these things—AND WE WANT YOU TO KNOW IT.

Send for the sample bottle and try it. Write to

BROWN CHEMICAL CO., Dept. A. Nashville, Tenn.



Wagon Wheels turn easily—loads seem lighter and teams work with less effort when axles are coated with

MICA Axle Grease

Best lubricant for the purpose ever used. Powdered Mica in the grease forms a glass-like coating on axle which practically destroys friction. Ask the dealer and don't be without Mica Axle Grease for a day

STANDARD OIL COMPANY (Incorporated)

RIDER AGENTS WANTED

In each town to ride and exhibit sample Bicycle. Write for special offer. We Ship on Approval without a cent deposit, allow 10 DAYS FREE TRIAL and prepay freight on every bicycle. FACTORY PRICES on bicycles, tires and sundries. Do not buy until you receive our catalogs and learn our unheard of prices and marvelous special offer.

MEAD CYCLE CO., Dept. [illegible] Chicago, Ill.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS. UNLIKE OTHER BELLS SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.

Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

Please mention this paper.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

Has been used for over SIXTY-FIVE YEARS by MILLIONS of MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. It SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN; CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHEA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1098. AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.

Southern Pacific

Sunset Route

Connections made at New Orleans with all lines to the

North East and Southeast

WRITE FOR INFORMATION

G. E. GUEDRY, D. P. A.
Lake Charles.

F. E. BATTURS, G. P. A.
New Orleans.

NORTH CARROLLTON, MISS.

Dear Dr. Boswell: This is my first attempt at letter-writing to the Advocate, but I desire in this way to extend my thanks to the good people of my charge (the North Carrollton Circuit). They have been very kind to me. On arrival here, we were met by several of the members of our church and conducted to Brother Sam Turner's, where a beautiful dinner was spread. After dinner we came over to the parsonage and found everything in good order and well furnished with nice furniture. The parsonage is a nice one and well suited for the home of a preacher, having six rooms, all neatly furnished.

On the afternoon of our arrival here, which was just after Conference, the good people of North Carrollton and the surrounding country gave us a pounding, bringing something of almost everything you could think of to eat—from a bottle of pickles to a ham of meat—not forgetting that preachers liked eggs, and they did not stop at one pounding, but every now and then we received something along this line.

Last Wednesday was set for our Quarterly Conference, but we had to give it up, as it rained here all day, and no one could attend. However, several of the stewards sent in their reports, and we were made happy to find them so liberal.

We have had quite a great deal of "grip" around here. I am just up from a spell myself, which lasted about three weeks, during which time I was not able to fill my appointments. Up to that time I had filled every one since Conference.

The prospects are bright for a good year, and we are expecting great things of the Lord, for we feel sure there are great things in store for us, and that if we will but ask, believing, we will receive. We have one of the best mid-week prayer meetings here at North Carrollton I have ever seen. The services are conducted by the brethren of the Church, and we have a good attendance, and almost every one takes part. We have a growing Church here, and to know them is to love them.

Pray for us. Your brother in Christ,

J. G. JOHNSON.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

FROM THE COLPORTER'S DESK.

The Methodist Hymnal is deservedly growing in popularity and rapidly going into use in the churches. Since the new year began, Greenville, Aberdeen and Carey (Rolling Fork Charge) have been supplied with it. One pastor writes: "We used the 'New Order of Worship' yesterday for the first time. It took. I had previously prepared the way, and right in the beginning of the service made a few remarks, explanatory." See! brother preacher. Prepare the way, explain and instruct briefly and pertinently; put your soul into it and the "Order" will be a service of delight and spiritual benefit to yourself and the people.

At the close of the second month from the adjournment of his Conference, one young preacher of the first year class, and serving a hard work, so-called, says: "I am doing well; have one-half of the study-course off of my hand." He sends cash orders for good books "to read." Nor does he neglect pastoral duties. Reader, do you not think that he will prove a success?

By the way, let all the undergraduates bear in mind that they will be required to certify to the Committees of Examination that they have read the books "to be read" prescribed in the Course of Study.

Two books, by Dr. Stalker, "The Life of Christ," 60 cents, and "The Two St. Johns," $1, are valuable works and specially will they be found so in studying the correct Sunday School lessons. I shall be glad to send either or both of them postpaid at prices named.

One of the choice books of the day is Fitchett's "Wesley and His Century," $1.75 net, postpaid. Many of the preachers are getting and reading it with delight. The same may be said also for "Cole Lectures 1907," by Ian McLaren, $1.25 net, postpaid.

I most heartily commend these books to the brethren and feel that a good service is rendered when the reading of them is secured. Who will be the next to order?

The colportage business has been real good thus far during the Conference year and we trust that there will be no decrease, but an increase in the future. I am as ever at the command of brethren for service, ministerial or official, in person or by correspondence.

G. W. BACHMAN.

Winona, Miss.

Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.
MOXINE CHILL TONIC

ZACHARY, LA.

Dear Dr. Boswell: A few items from the Zachary and Slaughter Charge might interest a few people. We have been handicapped in our work to a great extent by unfavorable weather, "grip" and other hindrances. However, when weather conditions were a least bit favorable the people at both places have shown their interest by giving unto the ministry good congregations and attention. We have been treated with a great deal of kindness and consideration, which we appreciate.

On Tuesday last the brethren of Zachary entertained the parsonage folk with what people generally call "a pounding." It proved not only an estimation of their thoughtfulness, but also left the larder replenished with things needful for the physical man. We surely ought to be sweet in spirit and temper for some time, as we received one-half barrel of the finest granulated sugar, and other things that will establish good foundations.

The prospect for the work is good—a great deal of material that can be worked—and by God's help we purpose to do our best. May we believe that God can use us for his glory, and then may we enter heartily into the work. Wishes and success to the Advocate. Sincerely yours,

W. D. KLEINSCHMIDT.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

BLOOD POISONING POSITIVELY CURED

Hereditary, primary, secondary and tertiary. Scrofula, Eczema, Blood and Skin Disease. If you have exhausted old time methods, and want to get well, write me in fullest confidence for proof of cures. Take my treatment and get well. —A. A. BROWER, M. D.
San Antonia, Tex

25 BEAUTIFUL SOUVENIR POST CARDS 25

Including Fine Flower Cards WITH YOUR NAME WRITTEN IN GOLD, hand paintings, funny Comics, etc. No two alike. Retail in all stores from $1.00 to $1.50. Send name of this paper and 25 cents for the lot; and terms to agents. Address

Southern Post Card Agency, Lexington, N. C.

ALTAR CHAIRS, SUNDAY School Seats, School Desks, Portable Chairs, Collection Plates, Communion Tables, Lodge Furniture, etc. Ask for big Catalog No. 60. E. H. Stafford Mfg. Co. Chicago, Ill

THAT DROWSY FEELING

It Prevents You From Doing Your Work and Is Really a Sign of Disease.

CAUSED BY POISONS

Don't you ever feel drowsy and sleepy, unable to think or work?

You have slept pretty well.

You don't feel sick. Just drowsy.

What's the cause of it?

Your liver.

A lazy liver leaves in your system all sorts of lingering poisons, the product of an over-supply of bile, which a properly working liver would have filtered out.

These poisons act like opiates on your nerves, making you drowsy, sleepy and torpid, as if overcome with some strong drug, when you ought to be feeling bright, alert and wide-awake.

And that's not all.

When you are feeling liver-drowsy like this, it is a sign that your system is in condition to "catch" some disease.

That is, it has lost its vitality and power of resistance to disease germs.

The clogged liver cannot keep off the intruder as it should.

It is like a sentinel, asleep at its post, leaving the camp open to the attacks of the enemy.

What shall you do?

Wake up your drowsy liver with a good dose of Thedford's Black-Draught (liver medicine).

Purify your system of the bile poisons that have drugged it.

Put yourself in position to resist the attacks of disease. Cleanse your blood, brighten your eyes, purify your complexion and become your strong healthy self again.

The old, reliable, vegetable, liver medicine, Thedford's Black-Draught, successful for over 60 years, is what you should use, because of its direct action upon your sick liver.

It contains no minerals or other dangerous ingredients, but is a gentle, natural, vegetable remedy, regulating the liver and relieving or curing such symptoms as drowsiness, headache, bilious sick headache, bilious stomach, bitter taste in the mouth, constipation, bad blood, pimples, sallow complexion, chills and fever, malaria, nervous irritability, etc.

Thousands have written to tell of the wonderful relief afforded by Thedford's Black-Draught, in just such cases.

It is for sale by all druggists, in 25-cent and $1 packages. Try it.

BELLS.

Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. ☞ Send for Catalogue The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

Free for Catarrh and Deafness

My Book and Instructions For Curing these Diseases at Home

One Month's Treatment ON TRIAL

I have the greatest treatment in the world for curing Catarrh, Deafness, Head Noises and Ear Diseases. If you are afflicted write for Free Book which tells you how to cure yourself at home. Tell me about your case and I will you how to get a month's treatment on trial, free of all cost, if it fails to prove satisfactory. Address

Dr. W. O. COFFEE, Dept. 240, Nat'l Eye & Ear Inf. Des Moines, Ia

SEEDS

OF THE

Steckler Quality

Cost but little more than the usual kind, but are worth much more. To convince you that this is true, let us have a talk together. We have spent months of labor and thousands of dollars on

THE BEST SEED CATALOG EVER ISSUED IN THE SOUTH.

It is a manual of over 200 pages with new illustrations taken direct from the vegetable. Shall we mail you a copy? It will cost you nothing, if you will kindly give a fair hearing to our claimse for your patronage. Write at once.

J. STECKLER SEED CO., LTD RICHARD FROTSCHER'S SUCCESSORS.

Seed Growers and Importers, New Orleans, La.

Choice Selections

ON BEING BORN POOR.

"Do you know what is bothering me now," said a man who has made himself rich and is fast getting richer. "It's wondering what is going to become of my boys.

"I have four sons, all young, and all wholesome, natural youngsters, but if I keep on making money the way I'm doing now I don't know what's going to happen to them when they grow up. There's nothing like being born poor to give a man a real start in life, with his feet firmly planted on the ground, where they ought to be, and be learning to rely on himself.

"I was born that way, and I've always been grateful for it. If I had been born rich I think I should have been more or less of no account. I had to get out and hustle and work to get along, and the habit of work has never left me since, as I hope it never will.

"But how is it going to be about my boys? They may come to think that they don't have to work, which would be the ruination of them, or would at least put them out of the running with self-reliant, able men.

"I'm sending them to the public school, of course, and there they learn a heap of things besides what they get out of their books. They learn for one valuable lesson that there are other people in the world besides themselves and that there may be plenty of people smarter than they are, and that they've got to work if they expect to keep their end up.

"Boys are democrats. They can't put on any lugs or airs if you expect to get along with the boys in public school; if you want friends you've got to be friendly. A good all-round start in life it is for boys to go to a public school, and I hope my boys will profit by it.

"But suppose in time they'll go to a private school, and then if they want to they'll go to college, and there, what with their money, unless they should turn out to be hard-headed young men, they will come to train with other young men with money, and so get separated from the bulk of their fellow-students and begin to live by themselves; and I can't imagine anything happening to a young man worse than that, his getting away from the mass of his fellow-men.

"My boys have never known what it is to be poor. They have always had what they wanted, and unless I should fail or bust or something, which I don't expect to do, I don't see why they shouldn't always have things, because as long as I had anything I should be sure to keep them. That's human nature.

"And you see, there's the trouble. They've got somebody to lean on, and a man that doesn't have to isn't apt to put out his own strength. The only way in which a man can ever amount to anything is by hard work.

"The man that doesn't work dwindles and comes to be of no account. And I do hope my boys will want to work. I don't care what they do if they'll only work at it, and work hard and faithfully. I think they're handicapped as it is; honest Injun. I think it would have been better for them to have been born poor, but I hope they'll turn out to be men."—New York Sun.

HIS DECISION.

Twenty-five years ago a young man was sent as a special clerk from Milford, Mass., to Chicago. He was placed in a responsible position and soon made the acquaintance of many other young men to whom Chicago was a commercial Mecca.

The new clerk was a pleasant fellow, and had a taste for social life; but situated as he was, the social life had to be such as he could make for himself, and that was, not unnaturally, the free and easy comradeship of other clerks. Almost without realizing it, he found himself gradually drifting into dissipation. It was a social drink here, a quiet game of cards there, and always a cigar in the mouth. Every moment that was not spent in business or in bed was given to things which at the time seemed to him innocent enough, but which were really undermining manhood.

After he had been in Chicago a month or two, he met an old classmate of his home town. A few evenings later he found himself in his friend's room.

"Look here, old fellow," said the friend, "I want to have a straight talk with you."

"Go ahead," said the other, pleasantly.

"I will. Now, what have you got out here in Chicago? A clerkship with a chance. What does the chance depend on? Education and friends? What is your education? Nothing but a high school training, and most of that forgotten. Who are your friends? Young men who flash over people's money. Now, what are you going to do? Run to seed and end worse than you began, or fit yourself for a useful future?

"If you wish to fit yourself, join an evening school, study part of the time after working hours, and spend your Sabbaths, as you ought to spend them. Purify your life, broaden your understanding, and you will make something of yourself. But if you prefer to stay as you are, take another drink, pass around the cigars and be a 'jolly good fellow' with the boys."

The young clerk thought it over. His cigar went out and dropped from between his fingers. He saw two futures—one full of ease, but ending in failure; the other fraught with hardship, but leading to success. He knew the choice was his. "I thank you, old fellow," he said, at length. "I needed it."

At the end of the week the clerk was a member of an evening class and had selected his Church. He gave up drinking, smoking, cards and clubs and began to use the public library and to get back something of his old-time interest in books. He was surprised to see that he had dropped out of his vapid life as easily as he entered it. Nobody tried to drag him back, nobody seemed to miss him. In less than six months his opportunity came, and he seized it. Ten years later he was a rich man.

To-day he is loved and respected by all who know him. His benevolences have made the grass greener and the sky bluer to hundreds of poor souls; yet few even of those for whom he has done the most know him either by sight or by name, for he is as unostentatious as he is generous.

"Who would give a thought to me to-day if I had made the wrong decision?" he said, a little while ago. That is a question which every young man can well afford to ask himself. There is only one answer to it.—Sunday School Times.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

Applications for aid to parsonages, either as donations or loans from General Board of Home Missions, must be in hands of Conference Secretary, Mrs. B. F. Lewis, Bay St. Louis, early in March. The Executive Committee must take action on these applications and put them before the Conference Church Extension Board at their meeting, March 19.

Applications to Mississippi Conference Society of Home Missions should be sent to Conference Secretary not later than April 1.

Blanks can be obtained by writing to Mrs. Lewis.

MRS. T. B. HOLLOMAN,
Conference President.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

In regard to the new rates, the regular subscription rate will remain at $2, and the preachers' rate at $1. The commission allowed on the (regular) $2 rate is 25 cents for renewals and 50 cents for new subscriptions.

The preacher-in-charge will have authority to let any poor person have the paper at $1 whom they deem unable to pay the $2 rate. All it requires will be the pastor's recommendation.

The new club rate for 1908 is $1.50 per annum in clubs of five. The club may be indefinitely extended. On this rate there is a commission of 25 cents for each subscriber, whether old or new.

We have decided to renew our offer of a rate of $1.25 in clubs of twenty, with a commission of 25 cents to the person securing the club. But the club must really consist of twenty persons, and be practically a cash transaction. Last year we had several clubs started that claimed the twenty rate, and never secured more than two or three names. In other words, we are willing to grant the club rates only to clubs.

The pastors are our recognized agents, but we will be very glad to have the pastors appoint agents for the ADVOCATE in any community. We are sure that no pastor would object to any member of his congregation securing a club, for each ADVOCATE circulated is another friend to speak a good word for the pastor. Who will be the first to send us a real club of twenty.

It costs us 10 cents to collect a check, so please send us post office money orders.

THE SAFEST AND QUICKEST WAY

TRANSFER MONEY

—Is By—

Long Distance Telephone

FOR RATES APPLY TO LOCAL MANAGER

Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph Co

INCORPORATED.

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Millsaps College Library

REV. JOHN W. BOSWELL, Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.

NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, MARCH 26, 1908.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher,
Office, 512 Camp St., New Orleans.

VOL. 55—No. 13.

"PROVE ALL THINGS; HOLD FAST THAT WHICH IS GOOD."

WHOLE No. 5392.

Glances at the World.

Ever since the 25th of February the people of Louisiana have been greatly interested in the matter of selecting a Democratic nominee for Lieutenant Governor. In the first primary there was no election. In the second primary Mr. P. M. Lambremont and J. J. Bailey were the candidates. Outside the parish of Orleans and a few others, Mr. Bailey's majority was large. The vote of the city put Mr. Lambremont nearly two thousand ballots ahead. Mr. Bailey claimed that he was defrauded out of the nomination and appealed to the State Central Committee. He lost his case before that body, and appealed to the civil court. That court dismissed his case on the ground of no cause for action, and pointed out that Mr. Bailey's recourse was to bring suit against Mr. Lambremont, the real defendant, in his home parish. According to the sworn statement of certain gentlemen and certain poll lists, if the truth has been told, no doubt great frauds were perpetrated; but whether enough illegal votes were counted to deprive Mr. Lambremont of the nomination cannot be known without a thorough investigation. This investigation was denied by the Central State Committee and by Judge Summerville. Whether the court of "Competent Jurisdiction" will do likewise remains to be seen.

* * *

It is known to our readers that for several years citizens in prohibition territory have sought relief from what is commonly called the "jug trade" carried on by express companies and other common carriers, and also from the evils inflicted on "dry" sections by the issuance of United States tax receipts, which protect illicit dealers (blind tiger men) from prosecution by Federal authorities. Several bills have been before Congress with this object in view. These bills have been warmly and fully discussed in committee during the past few weeks. The sub-committee of the Senate on the Judiciary on Monday, March 16, by a vote of three to two, declared that all the bills on the subject before Congress were unconstitutional. This decision of the committee will probably prevent any legislation by Congress on the subject during the present session. It does seem, in view of the fact that the supremacy of the States has been so frequently affirmed, that a law can be framed, if not by Congress, at least by State legislatures, capable of protecting people against a traffic which, in their sovereign capacity, they have said they would not tolerate. But, if the constitution of the United States disallows a law like that, it is idle to talk of State's rights or the sovereignty of the people.

* * *

The National Child Labor Committee was organized four years ago with the objects of promoting the welfare of society with respect to the employment of children in gainful occupations, investigating and reporting the facts concerning child labor, raising the standard of parental responsibility and public opinion with regard to the employment of children, and assisting in protecting children against premature or otherwise injurious employment by suitable legislation and the enforcement of law. The active members of the committee include some of the most distinguished publicists, philanthropists and social and religious workers throughout the nation; the state committees in affiliation with it comprise the same sort of people, and the National Committee, through co-operations with the state committees, has succeeded in securing the passage of child labor laws or needed amendments to existing laws in thirty states. The fourth annual meeting of the Committee will be held in Atlanta, Ga., April 2-5, at which time the various phases of the subject will be fully discussed by eminent speakers, some of whom have given much time and thought to the matter. The subject, as all know, has been much discussed during recent years, and a healthy public sentiment has been created. But much yet remains to be done.

* * *

The women are never slow at anything. They never fail to see a point or to express themselves, especially if it helps them in an argument (though it is said they reach conclusions by a shorter route than the tedious processes of logic), or serves to burlesque those who oppose them in efforts to secure their rights. We have recently had evidence of their alertness. In the late primary election one of the candidates charged that he was elected, but beaten out of his rights by fraud, and proved his charge by showing that, according to the poll list a large number of dead men voted. His notion was that dead men had no right to vote. At the first meeting of the Era Club of this city the following motion was presented by one of the women, and carried: "Madame President, I move that the legislative committee of the Era Club be instructed to make every effort to secure the passage in the next Assembly of an amendment to the constitution which shall place dead men in the same category with women, children, the criminals and insane, who, under the law, cannot vote. I see from the papers that these men have been voting, and I consider that they belong to the disfranchised class." In view of the importance of the subject and the point which the shrewd lady made we can overlook the slight irregularity of the motion, for which, however, the reporter and not the fair author may be responsible.

* * *

Were it not such a serious matter it would be amusing to stand at one side and see the whisky gang and their friends try to act the part of reformers. An honorable man of New Orleans, whose name is Story, seems to have been selected as the apostle of this new order of reformers. At least, if not sent, he goes of his own accord to warn the people of the coming danger. Other men are helping him, among them a whisky missionary from Texas. This Texas man is a bright one—perhaps for this reason he was invited over into the suffering Macedonia by Mr. Story to help. He is his own epistle of recommendation. He takes pleasure in telling his hearers that he is a "teetotaller," and "had no interest at stake other than that of a free-born American citizen." We suspect that he forgot the pay envelope occasionally handed out by the whisky propaganda. But Mr. Story! he is the Mercurius of the reform movement, and were it possible he would make his hearers tremble with alarm. The recital of the catalogue of calamities to follow in the wake of prohibition, were they half true, would turn every man, woman and child in the State into the ranks of the whisky army. But intelligent and well-informed people know that Mr. Story's calamities are only in imagination. Does Mr. Story believe that those who favor prohibition of the liquor traffic are knaves as well as fanatics, that they would fasten upon their fellow-citizens a law disastrous in its results? He says prohibition would not only prove "disastrous financially to the interests of those directly engaged in the liquor business, but to every branch of trade, and bring about a financial crisis, and would demoralize society by creating a condition of outlawry, boot-legging and deception that would constitute a greater disgrace to the State than any other calamity that could happen." That would be awful, indeed. We fear Mr. Story has been somewhat inspired by the resolution of a Lutheran Conference, which said a few days ago that "prohibition is more dangerous and pernicious than the sin of intemperance, and all the evils therefrom resulting." But Mr. Story knows that is not true.

DEATH OF A VETERAN.

Rev. W. S. Shipman, under date of March 18, sends us the following notice:

"Dear Sir—Another of the old guard has fallen on sleep. Brother J. M. Barnes was buried yesterday. Brothers J. H. Mitchel, W. E. M. Brogan, J. T. Durrett, John A. Low, Turner Clark, A. N. Goforth and Brother Sumner, an old neighbor, with the writer, took part in the burial service at the Church, when the Free Masons took charge. A more extended notice will be furnished."

Brother Barnes was a good man and true, and one of the dear old friends of this editor. Blessings on his memory!

Christian Advocate.

Published for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

DIRECTIONS.

Correspondents will please direct all communications intended for the Editor to 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La. Communications intended for the Business Department should be addressed to the Manager of the New Orleans Christian Advocate. Write with ink, and only on one side of the paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after two weeks, notify us, and we will make it right. Papers will be continued unless subscribers order otherwise.

The Foreign Advertising Department of the N. O. Christian Advocate is in the hands of

Religious Press Advertising Syndicate;

JACOBS & CO., CLINTON, S. C.

J. F. JACOBS, Mgr., Home Office, Clinton, S. C.
Thornwell Jacobs, 85 Arcade, Nashville, Tenn.
J. D. Jacobs, 313 Fifth Street, Louisville, Ky.
C. C. Little, 614 Mutual Bldg., Richmond, Va.
L. J. Carter, 132 LaSalle Street, Chicago, Ill.
J. B. Gentry, Columbia, S. C.
E. J. Barrett, Dallas, Texas.
Thos. L. Bryan, 232 Courtland St., Atlanta, Ga.
Miss M. R. Middleton, 150 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.

SERMON BY REV. THEO. COPELAND.

JOB I, 8-11.

The Book of Job is admitted, almost without a dissentient voice, to be the most sublime religious poem in the literature of the world. Its uniqueness, its pathos, its beauty; its gorgeous diction; its sublime imagery, and its noble universality make it a work of surpassing interest to men of every age and every clime. Critics and commentators of every school have treated it with unfeigned admiration, while men of supreme genius in other ranks of literary life have bestowed the highest praise on this wonderful production. Thomas Carlyle calls it "a noble book; all men's book. It is our first, oldest statement of the never-ending problem—man's destiny, and God's way with him here in this earth. And all in such free, flowing outlines; grand in its sincerity, in its simplicity; in its epic melody, and repose of reconcilement. Such living likenesses were never since drawn. Sublime sorrow, sublime reconciliation; oldest choral melody as of the heart of mankind;—so soft and great; as the summer midnight; as the world with its seas and stars." The problem of the book is not one, but many. No doubt the poet intended to vindicate the ways of God to men. No doubt, therefore, he had passed through and beyond that early stage of religious faith in which the heart simply, and calmly assumes the perfect goodness of God. No doubt he had become aware that some justification of the Divine ways was demanded by the doubt and anguish of the human heart. The heavy and weary weight of the mystery which shrouds the providence of God, the burden of this unintelligible world, was obviously making itself profoundly felt. Unquestionably the Book of Job does show in the most tragic and pathetic way that good, as well as wicked men, lie open to the most cruel losses and sorrows; that these losses and sorrows are not always signs of the divine anger against sin; that they are intended to correct and perfect the righteousness of the children of God.

But the main and ruling intention of the book is to teach us a different lesson. A door is opened into heaven. The King sits on his throne; his ministers gather round him and sit in session. Among them appears a spirit named the "Accuser," whose function is to scrutinize the actions of men, and to present them in their worst aspect, that they may be thoroughly sifted and explored. Self is his center, not God; and he suspects all the world of a selfishness like his own. He cannot or will not believe in an unselfish, disinterested goodness. When Jehovah challenges him to find a fault in Job, the accuser boldly challenges God to put Job to the proof and avows his conviction that Job's goodness is bound up with gains and that if God will remove his prosperity he will fling all his goodness away. This challenge not merely affects the character of man; it touches the very honor of God himself; for if the most pious of mankind is incapable of loving God gratuitously—that is really—it follows that God is incapable of making himself loved. Jehovah takes up the challenge and himself enters the lists against the adversary, God undertaking to prove that man is capable of a real and disinterested goodness; Satan undertaking to prove that the goodness of man is but a veiled selfishness," and the heart of Job is to be the arena of the strife.

In the trial of this good man it would seem that all the resources of infernal malignity were completely exhausted. With divine permission Satan divests him of his property and bereaves him of his children. As he maintains his integrity amid destitution and sorrow, the adversary suggests, "But put forth thy hand now and touch his bone and his flesh, and he will curse thee to thy face." "So Satan went forth from the presence of the Lord and smote Job with sore boils from the sole of his feet to his crown. And he took him a potsherd to scrape himself withal; and he sat down among the ashes." How wonderfully does the character and history of this man lay bare with matchless power, the depths of strength and tenderness that lie hidden in the human heart. Had he continued rich and prosperous, he would have gone down to a nameless grave, and after a few years his name would have faded from the memory of mankind. But sorrow comes and touches him, and in a moment he is transfigured. No new power is imparted to him, but those he already possesses are brought into activity. Immediately he rises into a hero; his grandness becomes colossal; he projects the shadow of his grief and the light of his triumphs across the reach of forty centuries, and acquires a name that will live as long as the earth endures. No words can adequately express the depth and intensity of the sufferings that were heaped upon him by infernal malice. His friends, coming from afar to mourn with him and to comfort him, lifted up their eyes afar off and knew him not. "So they sat down with him on the ground seven days and seven nights, and none spake a word unto him, for they saw that his grief was very great."

The greatest trial he was to endure—that which raises such tides of agony in his soul—is not that he has been stripped of his possessions and lies prostrate like Lebanon's rent cedar, not that his friends misunderstood him and wrongfully accused him of sin; it is that God has forsaken him and turned to be his foe. The rebukes of his unwise friends had given birth to something not from without, but from within, that made the head reel beneath his weary frame. Their hard and ready dogmatism had forced upon him a question for which his soul travailed in vain for an answer. This mighty, this Almighty Being on whose greatness and justice and omniscience they discourse so fully; was he, after all, a righteous Being? Was the Ruler of the world a just Ruler? Powerful, he is, without question; nature tells his power. History, such as he knows it, tells his power. Nations rise and fall, and kings exchange the royal girdle for the cord that encircles the loins of the captive horde; but what if all this power is wielded by one who looks with indifference on right and wrong, who smiles alike on the good cause and the bad; who leaves the world to be misgoverned, or worse still, to be governed in the interest of wrong-doing? The creed of his friends and of his time was that good comes to the good man in this world, and ill to the evil man; that God invariably blesses the righteous with temporal prosperity; and that retribution dogs the steps of guilt; and the wrath of Jehovah abides in the tents of the wicked.

All this is so out of harmony with his conscious rectitude that his brain is clouded and his faith suffers to its utmost tension. He remained for days and nights in silence under the open sky, while the mighty march of the stars in the distant wilderness of space, and the solemn glory of the day as it rose and faded from the earth, and the syllabled speech of the whirlwind desolating the land, reminded him of the majesty of God and of the insignificance of man. He who rolled the splendors of the morning up the sky; who had woven the bands of Orion, and bound the pleiades with his law, was sending his feeble child of earth sorrow upon sorrow, and preserving his life only to add the bitterness of memory to the misery of his past existence. But out of all this unspeakable sorrow comes this illustrious saint, his face radiant with the calm confidence of a conqueror, and his great heart pulsating with hope and love. As the royal bird of heaven, driven by the storm and tossed by the tempest, beats his way at last above the clouds and soars on majestic wing to his native heaven, so this afflicted, patient child of misfortune, rises from his grief and poverty, and bathes his happy spirit in the unclouded favor of God. Looking down the vista of coming time he lifts the voice of prophesy: "I know that my Redeemer liveth and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth." Though all that is young and strong and beautiful shall moulder into forgetfulness, earth shall hear her Master's voice breaking the long silence of the centuries, and our dust will hear it and stand up among the myriads that are moving on to the judgment. Each man in his own proper identity, his very self, must see God, and be seen by him, looking out on the strange new scene, and doomed to be an actor in it to all eternity.

What is the issue of this wonderful trial? Satan baffled and chagrined, soon disappears from the scene and returns no more. The well-meaning friends prove miserable comforters, and serve only to intensify his sufferings. Their arguments are met and answered and they leave the field. Then comes the theophany, with a voice from the whirlwind: "who is this that darkeneth counsel by words without knowledge." Job's character is vindicated, his prosperity is restored.

Is man capable of an unselfish love? History teems with example to prove the affirmative statement. Abraham offering his only son as a burnt offering to God; David and his companions in Babylon, Jeremiah and the prophets in prison, the apostles and early Christians driven into the dens and caves of the earth, gladly suffering the loss of all things for the sake of their ascended Lord, amply testify to the transforming power and the righteous character of the sons of God. What is the secret, the basic principle of this exalted virtue? Primarily and fundamentally, it is the grace of God. "O Lord, I know that the way of man is not in himself," said Jeremiah the prophet; "it is not in man that walketh to direct his steps." "Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he has saved us." God is the originating cause of all moral excellence, for every good gift and every perfect gift is from above. "But by grace are we saved through faith;" so that the instrumental cause of unselfish goodness is an unfaltering trust in Christ our Lord. Out of his bitter grief, while not a single ray of light penetrates the dark mystery of human life, our hero exultantly exclaims, "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him." This is one of the supreme sayings of Scripture. It rises like an Alpine summit, clear above all ordinary heights of speech; it pierces the clouds, and glistenes in the light of God. Such tenacious holding, such immovable confidence, such unstaggering reliance, are not the products of nature, but rare flowers of rich Almighty grace. In these words Job answered both the accusations of Satan and the charges of his friends. "Thou hast set a hedge about him and all that he hath," said the accuser. "Though God should pull down my hedge and lay me bare as the wilderness itself, yet will I cling to him in firmest faith," is the [illegible] response of Job. The friends had inquired: "Who ever perished being innocent; or where were the righteous cut off?" To this accusation Job's noble declaration of unstaggering faith was the best answer possible, for none but a sincere soul could thus speak. He waits in the patience of hope, calmly expecting aid, and resolving that, even if it does not come, he will cling to God with all the energy of his soul. Such faith lies at the bottom of all noble character. Its lustrous and immortal beauty shone resplendent in the lives of the patriarch and prophets who looked and longed for the promised Messiah; it irradiated the lives of the early apostles, who, scattered like firebrands, went forth everywhere preaching the evangel of the Son of God; and in every age it has nerved and supported brave and heroic men as they stood with unsheathed swords on the fiery edge of battle. This same principle is the secret of the marvelous progress in modern missions. New apostles and new pentecosts have blessed many lands where the people sat in darkness, and the Son of Righteousness has risen with healing in his wings. And to-day, when all civilization is at its highest, and the world is quivering with measureless hopes and Herculean powers, we discern everywhere the leavening force and confidently expect the coming of millennial glory.

St. Louis, Mo.

MEMBERSHIP IN THE CHURCH.

Dear Dr. Boswell: I have been reading the ADVOCATE ever since I could read anything. It is a dear old paper to me, and I deem its editor's authority on almost any subject of moment to our Church, and if his wisdom should see fit to pass this unnoticed it is all right. But I would be so glad to hear from him through the ADVOCATE again on the subject below.

In going from place to place we ask people, "Are you a member of the Church?" So often the reply is, "Yes; I am a Methodist; but I don't belong here. I joined at ———, and never have moved my membership." They seem to think as long as they do not move their membership there is no obligation anywhere but at ———. Now, what I want emphasized is that they joined the Methodist Church and not simply an organization at ———. The obligation is, "Will you attend upon its ordinances and support its institutions?" and not, "Will you attend upon the ordinances and support the institutions of the Church at ———."

The Methodist Church has a right to expect not only financial support, which is to my mind of no greater importance than any other support, but that they attend and give any help possible to the Sunday school, prayer-meeting, or any public worship as much as to the preaching service. They are to support the Methodist Church anywhere, everywhere and in every way. Their obligations are made to God and the Methodist Church.

Doctor, please tell us what you think.

The above is from a good sister, the wife of one of our active and efficient preachers. She is undoubtedly right in her opinion. Methodism is connectional—not congregational. For convenience sake our membership is divided into societies, but the Church is one. It is natural that one identifying himself with a certain society should prefer that above all others, but that fact does not cut him off from the fellowship and blessings of a neighboring society, or even from one far distant. It is equally true that membership in a given society does not absolve him from the duty of supporting the institutions of the Church. Nothing but intense selfishness or ignorance will allow a member to confine his

[illegible]

BROTHER [illegible] STANDARDS.

Dear Dr. Boswell: I [illegible] article in the [illegible] under the caption of [illegible] He was for [illegible] of the [illegible] said some things [illegible] correct. He [illegible] of study [illegible] preachers [illegible] trine taught of [illegible] to entire sanctification [illegible] work of grace [illegible] Holy Ghost. [illegible] trine is taught in [illegible] Hymn Book. [illegible] hobby to ride [illegible] in all he reads. [illegible] see [illegible] chapter of [illegible] church [illegible] xxii. 34: [illegible] feet, and [illegible] called at [illegible] backward [illegible] backslidings [illegible] kept [illegible] gregation.

I have [illegible] entire [illegible] McTyeire [illegible] Hymn Book.

Brother Pinson [illegible] Wesleyan Methodism [illegible] apostasy [illegible] preachers [illegible] I would like to [illegible] have [illegible] horses [illegible] altar, without [illegible] dared [illegible] stance.

I have had much experience [illegible] who call themselves [illegible] Many of them [illegible] If I ever [illegible] conference [illegible] These I have been [illegible] can say more and do less than any people I have ever known. I think, too, Pinson is sadly mistaken about the Methodist Church being in a state of apostasy, or gone into worldliness. I dare say he will find fully as much of the world and ungodliness in the Holiness Church of Christ as he left [illegible] Holiness Church of Christ. He [illegible] the Holiness [illegible] preaching the [illegible] Wesleyan Methodism than our [illegible]

W. R. WILLIAMS.

[illegible] Miss.

The Canal-Louisiana Bank and Trust Company

[illegible] SAVINGS ACCOUNT [illegible] INTEREST [illegible] 3 1/2 per cent [illegible] compounded semi-annually. [illegible] BURGLAR and FIRE-PROOF SAFETY DEPOSIT VAULTS. [illegible] Trust [illegible] court.

DURING YOUR LIFETIME IT WILL ACT AS YOUR AGENT AND AT YOUR DEATH IT WILL ADMINISTER YOUR ESTATE.

Its Foreign Exchange Department buys and sells Drafts and Cable Transfers, issues Commercial and Travelers' Letters of Credit available in all parts of the world, makes collections and does a general foreign exchange business.

Accounts of Individuals, Firms, Banks and Corporations Respectfully Solicited.

Every Accommodation Offered Consistent With Safe and Legitimate Banking.

ROOMS and BOARD

634 and 638 [illegible] LAFAYETTE SQUARE
CORNER ST. CHARLES ST., NEW ORLEANS.
UNLIMITED MEALS. ALVIN PORTER, Manager.

ESTABLISHED [illegible]
JOHN DAVID BURGHARDT CO.,
THE RELIABLE PLUMBERS and GAS FITTERS.
Agency: Born's Patent Steel Ranges. Hygeia Water Filters.
613-615 Bienville St. Phone Main 2026.
Jobbing and Repair Work a Specialty. New Orleans, La.

[illegible] THE SAME

[illegible] CHRISTIAN [illegible] Mrs. J. [illegible] experience as it [illegible] a sweet friend of mine, [illegible] is the wife of a very prominent minister of the ——— Conference. Not many years ago her husband was assigned to a certain charge, and they had to move a long way. She was in very feeble health. She had worked hard to leave everything neat and clean for the next minister's wife. They arrived on their new charge with hearts all aglow, hoping they would find everything as nice as that they had left; but, lo, they found it not. The house was wanting in everything from the front door to the back. Now, I want to state in the beginning that this charge was not less than thirty years old, and had had a W. H. M. S. for three or four years. There were bedsteads in the house, but they were not unlike those our grandmothers had; they were much the worse for wear and tear, and were bleached white in spots and streaks from repeated washings. There was one old rocker with the bottom long since gone, and a nice, neat board had taken its place, put there, no doubt, by some patient minister's hand. There were four or five other chairs in like condition. There was a small home-made table in the dining-room, and not a thread of table-linen. There was no safe—a box in the wall was the excuse, and no doubt it got there like the board in the chair-bottom. My! I know that box was disgusting! I can see it in my mind's eye. There was a stove in the kitchen. She understood afterwards that it had been donated second-handed; it had been in use many years, and there were practically no vessels. Well, of course, her first thought naturally was: What had that W. H. M. S. been doing all that time? After looking over the house she and her husband sat down to talk the matter over. She rested as best she could for three or four days, and she set out to look up something, she hardly knew what. She called on some of the leading members of the W. H. M. S. and asked them if there couldn't be something done to relieve the situation, and one of them said that she didn't really know that so much was needing; and another said that when spring opened and the weather got good that maybe they could have a supper or something, and raise some money. But what was she to do in the meantime? Well, she went home disgusted, disheartened, with tears in her eyes, and related the situation to her husband. In a few days she again started out, but not this time to look up the W. H. M. S., but to beg some money anywhere she could get it, to buy what she so sorely needed. She walked about ten days and told her story, and she raised the pitiful sum of $17.50.

Now, I want to know whose money this was, and who had the right to spend it? The question didn't bother her then; she felt like she had earned every cent of it, and she spent it with a good conscience. Time passed on and the 1st of March came around, and the secretary of the W. H. M. S. wanted to make her report. So she came over to the parsonage, and very kindly and sweetly asked my friend for the amount that had been raised for the parsonage that quarter. Now, I ask, what right had that secretary to report that money? Now, would the good sisters call that a fly or an alligator? I say, emphatically, she had no right to report it. By and by my friend came to know that this W. H. M. S. had never done anything more than raise their Conference dues, getting a name abroad, and doing absolutely nothing at home. In such instances they are a draw-back to the charges, rather than a help. I have nothing to say against the W. H. M. S.; they have always been a friend to me, and they are doing much good in some places, and I suspect our sister has always had one of these good places. I dare say she is not an average minister's wife. Now, let me add this: I am no complainer. I go hand in hand with the W. H. M. S. and enjoy the work, taking the hardships (if there be any) joyfully, that I may be working for the Master, but I feel that I must in some measure defend Sister Pope, for I believe she has suffered and knows whereof she speaks.

Mrs. H. B. Perritt.

Aucilla, Fla.

We learn from headquarters of the Laymen's Missionary Movement at Nashville, that excursion rates have been secured on all railroads leading into Chattanooga for the Laymen's Conference, April 21st. Full information will be published soon. All plans for programme, entertainment, transportation, etc., are progressing most satisfactorily.

PROHIBITION IN MISSISSIPPI.

Dear Dr. Boswell: I cannot send you this time so favorable a report on Prohibition in Mississippi. After the passage of the act of State prohibition the real friends of prohibition began a movement to put the anti-whisky law in the State constitution. A joint resolution setting forth the measure was introduced into the Legislature to be passed and submitted to the popular vote next fall. The lower house passed this resolution by a two-thirds majority on three several days. Yesterday in the Senate, the vote stood 20 for and 19 against, failing of the two-thirds majority. So the proposition for constitutional prohibition fails this time; but if the advocates of temperance will wage a vigorous campaign of instruction and urge the duty of Christian morality on the people, it is likely that a larger number of friendly Senators will be elected next time. There must be no truce in the contest. The only fair and wise proposition is extermination of intoxicants. This is characterized even in respectable quarters as "fanatical" and "extreme." Mississippi has statutory prohibition, and if that law can be executed, the saloon and blind tiger can be well-nigh run out and closed. Not quite, however. The friends of whisky will always give us enough to keep us busy guarding against the lurking, scouting enemy. He is active, bold, intrusive, deceptive, hypocritical, a friend of every vice, an enemy to every virtue; there is nothing satanic that he lacks, nor evil that does not follow in his train. No friend of the beautiful, the true and the good need ever hesitate to attack him as the deadliest enemy and to wage a war of extermination. Prohibitionists must sleep on their arms and keep a watchful guard at every post. Many of the noblest and ablest men of the State are in both houses of this Legislature, loyal defenders of all righteousness. It is really believed that if constitutional prohibition could have been submitted to the voters of the State, a decided majority would have adopted it. But too many were timid on this subject.

W. T. J. Sullivan.

Jackson, Miss.

CHURCH EXTENSION.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

The Executive Committee of the Board of Church Extension of the North Mississippi Conference met in Winona, Miss., March 9, 1908, with the following members present: T. W. Lewis, J. R. Bingham, and V. C. Curtis.

The following applications to the Parent Board were received:

Okolona, asking for donation of $750, and loan of $2500. (This application had been endorsed by the Board at its annual meeting of 1907 for donation of $500 and loan of $2500, but was returned to the committee for its approval.)

Byhalia, asking for donation of $500.

Southside, Corinth, asking for donation of $150 and loan of $650.

Also an application from South Greenville Mission to the Conference Board, asking for a donation of $150 was received.

They were disposed of as follows:

DONATIONS:

Okolona, approved for $500, graded No. 1.

Byhalia, approved for $300, graded No. 2.

South Side, Corinth, approved for $100, graded No. 3.

LOANS:

Okolona, approved for $2500, graded No. 1.

Southside, Corinth, approved for $500, graded No. 2.

A donation of $100 was made by the Committee, for the Conference Board, to South Greenville Mission, to be paid when the roof is put on the house. V. C. Curtis, Secretary.

Remarkable
for its fine quality, its delicious flavor, its double strength, and most remarkable for its moderate price.

Luzianne Coffee

is the best value you
can possibly get for your coffee money.

SOLD EVERYWHERE

The REILY-TAYLOR COMPANY,
New Orleans.

CHURCH EXTENSION WORK.

The Executive Committee of the Mississippi Conference Board of Church Extension, met in Main Street Church, Hattiesburg, Miss., March 17, 1908, at 10 a. m. The treasurer, Rev. J. W. Crisler, was unavoidably kept away, hence the work fell upon the presiding elder and secretary.

We had before us applications from Biloxi, Woodville and Bond, asking the Parent Board for donations and loans, both; Mendenhall, Seminary and Bay Springs asking for donations only, and Southside, Meridian, asking for a loan only.

The applications called for a loan fund of $7000 and for donations amounting to $3250. We graded these applications to the best of our ability, and will forward same to the secretary of the Parent Board.

There was also a number of Churches represented as expecting help at our annual meeting in December. An application from Main Street, Hattiesburg, was before us, asking for a special loan, that they may go ahead and finish the magnificent Church already begun.

I have made these statements of facts that I might emphasize the importance of raising the Church Extension collection in full this year. As a Church, we cannot do our best work without adequate buildings, and these contributions from the Church Extension Board means much toward the building of these Churches. It encourages the local Church to do better work than it otherwise would.

The Extension Committee of our Conference Board most heartily commend and endorse the setting apart of the second Sunday in May as the Rally Day in our Sunday schools in order to increase the Loan Fund of our Parent Board, and we earnestly urge evry pastor in the Mississippi Conference to observe that day in all their Sunday schools.

Most congregations can build adequate Churches if you will give them time enough in which to pay for them. The Church Extension Loan Fund is intended to give to the congregations their needed time. Let us make the Rally Day mean much to our Loan Fund.

L. E. Alford,
Sect. of Church Extension Board.

There is no action so slight but it may be done to a great purpose and ennobled thereby.—John Ruskin.

W. F. M. S.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

The District Meeting, Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Alexandria District, M. E. Church, South, met in the Methodist Church in Bunkie on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 29, at 3 o'clock, our district secretary, Mrs. Paul Foster, in the chair.

Devotional exercises were conducted by the district secretary. Mrs. J. D. Harper was then elected secretary. The roll was called, and all the societies were represented by delegates except two.

The district secretary then made her report, an earnest, helpful presentation of the cause and obligation of missions.

Mrs. S. E. Schmink read an interesting paper on "How to Interest our Women in Foreign Missions." Rev. J. D. Harper, the pastor, always a friend to missions, made a most encouraging talk on woman's work.

Miss Helen Johnston gave a lucid account of the origin and work of the Scarritt Bible and Training School of Kansas City, Mo., and the district secretary urged that our young girls be induced to take this Bible Training course, and thus be fitted for leaders in all the Church work. Leaflets on the Training School work were distributed.

Miss Phillips read a paper on "What the Auxiliary Means to Me." Then followed a testimony meeting by the members present, relative to what the missionary work had done for them. The power of Christ was present and we all felt it was good to be there. The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. Chapman, and benediction by the pastor. We adjourned to meet at 7:30.

The evening devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. J. D. Harper. That grand old hymn, "A Charge to Keep I Have," was sung, and the Scripture lesson was the 2nd Psalm. Minutes of the afternoon session was read and approved. Mrs. Foster made a very impressive talk, and read extracts from writings of missionaries in China, Korea, Brazil, Mexico and Cuba. Recitation by a sweet little girl, "Just to Please Jesus."

Miss Flora Watson read a paper on "Our Reckoning—What Shall it Be?" A leaflet, "Our Tithes," was read by Miss Clara Harper, followed by a "Lesson on Giving;" questions, with Bible answers, conducted by Mrs. Sewell.

Miss Johnston gave a fine talk on Brazil as to its natural scenery, its government and its people, and showed in several ways how, for five hundred years, the people had been deprived of the light, and that it is our duty to send them the light. She sang a hymn in Portuguese, and after prayer, led by Brother Williams and benediction by the pastor, showed some curious from the land where she had given six years of faithful service.

On Sabbath morning Miss Johnston talked to the Sunday school children a few minutes about the boys and girls of Brazil. Brother Harper preached two spirit-filled sermons on "She hath done what she could" in the morning, and "Go ye into all the World and Preach the Gospel to every Creature," in the evening.

Our Woman's Missionary Advocate and Little Worker were distributed and subscriptions solicited. One club of ten Little Workers (perhaps more) were taken in the Sunday school. A resolution of thanks was tendered, and our district meeting was closed with singing "God Be With You till we Meet Again." Our spiritual strength was renewed and with fresh courage and zeal we start out on our work for the Master.

Mrs. J. D. Harper, Sect.

NOTICE.

We announced last week that delegates attending the meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society at Shreveport should secure certificates when they bought their tickets. We wish to correct that statement by saying they must buy a round-trip ticket, paying one and one-third fare. Tickets on sale March 30-31 and April 1, good to return April 6. The Conference meets April 1-5, 1908.

Mrs. S. A. Montgomery, Pres.
Mrs. B. C. English, Rec. Sec.

NOTICE.

The twenty-fifth annual session of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the North Mississippi Conference will meet in Senatobia, Miss., June 13-17. Delegates will please send names to Mrs. Comie Wright, Senatobia, Miss. A full attendance is desired.

Mrs. S. M. Thames, Conf. Pres.
Mrs. M. L. Hoskins, Rec. Sect.

W. H. M. S.

NOTICE.

Delegates attending the Home Mission meeting at Minden, La., March 28, will buy round-trip tickets at one and one third fare, instead of certificates. Tickets on sale March 26, 27 and 28, good to return April 6.

Mrs. S. A. Montgomery,
Dist. Sec.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE HOME MISSION SOCIETY.

The fourteenth annual meeting of the Mississippi Conference Home Mission Society will convene in Jefferson Street Church, Natchez, Miss., Tuesday, April 14, 1908. Important matters will come before the Conference, and auxiliaries are urged to send full delegations of their strongest and most consecrated women. Names of delegates and visitors must be sent to Mrs. R. E. Ross, Natchez, Miss.

Mrs. T. B. Holloman, Pres.
Mrs. G. R. McQueen, Rec. Sec.

CONFERENCE BOARD OF MISSIONS, LOUISIANA ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

February 27 to March 21, 1908, received for

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Lecompte, Rev. R. H. Harper	$57.00
Crowley, Rev. W. W. Drake	60.00
Parker Memorial, Rev. C. D. Atkinson	52.00
Mary Werlein, Rev. R. E. Harrell	10.00
Alexandria, Rev. H. R. Singleton	132.00
Opelousas, Rev. A. W. Turner	97.00
Trout and Jena, Rev. P. M. Brown	45.00
Chicot, Rev. S. S. Bogan	57.00
First Church, Rev. J. E. Wray	175.00
Minden, Rev. R. H. Wynn	10.00
Summerville, Rev. H. W. [illegible]	7.35
Total	$702.35

DOMESTIC MISSIONS.

Mary Werlein, Rev. R. E. Harrell	20.75
Rayne Memorial, Rev. J. A. [illegible]	100.00
[illegible], Rev. L. P. [illegible]	[illegible]
First Church, Rev. J. E. Wray	75.00
Patterson, Rev. J. F. Patterson	23.50
Ponchatoula, Rev. W. Schuhle	34.50
Total	$278.25

Received for Foreign Missions	$702.35
Received for Domestic Missions	$278.25
Grand Total	$1070.60

W. B. Thomson, Treas.

231 S. Rampart Street, New Orleans, La.
March 21, '08.

GULFPORT, MISS.
Interesting propositions submitted to parties wanting to buy lots. Write for map to
GEO. L. CARLEY, Gulfport, Miss.

Harness and Saddles
E. G. AWCOCK,
333 BARONNE STREET,
Phone Main 1467. New Orleans, La.
Repairs Neatly and Promptly Done.

NETTLETON CIRCUIT.

Dear Dr. Boswell: The first Quarterly Conference on Nettleton Charge was held 29th of February and 1st of March. Every Church in the charge was well represented. The pastor's salary was made a little in advance of last year. The good women of Evergreen had lots of good dinner and to spare. This is my first year at Nettleton. Everything is starting off well. I have met all the appointments, sometimes riding the horse and sometimes the horse riding me. We have some beeswax mud up here, but we get through some how. My horse has got down on me a time or two, but he did not mean any harm by it, and the mud was so deep I got out without injury.

The outlook in Nettleton is somewhat flattering. The good people all over the work have given me such a warm reception it inspires me to try and make this the best year of my ministry. Pray for us that we may have many souls converted, the Churches built up, and all the collections in full.

T. J. Durrett, P. C.

While the Chattanooga Conference represents the laymen of the Church, it will be gratifying to those men of the ranks to know that several of our chief pastors have promised to be present at the Laymen's Missionary Conference at Chattanooga. Our Bishops are enthusiastic in their advocacy of this movement and have everywhere lent their voices and influence to it. Their presence and counsel in the Conference will count for much in the success of the gathering.

NOTICE.

The Durant District Conference will convene at Kilmichael May 21-23, 1908. Preaching Thursday night by Rev. K. A. Jones.

S. M. Thames, P. E.

Durant, Miss.

WHY DOES EVERYBODY WANT VACHER-BALM?
Because Vacher-Balm promptly relieves most of the aches and pains that we all suffer from at times, such as Headaches, Toothache, Sprains, &c. It is cooling and harmless. Price 25c. Per Jar.
I pay you to give samples to your friends and neighbors. Write to-day for particulars, to E. W. VACHER, New Orleans, La.

There are about 500,000 laymen in our Church. These men enlisted and combined, can do great things. The meeting to be held at Chattanooga, April 21-23, is the outcome of a distinct effort to mobilize this great army. It will be a council of war, at which the plan of the world's greatest campaign will be studied. It is expected that from 1000 to 2000 of the loyal and capable of Southern Methodism will here join hands and hearts for a great advance.

FANCY POULTRY, ETC.
Fancy Poultry, Pedigreed Dogs, Cats, Canaries, Parrots, Guinea Pigs, Rabbits, and Pet Stock of every description, Cyphers, Incubators and Feed at Factory-prices, may be had by writing to H. W. Blanks & Co., New Orleans, La. Their catalogue sent free. Write to them

A teacher asked a class of boys in a Sunday school what their idea of heaven was. The smallest one answered, "A place where—where you're never sorry."

MISSIONARY DEPUTATIONS.

Moving pictures from the mission field give new meaning to missionary meetings. Very few persons can have the privilege of personally visiting and studying the work on the mission field to which they contribute. It is now possible, however, for the first time to bring living representations of that work before the eyes of the entire Church membership by means of moving pictures, which representatives of the Young People's Mission Movement secured in connection with a trip around the world last year.

For the purpose of bringing this graphic review of missionary work before the Churches, the Young People's Missionary Movement, in behalf of the various denominational missionary boards, will send into a number of cities and towns during the coming summer well-trained missionary deputations of returned missionaries, detained student volunteers and other experienced missionary workers. These deputations will be equipped not only with the cinematograph or moving picture film, but with a missionary exhibition, which will be open to the public and will represent native customs and religions and the work that is being done by the medical, educational, evangelistic and other forms of missionary activity in relieving and changing unfavorable conditions.

It is expected that the deputation will remain a week in each city, the exhibition being patronized during the forenoons by the Sunday school children under the direction of their teachers; during the afternoons by the adults of the Church, and the evenings being devoted to the missionary travelogues or cinematograph representations of the work in the various fields.

Less spectacular, but not less important than the agencies mentioned above, will be the Conferences which the deputations will hold with Sunday school superintendents, teachers, mission study-class leaders, missionary committeemen, and others concerning methods of missionary work in the local Church. The aim of these Conferences will be to consider and adopt the best plans for deepening the missionary spirit of the Church. Permanency of results will be sought by securing the appointment of committees in existing organizations to supervise and promote the work after the departure of the deputation.

It will be possible to send deputations of this character to only a limited number of cities during the coming summer, and those cities will be chosen that give the heartiest and most substantial assurance of local co-operation. Persons who are interested in securing the assistance of these deputations in their respective cities should write to Rev. Ed. F. Cook, secretary Young People's Department of the Board of Missions, 810 Broadway, Nashville, Tenn.

INSTITUTE FOR PREACHERS.

The commission appointed from the Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama Conferences with a view to establishing an institute for preachers met at Biloxi, Miss., Tuesday, March 17, 1908, at noon. There were present Dr. A. F. Watkins and H. W. VanHook, of the Mississippi Conference; J. M. Dannelly and Frank Seay, of the Alabama Conference, and W. W. Holmes, of the Louisiana Conference. Dr. Watkins was elected chairman and Frank Seay secretary. Dr. Watkins then stated what had been done by a committee previously appointed by the Mississippi Conference to establish such an institute for that Conference. There followed a general discussion of the work in hand.

The commission expressed its commendation of the work already done by this previous committee and its willingness to co-operate with them in the work in question. A suggestion of modification of their programme as published in the Journal of the Mississippi Conference of 1907 was ordered forwarded to them, and the question raised as to whether it would be best to present the first institute during the summer of 1908 or that of 1909. It was resolved that, whatever be the decision as to this year, we request the five Conferences of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama at their next sessions to designate each a committee of three to arrange for the permanent organization of an Annual Institute for Preachers at the Seashore Camp Ground.

FRANK SEAY, Secretary.

THE LAYMEN'S MISSIONARY CONFERENCE AT CHATTANOOGA, APRIL 21-23.

The Laymen's Missionary Conference at Chattanooga, April 21-23, gives promise of being one of the most rousing and enthusiastic meetings ever held in our Church, or for that matter in any Church in the entire Southland. It will be a meeting of hundreds of consecrated, earnest, deeply interested laymen, who have the great cause of missions, both foreign and home, on their hearts. The programme includes a number of most prominent speakers, not only of our own Church, but others as well. There will, of course, be many present who have seen service in foreign fields, and are thoroughly acquainted with the needs of the work there. If we are to evangelize the world in this generation, which many believe possible, there must be united and earnest effort on the part of all, laymen as well as ministers, and such meetings as this will go far towards bringing that about.—Central Methodist.

WINONA DISTRICT.

Dear Doctor: The first round has been completed and a good report comes up from every quarter. The preachers are all hard at work, and good success is attending their labors. In the matter of salaries some fine advances were made. Greenwood will pay $1800 this year, being $300 in excess of last year. Ruleville will pay $1325, which is an advance of $325 over last year. Indianola, Belzoni and one or two other charges have made small advances. In no place was there any determined effort to lessen the allowance for the pastor. Of course, some small readjustments had to be made to suit changes in the charges.

We are expecting great things this year. We are trying to fill every nook and corner of our territory. Plans for special revival services are being laid. I. G. Johnson is now engaged in a meeting at North Carrollton, assisted by J. W. Rogers. L. W. Cain will begin a meeting at Itta Bena the fifth Sunday, assisted by W. S. Lagrone. About the middle of April Brother Lagrone will go to Belzoni to assist Brother Young.

We give the editor of the Advocate a special invitation to attend the District Conference at [illegible], May 26-28.

R. S. LEWIS.

Winona, Miss.

WARNS BAR PATRONS.

Tombstone, Ariz., claims to have the frankest saloonkeeper in the United States. He keeps the Temple Bar saloon and advertises his business in a remarkable manner. He has cards printed bearing the following words:

"Friends and Neighbors—I am grateful for the past favors, and having supplied my store with a fine line of choice liquors, allow me to inform you that I shall continue to make drunkards, paupers and beggars for the sober, industrious, respectable part of the community to support. My liquors will excite riot, robbery and bloodshed.

Our line of Stoves, Kitchen Furnishings, and General Household Supplies is full of interest to all Good Housekeepers.

Suppose you take a look at it for yourself—

UNITED HARDWARE CO.,
LIMITED.

GET SOLID PROTECTION AND INSURE WITH
LEON IRWIN & CO.
Fire and Casualty Insurance.
538 GRAVIER STREET. PHONE, MAIN 538

W. W. Carre Co., Ltd,
Manufacturers and Exporters of
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

"They will diminish your comforts, increase your expenses and shorten life. I shall confidently recommend them as sure to multiply fatal accidents and incurable diseases.

"They will deprive some of life, others of reason, many of character and all of peace. They will make fathers fiends, wives widows, children orphans and all poor. I will train your sons in infidelity, dissipation, ignorance, lewdness and every other vice. I will corrupt the ministers of religion, obstruct the gospel, defile the Church and cause as much temporal and eternal death as I can. I will thus accommodate the public—it may be at the loss of my never-dying soul. But I have a family to support, the business pays and the public encourages it.

"I have paid my license, and the traffic is lawful, and if I don't sell it somebody will. I know the Bible says, 'Thou shalt not kill,' 'no drunkard shall enter the kingdom of heaven,' and I do not expect the drunkard-maker to fare any better, but I want an easy living and I have resolved to gather the wages of iniquity and fatten on the ruin of my species.

"I shall, therefore, carry on my business with energy and do my best to endanger the safety of the State. As my business flourishes in proportion to your sensibility and ignorance, I will do my best to prevent moral purity and intellectual growth.

"Should you doubt my ability, I refer you to the pawn-shop, the poor-house, the police court, the hospital, the penitentiary and the gallows, where you will find my best customers have gone. A sight of them will convince you that I do what I say.

"Allow me to inform you that you are fools and that I am an honest saloon-keeper."

"VINITA CHIEFTAN."

COMMENCEMENT AT THE MERIDIAN COLLEGES.

The commencement sermon of the Meridian Woman's College, and of the Meridian Male College, will be preached on Sunday, May 24, by Rev. Gross Alexander, S.T.D., editor of the Quarterly Review, of Nashville, Tenn. The commencement exercises will take place the three days following. Preaching once a day and exercises at night. Everybody invited.

J. W. BEESON, Pres.,
Meridian Woman's College.
M. A. BEESON, Pres.,
Meridian Male College.

The Home Circle.

WHAT HAPPENED TO BOBBY.

"It's a miserable day, Aunty Alice. I am miserably lonesome. I fear there is no use in me growing up, 'cause Hannah says I'll never be a man just 'cause I cried when she washed my face so hard in the middle, as if I did not have any nose at all."

"Why, your Excellency! I am grieved to hear you say that; can't we make Hannah apologize?"

"She has gone and hided herself. I told her I'd go away; clear off in the woods; then she need never make any more scrambled eggs for breakfast, 'cause I wouldn't be here to eat them any more."

"Dear me!" said Aunty gravely, "You are going right off, are you, before supper?"

"Yes, it is so miserable lonesome. I wish I had been two little boys instead of one, then I could be chifful all the time; lonesy, lonesy, lone," sang Bobby in a plaintive little voice, as he climbed upon the window sill.

"Shall we have a story to break this dreadful loneliness?" asked Aunty Alice, putting her arms tenderly around his roly-poly figure.

"No, I don't fink I am so lonesome for a story, but I fink I am lonesome for mamma," he replied with a brow full of troubled knots.

"Oh! Bobby, don't say that, you will break my heart, you will have to let Aunty be mother to you now," she said, pushing the curls from his forehead.

A chubby arm stole around her neck and a kiss was imprinted on her chin, then in a very humble, contrite voice, "I guess I'll get my hat and find Gypt."

Down the stairs, the quick feet pattered to the hall closet, where the little cap hung always ready for the garden; then out into the yard with Gypt, who was asleep on the cistern, but at Bobby's approach sat up very dignified and ready for anything his little master might suggest.

They sauntered along towards the gate and stood looking down the road a long time.

Why could he not go and find mamma? He saw them take her down that way—surely she was there somewhere. He wanted her more than anyone knew, because he was miserable lonesome.

Gypt licked the little fellow's hands and looked up into his face, as much as to say, "Let's go and find her. I am lonesome for her too."

Bobby fumbled with the latch—the gate flew open and they stepped out. Just a few steps down the road, then on and on, farther and further.

A sense of happy anticipation possessed the child. [illegible] charming. The birds were singing—at the end of it all must be—Bobby could see [illegible] fancy—mamma with the sweet smile and [illegible] eyes. His heart beat [illegible] little feet went faster and faster.

On and on with the butterflies and welcoming birds, over till the oaks, maples and sycamores stopped and could go no farther, and so they left them behind; only the long hot dazzling road stretched before. Just a little farther on, Bobby was sure, and then—what bliss.

But how long the road grew; how deep the dust lay; how tired the little feet were getting. It was strange, but the same little feet that could trot about all day in play, yet could drag so [illegible] over the dusty hot road.

"It [illegible] me, it's a long way, Gypt," murmured Bobby.

"I fought I should get to it pwetty soon and my shoes [illegible]," he added, sitting down by the side of a hollow tree. The hollow was filled with dead leaves and Bobby thought it made a [illegible]

[illegible]

They came to where two cross-roads [illegible] and he was quite sure the one where the shallows were the thickest was the very one where they went that day they took mamma [illegible] running right across the path.

[illegible] pure white [illegible]

[illegible] robin gave [illegible]

"It's all [illegible]," he said as he laid [illegible] in the [illegible] grass, feeling that his quest would [illegible]

The water gurgled and [illegible] the robin's song had ceased, so he lay [illegible] with his eyes fixed upon one [illegible] seemed to [illegible] back at him—he could see its eyes, and [illegible]—yes, it was [illegible]

Bobby's cup of happiness [illegible]

A great [illegible] sweet face [illegible] came up and in a [illegible] Mamma's [illegible]

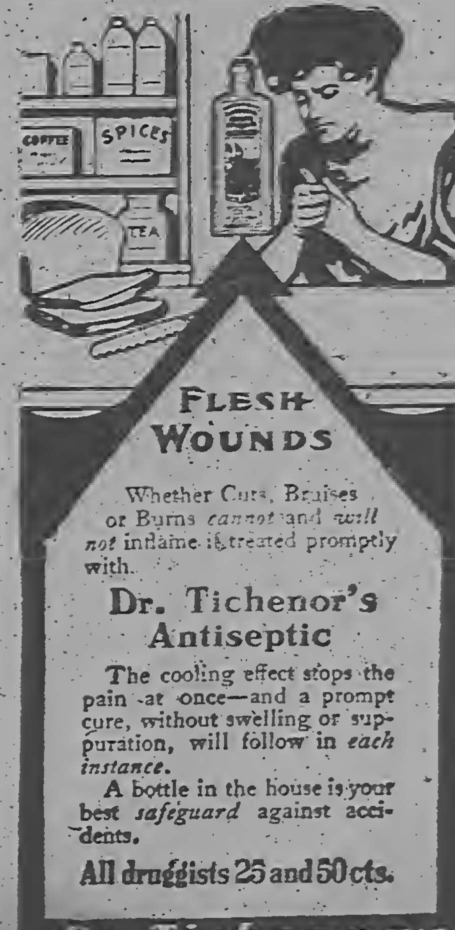
[illegible] Bobby was conscious that she was hugging him [illegible]

[illegible] ever tell—do you, Gypt?" he answered, shaking his head very slowly and looking longingly towards the pond [illegible] and Gypt wagged his tail as much as to say, "They never could."—Miss Nell Milburn, in Central Methodist.

[illegible]

[illegible] amend the [illegible] of the [illegible] State, as to give the Federal courts jurisdiction in all such cases. [illegible] have introduced [illegible] the United States to vote on such amendment to the constitution. [illegible] polygamy [illegible] the United States, and [illegible] Federal courts only. [illegible] of local [illegible] United States [illegible] the State, [illegible] vile and [illegible] the United States had [illegible] brave enough and strong enough to speak out on the [illegible] them by calling [illegible] that [illegible] rality.

Mr. [illegible] Philadelphia [illegible] man to [illegible] personal [illegible] and study as a newspaper man and by his [illegible] of [illegible] in its [illegible] he has [illegible] gatherings, [illegible] one of the [illegible] Chattanooga, April 21-23.



FLESH WOUNDS

Whether Cuts, Bruises or Burns cannot and will not inflame if treated promptly with

Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic

The cooling effect stops the pain at once—and a prompt cure, without swelling or suppuration, will follow in each instance.

A bottle in the house is your best safeguard against accidents.

All druggists 25 and 50 cts.

Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic.
ASK ANY ONE WHO HAS EVER USED IT

Christian Advocate.

REV. JNO. W. BOSWELL, D.D., Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.
CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TERMS:

One Copy, one year, $2; six months, $1. To Preachers of all Denominations, half-price.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES:

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE—Rev. W. W. Drake, Rev. N. E. Joyner, Rev. J. M. Henry.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. M. L. Burton, Rev. W. H. Lewis, Rev. C. W. Crisler.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, D.D.; Rev. J. T. Murrah, Rev. W. W. Woollard.

TO OUR FRIENDS.

Many of our subscribers are still behind on their subscriptions. We hope they will remember that the 1st of April will soon be here, and that unless they pay up we will be compelled by the Postoffice authorities to cut them off, else continue the paper to them at our cost. This latter we are not able to bear, and we will hate very much to strike their names from our list, for many of them are good for the amount, and friends of the paper, but just a little thoughtless about paying up to date.

Will our preachers kindly call attention to the ruling of the Postmaster General, and urge the brethren to pay before the 1st of April?

THE MISSION PROBLEM IN LOUISIANA.

There may be other sections of Southern Methodism than Louisiana that have peculiar mission problems. We are not acquainted with them. We know Louisiana has. Large sections of the State are inhabited by a French-speaking population. The people are nominally Roman Catholic, but being widely scattered and away from the towns they do not have that priestly oversight common to Romanists in the cities. Very many of them are accessible to Protestant ministers. Our Church has a mission to them which is very promising. Other missions among them might be established if we had French-speaking preachers and sufficient money to sustain them in the work. In the address of Rev. J. M. Henry before the recent New Orleans District Conference he gave the brethren much information, and clearly pointed out the possibilities of the field.

Besides the many French-speaking people in the State, there are thousands of Italians. Many of them have been here for years, and they keep on coming, a ship-load or two almost every month. They are widely scattered, but in many neighborhoods and large plnatations they may be found in sufficient numbers to justify the attention of the Church. The new-comers and very many of those who have been in this country for years could not be reached except by persons who speak their language, or through an interpreter. We imagine it would be easier to reach the children than the adults among these people. And we dare say that here in New Orleans the whole time of half-dozen missionaries could be profitably employed in hunting up and instructing the neglected little ones among these people.

These Italians in a little while are going to be citizens and voters, and do their part towards electing the men who will make our laws. They should be started right. Nothing can better help to this end than to impress them with the truth of our religion and the sanctity of our Sabbath. We do not suppose they know anything about the holiness of the Lord's day, or of the vital importance of personal piety. Work among them here in our midst is quite as much mission work as going to them in their native land. If the Church feels it necessary to establish missions in Rome and throughout Italy, as it has done, and succeeded, there is no reason why we should not try to save the Italians at our doors.

How to reach the Italians and French-speaking people with our gospel is the missionary problem for Louisiana. The necessity for the work is being laid on the conscience of the Church. When once the duty is realized there will be a beginning. Some man somewhere, maybe, some consecrated woman, will learn the language, and offer for the work. There is no reason why the authorities of the Church should not move at once and call for volunteers. There is no reason why the brethren who control in Louisiana should not make a start, and secure the assistance of those who manage the connectional funds.

There is nothing in the constitution or laws of the General Board of Missions forbidding the appropriation of funds for opening and sustaining foreign missions among our population of foreign birth. So we have reason to believe. This being the case, our Board of Missions at its meeting in May should be impressed with the peculiar mission problem of New Orleans and Louisiana, and urged to make a sufficient appropriation to enlarge the work among the French, and to inaugurate it at several points among the Italians.

If Protestants are to do any work among these people Southern Methodists should begin and do its share. The sooner we begin the better.

SPIRITUAL ANARCHY.

When men deny the validity of marriage contracted outside the Roman Catholic Church, or solemnized by others than Roman Catholic clergymen, we need not be surprised at any position they take in regard to Protestantism, however extreme or absurd it may be. And yet we confess to feeling something like a shock in reading in the Times-Democrat, a few days since, the outline of a sermon preached by a reverend father in one of the Churches of this city. This father solemnly warned his hearers that "Protestantism is spiritual anarchy." What did he mean, and why did he say that? An anarchist is looked upon as the most dangerous of all men—as not only a hater of all law, but ready, whenever occasion offers, to take the life of any citizen against whom he may cherish ill will, or who by wicked councils may be doomed to death.

To charge Protestants with spiritual anarchy is equivalent to saying they are opposed to all spiritual rule, and to the authority of God and his Son. What basis has this reverend father for such a charge!

That Protestants are opposed to the Church of Rome is true. But that they have their own Church, with its rules and regulations and its doctrines which they believe and reverently obey is equally true. That they enjoin obedience to the State, and exhort peace among men, and do as much to build up Christ's kingdom and preserve the integrity and safety of the State as any men on earth cannot be denied. As an individual we undertake to say that the best people we ever knew, the most law-abiding, the happiest and the most prosperous, lived in sections which were wholly Protestant—sections in which Romanism was unknown.

A more slanderous utterance was never made than by this son of Rome, who had the hardihood to say that Protestantism is "spiritual anarchy." To convince himself of the slander that he has perpetrated he has but to go into the homes of the representative Protestants of this city. He can do it easier than that: Let him walk about the streets and open his eyes, and look at the thousands of clean-handed and clean-hearted men and women who uphold the laws and morals of the land. They are not servants of Rome, but they love God and keep his commandments.

SEASHORE CAMP GROUND.

As a matter of interest we transfer to our columns from the Picayune what was said in regard to Seashore Camp Ground, about which much interest has been excited in recent weeks because of the efforts of Mississippi authorities to tax the property:

"In the minds of some of the trustees of the Camp Ground there has been a conviction that as a Church this valuable piece of property was not utilized to its best advantages. Believing this at the fall meeting a resolution was passed authorizing the president to appoint a commmittee of three members of the Board to confer with a like committee from the Board of Trustees of Seashore District Training School, with a view of getting a school located on the grounds and unifying the interest of the Camp Ground and District Training School. The Committee met the Training School Trustees and they prepared a plan for a school, which was adopted and which commits the Trustees of the Camp Ground to the school enterprise. It is now only necessary for the three District Conferences to ratify the action of the Board to make it effective. If this is done it will incidently settle all questions as to taxation of the grounds and as to the right of the Church to hold the property, as there is no limitation on the amount of property a Church can hold for school purposes on the Camp Ground constitution, nor is there any question as to the property being exempt from taxation if used for school purposes. Some are not in favor of this school being placed on the grounds."

It seems to us that it would be eminently proper to establish such a school at Seashore. It could be located inside the encampment, or if need be, on the land outside, for there is abundance of room. It is an ideal place, and an ideal training school could well be maintained.

PERSONALS.

Rev. E. S. Lewis has prepared an excellent programme for the "Missionary Institutes" to be held for the Winona District; one at Moorhead, March 31; the other at Stewart, April 9-10. We thank Brother Lewis for copies.

Rev. O. G. Halliburton, who took a supernumerary relation at the last session of the Mississippi Conference on account of feeble health, has improved, and is now giving himself to evangelistic work. For the present he is located in Birmingham, Ala.

The New Orleans District Conference was enlivened and edified by the presence of several visting brethren, members of the Louisiana Conference: Rev. C. B. Carter, Rev. J. M. Henry and Rev. N. E. Joyner. Prof. Weber, president of Centenary College was also present.

Bishop Charles H. Fowler, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, died at his home in New York on the 20th of this month. He had been in feeble health for some time, but the immediate cause of his death was heart failure. He was seventy-one years of age, and had been a Bishop since 1884.

Rev. W. G. Harbin began a series of meetings with Rev. J. W. Tinnin at Hammond, on March 15. He has been doing some earnest and faithful preaching and to larger congregations than usual in our Church. He is hopeful of a good work. He is accompanied in the services by Prof. R. N. Jeffrey, a fine singer, who adds greatly to the interest of the meeting.

Bishop Ward is a great favorite with our Churches in New Orleans. They are always pleased to see him, and hear him gladly. His presence at the District Conference was an inspiration. The brethren look upon him not only as a faithful, but a wise and efficient general superintendent. He presides with ease, and listens attentively to what the brethren have to say.

Rev. J. W. Chisolm, writing from Raleigh, Miss., under date of March 16, says he is encouraged in his work. On the Sunday before he received one person into the Church by baptism and four by certificate, and baptized three babies. He has received eleven members since Conference. Brother Chisolm reports one thing that no other preacher has done in a long while—the holding of a Church Conference.

Dr. John R. Nelson, one of the missionary secretaries, ever faithful to the interests committed to his care, attended the District Conference last week. He made a strong plea for the inauguration of mission work among the Italians now coming to New Orleans and Louisiana in such large numbers. Rev. J. M. Henry spoke at length to the same point, but included the French people, thousands of whom live in the bounds of the Crowley District.

Our Church edifice at Hammond has been greatly improved in appearance by the addition of a couple of coats of paint, for which the Church is indebted to Dr. E. L. McGehee, Sr., and wife, and one of their sons, of New Orleans. Two of their sons, Dr. Lucius and Dr. E. L., Jr., who have charge of the Sanitarium at Hammond, are prominent members of our Church at that place, and the family naturally feel an interest in the little band of Methodists who are struggling hard to keep up the Church. The good people at Hammond feel very grateful to those who have thus remembered them.

MARY WERLEIN MISSION.

The report of the Mary Werlein Mission for 1907 was made out by the pastor and handed in to the Conference by Dr. Parker, the presiding elder, but by some means was misplaced and failed to appear in the Annual Conference minutes. This is to be regretted, as the Mission had a very good report—all the obligations for the year having been met.

R. F. HARRELL, Pastor.

REV. J. M. BARNES DEAD.

Rev. J. M. Barnes, a superannuate, who was admitted in 1881, died on the 17th, at his daughter's home, in Nettleton, Miss. A good man of God, a sound, strong preacher, and a faithful pastor, has gone to his reward. His wife died about three weeks ago.

Listen, laymen of Southern Methodism. Do you not hear the sounds of war? Does there not come to your ears the tread of gathering armies? Can you not hear the shouting of the captains, and the heartening cheers of the lengthening columns? It is the army of your brothers, North, South, East, West, rallying and girding for battle. They are about to vindicate their citizenship in the kingdom of heaven. Will you violate the traditions and deny the heritage—to finish that sentence would convey a doubt that would be next to treason.

Vision, aspiration, is the first essential.—James M. Taylor.

NEW ORLEANS DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

Bishop Ward opened the New Orleans District Conference Thursday morning, March 12. The first departure from the customs of recent years was a resolution that the business of the Conference be directed by the chairman. The first result of this resolution was to limit the committees to the ones on license, recommendation for orders, admission to the Annual Conference and public worship. All business was discussed in open Conference.

On each special theme the Bishop called the roll of the charges. There was a roll-call on the spiritual state of the Church, on finance, and on young peoples' work. After each roll-call there was a general discussion. The discussion over the spiritual state of the Church and what could be done to improve it was close akin to a love-feast.

The names of the following local elders were called, and their characters passed: Jno. B. Kent, W. G. Evans, J. M. Beard, H. H. Ahrens, and F. Mathies.

The names of the following local preachers were called, their characters passed, and their licenses renewed: L. E. Wicht, R. L. Schroeder, Hugh Jamieson, T. V. Peters, and R. F. Harrel.

L. E. Wicht was recommended to the Annual Conference for deacons' orders. T. V. Peters was recommended to the Annual Conference for admission on trial.

Felicity Street Church was selected as the place for holding the next session of the District Conference.

Missions was the dominant theme of the Conference, and there were a number of very strong appeals made. The Conference missionary secretary, Rev. N. E. Joyner, Rev. Jno. R. Nelson, D.D., the Home Mission secretary of the Mission Board, and Rev. J. M. Henry, presiding elder of the Crowley District, were among the speakers. The story of the work of the French Mission in the Crowley District was a revelation.

The call for reports of the American Bible Society developed the fact that at this time New Orleans has no Bible Depository for that Society.

The report of the trustees for the Seashore Camp Ground developed a very earnest and able discussion. The report called for the transference of the property into the hands of trustees authorized to organize a Training School in connection with the other two districts now holding rights in this property. The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the report of the trustees be accepted, and that the trustees be instructed to proceed along the line therein suggested, provided that the charter submitted be revised on the following points:

(1) That the clause reciting the name and purpose of this corporation shall specify the character of this institution, making it a training school and not a college.

(2) That the charter shall specify the right to hold camp-meetings, Chautauquas, and training schools.

(3) That they shall not create a debt upon the property.

The following trustees were elected for the Seashore Camp Ground for the ensuing year to represent this district: W. B. Thompson, A. S. Daniels, S. H. Meyer, Dr. E. L. McGehee, R. J. Anderson and John A. Pharr.

The following Licensing Committee was elected to hold office until the session of the next Annual Conference: Rev. J. A. Rice, D.D., Rev. J. E. Wray, D.D., Rev. H. T. Carley, Rev. W. W. Holmes, Rev. A. S. Lutz and Rev. C. D. Atkinson.

The following lay delegates were elected to the Annual Conference: A. S. Daniels, S. H. Meyer, W. B. Thompson and R. J. Anderson. The alternate delegates were: Chas. D. Chalmers, J. A. Woodville and W. W. Carre.

The president of Centenary College was very much in evidence, and made a very strong address in the interest of the Church college, ably seconded by Bishop Ward.

The entertainment of the Conference by Second Church was delightful, and one very interesting element was the postprandial speeches that came after the noon refreshments. In the [illegible] and the [illegible] discussions, and in the manifest presence of the Spirit, this Conference seemed more what they have fancied John Wesley's early Conferences with his preachers might have been.

Part of the aftermath of the Conference was a mass-meeting of all our Churches in the city at Rayne Memorial Church on Sunday night, and the taking of steps to organize a Methodist Union for the city. The congregation undertook to raise five hundred dollars to match a similar amount already pledged by the Conference board. It is hoped that the General Board of Missions will place another thousand alongside the thousand so secured, with which aggressive mission work can be undertaken in this city for the ensuing year.

New Orleans Methodism is facing to the front, and a forward note has been sounded.

H.

Where the finest biscuit, cake, hot-breads, crusts or puddings are required Royal is indispensable.

ROYAL
Baking Powder
Absolutely Pure

Not only for rich or fine food or for special times or service. Royal is equally valuable in the preparation of plain, substantial, every-day foods, for all occasions. It makes the food more tasty, nutritious and wholesome.

NEW ORLEANS PREACHERS' MEETING.

Bishop Ward, of Houston, Texas, was present and made an address.

Dr. Nelson, of the Mission Board, also addressed the Meeting.

Dr. Sawyer, Conference evangelist, read a good paper on the subject of the "City."

Rev. N. E. Joyner, presiding elder of the Alexandria District, was a welcome visitor.

The pastor of Parker Memorial and Felicity Street Churches announced revival services to begin in their Churches soon.

A revival is in full progress at Louisiana Avenue Church.

A layman will be appointed from each Church to look after the balance on the missionary pledge made at the rally at Rayne Memorial Church on last Sunday evening.

BUY THE NEW BOOK
HARP OF A THOUSAND STRINGS
contains the immortal burlesques of Rev. Henry Talliaferro Lewis. One Dollar at McKowen and Co., Jackson, La., and W. L. Linfield, Woodville, Miss.

Jell-O
with Whipped Cream
for DESSERT to-day

Obituaries.

Obituaries not over two hundred words in length will be published free of charge. All over two hundred words will be charged at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and send the amount necessary with the obituary That will save trouble all around.

ALFRED N. SMITH, born Dec. 23, 1853, died in Wesson, Miss., Jan. 1, 1907. His parents died when he was very young, and he was reared by an aunt, who lives three miles west of Brookhaven. He professed conversion under the ministry of the Rev. A. F. Watkins, D.D., by whom he was received into the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. He and his faithful wife, Mrs. Mattie Smith, moved to Wesson, Miss., promptly identifying themselves with our Church at that place. Naturally timid, they were both transformed by a deeper work of grace, and both could pray or testify in public and were ready for every good word and work. There was a family altar in their home. They faithfully and habitually tithed their income. The wife was an active member of the Woman's Missionary Societies, and her husband was an honorary member of each. They found the tithing to be a means of grace and a source of joy. They were diligent in visiting the sick and the strangers. Brother Smith made a good class-leader and one of the best stewards our Church in Wesson ever had. No one doubts the piety, the sincerity or the integrity of himself and his wife. Every home in that town, regardless of denominational lines or preferences, was open to them. Just a little while before he died his wife began singing "Nearer, my God, to thee," and he joined her in the song, and soon fell on sleep, and was with God. Precious will his memory ever be to me. One of the joys of heaven will be to meet him who has gone before.

T. L. MELLEN.

Little EVA CLYDE PRADAT was born Sept. 3, 1898; was burned to death Dec. 25, 1907, at her home near Woolmarket, Miss., aged 9 years, 3 months and 22 days. She was a faithful little Methodist, a bright little Sunday school scholar. Little Eva, as other little girls, was in ecstacy over what old Santa Claus had brought her on Christmas morning, standing before an open fire-place with her doll and little tea-set, preparing to visit some of her little neighbor friends and inspect their gifts. Her dress caught fire, and before assistance could reach her she was burned beyond recovery. Although she had the best of attention and a kind father's nursing and loving mother's prayers, just as the sun was sinking on Christmas day she bade farewell to earthly things and went to heaven. It seemed as if the parents could not give her up. But God loves little children, for he says, "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." "Mother, don't worry," were her dying words. Then, mother, grieve not for little Eva, for she is happy with our blessed Savior in heaven, and some sweet day, by and by, she will stand at the pearly gates to welcome you home. Loving father, little Eva has departed from you, it is true, but only for a season. Be faithful, be true, for in heaven little Eva is waiting for you. Let us be faithful to God, and join little Eva where there is no parting. Lovingly,

L. FAYARD.

Sister SUSAN A. BOLAND departed this life at Big Creek, Calhoun County, Miss., Dec. 19, 1907. She was born in Lexington County, South Carolina, Aug. 17, 1822, and was married to E. W. Boland, Dec. 18, 1844, who preceded her to a heavenly home only a few years ago. Her married life was an exceedingly happy one, and was noted for peace, contentment and faithfulness to the duties it involved. Her deportment was kind and gentle. No one was ever offended at anything she said or did, but in her meek and unselfish way she reared her children, assisted her husband and contributed to the establishment of a joyous, happy home. She seemed to live for the good of others, especially those Divine Providence had committed to her care. The death of her devoted husband left her lonely and sad, but she looked forward to the day when they would meet again, and the day of her hope has come. She was the mother of nine children. Some preceded her to the better land, others are on the way. In the community where she lived all loved her, and no one will be missed more than Aunt Susie Boland. She rests beside those she loved so well, but she lives in the memory of those who know her here.

R. M. DAVIS.

Mrs. FANNIE NEVILLE YANCY was born March 9, 1850, in Hinds County, Miss., and departed this life Jan. 25, 1908, at Flora, Miss. Sister Yancy was a great sufferer, also having known much sorrow. She was called on to mourn the loss of a husband and three children. She knew for weeks before she died that the end was drawing near. She was prepared for it, and that same Christian fortitude with which she had met all the other trials of life, did not forsake her in this. The Arm, almighty, upon which she had leaned for comfort and strength, did not fail her in this hour of her supremest need. She fell asleep sweetly in Jesus and awoke amid the glorious acclaim of the redeemed. It can be truly said of her, "She fought a good fight, she kept the faith." Her soul's supremest concern was no afterthought with her. Early in childhood she had given herself into the keeping of her Lord. We laid her away under the sod in the beautiful cemetery in Jackson, Miss., on Sunday, Jan. 26, surrounded by a large circle of sorrowing friends and relatives, to await the resurrection trump. May God's rich blessings rest upon the devoted and sorrowing daughter and friends left to mourn her loss.

J. J. SMYLIE, Pastor.

Miss AMMA W. HUEY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Huey, was born in Sumter County, Ga., March 22, 1886; died Feb. 13, 1908, at Pelican, La. She was converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, 1903, and lived a consistent member until death. Several hours before she died she realized that she was going, and called the family to her bedside and bade each good-by, saying: "Don't cry; I am going home." It is consoling to the bereaved to know their loved one has gone to her home on high. A short time before she died she asked her sister to play "Nearer my God to Thee." As earthly things grew dim, and as she passed through the valley of death she wanted to get nearer to God. She thought of her friends who were absent. To them she sent words of appreciation, or a last good-by. Funeral services were held at the Methodist Church by the writer. After services her body was laid in the cemetery, there to rest till the resurrection morn, when the dead in Christ shall be raised incorruptible. Her pastor,

A. H. PARKER.

ALBERT BERNARD SAUCIER was born Nov. 2, 1864, and died Jan. 7, 1908. He was married to Miss Sarah Walker on June 24, 1886. Unto them were born nine children, seven of whom, with his widow, survive him. He was a loving husband and father, "one that ruleth well his own house." In his home the ministers of Christ were always welcome. He was a conscientious citizen; always an advocate of civic righteousness. He was converted at seventeen years of age at New Prospect Camp meeting in Jackson County, Miss., joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and was for years a steward and Sunday school worker. He received the blessing of entire sanctification in 1894 under the minstry of his pastor, Rev. H. C. Brown. He was one of the charter members of, and until his death, the secretary of the Board of Managers of the McHenry (Miss.) Holiness Camp ground. He lived a holy life, and was faithful until death. During his last sickness Jesus seemed so near him he would often repeat, "precious Savior," "Christ is all and in all to me," and his last words were, "bless God." On whom will his mantle fall?

W. W. HOPPER.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

Whereas, our heavenly Father has called from our midst one of our brightest and most punctual members to join the holy angels in singing his praise; therefore, be it,

Resolved, That in the death of JOSIE ELKINS, while we recognize the goodness of God, we deeply mourn our loss and realize that the Flora (Miss.) Sunday school has lost a bright and faithful member, and one whose face and kindly greetings will long be remembered by her classmates and teachers. Be it

Resolved, That though our dear little friend has "crossed over the river" and left us for a time, we have the hope that some day we shall find her at the beautiful gates waiting and watching for us. Be it

Resolved, That we extend to the sorrowing friends and relatives the heartfelt sympathies of the Sunday school, and pray that the blessings of heaven may rest upon them in their great sorrow.

Resolved, further, That a copy of these resolutions be sent the family, and be spread upon the Sunday school record, also a copy be sent the New Orleans Christian Advocate for publication.

DR. F. J. JIGGITTS,
MRS. J. C. ROSS,
MRS. O. R. FORE,
Committee.

HOW'S THIS?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions, and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

Walding, Kinnan & Marvin,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and the mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

BELLS.
Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

Classified Advertisements.

EDUCATIONAL.

WANTED—30,000 telegraphers on account of the new 8-hour law. Draughon's Colleges, 30 in 17 states, give written contract to secure position or refund money. Address Jno. F. Draughon, Washington, Nashville, Atlanta, Raleigh, St. Louis, Dallas, Little Rock or San Antonio.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Victor Sanitarium—For the safe, speedy and scientific treatment of Alcohol and Opium addiction. Address 321 Whitehall street, Atlanta, Ga.

OPPORTUNITIES AND INVESTMENTS

INVESTMENT. We can lend your money on first mortgage City realty at from 6 per cent. to 8 per cent profit, net. ALL LOANS GUARANTEED. Pensacola is the nearest city in the U. S. to Panama Canal and is rapidly improving. Escambia Realty Co. Inc., Pensacola, Fla.

The New Orleans Cornice Works,

MANUFACTURERS OF

METAL CORNICES, SKYLIGHTS, Etc., STEEL CEILINGS.

Repairing of all Kinds of Roofs. 619 Poydras St. New Orleans, La.

J. H. CAMPMAN, Proprietor.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL

The Double Track Route.

26 Hours to Chicago
21 Hours to St. Louis
22 Hours to Louisville
26 Hours to Cincinnati

Through Sleeping Cars to above points. Dining Cars, Library Cars, Chair Cars and Coaches.

Full Particulars at

City Ticket Office,
141 ST. CHARLES STREET,
Phone Main 3618.

NEW YORK
CINCINNATI
ST. LOUIS
CHATTANOOGA
MERIDIAN
NEW ORLEANS

QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE

THROUGH SLEEPING CARS
All Meals in DINING CARS
TICKET OFFICE
211 ST. CHARLES ST

HIS CHANCE IS GONE
YOUR CHANCE IS HERE

The question is, are you qualified to hold a responsible position? Have you had a thorough commercial training? Bankers, Merchants and Manufacturers want you if you are competent. Now is Your Chance. Two roads are open to young people. One requires no training and leads to failure. The other requires training and leads to success. We prepare young men and women and start them on the road to success by securing them high-salaried positions. Fine climate, board cheap. Write for illustrated catalog and further information.

HATTIESBURG BUSINESS COLLEGE, HATTIESBURG, MISS.

REVIVAL AT LIBERTY, MISS.

Dear Dr. Boswell: We are praying, planning and working for a revival of religion—pure, genuine, "old-time religion," religion that counts; religion that makes people honest, truthful, liberal, thoughtful, yea, Christ-like.

We expect to begin our meeting the first Sunday in May. Rev. Walter G. Harbin, of Greenville, Miss., is to do the preaching. Rev. J. M. Lewis, of Oakridge, Miss., is to lead the singing. Rev. O. S. Lewis, of Mayersville, Miss., will be with us, and will render valuable assistance, if circumstances favor. Last year we did not have a meeting of days here in Liberty. Circumstances did not favor it. We sold our Church and lot early in the year, gave possession in August. Did not get into our new Church until the first Sunday in December—hence we could not well have a meeting.

The town of Liberty is one hundred years old. It came near dying a few years ago, and our Church came near playing out. Membership got very small. From $50 to $70 was all she could pay her preacher at one time. The Church, as well as our town, is on rising ground. Last year our church paid her pastors $240. We now have a beautiful house of worship, well seated, and will soon have spendid lights in it. We want the prayers of all good people. We know there is power in prayer. There are people here—plenty of them—who, though members of some Church, are not as consecrated to God and his service as they ought to be. We want them saved to the uttermost. We expect Brother Harbin to come to us in the fullness of the blessing of the gospel of Christ. We want him to find us, the people here, ripe for the occasion, ready for action.

Brethren, pray for us. We need your prayers. God bless every one who remembers us while at the throne of grace. H. P. LEWIS.

Liberty, Miss.

PREACHERS' INSTITUTE.

Columbus District.

To be held at West Point April 15-16, 1908.

Wednesday, April 15—8:30 a. m., Devotions.

The Minister:

His Divine Call—Dr. T. C. Wier, R. H. B. Gladney.

His Preparation—Q. A. Oats, J. A. Poe.

His Message—Dr. J. W. Shoaff, W. S. Harrison.

The Demands of the Age Upon Him—T. H. Dorsey, S. L. Pope.

What He Should Study and What He Should Know—J. E. Thomas, W. C. Galceran.

11 a. m.: Preaching—Q. A. Oats.

2 p. m.: Devotions—J. E. Thomas.

The Office of the Holy Spirit in the Preparation and Delivery of the Sermon—D. W. Babb, J. E. Thomas.

What Kind of Preaching Do the Church and the World Demand at the Present Time?—R. H. B. Gladney, W. R. Gourdelock, J. N. Hall.

The Prayer-Meeting—S. L. Pope, T. M. Brownlee, J. L. Nabors.

Pastor's Relation to the Sunday School—E. D. Worsham, W. C. Galceran.

8 p. m.: Preaching—Dr. J. W. Shoaff.

Thursday, April 16.

8:30 a. m.: Devotions—D. W. Babb.

The Pastor [illegible]—T. H. Dorsey, A. P. [illegible], T. M. Brownlee.

How Shall We [illegible] Young People? [illegible] Poe.

The Pastor [illegible] His [illegible]—J. N. Hall.

(2) His [illegible] Woman's Work—D. W. Babb, Q. A. Oats.

(3) How to Develop the Missionary Spirit—J. A. Poe.

The Meaning and Promise of the Laymen's Missionary Movement—Judge Frank A. Critz.

11 a. m.: Preaching—R. H. B. Gladney.

2 p. m.: What of the Present Status and Outlook in the Different Mission Fields: Korea?—Dr. J. W. Shoaff; Japan?—J. E. Thomas; Cuba?—Q. A. Oats; Brazil?—J. A. Poe.

L. M. LIPSCOMB

MONINE CHILL TONIC

Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

ANNUAL SESSION OF MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE LEAGUERS.

To the Presiding Elders, Pastors and Epworth Leaguers of Mississippi Conference:

The Sixth Annual Session of the Mississippi Conference Epworth League will convene June 18, continue through Sunday, 21st, in Gulfport, and I am very anxious that no meeting conflict with this, and to this end I am addressing this letter. At the meeting of the League Board during the Annual Conference at Jackson they tried to fix the meeting so as to not conflict with any other meeting that had already been arranged for, and requested that none of the presiding elders fix their District Conferences or that any of the pastors fix their protracted meetings at this time, so that all can go. You will notice that the date this year is earlier than heretofore, and this was done at the suggestion of those that [illegible].

The League Board asked Dr. H. W. Featherstun, Rev. J. M. Morse and myself to arrange the programme, and any suggestion you wish to make will be gladly received. We wish to make it the best Conference we have ever had from every standpoint, and earnestly ask your co-operation in doing this. It is in the mind of the committee to make it [illegible] inspiration and blessing, and [illegible] some of the Bishops, some one from the missionary rooms, and some of the best department [illegible]. Please bear this in mind and begin now to arrange [illegible] and have your League represented.

Watch the columns of the Advocate for another letter with reference to a plan we are working on to further the interest of the League movement. Now is a good time to organize an Epworth League, if you haven't one in your church. You will have all of the spring and summer to get it going so as to run through the next winter. The following are the officers, and if you need some help call on [illegible] secretary or any [illegible] that is near you, [illegible] Smith & [illegible].

MONINE CHILL TONIC

Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

BLOOD POISONING POSITIVELY CURED

Hereditary, primary, secondary and tertiary. [illegible] and [illegible] Diseases. If you have [illegible] other methods and want to get well, write me in fullest confidence for proof of cures. Take my treatment and get well. A. A. BROWER, M. D. San Antonia, Tex.

Non-alcoholic Sarsaparilla

If you think you need a tonic, ask your doctor. If you think you need something for your blood, ask your doctor. If you think you would like to try Ayer's non-alcoholic Sarsaparilla, ask your doctor.

W. H. BYRNES, Pres. JOHN T. GIBBONS, Vice-Pres. W. WOOD, Sec'y

Capital .... $[illegible]

Assets $179,860 90

HIBERNIA INSURNCE CO.,

No. 305 Camp Street,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

LOSSES PROMPTLY PAID.

Pine-Brook Dairy Co., Ltd

ALL OUR COWS TUBERCULINE TESTED.

Milk and Cream Delivered Morning and Evening.

COR. ST. CHARLES & WASHINGTON AVES. Phone 1514 Uptown.

Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company.

THROUGH DAILY PASSENGER SERVICE

Between

NEW ORLEANS and SHREVEPORT,

via

BATON ROUGE, BAYOU SARA and ALEXANDRIA.

FAST FREIGHT SERVICE.

C. ELLERBE, Ass't to Prest, Shreveport, La. H. B. HELM, Gen'l Superintendent, Shreveport, La.

E. C. D. MARSHALL, G. F. & P. A., Shreveport, La.

THE AMERICAN PAINT WORKS,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.,

MANUFACTURES EVERYTHING IN PAINTS,

—Guaranteed Strictly Pure—

The Climatic Prepared Paints, Perfecto White and

SOLD SUBJECT TO A CHEMICAL ANALYSIS.

DIRECTORS:

Thos. S. Witherspoon, President. Francis Martin, Vice President. R. B. Parker. John McCloskey. Geo. A. Hero.

PHONE, MAIN 915. Special Attention to Mail Orders.

New Orleans Light House

FRIEDRICH MERCANTILE COMPANY

636 CAMP STREET

LIGHTS

(Friedrich Mercantile Co.)

Well-known Welbach Gas Lights, all styles. Something new. Tubus Gas Lights, very popular. Inverted Gas Lights at $1.10. The Practicus Coal Oil Lamp that burns a mantle 60 hours to one gallon of coal oil. You are invited to see this brilliant light. Gasoline Hollow Wire Lamp Systems, substitute for gas and electric lights.

Full Stock of Lighting Supplies.

Country Orders Solicited.

The Union Railroad Business College

BUSINESS TAUGHT AS IT IS DONE.

Is backed up by thousands of dollars and expert teachers. Uses no text books or copying nonsense. Free scholarships given only to those between the ages of 13 and 35 years.

Business men everywhere are calling for the graduates of this school. For full particulars, address PROF. W. E. STEPHENSON, Texarkana, Texas.

SCROFULINE

The Wonderful Healer

Unsurpassed for tetter, ezcema, skin and scalp troubles, old sores, ulcers and piles, any nature or duration. Goes to the very seat of the trouble, kills the germs and extracts all foreign matter. Sold under a positive guarantee, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per jar. Mail orders promptly filled. Stamps accepted. Liberal sample upon request. Address,

THE SCROFULINE COMPANY, Waco, Texas.

SOLE OWNERS AND MANUFACTURERS.

Epworth League

PRAYER-MEETING TOPIC.

GEO. V. MORRIS.

The Awakening of China and the Gospel Opportunity. Acts xi, 19-26; Ps. ii. (Missionary Topic to be presented by Mission Study Class.

Scripture Reference: Acts xi, 19-26 (the text). This is the early persecution and consequent spread of the Church, first among the dispersed Jews, but at length in the city of Antioch among the Greeks. Here Barnabas and Paul preached and confirmed the Church. Psalm ii This is one of the great missionary Pslams. The psalmist has a wonderful vision of the spread of the kingdom of Christ.

A Talk About the Lesson: "Am I genuinely interested in the cause of missions?" is a question we ought to ask ourselves at the outset. It will not be easy to lead the meeting if you are not. The meeting will be comparatively uninteresting to others present if they are not. I would advise the reading of some good book on the broad theme of missions. Then "The Uplift of China" ought to be looked into, and Dr. Wm. Brewster's new book on the same country, both issued by our Book Concern. By the way, have you a missionary study class in your chapter? A good class will create interest rapidly.

The Topic: Ask some one to present a very brief historical outline of China—about three minutes in length. Request another to present the geography, the size, the population, and a mere hint at the manners and customs. Of course, nothing but the simplest sketch can be given in three minutes. To illustrate: The empire proper with its eighteen provinces and its five dependencies has considerably more area than the United States, together with Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands. Bishop Bashford gives the population in round numbers, to be four hundred million.

A third person ought to be given three minutes in which to present the principal religions of China, together with their rites and peculiarities—Confucianism, Buddhism, and Taoism.

The leader himself ought to give a brief history of missions in the Celestial Empire, especially since the Boxer uprisng, closing with an estimate of the most pressing, immediate needs in men, money, and prayer. All of this last talk ought not to occupy more than from five to eight minutes, the whole speaking not to require more than from fifteen to eighteen minutes. Long, tiresome speeches will kill a meeting. Get as many as possible to express themselves in some way in favor of pushing the work in China.—From Western Christian Advocate.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

New Orleans District, Rev. F. N. Parker, D.D., presiding elder; residence, 241 Olivier St.

Rev. John T. Sawyer, D.D., Conference Missionary Evangelist; residence, 2421 Chestnut St.; phone, Uptown 1832.

First Methodist Church, St. Charles Ave., near Calliope St.; Rev. J. E. Wray, pastor; residence, 5830 Prytania St.; phone, Uptown 329; office hours, at Church, 2 to 3 p. m.; Church phone, Main 1779.

Second Methodist Church, 2531 Burgundy, near Lafayette Ave.; Rev. A. I. Townsley, pastor; residence, 2728 N. Rampart St.; office hours, 9 to 11 a.m.; phone, Main 978.

Parker Memorial, corner Nashville avenue and Perrier street; Rev. C. D. Atkinson, pastor; residence 734 Nashville avenue.

Louisiana Avenue, corner Louisiana Ave. and Magazine St.; Rev. W. W. Holmes, pastor; residence 2903 Camp St.; phone, Uptown 1391.

Rayne Memorial, St. Charles Avenue and General Taylor Streets; Dr. John A. Rice, pastor; residence, 1101 Peniston Street.

Felicity Street Church, corner Felicity and Chestnut Streets; Rev. Albert S. Lutz, pastor; residence 2321 Chestnut Street.

Carrollton Avenue, corner Carrollton avenue and Elm street: Rev. Henry T. Carley, pastor; residence, 1125 Fern St.; 'phone, Uptown 1238.

Algiers, Lavergne Street, corner Delaronde; Rev. J. F. Foster, pastor.

McDonoghville and Gretna, Rev. H. Whitehead, pastor; residence 5208 Magazine Street; phone, Uptown 2459.

Epworth Church, corner Banks and Scott Streets; Rev. L. A. Sims, pastor; residence, 232 South Pierce Street.

Rev. Jno. L. Sutton, Superintendent Orphan Boys' Asylum; residence, 5220 St. Charles Ave.; phone, Uptown 128.

Rev. L. E. Wicht, junior preacher Lower Coast Mission; address, 509 Board of Trade Bldg., New Orleans.

QUICK RELIEF FOR SKIN DISEASES
Tetterine quickly relieves the itching and promptly cures diseases of the Skin and Scalp. Eczema, Tetter and Itching Piles yield readily to its antiseptic and healing qualities. The germs are destroyed, preventing return. Tetterine is a fragrant, antiseptic and healing ointment, the finest prescription ever discovered for skin and scalp troubles. Ask your druggist or send 50 cents in stamps to
The Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

Guaranteed Trees and Nursery Stock at a Big Reduction.

During the last six weeks the Iowa Nursery Co., of Des Moines, Iowa, has been offering in the columns of this paper some exceptionally big bargains in trees and nursery stock. Many have accepted their offers and were astonished with the excellent stock as well as the quantity they obtained for the price.

Those who have missed these bargains should write immediately to this reliable Nursery Co. and ask you to send one of their bargain circulars and catalogues. Their bargain circular contains many fine assortments such as $10 worth of fruit trees for $3.97, a $100 fruit orchard for $3.48, 75 grape vines and choice of 300 shrubs for $2.48 and several other good lots at prices that cannot be equally anywhere.

In addition to offering such big values, they give you an absolute guarantee that all stock purchased from them is true to name and high grade and if any shrubs or trees fail to grow, providing it is not due to neglect or weather conditions, they will replace them free of charge and without argument. Write for their bargain circular to-day. Address:
IOWA NURSERY CO.,
Des Moines, Iowa.

FOR A GOOD
PIANO,
PIANO PLAYER or PLAYER PIANO see the Grunewald's
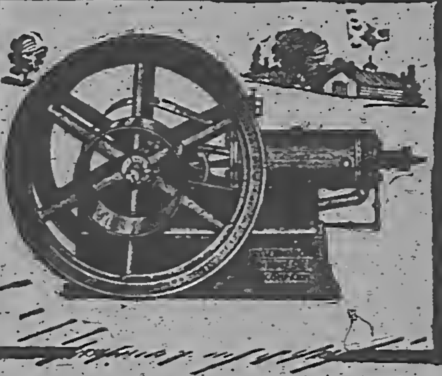
Before You Buy.
Agents for the Latest Improved and best Instruments on the Market.

THE BEST MADE.
Angell's Cough and Whooping Cough Syrup
For Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Throat Trouble.
CONTAINS NO OPIUM OR MORPHINE,
All Druggists, Price 25 and 50 Cents.

$35.50 FROM NEW ORLEANS TO CALIFORNIA,
MARCH 2 TO APRIL 30, '08, INCLUSIVE,
VIA
Southern Pacific SOUTHERN PACIFIC SUNSET ROUTE "Sunset Route"
This rate applies from most points in LOUISIANA, correspondingly low rates from other points.
PULLMAN TOURIST SLEEPERS, OIL BURNING LOCOMOTIVES,
DAILY NEW ORLEANS TO SAN FRANCISCO.
F. E. BATTURS, GEN. PASS. AGT., NEW ORLEANS.



A Reliable Power as a Farm Help

FARMERS are getting over doing things the hard, slow way. The very general use of farm powers is an example.

As a matter of fact, the farmer has as great need of a reliable power as the mechanic.

Take the average barn for illustration. Locate one of the simple, dependable I. H. C. gasoline engines, such as is shown here, outside the barn door, or within the barn, for that matter, and what a world of hard labor it will save! You will have a power house on your farm.

It will shell the corn, grind feed, cut ensilage, turn the fanning mill, pump water, run the cream separator, elevate hay to the mow, and do a dozen other things.

The old way was to use the horses in a tread power or on a circular drive, to operate a complicated system of gear wheels.

The consequence was that most of the hard power jobs were hand jobs.

I. H. C. engines, being so simple, so efficient, so dependable, and furnisbing abundant power at so little cost, have established a new order of things.

Any one who will carefully consider the matter must see that they are money makers and money savers.

They make short, easy, pleasant work of what always has been hard, slow work.

They save the farmer's strength, save him wages of hired men, save time, and enable him to do more work and make more money out of his farm than ever was possible before.

There is no doubt that on the average farm an I. H. C. gasoline engine will more than repay its first cost each year.

The nice adaptation of these engines to all farm duties is one of their most excellent features.

They are built in:—
VERTICAL, 2 and 3-Horse Power.
HORIZONTAL (Stationary and Portable), 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 15 and 20-Horse Power.
TRACTION, 10, 12, 15 and 20 Horse Power.
AIR COOLED, 1 Horse Power.
Also sawing, spraying and pumping outfits.

There is an I. H. C. engine for every purpose.

It will be to your interest to investigate these dependable, efficient engines. Call on the International local agent and get catalogues and particulars, or write the home office.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER COMPANY OF AMERICA, CHICAGO, U. S. A.
(Incorporated)

QUARTERLY CONFRENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

ALEXANDRIA DIST—SECOND RND.

(In Part)

Summerville and Eden, at Bela	Mar 28, 29
Tront and Jena, at Jena	Mar 30,
Bunkie	Apr 4, 5
Lecompte, at Lecompte	Apr 6,
Verda and Atlanta, at St. Maurice	Apr 10,
Colfax and Montgomery, at C.	Apr 11, 12
Pineville, at Holloway's P.	Apr 18, 19
Master's Chapel	Apr 25, 26
Boyce, at Eden	May 2, 3
Pollock, at Tioga	May 6,
Selma	May 9, 10
Boeuf River	May 11,
Chicot, at Ward's Chapel	May 16, 17
Opelousas, at Opelousas	May 18,
Alexandria, at First Church	May 23, 24
Alexandria, West End	May 24, 25
Simmsport, at Woodside	May 30, 31
Dry Creek, at Hopewell	June 5,
Glenmora, at Forest Hill	June 6, 7
Natchitoches	June 11,

The District Conference will convene in Natchitoches June 12-14.

N. E. JOYNER, P. E.

Alexandria, La.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—SECOND RND.

Keatchi, at Longstreet	Apr 4, 5
Grand Cane, at Stonewall	Apr 11, 12
Pelican, at Mitchell	Apr 18, 19
Wesley, at Davis Spring	Apr 24, 25
Coushatta, at Campti	Apr 26, 27
La Chute, at Atkins	May 2, 3
Mansfield Circuit	May 9, 10
Zwolle, at Noble	May 16, 17
Mansfield	May 17, 18
Many	May 23, 24
Ida, at Ida	May 30, 31
Shreveport, Texas Ave.	June 1, 2
Shreveport, First Church	June 3,
Shreveport, Noel Memorial	June 4,
Pleasant Hill	June 6, 7
Greenwood	June 8, 9
Hornbeck	June 13, 14
Leesville	June 14, 15
Bon Ami	June 20, 21
De Ridder	June 21, 22
Mooringsport	June 24, 25
Provencal	June 27, 28

Our Annual Preachers' Meeting and Missionary Institute will meet at Mansfield Monday night, May 18, and close Wednesday night. We want each pastor to bring at least three laymen and as many of the good women as possible.

T. J. WARLICK, P. E.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—SECOND RND.

Wilson, at Pisgah	Apr 11, 12
Clinton	Apr 12, 13
Ethel, at New Hope	Apr 18, 19
Jackson	Apr 19, 20
Baker, at Brookstown	Apr 25, 26
Zachary and Slaughter, at Z.	Apr 26, 27
Port Vincent, at Huffs	May 2, 3
Ponchatoula, at Springfield	May 3, 4
Hammond	May 5,
Independence, at I.	May 6,
Amite City	May 7,
Franklinton, at Angie	May 9, 10
Mt. Hermon Ct., at Mt. H.	May 11,
Kentwood	May 12,
St. Helena, at Wesley	13,
St Francisvill, at Star Hill	16, 17
Pinegrove, at Montpelier	May 23, 24
Liveoak, at Alford's	May 30, 31
East Feliciana, at Clear Cr.	June 6, 7
Melville, at Cottonwood	June 13, 14
Newroads	June 21, 22
Baton Rouge, First Church	June 28, 25
Baton Rouge, Second Ch.	June 28, 29

R. W. TUCKER, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST. — SECOND RND.

Bienville, at Burk Place	Apr 4, 5
Simsboro, at Salem	Apr 8,
Homer	Apr 11, 12
Haynesville, at New Salem	Apr 14,
N. Bossier, at Walker's Ch.	Apr 18, 19
Benton, at Alden's	Apr 20,
Haughton, at Doyline	Apr 25, 26
Gibsland, at Athens	Apr 27,
Arcadia	Apr 28,
Jonesboro, at Jonesboro	May 3, 4
Vernon, at New Prospect	May 9, 10
Bernice, at Bernice	May 11,
Lisbon, at Harmony	May 12,
Minden	May 16, 17
Ringgold, at Andrews'	May 18,
Ruston	May 19,
Lanesville, at Pine Grove	May 23, 24
C. Valley, at C. Valley	May 26,
Winnfield	May 31, June 1

District Conference will be about the last week in July. Preachers, please take notice and make no conflicting appointments.

BRISCOE CARTER, P. E.

CROWLEY DIST—SECOND ROUND

Crowley	March 29
Prudhomme	April 5
Rayne	April 5
Grand Chenier	April 12
Eunice	April 19
Morgan City	April 26
Patterson	April 26
Sulphur and Vinton	May 3
Lake Charles	May 3
Lake Arthur	May 17
Jennings	May 24

J. M. HENRY, P. E.

MONROE DIST.—SECOND ROUND

Bastrop, at Bastrop	Mar 22, 23
Rayville, at Rayville	Mar 28, 29
Gilbert, at Crowville	Mar 29, 30
Monroe, at M.	Apr 4, 5
Winnsboro, at Boeuf Prairie	Apr 11, 12
West Monroe, at Faulk Ch.	Apr 18, 19
Lake Providence, at L. P.	Apr 25, 26
Farmerville, at Marion	May 2, 3
Brookland, at Sardis	May 9, 10
Eros, at Indian Village	May 16, 17
Merrouge, at M.	May 23, 24
Mangham, at Little Creek	May 30, 31
Harrisonburg, at Jonesville	June 6, 7
Florence, at Holly Grove	June 13, 14
Downsville, at Douglas	June 17,
Waterproof, at St. Joseph	June 20, 21
Floyd, at Midway	June 27, 28

J. E. DENSON, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

CORINTH DISTRICT—SECOND R'N'D.

Guntown and Baldwyn, at Pleasant Valley	Apr 4, 5
Mantachie Cir., at Oak Grove	Apr 11, 12
Belmont Cir., at New Hope	Apr 18, 19
Tishomingo Cir., at Salem	Apr. 25, 26
Wheeler Ct., at Double Spgs.	May 2, 3
Marietta Ct., at Blythes C.	May 9, 10
Myrtle Ct., Ebenezer	May 16, 17
Blue Spgs., at Liberty	May 23, 24
New Albany Ct., at Wells C.	May 30, 31
New Albany Sta., at New Albany	May 31, June 1
Booneville Ct., at Blackland	June 6, 7
Jonesboro Ct., at Brownfield	June 13, 14
Rainey and Faulkner Ct., at Marvin	June 20, 21
Ripley and New Hope, at Wier's	June 27, 28

District Conference will be held at Baldwyn, Miss., July 14, 15, 16.

BEN P. JACO, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—SECOND ROUND

Columbus Ch., at Pinegrove	Apr 4, 5
Starkville	Apr 11, 12
Starkville Ct., at Lebanon	Apr 18, 19
Shuqualak, at Center Valley	Apr 24,
Winstonville, at Macedonia	Apr 25, 26
Macon	May 2, 3
Mayhew, at Mayhew	May 9, 10
Mathiston, at Double S.	May 16, 17
Crawford, at New Bethel	May 23, 24
Sturges, at Bethel	May 30, 31
Brooksville	June 6, 7
Hebron	June 13, 14
Cedar Bluff	June 20, 21

District Conference will be held at Mathiston July 1, 2, 3.

L. M. LIPSCOMB, P. E.

OXFORD DISTRICT—SECOND RND.

Randolph Ct., at Washington	Apr 2,
Toccapola Ct., at Salem	Apr 4, 5
Charleston Ct., at Oakland	Apr 11, 12
Grenada Sta.	Apr 13,
Grenada Ct., at Sparta	Apr 18, 19
Potts Camp Ct., at Bethlehem	Apr 25, 26
Red Banks Ct., at Wesley	May 1,
Ashland Ct., at Ashland	May 2, 3
Paris Ct., at Bruner's	May 9, 10
Water Valley Ct., at Pleasant R.	May 15,
Coffeeville Ct., at Goshen	May 16, 17
Waterford Ct., at Harris C.	May 30, 31

The District Conference will meet in Holly Springs May 19, 20, 21.

J. E. CUNNINGHAM, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST—SECOND RND.

Arcola, at Hollandale	Mar 29, 30
Shelby, at Merigold	Apr 4, 5
Clarksdale, at 11 a.m.	Apr 12,
Lula, at Lyon, at 8 p.m.	Apr 12,
Boyle, at New Salem	Apr 18, 19
Benoit, at Beulah	Apr 26, 27
Alligator, at Duncan	May 1,
Coahoma, at Dubbs	May 3, 4
Tunica	May 4, 5
Cleveland Sta.	May 10, 11
Cleveland Ct.	May 11, 12
Rosedale	May 14,
Gunnison, at Hillhouse	May 16, 17
Friar's Point	May 17, 18
Greenville	May 23, 24
Jonestown, at Belen	May 30, 31
Robinsonville	June 1,
Shaw	June 7, 8
Glen Allan and South Greenville	June 10,

The District Conference will be held at Cleveland May 27-29.

R. A. MEEK, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST. — SECOND RND.

Verona, at Palmetto	Mar 28, 29
Tupelo	Apr 5, 6
Buenavista, at Macedonia	Apr 11, 12
Okolona	Apr 19, 20
Prairie, at Mulder	Apr 24,
Amory and Nettleton, at N.	Apr 26, 27
Vardaman, at Hurrican	Apr 30,
Bonds, at Nebo	May 1,
Pittsboro, at Pittsboro	May 2, 3
Houlka, at Asbury	May 9, 10
Palestine, at Ebenezer	May 14,
Pontotoc, at Chesterville	May 23, 24
Pontotoc, at Chesterplile	May 23, 24
Nettleton Ct., at Union	May 30, 31
Okolona Ct. at B. Chapel	June 6, 7
Aberdeen	June 9,
Fulton	June 12,
Smithville	June 13, 14

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Sardis	Apr 4, 5
Como	Apr 11, 12
Senatobia	Apr 18, 19
Mt. Pleasant, at Marshall Ins.	Apr 25, 26
Olive Branch	May 2, 3.
Byhalia, at Emory	May 5,
Cockrum, at Independence	May 7,
Pleasant Hill, at Baker's C.	May 9, 10
Wall Hill, at Grubb Hill	May 12,
Hernando and Hinds, at H.	May 16, 17
Coldwater	May 18,
Harrison, at Bethel	May 21,
Courtland, at Wesley's C.	May 23, 24
Batesville	May 31,
Eureka	June 4,
Tyro, at Tyro	June 6, 7
Arkabutla	June 13, 14
Longtown, at Longtown	June 16,
Crenshaw	June 17,

W. M. YOUNG, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

(In Part.)

Greenwood	Mar 29, 30
Schlater, at Sunny Side	Apr 4, 5
Eupora, at Eupora	Apr 8, [illegible]
Winona Station	Apr [illegible]
Indianola, at Fairview	Apr 18, 19
Moorhead, at Sunflower	Apr 25, 26
Webb, at Cherry Hill	May 2, 3
Winona Ct., at Bluff Spgs	May 7,
Inverness	May 9, 10

E. S. LEWIS, P. E.

DURANT DIST. — SECOND ROUND.

Louisville	Apr 4, 5
Ackerman Circuit	Apr 10
Chester, at Pisgah	Apr 11, 12
McCool	Apr 17,
Rural Hill	Apr 18, 19
Durant Station	Apr 21,
Pickens, at Goodman	Apr 25, 26
Lexington Station	May 2, 3
Ebenezer Circuit	May 9, 10
Vaiden, at Kilmichael	May 16, 17
Black Hawk	May 23, 24
Kosciusko Circuit	May 28,
Sidon, at Tchula	May 30, 31

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

Mississippi Conference.

MERIDIAN DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

(In Part).

Central Church, Meridian, at 8 p.m.	Mar 31,
East End, at 8 p.m.	Apr 2,
Fifth Street, 8 p.m.	Apr 3,
Shubuta, at Quitman	Apr 5, 6
Waynesboro	Apr 12, 13
Scooba, at Wahalak, 3 p.m.	Apr 14,
Leakesville, at Adamsville 11 a.m.	Apr 17,
Buckatunna, at Stateline	Apr 19, 20
Daleville, at Chapel, 11 a.m.	Apr 22,
Binnsville	Apr 26, 27
Lauderdale, at Mt. Hebron, 11 a.m.	Apr 30,

The District Missionary Institute will be held April 7 and 8 at Central Church. The District Epworth League Conference will be held at Central Church Apr. 9.

W. C. BLACK, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—SECOND ROUND

Utica, at Bear Creek	Mar 14, 15
Lorman, at Mt. Gomes	Mar 21, 22
Harriston, at Mispah	Mar 28, 29
S. Warren, at Shiloh	Apr 4, 5
S. Wash., Vicksburg	Apr 11, 12
Hermanville, at Sarepta	Apr 18, 19
Silver City, at S. C.	Apr 30,
Satartia, at Satartia	May 2, 3
Oak Ridge, at Redwood	May 9, 10
Port Gibson, at P. G.	May 13,
Rocky Springs, at Cayuga	May 23, 24
Edwards, at E.	June 1,
Anguilla, at Grace	June 4, 5
Rolling Fork, at Cary	June 6, 7
Vicksburg, C. Street	June 13, 14
Bolton, at Raymond	June 20, 21
Mayersville, at Shiloh	June 27, 28

District Conference will be held at Edwards May 27-30.

G. H. GALLOWAY, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

(In Part.)

Gloster	Apr 5, 6
Liberty, at Woodland	Apr 11, 12
Hamburg, at Roxie	Apr 19, 20
Homochitto, at Salem	Apr 25, 26

J. T. LEGGETT, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Pearlington and Logtown, at Logtown	Apr 4, 5
Bay St. Louis	Apr 6,
Americus, at Tanner's Ch.	Apr. 9,
Lucedale, at Crossroads	Apr 10,
New Augusta, at McLean	Apr 11, 12
Vancleave, at Mt. Pleasant	Apr 16,
Mosspoint	Apr 17,
Escatawpa, at Caswell Spgs.	Apr 18, 19
Pascagoula	Apr 20,
Brooklyn and Bond, at Garaway Chapel	Apr 25, 26
Longbeach	May 2, 3
Pass Christian	May 4,
Biloxi, Main Street	May 5,
Gulfport, Twenty-fifth Ave.	May 6,
Gulfport, Twenty-ninth	May 7.
Howison and Saucier	May 9, 10
Carriere, at Nicholson	May 14,
Lumberton	May 15,
Hattiesburg, Broad St.	May 16, 17
McHenry and Wiggins, at supper.

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Brandon, 7:30 p.m.	Mar 29,
Fannin, at Goshen Spgs.	Mar 31,
Collins, at Ora	Apr 5, 6
Braxton, at D'Lo	Apr 7,
Seminary	Apr 8,
Sharon, at Camden	Apr 11, 12
Deasonville, at New Hope	Apr 14,
Magee, at Oakvale	Apr 18, 19
Florence, at Wesleyana	Apr 25, 27
Madison, at Pocahontas	May 2, 3
Yazoo City	May 3,
Flora, at Bentonia	May 9, 10
Pinola, at Harrisville	May 20,
Terry, at Spring Ridge	May 23, 24
Jackson, Capitol St.	May 27,
Benton, at Tranquil	May 30, 31
Eden, at Phillips	June 2,
Canton	June 6, 7
Lintonia, at Anding	June 13, 14
Mount Olive	June 20, 21

A. F. WATKINS, P. E.

NEWTON DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Lake, at Lawrence	Apr 4, 5
Shiloh, at Johns	Apr 11, 12
Bay Springs, at Holders	Apr 18,
Montrose, at Montrose	Apr 19, 20
Chunky, at Last Gape	Apr 25,
Newton	Apr 26, 27
Homewood, at High Hill	May 2, 3
Vossberg, at Philadelphia	May 9,
Laurel	May 10, 11
Fifth Avenue	May 10, 11
Rose Hill, at Garlandsville	May 16,

JAS. M. WEEMS, P. E.

MOXINE CHILL [illegible]
Only Tonic—[illegible]

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—SECOND RND.

Columbia	[illegible]
[illegible] Springs	Apr [illegible] 5
Hazlehurst	Apr [illegible] 6
[illegible]	May 11, [illegible]
Mag[illegible]	Apr [illegible]
[illegible] at Mt. Pleasant	Apr 18, 19
[illegible] Norfield, at Norfield	Apr 19, 20
[illegible]	Apr 25, 26
[illegible]	May 2, 3
[illegible]	May 3, 4
[illegible]	May 6, 10
[illegible]	May 11,

GEO. H. THOMPSON, P. E.

DR. MILES' ANTI-PAIN PILLS FOR HEADACHE And Other Pains.
25 DOSES 25 CENTS
125 Doses $1
NEVER SOLD IN BULK
TAKE ONE of These Little Tablets AND THE PAIN IS GONE.

Drives 'Em Out Of House To Die

Get a box of Stearns' Electric RAT and ROACH Paste

If you are troubled with rats or mice. It is sure death, driving them out of the house to die. Easy to use and gives quick and sure results. Sold for 30 years, and never yet failed to kill off rats and mice. Also for cockroaches, water bugs and other vermin. 2 oz. box, 25c; 16 oz. box, $1.00. Sold at druggists and general stores everywhere, or sent direct prepaid on receipt of price.

STEARNS' ELECTRIC PASTE CO. Buffalo, N.Y., U.S.A.

Heiskell's

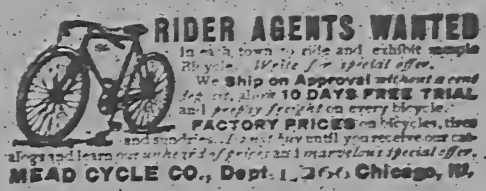
The most obstinate case of Eczema can be quickly and completely cured by the application of Heiskell's Ointment. It also cures Blotchy, Rough and Pimpled Skin; Erysipelas, Tetter, Ulcers, and all other skin diseases. Before applying the ointment, bathe the parts affected, using Heiskell's Medicated Soap. Heiskell's Blood and Liver Pills tone up the liver and purify the blood. Your druggist sells these preparations. Ointment, 50c a box; Soap, 25c a cake; Pills, 25c a bottle. Send for book of testimonials and learn what these wonderful remedies have done for others.

JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO., 531 COMMERCE STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Ointment

FREE DEAFNESS CURE.

A remarkable offer made by one of the leading ear specialists in this country. Dr. Branaman offers to all applying at once two full months' medicine free to prove his ability to cure permanently Deafness, Head Noises and Catarrh in every stage. Address Dr. G. M. Branaman, [illegible] Walnut St., Kansas



RIDER AGENTS WANTED in each town to ride and exhibit sample Bicycle. Write for special offer. We Ship on Approval without a cent deposit, allow 10 DAYS FREE TRIAL and prepay freight on every bicycle. FACTORY PRICES on bicycles, tires and sundries. Do not buy until you receive our catalogs and learn our unheard of prices and marvelous special offer.
MEAD CYCLE CO., Dept. L 266 Chicago, Ill.

Great Money-Raising Plan for Church Workers!

Send to-day for my free plan of raising money for your church. I supply everything necessary. You do not risk a penny. Men, women, boys and girls, all can raise money on this plan. This plan is the surest, easiest, quickest and best money-raiser ever devised. Send for it to-day. Address H. M. BLOSS COMPANY, 428 Fourth Street, Milwaukee, Wis.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one [illegible]

IN winter no amount of warm clothing will make you safe if your vitality is low. Warmth inside is what you must have.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod Liver Oil supplies carbon to the blood and tissues and makes you warm and comfortable all over. It is a safeguard against colds and all the ills that follow them.

Small, easily taken doses will do it.

All Druggists; 50c. and $1.00.

FISHING FOR SOULS.

BY REV. THEODORE L. CUYLER, D.D.

Jesus Christ commissioned his servants to be fishers of men. His command to Peter was, "Launch out into the deep." Peter's reply was that they had toiled all night and caught nothing. "Nevertheless, Lord," he says, "at thy word I will let down the net." He was despondent, but not despairing. The command of his Lord is enough to rally his faith. To the eye of faith many things are clear that to the eye of sense are exceedingly dark. Faith sets the bow of Peter's little smack towards the deep water; the fish are there and not in the shoal water near the shore. So out into the deep they pull; down goes the net, and, lo! such a multitude of fishes are enclosed that two boats are required to bring the abundant haul to land.

Here is a lesson for pastors, Sunday school teachers, parents, and all who long for the salvation of souls. Perhaps last year was not a year of success. Failure in any good undertaking is a calamity; it often breaks the back of a weak Christian's courage. Failure has a reason for it; and it is enough to stir every honest heart to the solemn inquiry: Whose fault was it?

The first duty of faith is to make a new venture. Christ's command is to "launch out," and make the effort. I would not make too much of a word which originally had only a local and temporary meaning, but that word "deep" has a great spiritual significance. There must be a deep down faith in our hearts, and a deep, insatiate desire for the salvation of souls. Shallow interest, shallow praying catch no fish.

The minister who longs to convert souls must lay hold of the deep truths of God and strive to penetrate the depths of the heart before him. Down in the bottom of the uncovered heart is the lurking depravity, the besetting sin, or the unbelief that keeps the sinner from Christ; and the truth must go deep to reach the roots. My brother, you will need strong doctrine to do this. Phillips Brooks well said that "No exhortation to a good life that does not put behind it some truth as deep as eternity can seize and hold the conscience." Preach all the doctrine your Bible gives you.

Fishing for souls is a personal work. It is not confined to the pulpit; every man or woman who possesses faith and an ardent love of Jesus should engage in it. It is not a professional business, restricted to a few and to be done in a set fashion. Nor is it to be accomplished by a whole Church employing a huge net to bring a multitude of converts at a single draught. Sometimes a powerful revival does this, but conversions follow individual effort. The pastor often accomplishes as much in a friendly conversation as by an hour of public preaching. The Sunday school teacher can reach his or her scholars most effectively by a private visit. Personal work does the business.

There must also be preparation by the fisherman if much fish would be caught. Those Christians who, in their daily conduct live nearest to Christ, will win the most converts to Him. Let us launch out into the deep, friends, and let us remember that the secret of success on Galilee was that Jesus was on board.

(From The Evangelist.

Marriages.

On Feb. 9, 1908, by Rev. A. H. Parker, Mr. WILL T. SCOTT to Miss KATIE SMITH, both of De Soto parish.

On Jan. 30, 1908, at the parsonage, Raleigh, Miss., by Rev. John W. Chisolm, Mr. HOMER BRYANT and Miss AMANDA BENSON.

On March 1, 1908, at the home of the bride's father, by Rev. John W. Chisolm, Mr. T. J. BOYKIN and Miss LULU MAYFIELD.

Try This Constipation Cure Free.
If you are suffering from constipation, or any of its attendant ills, such as rheumatism, dyspepsia, headaches, biliousness, malaria, etc., write to-day to Dr. Joseph A. Willis, of Crawfordsville, Ind., and he will mail you FREE a trial package of PANSY COMPOUND. A positive and sure relief.
He guarantees PANSY COMPOUND (under the U. S. Pure Food and Drugs Law) to be absolutely free from alcohol and all poisonous drugs.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

ALTAR CHAIRS, SUNDAY School Seats, School Desks, Portable Chairs, Collection Plates, Communion Tables, Lodge Furniture, etc. Ask for big Catalog No. 60. E. H. Stafford Mfg. Co. Chicago, Ill

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS. UNLIKE OTHER BELLS SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY. Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

MEDICAL OPINIONS OF BUFFALO
LITHIA SPRINGS WATER
Strong Testimony From the University of Virginia.

"IT SHOULD BE RECOGNIZED AS AN ARTICLE OF MATERIA MEDICA"

James L. Cabell, M. D., A. M., LL. D., former Prof. Physiology and Surgery in the Medical Department of the University of Virginia, and Pres. of the National Board of Health: "BUFFALO LITHIA WATER in Uric Acid Diathesis is a well-known therapeutic resource. It should be recognized by the profession as an article of Materia Medica."

"NOTHING TO COMPARE WITH IT IN PREVENTING URIC ACID DEPOSITS IN THE BODY."

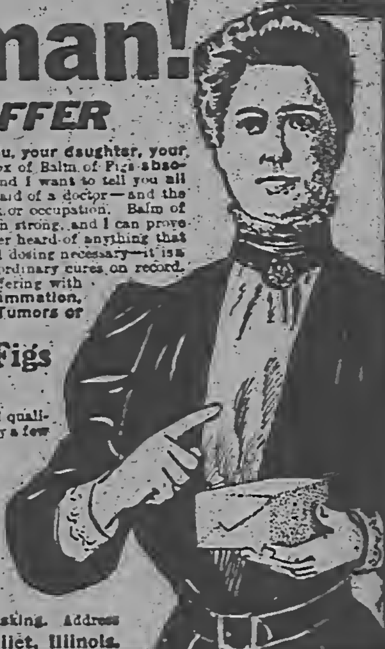
Dr. P. B. Barringer, Chairman of Faculty and Professor of Physiology, University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Va.: "After twenty years' practice I have no hesitancy in stating that for prompt results I have found nothing to compare with BUFFALO LITHIA WATER in preventing Uric Acid Deposits in the body."

"I KNOW OF NO REMEDY COMPARABLE TO IT."

Wm. B. Towles, M. D., late Prof. of Anatomy and Materia Medica, University of Va.: "In Uric Acid Diathesis, Gout, Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, Renal Calculi and Stone in the Bladder, I know of no remedy comparable to BUFFALO LITHIA WATER Spring No. 2"

Voluminous medical testimony sent on request. For sale by the general drug and mineral water trade.

BUFFALO LITHIA SPRINGS WATER CO. BUFFALO LITHIA SPRINGS, VIRGINIA



Sister Woman!
READ MY FREE OFFER

My Mission is to make sick women well, and I want to send you, your daughter, your sister, your mother, or any ailing friend a full fifty-cent box of Balm of Figs absolutely free. It is a remedy that cures woman's ailments; and I want to tell you all about it—just how to cure yourself right at home without the aid of a doctor—and the best of it is that it will not in the least interfere with your work or occupation. Balm of Figs is just the remedy to make sick women well and weak women strong, and I can prove it—let me prove it to you—I will gladly do it, for I have never heard of anything that does so quickly and surely cure woman's ailments. No internal dosing necessary—it is a local treatment, yet it has to its credit some of the most extraordinary cures on record. Therefore, I want to place it in the hands of every woman suffering with any form of Leucorrhea, Painful Periods, Ulceration, Inflammation, Displacement or Falling of the Womb, Ovarian or Uterine Tumors or Growths, or any of the weaknesses so common to women.

This fifty-cent box of Balm of Figs will not cost you one cent

I will send it to you absolutely free, to prove to you its splendid qualities; and then if you wish to continue further, it will cost you only a few cents a week. I do not believe there is another remedy equal to Balm of Figs and I am willing to prove my faith by sending out these fifty-cent boxes free. So, my reader, irrespective of your past experience, write to me at once—today—and I will send you the treatment entirely free by return mail, and if you so desire, undoubtedly I can refer you to some one near you who can personally testify to the great and lasting cures that have resulted from the use of Balm of Figs. But after all, the very best test of anything is a personal trial of it, and I know a fifty-cent box of Balm of Figs will convince you of its merit. Nothing is so convincing as the actual test of the article itself. Will you give Balm of Figs this test? Write to me to-day, and remember I will gladly send you a fifty-cent box of Balm of Figs for the asking. Address
MRS. HARRIET M. RICHARDS, Box 248 D Joliet, Illinois.

If you are not satisfied with your present salary write to-day for particulars. Good positions always ready for our graduates. We cannot supply the demand.
Harris Business University
THE ONLY BUSINESS UNIVERSITY IN THE SOUTH JACKSON, MISS.

STEWART HOME and SCHOOL FOR FEEBLE-MINDED CHILDREN AND ADULTS.
Expert training, mental development, and care by specially trained teachers, and experienced physician who has devoted his life to the study and treatment of nervous children. Home influences. Delightfully located in the blue grass section of Kentucky. 100 acres of beautiful lawn and woodland for pleasure grounds. Elegantly appointed building, electric lighted and steam heated. Highly endorsed and recommended by prominent physicians, ministers and patrons.
Write for terms and descriptive catalogue. Address
DR. JNO. P. STEWART, Supt., Box 4, Farmdale, Ky.

ANGELL PHARMACY COMPANY,
2300 Baronne Street, corner Philip.
PRESCRIPTIONS OUR SPECIALTY. Phone, Main 4268.
Pure Drugs, Chemicals, Toilet Articles, Perfumery, Stationery, etc.
TRY ANGELL'S COUGH & WHOOPING COUGH SYRUP
Price 25 and 50 cents. Sold by all Druggists.
HOMŒPATHIC DEPARTMENT.
Homoeopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, Globules, Sugar of Milk, Etc.
Prices, 1-2 ounce vial 15 cents, 1 ounce vial 25 cents.
PROMPT DELIVERY.

Sunday School

By W. B. Campbell.

LESSON FOR MARCH 29.

TEMPERANCE LESSON.

Proverbs xxiii: 29-35.

Golden Text: "At the last it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder." Prov. xxiii, 32.

When the day set apart for a temperance lesson comes around, those whose homes are in part of our land are differently affected from those who live in another. It depends on whether the battle between evil and good has been fought and won. There are some who stand in the enemies' country, and wait with eager longing for tidings of the advance of the army of deliverance. Teaching the children in the Sunday school from a Scripture passage is the beginning, that is, the beginning of the day's service. The subject is taken up by the minister from the pulpit; from that men are set to thinking, and all through the week the subject is discussed. Men have come to know that the conflict is actually between Satan and Christ.

The temperance movement was weak in its incipiency, and it had a hard struggle for many years. It was like a man trying to live a good life without God's help. Frances E. Willard sent out the battle cry when she inserted the word "Christian" in the name, "Woman's Christian Temperance Union." After that the great cause began to attract the attention of thinking men and women. There has always been a conflict between Satan and the Son of God. It began in the garden where man was made and lived in the image of God. Satan was told then that the seed of the woman would bruise his head. The war has continued. Whenever there is a decided gain in the number of victories for the right, Satan is then all the more active. When the Lord was about to begin his mission of preaching the kingdom of God, Satan was alert and with the effrontery, entirely his own, tried the power of the temptation on the blessed Son of God. Defeat does not dishearten the arch fiend. If he does not succeed in one line of attack, he resorts to another. His final complete overthrow is certain. Jesus saw it as the ultimate result of his mission, when at the return of the seventy they told him of the power they had over unclean spirits. Jesus saw the larger result, even from a small beginning, when he said to them, "I beheld Satan as lightning fall from heaven." After the Lord went back to his home in heaven Satan's weapon against "the little flock" was persecution. Jesus had told his disciples to expect it, and about the time the last one of the twelve died, Christians were persecuted everywhere that the gospel had been preached. Martyrs's blood is mixed with the soil of every country of the eastern hemisphere.

Satan saw how useless persecution proved to be, and how the number of believers seemed to be added rather than diminished, looked around in sheer desperation for another weapon to be more effective against the uplifting of mankind, and he found it. If this weapon were not so powerful we would think it wonderful. It is a thing tangible, of the earth, earthly; yet by its power the Holy Spirit can be driven from man's heart. It can be transferred from place to place in vessels; yet, by its power man can lose the reason God has given by which we decide good or evil. It is made to assume such alluring forms that it is brought into the most elegant and refined company without fear of offence, while just around the corner it has placed a man in such case that he takes the life of his fellow man. What a thing it must be that can change the fond love the son has for mother, and give blows instead. Nothing is too difficult to accomplish with this weapon—that is, if there is evil enough in it. Children must not ask for bread, however hungry, if there is only money enough in the house for some of this power for evil.

This horrible thing is the foundation of every evil work and the list of evils springing therefrom can be found in the Scripture. (2 Timothy iii, 2-7.) The pitiableness of this matter is that there are those calling themselves men that have arose as champions of this evil, that have contributed an enormous sum of money to fight aginst those who out of love for their fellow men are trying to save them. Yea, and are effecting a strong organization; going into a campaign with such zeal and determination as that of our forefathers, when contending for the principles on which our government is founded. O, the shame of it, that here in our own beautiful Southland, the valor of our best men and sympathy of our heroic women must be called into action against an organized movement that combats all that is true, noble and good. The two armies are in battle array. The army of the invasion bears the banner of the cross; the resisting forces can have no set ensign, for if you cease to contend against intemperance, and make the issue horse-racing, lottery or gambling of any kind, no soldier would step out of ranks; for he is there to contend against anything that would make for law-abiding, sober citizens. In the Sunday school to-day there can be made no better use of the designated temperance lesson than to teach of temperance victories in Mississippi, and the inevitable conflict that is to take place in Louisiana.

Set forth intemperance as the weapon used by Satan to bring woe, sorrow and wounds without cause on mankind. Show them how the arch-fiend cannot only make use of his power unseen, but how he can make men work for the ruin of their fellow men. As for individual teaching, there is a most powerful lesson from the words of St. Paul, as he, by inference, says that the Spirit will not abide in the heart of him who drinks.

"Be not drunken with wine, wherein is excess; but be filled with the spirit." Ephesians v, 18.

Let us put on the "armor of God" and be ready "in season and out of season" to "reason of righteousness, temperance and of judgment to come."

PROGRAMME OF THE MISSIONARY AND EPWORTH LEAGUE INSTITUTE OF THE MERIDIAN DISTRICT, CENTRAL CHURCH, MERIDIAN, APRIL 7, 8, 9, 1908.

First Day, 3:30 P. M.

Devotional Exercises, Rev. H. J. Maddox.

Objections to Foreign Missions stated and answered, Rev. J. D. Ellis.

The Aim and Significance of the Student Volunteer Movement and of the Young Peoples' Missionary Movement, Rev. W. O. Sadler.

The Sunday School and Missions, Rev. F. B. Ormond.

The Value and Importance of Education in the Foreign Field, Prof. J. C. Fant.

The Best Methods of Raising Missionary Funds, D. S. Harmon.

Prayer and Missions, Rev. W. A. Hayes.

7:30—Sermon, Rev. M. M. Black.

8:30 p. m.—Reception by the Epworth Leaguers of Meridian.

Second Day 9 A. M.

Devotional Exercises by Rev. R. H. Kleiser.

Our Opportunity in the Far East, Rev. H. L. Norton.

Missions and Church Extension, Rev. L. E. Alford.

The Value of Medical Missions, Rev. J. L. Redd.

Missions in Catholic Countries, Rev. D. G. W. Ellis.

The Home Field—Its Problems and Prospects, Rev. T. B. Clifford.

The Laymen's Missionary Movement, L. P. Brown.

The Inadequacy of the Non-Christian Religions, Rev. J. E. Carpenter.

3 p. m.—Devotional Exercises, Rev. B. W. Lewis.

Triumphs of Missions, Rev. J. W. Ramsey.

Money and Missions, J. E. Watts.

The Work of the Woman's Home Mission Society, Mrs. T. B. Clifford.

Woman's Work in the Foreign Field, Mrs. R. M. Hand.

Epworth League in Missions, Fourth Department, W. D. Hawkins.

7:30 p. m.—Sermon, H. M. Ellis.

Third Day, 9 A. M.

Devotional Exercises, C. H. Poythress.

9:30 a. m.—Devotional Department; Purpose, Meeting, Programme; How Made and of What Composed; Preparation, External, Internal.

10:30 a. m.—The Need of a League in the Country, Rev. L. F. Alford.

10:45 a. m.—The Charity and Help Department, Its Purpose and How to Accomplish it.

11:35 a. m.—The Epworth League and the Social Life, Mrs. A. J. Teter.

Afternoon, 2:30.

Devotions, Rev. J. A. [illegible].

2:45 p. m.—Literary Department, Purpose, How Accomplished—(a) Literary and Social Meetings, Programme, [illegible] (b) Library, (c) Study of [illegible] and Doctrines of the Church, (d) Bible Study, Quiet Hour, (e) Reach the Non-Religious.

[illegible] Purpose, [illegible]

3:45 p. m.—Report from Chapters and Pledges from Churches without Leagues.

4:15 p. m.—The Junior League, Its Purpose, and How to Accomplish it; Meeting, Programme, Preparation.

5:10 p. m.—Final Word.

7:30 p. m.—Epworth League Rally—Several short, live speeches will be made by a number of wide-awake Leaguers of the District.

The League Institute will be conducted by W. D. Hawkins, C. H. Poythress and Mrs. T. B. Clifford.

As this is to be a joint meeting, all who are to attend are expected to be present at the opening session and remain to its close.

All pastors, president of Leagues, two delegates from each League, and two representatives from each Church where there is no League, are entitled to and are expected to attend; and the pastors of the district are urged to see that these delegates are elected and attend.

Bring your note book and pencil with you.

Several of the Conference officers will be present.

Send names of your delegates to C. H. Poythress, P. O. Box 548, Meridian, Miss., and homes will be provided for all who attend.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE MID-YEAR MEETING.

The Mid-year Meeting of the Mississippi Conference Board of Missions will be held in Centreville on June 15, 16, 17. A programme carrying the names of some of the most prominent mission workers of our church will be published in due time.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

Personal to Rheumatics

I want to get a personal letter from every man and woman in America afflicted with Rheumatism, Lumbago or Neuralgia, giving me their full name and postoffice address, so I can send them Free a full-sized, One Dollar Bottle of my Rheumatic Remedy. I want to convince every Rheumatic sufferer at my expense that my Rheumatic Remedy does what thousands of so-called remedies have failed to accomplish—Actually and Permanently Cures Rheumatism. I know it does, I am sure of it and I want every Rheumatic sufferer to know it and be sure of it, before giving me a penny profit. You cannot coax Rheumatism out through the feet or skin with plasters or cunning metal contrivances. You cannot tease it out with liniments, electricity or magnetism. You cannot imagine it out with mental science. You Must Drive It Out. It is in the blood and you must Go After It and Get It. This is just what Kuhn's Rheumatic Remedy does and that's why it cures Rheumatism. Rheumatism is Uric Acid and Uric Acid and Kuhn's Rheumatic Remedy cannot live together in the same blood. The Rheumatism has to go and it does go for good. My Remedy cures the sharp, shooting pains, the dull, aching muscles, the hot, throbbing, swollen limbs, and cramped, stiffened, useless joints and cures them to stay cured.

I Can Prove It All To You

If you will only let me do it. I will prove much In One Week's Time if you will let me do it at my expense, if you will only sit down and write my Company to send you a dollar bottle Free Of Charge. I don't care what form of Rheumatism you have or how long you have had it. I don't care what other remedies you have used. If you have not used mine you don't know what a real Rheumatic Remedy will do. Read our offer and write to us immediately.

C. W. Kuhn

A FULL-SIZED $1.00 BOTTLE SENT FREE

We want you to try Kuhn's Rheumatic Remedy, to learn for yourself that Rheumatism can be cured and we want no profit on the trial. A fair test and a just verdict is all we ask. If you like it and find it is curing your Rheumatism or Neuralgia, order more to complete your permanent cure and thereby give us our chance for profit. If it does not help you, no harm is done. We know what Rheumatism is, we know our treatment, know just how it works, and will take this chance. We do not send a small sample vial, containing about a thimbleful and of no practical value, but a full-sized bottle, selling regularly at drug-stores for One Dollar Each. This bottle is heavy and we must pay Uncle Sam to carry it to your door. We ask you to send us 25 cents to pay cost of packing and mailing case and postage and this full-sized One Dollar Bottle will be promptly sent you free, everything prepaid. There will be nothing to pay on receipt or later. No other Rheumatic Remedy has been or can be so offered. Don't wait until the valves of your heart are injured by Rheumatic Poison, but send today for this one dollar bottle free on trial. Only one bottle sent free to a family and only to those who have never before used this remedy and will send the 25 cents for charges. Address

KUHN REMEDY CO., Dept. B. N. HOYNE & NORTH AVES., CHICAGO.

SEEDS

OF THE

Steckler Quality

Cost but little more than the usual kind, but are worth much more. To convince you that this is true, let us have a talk together. We have spent months of labor and thousands of dollars on

THE BEST SEED CATALOG EVER ISSUED IN THE SOUTH.

It is a manual of over 200 pages with new illustrations taken direct from the vegetable. Shall we mail you a copy? It will cost you nothing, if you will kindly give a fair hearing to our claims for your patronage. Write at once.

J. STECKLER SEED CO., LTD RICHARD FROTSCHER'S SUCCESSORS.

Seed Growers and Importers, New Orleans, La.

Choice Selections

HOW SHE KEPT HER YOUTH.

Some one once asked a woman how it was she kept her youth so wonderfully. Her hair was snowy white, she was eighty years old, and her energy was waning; but she never impressed one with the idea of age, for her heart was still young in sympathy and interest. And this was her answer: "I know how to forget disagreeable things. I tried to master the art of saying pleasant things. I did not expect too much of my friends. I kept my nerves well in hand and did not allow them to bore other people. I tried to find any work that came to hand congenial. I retained the illusions of my youth, and did not believe 'every man a liar,' and every woman spiteful. I did my best to relieve the misery I came in contact with, and sympathized with the suffering. In fact, I tried to do to others as I would be done by, and you see me in consequence reaping the fruits of happiness and a peaceful old age."—Exchange.

TRAIN BOYS TO BE ORDERLY.

"It is a curious fact," commented a man recently, "that almost no mother realizes the importance of bringing her son up to orderly habits. She impresses upon her daughters from the time they are old enough to recognize any responsibility the necessity to keep their rooms tidy, put away articles after use, and care for their belongings at all times. The boy, however, is exempt from any similar requirement, not only in his own room, but throughout the house. He reads newspapers and throws them on the floor, gets up from a divan, leaving the cushions packed and shapeless, without the slightest reproof; the only notice taken of the occurrence indeed being to ask a sister, if he has one, to pick up the one and straighten the other. The women on the family follow in his footsteps all day long, removing whatever disorder he creates. Yet there is no business occupation upon which that boy will presently enter in which order is not a fundamental necessity. Girls, on the other hand, do not, as a rule, suffer so seriously from a lack of order, or at least, consequences are not so continually disagreeable and costly as is the case with boys." —Exchange.

SPEAKING TO THE KING.

Day by day, as we turn the pages of our Yearbook to read the letters that come from afar, we are reminded of the many who dwell not "among their own people," but have made themselves strangers for Christ's sake, and who send their most urgent message, "Pray for us." We would gladly respond to their call; but how shall we know what to ask for them, so far away, and in such varying circumstances?

Paul, that old-time missionary to the Gentiles, gives us some hints that modern missionaries will not pronounce "out of date." Will you turn to them in your Bible?

"Pray that utterance may be given unto me, that I may open my mouth boldly." Eph. 6, 19.)

Pray that God would open a door. (Col. iv. 3.)

Pray that the word of the Lord may have free course, and be glorified. (2 Thess. iii. 1.)

And what about the spiritual needs that missionaries share with all other Christians? He who knows the hearts of his servants, better even than Paul did, said to one of them: "I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not." More than all else, the missionary needs the cheerful trust that, in spite of disappointment and delay, can say with Judson, "The prospects of foreign missions are as bright as the promises of God."

Let us remember that our missionary friends carry with them their own human refinements of social and intellectual life, and their interest in the questions of the day. They leave behind them most of the helps upon which we depend as a constant stimulus to Christian activity. Giving out to others, day by day, their own hearts grow very hungry for spiritual food. That the promised presence of Christ may make up a thousandfold for all that they thus miss may be one of the petitions of our prayer.

In social life they are at most stations shut up to a small circle of associates, not always naturally congenial, with few of our abundant resources for relaxation, and often in a depressing and unwholesome climate. There are difficulties and anxieties and temptations peculiar to the work of the evangelist, the teacher, the physician, the mother, the housekeeper, the new recruit, and the veteran, that we can appreciate only as we become familiar with the different phases of missionary experience.

And let us never forget to include in our prayers the native workers, on whose faithfulness so much depends, and the converts to the Christian faith, many of whom are outcasts from "among their own people," because they have accepted the gospel.

With such thoughts in mind, did you ever pray through your magazine? Try it for one month, with pencil in hand and a map before you. Note every request for prayer. Turn every expressed need into a petition, every reported success into a thanksgiving. Follow the travelers as they journey. Weep with the mourners over the closed grave. Such study will soon furnish abundant answer to our question, "What shall we ask for?" and it will unseal some lips that have been silent at the hour of prayer.

For ourselves, let us fulfill in our lives the conditions of effectual prayer set down by our Lord: "If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you."—Fannie C. Nelson in Central Methodist.

A RESOLUTION FOR EVERY MORNING.

"I will this day try to live a simple, sincere and serene life; repelling promptly every thought of discontent, anxiety, discouragement, impurity and self-seeking, cultivating cheerfulness, magnanimity, charity and the habit of holy silence; exercising economy in expenditure, carefulness in conversation, diligence in appointed service, fidelity to every trust, and childish faith in God."

This is the get-together age. The Laymen's Missionary Movement is a most significant illustration of that spirit. One of the best features of the Chattanooga Conference, April 21-23, will be the bringing together of so large a body of representative laymen. For men who are like-minded to know each other, is a great gain. The touch of elbows in the ranks inspires courage.

WINONA DISTRICT.

There will be two District Missionary Institutes held, as follows, viz: Moorhead, March 31; Stewart, April 9-10. The preachers from Carrollton east will go to Stewart. Those from Greenwood, west and north, will go to Moorhead. Programmes issued in a few days.

E. S. LEWIS.

Winona, Miss.

NOTICE.

The Winona District Conference will be held in Eupora, May 27-28. The opening sermon will be preached on the evening of the 26th by Rev. John Ritchie.

E. S. LEWIS.

Winona, Miss.

A WORD TO THE BOYS AND GIRLS.

Will the District Coference be held this year in your town or community? If so, you will have a chance to make some money very easily in a good cause. Write to Box L, Raleigh, N. C., and you will learn how. We mean exactly what we say. We make the same proposition to any grown-up boy or girl.

BOARD OF MISSIONS.

To the Pastors of the Mississippi Conference: The General Board of Missions ends its financial year March 31, 1908. It bases its appropriations for the next year on the receipts for the year just closing. To bring the contributions from our Conference to the same figure as last year, we must have, within the next two weeks, $545.13. If this amount be received, it means that, so far as our Conference is concerned, there need be no retrenchment in the foreign work. But what of the advance move that should be made and would be made if the money were just sent in?

Will not each one of you send me a check for some amount, however small, to help make up this $545.13? You surely will not fail in this time of great need.

Please be prompt, but post your remittance on the 31st, if you cannot do so sooner.

W. L. LINFIELD,

Treasurer Board of Missions, Mississippi Conf.

Oh, that a golden thread of holiness may run throughout the whole web of this year!—Philip Henry.

THE SAFEST AND QUICKEST WAY

—TO—

TRANSFER MONEY

—Is By—

Long Distance Telephone

FOR RATES APPLY TO LOCAL MANAGER

Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph Co.

INCORPORATED.

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

REV. JOHN W. BOSWELL, Editor
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.

NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, APRIL 2, 1908.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher,
Office, 512 Camp St., New Orleans.

VOL. 55—No. 14.

Millsaps College Library.

"PROVE ALL THINGS; HOLD FAST THAT WHICH IS GOOD."

WHOLE No. 5393.

Glances at the World.

The anti-prohibition papers are publishing everything they can get hold of that in anywise reflects on the work of prohibition. They are especially happy in making public the sad predicament of Mobile—which city they tell us will be obliged to cut its appropriations for public schools, and possibly discontinue some important work, all because the law now compels saloons to close at nine o'clock in the evening, and will shortly enforce the prohibition law. The revenues from the liquor traffic will be cut off, and leave nothing to take its place. As a remedy for this calamity it is seriously proposed by somebody to tax the Churches, preachers and others who have brought about prohibition to supply the lost revenues. That would be nice, indeed! The next thing, we will likely be told that the saloon men will make an effort to get the Churches and preachers to reimburse them for the loss of their business. Had these fellows heeded the warning given years ago they would have been spared their present distress. What they laughed at as a dream is now a reality. "The prudent man foreseeth the evil and hideth himself, but the simple pass on and are punished."

* * *

An organization has been formed in New Orleans, one object of which is to suppress race-track gambling. The move in that direction has been made none too soon. The thing is not only evil in itself, but particularly demoralizing in New Orleans, as racing is conducted on Sunday as well as in the week days. The racing season covers three months—the late fall and winter—the most favorable season in this climate for the business, and at the time when it is too cold in the north. The season, being so favorable and so long, naturally brings from the North, and other sections as well, thousands of persons who do little else than follow the races and gamble. And in these crowds are pickpockets, thugs and thieves of all sorts. We learn since the agitation against the gambling began that it is prohibited by the State constitution, but has never been interfered with because the legislature has never enacted a law to carry the provision of the constitution into effect. The gentlemen who are steering the business seem determined, and have announced that they will make no compromise by conceding a Racing Commission to regulate the business. Their purpose is to put an end to the whole thing. The good people of the State will uphold them.

* * *

Will the Panama canal be finished in a reasonable time, and what will it cost? We clip the following from the Inter-Ocean bearing on the subject: "The estimated cost was $144,233,358, out of which $24,038,893 was allowed for sanitation, police, engineering, etc., leaving $120,104,405 for actual construction. By the end of next June fifty months out of 120 allowed for the work will have elapsed. We shall then have spent for all purposes, including the $8,000,000 recently allowed in advance of formal action by Congress, $87,608,508. Assuming the miscellaneous expenditures at four-tenths of the $24,000,000 allowed, or $9,600,000, we find there is left $78,000,000 for canal construction. This is 65 per cent of the $120,000,000 for actual digging and building. Will 65 per cent of the work be done by the end of next June? Will that much of the Gatun dam be ready? Will four of the six twin locks be complete? Will the 35,000,000 of the 54,000,000 cubic yards of excavation in the Culebra cut have been made? There is no reason to believe that more than 17,000,000 yards will have been excavated at Culebra. Not a block of stone has been cut for the locks. If anything has been done on the Gatun dam it is only within the last few weeks. And at the present rate of expenditure we shall reach the end of $120,000,000 along in the autumn of next year, with less than one-third of the work done."

* * *

The following information concerning the fish industry as conducted by the United States fisheries is given in one of our exchanges: "Fish and fish eggs to the exact number of 2,511,397,377 were distributed in the waters of the United States last year, according to the annual report just issued of the bureau of fisheries. Nearly nine-tenths of the output of the fish cultural stations of the government consist of the important commercial species, notably salmon, shad, whitefish, pike perch, yellow perch, lake trout, cod, pollock, flatfish, and lobsters. The fresh-water species are planted by the bureau in the large coastal streams and the great lakes, and the marine species in the inshore fishing grounds of the Atlantic. The cultivation of game fish of the interior waters is also an important part of the national bureau's work. Upon applications indorsed by a Senator or Congressman the bureau supplies such fish for public streams, lakes, and ponds, fishing preserves, private ponds, and streams. The fish most extensively cultivated for this purpose are landlocked salmon, several species of trout, grayling, bass, crappie, sunfish, and catfish. The fish are delivered free to the applicant at the railway station nearest the place where they are to be deposited. Last year the bureau received 6,346 applications for fish, nearly all for the game species. The demand, especially for bass, crappie, and catfish, is greater than the bureau can meet with its present resources. It does not attempt to supply any applicant with more than a liberal brood stock."

* * *

A New York doctor has come forward with a scheme to put an end to crime by operating on the physical man. This time the surgeon's saw and knife are not to be called into requisition, but the Xray is to be employed. This doctor affirms it has been discovered that the application of the Xrays makes reproduction of the species impossible; in other words, persons to whom the Xrays are applied are sterilized. This being the case, he says, "I am in favor of the enactment of legislation that would permit such application to be made to all persistent offenders against the laws." It appears from this that he does not propose to make criminals good, but to keep them from leaving the brood of criminals behind them, vainly supposing that when they are dead, if they leave no children, crime will come to an end. This doctor goes on to say: "It was discovered by accident, quite recently, that the Xray possessed qualities of sterilization," Dr. Hammond explained. "Those who discovered it were its first victims, the doctors who spend hours each day using the rays. The experiments upon animals followed. The idea came to me then that there was an ideal method for carrying out the plan of sterilizing criminals, which has been urged from time to time. That the world will come to such measures as a general and accepted proposition is certain, and I think we are ready for it now. Not only criminals, but the insane, the physically incompetent and those afflicted with tuberculosis should be prevented from perpetuating their deficiencies, in my opinion. Personally, I do not know that these effects of the Xrays are permanent, but if they are I will be glad to cooperate with both physicians and lawmakers to put them into use." The sun may not move, but the world does!

LOAN FUND DAY.

I desire to ask all the Methodists of North Mississippi to observe Sunday, May 10, as Loan Fund Day.

We are celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of our birth as a Church Extension Society—a silver jubilee—and we want to add $100,000 to our Loan Fund. Already one-fourth of the amount is pledged. If you have no cash to give, make a subscription payable Nov. 1, 1908.

Listen: We have a Loan Fund of $250,000, which is loaned to Churches at 4 per cent for one, two or three years, sometimes for five years. This enables many a Church to build a better house than they otherwise could build.

But the calls for help from this fund are so urgent and so numerous that we ought to have at least half a million dollars to meet the demands. Our own Conference has loans amounting to about $10,000 now. Brethren, please give the people a chance. Yours,

T. W. LEWIS,
Of the Church Ex. Board.

Christian Advocate.

Published for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

DIRECTIONS.

Correspondents will please direct all communications intended for the Editor to 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La. Communications intended for the Business Department should be addressed to the Manager of the New Orleans Christian Advocate. Write with ink, and only on one side of the paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after two weeks, notify us, and we will make it right. Papers will be continued unless subscribers order otherwise.

For Advertising Rates Apply to

Religious Press Advertising Syndicate,

JACOBS & CO., CLINTON, S. C.

Home Office, Clinton, S. C., who have charge of the advertising of this paper.

ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES.

J. F. Jacobs, J. D. Jacobs, Home Office, Clinton, S. C.
R. J. Ritter, 418 W. St. Catherine St., Louisville, Ky.
Thornwell Jacobs, 1011 Stahlman Bldg., Nashville, Tenn.
C. C. Little, 502 Mutual Bldg., Richmond, Va.
D. J. Carter, 132 LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.
Miss M. R. Middleton, 150 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.
Barton E. Buckman, 132 LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.
J. H. Rich, Birmingham, Ala.
E. J. Barrett, New Orleans, La.
J. B. Keough, Atlanta, Ga.
J. B. Gentry, Clinton, S. C.
H. B. Ewbank, Houston, Texas.
W. L. Boggs, Greensboro, N. C.
F. A. Wynne, Cor. Ackard & Elm Sts., Dallas, Texas.

MEMORABILIA.

BY WM. RICE SIMS.

Southern Methodism has produced a galaxy of pulpit orators probably unrivaled by any similar group in the world's history. This statement is not prompted by any pride of sectionalism. It is not the outgrowth of sectarian bigotry. I have heard most of the world's great orators, as reputations go, in the past three decades. Methodist preachers have outclassed them all with the possible exception of Joseph Cook and Henry Ward Beecher; and in their case standards are so variant that comparison is like trying to measure a gallon of molasses with a yard-stick.

Some reminiscences come to me to-day that may be worth noting down.

In my childhood I had the great privilege of hearing a sermon by Marvin, in the old Church at Woodville. It was a historic building—not so great or splendid a setting as Macaulay gives to the hall of parliament in his eloquent description of the trial of Warren Hastings; but notable, for all that. Specially notable to me. Our plantation home used to be six miles south of the little town. On Sunday morning my father would have a pair of little Texas mustangs hitched to a light vehicle, bundle my two older brothers and me into the "trap," and drive those six miles at a gait that would make automobiles look to their laurels. We always stayed to Church. Mother came later to attend the regular preaching service, and sat in the pew with us children. Father never sat with us. He always sat back on the little odd-cornered stairway that led to the gallery on the east side of the Church. At Sunday school we, as members of the infant class, were marshaled around the pulpit railing. Twenty or thirty of us gathered there with good old Mother Lewis as our teacher. It was a far foreseeing genesis of infant class methods, kindergarten work and object lessons. Sometimes she brought us pictures, and we bore them home with all the pride of a Grecian victor at the Olympic games. Sometimes, in the warm spring days, when the jasmine was scenting woodland and meadow, she brought us strawberries—think of it, ye moderns, who are serving luncheon in the basement of your Churches—yes, actually strawberries, enough to go around the whole class. What mattered the stray splotches of juice? The cushion on which we sat was a deep brown-reddish hue, and the stains didn't show at all. We carried the berries home, but in a more covert manner than we did the pictures.

Then the songs she taught us, "I'll Away to the Sabbath School," "I'm Glad I'm in this Army," and a score of others. We stood and sang these, while the more aged and less privileged portion of the school could only sit and listen, now and then with furtive handkerchief laid against moist eyes, as Mrs. Lewis would draw out some tender answer from the children as to why they loved Jesus, and whether they were praying for their parents. But I am getting garrulous. I set out to talk about sermons. Who knows but that these juvenile impressions are among the greatest of all sermonic effects? "Forbid them not."

One Sunday morning as Sunday school was closing we noticed an unusual influx of visitors. The regular Church members were coming in; but with them came people from all the other Churches in town. Soon the Church was so crowded that father came and took us up into the gallery to make room for the guests. I was crowded back some three rows from the front. It was much of a mystery to me; the only solution came through the whispering gallery of children that Marvin was to preach. My first recollection is of a sweet musical voice reading a hymn, in which occurred the line,

> "I saw one hanging on a tree
> In agonies and blood."

Then came a long prayer, doubtless very fervent, which came near putting me to sleep, for I knelt, while many of the people about me sat bolt upright. Then came another hymn, which I don't remember. Then came the sermon—which, also, I don't remember, except a single climax. I was jammed up by the side of a prominent lawyer, whom I had thought as incapable of emotion as a grindstone. Suddenly I saw him weeping. He would not confess to it by taking out his handkerchief—how quick childhood is to notice such things—but, like Longfellow's "Village Blacksmith," he needs must brush away a tear. That aroused my curiosity. I pressed forward to see the preacher who could make him cry. In the old box pulpit that stood against the south wall of the Church I saw a face that startled me. It was like the picture of Christ on my Sunday school card. He was saying some words in a foreign tongue. Since then I have learned that they were "Eloi, Eloi, lama sabacthani"; but immediately he gave the English translation. His hands were flung wide in unconscious but eloquent gesticulation, as though they were nailed to the cross; and then he uttered those words: "My God, my God; why hast thou forsaken me?"

The preacher paused and leaned upon the pulpit. The congregation was dissolved in tears. In the light of more recent years of study and of memory it has seemed to me almost as if I then had the privilege of what the medieval monks were wont to term "the beatific vision." So far as childish impulse and inspiration were concerned, I had seen Jesus nailed to the cross, a sacrifice for the sin of the world.

Indianola, Miss.

A MISSISSIPPI METHODIST MATRIARCH.

BY BISHOP CHARLES B. GALLOWAY.

In a modest white cottage across the street from my home in Jackson, Miss., there has lived for sixty-five years a rarely gifted little woman, who was at once a saint, a model mother and home-keeper, and a genuine Christian philosopher. Into that home she came during the early years of her married life, while the capital city of Mississippi was itself yet young, and there reared a large family, sending some of them to the battles and burdens of life with a mother's blessing, and gently laying others to the sleep that knows no waking. She lived to the great age of three and eighty years, and though all the friends of her early life had gone on before, she fell asleep, deeply lamented by a large community. There was in many households a genuine sense of personal and positive bereavement. It was not the going away of one who had lingered as a sort of social and affectionate reminiscence, but the loss of an active and positive force in Church and community life of a growing city.

Some of the infirmities of age she never knew. While the little body became frail and grew to helplessness, her mind never lost its alertness or vigor, and in conversation she was never circumstantial or reminiscential. For garrulousness or tediousness she had little patience and scant respect. She lived in the throbbing, stirring present, and not in the shadowy, idealized past. Her sympathies were with living issues, and on her table were the freshest books and magazines of the day.

Born in the city of Boston, Jan. 30, 1824, and the descendant of a Revolutionary hero, Gen. Benjamin Lincoln, she came to Jackson, Miss., in 1838, and here spent her useful and beautiful life. Many of the sturdy virtues of her Puritan blood were strikingly illustrated in the strength and heroism of her Christian and womanly character. In June, 1842, she was happily married to Mr. Wm. J. Brown, who soon became a prosperous merchant, whose home she blessed and sanctified with a wifely devotion and matronly wisdom unknown except among the elect of our Lord.

Her life was consecrated to God at an early day, and all through the intervening years of light and shadow, up to the fair morning when she gently slipped away, there was never any abatement of zeal or withholding of service, or lack of spiritual fervor. In the sacred home circle, in the Sunday school, and in the general work of the Church she wrought with the same steady hand and wise heart and serene faith.

To many of us her cottage home was a sort of spiritual Mecca, where we received more than we could possibly give. There many a depressed heart was genuinely refreshed, and many a doubting one was made brave and strong. She knew the Lord's secret, and had tested all the verities of our Christian faith by the experiences of an eventful life. Her cheerful smile dispelled gloom, and her hopeful tones made it impossible to complain or repine.

Hers was the habit of cheerfulness, and she exacted the same from all the family. This was a fixed rule in the household: if a child was sick enough to complain it must go to bed; if able to sit up, it must be cheerful as a duty to all the rest. If that rule could be generally observed, how much brighter and happier would be our Lord's beautiful world!

Deeply pious and a diligent student of God's Word, she was free from any suggestion of "cant," either in manner or tone of voice. Her's was a spiritual modesty that shrank from boasting—a beautiful humility that was a stranger to vanity of spirit or extravagance of speech. Too sacred were her heart's secrets for the world's dull ears; only to a few kindred spirits did she talk of things too holy almost for translation into human language. Her consistent and beautiful life testified more eloquently than any words the lips could employ. As a great Wesleyan minister in England happily said, she felt that "there ought to be some sacred secrets between the soul and God."

She illustrated, as perfectly as any one I ever knew, the indescribable "beauty of holiness." It refined and chastened the features of her lovely face, gave a strange melody to the tones of her gentle voice, and a divine modesty to her manners that often reminded me of the artist's conception of those who minister near the throne. In such a presence wickedness looked so ghastly, and even a sinister motive hunted for a hiding place.

She had a gentleness that was synonymous with greatness, with never an intimation of weakness or timidity. Firm as the everlasting hills in her fidelity to Christian principle, her faith was never in a state of panic. Out of every condition of seeming discouragement she believed a way—even a high-way—would be opened. Who can estimate the influence in a community of such a steady soul! Her's was a faith strong enough to wait patiently on the Lord.

Children trained under the eye and tutelage of such a mother could not fail to know their Lord. They all became members of the household of faith, one of them, the Rev. H. C. Brown, of the Mississippi Conference, consecrating himself to the work of the ministry. No mother was ever more profoundly revered by her children, and through the eternities they will rise up and call her blessed.

Jackson, Miss.

THE SUREST PREVENTIVE.

The baptism of the Holy Ghost is the surest preventive of doctrinal difference and difficulty among Christians. Under that divine influence the right things are emphasized.

I wanted to repeat this reminder through your columns, my dear Dr. Boswell.

O. P. FITZGERALD.

Seabreeze, Fla.

CHURCH BUILDING A NECESSITY.

BY BISHOP JOSEPH S. KEY.

A more careful review of the appeal of our Board of Church Extension for the increase of our Loan Fund moves me to add this exhortation.

The rapid growth of our Church makes church building a necessity, and the prosperity of the people demands larger and more costly church homes. Time was when any shelter that gave protection from the weather was sufficient. That day has passed. We must build the best churches if we hold the best people. And these are those to be benefited by this Loan Fund.

A church building to cost $20,000 or more can ask a donation, but will be immensely encouraged and helped by a loan of $5,000, to be returned when the new church is finished. Such a timely help will add double its amount in local gifts.

It is well to realize fully that we have reached the period of large things in our church work. Expansion is in the air. Education, travel and observation have broadened us and call for larger things. Our people are building better homes; cities and towns enlarging their business houses, and other people building more attractive churches, and our Board recognizes the demand on us to enlarge.

To meet this necessity and hold our place at the front of the advancing column, we call for this increase.

I am sure our broad-minded, consecrated membership will appreciate this call and rally to it.

ABERDEEN DISTRICT.

With his characteristic zeal and ample supply of common sense, Rev. J. H. Mitchell, the popular presiding elder, is leading to success the forces of the district. Through sunshine and rough weather, on fast-running trains or on horseback over tenacious earth, he reaches his appointments on scheduled time.

An evangelistic effort that will touch every point in the district is being planned. The poor and out-of-the-way places are to be supplied [illegible] Rev. W. S. [illegible] learn.

[illegible] Clark proves [illegible] in his [illegible] large and [illegible] their Sunday [illegible] is broken [illegible] while the brick [illegible] nearly completion.

W. [illegible] Church [illegible] enterprise at Houlka. A new parsonage and a Church nearly completed testify to his [illegible] labors. He is a strong preacher and faithful pastor, and well deserves the high esteem in which he is held by his people.

Montpelier appreciates her returned pastor, which is evidence that their hearts are in the right place. B. B. Sullivan is a good preacher, for he wins men to God.

The beautiful town of the sainted Bishop Paine proves a pleasant pastorate for W. E. M. Brogan. In the midst of his arduous labors he finds time to invoke the muses, who are pleased to yield their secrets, and Aberdeen is the happy possessor of the preacher poet.

The new man, warm-hearted, energetic and resourceful, will succeed at Tupelo. Tupelo is always [illegible] and that enterprising town and religious Church will furnish him an inspiring field.

W. L. Burt has recovered from the sprained ankle and is quietly doing the work of Okolona Circuit.

M. A. Burns is doing well and is pleased with Buena Vista, and they with him.

Rev. A. P. Sage, of Houston, who for many months has been confined to his room and bed, has had no perceptible change in his condition during the winter. He patiently waits; never complains. Greetings from the preachers make glad the heart of that weary soldier.

Fraternally, G.

PLEASANT HILL, LA.

Dear Dr. Boswell: As this is my first year on the Pleasant Hill charge I have deferred writing anything in regard to my work until I could have time to become better acquainted with the people. In 1879, twenty-nine years ago this month, I attended school at old Pleasant Hill in the Pierce and Paine College building, which was at that time the property of the M. E. Church, South. I was licensed to preach that same year on this charge, but this is my first experience as preacher-in-charge of this work. Some of the people here I have known for a number of years; many are here that I have never known before; some few here yet that I attended school with twenty-nine years ago; some have died, others moved away, new people have moved in. Those who are living have experienced many changes since 1879. Some of our people are very clever and generous, and some are real zealous Christians, while others are very far from being what they ought to be. At the last session of the Louisiana Conference I was appointed by Bishop Ward to the Bon Ami charge; but on account of family affliction I was compelled to ask for a change, so my presiding elder, Rev. T. J. Warlick, willingly and gladly granted me my request and sent me to the Pleasant Hill charge. At the time it looked as though I was making a considerable sacrifice financially, as the Bon Ami charge has been paying much more than the Pleasant Hill charge. As soon as the people found out that I was to be their pastor for this year they expressed themselves in words as though they were well pleased, and they have proved that they meant what they said by the way they have treated us since coming here. Since coming here the people of Pleasant Hill have shown their appreciation by giving us a pounding, which has been greatly appreciated by the inmates of the parsonage. I arrived here in time to preach the first Sunday in January, and we had a very delightful service, which all seemed to enjoy. Soon after arriving here I began to plan in my mind to hold a series of services at Pleasant Hill, which I soon saw was greatly needed.

Our first Quarterly Conference embraced the first Sunday in March, but on account of sickness our presiding elder did not come until Monday, which was the day appointed to hold the Quarterly Conference. He sent Rev. T. M. Finley to preach for us on Sunday, who is a local preacher in our Church, and holds his membership at Texas Avenue Church, Shreveport, La. The people were delighted with Brother Finley's sermon and expressed a willingness to hold our meeting at this time, so we held prayer-meetings the following week as preparatory work for the revival, and the second Sunday in March we began our revival service in the Baptist Church at 3 o'clock p. m. The first week we had sickness, some deaths, disagreeable weather and a street carnival to contend with, but it seemed to be the Lord's time. So we just continued on in spite of the hindrances, and towards the close of the first week the Lord manifested himself in great power. The interest continued on as long as the meeting lasted. The people here say that it was the best meeting that they have ever experienced in the town of Sodus. The people went day and night, rain or shine. A number of people were saved and reclaimed, quite a number promised to erect family altars and read their Bibles daily. We had eighteen accessions to the Church. Brother Finley preached some most excellent sermons. He captured the people at the beginning, and held them until the close.

The board of stewards have fixed the assessment for ministerial support at $800, near-

The Canal-Louisiana Bank and Trust Company

Embraces every function of financial business. It solicits your deposit account subject to cheque. It solicits your SAVINGS ACCOUNT upon which will be allowed INTEREST at the rate of 3 1-2 per cent. per annum, compounded semi-annually.

It will safeguard your securities in its BURGLAR and FIRE-PROOF SAFETY DEPOSIT VAULTS. It will collect Bonds, Rents, Mortgages, Interest, Dividends, Coupons and every class of income. It will pay Taxes and Insurance, sell property and undertake the care and management of Estates. It will act as Executor, Administrator, Guardian or Trustee under will or by appointment of court.

DURING YOUR LIFETIME IT WILL ACT AS YOUR AGENT AND AT YOUR DEATH IT WILL ADMINISTER YOUR ESTATE.

Its Foreign Exchange Department buys and sells Drafts and Cable Transfers; issues Commercial and Travelers' Letters of Credit available in all parts of the world, makes collections and does a general foreign exchange business.

Accounts of Individuals, Firms, Banks and Corporations Respectfully Solicited.

Every Accommodation Offered Consistent With Safe and Legitimate Banking.

Phone Main

ROOMS and BOARD

634 and 638 SOUTH STREET LAFAYETTE SQUARE
CORNER ST. CHARLES ST., NEW ORLEANS.
UNLIMITED MEALS. ALVIN PORTER, Manager.

ESTABLISHED 1891

JOHN DAVID BURGHARDT CO.,

THE RELIABLE PLUMBERS and GAS FITTERS.
Agency: Born's Patent Steel Ranges. Hygeia Water Filters.
613-615 Bienville St. Phone Main 2026.
Jobbing and Repair Work a Specialty. New Orleans, La.

ly $300 above or more than it was last year, and I believe that it will be paid. So you see, Mr. Editor, we are on the up-grade. Come up to our District Conference, which is to be held at Grand Cane, and we will give you a chance to spread yourself. H. J. BOLTZ.

HER SUNSET ROCK.

She lived on a remote farm, four miles from the nearest village and sixteen miles from a town of any size. Her work was the hard, monotonous toil of any farmer's wife of her time. Her accomplishments included spinning, which was a necessary art to her, and she was a needle woman who wrought so well that her handiwork has been kept for later generations as valued heirlooms. She brought children into the world and reared them all to honored and useful manhood and womanhood. There was a house almost overflowing, and yet, when an old, blind, widowed aunt was left alone in the world, she had time to spare for her care and a corner under her roof for shelter.

No wonder that she needed a daily hour for "strengthening"; the wonder rather is that in her day and generation she saw the need and found the way of meeting it. Just before sunsetting she took the time to go up onto the hill across from her house, and there, from the viewpoint of a high rock, night after night, year out—except when storm stayed her—she watched the sunset and studied the beautiful pageant of the sky, coming back, with renewed courage and uplifting, to take up once more her homely cares.

She wasn't of Mary Wilkin's New England, this woman who recognized and loved the beauty of nature, and found rest and strength in the changing colors of the sunset sky, but that there were such women crops out now and again in some bit of family history. This woman's sentiment was so strong and her habit so settled that it has come down through three generations as a matter of comment.

Although her home was on a hillside, there was no view from the house itself because of a rise of ground at the back, another hill in front, and woods on both sides. It was as shut in as though it was in a valley, and seemed to epitomize her own life. Most women of her time, possessing such a strong sense of the situation, would nevertheless have regarded it as hopeless, and let it prey upon health and spirits, as many did, to their mental undoing. But this woman was of stronger fiber. Against her need she set her own artistic nature and satisfied her love of beauty in the one thing which was within her reach, and in it found her cheer and her inspiration. When her great-grandchildren told me the story I couldn't help saying, "So, you have inherited a sermon." And, as heritages go, it isn't a bad one.—Penelope, in The Boston Advertiser.

Listen, laymen of Southern Methodism. Do you not hear the sounds of war? Does there not come to your ears the tread of gathering armies? Can you not hear the shouting of the captains, and the heartening cheers of the lengthening columns? It is the army of your brothers, North, South, East, West, rallying and girding for battle. They are about to vindicate their citizenship in the kingdom of heaven. Will you violate the traditions and deny the heritage—to finish that sentence would convey a doubt that would be next to treason.

WHY DOES EVERYBODY WANT VACHER-BALM?

Because Vacher-Balm promptly relieves most of the aches and pains that we all suffer from at times, such as Headaches, Toothache, Sprains, &c. It is cooling and harmless. Price 25c. Per Jar.

I pay you to give samples to your friends, and neighbors. Write to-day for particulars, to E. W. VACHER, New Orleans, La.

WHO WAS THE HAPPIEST?

It was a bright February day. The sun shining on the snow made it sparkle like millions of diamonds. The sky was radiant, and the air full of frosty delight.

The boys of the Church Academy were out on the hillside, coasting. You might have heard their merry shouts from far away, as, starting from the top of the hill, they went flying down its snowy surface, and across the broad meadow beyond.

The hero of the afternoon was Jack Harrington. His bob was the longest and went the fastest. All the boys were eager to have a turn with him and his obliging disposition made him very popular.

On one of the return trips up the hill, Jack caught a glimpse of a sad face looking from the window of a cottage near by.

"I say, boys," he cried, "let's ask Tim Lawson to have a ride; I don't believe he ever has any coasting."

The others rather demurred. "He's so lame. You'd have to carry him up the hill," some one observed.

Jack paid no attention to this objection. Somehow he felt drawn by the longing look in the face of the lame boy. Striding across to the cottage, he threw a handful of snow at the window, calling cheerily:

"Come out, Tim, and have a coast."

Tim raised the sash, and leaned out, smiling. "Oh, thank you, Jack! I've been watching you fellows all afternoon. The going down would be easy fun; but coming up is the rub, you know," and the boy's pale face flushed painfully.

"Never mind about that," answered Jack. "There are enough of us to see you up all right. Just get ready, and come along."

Kindness is contagious. The other boys now joined in the invitation so heartily that, almost before he knew it, Tim was out on the hillside, bounding through the snow on Jack's fine bob.

At the close of the afternoon it was a very different looking Tim whom the boys escorted back to the cottage, from the pale, sad-faced lad at the window. His eyes were sparkling, and his face aglow with happiness.

But the faces of his companions were even happier, still; as on the way home they talked over a plan just formed, which was to take turns in drawing Tim to the academy on their sleds every morning.

"To think, boys, that he has been kept home from school, because he couldn't walk through the snow!" exclaimed Jack.

And a look of satisfaction deepened in his face as he remembered the words:

"It is more blessed to give than to receive."
—Caroline A. Waters, in Southern Churchman.

NOT ONE CENT.

One of our pastors who worked up with great care the envelope system of contributing was astonished and grieved to have several men return the list of objects with this comment opposite the item of Foreign Missions: "Not one cent." That such persons may realize the actual significance of their words, let us state their position in detail. What it involves is this:

Not one cent for saving a soul outside of the United States.

Not one cent for giving the Bible to other nations.

Not one cent for revealing a God of love except to Americans.

Not one cent for making Christ known as a Savior of all mankind.

Not one cent for teaching the world the morals of Christ.

Not one cent for healing the sick beyond our borders.

Not one cent for education where it is needed the most.

Not one cent for anything which we as Americans are not to get something out of.

Not one cent in attestation of our faith that we have a universal religion.

Not one cent for fulfilling the very purpose of Christ in redemption.

Not one cent for obeying the last command of Christ.

No, these men did not think what they were saying when they wrote those words.—Missionary Herald.

LUZIANNE COFFEE

is either half the price or twice the the goodness of any other brand of coffee on the market.

SOLD EVERY-WHERE.

Try it on our guarantee that it will please or you get your money back. After that LUZIANNE will speak for itself and you'll use no other.

The Reily-Taylor Company,
New Orleans, U. S. A.

CHURCH ATTENDANCE.

Let parents and Sunday-school workers be admonished that they are failing in their duty to Christ and the church unless they indoctrinate the young with the truth that church attendance is as needful for the young as for the old. It must be kindly emphasized that Bible instruction imparted to children by earnest but superficial and immature Sunday-school teachers cannot stand as a substitute for the pulpit exposition of the Scriptures by an ordained and trained minister of the gospel. Neither can the Sunday-school supply the atmosphere generated by divine worship in the house of God.

Moreover, church attendance inculcates the three R's so essential to moral culture — Reverence, Righteousness, Responsibility. Neither the public school not the Sunday-school can take the place of this higher instruction. Let the family pew in the church be a family pew in deed as well as name, with the entire household in it every Sunday.—Selected.

There are about 500,000 laymen in our Church. These men enlisted and combined, can do great things. The meeting to be held at Chattanooga, April 21-23, is the outcome of a distinct effort to mobilize this great army. It will be a council of war, at which the plan of the world's greatest campaign will be studied. It is expected that from 1000 to 2000 of the loyal and capable of Southern Methodism will here join hands and hearts for a great advance.

FANCY POULTRY, ETC.

Fancy Poultry, Pedigreed Dogs, Cats, Canaries, Parrots, Guinea Pigs, Rabbits, and Pet Stock of every description; Cyphers, Incubators and Feed at Factory prices, may be had by writing to H. W. Blanks & Co., New Orleans, La. Their catalogue sent free. Write to them.

W. F. M. S.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Woman's Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will hold its thirtieth annual session in First Church, New Orleans, La., May 1-7, 1908. Preliminary meeting of officers and managers and workers' conferences, May 1, at 3 p. m. Opening session at 8 p. m.

Names of delegates and visitors should be sent promptly to Mrs. W. W. Carre, 1922 State street, New Orleans, La.

Application has been made for railroad rates, and although no definite answer has been received, yet all who expect to attend are urged to secure the usual certificate from railroad agents at starting point, or at the nearest point within the territory of the Southern Passenger Association, as no reduction will be allowed on any road unless one hundred certificates are signed by the secretary.

Let Friday, April 17, be observed as a day of prayer for the blessing of God on this session of the board.

MISS MARIA LAYNG GIBSON,
President.
MRS. A. L. MARSHALL,
Recording Secretary, pro tem.

NOTICE.

The twenty-ninth annual session of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the North Mississippi Conference will meet in Senatobia, Miss., June 13-17. Delegates will please send names to Mrs. Corrie Wright, Senatobia, Miss. A full attendance is desired.

MRS. S. M. THAMES, Conf. Pres.
MRS. M. L. HOSKINS, Rec. Sect.

W. H. M. S.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Dear Sisters: The Fourteenth Annual Session of the Woman's Home Mission Society will convene at 8 o'clock p. m., April 14, in Jefferson Street Church, Natchez. The railroads will grant a rate of one and a third plus twenty-five cents if 100 tickets are sold. When purchasing tickets ask for two certificates.

"In animation and inspiration, in oneness of purpose, in sanguine and undaunted faith in the success of our work, and lastly, in the splendid and unsurpassed personnel of those in attendance, the meeting held last year in Court Street Church, Hattiesburg, outshone and eclipsed any previous meeting of the Conference.

We have seventy-four auxiliaries and should have from one to four delegates from each of them. If your local treasury does not contain sufficient funds to defray the expenses of your delegate, make it up some how, but don't fail to send the delegates.

The success of the work depends largely upon the knowledge and the vision we have of the field and its needs. No auxiliary should be content to leave the planning to a few, for the execution will be much more pleasant and satisfactory if all have a voice in making the plans for the year's work. And, sisters, please don't say you can't come on account of that eternal question: "Wherewithal shall we be clothed?" We do not go up to the annual meetings for a dress parade, but to do God's work. Let us be sufficiently consecrated to forget self, and carefully and prayerfully plan for the success of our Zion.

To our good sisters of Natchez we would whisper a word: You show us the highest compliment you can pay when you invite us into the most intimate domestic part of your home. So please give us "pot luck," so that you, free from this care, may come out to the meetings and enjoy the feast which we have prepared for you.

The ministers are cordially invited. In fact, they are expected. We appreciate their wise counsel, and their presence is an inspiration.

Let us come up to the fourteenth annual session an hundred strong, and let the brethren help swell the number. Yours in the work,

MRS. CHAS. R. MCQUEEN,
Rec. Sec. W. H. M. S. Miss. Conf.
Merridian, Miss.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE HOME MISSION SOCIETY.

The fourteenth annual meeting of the Mississippi Conference Home Mission Society will convene in Jefferson Street Church, Natchez, Miss., Tuesday, April 14, 1908. Important matters will come before the Conference, and auxiliaries are urged to send full delegations of their strongest and most consecrated women. Names of delegates and visitors must be sent to Mrs. R. E. Bost, Natchez, Miss.

MRS. T. B. HOLLOMAN, Pres.
MRS. C. R. MCQUEEN, Rec. Sec.

CONFERENCE BOARD OF MISSIONS, LOUISIANA ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

February 27 to March 21, 1908, received for

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Lecompte, Rev. R. H. Harper	$57.00
Crowley, Rev. W. W. Drake	60.00
Parker Memorial, Rev. C. D. Atkinson	52.00
Mary Werlein, Rev. R. F. Harrell	10.00
Alexandria, Rev. H. R. Singleton	132.00
Opelousas, Rev. A. W. Turner	97.00
Trout and Jena, Rev. P. M. Brown	45.00
Chicot, Rev. S. S. Bogan	57.00
First Church, Rev. J. E. Wray	175.00
Minden, Rev. R. H. Wynn	100.00
Summerville, Rev. H. W. Cudd	7.35
Total	$792.35

DOMESTIC MISSIONS.

Mary Werlein, Rev. R. F. Harrell	29.75
Rayne Memorial, Rev. J. A. Rice	100.00
Donaldsonville, Rev. E. P. Craddock	16.00
First Church, Rev. J. E. Wray	75.00
Patterson, Rev. J. F. Patterson	23.00
Ponchatoula, Rev. W. Schuhle	34.50
Total	$278.25

Received for Foreign Missions	$792.35
Received for Domestic Missions	$278.25
Grand Total	$1070.60

W. B. THOMSON, Treas.
231 S. Rampart Street, New Orleans, La.
March 21, '08.

While the Chattanooga Conference represents the laymen of the Church, it will be gratifying to those men of the ranks to know that several of our chief pastors have promised to be present at the Laymen's Missionary Conference at Chattanooga. Our Bishops are enthusiastic in their advocacy of this movement and have everywhere lent their voices and influence to it. Their presence and counsel in the Conference will count for much in the success of the gathering.

NOTICE.

The Durant District Conference will convene at Kilmichael May 21-23, 1908. Preaching Thursday night by Rev. K. A. Jones.

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

Durant, Miss.

It is only where the inner life of communion with Christ sets the pace, and the outward life keeps step with that, that the progress of either is wholesome.—Alexander Maclaren.

GULFPORT, MISS.
Interesting propositions submitted to parties wanting to buy lots. Write for map to
GEO. L. CARLEY, Gulfport, Miss.

Harness and Saddles
E. G. AWCOCK,
333 BARONNE STREET,
Phone Main 4467. New Orleans, La.
Repairs Neatly and Promptly Done.

THE COLOSSUS OF THE RAILWAYS.

The Pennsylvania Railroad's annual report presents the corporate principle under its most favorable aspect. Whether we take magnitude of operations, skill of management, or the almost prophetic instinct with which lines of policy have been laid down, this institution is without a rival in the whole world. The credit of other systems, like the Chicago and Northwestern, is beyond reproach, but their revenues seem small by contrast. With 11,175 miles of track, Pennsylvania's earnings for 1907 amounted to $326,785,526. Ten years ago the earnings were but slightly in excess of $136,000,000. Every item in the balance sheet is colossal. For instance, the cash in bank on Dec. 31 stood at $37,385,672.37; the materials on hand had cost nearly sixteen millions; forty millions had been spent on the New York Tunnel; the assets included securities of other corporations aggregating $223,000,000. Among the current liabilities, one finds an allowance of more than $20,000,000 for accrued pay rolls, traffic settlements with other roads, and the like. In truth, the Pennsylvania's statement reads more like the budget of a sovereign state than the dry record of a private business concern. In the March of 1907 sixty millions were borrowed on notes having three years to run; the empire of Japan recently appealed to European financiers for a much smaller sum, and the appeal was without result. The Pennsylvania's capital stock and funded debt to-day total more than $585,000,000. These figures, too, have an imperial look.

Conservative investors were startled when Mr. Cassatt and his colleagues launched their grandiose plans for the reconstruction of the lines and the access to New York city by tunnel. It was thought, and naturally thought, that such expenditures would bankrupt the richest railway treasuries. But the actual event is beginning to justify the dreams of these supreme captains of industry. During the congestion which crippled the country's commerce throughout the boom, the Pennsylvania alone was able to discharge its duty to the public with perfect ease. The cost of service has been brought down to the minimum, while passengers and freight are carried with a promptness which savors of the unreal. With its splendid terminals in New York complete, the Pennsylvania will get a rich return on the huge sums sunk in the enterprise. It is an open secret that the Pennsylvania long ago abolished rebates and similar preference which have cast a cloud upon most of our common carriers and depleted their income. We can thus understand why dividends have been fully earned on the larger capitalization and why the list of shareholders lengthens from month to month. A thousand shares of this premier security may be sold in a block without appreciably affecting the price, and it is well known that the Pennsylvania Railroad can float issues in France, though the Paris Bourse is closed to other American railways. It is probably quite correct to say that public ownership would never have become a problem, even in the academic sense, if this record were general instead of being, to all intents and purposes, unique.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Remember always thine end, and that time lost never returns.—Thomas a Kempis.

MISSIONARY INSTITUTE, SEASHORE DISTRICT, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

The Missionary Institute of the Seashore District met in Main Street Methodist Church, Biloxi, March 17 and 18. The works on the district were fairly well represented, there being sixteen or eighteen of the pastors present, with representatives from the women's societies.

Biloxi has become quite a convention city for the Methodists on the coast, and upon this occasion, as previously, the homes of the people were open for our entertainment, which was cordial indeed. Pastor Van Hook's most serious complaint was lack of "preachers to go around." That Protestantism and Methodism especially, is growing in this territory is conspicuously evident. While Protestantism has had a struggle to obtain a footing on this coast, through the diligence and sacrifices of those who have led the Methodists hosts, we have grown steadily and surely, so that it has come to pass that from the lowest place a decade ago the seashore has taken the highest in the Conference. Rev. M. L. Burton has proven himself a worthy successor of his indefatigable predecessors, and will leave impressions as deep and large as his immediate forerunner.

From the comments made and supplements suggested by the presiding elder, it was very manifest that he had not left all of the work of procuring information to those appointed to prepare papers. Almost without exception every one who had been designated to prepare a paper came with manuscript, and received the plaudit "well done" from the elder.

Beginning with the work in the Sunday school and League, the subject of missions was discussed, with reference to its connection with every department of the Church.

Rev. H. M. Ellis, Conference missionary evangelist, who had just returned from the great meeting of the Young Peoples' Missionary Movement in Pittsburgh, was present and gave the Institute members a most interesting account of the work planned by that body.

The Woman's Home Mission work was represented by Mrs. J. W. Thompson, who read a paper of most excellent character and force; and the Woman's Foreign Missionary work in a paper by Mrs. C. F. Carroll of equal thought and value. Both of these papers were requested for publication in the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and we trust will not escape the eyes of any of your readers. One of the most interesting features of the session was a talk from Miss Boykin, who is employed by the Woman's Home Mission Society in connection with the work on the coast. Her work, while difficult, is well in hand, and from all reports is making a fine impression. Nursing the sick, helping the needy, praying with the dying, conducting funeral services, and last, but not least, teaching in wayside Sunday schools, she is doing a marvelous work. If the ladies of that Board can only see possible to give her a helper in the work, the cause will prosper more greatly still.

Brother W. M. Williams came in at the last hour, but was full of enthusiasm and suggestions for the more systematic maintenance of the Orphans' Home, over which he presides.

Brother W. B. Jones sat at the secretary's table and will doubtless supplement what I have written of this very interesting and helpful meeting.

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

March 25, 1908.

The Laymen's Missionary Conference at Chattanooga April 21-23 will furnish an opportunity for hearing some of the distinguished laymen of the country. Such an opportunity under such favorable circumstances does not come many times in a lifetime.

MILLSAPS COLLEGE NOTES.

The work is moving along smoothly, although every one feels the effects of the warm weather.

Dr. J. A. Moore, who has been unwell for several weeks, is improving rapidly and it is hoped he will soon be well.

The orators are writing their speeches, and the whole campus wears an air of earnest preparation for Patriots' Day in April.

Dr. W. F. Tillett of Nashville, is to preach the commencement sermon the first Sunday in June and deliver the annual address on Tuesday following.

Rev. Charles Lane, of Georgia, is holding the annual revival services at the College this week. He is a speaker of unusual power, and the services are accomplishing much good.

The young men who belong to the Glee Club are rendering splendid service in the meeting now in progress by helping in the singing. These young fellows are a credit to the College.

Everybody was glad to see Bishop Galloway when he returned from Tampa the other day. He is the friend of everybody, and the Millsaps boys are always glad when he comes to the College.

"IN JOURNEYINGS OFT."

A journey through some sections in north Mississippi is good for the blues. I am not afflicted with this malady very often, but sometimes I have a little touch of it. I went to Sardis and Batesville the same day. I found Brother Gaines in splendid favor with his people, and he firmly believes that Sardis will have a new Church soon. Charlie Moss has things his own way at Batesville. I got some good subscriptions and secured the promise of some five boys at both places.

I spent three days during the week with Brother Bowlin in Calhoun County. They told me that no Millsaps representative had ever been in the County before. I spoke at Calhoun City on Wednesday night, Pittsboro Thursday night, and at Big Creek Friday night. Calhoun County has more home-raised mules, cotton and bad roads than any County I have seen lately.

The next Sunday found me in Aberdeen and Amory, and with such royal fellows as Brogan and Shipman I could not help having a great time. At Amory my friend, Brother E. D. Gilmore, gave me a subscription of $120 for himself, wife and little son; other friends subscribed, making the total $203. At Aberdeen we secured $500, making the subscription [illegible] there.

At present the subscription list for the Endowment Fund amounts to $40,200. It must reach $60,000 by the end of this Conference year. Won't all our friends come to the help of the College now?

Again I urge our friends to send me what is now due. About $5,000 is now due or past due, and if we had this amount now we could invest it at great profit. I ask once more that the brethren of the ministry call attention to this request.

T. W. LEWIS.

LORENZO DOW SUGGESTED FOR THE PRESIDENCY.

It may be of interest to the readers of the ADVOCATE to know that Lorenzo Dow was seriously suggested for the Presidency of the United States [illegible] which Andrew Jackson held that position. We append the item given below in an [illegible] Port Gibson (Miss.) news [illegible] HAWKINS.

From the [illegible].—We stated some time since that a paper in Virginia and another in Kentucky had nominated the Rev. Lorenzo Dow as a candidate for the Presidency of the United States. Mr. Dow, we perceive, has, in a letter to the editor of the New York Commercial Advertiser, declined the nomination. We subjoin the note:

TO THE PUBLIC.

"Having noticed a piece in sundry papers—going the rounds—nominating by intimation L. Dow for the next President of the United States, etc.,

"Fellow citizens, I should [illegible] offer myself as a candidate for the presidency, viewing my natural and acquired talents adequate to the approaching awfully important station, from '33 to '37, though a public character for thirty-five years, and have some little acquaintance with men and things experimentally. And I hope that no other native citizen will offer, who is not fully qualified for that important trust in that period of time.

LORENZO DOW.

THE LAYMEN'S MOVEMENT.

Dear Advocate: It seems to me that our laymen are not as wide awake as they might be. Why may they not gather in small numbers at a [illegible] of points and discuss the possibilities of the movement? And why do not our leaders open the way for our leading laymen to prosecute a vigorous campaign for larger things?

I hope that Mississippi will be largely represented at Chattanooga in April, but a more important phase of this work is here at home. Our Baptist brethren are setting us a noble example. There is a prominent Jackson layman who goes out every Sunday somewhere, usually accompanied by a professor from Millsaps College, and he discusses the large plans which his church is projecting.

I do not mean to criticise our laymen, nor to complain at our leaders, but simply to suggest that we begin to make the most of the present opportunity.

T. W. LEWIS.

NOTICE.

To the Members of the Louisiana Annual Conference:

Dear Brethren—The second Sunday in April is set apart by Conference resolution as Veterans' Day. Let all take a free-will offering to increase the endowment fund for our superannuates. We have noted [illegible] the slow accumulation [illegible] ten years [illegible] of $2,000 in this fund. This has grown very slowly because so few of our pastors have carried out our Conference resolution. Why not comply with the request of the Conference and give the laymen a chance to enlarge this fund?

S. S. KEENER,

Chairman Joint Board of Finance.

Our line of Stoves, Kitchen Furnishings, and General Household Supplies is full of interest to all Good Housekeepers.

Suppose you take a look at it for yourself—

UNITED HARDWARE CO.,
LIMITED.

GET SOLID PROTECTION AND INSURE WITH
LEON IRWIN & CO.
Fire and Casualty Insurance.
838 GRAVIER STREET. PHONE, MAIN

W. W. Carre Co., Ltd,
Manufacturers and Exporters of
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The Home Circle.

THE MESSENGER OF SPRING.

Far from the south the martin flies,
Swift on his widely spreading wings;
Sleek is his coat, and glossy black;
Glad is the song he wildly sings.

When in circuitous wheelings round
The pole with swinging, pendant gourds,
Reared in farmyards year to year,
Or round the village-house of boards,

He darts and lights with flutter free,
And chatters in excess of life.
We know that spring has come at last,
And winter winds have ceased their strife.

Now yellow jasmine flowers sweet,
With dogwood blooms will reappear,
And cover o'er the scrub pine bush
In streaming gold of the newborn year.

Now banks of roads, worn down with age,
With violets will be o'erlaid,
In all the exquisite tracery
Of many a marking, many a shade.

And brooklet banks in meadow green,
And dales where darker shadows lurk,
Display the beautiful art of God,
And show his lovely handiwork.

R. H. HARPER.

AN OLD GAME WITH A NEW NAME.

When Bertha Chapin gave a party one game was played that greatly amused and mystified the children. Aunt Ruth called it "Magic," and although she said it was an old game which she had played when she was a little girl, none of the guests knew anything about it.

Aunt Ruth went out of the room, telling the others to select something in plain sight. As soon as they had decided what it should be, they were to call her back.

When she came Carl Chapin asked her questions.

"Is it the rug?" he began.

Aunt Ruth gazed intently at the floor, and then answered, "No."

"Is it the fireplace?"

"No."

"The painting over the piano?"

After a close look at the picture, Aunt Ruth again said, "No."

"Bertha's dress?"

"No."

And so the questions ran on, every answer being the same.

"How does she know?" began to be asked here and there.

Finally the question came: "Is it the clock?"

"No," answered Aunt Ruth again.

"Is it Betty Graeber's sash?"

All the children were on the alert now for that was the object they had chosen.

Aunt Ruth went over to Betty, felt of her sash ribbon, and said: "Yes."

"Oh, how can you tell?" they chorused.

"Do you want me to try it again?" Aunt Ruth smiled.

"Yes, if you please," and "Oh, I wish you would!" came from one and another.

So something else was decided upon, and the questions and answers went along as before, only this time the girls and boys watched more closely to see if they could discover Aunt Ruth's secret way of knowing the object they had chosen. But they could not.

"Is it my shoe?" Carl asked at last, putting forward his foot and showing a handsome tie of patent-leather.

"No," said Aunt Ruth.

"Is it 'The Birds' Christmas Carol' in the bookcase?"

"Yes," replied Aunt Ruth, "that is it."

Everybody was puzzled—that is, everybody but Carl. He laughed.

"Try it once more!" they pleaded.

But no one guessed the secret even then.

"You will have to tell us," Grace Chapin said. But the rest did not want to be told. "We want to find out for ourselves," they declared.

"Let Grace go out," somebody suggested.

Carl looked at Aunt Ruth. She scribbled a few words on a bit of paper, and handed it to Grace as she left the room.

"Oh, you've told her the way to do it!" Norton cried. "Let me ask the questions."

But Carl said he was afraid that his brother wouldn't do it right; so with much laughing the play went on.

Grace guessed the right thing, just as quickly as Aunt Ruth had, and then as nobody could solve the mystery, Carl told:

"I name something that is black in color just before I come to the object chosen," he said; "that's all there is to it."—Zion's Herald.

THE CROWNING OPPORTUNITY FOR MOTHERS.

Though not well read in "child study," I have heard or read a good deal about it, and may venture, I think, without being ridiculous, to speak to one thing as having struck me most in the whole science. That is, the truth, proved by long experiment, that the heart (not the head) is impressed and rapidly shaped for life during the first four years of childhood.

This, noticed by Christian mothers and acted upon, cannot but save multitudes of souls—to know that the cross words and acts indulged in around the cradle are not only taken in by the babe, but made forthwith a part of its very being, forming its character, planting the undying seeds from which that whole long, eternal life is to grow, is now growing. You cannot sensibly say, even from your own limited observation, "It does not understand," for apparently it does not understand the English language, and yet you see it taking in and using the English language with a speed which most of us grown students envy.

The point that I would make at the moment is that few of us have been able to believe this superlative strength of babyhood and little-childhood influences; because it had not been made distinct that it is the moral impressions that last, not the impressions on the memory. We have seen so much forgetting, so much evident shallowness of hold of our orders and arguments and teachings, that we, not separating mind tenacity from heart tenacity, have not known how to believe much in the formation of permanent character in wee tots.

But believe it now, if you possibly can convince yourself deeply of it, and pray to act upon it. Never feel again that nobody sees your tantrum or your deceit or your injustice, because no one is present but very little folks; you have in them the most awe-inspiring audience possible to have; if you are their mother you are using your terrible responsibility to ruin them fast, to mold them into bad men and women.

And when a few years, or months later you try to teach them the lessons of God and righteousness, you will have, if you have allowed yourself, or others, to put before them year in and year out—the long years of early childhood—these ungodly wicked object lessons—you will have to reform their poor little injured characters, just as an almost hopeless rogue in a rescue mission has to be reformed, and possibly in no less degree.

All this sounds too strong to be true, but is it? Is it?

Almost beyond this is the assertion of a teacher of little beginners and "primaries" in Sunday school that she has had real, indeed great, success in guiding and coaxing small children into habits of actual unselfish acts. This to me is very astonishing [illegible] could ever, much less [illegible] the wish [illegible] gave its own pleasure [illegible] their child. I can only say [illegible] it, and I believe her [illegible] has remarkably [illegible] has turned these children [illegible] life. Surely it [illegible] are ever [illegible] likewise.—M[illegible] Advocate, N. Y.

THE CANDY HABIT.

Generations of parents have been claiming that candy is injurious to the health of children, causes their teeth to decay, impairs digestion, etc. Many children have wondered why so good a thing as candy should be so injurious that it is doled out to them. Now comes a physician in the December issue of the Woman's Home Companion who says: "Give children plenty of pure sugar, taffy and [illegible] and they will have little need of cod-liver oil. In short, sugar is, after meat, bread and butter [illegible], our next most important and necessary food." And he also says: "The only thing that can take the place of sugar here is beer or wine. It is a significant fact that the free lunch counters run in connection with bars furnish every imaginable thing except sweets. [illegible] They know their business. The more sugar and sweets a man takes at a meal the less liquor he wants. Conversely, nearly every drinking man will tell you that he has lost his taste for sweets. The more candy a nation consumes the less [illegible]." The children would hail the conversion of the parents of this land to the view that candy is not harmful, but "when eaten in [illegible] around the close or shortly after a meal, is a harmless and often beneficial addition to our diet."—Selected.

Our laymen should make a note of time and place of the Laymen's Missionary Conference, and allow no other engagement to get in the way of it. It promises to be a notable meeting from every standpoint. The opening hour is April 21st, 7:30 p.m., in the great auditorium, Chattanooga, Tenn., closing April 23rd.

Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic

WELCOME RELIEF

Follows the use of Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic on the face after shaving. Mix with five parts water and bathe the face well each time—and your shaving troubles will all be over. No more Chafing, Stinging, Chapping or Soreness if you will do this. "It's soothing coolness is delightful."

ALL DRUGGISTS · 25 AND 50 CENTS

ASK ANY ONE WHO HAS EVER USED IT!

Christian Advocate.

REV. JNO. W. BOSWELL, D.D., Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.
CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TERMS:

One Copy, one year, $2; six months, $1. To Preachers of all Denominations, half-price.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES:

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE—Rev. W. W. Drake, Rev. N. E. Joyner, Rev. J. M. Henry.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. M. L. Burton, Rev. W. H. Lewis, Rev. C. W. Crisler.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, D.D.; Rev. J. T. Murrah, Rev. W. W. Woollard.

THE PASTOR.

No man can take the place of the pastor. He is by all odds the most important man in the Church. He "holds the key to the situation" in everything that pertains to the welfare of his flock. If he is faithful in all things—preaching the Word, visiting the sick, ministering to the needy, and looks carefully after the spiritual and temporal interests of the Church—he wins and holds the affections of his people. The Bishop, who comes only on special occasions, is welcomed and reverenced, but not loved as is the pastor. The presiding elder, who occupies a unique position in the Church, and for certain reasons has gained the title of "beloved," may after a long while secure the attachment of the people to a limited extent, and they may prefer his preaching to that of the pastor, but he can never usurp his place in their affections.

Men may differ and dispute about the "divine right" of Bishops, and about the desirableness and utility of presiding elders, but there can be no difference of opinion as to the place and purpose, and right of the Christian pastor. He is God-given and God-sent. This is the belief of all true Churches, whether the pastor comes to them under the congregational form of government, having been duly called, or is appointed after the Episcopal method. He deserves all he receives at the hands of the people.

These things being true, the pastor should leave nothing undone to attach his people to him. In gaining their love he gains their confidence, and thus lays the foundation for usefulness. If a pastor has neither the love nor confidence of his people, his ministry will be barren. Nothing could be more distressing to a good man.

In saying one should leave nothing undone to secure the love of his people, we do not mean that he should be a flatterer or a pretender, nor literally "make himself all things to all men." We have seen what we thought was a great strain on the part of preachers to commend themselves to persons whose good opinion was worth having. We have also seen a sacrifice of all ministerial dignity and propriety. These preachers had been educated, or were trying to educate themselves, in the art of pleasing men—not seeming to realize that what pleases a few disgusts many. And to make one's self all things to all men will ruin any man who undertakes it.

We knew a man who literally applied St. Paul's words. He was "hail-fellow well met" with all acquaintances who would allow it. He would joke and laugh with them, would drink liquor with them, and did not hesitate to go into liquor saloons. These fellows seemed fond of him, and he could get from them anything he desired; but they cared nothing for his preaching, and had little confidence in him as a man of God. The very things he laid hold of to win men, as he said, tended to destroy their confidence in the ministry and keep them from Christ. An intelligent man can find plenty of ways of winning men's confidence without resorting to doubtful, if not harmful expedients. If his honest and proper efforts fail, he will not sacrifice himself nor bring a reproach upon the cause he represents.

The Scriptures clearly enjoin upon the Church the duty of "esteeming the ministry highly in love for the work's sake." This the Church will always do if the preacher shows himself loyal to the Master and zealous in promoting his cause. Who can estimate the results of such a man's labors? The people will not only love him for the work's sake, but having reaped his spiritual things they will minister to him their carnal things. He will be sure of a comfortable living at their hands.

Labor for souls should be the great aim of the pastor. In this he should spend his energies and never weary of his zeal. This should be manifest to all men. Is this not the secret of the success of modern evangelists? They profess love for souls, and labor in their behalf. And under the impression that an evangelist can more readily reach and influence the people, too many pastors let the stranger take their crown. We have known pastors to call on the evangelist before making direct effort themselves to save the people. The pastor who does this cuts the ground from under his feet and will not only suffer himself, but will see his Church suffer likewise.

When once the evangelist secures the reins and drives as he likes, the pastor need not expect to have an easy time in again securing control. In the great revivals the pastor is the man to look after and secure the interest of the Church, no matter how many persons profess religion under the evangelist. If the interest of the Church is not advanced by the revival, the conversions amount to nothing.

CURING CRIME BY SURGERY.

Again the idea of curing crime by surgery has bobbed up and is going the rounds. It is assumed that all forms of "degeneracy" is the result of disease of the brain, and that if the brain can be reached and cured, the patient or victim will be restored to a normal condition. In other words, thieves, robbers, and all other sinners of whatever class or character can be made good—moral and law-abiding—by sawing into the skull and doctoring a particular part of the brain. We have no doubt that such surgery can be effectively applied, and put an end forever to crime in any given case. It would be as effective as curing a dog of sucking eggs by cutting off his tail just at the back of his ears.

Of course, all such notions of curing crime proceed on the principle that the brain exclusively controls human action, and that there is no such thing as natural depravity—that a diseased brain, not a corrupt heart, is responsible for all crime against humanity. God is thrust altogether aside, for no man can believe in such a theory who believes in God and his revelation.

An absurder theory, general in its application, was never propounded. That certain forms of insanity may be cured by surgical operation we are ready to admit, but we are not ready to admit that all forms of sin are traceable to a disease of the brain. We can readily see how a young man like Harry K. Thaw, predisposed to insanity, can be crazed under great provocation, and on the impulse of the moment kill the man he looked upon as the persecutor of his wife; but for the life of us, we cannot see how his victim, Standford White, who purposely and deliberately arranged, and gorgeously furnished apartments for the lure and ruin of young girls, and did actually accomplish his hellish purpose, can be regarded in any sense as possessing a diseased brain. He belonged to one of the classes of sinners described by St. Paul in the first chapter of his letter to the Romans. The surgeon's saw or knife could not reach his case.

If all forms of crime, or all forms of degeneracy, whether resulting in overt crime or not, are traceable to a diseased brain, then the gospel, as the remedy for degeneracy and its consequences, is useless. Nothing but sawing open the heads of sinners and cleaning out their brains will save them. And if that will do it, certain sinners that afflict society should at once be compelled to submit to the operation. Boards of health compel citizens to do things they do not always like. Vaccination is compulsory. In New Orleans the screening of cisterns is obligatory, and dairymen dare not sell adulterated milk. The public health is at stake. These things are forced upon the people to prevent disease. Why not force them to submit to surgical operations to cure their maladies, moral diseases, that afflict and grieve society?

Would it not be nonsense to talk about curing drunkenness by boring into the drunkard's brain? Would it not be the veriest folly to send surgeons into the red-light and restricted districts of our cities to cure libertines, and redeem the thousands of fallen women? Yet if crime is the result of a diseased brain, and there is no other way to restore the unfortunates to "their normal state," there is just as much reason and necessity for operating on their brains as on the brains of a thief or a burglar, or a highway robber.

None but men who "do not like to retain God in their knowledge" talk after this fashion. But God lives and grace reigns, and if the world is ever to be purified and saved from sin and crime, it is not to be done with saws and knives and probes, but by the gospel of his Son.

THE REVIVAL IN THE CITY.

For several weeks past evangelistic services have been carried on in New Orleans under the auspices of the evangelical churches, Rev. M. F. Ham, of Kentucky, doing the preaching. Until this week the services have been conducted in the various Churches. They are now being held in a temporary tabernacle, made to seat four or five thousand persons. On Sunday evening last it was nearly filled. The papers have been giving daily accounts—not so much of the meetings, as of Mr. Ham's preaching. They have printed abstracts of the sermons, but as far as we have observed, said little about the results achieved. They have been so uniformly silent on this point that we were about to conclude there was nothing to report. Mr. Ham talks much about the wickedness of the city, and of the whisky devil in particular; and it is suggested that why the papers say nothing about results, the managers do not want the facts made public. From this we infer that the gospel as preached by Mr. Ham is making inroads into Satan's kingdom not at all pleasing to Mr. Story and those under his command.

We are assured by brethren who take part in the exercises that much good has been accomplished. Conversions have occurred in the Churches, and members received by the pastors. It is expected that in the tabernacle, there being access to so many more people than can get into the Churches, the results will be greater; and Sunday night's work justified the expectation, as about forty persons professed conversion. The tabernacle is in the down-town district, and hundreds of persons will attend who would not go many blocks to a Church.

The revival, we suppose, is but begun. May it go on until thousands are saved. The signs are good. Satan is using the columns of the daily papers—one or two—to vilify Mr. Ham. His emissaries are overdoing the thing. We have never seen anything in print dirtier than an article in the Times-Democrat a couple of weeks ago, and two articles in the same paper of Sunday last. Possibly the Times-Democrat knows that it is a good way to advertise Mr. Ham and his meetings, and thus shows its desire to help along the good cause.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

From all accounts, those we have seen in the papers, and those we have heard from individuals, the State Sunday School Convention at Baton Rouge last week must have been an occasion far above ordinary interest. It was largely attended by delegates from all sections of the State, representing the Sunday schools of all the evangelical Churches. The programme as carried out was of more than ordinary interest, and the speakers manifested the deepest interest in the subjects discussed. It was by all odds, we have been told, the most successful convention ever held in the State. For this Mr. T. V. Ellzey, the State secretary, deserves the greatest credit. He worked for it intelligently and enthusiastically. To the good people of Baton Rouge also, who opened their homes to the members, and made them welcome, much is due. The chief speaker was Mr. Marion Lawrence, the general secretary for the United States. He captured the crowd. The convention peldged $6,500 to carry on the work. This indicates the strong hold the Sunday school cause has on the hearts of the people.

PERSONALS.

Rev. W. B. Lewis, of Moss Point, in passing through the city last week, called at the ADVOCATE office. The editor was out of the city, and failed to see him, which is greatly regretted.

We have received a card announcing the marriage of Mr. C. A. Spragins to Miss Mary Louise Dickson, of Dallas, Texas. The happy event occurred on March 19. They are at home at Gainesville, Texas.

Rev. W. L. Graves says: "Church prospers in Houston (Miss.). My fourth year here is proving to be the most pleasant and successful of them all." We thank Brother Graves for notes from Aberdeen District.

Rev. Carroll Varner, of Knoxville, Tenn., sends us a good article on "The Preacher's Use of Books." In an accompanying note he says: "Southern Methodism is at a high tide in Knoxville now."

We had a long and pleasant talk with Dr. F. N. Parker, of the New Orleans District, last Monday. He reports the work throughout the District in a prosperous condition. The prospect in the city is brighter than it has been for two or three years.

The publisher desires the postoffice address of S. A. Hilton. The name and money came to hand, but nothing to indicate where the writer lives, or where the paper should be sent. Will the pastor who knows the writer please call his (or her) attention to this.

Rev. A. A. Bernard, writing from Cotton Valley, La., tells us of the affliction of his wife, who has been sick ever since Conference. But he keeps at work, and is doing well, one nice, commodious Church having been erected this year at Spring Hill. The building is greatly prized by him and his people.

Rev. A. R. Hoffpauir, pastor at Ringgold, La., is in deep affliction on account of the death of his wife. She passed away in the afternoon of March 25, at the home of her father. She was buried at Bethel Church on the 27th, Rev. F. P. Moss officiating. We sympatise with our brother in his affliction, and ask for him the prayers of the Church.

We call special attention to the communication of Rev. T. W. Lewis in regard to Millsaps College. We hope every subscriber will read it, and, if indebted to the endowment fund, will respond immediately. Two Churches have within the past few days made reports—Drew and Greenwood, through Brothers J. J. Beck and Rowan Thayer. Drew sent $86.50, and Greenwood $238.50.

Rev. E. W. Cain, in his third year at Itta Bena, Miss., is being blessed greatly in the work. He has paid his assessment ($50) for Domestic Missions, and will soon pay the claim for Foreign Missions. Last month seventeen members were received, with more in prospect. Sunday, March 29, he began a series of meetings, with Rev. W. S. Lagrone to do the preaching. He will inform us of the outcome in due time.

Chaplain Jno. A. Randolph, of the North Mississippi Conference, and wife, announce the engagement of their daughter, Gertrude, to Mr. Louis Lowrance Wright, of Dallas, Texas. Mr. Wright is a prominent business man of Dallas, and an official member of one of our leading Churches in that city. Miss Gertrude is the younger daughter of Chaplain and Mrs. Randolph, of the U. S. Army, now stationed at Fort Harrison, Montana.

During the past week the following brethren have sent us ecouraging lists of subsceibers: Rev. W. W. Moore, Montrose, Miss., 12; Rev. Edgar Blizzard, Red Banks, Miss., 24; Rev. M. H. Moore, Sharon, Miss., 32; Rev. R. W. Evans, Boonville Circuit, 20; Rev. C. C. Griffin, Daleville, Miss., 25. In the next issue the publisher promises to give the names of all who have sent five or more subscribers. We thank these brethren, one and all, for their active interest in behalf of the paper.

The following from the Carrollton (Miss.) Conservative will be read with interest: "Bishop C. B. Galloway was a guest in the home of Mr. J. R. Bingham this week. His many friends were delighted to see the Bishop in the enjoyment of good health. There was universal regret that the bishop did not preach while here. Bishop Galloway has accepted an invitation to deliver the commencement address at the University of Mississippi next June. He has chosen a subject dear to Mississippians, and no doubt the address will be a notable deliverance, and will, if such a thing be possible, add to the Bishop's already great reputation for breadth of view, lofty statesmanship, and oratory of the first rank."

Rev. W. G. Harbin, engaged for two weeks and more in a meeting at Hammond, La., has met with some success. "Congregations have been large and apparently interested. The preaching has been strong and forceful, and a few persons have professed conversion." Several have been added to the Church, who will prove to be very valuable members. Prof. R. N. Jeffrey is leading the singing, and does it well. He understands music, and has a fine voice. The choir also has the assistance of a lady visitor from Illinois, Miss Perdue, who charms everybody with her music. She is a delightful singer. Later: The meeting closed Monday night, and Brother Harbin spent Tuesday and Tuesday night in New Orleans. We acknowledge a pleasant call.

NEW ORLEANS PREACHERS' MEETING.

Every pastor was present at 10:30 a. m. Monday, the 30th, with the exception of Dr. Rice and Brother Harrel.

The following pastors reported additions to his Church membership during the past month: Foster, 3; Townsley, 3; Lutz, 1; Holmes, 9; Sims, 5; Carley, 12; Wray, 13; Atkinson, 3.

A revival meeting is in progress at Parker Memorial Church with Rev. A. S. Lutz as preacher and Mr. I. N. Niebergal as singer.

First Church had a record-breaking attendance at Sunday school last Sunday, 215. The best in five years.

The word "growth" tells the story of great work being done at Epworth Church under the direction of Pastor Sims.

Confidence

when eating, that your food is of highest wholesomeness—that it has nothing in it that can injure or distress you—makes the repast doubly comfortable and satisfactory.

This supreme confidence you have when the food is raised with

ROYAL
Baking Powder
Absolutely Pure

The only baking powder made with Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

There can be no comforting confidence when eating alum baking powder food. Chemists say that more or less of the alum powder in unchanged alum or alum salts remains in the food.

Rev. W. W. Holmes, of Louisiana Avenue Church, made his report to the Preachers' Meeting with the word "hopeful."

Rev. J. L. Sutton sees moral improvement in the boys of his institution.

The ladies of Second Church will organize a Foreign Missionary Society.

Mr. T. V. Ellzey, secretary of the State Sunday School Association, stated that he would spend six weeks in Oklahoma in the interest of the work there. He will leave in about ten days.

Rev. A. S. Lutz, pastor of Felicity Street Church, read a very learned and interesting paper on "Sociology" at the Meeting. The paper provoked a very interesting discussion.

AN APPEAL TO OUR PEOPLE.

May I ask all the pastors in the two Mississippi Conferences to read the enclosed appeal to their people during April.

Brethren, please do not neglect this, whatever else you may have on hand, be sure to read this statement to your people, and let them know about their own College.

To the Methodists of Mississippi—Greeting: Millsaps College is now on the eve of great things. First—A revival of genuine religion is sweeping through the entire College, and more than forty boys have been converted. Second—The College authorities are raising the curriculum to conform to the demands of the Commission of Education. Third—We are in sight of the hundred thousand dollars, which will make our endowment fund more than a quarter of a million dollars. If we can collect the five thousand dollars now due on the College subscription, we can secure a large part of the funds promised us from outside sources. We must have the money by May 1, 1908—thirty days hence—or we Mississippi Methodists will lose a great opportunity and fail to redeem a sacred pledge.

Dear friends, you who know yourselves to owe the College any amount, and you who have not yet given anything to this forward movement, please send me a contribution at once, and help us save the day.

T. W. LEWIS.

Jackson, Miss.

BUY THE NEW BOOK
HARP OF A THOUSAND STRINGS
contains the immortal burlesques of Rev. Henry Talliaferro Lewis. One Dollar at McKowen and Co., Jackson, La., and W. L. Linfield, Woodville, Miss.

Don't Wait 'till They Sing

You make yourself unneccessary expense for repairs every time you use a poor wagon grease or allow an axle to go dry.

An occasional application of

MICA Axle Grease

removes two thirds of the trouble and cost of keeping a wagon. Try "Mica" next time you go for a load—you'll see the difference and the horse will feel it.

Mica Axle Grease is almost as good as roller bearings. Ask the dealer for it.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY
(Incorporated)

FREE Talking and Sleeping DOLL

ANY LADY OR GIRL CAN HAVE ONE IF SHE WRITES AT ONCE.

This is the prettiest doll offered by any preminm house. It is over a foot tall, and a perfect little queen; eyes open and close; stylishly dressed; has complete wardrobe; will say "papa" and "memma." All I ask of yon is to send your name and address at once. I then send you, absolutely free, my complete outfit so you can interest just 8 friends in my special offer at 25c each. Send the $2 collected and I will immediately forward the Doll, also an elegant gold-finish locket and chain which I will include if you answer this ad at once. Both premiums without one cent of cost to you—just an honr's easy work. Send no money in advance. Only one doll and locket to a family—no more. Don't delay. Address. DOLL HEADQUARTERS, 409 U. S. EXPRESS BLDG., DEPT. 64, CHICAGO.

FAMOUS HYMNS EDITED BY D. B. TOWNER and E. O. EXCELL

For every need of praise and worship. The best compositions of a lifetime of study and active service of the editors, and other well-known composers. Over 40 standard church hymns, including nearly all generally sung. 160 pages, with Topical Responsive Readings. Round or shaped notes. Three bindings: Manila, $10 per 100; Board, $15 per 100; Full cloth, $20 per 100. Add 5c postage extra per copy. Correspondence with churches and evangelists invited.

The Bible Institute Colportage Association, Chicago.

I Am Helping Others —Let Me Help You—

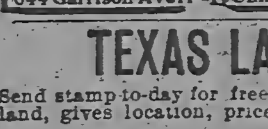
If you are honest, ambitious and aggresive, I can help you Make Money—no matter where you live.

I have made more than $1,200 in one month in the Real Estate business. I made this in commission selling property for others. It doesn't matter whether you have had experience or not, or what your present occupation is. I can teach you the Real Estate business by mail, then I want you to act as my associate and assist me in your locality to sell property. Write me now.

I WILL TEACH YOU A CLEAN, HONORABLE, DIGNIFIED BUSINESS.

Write for free book.

ROBERT DAWSON,
644 Garrison Ave. Fort Smith, Ark.



TEXAS LANDS.

Send stamp to-day for free book on irrigated land, gives location, prices and products of land in the Farmer's Paradise.

San Antonio, Tex.
Mention paper.

Obituaries.

Obituaries not over two hundred words in length will be published free of charge. All over two hundred words will be charged at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and send the amount necessary with the obituary That will save trouble all around.

LEVI ROBERTS was born in Alabama, in the year 1841, and died at Tioga, Louisiana, March 10, 1908, aged 67 years and 3 months. He came to Louisiana before he was grown. In his young manhood he was converted, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. He was a man of quiet, even temper, a Christian of simple, trusting faith; full of love to God and man. He was never known to harm any one, either in word or deed. He filled the office of steward and trustee in his Church for a number of years, always faithful to any work the Church might place upon him. He was married to Miss P. Crawford, at the age of twenty. This union was blessed with twelve children, three of whom crossed over before their father. Brother Roberts was a kind and devoted husband, an affectionate father. For several months he was confined to his room, and suffered most painful bodily affliction; but through all in the great battle of life he triumphed at the last. His death was like his life had been—calm, as one falling asleep. His life was well spent in the service of his loved ones. I would say, weep not as those who have no hope, for husband and father has just gone on before. He will be there watching and waiting for you. May the Lord comfort the bereaved ones.

G. D. PURCELL, P. C.

SWEPSON T. HARKEY, son of Rev. David Harkey, was born on a farm on the Tombigbee River, near an old town called Wheelen, about twenty-five miles southeast of Tupelo, Nov. 13, 1849. On the 4th of September, 1888, he was married to Miss Minnie Lovina Patrick, daughter of Mr. Jas. W. Patrick, in St. Joseph, Mo. From this union two sons and one daughter, with the wife, survive the departed. It was my privilege to know Brother Harkey for more than twenty years, and a man who lived more for others it has never been my lot to know. This charactistic of his nature was largely in evidence when he was but a youth, caring for his widowed mother and sisters to the neglect and forgetting himself. Heroically he labored to educate his sisters, and when this was well done it was then he seemed to think of himself, and well did he prepare for life's business and battles. He loved his Church, and was a zealous worker, taking a lively interst in all that pertained to her prosperity. The Quarterly Conference, District and Annual Conferences he had been officially connected with for years. He was treasurer of the Board of Missions of the North Mississippi Conference at the time of his death. He was a man of broad and liberal views, aggressive in every department of Church work. This part of our Conference will feel his loss most keenly. His was an ideal Christian home, and how he did love his home, and planned and worked continuously for the happiness and comfort of his loved ones. Truly a great light has gone out of that home. How strange are the ways of our Father. Indeed we see through a glass darkly; we know only in part; but we will know by and by. A noble wife, two sons and a sweet little daughter must breast the storm of life, without the counsel of this strong, good husband and father. He waits and watches. Will we disappoint him? God forbid. We will press toward the mark.

W. S. SHIPMAN.

RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE.

Whereas, in his infinite wisdom, God has seen fit to remove from our Sunday school our most beloved, highly esteemed and very efficient co-worker, Miss OLA KEARNEY, and translated her to that brighter home beyond the skies; be it, therefore,

Resolved, first, That in her death the Flora (Miss.) Sunday school and the Methodist Church has sustained an irreparable loss, and the community at large a useful and charitable member; one who was ever ready with cheerful heart and willing hand to minister to the sick, comfort the distressed, and alleviate the wants of the poor and needy. In the Church she did abound in labors, always a help-meet to her pastor, and a most active member of the Woman's Home Mission Society.

Resolved, second, That we tender to the bereaved family our deepest and most heart-felt sympathies, for we know that in the home she will be most sadly missed. We can only point them to the Comforter, who alone can sustain them in this sad hour of bereavement.

Resolved, third, That we, as a Sunday school, invoke the Divine guidance of our Father in carrying forward the work she has laid down, and that her mantle may fall on some one of our members who may exercise the same zeal and earnestness in the work as did she.

Resolved, fourth, That the chancel rail be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days in loving memory of our dear departed sister.

Resolved, fifth, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family and be spread upon the minutes of the Sunday school record, also a copy be furnished the New Orleans Christian Advocate for publication.

MR. W. E. HARRIS,
MRS. O. R. FORE,
MRS. J. C. ROSS,
Committee.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE MID-YEAR MEETING.

The Mid-year Meeting of the Mississippi Conference Board of Missions will be held in Centreville on June 15, 16, 17. A programme carrying the names of some of the most prominent mission workers of our church will be published in due time.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

BELLS.
Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. ☞ Send for Catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

The GUARANTEED EXTERMINATOR

Stearns' Electric RAT and ROACH Paste
is guaranteed to rid the house, barn or store of cockroaches, rats, mice, water bugs, etc. Sold at druggists or general stores everywhere, or sent prepaid on receipt of price.
2 oz. box, 25c; 16 oz. box, $1.00.
STEARNS' ELECTRIC PASTE CO., Buffalo, N.Y., U.S.A.

The New Orleans Cornice Works,

MANUFACTURERS OF

METAL CORNICES, SKYLIGHTS, Etc., STEEL CEILINGS.

Repairing of all Kinds of Roofs. 619 Poydras St. New Orleans, La.

J. H. CAMPMAN, Proprietor.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL

The Double Track Route.

26 Hours to Chicago
21 Hours to St. Louis
22 Hours to Louisville
26 Hours to Cincinnati

Through Sleeping Cars to above points. Dining Cars, Library Cars, Chair Cars and Coaches.

Full Particulars at

City Ticket Office,
141 ST. CHARLES STREET.
Phone Main 3618.

NEW YORK
CINCINNATI
ST. LOUIS
NEW

QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE

THROUGH SLEEPING CARS
All Meals in DINING CARS

TICKET OFFICE
211 ST. CHARLES ST

HIS CHANCE IS GONE
YOUR CHANCE IS HERE

The question is, are you qualified to hold a responsible position? Have you had a thorough commercial training? Bankers, Merchants, and Manufacturers want you if you are competent. Now Is Your Chance. Two roads are open to young people. One requires no training and leads to failure. The other requires training and leads to success. We prepare young men and women and start them on the road to success by securing them high-salaried positions. Fine climate, board cheap. Write for illustrated catalog and further information.

HATTIESBURG BUSINESS COLLEGE, HATTIESBURG, MISS.

THE SIGN OF A BROKEN HEART.

By Prof. T. Berry Smith.

I strolled one day on a busy street,
 Feeling no sense of care,
And somehow fell to reading the signs
 That swung in the vagrant air;
At length I came to a sign so strange
 It verily made me start,
'Twas the lurid sign of a shop for wine
 In the shape of a broken heart.

Amazed to find so cruel a sign
 On a street in a Christian land,
I wondered what kind of a heart he had
 Who such an emblem planned;
And I looked to see in the faces round
 The fruitage of his mart;
Lo! many a sign of the shop for wine—
 The sign of a broken heart.

A woman came—a faithful wife—
 The while I stood and mused,
And led her staggering husband home
 With [illegible] confused.
Her face was one of the saddening signs
 Marking that busy mart.
'Twas the speaking sign of that shop for wine—
 The sign of a broken heart.

Then came a mother seeking her boy,
 Whose feet had entered there;
And, oh, how care-worn was the face
 Beneath her silvering hair!
She knew too well—and wore the sign
 Of that busy street apart—
'Twas the eloquent sign of that shop for wine.
 The sign of a broken heart.

Not far away was a cheerless hut
 By time and tempest scarred,
Where barefoot children, wearing rags,
 Were playing in the yard;
The faces of those little ones
 Were tell-tale like a chart,
They showed the sign of the shop for wine—
 The sign of a broken heart.

I was roused by the signs of the sad, sad eyes,
 Of children and mother and wife,
I knew they were made at the shop with the sign
 Of the broken core of life;
And then and there in my soul I swore,
 As a man to do my part
Till no shop for wine could make such sign—
 The sign of the broken heart.

St. Louis Christian Advocate.

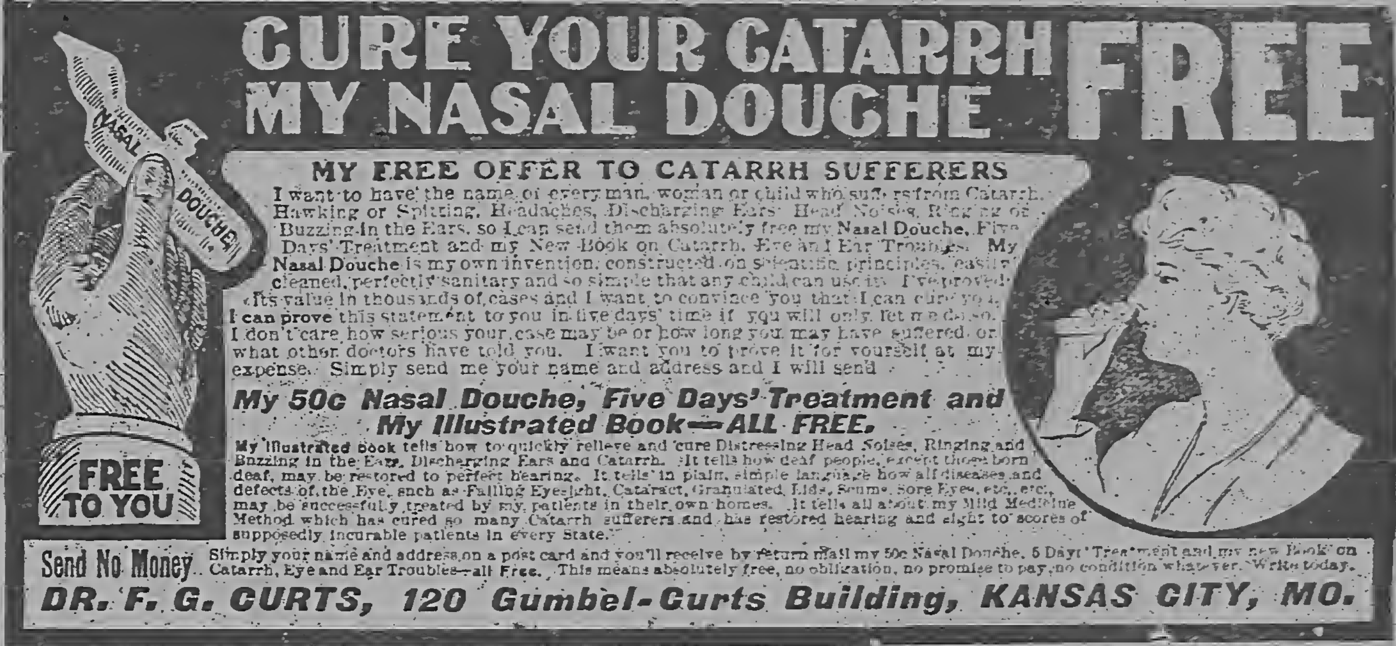
MONINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

KEEP OUT OF DEBT.

Yes! you can make a good crop this year without debt. Plant your cotton where you had cow peas, or where you had corn last year, and you need not use any fertilizer this time. Then use your old plows, old wagons, tools, old mules and patched garments and shoes, then all you make may be yours. Try this plan this year. Many of the old soldiers did that way just after the war. No doubt your old friends can cite you to several now well-to-do farmers who made their first crop after the war without a dollar or any credit.—J. C. Stribling, in Southern Cultivator.

BLOOD POISONING POSITIVELY CURED

Hereditary, primary, secondary and tertiary. Scrofula, Eczema, Blood and Skin Disease. If you have exhausted old time methods and want to get well write me in fullest confidence for proof of cures. Take my treatment and get well.
A. A. BROWER, M. D.
San Antonio, Tex.



CURE YOUR CATARRH FREE
MY NASAL DOUCHE

MY FREE OFFER TO CATARRH SUFFERERS

I want to have the name of every man, woman or child who suffers from Catarrh, Hawking or Spitting, Headaches, Discharging Ears, Head Noises, Ringing or Buzzing in the Ears, so I can send them absolutely free my Nasal Douche, Five Days' Treatment and my New Book on Catarrh, Eye and Ear Troubles. My Nasal Douche is my own invention, constructed on scientific principles, easily cleaned, perfectly sanitary and so simple that any child can use it. I've proved its value in thousands of cases and I want to convince you that I can cure you. I can prove this statement to you in five days' time if you will only let me do so. I don't care how serious your case may be or how long you may have suffered, or what other doctors have told you. I want you to prove it for yourself at my expense. Simply send me your name and address and I will send

My 50c Nasal Douche, Five Days' Treatment and My Illustrated Book—ALL FREE.

My Illustrated book tells how to quickly relieve and cure Distressing Head Noises, Ringing and Buzzing in the Ears, Discharging Ears and Catarrh. It tells how deaf people, except those born deaf, may be restored to perfect hearing. It tells in plain, simple language how all diseases and defects of the Eye, such as Failing Eyesight, Cataract, Granulated Lids, Scums, Sore Eyes, etc., etc., may be successfully treated by my patients in their own homes. It tells all about my Mild Medicine Method which has cured so many Catarrh sufferers and has restored hearing and sight to scores of supposedly incurable patients in every State.

Send No Money. Simply your name and address on a post card and you'll receive by return mail my 50c Nasal Douche, 5 Days' Treatment and my new Book on Catarrh, Eye and Ear Troubles—all Free. This means absolutely free, no obligation, no promise to pay, no condition whatever. Write today.

DR. F. G. CURTS, 120 Gumbel-Curts Building, KANSAS CITY, MO.

A PAYING FARM BROPOSITION.

One of the best paying farm propositions an ambitious man can take hold of is cattle feeding, either for market or for milk.

Now that agricultural science has given us an insight into the actual principles which lie at the foundation of the business, it is a mere matter of applying them in daily practice to get good profit for ourselves. Feeding corn meal or any combination of feeds, won't necessarily make beef or produce milk. Your steer or cow has got to digest and use its ration or the manure heap will be the richer and you the poorer. In other words, the simple act of feeding doesn't always produce results.

Here is where farm science comes to the rescue. The new idea on feeding tells us, first of all that the steer or cow is like a machine, and that the feed each gets is raw material which we wish to turn into flesh, fat or milk. Now if your steer or cow, as machines, don't work properly, a greater or less percentage of your feed is bound to be wasted. That is, animal digestion must be absolutely right if the greatest gain is to be made.

But it's impossible to keep the stomach and intestines working right when they are constantly forced beyond natural limitations, and that is what every feeder of live stock is doing when feeding for market or for milk.

From which it follows that anything capable of continuing the digestive function in healthy activity during the weeks or months in which the fattening process is going on, will solve the problem to the feeder's satisfaction.

Experiment has proved conclusively that a preparation containing true tonic elements, blood builders and nitrates (which are well known as cleansing the system) is an actual necessity in the cattle business. In fact, the greatest success is impossible without it. Just as well expect to preserve your own health, and stuff with rich food for a period of months, as to expect your stall-fed steer or cow to do so.

The "food tonic" idea has come to stay in the cattle-feeding business—success depends on it. Your animals must be "toned up" and strengthened by these mild elements which great medical writers like Professors Winslow, Quitman and Finley Dun recommend as beneficial. Give it to the horses, it will make them fatter and more salable. Lambs grow faster, swine fat quicker—indeed, all live stock profit depends upon this tonic.—Southern Cultivator.

MONINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS. UNLIKE OTHER BELLS SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.
Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

W. H. BYRNES, Pres. JOHN T. GIBBONS, Vice-Pres. W. WOOD, Sec'y.
Capital.......... [illegible]
Assets.......... [illegible]

HIBERNIA INSURNCE CO.,
No. 305 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
LOSSES PROMPTLY PAID.

Pine-Brook Dairy Co., Ltd.
ALL OUR COWS TUBERCULINE TESTED
Milk and Cream Delivered Morning and Evening.
COR ST. CHARLES & WASHINGTON AVES. Phone 1514 Uptown.

INCUBATORS "THE MODEL" Manufactured by Chas. A. Cyphers The acknowledged leading authority on Incubation. We carry a full line also of Brooders, Coops, Etc. Our Steinmesch Poultry Feeds are considered the finest on the market. They grow big chickens and a large percentage of these. [illegible] White Washing Machines, Spray Pumps save labor and money. Field Fencing, Root Cutters, Feeders, Seeds, etc. Everything for Poultrymen.
NEW ORLEANS POULTRY SUPPLY CO.,
R. E. Bruce, Manager. 531 Poydras Street, New Orleans.

THE AMERICAN PAINT WORKS,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.,
MANUFACTURES EVERYTHING IN PAINTS,
—Guaranteed Strictly Pure—
The Climatic Prepared Paints, Perfecto White
and
SOLD SUBJECT TO A CHEMICAL ANALYSIS
DIRECTORS:
Thos. S. Witherspoon, President. Francis Martin, Vice-President.
R. B. Barker. John McCloskey. Geo. A. Hero.
PHONE, MAIN 915. Special Attention to Mail Orders.

New Orleans Light House
FRIEDRICH MERCANTILE COMPANY
636 CAMP STREET
LIGHTS

(Friedrich Mercantile Co.) Well-known Welbach Gas Lights, all styles. Something new. Tubus Gas Lights, very popular. Inverted Gas Lights at $1.10. The Practicus Coal Oil Lamp that burns a mantle 60 hours to one gallon of coal oil. You are invited to see this brilliant light. Gasoline Hollow Wire Lamp Systems, substitute for gas and electric lights. Full Stock of Lighting Supplies.
Country Orders Solicited.

THE BEST MADE.
Angell's Cough and Whooping Cough Syrup
For Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Throat Trouble.
CONTAINS NO OPIUM OR MORPHINE,
All Druggists, Price 25 and 50 Cents.

The Union Railroad Business College
BUSINESS TAUGHT AS IT IS DONE.
Is backed up by thousands of dollars and expert teachers. Uses no text books or copying nonsense. Free scholarships given only to those between the ages of 13 and 35 years.
Business men everywhere are calling for the graduates of this school. For full particulars, address PROF. W. H. STEPHENSON, Texarkana, Texas.

Ask
Your Wife to have Jell-O
for Dessert to-day
You'll be delighted
10c. at grocers

Sunday School

By W. B. Campbell.

LESSON FOR APRIL 3d.

Subject: Jesus the Good Shepherd. John x, 1-18.

Golden Text: "The Good Shepherd giveth his life for the sheep." John x, 11.

Jesus had spoken of his countrymen as of sheep having no shepherd, and it was often said of him that, as he looked on those assembled to hear his words, he was moved with compassion. The man that was born blind had been excommunicated from the congregation because of the bigotry of the Pharisees, thus adding to the spirit of discouragement and unrest that marked the character of the common people. A leader and a guide for these people must of a necessity be of a different character and capacity from those who had so long held that position. See with what readiness the blind man acknowledges the authority and office of him who had given him sight! Also see the bitter envy of the rulers and of the Pharisees, as they questioned the man and his parents. The contrast must have been in the mind of the Lord as he continued his exhortation: "He that entereth not by the door of the sheepfold, but climbeth up some other way * * *" What was this door by which a man must enter in order to be a shepherd of the sheep? We know that it means to us that a man must be called of God to preach his word; have the same mind that was in the Master, and the same that he instilled into the hearts of the twelve disciples. The Pharisees had it not, and could not understand what it was. Jesus told Nicodemus what it was, but he could not receive it. It is the blessed Spirit that urges entire consecration to God's service. He that entereth by this door is the shepherd of the sheep.

Jesus puts himself before this wondering and confused people as the Good Shepherd. He it is that calleth his own sheep by name. Where he leads his sheep will follow. Are there any that desire to be shepherds in this day and time, and in that desire they climb up some other way? This would apply to teachers in the Sunday school, as well as to preachers. Then we can learn from this lesson how one can lead his class, as the Good Shepherd leads his sheep. Are you one of his sheep? The text is: "His sheep hear his voice" and also heed. "If ye love me, keep my commandments."

How needful that the sheep have a shepherd. A sheep is a thoughtless and careless animal. It is an animal that possesses a curiosity that often leads it into danger. We are much like the sheep in this, and in that we are easily led. Jesus meant that we had all these weak points, and needed constant care, when he made the comparison.

Let us be of the trusting sheep, that know not the voice of strangers. All fear will flee away from those who follow the Shepherd. The psalmist was certain that the Lord was his Shepherd before he said "I will fear no evil."

Now, as Jesus was telling of the good shepherd and the stranger, and the difference between them, they could not understand. The apostles themselves did not fully understand their mission until after the day of Pentecost.

We of to-day are the sheep of greatest responsibility, for to us has been preached the "gospel with the Holy Ghost that came down from heaven." We understand when the Good Shepherd says, "I am the door: by me if any man enter in he shall be saved." Any man, however great a sinner, he may be saved. However much he may be shunned because he has been a great sinner, he shall be saved. Why? Only because there is "none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved," and it is Jesus that saves; our part is faith.

There is perfect security under the care of our good Shepherd. "Though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil." Even in the presence of enemies perfect composure is ours "If God be for us, who can be against us?"

The teachings of the Pharisees savored of death. They had no words of comfort describing mansions all fair and bright, where the redeemed forever dwelled with God as their eternal Father. Jesus' words lightens this gloom. "I am come that they—my sheep—might have life and that they might have it more abundantly."

All the way through life, with all its cares, sorrows or mistakes; all the way, even down to the dark valley, our Good Shepard "goeth before" his sheep. He has been touched with a feeling of our infirmities. O brother, sister, do not lose heart, if thou dost slip with thy feet! The good Shepherd is ever ready to help. He will even leave the ninety and nine and go far over the mountain in search of the one that is lost. O there has been done so much to bring the wanderers in. The gracious invitation! The promise of help and strength, and all without cost. What is ours to do in return for all this love and kindness? Only trust and obey. Salvation is free, free to all. To him that would desire to make a return for this goodness of God, to him there is waiting an eternity in which to serve in endless praise. "Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great Shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant, make you perfect in every good work, to do his will," and "his will is to believe on him whom he hath sent."

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The man who sets his sail to catch the popular breeze is likely to be becalmed at any moment.

ECZEMA, TETTER AND SKIN TROUBLES.

Tetterine, the fragrant, antiseptic and healing ointment, instantly relieves and quickly cures skin and scalp diseases and itching piles. It is the finest prescription ever discovered for these condtions, and is elegantly prepared by The Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga. If your druggist cannot supply you, send 50 cents in stamps.

BIBLE STUDY BOOK FREE.

A complete Synopsis of Bible Study of great value to all students of the Word. Send postal-card request to Scofield Bible Correspondence School, Room 950, 150 Nassau St., New York.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

Young's Business College,
Vicksburg, Miss.

If interested in business education send your name NOW for a booklet we are getting out, entitled, "For They Themselves Have Said It."

25 BEAUTIFUL SOUVENIR POST CARDS 25

Including Fine Flower Cards WITH YOUR NAME WRITTEN IN GOLD, hand paintings, funny Comics, etc. No two alike. Retail in all stores from $1.00 to $1.50. Send name of this paper and 25 cents for the lot; and terms to agents. Address,

Southern Post Card Agency, Lexington, N. C.

Prof. N. J. Harris, President Harris' Business University, has written a system of SHORTHAND that can be learned in six (6) days, after which there is nothing to do but practice for speed. It is EXTREMELY EASY TO WRITE, and the MOST IMPORTANT of all, it is EASY TO READ.—Clarion-Ledger, Jackson, Miss.

Classified Advertisements.

EDUCATIONAL.

WANTED—30,000 telegraphers on account of the new 8 hour law. Draughon's Colleges, 30 in 17 states, give written contract to secure position or refund money. Address Jno. F. Draughon, Washington, Nashville, Atlanta, Raleigh, St. Louis, Dallas, Little Rock or San Antonio.

OPPORTUNITIES AND INVESTMENTS.

INVESTMENT—We can lend your money on first mortgage City realty at from 6 per cent to 8 per cent profit, n t. ALL LOANS GUARANTEED. Pensacola is the nearest city in the U. S. to Panama Canal and is rapidly improving. Escambia Realty Co., Inc., Pensacola, Fla.

SALESMEN WANTED.

SALESMEN—For $20 Fortune soda fountain and $30 New Process fountains; make $10 and $12.50 each sale, collect own commission. Smith Manufacturing Co., 134 La Salle street, Chicago, Ill.

MISCELLANEOUS.

THEOLOGICAL BOOKS—Second hand.—Send for New Bulletin, just issued. Books bought in large and small lots for cash. Theo. E. Schulte, Bookseller, 132 East 23rd street, New York.

Our Specialty. A Sepia Porcelain Miniature, oval, 21-2 x 3 inches, copied from any Photo for $1.00. Free sample photo. Jeffres Studio, E. Lafayette Ave., Baltimore, Md.

Get Our Free Book For a Postal and Know Buggy Values

We'll give you the most liberal terms—lowest price for quality and guaranteed durability on any vehicle or harness shown in our handsomely illustrated new Free Catalog. Write today.

Shipment At Once
30 Days Free Trial
Strongest Guarantee on

You'll be astonished at the cash savings we will make you on any vehicle or harness—direct from our factory.

To save dealers' profits—To know real Vehicle and Harness Values get and enjoy reading this great new Free Catalog of ours.

Be sure to ask for Catalog No. V14.

Marvin Smith Co., Chicago, Ill.

The LIFE and WORKS of Paul Laurence Dunbar.

There's a world of inspiration in the life story of this young negro, who in spite of circumstances, which seemed hopeless, wrote cheerfully, and won undying fame for himself within the brief span of 33 years. President Roosevelt says: "I was a great admirer of his poetry and his prose." Heretofore his works cost $25. We now offer in one large, illustrated volume, his Complete Poetical Works, his best short stories and inspiring biography for $1.75 postpaid—16,000 already sold.

A LIVE SELLER FOR AGENTS

Agents are coining money. Mr. J. C. Williams, Iowa, just writes: "Have received my Dunbar outfit and in eight hours sold eighteen copies—profits $19." C. D. Higgins, Ohio, says: "Sold seventy-five copies in 1 1-2 days—profits $72.25." Start now and get first choice of territory. We pay biggest commissions, ship books on credit, and send OUTFIT FREE.

Write to-day.

J. L. NICHOLS & COMPANY,
Memphis, Tenn.

Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company.

PASSENGER SERVICE.

Daily Passenger Trains between Shreveport and New Orleans. Daily Passenger Trains between Shreveport and Winnfield.

FREIGHT SERVICE.

Exceptional good time on carload traffic. Special attention given less than carload shipments all of which moves in

DAILY THROUGH PACKAGE CARS.

CLARENCE ELLERBE, Assistant to President.
H. B. HELM, General Superintendent.
E. C. D. MARSHALL, General Freight & Passenger Agent.
Shreveport, La.

QUARTERLY CONFRENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—SECOND RND

Parker Memorial a.m.	Mar 15,
Mary Werlein p.m.	Mar 15,
McDonoghville, at Wesley	Mar 29,
Bogalusa	Apr 5,
Plaquemine	Apr 11, 12
Donaldsonville, at Vacherie	Apr 18, 19
Slidell, at Mandeville	Apr 26,
Louisiana Avenue a.m.	May 3,
Algiers p.m.	May 3,
Felicity a.m.	May 10,
Epworth p.m.	May 10,
First Church	May 17,
Rayne a.m.	May 24,
Carrollton p.m.	May 24,
Covington	June 6, 7
Second Church	June 14.

F. N. PARKER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST—SECOND RND.

Summerville and Eden, at Bunkie	Apr 4, 5
Lecompte, at Lecompte	Apr 6,
Verda and Atlanta, at St. Maurice	Apr 10,
Colfax and Montgomery, at C.	Apr 11, 12
Pineville, at Holloway's P.	Apr 18, 19
Master's Chapel	Apr 25, 26
Boyce, at Eden	May 2, 3
Pollock, at Tioga	May 6,
Selma	May 9, 10
Boeuf River	May 11,
Chicot, at Ward's Chapel	May 16, 17
Opelousas, at Opelousas	May 18,
Alexandria, at First Church	May 23, 24
Alexandria, West End	May 24, 25
Simmsport, at Woodside	May 30, 31
Dry Creek, at Hopewell	June 5,
Glenmora, at Forest Hill	June 6, 7
Natchitoches	June 11,

The District Conference will convene in Natchitoches June 12-14.

N. E. JOYNER, P. E.

Alexandria, La.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—SECOND RND.

Keatchi, at Longstreet	Apr 4, 5
Grand Cane, at Stonewall	Apr 11, 12
Pelican, at Mitchell	Apr 18, 19
Wesley, at Davis Spring	Apr 24, 25
Coushatta, at Campti	Apr 26, 27
La Chute, at Atkins	May 2, 3
Mansfield Circuit	May 9, 10
Zwolle, at Noble	May 16, 17
Mansfield	May 17, 18
Many	May 23, 24
Ida, at Ida	May 30, 31
Shreveport, Texas Ave.	June 1, 2
Shreveport, First Church	June 3,
Shreveport, Noel Memorial	June 4,
Pleasant Hill	June 6, 7
Greenwood	June 8, 9
Hornbeck	June 13, 14
Leesville	June 14, 15
Bon Ami	June 20, 21
De Ridder	June 21, 22
Mooringsport	June 24, 25
Provencal	June 27, 28

Our Annual Preachers' Meeting and Missionary Institute will meet at Mansfield Monday night, May 18, and close Wednesday night. We want each pastor to bring at least three laymen and as many of the good women as possible.

T. J. WARLICK, P. E.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—SECOND RND.

Wilson, at Pisgah	Apr 11, 12
Clinton	Apr 12, 13
Ethel, at New Hope	Apr 18, 19
Jackson	Apr 19, 20
Baker, at Brookstown	Apr 25, 26
Zachary and Slaughter, at Z.	Apr 26, 27
Port Vincent, at Huffs	May 2, 3
Ponchatoula, at Springfield	May 3, 4
Hammond	May 5,
Independence, at I.	May 6,
Amite City	May 7,
Franklinton, at Angie	May 9, 10
Mt. Hermon Ct., at Mt. H.	May 11,
Kentwood	May 12,
St Helena, at Wesley	13,
St Francisvill, at Star Hill	16, 17
Pinegrove, at Montpelier	May 23, 24
Liveoak, at Alford's	May 30, 31
East Feliciana, at Clear Cr.	June 6, 7
Melville, at Cottonwood	June 13, 14
Newroads	June 21, 22
Baton Rouge, First Church	June 28, 28
Baton Rouge, Second Ch.	June 28, 29

R. W. TUCKER, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—SECOND RND.

Bienville, at Burk Place	Apr 4, 5
Simsboro, at Salem	Apr 8,
Homer	Apr 11, 12
Haynesville, at New Salem	Apr 14,
N. Bossier, at Walker's Ch.	Apr 18, 19
Benton, at Alden's	Apr 20,
Haughton, at Doyline	Apr 25, 26
Gibsland, at Athens	Apr 27,
Arcadia	Apr 28,
Jonesboro, at Jonesboro	May 3, 4
Vernon, at New Prospect	May 9, 10
Bernice, at Bernice	May 15,
Lisbon, at Harmony	May 16, 17
Ruston	May 18,
Minden	May 19,
Ringgold, at Andrew's	May 20,
Lanesville, at Pine Grove	May 23, 24
C. Valley, at C. Valley	May 26,
Winnfield	May 31, June 1

District Conference will be about the last week in July. Preachers, please take notice and make no conflicting appointments.

BRISCOE CARTER, P. E.

CROWLEY DIST—SECOND ROUND

Prudhomme	April 5
Rayne	April 5
Grand Chenier	April 12
Eunice	April 19
Morgan City	April 26
Patterson	April 26
Sulphur and Vinton	May 3
Lake Charles	May 3
Lake Arthur	May 17
Jennings	May 24

J. M. HENRY, P. E.

MONROE DIST.—SECOND ROUND

Monroe, at M.	Apr 4, 5
Winnsboro, at Boeuf Prairie	Apr 11, 12
West Monroe, at Faulk Ch.	Apr 18, 19
Lake Providence, at L. P.	Apr 25, 26
Farmerville, at Marion	May 2, 3
Brookland, at Sardis	May 9 10
Eros, at Indian Village	May 16, 17
Merrouge, at M.	May 23, 24
Mangham, at Little Creek	May 30, 31
Harrisonburg, at Jonesville	June 6, 7
Florence, at Holly Grove	June 13, 14
Downsville, at Douglas	June 17,
Waterproof, at St. Joseph	June 20, 21
Floyd, at Midway	June 27, 28

J. E. DENSON, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

CORINTH DISTRICT—SECOND R'N'D.

Guntown and Baldwyn, at Pleasant Valley	Apr 4, 5
Mantachie Cir., at Oak Grove	Apr 11, 12
Belmont Cir., at New Hope	Apr 18, 19
Tishomingo Cir., at Salem	Apr. 25, 26
Wheeler Ct., at Double Spgs.	May 2, 3
Marietta Ct., at Blythes C.	May 9, 10
Myrtle Ct., Ebenezer	May 16, 17
Blue Spgs., at Liberty	May 23, 24
New Albany Ct., at Wells C.	May 30, 31
New Albany Sta., at New Albany	May 31, June 1
Booneville Ct., at Blackland	June 6, 7
Jonesboro Ct., at Brownfield	June 13, 14
Rainey, and Faulkner Ct., at Marvin	June 20, 21
Ripley and New Hope, at Wler's	June 27, 28

District Conference will be held at Baldwyn, Miss., July 14, 15, 16.

BEN P. JACO, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—SECOND ROUND

Columbus Ch., at Pinegrove	Apr 4, 5
Starkville	Apr 11, 12
Starkville Ct., at Lebanon	Apr 18, 19
Shuqualak, at Center Valley	Apr 24,
Winstonville, at Macedonia	Apr 25, 26
Macon	May 2, 3
Mayhew, at Mayhew	May 9, 10
Mathiston, at Double S.	May 16, 17
Crawford, at New Bethel	May 23, 24
Sturges, at Bethel	May 30, 31
Brooksville	June 6, 7
Hebron	June 13, 14
Cedar Bluff	June 20, 21

District Conference will be held at Mathiston July 1, 2, 3.

L. M. LIPSCOMB, P. E.

OXFORD DISTRICT—SECOND RND.

Randolph Ct., at Washington	Apr 2,
Toccapola Ct., at Salem	Apr 4, 5
Charleston Ct., at Oakland	Apr 11, 12
Grenada Sta.	Apr 13,
Grenada Ct., at Sparta	Apr 18, 19
Potts Camp Ct., at Bethlehem	Apr 25, 26
Red Banks Ct., at Wesley	May 1,
Ashland Ct., at Ashland	May 2, 3
Paris Ct., at Bruner's	May 9, 10
Water Valley Ct., at Pleasant R.	May 15,
Coffeeville Ct., at Goshen	May 16, 17
Waterford Ct., at Harris C.	May 30, 31

The District Conference will meet in Holly Springs May 19, 20, 21.

J. E. CUNNINGHAM, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST—SECOND RND.

Shelby, at Merigold	Apr 4, 5
Clarksdale, at 11 a.m.	Apr 12,
Lula, at Lyon, at 8 p.m.	Apr 12,
Boyle, at New Salem	Apr 18, 19
Benoit, at Beulah	Apr 26, 27
Alligator, at Duncan	May 1,
Coahoma, at Dubbs	May 3, 4
Tunica	May 4, 5
Cleveland Sta.	May 10, 11
Cleveland Ct.	May 11, 12
Rosedale	May 14,
Gunnison, at Hillhouse	May 16, 17
Friar's Point	May 17, 18
Greenville	May 23, 24
Jonestown, at Belen	May 30, 31
Robinsonville	June 1,
Shaw	June 7, 8
Glen Allan and South Greenville	June 10,

The District Conference will be held at Cleveland May 27-29.

R. A. MEEK, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST. — SECOND RND.

Tupelo	Apr 5, 6
Buenavista, at Macedonia	Apr 11, 12
Okolona	Apr 19, 20
Prairie, at Mulder	Apr 24,
Amory and Nettleton, at N.	Apr 26, 27
Vardaman, at Hurrican	Apr 30,
Bonds, at Nebo	May 1,
Pittsboro, at Pittsboro	May 2, 3
Houlka, at Asbury	May 9, 10
Palestine, at Ebenezer	May 14,
Pontotoc, at Chesterville	May 23, 24
Pontotoc, at Chesterpille	May 23, 24
Nettleton Ct., at Union	May 30, 31
Okolona Ct. at B. Chapel	June 6, 7
Aberdeen	June 9,
Fulton	June 12,
Smithville	June 13, 14

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Sardis	Apr 4, 5
Como	Apr 11, 12
Senatobia	Apr 18, 19
Mt. Pleasant, at Marshall Ins.	Apr 25, 26
Olive Branch	May 2, 3
Byhalla, at Emory	May 5,
Cockrum, at Independence	May 7,
Pleasant Hill, at Baker's C.	May 9, 10
Wall Hill, at Grubb Hill	May 12,
Hernando and Hinds, at H.	May 16, 17
Coldwater	May 18,
Harrison, at Bethel	May 21,
Courtland, at Wesley's C.	May 23, 24
Batesville	May 24,
Eureka	June 4,
Tyro, at Tyro	June 6, 7
Arkabutla	June 13, 14
Longtown, at Longtown	June 16,
Crenshaw	June 17,

W. M. YOUNG, P. E.

WINONA DIST. — SECOND ROUND.

Schlater, at Sunny Side	Apr 4, 5
Eupora, at Eupora	Apr 8,
Winona Station	Apr 12, 13
Indianola, at Fairview	Apr 18, 19
Moorhead, at Sunflower	Apr 25, 26
Webb, at Cherry Hill	May 2, 3
Winona Ct., at Bluff Spgs.	May 7,
Inverness	May 9, 10
Itta Bena	Mar 15, 16
Carrollton, at Smith's Chap.	Mar 21, 22
Greenwood	Mar 29, 30
Schlater, at Sunny Side	Apr 4, 5
Eupora, at Eupora	Apr 8,
Winona Station	Apr 12, 13
Indianola, at Fairview	Apr 18, 19
Belzoni, at Belzoni	Apr 24,
Moorhead, at Sunflower	Apr 25, 26
Webb, at Cherry Hill	May 2, 3
Inverness, at Lawrence D.	May 9, 10
Ruleville, at Sandy Bayou	May 16, 17
Winona Ct., at Bluff Springs	May 20,
Minter City, at Glendora	May 23, 24
Mars Hill, at Bethesda	May 30, 31
North Carrollton, at Poplar Springs	June 6, 7
Tom Nolen, at Lebanon	June 9,
Slate Spgs., at Spring Hill	June 10,
Vance, at Marks	June 13, 14

The District Conference will be held in Eupora May 26-28. Opening sermon May 26, 7:30 p.m. by Rev. John Ritchie.

E. S. LEWIS, P. E.

DURANT DIST. — SECOND ROUND.

Louisville	Apr 4, 5
Ackerman Circuit	Apr 10
Chester, at Pisgah	Apr 11, 12
McCool	Apr 17,
Rural Hill	Apr 18, 19
Durant Station	Apr 21,
Pickens, at Goodman	Apr 25, 26
Lexington Station	May 2, 3
Ebenezer Circuit	May 9, 10
Vaiden, at Kilmichael	May 16, 17
Black Hawk	May 23, 24
Kosciusko Circuit	May 28,
Sidon, at Tchula	May 30, 31

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

Mississippi Conference.

MERIDIAN DIST.—SECOND ROUND.
(In Part)

Central Church, Meridian, at Fifth Street, 3 p.m.	Apr 3,
Shubuta, at Quitman	Apr 5, 6
Waynesboro	Apr 12, 13
Scooba, at Wahalak, 3 p.m.	Apr 14,
Leakesville, at Adamsville, 11 a.m.	Apr 17,
Buckatunna, at Stateline	Apr 19, 20
Daleville, at Chapel, 11 a.m.	Apr 22,
Binnsville	Apr 26, 27
Lauderdale, at Mt. Hebron, 11 a.m.	Apr 30,
Eucutta, at New Hope	May 2, 3
DeKalb, at New Hope, at 11 a.m.	May 6,
North Kemper, at Mellen, 11 a.m.	May 7,
Matherville, at Hiwanee	May 9, 10
Seventh Avenue, 7:45 p.m.	May 13,
Enterprise, at Stonewall	May 16, 17
Pachuta, at De Soto, 11 a.m.	May 22,
Waynesboro Ct., at Big R.	May 23, 24
South Side, 8 p.m.	May 26,
Vimville, 11 a.m.	May 27,
Middleton, at State Line	May 30, 31

The District Missionary Institute will be held April 7 and 8 at Central Church. The District Epworth League Conference will be held at Central Church Apr.

W. G. BLACK, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

S. Warren, at Shiloh	Apr 4, 5
S. Wash., Vicksburg	Apr 11, 12
Hermanville, at Sarepta	Apr 18, 19
Silver City, at S. C.	Apr 30,
Satartia, at Satartia	May 2, 3
Oak Ridge, at Redwood	May 9, 10
Port Gibson, at P. G.	May 13,
Rocky Springs, at Cayuga	May 23, 24
Edwards, at E.	June 1,
Anguilla, at Grace	June 4, 5
Rolling Fork, at Cary	June 6, 7
Vicksburg, C. Street	June 13, 14
Bolton, at Raymond	June 20, 21
Mayersville, at Shiloh	June 27, 28

District Conference will be held at Edwards May 27-30.

G. H. GALLOWAY, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Gloster	Apr 5, 6
Liberty, at Woodland	Apr 11, 12
Hamburg, at Roxie	Apr 19, 20
Homochitto, at Salem	Apr 25, 26
Caseyville, at Galatin	May 2, 3
Bethel, at Mt. Carmel	May 9, 10
Centerville	May 10, 11
Percy's Creek, at P. C.	May 16,
Woodville	May 17, 18
Bayou Pierre, at Tabernacle	May 23, 24
Natchez, Pearl Street	May 30, 31
Natchez, Jefferson St	May 31, June 1
Washington, at Kingston	June 6, 7
Barlow, at Lebanon	June 13,
Fayette, at Ebenezer	June 14, 15
Wilkinson, at Mars Hill	June 20, 21
Meadville, at Nebo	June 27, 28

The District Conference will be held at Woodville May 13-15.

J. T. LEGGETT, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Pearlington and Logtown, at Logtown	Apr 4, 5
Bay St. Louis	Apr 6,
Americus, at Tanner's Ch.	Apr 9,
Lucedale, at Crossroads	Apr 10,
New Augusta, at McLean	Apr 11, 12
Vancleave, at Mt. Pleasant	Apr 16,
Mosspoint	Apr 17,
Escatawpa, at Caswell Spgs.	Apr 18, 19
Pascagoula	Apr 20,
Brooklyn and Bond, at Garaway Chapel	Apr 25, 26
Longbeach	May 2, 3
Pass Christian	May 4,
Biloxi, Main Street	May 5,
Gulfport, Twenty-fifth Ave.	May 6,
Gulfport, Twenty-ninth	May 7.
Howison and Saucier	May 9, 10
Carriere, at Nicholson	May 14,
Lumberton	May 15,
Hattiesburg, Broad St.	May 16, 17
McHenry and Wiggins, at McHenry	May 23, 24
[illegible], at Zion	May 25,
Ocean Springs and Oak St., at Oak Street	May 30, 31
Coalville	June 1,
Wolf River	June 3,
Hattiesburg, Court Street	June 6, 7
Hattiesburg, Main Street	June 7, 8

District Conference at McHenry, May 19-23. Opening sermon at 7:30 p.m. by Rev. J. W. Thompson. Sermon evening of 20th by Rev. D. P. Bradford followed by administration of the Lord's supper.

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Collins, at Ora	Apr 5, 6
Braxton, at D'Lo	Apr 7,
Seminary	Apr 8,
Sharon, at Camden	Apr 11, 12
Deasonville, at New Hope	Apr 14,
Magee, at Oakvale	Apr 18, 19
Florence, at Wesleyana	Apr 25, 27
Madison, at Pocahontas	May 2, 3
Yazoo City	May 8,
Flora, at Bentonia	May 9, 10
Pinola, at Harrisville	May 20,
Terry, at Spring Ridge	May 23, 24
Jackson, Capitol St.	May 27,
Benton, at Tranquil	May 30, 31
Eden, at Phillips	June 2,
Canton	June 6, 7
Lintonia, at Anding	June 13, 14
Mount Olive	June 20, 21

A. F. WATKINS, P. E.

NEWTON DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Shiloh, at Johns	Apr 11, 12
Bay Springs, at Holders	Apr 18,
Montrose, at Montrose	Apr 19, 20
Chunky, at Last Gape	Apr 25,
Newton	Apr 26, 27
Homewood, at High Hill	May 2, 3
Vossberg, at Philadelphia	May 9,
Laurel	May 10, 11
Fifth Avenue	May 10, 11
Rose Hill, at Garlandsville	May 16,
Morton, at P.	May 17, 18
Harpersville, at Contrell	May 23, 24
Trenton, at Trenton	May 30,
Raleigh, at Raleigh	May 31, 32
Hebron, at Hebron	June 6, 7
Ellisville, at Ellisville	June 9,
Decatur, at Neshoba	June 12,
Philadelphia, at Hester's	June 13, 14
Indian Miss., at Phillips	June 19,
Edinberg, at Edinberg	June 20, 21
Neshoba, at Mt. Pisgah	June 27, 28
Walnut Grove, at Zion	July 3,
Carthage, at ———	July 4, 5

JAS. M. WEEMS, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—SECOND RND.

Columbia	March 29, 30
Crystal Springs	Apr 4, 5
Hazlehurst	Apr 5, 6
McComb, Centenary	Apr 11, 12
Magnolia	Apr 12, 13
Gallman, at Mt. Pleasant	Apr 18, 19
Bogue Chitto and Norfield, at Norfield	Apr 19, 20
McComb and Fernwood, at F.	Apr 25, 26
Pearlhaven, at Hawkins Ch.	May 2, 3
Brookhaven	May 3, 4
District Conference at Tylertown	May 6, 10
Tylertown, at China Gr.	May 11,

GEO. H. THOMPSON, P. E.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

The man who jumps at conclusions is in danger of falling and breaking his neck.

Don't you know
That Craddock-Terry Co's
Long Wear Shoes
wear longer than other shoes at the same price? If not, try a pair of these celebrated shoes and be convinced.

There is no such thing as being an inward Christian and an outward heathen.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

God has not revealed the last day in order that we might be ready every day.

WHAT IS POWER

Nature supplies force. Wind turns the wind-mill. The brook turns the water-wheel. Coal runs the engine and food runs the man. Some things contain little force, some things much.

One substance full of power is

SCOTT'S EMULSION

Nature put the power there. It is a wonderful flesh-producer. This is not only a matter of nourishment but of new vigor and activity in the tissues.

All Druggists; 50c. and $1.00.

SIXTEENTH ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT.

The commencement exercises of the Scarritt Bible and Training School, Kansas City, Mo., will be held May 9-11, 1908. Class Day and Alumnae Reunion Saturday, May 9; commencement sermon on Sunday, May 10, at 11 a.m. in Melrose Church by Bishop Seth Ward. Graduating exercises on Monday, May 11, at 8 p.m., in Central M. E. Church, South. Rev. W. J. Young, D.D., of Danville, Va., will deliver the annual address to the graduating class.

Seventeen young women, nine of whom are candidates for foreign work and eight for home mission work, will graduate, and all except one will go into definite work or enter upon further preparation this year.

CHILDREN'S DAY PROGRAMMES.

I am informed by the publishing house that programmes for Children's Day will be sent out in a few days. An order has been placed with them for 100 programmes and 20 supplements to be sent to each pastor of the Mississippi Conference, and they ought to be in their hands by the time this is published in the Advocate. If the pastors do not receive them, or if they wish a larger supply, if they will notify me, the Sunday School Board will furnish them with all they can use.

N. A. MOTT,
Yazoo City, Miss.

SIZE THESE FACTS UP IN YOUR HEAD

Cow peas, $2.50 per bushel; yellow turnips, $1; sweet potatoes, $1.25; seed oats, $1; seed wheat $1.40; common hay, $1 per hundred, and corn no doubt will bring $1 on time in this State. Any one or all of these crops can be grown in great abundance on any farm in South Carolina without the use of commercial fertilizers. Twelve to fifteen cents cotton is not in it along with these crops. You are compelled to hold and fight for 15-cent cotton. We are now getting the above prices without holding or fighting for it. Besides, more net profit on some of these crops, cow peas, hay, small grain and turnips all leave the land richer in humus after the crops come off than before planting.

Now, here, listen: if you don't rotate your crops more, you will have to rotate yourself by moving off the farm or starve out yourself along with your lands. Surely you can change your way of farming easier than you can move out.—J. C. Stribling, secretary South Carolina Farmers' Union Bureau, in Southern Cultivator.

Marriages.

On March 15, 1908, at the home of Mr. Wilton Parker, by Rev. D. E. Vickers, Mr. PRESTON B. JOHNSON and Miss ADDIE CARTER, both of Wade, Miss.

TO YOUR INTEREST.

If you are interested in a Shorthand or Business Education, you should investigate the $100 Special Offer made by Walden's Business College, Lake Charles, Louisiana, for the Summer Term, which opens April 27, 1908.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

New Orleans District, Rev. F. N. Parker, D.D., presiding elder; residence, 241 Olivier St.

Rev. John T. Sawyer, D.D., Conference Missionary Evangelist; residence, 2421 Chestnut St.; phone, Uptown 1832.

First Methodist Church, St. Charles Ave., near Calliope St.; Rev. J. E. Wray, pastor; residence, 5830 Prytania St.; phone, Uptown 329; office hours, at Church, 2 to 3 p. m.; Church phone, Main 1779.

Second Methodist Church, 2531 Burgundy, near Lafayette Ave.; Rev. A. [illegible] Townsley, pastor; residence, 2728 N. Rampart St.; office hours, 9 to 11 a.m.; phone, Main 978.

Parker Memorial, corner Nashville avenue and Perrier street; Rev. C. D. Atkinson, pastor; residence 784 Nashville avenue.

Louisiana Avenue, corner Louisiana Ave. and Magazine St.; Rev. W. W. Holmes, pastor; residence 2903 Camp St.; phone, Uptown 1391.

Rayne Memorial, St. Charles Avenue and General Taylor Streets; Dr. John A. Rice, pastor; residence, 1101 Peniston Street.

Felicity Street Church, corner Felicity and Chestnut Streets; Rev. Albert S. Lutz, pastor; residence 2321 Chestnut Street.

Carrollton Avenue, corner Carrollton avenue and Elm street; Rev. Henry T. Carley, pastor; residence, 1125 Fern St.; phone, Uptown 1238.

Algiers, Lavergne Street, corner Delaronde; Rev. J. F. Foster, pastor.

McDonoghville and Gretna, Rev. H. Whitehead, pastor; residence 5208 Magazine Street; phone, Uptown 2459.

Epworth Church, corner Banks and Scott Streets; Rev. L. A. Sims, pastor; residence, 232 South Pierce Street.

Rev. Jno. L. Sutton, Superintendent Orphan Boys' Asylum; residence, 5220 St. Charles Ave.; phone, Uptown 128.

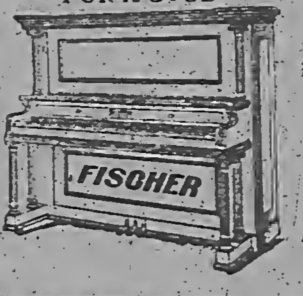
Rev. L. E. Wicht, junior preacher Lower Coast Mission; address, 509 Board of Trade Bldg., New Orleans.

Agents Wanted to sell REX OILS & REX CHILL TONIC to your neighbors. No traveling salesmen wanted. J. S. BURTON, Medicine Co. Sherman, Texas.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

ALTAR CHAIRS, SUNDAY School Seats, School Desks, Portable Chairs, Collection Plates, Communion Tables, Lodge Furniture, etc. Ask for big Catalog No. 60. E. H. Stafford Mfg. Co., Chicago, Ill.

ANGELL PHARMACY COMPANY,
2300 Baronne Street, corner Philip.
PRESCRIPTIONS OUR SPECIALTY. Phone Main 4269.
Pure Drugs, Chemicals, Toilet Articles, Perfumery, Stationery, etc.
TRY ANGELL'S COUGH & WHOOPING COUGH SYRUP
Price 25 and 50 cents. Sold by all Druggists.
HOMŒPATHIC DEPARTMENT.
Homoeopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, Globules, Sugar of Milk, Etc.
Prices: 1-2 ounce vial 15 cents, 1 ounce vial 25 cents.
PROMPT DELIVERY.



FOR A GOOD PIANO, PIANO PLAYER or PLAYER PIANO see the Grunewald's Before You Buy. Agents for the Latest Improved and best Instruments on the Market.

Dr. Brown's Magic Liniment
This bottle for you---FREE
Those who seek relief from rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, headache, backache, lumbago, sprains, sore muscles, and other pains—Read carefully. We want to help you. We know the marvellous curative power of Dr. Brown's Magic Liniment; how wonderful it is; that when it is poured on a piece of cloth and pressed closely to the place where the pain exists the pain instantly vanishes. It is different from other liniments which need rubbing. You simply smother the cloth under your hands and the liniment penetrates to the source of the pain and instantly relieves it. It soothes the nerves, produces warmth, and starts up the circulation. We know it does all these things—AND WE WANT YOU TO KNOW IT.
Send for the sample bottle and try it. Write to,
BROWN CHEMICAL CO., Dept. A. Nashville, Tenn.

SCROFULINE
The Wonderful Healer
Unsurpassed for tetter, ezcema, skin and scalp troubles, old sores, ulcers and piles, any nature or duration. Goes to the very seat of the trouble, kills the germs and extracts all foreign matter. Sold under a positive guarantee, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per jar. Mail orders promptly filled. Stamps accepted. Liberal sample upon request. Address,
THE SCROFULINE COMPANY, Waco, Texas.
SOLE OWNERS AND MANUFACTURERS.

$35.50 FROM NEW ORLEANS TO CALIFORNIA,
MARCH 2 TO APRIL 30, '08, INCLUSIVE,
VIA
Southern Pacific "Sunset Route"
This rate applies from most points in LOUISIANA, correspondingly low rates from other points.
PULLMAN TOURIST SLEEPERS, OIL BURNING LOCOMOTIVES,
DAILY NEW ORLEANS TO SAN FRANCISCO.
F. E. BATTURS, GEN. PASS. AGT., NEW ORLEANS.

WONDERFUL CURE

Great Suffering and Wonderful Cure of a Religious Woman in Kansas.

HER HUSBAND'S LETTER

He Says It is Next to Work of Miracles.

Have you ever read of the case of Mrs. C. R. Stone, of Lawrence, Kas., given up by many doctors to die, over 14 years ago, yet today alive and well, as a result of taking Wine of Cardui?

If not, the following letter from her husband will give you the details of her case. You will find it absorbingly interesting to read about.

My wife, the Rev. Mrs. C. R. Stone, was raised from the grave the doctors had given her up for, and restored to health by the virtue of the Cardui Home Treatment. She has now been taking Wine of Cardui since January, 1897. The ten years prior to that, she was a bed-ridden invalid, as a result of female troubles, two years of the ten helpless as a new-born babe. Our physician, no doubt, exerted his utmost ability to cure her, but failing, he wrote her parents that she could not live. Every physician called to see her, from time to time, decided, each in his turn, that it was useless to expect a cure, as it was contrary to the nature of her case for her to live. So it was only a question of time, some setting her death to occur within a month. In spite of this she yet lives and is now well, and regular in her place in the different departments of church work. This beats being a constant bed-ridden invalid, at an annual expense of $100. Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught (like the apostles who healed the damsel that brought her master much gain) healed my wife, and the M. D.'s lost this regular income. I will gladly personally distribute some of your books at my own expense, amongst people that I know will be benefited by Wine of Cardui. It is a pleasure to recommend so good a medicine, the result of using which is next to the work of miracles.

J. F. STONE.

Wine of Cardui is a gentle, non-intoxicating, strengthening tonic for women. It relieves pain, regulates irregularities, restores the functions and gives new life and energy to the weary frame. All druggists sell it in $1 bottles.

Free Medical Advice, and a valuable 64-page Book on Female Diseases, will be sent in plain wrapper to any lady who will address: Ladies' Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

$5.00 DRESSES ANY MAN

FREE TRIAL OFFER

I WILL give you my splendid outfit on a 60-day free trial entirely at my own risk, providing you are the first from your locality to accept my generous offer. I have always sold these splendid Outfits to dealers, but this season, [illegible] very day. I have made up my mind to [illegible] to the wearer and save every man the [illegible] that has always gone into the pocket of the [illegible]. To make my new plan a success right from the [illegible] to place with one reliable person in each [illegible] my complete outfit for $5.00 and not one [illegible].

This is my [illegible] ten piece Outfit—1 Stylishly-tailored suit, 1 [illegible] dress shirt, 1 King Edward cap, 1 pair Empress [illegible], 1 pair mend-proof Hose, 1 Chesterfield tie, 3 [illegible] handkerchiefs, 1 set gold buttons.

To be safe in securing this offer send at once for tape order blank, etc., for I can give to but one in a locality at this advertising price.

F. O. LINDQUIST, Manager
CANADA MILLS CO. Dept. 205, GREENVILLE, MICH.

Epworth League

By Rev. H. Whitehead.

TOPIC FOR APRIL 5, 1908.

The Father's Care for the Material Needs of His Children. Matt. vi. 25-34; Ps. xxxvii. 25-29.

1. The problem of food, clothing and shelter engross the larger part of the time of mankind. In your childish days these questions were very easily solved. Father and mother had all you needed, and you only had to ask. As you grow older it is not nearly so easy to get your bread and butter. It is probable that a hundred and fifty million people are hungry tonight and feel no surprise, because they have never known anything else. It is likely that a hundred million will fall down by the wayside to sleep as a dog might curl up in any convenient corner. Untold millions have but scant clothing.

2. Ample provision has been made for the needs of all mankind. The valley of the Mississippi river could support the present population of the world. It would provide the food and the clothing. With a careful development of its resources, it could provide for more people than now inhabit this globe. The valley of the Amazon is an almost undeveloped wilderness over a large part of its course that could be made to support all who live in the world to-day. We are accustomed to think of Siberia as a frozen waste; but it could be made to provide a support for all who live to-day. China actually supports a fourth of the population of the world. The tropics could easily care for all mankind. The present means of transportation could easily carry food of any clime to any clime. So it is easy to see that our Father, when he made provision for man, not only provided the necessities, but even luxuries for all.

3. Our Father has not only set the table well, but he watches over those who partake. He has taught us that not only does he provide for the world as a whole, but that day by day he gives us our daily bread. He who clothes the lilies of the field also clothes his forgetful children. His care of you is so minute that he has actually counted the very hairs of your head. He who guards the sparrow in its flight will much more carefully guard you. The sin and folly of man waste the good things of God; yet even the worst of sinners can go no farther than he is permitted. He cannot come between you and your Master.

4. Seek first the kingdom of God. Men are inclined to seek first the bread, and then to serve. We all have a little of crafty Jacob (Gen. 28, 20-22). After we have obtained bread and clothing, and have come in safety to our goal, then we will be ready to serve the Lord. But the Master reverses the vow of Jacob; he says seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you. Mark closely the things that are promised—your heavenly father knows what things ye have need of, and these shall be added unto you when you have sought the kingdom of God. What we want and what we need are sometimes very far apart.

"Take no thought for the morrow," [illegible] when the disciples [illegible] over impending [illegible] the Master said. Let not [illegible] troubled. Many men [illegible] trust their souls in the [illegible] of God [illegible] who fear [illegible] will not [illegible] their bodies [illegible] few short years. The great lesson of the [illegible] from beginning to end, is one of trust in the providing care of God. The promise is [illegible] and clear, that if you will seek [illegible] the kingdom above your [illegible] ways that, if you will trust in [illegible] for the beasts of the [illegible] the fowls of the air, that he will care for you.

CARRIERE, MISS.

Dear Editor: I am glad indeed to write a few lines this evening in behalf of our Epworth League of this Church. We have just organized. Brother M. L. Burton, presiding elder of this district, made us a splendid talk at his last visit, which has done [illegible] good for our League. We have [illegible] attendance and are doing nicely. We ask the prayers of the Conference to aid us in this work for our Master.

The writer feels to-night like the psalmist of old, who said: "The Lord is my Shepherd; I shall not want; he maketh me to lie down in green pastures beside the still waters." My whole heart's desire is to see the young people of our country looking to and serving One that is high and holy.

My prayer is that we, as workers, may join in that League that is more [illegible], where we will never say good-bye [illegible] one sweet day. I close with prayers and best wishes. Yours for God.

ROBT. S. HOWSE.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

SLEEPY MEMBERS.

A Methodist minister had in his congregation two men who troubled him by sleeping in church. He said privately to one of them, "Mr. A, did you ever notice that Mr. B had fallen into the habit of sleeping during services?" Mr. A had noticed it, but he was pained at the information. "Well, might I ask you to sit beside him next Sunday and nudge him in case he falls asleep?" Mr. A would most certainly do so.

The reverend gentleman then sought Mr. B. "Mr. B, have you noticed Mr. A's habit of sleeping during the sermon?" Mr. B had observed it, and had been pained. "Well, would you do me the favor of sitting beside Mr. A next Sunday and nudging him if he shows any signs of drowsiness?"

Most certainly Mr. B would be glad to do so. The spectacle of the two good men keeping watch on each other the next Sunday nearly upset the dignity of the clerical plotter.—Philadelphia Record.

Many a man thinks he is eloquent when he is only evaporating.

The man who gives place to the devil will have no place for God.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

Epilepsy, Fits

Every part of the body has its nerves. It's the channel through which energy—nerve force—is transmitted. If too much nerve force goes to a part, it is irritated, causing pain, congestion, spasms, fits, epilepsy, etc. If not enough it is enfeebled, and if none at all paralysis results. Dr. Miles' Nervine soothes the nerves, assists the nerve cells to generate nerve force, and in this way restores nervous energy.

"My eight year old daughter had fits for five years, as often as two and three a week. She began to take Dr. Miles' Nervine and she has not had an attack for two months."
PETER McAFFEY, Springfield, Mass.
If first bottle fails to benefit, money back.
MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

FEARFUL BURNING ITCHING

Relieved by Heiskell's Ointment

Eczema Quickly Cured

Even the old, stubborn cases of long standing, with their attendant aggravations—itching, burning skin, blotches and raw eruptions can be immediately relieved, finally and permanently cured by the regular use of Heiskell's Ointment.

The first application practically dries up the raw sores, instantly cools and soothes the skin and stops the irritating itch.

The hands should be washed in lukewarm water, carefully rinsed and dried, then Heiskell's Ointment applied, being gently rubbed in with the fingers. Fresh antiseptic bandages should be used after every application. One or two applications according to the above directions will produce a wonderfully grateful relief and improvement. Any kind of skin diseases and humors are amenable to Heiskell's Ointment. It readily soothes and heals where other preparations fail, and there is no skin disease, no matter how stubborn or long standing, not constitutional, that it will not cure. Its effectiveness is proven by the instant relief following its first employment.

Cures Erysipelas, Prurigo, Eczema, Milk Crust, Itching Piles, Scald Head, Tetters, Ringworm, Black Heads, Psoriasis, Pimples, Freckles, Sunburn, etc.

In some cases it is necessary to give constitutional treatment with Heiskell's Blood and Liver Pills, as in eczema and erysipelas, to tone up the liver and purify the blood.

Cure is hastened in all skin diseases by frequently bathing the affected parts with Heiskell's Medicinal Soap and toning up the blood with Heiskell's Blood and Liver Pills. In mild skin disorders, such as rashes, eruptions, pimples, etc., Heiskell's Medicinal and Toilet Soap is particularly effective, and its constant use not only insures a delightfully clean and luxurious bath, but its medicinal qualities, those of the ointment in a mild form, will prevent many diseases and disorders that the skin is heir to.

Heiskell's preparations are free from injurious properties and can be safely employed, even upon the thinner skin of babies.

Sold by all druggists, or supplied by mail direct by us. Ointment 50c a box; Soap 25c a cake; Pills 25c a box.

Johnston, Holloway & Co., 531 Commerce St., Philadelphia, Pa.

30,000 TELEGRAPH

OPERATORS are WANTED on account of new 8-hour law. Railway wires are cut into Draughon's Colleges for students' use.

BOOKKEEPING Draughon's competitors, by not accepting his proposition, concede that he teaches more Bookkeeping in THREE months than they do in SIX.

SHORTHAND 75 per cent of the U. S. Court Reporters write the shorthand Draughon teaches—THE BEST POSITIONS Draughon gives contracts, backed by chain of 30 Colleges, $300,000.00 capital, and 19 years' success, to secure positions under reasonable conditions or refund tuition. Catalogue containing the evidence of all the above facts, is FREE. Address Jno. F. Draughon, Prest.

DRAUGHON'S
PRACTICAL BUSINESS COLLEGE
(WE also teach BY MAIL)

Shreveport, Dallas, Jackson (Miss.), Galveston or Nashville.

SEEDS
OF THE
Steckler Quality

Cost but little more than the usual kind, but are worth much more. To convince you that this is true, let us have a talk together. We have spent months of labor and thousands of dollars on

THE BEST SEED CATALOG EVER ISSUED IN THE SOUTH.

It is a manual of over 200 pages with new illustrations taken direct from the vegetable. Shall we mail you a copy? It will cost you nothing, if you will kindly give a fair hearing to our claims for your patronage. Write at once.

J. STECKLER SEED CO., LTD RICHARD FROTSCHER'S SUCCESSORS.
Seed Growers and Importers, New Orleans, La.

Choice Selections

FLOWERS BY THE WAYSIDE.

A young girl visting the country was following the farmer's wife along a winding half overgrown path amid a tangle of wild flowers. The young visitor exclaimed at their variety and beauty. "I mean to gather all I can carry when we come back and I have a little more time," she said. "Better pick them now if you want them,'" said the elder woman. "'Tain't likely we'll come back this way." It was one of those simple, homely incidents that sometimes seem to epitomize life. We must pick now, if we want them at all, the flowers that God scatters along our way. The pleasant hours, the dear friendships, the offered confidence, the happy gatherings—all the brightnesses and blessings that we so often put aside, but mean to find leisure to enjoy sometime—we must take them, day by day, as they come, or we shall lose them altogether; we never can turn back to find them.—Selected.

SOME UNPLEASANT THINGS.

Why is it, do you think, that boys find it so much easier to shovel snow when they are building forts than when they are cleaning sidewalks?

Why is it that girls think it is such fun to set their little tea tables and have a "party," and then wash and wipe the tiny dishes, when they are so likely to complain if mamma calls on them to set the table in the dining-room, or help her with the dishes after supper?

What reason can you give for its being such a little way up town when you want to get something for yourself, and such a long distance when your mother wishes to send you on an errand?

Now, these are not pleasant questions, are they, nor easy ones to answer? They almost lead one to think that boys and girls are selfish and find it easy to do things for their own pleasure, but hard to help others.

We have a bit of advice for you young folks. Try to answer these unpleasant questions by doing something instead of saying something. The next time mother asks you to help her be just as prompt and pleasant in obeying as if the task were play. Then if, by any chance, some one should ask your mother to answer these questions, she would be likely to say: "I don't know how it is with other children, but my boys and girls are always glad to be helpful."—Selected.

THREE LANGUAGES.

"Hester is familiar with three languages," said Hester's uncle, speaking to a friend about his favorite niece. "I think that is remarkable for a girl of thirteen."

"Only two languages, Uncle John," corrected Hester modestly. "We only have Latin in our high school work along with the regular English course."

"Yes, but you speak another language," persisted her uncle. "I am not familiar enough with it to quote much of it, but I hear most of the young people using it. Perhaps it isn't taught in the schools, but your mother tells me you are quite familiar with it. She said you seemed to acquire it more readily than English or Latin."

"I don't know what you mean," said Hester, thinking her uncle must be losing his wits. "I am not familiar with any other language."

"Well, then, what did you mean when you said you had the other girls faded in math? Surely that must be some peculiar language."

"Uncle John! You know that is nothing but plain slang," said Hester. "Everybody uses it—that is, everybody but you, and father and mother, and a few other people."

"Yes, I believe your mother did call it by that name. Where do you learn the new words?"

"Indeed, I don't know. I've often wondered myself how they get started. The first thing you know everybody is using them, but no one seems to know where they start."

"Well, let me tell you, dear, that slang usually originates with people you would be ashamed to be seen talking or walking with. You would not like to call them your friends, but you take their inelegant, incorrect words into your life, and say you cannot get along without them. Don't you think if slang really were necessary it would be taught in the schools?"

"I suppose it would," said the girl, slowly. "After this, two languages will be enough for me until I take up some new study in school."—Round Table.

HIS ORDER.

A small boy entered a busy grocery in Baltimore not long ago, carrying in his hand an advertisement of the store clipped from a newspaper.

"What do you want, son?" the grocer asked, pausing in one of his rushes from the meat lock to the canned goods shelves.

"Put down," the little fellow said, reading from the advertisement, "ten pounds of sugar at five cents a pound, an' four pounds of coffee at thirty-five cents a pound, an' two pounds of butter at twenty-eight cents a pound, an' two cakes of soap at five cents each."

"I've got them down," the grocer said, looking up from his pad.

"How much does that come to?" the lad asked.

The man ran up the column. "Two thirty-six," he announced. "Hurry up, son."

"An' if I was to give you a five dollar bill, how much change would I get?"

"You get $2.64—give it to me," the grocer said impatiently.

"Thanks—that is my 'rithmetic for to-morrow, an' I couldn't work it," the lad said, as he disappeared through the doorway.—Harper's Weekly.

Send to Factory
FOR CATALOGUE

We offer you an ORGAN that is a Pipe Organ in all but price. We do not ask Pipe Organ prices but we give you an organ that throws out that powerful, deep and mellow tone that pipe organs possess.

We are able to give you this quality as a result of our own

Patent Reed
Pipe Set of Reeds

which we control absolutely and which can be found in Newman Organs only. We give you all that any other good organ possesses and much more with this patent pipe reed set. From coast to coast for years our organs have been the foremost of all instruments in tone, construction and style.

30 Days Free Trial

will prove to you that it is the best organ you have ever seen and worth three times any other organ. If you do not think so do not keep it. Every Organ Fully Guaranteed.

Write now for catalog explaining more fully all about our organs; and this patent pipe tone that has taken the highest awards at the world's fairs. Write for particulars of our special terms and we will have our agent in your territory call on you, or deliver organ. You will see how easily you can have an organ in your own home to give your life pleasure.

Send for Free Book of Songs
NEWMAN BROS. CO.
120 W. Chicago Ave., CHICAGO

This is the get-together age. The Laymen's Missionary Movement is a most significant illustration of that spirit. One of the best features of the Chattanooga Conference, April 21-23, will be the bringing together of so large a body of representative laymen. For men who are like-minded to know each other, is a great gain. The touch of elbows in the ranks inspires courage.

NOTICE.

The Winona District Conference will be held in Eupora, May 27-28. The opening sermon will be preached on the evening of the 26th by Rev. John Ritchie.

E. S. Lewis.

Winona, Miss.

THE SAFEST AND QUICKEST WAY
—TO—
TRANSFER MONEY —Made By—
Long Distance Telephone
FOR RATES APPLY TO LOCAL MANAGER.
Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph Co
INCORPORATED.

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Millsaps College Library.

REV. JOHN W. BOSWELL, Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.

NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, APRIL 9, 1908.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher,
Office, 512 Camp St., New Orleans.

VOL. 55—No. 15.

"PROVE ALL THINGS; HOLD FAST THAT WHICH IS GOOD."

WHOLE No. 5394.

Glances at the World.

A short time ago we called attention to the fact that complaints had been lodged against a Federal Judge (we said "in the Philippines," but it was Judge Wilfley, of the United States court in China, a court instituted for the trial of Americans), and that a self-constitued committee waited on Mr. Roosevelt and told him that the judge had insulted the Roman Catholic Church. Mr. Roosevelt looked into the complaints, and then expressed the opinion that there were no grounds for complaints. The judge had been pretty severe on evil-doers in his efforts to maintain order. The complaints came from the men who had suffered for their crimes, and instead of condemning the judge he should be commended and upheld. Notwithstanding, the case is before Congress — the judge's accusers making efforts to impeach him. Mr. Bourke Cochran, the champion of the faith in the Lower House, will have ample opportunity to show wherein the judge insulted the Roman Catholic Church.

* * *

We heartily approve the zeal with which our Roman Catholic friends defend the marriage relation. We do not agree with them in holding that marriage is a sacrament of the Church, but we do believe that it is a sacred relation, and not to be dissolved except for the one cause announced by our Savior. But while we hold with Romanists the sacredness of marriage, and applaud them for their efforts to prevent divorce, we beg to demur when, through their chief dignitaries, they assume to be the only Christians who hold to correct teachings on the subject. In a recent letter to the clergy and laity Archbishop Ireland, after severely denouncing the lax laws in regard to divorce, concludes by saying: "The moment is most solemn for the Catholic Church. She is on exhibition before the world as the one Christian Church, and she alone holds steadfastly to the teachings of Christ on marriage; she is on exhibition as the one unconquerable guardian of the family and of the social fabric itself, which reposes as upon its very foundation, upon the family and the virtues that are begotten of it." Archbishop Ireland certainly knows very little of the attitude and teachings of other Christian bodies in America. Were he thoroughly informed he could not utter the sentiment above expressed.

* * *

A young lady, editor of a newspaper in Iowa, got herself in trouble, and as a consequence is suffering nervous protration. The present year being leap year, she innocently gave notice that she would be "willing to marry the right kind of man." She is "beautiful and brilliant," and up to the time she was prostrated she had received two thousand proposals of marriage. The shock was too great and unexpected and she broke down. This young lady, says an old editor of extensive observation, "should have known that the moment she made her announcement she would be literally swamped with proposals. And she should have taken necessary precautions. In the very nature of the case she could not be expected to fill all orders. That she should have seen, was out of the question." This same editor says, men are naturally timid and "afraid of beautiful and brilliant women." Old bachelors of this timid nature should learn from this that brilliant and beautiful women are as ready to listen to proposals from men of the right sort as any others of the fair sex. But no man can know whether he is the "right kind" until he either makes the proposal, or signifies his intention to do so. Unless the beautiful and brilliant woman is a flirt he will not be long in finding out whether he is the right or wrong kind of man.

* * *

Evangelistic services of considerable interest are being conducted in this city under the direction of Rev. M. F. Ham, of Kentucky. Such was the interest manifested that it was suggested to erect a temporary tabernacle. A suitable site was found without difficulty. It is a square of ground opposite Lafayette Square, about one block from the ADVOCATE office. The ground is government property, bought for the new postoffice, which will be erected. The Federal authorities granted the tabernacle committee permission to build, but before it was occupied the cry was raised that the building laws of the city had been violated by erecting a wooden structure inside the fire limits, and effort made to have it removed. The effort failed. An effort was also made to stir up the Taft Republicans by assuring them that the whole thing was a move in favor of Mr. Fairbanks for the presidency. Whether this was done by Republicans or Democrats, or, whether it was perpetrated as a joke or given out in earnest we do not know. A joke probably, but it answered the purpose of the wicked one—to throw discredit on the tabernacle services. None but an enemy of righteousness could have undertaken to get the city authorities to recall permission to erect the tabernacle. The whisky crowd, of course, was at the bottom of it.

* * *

The liquor dealers have always been alert and active in looking after their interest, but never before were they so eager in their educational work as they please to term it. They are leaving nothing undone at all adapted to advance their interests. Nowhere are they more active than in Illinois, the greatest whisky-producing State of the Union. The larger number of countries are now in a campaign and soon will vote on the liquor question. The manager of the liquor forces, who has opened headquarters in Chicago, has given out the following statement: "I have now forty lecturers in the field, most of them preachers, both men and women," said Mr. Hall to-night. "In the coming week they will make 300 speeches in all the principal towns of the State. We think that if the people get a fair idea of what prohibition fanaticism is doing to us they will give liquor dealers a square deal. We are not fighting temperance, but prohibition. The demands for stimulating drinks is world-old, and I say it is much more profitable for a community to have saloons, which pay a large revenue, than that the liquor should be dealt out by stealth." "Forty lecturers, most of them preachers!" We wonder what sort of preachers they are, and what kind of women have taken the platform in favor of Illinois whisky. Some preachers down South are silent and inactive on the subject, but we know of none who openly espouse the liquor side.

* * *

Judge Wood, of Idaho, who presided at the trials of the officers of the Western Federation of Miners, and also at the trial of Harry Orchard, who confessed to the murder of ex-Governor Steunenberg, about two weeks ago sentenced Orchard to death. At the same time he recommended him to the clemency of the Governor, asking for commutation of sentence. It will be remembered that Orchard was the chief witness against the officers of the Union. According to his testimony, the officers of the Union were guilty of the charges preferred against them, but he confessed to so many many crimes himself that his story was discredited, and the prisoners came clear. Judge Wood, in passing sentence, took occasion to say that he believed Orchard told the truth. The Judge said: "It was the particular province of the court to observe and follow this witness upon the former trials, and I am of the opinion that no man living could conceive the stories of crime told by the witness and maintain himself under the merciless fire of the leading cross-examination attorneys of the country unless upon the theory that he was testifying to facts and circumstances which had an actual existence within his own experience. If there were no moral obligation on the part of the State to grant the partial immunity recommended I would still say that there could be no good reasons in this case for inflicting the extreme penalty while so many crimes have been disclosed that are yet unpunished." It is likely that a majority of people who followed the testimony from day to day, though shocked at the revelations, believed that Orchard told the truth. But the jury's verdict was final.

To pray for another is as truly a natural impulse as the command so to do is explicit. The promise to hear and answer could not be put in plainer terms.

Christian Advocate.

Published for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

DIRECTIONS.

Correspondents will please direct all communications intended for the Editor to 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La. Communications intended for the Business Department should be addressed to the Manager of the New Orleans Christian Advocate. Write with ink, and only on one side of the paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after two weeks, notify us, and we will make it right. Papers will be continued unless subscribers order otherwise.

For Advertising Rates Apply to

Religious Press Advertising Syndicate,

JACOBS & CO., CLINTON, S. C.

Home Office, Clinton, S. C., who have charge of the advertising of this paper.

ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES.

J. F. Jacobs, J. D. Jacobs, Home Office, Clinton, S. C.
R. J. Ritter, 418 W. St. Catherine St., Louisville, Ky.
Thornwell, Jacobs, 1011 Stahlman Bldg., Nashville, Tenn.
C. C. Little, 502 Mutual Bldg., Richmond, Va.
D. J. Carter, 132 LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.
Miss M. R. Middleton, 150 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.
Barton E. Buckman, 132 LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.
J. H. Rich, Birmingham, Ala.
E. J. Barrett, New Orleans, La.
J. B. Keough, Atlanta, Ga.
J. B. Gentry, Clinton, S. C.
H. B. Ewbank, Houston, Texas.
W. L. Boggs, Greensboro, N. C.
F. A. Wynne, Cor. Ackard & Elm Sts., Dallas, Texas.

OBADIAH.

A STUDY.

Briefest among Old Testament writings is that of Obadiah. Few books in the Bible are less familiar. The casual reader is thrilled by the eloquence of the prophet, but doubtful as to the message of the prophecy. He turns from its perusal wondering why it was preserved, and what warning or encouragement it offers to a busy world to-day.

This little book contains a formal rebuke of Edom. Much as that turbulent people then might have annoyed the chosen seed, now they have long ceased to exist. With them has perished almost all except an interest purely historic. It is not enough to discover the worth of Obadiah in the field of evidences. He must have a value beyond that found in the striking fulfillment of his prophecy in Edom's downfall. God, who works no miracle solely to perform a wonder, inspired no prophecy only that he might utter a prediction. Of the Old Testament it is written, "All Scripture is profitable," among other things, "for instruction in righteousness." How shall we find instruction in righteousness in Obadiah?

Before attempting to determine the message of the book, it is necessary to cast a glance at the time at which it was written. The date of Obadiah is a vexed problem of Old Testament criticism. About his little book has surged a frothy sea of wordy argument. Its tides have ebbed to an antiquity as remote as Rehoboam, and flamed down the years to a period more recent than Malachi. The question hinges upon the catastrophe that occassioned the prophecy. That catastrophe was the capture of Jerusalem, in which the Edomites had a subordinate but cruel part. Oba. x. 14.)

It has been supposed that this catastrophe was the final overthrow. There is reason to doubt this. Obadiah, rebuking Edom for unbrotherly conduct, has nothing to say about his impudent seizure of the south country—one of his crowning offences at the time of the final calamity. There is no reference to Nebuchadnezzar or the Chaldeans. The nations mentioned had passed off the stage of history before Jerusalem was overthrown. The destruction of the city and the temple is not alluded to. Besides, there is reason for believing that Jeremiah made Obadiah the basis of his own prophecy against Edom. Jer. 49: 7-22.) This prophecy was delivered several years before the fall of Jerusalem.

Thus, from external considerations, it would seem that to Obadiah must be assigned a date earlier than the final overthrow. But within the book itself a consideration of greater weight and deeper significance is found. A single verse enshrines the messianic glow of Obadiah. He spoke when the light of that hope was rising dimly in the future or fading remotely in the past. He kindles its fires in his own heart from the altars of antiquity, finding in the period of the Judges the type of the deliverance that is to come. "Saviors shall come up," etc. It is much easier to discover in Obadiah the germ out of which grew that stem of prophecy which glorified the latter years of Judah's national life than to regard him as a withering leaf upon a growth once fragrant with Hosea's pathetic tenderness, or splendid with Isaiah's fervid bloom.

The earliest date possible for Obadiah is the reign of Jehoram, the unworthy and unfortunate son of Jehoshaphat. During the reign of this king there occurred a raid of Philistines and Arabians in which Jerusalem was taken and spoiled and numbers of helpless captives carried off into slavery. The Edomites are not expressly mentioned in II Chronicles, but were easily included in the term "Arabians." They had just rebelled successfully against Jehoram, and would be quite ready to further cripple their late masters. The relations between them and the Jews had been such as to justify the reproaches of Obadiah 10 and 14. The Philistines are expressly mentioned (Ibid. 19) as sharing in the punishment of the Edomites.

It has been supposed that Obadiah committed his prophecy to writing some time after this event; that the Edomites never heard or saw it; that it was circulated quietly in the cities of Judah. This is most improbable. The prophetic example of a century was altogether contrary to this. Elijah and Elisha, Obadiah's mighty predecessors and contemporaries in the northern kingdom, delivered their messages in no such manner. Obadiah's immediate successors, the stern Amos, the heart-wrung Hosea, the glorious Isaiah, threatened, pleaded and promised orally and face to face with the people to whom their prophecies are addressed. They were preachers. The books that bear their names are digests of and abstracts from their sermons. It is not likely that Obadiah would break with a precedent so long established and so long to be observed. The times, the occasion, the message demanded that it should be hurled into the teeth of triumphing Edom. Words and expressions are vibrant with a feeling that admits of hardly any other explanation.

The ninth century, B. C., in which it is most probable that Obadiah appeared, was a time of the deepest significance in the history of the chosen people. The splendid empire, bequeathed to him by the great Solomon, shattered in Rehoboam's rough but feeble grasp. Abijah's splendid victories, could not win back what had been lost by the childish folly of his father. Asa and Jehosaphat abandoned hope of reuniting the dissevered people, and contented themselves with strengthening their own kingdom against the encroachments of Syria's waxing power. These latter monarchs were not unfaithful to Jehovah, and Judah prospered. But Jehoshaphat, allying himself with Ahab to resist Ben Hadad, committed a fatal blunder. He took to wife for Jehoram, his son and heir, Athaliah, the daughter of Ahab and Jezebel. Swift upon the sowing of the wind followed the harvest of the whirlwind. The sorrows of Israel were multiplied upon Judah. The chaotic iniquity that called forth Elijah in the northern kingdom, created circumstances in the southern which woke the voice of prophecy in Obadiah. The sword of judgment was unsheathed. Edom arose against Jehoram. The king hastened to subdue the rebels, to find himself cut off, surrounded, and at their mercy. He cut his way out by a night attack, and saved his life, but lost his province.

"Libnah," following Edom's successful example, "revolted from under his hand." The king, humiliated, but unhumbled, returned to Jerusalem to lift up his hand to dethrone the God of his pious fathers and exalt the idols of his heathen queen. In her Ashtareth groves he "caused the inhabitants of Jerusalem to commit fornication, and compelled Judah thereto." The repugnance with which a faithful peasantry tolerated the mad depravity of a ribald king and a consenting capital appears in the historian's phrase.

Elijah, perhaps Elisha (the dates are difficult to reconcile) fighting single-handed against the house of Ahab in Israel, must have heard with sinking heart and mounting indignation of the folly a daughter of that house had wrought in Judah. He addressed a message to Jehoram —a letter, stern with rebuke and awful with threatened doom. Such a warning to such a king was all in vain. It remained for the word of judgment to redden itself in the blood of the people to save them from the debauching example of the ruler. Instruments of vengeance were at hand. The fierce Philistines, prostrate since the time of David, arose again, making common cause with tribes from the Arabian peninsular, among whom were the Edomites, they burst upon Judah. The distracted country attempted no defense. The sin-maddened capital "fell into their hands almost without a blow." Too weak to hold what they had so easily gained, the invaders spoiled the city. A multitude of captives, among them Jehoram's children and concubines, were carried off to be sold as slaves. One horrid night the invaders spent in drunken revel upon the temple hill itself (Oba. 16). They defiled the arches of the sacred courts with "barbarous dissonance," and retired unmolested.

For the first time Judah felt the awful weight of the sword of God. The defection of Jeroboam, the invasion of Shishak, skimmed the surface. These misfortunes humbled the nation's pride. But now the stroke was to the heart. This calamity might plunge the people into despair. It seemed that God had utterly forsaken them. They needed to know that though he had smitten, he had them still in his care.

At this crisis Obadiah might well have appeared. Perhaps even as the heathen chieftains rioted upon the hill of Zion, like Daniel in Belshazzar's hall, this stern prophet's figure was among them. To the noble of Edom his message was at first addressed. He pronounces Edom's doom. Nations are rustling with rumors of war. The messenger of Jehovah, stirring them up against Edom, cries from land to land, "Arouse ye!" and from land to land the nations shout the answer back, "Let us rise up against her!" Vainly shall Edom trust to rocky Seir, and to Elah, her mountain-defended capital. "Exalt thyself as the eagle! Make thy nest among the stars! Even thence, saith Jehovah, will I drag thee down!" Wisdom shall fail out of Edom, Teman's men of might shall perish, and merciless slaughter shall drench the mount of Esau with the blood of a merciless people.

For it is for his violence to his brother, Jacob, that Edom is to suffer ruin. In the second section (10-16) the appeal is directly to the conscience, and there is no finer in the Old Testament. It is Edom's own knowledge of right and wrong that is addressed. From stern warnings and threat the prophet passes to gentle and broken-hearted reproach. "Thou shouldest not," is the refrain of this section, and none knew that better than Edom. The appeal is to shame, to the voice of conscience within—motives that lead men to repentance. But fury swallows shame. A century later Amos, in the streets of Bethel is pronouncing Edom's reverseless doom. "I will not turn away," declares Jehovah, "because he debauched his compassion, and his anger tore unceasingly, and his wrath he kept forever."

Edom heard in Obadiah the last overture of love retiring behind justice from the quenchless blazing of a senseless hate. "As ye have drunk upon my holy mountain," concludes the prophet in sad bitterness, still addressing Edom, but speaking now to all that heathen crew, "so shall all the heathen drink continually. Yea, they shall drink! And they shall sup up! And they shall be (when they have quaffed that draught) as though they had not been!"

Turning to his country, bleeding and prostrate, the prophet ends his message with words of comfort for her. As a she-bear, surprising a woodsman in the act of smiting her young, now bares her teeth and growls in fury at him, and now licks their wounds with little plaintive cries of mother-piteousness, so Obadiah sweeps suddenly from dreadful threat to tender promises. God has not forgotten Judah. He will deliver her. He will exalt her. He will bring her up upon desecrated Zion while saviors there dictate law to the fallen heathen. A kingdom is coming, for her, of her; and "the kingdom shall be Jehovah's." The attempt at a divine kingdom among the chosen people had seemed always to fail. The conquest had failed; it was never completed. The judges had failed; their rule ended in anarchy. The kingdom, too, seemed to have failed. Rehoboam had lost ten-twelfths of it. Jehoram had all but lost the rest. But sometime, somehow, the all but forgotten ideal of the Theocracy was to be fulfilled. "The kingdom shall be Jehovah's."

The teaching of Obadiah is simple. "If ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your heavenly Father forgive you your trespasses." Edom was throughout the Old Testament the unforgiving. His end could not have been other than it was. In his own heart he made a hell of hate, and the devils of ruin came in to abide in what was already their home.

But in spite of weak treachery within, and ravaging hatred without, Jehovah would yet accomplish his purpose through his people. The half-forgotten hopes of bygone seers should be fulfilled. The kingdom, though remote, was coming; and "the kingdom should be Jehovah's." The struggles of that kingdom and its victories; its king, his beauty and his pain, his lowly anguish and his lofty triumph, other prospects in the years to come should foresee and foretell. Until after a time of darkness, when the vision failed, and the people cast off restraint, the greatest of all prophets should arise, thundering in desert places and the wilderness, in a voice that cities emptied themselves to hear. "The kingdom * * * is at hand."

Elijah was perhaps a greater prophet than Obadiah and did a greater work. Almost no written word of the great, lion-hearted preacher of Israel survives, except the letter to Jehoram, which is doubtful. Obadiah marked a new step in the on-moving providence of prophecy. He dealt, as his contemporaries did, with present problems; but with a loftier vision he caught a radiant far-off hope unseen by them. And so his word was preserved while the words of mightier voices than his were lost, because his word had in it—Christ.

What is the lesson for us?

WALTER G. HARBIN.

Greenville, Miss.

The Christian's fellowship with God is rather a habit than a rapture.—Cecil.

Men vitally active are living sunshine, having the roots of their souls set in sunlight, as the roots of a tree are in the earth.—Fors Clavigera.

THE PREACHER'S USE OF BOOKS.

I am going to venture some remarks on the above subject, with your permission, Mr. Editor, which, though they may not meet with the approval of all, have grown to be convictions with me.

To no one else, perhaps, are books a greater friend than the preacher. To be sure, he must be a student of the one great Book, but in addition to this he must be a student of other books, and a variety of books at that. The very nature of his work demands this; for as a teacher and leader of his people he is to be a man of broad information, acquainted with those things which interest them and are holding their thought. We are told that reading makes a full man. Surely, then, in no profession is there a greater demand for it than in the ministry, for the minister stands before the same people Sunday after Sunday and engages their attention and thought from thirty to sixty minutes straight, during which time he is subjected in many instances to keen criticism.

Accepting all the foregoing, however, we are still face to face with the hardest question: How shall he use books? There are books and books, and the minister's time is too valuable and limited for an indiscriminate reading of them, if he so desired. So he must determine, first of all, what books he can read, and then how he shall read them.

A library cannot be valued by the number of books it contains any more than a farm by the number of acres contained therein. But it seems that we have to spend much money and time in the purchase and reading of books of little value before we realize this.

Now, it would be presumption on the part of anyone to try to tell preachers what they should read, but certainly we can mention in a general way some of the subjects to be treated. And first of all, of course, is theology, peculiarly the preacher's own field of study, and with it philosophy and ethics. His first attention is to be given to those books dealing with these general subjects. But he is not to stop here, as some would do, though it is directly along his line of work, for if he confines his studies to this field alone he is more than apt to become narrow and one-sided, uninteresting to a large class of his hearers.

Another field, rich in good and helpful things for the minister, and one with which he should be well acquainted, is biography, records of the lives of men and women who have passed along the way we are going and have attained. There is no other kind of reading more interesting and at the same time more helpful. Dr. Henry Churchill King has well said: "The great secret of all living is the persistent staying in the presence of the best—the great facts, the great truths, the great personalities, the one great Person, Christ." The reading of biography is one of the ways in which we shall do this.

Again, fiction is a field of study with which the preacher should be acquainted to some extent at least. To be sure, just here much time can be wasted and much reading done which will not be of any help, and possibly hurtful; but this does not blind us to the fact that there are many books of fiction, both of the present day and of the past, which are not only fascinating, but positively helpful, impressing upon us in a way not to be forgotten, some of the great moral and spiritual truths.

And, again, there is a class of books which we can hardly give a single name, but which are of a devotional nature, which are absolutely indispensable to a minister above all other men. Those books which, waiving all questions of theology or history, have as their sole purpose the bringing of the reader into a closer relationship with Christ as his personal Savior and Friend—heart-to-heart talks, appealing directly to the spiritual nature of man. I mention, for example, Gordon's "Quiet Talk" series, with which we are all more or less familiar.

It is my firm conviction that we can better neglect some of the books on the other foregoing subjects than some of those books of a more devotional nature. How greatly they have strengthened the faith and intensified the spiritual life of thousands who read them can never be told! We cannot afford to neglect this class of books.

But the choice of what to read is not all, for certainly some attention must be given to the reading if we would get the most out of it. As far as possible, we should make every book we read our own—so read it as to master it.

Phillips Brooks, in his "Hints to Preachers," said, "make it a life-long habit to read and master the best books," and, continuing, he said, "read with notebook in hand and write out the thoughts which strike you most forcibly." Whether we shall use notebook or not may be a question, but should we not in most of our reading use a pencil, marking and making marginal notes where the thought presented is most striking? Again, is it going too far to say that we cannot afford to spend time and money on those books which will not bear a second reading, or at least a review? And by making marginal notes and markings as we read, it will be an easy matter to review the book at any time. In this way, too, we will unconsciously study as we read, taking in and assimilating the best thoughts and expressions of the best minds; and developing all the while the power of attention.

Now, some are ready to say, perhaps, that all of this is going to require much time and attention; but what if it does? The reading and studying of books must be a large part of the preacher's work; he must give time and attention to it, or else his preaching will grow monotonous and unprofitable to his hearers. How

The Canal-Louisiana Bank and Trust Company

Embraces every function of financial business. It solicits your deposit account subject to cheque. It solicits your SAVINGS ACCOUNT upon which will be allowed INTEREST at the rate of 3 1-2 per cent. per annum, compounded semi-annually.

It will safeguard your securities in its BURGLAR and FIRE-PROOF SAFETY DEPOSIT VAULTS. It will collect Bonds, Rents, Mortgages, Interest, Dividends, Coupons and every class of Income. It will pay Taxes and Insurance, sell property and undertake the care and management of Estates. It will act as Executor, Administrator, Guardian or Trustee under will or by appointment of court.

DURING YOUR LIFETIME IT WILL ACT AS YOUR AGENT AND AT YOUR DEATH IT WILL ADMINISTER YOUR ESTATE.

Its Foreign Exchange Department buys and sells Drafts and Cable Transfers; issues Commercial and Travelers' Letters of Credit available in all parts of the world, makes collections and does a general foreign exchange business.

Accounts of Individuals, Firms, Banks and Corporations Respectfully Solicited.

Every Accommodation Offered Consistent With Safe and Legitimate Banking.

Phone Main

ROOMS and BOARD

634 and 638 SOUTH STREET LAFAYETTE SQUARE

CORNER ST. CHARLES ST., NEW ORLEANS.

UNLIMITED MEALS. ALVIN PORTER, Manager.

ESTABLISHED 1891

JOHN DAVID BURGHARDT CO.,

"THE RELIABLE" PLUMBERS and GAS FITTERS.

Agency: Born's Patent Steel Ranges. Hygeia Water Filters.

613-615 Bienville St. Phone Main 2026.

Jobbing and Repair Work a Specialty. New Orleans, La.

much time have we wasted in an indiscriminate reading of books, some of some value, many of no value? Let us take that time, and with greater care in the selection of books, read and study the best.

CARROLL VARNER.

"O LORD, REVIVE THY WORK."

The signs of the times point to a world-wide revival. One of the main signs is a general recognition throughout the Church of our great need of such a revival. The time has come to "Thrust in the sickle and reap, for the harvest of the earth is ripe." This is the greatest age the world ever saw. Doors for the world's redemption were never so wide open, and opportunities for Christian activities were never so multiplied as now. The devout of the Church are putting on new strength, and our forces are marching to the front, ready for battle. All Christian hearts should be burdened with fervent prayers as never before for the glorious coming of the kingdom of our Lord. I never felt a deeper desire that earth's teeming millions should hear of Jesus and his love, and that "the knowledge of the glory of the Lord shall cover the earth as the waters cover the sea." Thank God for the missionary Conference for our laymen at Chattanooga, Tenn., April 21-23. Let us be much in prayer for the power of the Spirit to attend that meeting. It occurs to me to be the beginning of the great Armageddon battle, spoken of in Revelation the sixteenth chaper, which will not be a battle fought out on seas between national fleets, but a great battle between the religion of Jesus Christ and its opposing powers, with weapons that are not carnal, but mighty to the pulling down of the strongholds of Satan and idolatry, and the universal establishment of our Lord's kingdom on the ruins thereof. A battle in which shall be heard a strong voice of a crying angel, saying: "Babylon the great is fallen, is fallen." The time when paganism and the false prophet shall be driven from the field, and "the fulness of the Gentiles come," and the Jews converted to the Christian religion; when the kingdoms of this world shall become the kingdom of our blessed Lord, and the glorious millenium shall be ushered in, when Christ shall reign with his people a thousand years.

Thank God, we live in this golden age of time. In harmony with these exalted visions of the gospel it should be the consecrated determination of every preacher and layman to make this, under the influences of the Holy Spirit, the greatest revival year of our history. In order to which we shall have to spend much time in prayer and communion with the Great Head of the Church, and in consultation with our Lord's promises as given us in his holy Word. Nothing can ever take the place of these divinely authorized weapons of our warfare.

Therefore, dear brethren of the ministry, suffer a word of exhortation from one who knows and loves Jesus Christ, his ministers and his Church, and has a praying heart for the salvation of the world: Study to be revival preachers, seek a fresh baptism of the Holy Ghost, expect immediate results from your preaching in the salvation of souls, plan and pray for great revivals in all of your Churches, hold them yourselves or get some one to hold them for you.

Methodist people will not be satisfied with your efforts to serve them without revivals. Neither will your skirts be clean of the blood of souls that are lost while under your spiritual oversight. A pastor's solemn obligations means more than his Sunday sermons, weekly prayer-meetings and looking after the finances. These are important matters, but they only exist and are kept up as means to the end that sinners may be saved. The main burden of a preacher's calling lies in the fact that he is sent of God to seek and save that which is lost. Unless this feature of a preacher's work is attended to he is only half serving the people. Times of campaigns for presidential election and "money panics," like these, are said by those whose faith is inclined too much to material signs to be hard years for revivals, when really these very facts constitute the main grounds upon which greater efforts should be made to revive the people. These times, when considered in their true light, are advantageous to a greater work of grace in the hearts of the people.

Let us meet the conditions, and the Lord will send us a great revival in all of our Churches.

W. D. BASS.

Corinth, Miss.

REV. THOMAS J. NEWELL.

Thomas J. Newell was born in Carrollton, Miss., and in that community resided, attending the village school tilll he had reached young manhood.

Hearing the Voice Divine calling him to the ministry, he heeded the call, and went to Emory and Henry College to make further preparation for his life work.

His first appointment as an itinerant preacher was in Carroll County. He was so acceptable in the pulpit and so diligent and successful as a pastor that he was at once in demand for the leading charges in north Mississippi.

At the Annual Conference in 1881 he was sent to Grenada. Soon after his arrival there respect for his own ministerial orders and for Methodism led him into a controversy, in which he scored a signal victory, which, with his forceful personality, sterling character and varied accomplishments, gave to him a hold on that community such as, possibly, no other preacher ever had. During that pastorate he was largely instrumental in securing to our Church the magnificent property now known as Grenada College, which has filled so large, so honorable and so useful a place in north Mississippi Methodism during these years. He was president of the school for a term of years, and the good accomplished there is beyond computation. Accomplished women throughout north Mississippi, and beyond, are living monuments of his skill as a teacher and of the strength of his Christian character. He was a member of the first board of trustees of Millsaps College, and wrought nobly and gave liberally for the establishment of that pride of Mississippi Methodism.

Resigning his position as president of Grenada College, he was transferred to the Memphis Conference to meet an emergency in an important city pastorate. His success was immediate and large and lasting. And that success was repeated in many of the most important cities of west Tennessee and southwest Kentucky.

His brilliant, substantial and growing success as a presiding elder was cut short by his sudden death in November, 1907. In young manhood he was married to Miss Sallie Turner, of Carroll County, Miss., who was in every way a worthy companion. Many sons and daughters came to bless their home, and to-day they are faithful witnesses to the sweetness and strength of that home. In every place of their residence the parsonage was a centre of wholesome and helpful influence for the entire community.

Brother Newell was a courageous man, who shirked no duty and feared no foe. He was a true and sympathetic friend, and a wise counselor, a prudent and sagacious business man, a conscientious and successful teacher, an instructive and inspiring preacher, and an industrious and painstaking pastor; a chivalrous husband, and a fond and wise father; a manly man. As such I knew him and loved him. He was my father's friend and my friend. The recollection of his fruitful ministry, his warm handgrasp, his loving sympathy, his manly bearing, his wholesome example, his symmetrical character, abides with me as a precious and priceless benediction.

J. R. BINGHAM.

YOU MAY FIND OTHER COFFEES AS GOOD AS

LUZIANNE

BUT THEY WILL COST YOU TWICE AS MUCH. OTHER COFFEES MAY BE AS LOW IN PRICE, BUT YOU'LL FIND THEM ONLY HALF AS STRONG AND ONE-FOURTH AS GOOD.

LUZZIANNE COFFEE is of perfect purity, flavor, quality, and freshness. It's sold everywhere.

The REILY-TAYLOR COMPANY,
New Orleans.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE CHURCH EXTENSION BOARD.

At the Executive Committee meeting of the above body aid was asked from the Parent Board for $12,500 in donations and $18,750 in loans. No further argument for the necessity of pushing the assessments upon our charges for this fund is necessary, when it is remembered that our Conference only sent the General Board last year $1023.50, and that our conribution to the loan fund is very insignificant as compared with our requests for aid.

To make provision for these needs the General Board has designated May 10 as Loan Fund Day, on which day the great importance of this work, it is hoped, will be laid before our people. The numerous articles in the papers and tracts from Dr. McMurry will aid in preparing for it. When May 10 comes, brother pastor, don't forget the poor congregations struggling for adequate houses of worship, and the great West, where our people are without Church homes, and then think of your people of means that might invest in this branch of the Lord's work if only their attention were called to it; and then follow your thoughts with such action as may seem practical.

P. O. LOWREY, Secretary.

WHY DOES EVERYBODY WANT VACHER-BALM?

Because Vacher-Balm promptly relieves most of the aches and pains that we all suffer from at times, such as Headaches, Toothache, Sprains, &c. It is cooling and harmless. Price 25c. Per Jar.

I pay you to give samples to your friends, and neighbors. Write to-day for particulars, to E. W. VACHER, New Orleans, La.

A life hid with Christ in God does not come by chance.—Francis E. Clark.

FANCY POULTRY, ETC.

Fancy Poultry, Pedigreed Dogs, Cats, Canaries, Parrots, Guinea Pigs, Rabbits, and Pet Stock of every description; Cyphers, Incubators and Feed at Factory prices, may be had by writing to H. W. Blanks & Co., New Orleans, La. Their catalogue sent free. Write to them.

W. F. M. S.

DAY OF PRAYER.

Members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society are requested to observe Friday, April 17, 1908, as a day of prayer for the blessing of God on the session of the Board in New Orleans. As this day commemorates the death of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, let missionary workers unite with the Church universal in thanksgiving to God for his unspeakable gift and in petition that the promise may soon be fulfilled: "The kingdoms of the world is become the kingdom of our Lord, and of his Christ, and he shall reign for ever and ever."

MRS. JOHN B. PARKER.

ANNUAL SESSION OF THE WOMAN'S BOARD OF FOREIGN MISSIONS.

The Woman's Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Church, South, will convene in its thirtieth annual session in First Church, New Orleans, on Friday, May 1, 1908. The preliminary meeting of officers and managers will be held at 4 p. m., and at the same hour the Conference secretaries will hold a Workers' Conference. The opening session will be held at 8 p. m.

Application has been made for railroad rates, and all delegates and visitors are urged to secure certificates from railroad agents at starting point or at the nearest point within the territory of the Southeastern Passenger Association.

MISS M. L. GIBSON, President.
MRS. A. L. MARSHALL,
Recording Secretary pro tem.

W. H. M. S.

NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING.

The seventeenth annual session of the Woman's Home Mission Society of North Mississippi Conference convenes in Clarksdale, May 16-20, 1908. Representation from every Auxiliary in the Conference is desired, and delegates are urged to be present at opening exercises, Saturday evening, May 16.

Delegates and visitors will please send names promptly to Mrs. W. L. Duren, Clarksdale, Miss.

MRS. WALTER TROTTER, President.
MRS. L. C. SHORT, Cor. Sec'y.

MISSIONARY INSTITUTE OF WINONA DISTRICT.

District Missionary Institute, consisting of the pastors of the Winona District west of Winona, was held at Moorhead, Miss., March 31. All the preachers except three were in attendance. A few of the laymen were present.

Rev. E. S. Lewis, presiding elder, presided in his usual graceful and capable manner. Chas. T. Stepp was elected secretary.

After Spiritual devotions the following subjects were ably discussed: "The Missionary Idea," E. S. Lewis; "Our Obligations to Missions," J. W. Bell; "The Pastors and Missions," T. H. Porter; "Best Plan of Training the Church to Support Missions," J. Ritchie; "How to Make the Societies Go," general discussion; "The Pastor's Opportunity to Help," J. T. McCafferty and R. O. Brown; "The Pastor in his Study," J. A. McKee and J. W. Bell; "The Pastor Among the People," H. M. Young; address by W. A. Bowen, of Honolulu, Hawaii, on the work of the Church in the Sandwich Islands; "An Evangelism that Counts," J. Ritchie and R. A. Ellis; "How to Hold a Revival Service," C. T. Stepp; "A Glance at the Past," R. A. Ellis.

Notwithstanding several of the speakers were absent, an hour more was consumed in the discussions than had been planned, the subjects being enthusiastically and ably discussed.

The preachers were thoroughly imbued with the missionary spirit and the institute will prove a source of much good to the district, and to the cause of missions.

Particularly interesting was the address by W. A. Bowen on the conditions in the Hawaiian Islands. The wonderful progress of Christianity and civilization in that country is marvelous and demonstrates what the gospel can do for a people.

Jas. T. McCafferty, the pastor and host, entertained the visiting brethren well, and all who attended are under lasting obligations for the kindness and hospitality extended to them by the good people of Moorhead.

C. T. STEPP, Secretary.

SHALL WE ABOLISH THE SUPERANNUATE RELATION?

In an article by Rev. T. Cameron, in the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE of several months ago, it was suggested that our Church do away with the superannuate relation; and, perhaps, by inference, if not by statement, the supernumerary relation also. Besides the merit of novelty, Brother Cameron's suggestion is interesting to those directly concerned, our superannuates, and those who have the responsibilty of fixing their relation.

Two questions readily grow out of Brother Cameron's suggestion: (1) Why abolish the superannuate relation? (2) What shall be done with the preacher who now is placed in such relation? We may dispassionately take up these questions, treating the superannuate and supernumerary relations as one.

In answer to the first question it may be said that the term "superannuate" is often a misnomer, as a young preacher, failing in health, is relegated to the superannuate relation. Would it not be better to give such a one a nominal appointment, leaving him in his present relation; or to say, left without appointment on account of ill health?

Again, the superannuate relation is ever one not to be desired. The superannuated preacher is said to be on the honor roll, and his brethren affectionately esteem and accord him all due honor. But he would willingly forego all the honor of such position, preferring only a nominal place in the effective ranks, with small pay and adjusted work.

And again, the superannuate relation retires a preacher from all regular work, and lays him on the shelf, while as yet there is often much work in him. The calendar may indicate that he should retire; but the calendar is not always a sure index as to a man's capacity or "incapacity for work;" and there is often both physical vigor and mental alertness, with a well-advanced calendar.

But the people who prefer a younger man, the calendar, the cabinet and the Bishop combine to retire the preacher, and he is superannuated. After many years of active service in his loved employ he finds himself without appointment, without occupation. No wonder that he finds his position of constrained inaction undesirable and even irksome, while as yet his strength abides, and there is much that he might do. It is not strange that he should prefer to be employed and to preach by the appointment of his Conference, living on bread and water, as one perhaps expressed it, rather than to be without recognition and without work.

Men in other callings are held in requisition in the far-advancing years—professional men, statesmen and others. Senator Pettus, of Alabama, died last year a member of the United States Senate at the age of eighty-six years. His colleage, Senator Morgan, after long service, died a member of the United States Senate, as memory serves me, beyond eighty. Admiral Dewey won his great victory over the Spanish fleet in Manila Bay when he was approaching the age of retirement, and Admiral Schley at a similar age, led the victorious battleships in the great naval fight off Santiago harbor. A supernumerary preacher in one of our larger stations preached fifteen sermons last year for his pastor—surely a helpful assistant, if not a junior preacher.

The preacher of advancing years may be doing his best preaching and rendering his best service. Indeed, it can hardly be otherwise, where he has continued to read and study, kept his mental machinery bright with use, and his heart young and warm with love to God, love for the Church, and for his fellow man, provided always that the body retains a reasonable degree of health and vigor.

But this article grows apace, and lest I weary the reader I will reserve the answer to the second question stated above for another paper.

T. C. WIER.

GULFPORT, MISS.
Interesting propositions submitted to parties wanting to buy lots. Write for map to
GEO. L. CARLEY, Gulfport, Miss.

Harness and Saddles
E. G. AWCOCK,
333 BARONNE STREET,
Phone Main 4167. New Orleans, La.
Repairs Neatly and Promptly Done.

READY FOR WORK.

To the Pastors of Louisiana and Mississippi Conferences:

Brethren—I am, as many of you know, supernumerary of the Mississippi Conference. My health has much improved. If I can help you in your protracted meetings write me at 1138 N. 13th Street, Birmingham, Ala. I can furnish singer. I am yours in profound gratitude,

O. G. HALLIBURTON.

NEWTON DISTRICT.

Missionary Institutes will be held in the Newton District as follows: Forest, April 30; Laurel, May 13, and Philadelphia, June 17.

The District Conference will be held at Montrose, July 8-10. JAS. M. WEEMS, P. E.

INFORMATION WANTED.

If any readers of the ADVOCATE know of the whereabouts of one V. T. Millsaps they will confer a lasting favor by addressing E., Box 106, Mt. Olive, Miss. He is supposed to be somewhere in the Mississippi Delta.

ST. NICHOLAS' INCREASE.

The circulation of St. Nicholas, the publishers report, has nearly doubled in the last fourteen months.

THE APRIL HOUSEKEEPER.

It has been said that there has never been a novel written which has given a real portrait of a mother. However, beginning in The Housekeeper for April, there is a serial by Elizabeth Knight Tompkins, entitled "A Close Corporation," which utterly refutes the impossibility. While it is a home story, beautifully told, nevertheless it is of absorbing interest.

"An Off Day with the Button System" is an exceedingly comical story by Frances Greenman.

There are other capital stories by Emily Ruth Calvin and Adele Ferguson Knight.

Spring fashions and millinery make attractive pages for women readers, and the household pages are many and varied. The Housekeeper Corporation, Minneapolis, Minn. Sixty Cents a Year.

NOTES FROM SARDIS DISTRICT.

Dear Dr. Boswell: The preachers are all hard at work, and all seem to feel the need of a great spiritual awakening, and there are evidences of a spiritual awakening on us now. I closed the round with Brother Moss, at Batesville, Saturday and Sunday, March 28-29, and on Sunday morning at close of sermon had two accessions by profession of faith and baptism before communion, another at night by letter. Four young men gave us a great treat in the afternoon on Moses and St. Paul's greatness, a new feature of the Epworth League.

This morning I am notified of a great meeting just closed at Hernando by Brother O. W. Bradley, the pastor. There were twenty-two accessions to the Church. Brother W. S. Lagrone helped in the meeting. Many of the pastoral charges give evidence of better things, and all the preachers are making a good beginning.

W. J. O'Bryant, at Crenshaw, has the whole of his mission assessment for both Foreign and Home Missions, and several others have most of it in hand. Brother Moss reported a hundred dollars in hand and more promised. This is new for his charge to pay these claims in the first of the year.

Dr. Gaines is moving on patiently and persistently with his Church enterprise. He has a multitude of young Methodists in Sardis that need the stimulus of a new Church. Brother Murrah, at Senatobia, is in the fourth year of his pastorate, with great promise before him for the best year of the four. His Sunday school has new life and his Church is planning some new work on the Church, inside, that will make it a thing of beauty.

Brother Augustus has sprung the new Church question on his people at Como. He tells us he is much in love with Como and people. They speak of some great sermons he is giving them. Brother Langford, at Tyro, is putting some much-needed improvements on the parsonage—one hundred dollars or more. Brother S. A. Brown is moving forward raising his Church debt at Byhalia. He has a beautiful new Church. He and his people deserve great credit for their Church.

Brother Williams, at Cockrum, was making some preparation for Church improvement, and had just been engaged in much improvement of the parsonage property. Brother Huggins, of Wall Hill, had been sick for some weeks when I was with him, but he and his people had before them the painting and other improvements of their church house.

Brother Shearer, at Long Town, has one of the best prayer-meetings at Long Town in the district. He deserves much credit for this. I preached for him there one Friday night, and bad weather, dark nights, we had a large congregation, and fifteen or twenty came forward for prayers. This is the fruits, evidently, of his prayer-meeting. Brother James Porter, on Harrison Charge, changed from Arkabutla since Conference, has had two Home Mission Societies organized in his charge by the capable secretary, Mrs. Vance, of Batesville; one at Enid, the other at Tillatoba.

Brother J. R. Wilson, at Mt. Pleasant, has a Church enterprise on foot. Brothers Bailey, at Pleasant Hill; K. P. Foust, at Olive Branch, and L. B. Hawkins, at Eureka, are all beginning the new year with inspiration and courage, and promise well. Brother V. C. Curtis, at Coldwater, has everything well in hand, a hundred dollars raised on his salary, and Mrs. T. T. O'Bryant organized a Woman's Foreign Missionary Society in his charge at Loves. Brother R. M. Evans, at Courtland, has been making improvements and beautifying the parsonage, and his people have paid off a hundred dollar debt of several years' standing against parsonage, and every interest of the Church has been quickened under his ministry.

There are ten adult W. F. M. Societies in the district under the efficient leadership of the district secretary, Mrs. T. T. O'Bryant, of Batesville, and there are 23 adult W. H. M. Societies, with 450 members, under the efficient leadership of Mrs. C. B. Vance, secretary. She also lives in Batesville. These good women are very helpful to the preachers in the district and a blessing under God to the cause.

W. M. YOUNG.

THE MANSFIELD COLLEGE TEACHERS AS ENTERTAINERS.

Upon invitation from the pastor, President O. S. Dean, of the Mansfield Female College, on a recent Sunday, gave us two lay sermons at Many, that, for a combination of inspiration and pleasure, were very unusual in their breadth of thought and their practical bearing on the highest ideals of life. Such "lay preaching" was a delight to our people, and was almost a surprise to the pastor, as lay theologians are not supposed to be numerous. But I understand from Prof. Dean that the sermons have grown out of his talks to his students at the regular chapel devotional services, and naturally they would deal with live issues in the inspirational ideals for young people.

At a later date our Epworth League invited the instrumental and vocal music and the elocution teachers to give us a musical-elocution programme, which was another delight to our community, the school auditorium being used and the public invited. All were delighted with our College representatives, and the next time they come they will have right-of-way in our town, and the school needs no further advertising to assure our people that we have first-class teachers and modern school work doing at Mansfield. If these lecture-musical-elocution entertainers could visit every pastoral charge in our Conference the coming summer we would need more room at Mansfield on opening school in the fall.

P. O. LOWREY.

Many, La.

THE CHIEF NEED.

FROM THE MISSION ROOMS.

Much is being done, and well done, by the various committees to insure the success of the Chattanooga Laymen's Conference. To all human appearances success is well nigh assured. But when men have done their best something still remains. There is a vast territory where the combined skill and strength of men cannot venture. There are forces unaided men cannot command. It is on these forces real success depends. The pride of human capability was rebuked once and forever when it was written: "It is not by might nor by power, but by my Spirit saith the Lord." We must know our insufficiency without divine help that we may cry to him who is always with us for the manifestation of his power.

If there ever was a time in the history of our Church when a united prayer should go up for divine guidance and blessing such a time is now upon us. The spirit of awakening is on our laymen. They are casting about for the best means of doing things. Leaders are seeking to devise ways, and bring to bear influences for mobilizing the vast army of our laymen. The whole Church is astir and there is an eager expectancy abroad. There is the feeling of a new dawn evident in every direction. But by these very tokens there is need of much prayer that this movement may be guided to fullest and widest and highest results.

Realizing this, a Call for Prayer and a Prayer Calendar have been mailed to a large number of our laymen, requesting that they unite to pray: 1. "For the presence of the Spirit in the movement." 2. "For a deeper and more universal sense of responsibility." 3. "That we may be given vision of present opportunity." This call to prayer is with special reference to the Conference at Chattanooga. This Call is hereby extended to all our people. Moreover, there are many young men and women who are on the verge of a decision for life, and perhaps never so many whose thoughts turn to the mission field at home or abroad. We should pray the Lord of the harvest in their behalf.

Our line of Stoves, Kitchen Furnishings, and General Household Supplies is full of interest to all Good Housekeepers.

Suppose you take a look at it for yourself—

UNITED HARDWARE CO.,
LIMITED.

GET SOLID PROTECTION AND INSURE WITH
LEON IRWIN & CO.
Fire and Casualty Insurance.
238 GRAVIER STREET. PHONE, MAIN [illegible]

W. W. Carre Co., Ltd,
Manufacturers and Exporters of
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

It is enough to encourage our faith to see how God is moving on the Church, but the victory is not yet. There should be continuous prayer from now till April 21 that this most magnificent movement of modern times may have the seal of God upon it, and that the Conference may be made an occasion of great spiritual power.

We would suggest that our pastors make it a subject of prayer in their public ministrations. Also we suggest that it be made the subject of at least one prayer-meeting, and that the wives and mothers and sisters join the men in a united cry to God for his blessing. Should we come to a full sense of our own insufficiency, and humbly and penitently throughout the whole Church ask and seek and knock, the heart fairly leaps at the thought of what is in store for us. Whereas, if in our self-sufficiency and pride of human strength we tempt the Lord he may rebuke us. Better Israel defeated than Israel vaunting themselves and saying, "Mine own hand hath saved me." Our first cry must be, "The sword of the Lord," and then the names of our valiant human Gideons will become a power. "Let us advance upon our knees."

DEATH OF DR. J. A. MOORE.

Dear Dr. Boswell: You will be grieved to hear that Dr. J. A. Moore, professor of Mathematics in Millsaps College and an honored member of the Mississippi Conference, died suddenly yesterday morning. He had not been in good health for several months, but there were indications that led us to hope that he was improving, when the end came as a great shock to our College community. He was a noble, true man, faithful to every trust and consecrated to the highest aims. A wife and six children, with innumerable friends, are in deep sorrow. Some one will send you a sketch of his useful life.

W. B. MURRAH.

We were not only grieved, but shocked by the news of Prof. Moore's death, having never heard that he was in ill health. We mingle our tears with those of the bereaved family.

The Home Circle.

FRED'S STORY.

Fred Wells smothered a sigh as he looked out of the window at the rain. He felt sure it would be a long day. Rainy days in the country were always long, but he didn't want his Aunt Edith to think he was unhappy, so he said nothing. He got a picture book and huddled down in the Morris chair to make the best of it.

"Where are you, Fred?" cried his Aunt Edith, a little later.

"Here, auntie; I am coming," he answered.

"I want you to watch the squirrels. I am sure Mamma Squirrel is planning to move. It is raining hard and the babies are getting wet in the tree. She was in the wash-house looking around, and I think she decided the wood-box would make a good home. It has a pile of excelsior in it, and will be good and warm," said Mrs. Lucey.

Fred was interested at once, and drew a chair up to the window. Mamma Squirrel spied him and stopped to take a look; she wanted to make sure he was not a bad boy who planned to hurt her children. Being reassured, she sped up the tree, picked up a squirrel in her teeth, and laboriously made her way down and across the yard to the wash-house.

"She is moving, auntie," called Fred. "I didn't know a squirrel ever had its nest in a house."

"They don't, but this squirrel is so tame that it makes a difference." Mrs. Lucey drew up another chair and they both watched until the five baby squirrels were in the new home, warm and dry.

"I never knew squirrels thought so much of their children," said Fred. "She loves her baby squirrels just as people love their children, doesn't she?"

"Hush," and Mrs. Lucey held up a warning finger as Mamma Squirrel came up on the porch. "I expect she wants something for her babies to eat. You may give her some nuts. She will take them out of your hand."

Fred got a handful of nuts and opened the door cautiously. He held out his hand, and the squirrel came eagerly. She scampered away with the nut, and in a little while returned for another.

"What makes her wait so long between trips?" asked Fred.

"You might put on your raincoat and go and see," suggested his aunt.

In a few minutes Fred came running back. "She is cracking nuts for the little squirrels!" he exclaimed, excitedly. "She works for her children and takes care of them just as mamma does of me."

His aunt smiled at the eager face. "Dinner is ready just as soon as your hands are washed."

"Dinner! Already! This has been such a little morning. Oh, auntie, I have my story for school! You know we have to tell a story every Friday after recess about something we have seen. Miss Brown says it is to make us see things around us. I am glad it rained, else I wouldn't have a squirrel story."—Sarah N. McCreery, in Southern Presbyterian.

THE WONDER-BOX.

"Good-bye, little maid! Take good care of mamma, and have as nice a time as you can. And oh, that reminds me! Here is a box that grandma and the aunties sent for you. They said it was a wonder-box."

Papa kissed Maidie, embraced mamma, put a package done up in dark red wrapping-paper down on the seat, and hurried out, just as the cars began to steam away on their long, long journey from New York to California. Mother and Maidie rather dreaded the long days before them.

"A wonder-box, mamma!" cried Maidie. She had waved good-bye and kissed her hand to papa, and now was reminded of the box, because she tried to sit down on it. "What can that be?"

"A box to wonder about, I should say," replied mamma. She was thinking of the tiresome journey, and decided that the surprise-box should not be opened until Maidie grew very weary, in the late afternoon. She had always tried to teach her little daughter to splice out her joys and make them last as long as possible.

"It will keep us busy wondering all day, I think. Let us guess what is in it before we open it, dear. It will be all the nicer if you wait a while, and you've got your new doll to play with. You must get acquainted with her, you know."

So while Maidie examined her new doll's clothing, they talked and wondered and guessed what could be in the wonder-box.

"Anyway, it's something nice, I know," said Maidie, "for grandma and the aunties always do have such nice surprises."

Then her mother would call her attention to the beautiful things to be seen from the window, and so the hours flew past.

By the time the new doll was named, and Maidie had guessed every single thing she could think of, from doughnuts to story-books, it was lunch-time. They had a gay meal out of the lunch-box mamma had prepared. Then Maidie had a nap, and woke up much refreshed.

"I don't think traveling is so tiresome as you said, mamma," she remarked, several times. But about four o'clock in the afternoon she asked, wearily, "Have we got to be on the train forever, mamma?"

Then mamma reached up and got the wonder-box, and Maidie clapped her hands, for she had forgotten all about it.

Inside the red paper was a heavy pasteboard box, holding several smaller boxes and bundles. On the top lay a letter telling that the wonder-box contained a gift for each of the six days of their journey. It was called a wonder-box because grandma and the aunties knew how Maidie would wonder and guess each day about what was in the next day's package. Each was numbered, and on no account was a package to be opened until the right day!

The first day's gift was a blank book, made by sewing some sheets of thick white paper together, making large square pages. The book was sewed into a blue-bristol-board cover, on which had been pasted the picture of a train of cars. Under this was printed in gilt, "A Little Traveler's Diary," and at the head of each of the six leaves a date had been written. A pencil was tied to this book with long blue ribbon.

"It is to hold the record of your journey, dear," said mamma. "What clever aunties my little girl has! You can write down all about our trip in this book. It will be something pleasant to do every day, and if I were you, I'd begin now, because to-day is almost gone."

So Maidie, with mamma's help, put into the book all the things that had happened since morning in the cars; how she had got acquainted with a little boy and girl there; how she had treated them to some of the fruit papa had got for her; how at one station where the train stopped, a big dog jumped from a carriage and tried to follow his master and mistress on the train, and how sad he seemed when the coachman caught him and put him back into the carriage. Ever so many things had happened that Maidie wanted to put into her diary.

The next day she found that her wonder-box package held blunt-end scissors and paper, and sheets of dolls and furniture to cut out. So she spent a busy and happy day. The third day's package held a book-slate, with pencil attached, and a box of colored crayons. Then "playing school" was the great game, and Maidie's new friends knew just how to help at that. The only trouble was that the little boy always wanted to be the "principal," and he would punish the dolls too often.

The fourth day was spent mostly in reading, for that day's gift from the wonder-box was marked "a traveler's roll." It was a strip of Manila paper as wide as a magazine page, and two or three yards long, when unrolled. On it were pasted stories, verses, pictures, and puzzles from children's magazines. As Maidie read them she rolled the part she had read, so the paper need be open only the space of a page or so.

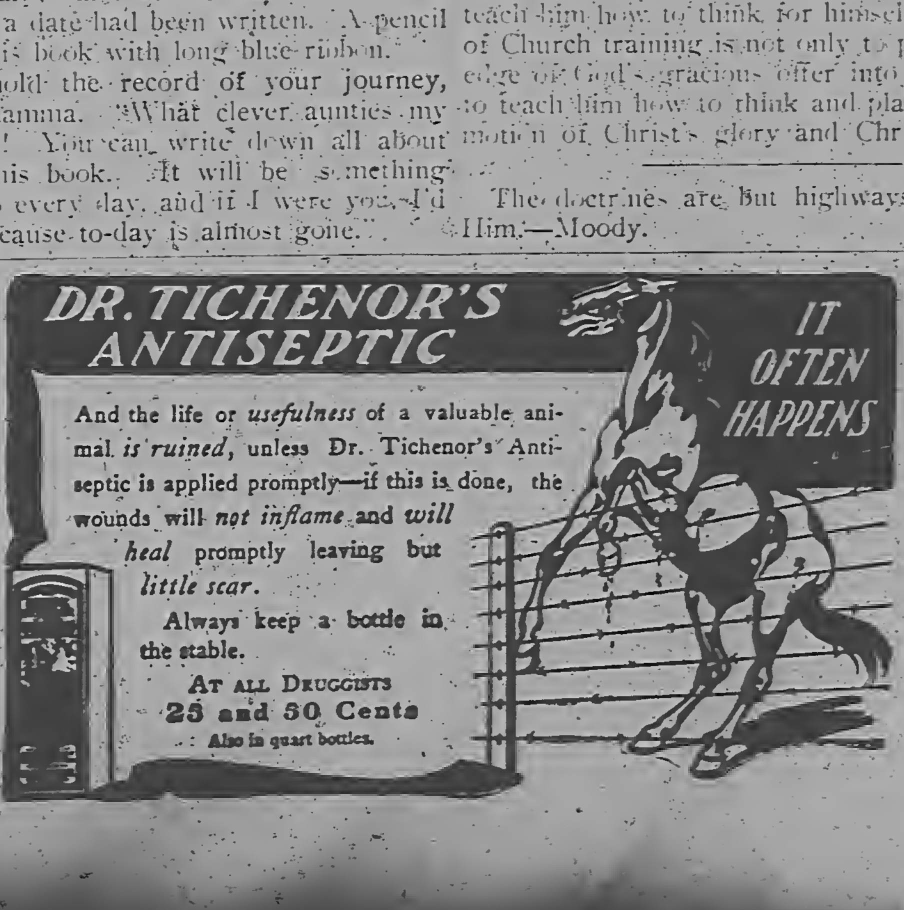
The fifth day's package was a little box full of traveling things for Maidie's doll—a tiny towel and washcloth tied round a little square of soap, a silk handbag with a cunning handkerchief in it, a tiny Japanese fan, doll's size, and a scrap of a bottle containing cologne water.

The last day's gift was the best of all, so Maidie thought. It was a doll's folding bed, with a little doll in it, and was made out of a spool-box covered with plain paper. If you try to open one at one end, holding the lid and box together at the other, you will see what a nice doll's folding bed it makes. And inside were a tiny mattress, sheets and blanket, and the doll was dressed in a flannel lounging robe.

When Maidie and mamma reached San Francisco, you may be sure that they carried the wooden box carefully from the train with them. Maidie called it her "magic box," for it had made the long dreaded six days seem like three. —Annie Willis McCullough, in Youth's Companion.

The object of school training is not to put facts into the mind of the student, but rather to teach him how to think for himself. The object of Church training is not only to put the knowledge of God's gracious offer into his mind, but to teach him how to think and plan for the promotion of Christ's glory and Christ's cause.

The doctrines are but highways that lead to Him.—Moody.



DR. TICHENOR'S ANTISEPTIC

IT OFTEN HAPPENS

And the life or usefulness of a valuable animal is ruined, unless Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic is applied promptly—if this is done, the wounds will not inflame and will heal promptly leaving but little scar.

Always keep a bottle in the stable.

AT ALL DRUGGISTS
25 and 50 Cents
Also in quart bottles.

Christian Advocate.

REV. JNO. W. BOSWELL, D.D., Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.
CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TERMS:

One Copy, one year, $2; six months, $1. To Preachers of all Denominations, half-price.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES:

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE—Rev. W. W. Drake, Rev. N. E. Joyner, Rev. J. M. Henry.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. M. L. Burton, Rev. W. H. Lewis, Rev. C. W. Crisler.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, D.D.; Rev. J. T. Murrah, Rev. W. W. Woollard.

THE PREACHER'S WIFE.

That the preacher's wife should be a helpmeet in his work evrybody will acknowledge. But the nature and extent of her labors for the Church, and whose right it is to direct them, seem to be unsettled questions. There should be no question on the subject, for, outside the home, nobody has a right to determine, much less to dictate. The Church does not legislate on the matter, and says not a word about the preacher's wife, save what the Scriptures enjoin, and that refers solely to personal conduct, viz.: "Even so must their wives be grave, not slanderers, sober, faithful in all things."

Looked at from a common-sense, business point, anybody can see that no Church has any more claim on the services of the preacher's wife than on the services of any other good woman of the congregation. Whatever contract, expressed or implied, there may be between the officers of the Church and the pastor, does not apply to his wife. Among Methodists no written contract exists between pastors and people, but a virtual contract exists, which, as a rule, is religiously observed both by the people and the preacher; and in fixing the salary only the preacher's work and the necessities of his family are taken into consideration—never the work which his wife is able or expected to do. We have never heard of a Board of Stewards allowing any pay for the services of a preacher's wife; which, in justice, they ought to do if, for any reason, they exact any work at her hands.

If the preachers are taken as a class it will be found that their families are quite as large as the families of laymen, and that household duties are the same, the advantage being with the wives of laymen, who in many instances employ help, a thing denied to preachers' wives, except in charges that pay more than a living salary. This being the case, the preache'rs wife has no more time to give to the work of the Church than the wife of the average layman. Nor is she under any more obligation than other good women of the Church to do extra work at the sacrifice of her home duties.

What a preacher's wife is expected to do is quite different from what is too often supposed she is bound to do. It is possible that what is expected of a preacher's wife, and what some of them actually do, have led to the belief that somehow she is under obligation to perform extra service in every charge to which her husband is appointed. Admitting the obligation without defining the nature and extent of the work, we feel free to say that it is not the business of the Official Board, nor of the Ladies' Aid Society, nor of any local organization to mark out the sphere of her labors. That should be determined by the woman herself, on her own judgment, or after consultation with her husband.

It goes without saying that the preacher's wife should encourage every woman's organization of the Church, and, if possible, identify herself with them, but there is no compulsion. Many good women prefer in other ways to help their husbands. Not a few would, perhaps, come to nothing if their wives did not help them in the home rather than in public. In our judgment, it is unseemly and unwise for a woman, just because she is the preacher's wife, to step into the lead of the societies and take the reins before she gets acquainted with the people. It sometimes makes things awkward when acquaintance is well established. She finds to her sorrow that others know the situation better, and are often better qualified to lead.

Nor should any preacher's wife, in her eagerness to help her husband, do things the Church neither approves nor expects her to do. For example: A pastor lived about four miles from his Church, which was reached by electric car line, except the last half-mile, which required a walk across the commons. On at least two occasions he was sick. The wife felt it her duty to go and take his place. One night we remember it was dark and raining, and the walk was muddy; yet she trudged that half mile alone to prayer-meeting, at the same time having a right to expect the presence of two preachers, who lived near the Church, besides other members competent to conduct the services. Her work in that line was uncalled for and unappreciated. It was no part of the work of a pastor's wife.

If the preacher's wife visits the sick, ministers to the poor, relieves the distressed, and cooperates with the sisters in their benevolent work, she meets the just expectation of the people and well performs her duty. If she can be to the Church an example of Christian motherhood, guiding well the affairs of her own household, she fulfills the law of Christ; and is

---

WE ARE NOT YET READY.

Under title of "Perfecting the Reformation," Bishop Candler has a long article of absorbing interest in the Christian Advocate (Nashville), of March 27. The following is the concluding paragraph:

"Let me add in connection that the present is no time to "superannuate" our Articles of Religion which protest against the errors and corruption of Romanism. In our own country the conflict with Romanism has scarcely begun. We shall find that, in view of our recently acquired insular possessions, Romanism will project itself into politics as never before; and it will show an activity in America which it has not exhibited for several centuries in Europe. The Romanish hierarchy is busy trying to recoup in the New World its losses in the Old World. And then, too, it must be remembered that more than half of the New World is under the influence of Romanism. A considerable part of Canada, Mexico, Central America, Cuba, Porto Rico, and all South America have not yet found the deliverance which was wrought for us and our ancestors by the Reformation of Luther and the revival of Wesley. Our preachers and people in Mexico, Cuba, and Brazil would think it a very strange thing if they saw any slightest evidence upon our part that we were abating our protests against the unscriptural doctrines and pretensions of Romanism. They are in the midst of the same warfare that Luther waged, and they have a long, hard campaign before them. The smooth, academic Erasmus in Luther's day would have softened the issues the great reformer raised; but if his counsel had been taken and his course had been followed by others, the day would have been lost. The men who were in the midst of the conflict did not take their orders from his dainty hands. It was well that they did not. They had sterner work on hand than academies are generally called or inclined to do. In Cuba and Mexico we must use in carrying on Luther's Reformation something more cogent than campus cogitations."

It will be remembered by those who heard Dr. Tillett at the General Conference, and those who have read his articles and booklets on the subject of restatement of our Articles of Religion, that his most strenuous plea for restatement (which at the time looked more like a plea for displacement) was based on what he called the "Anti-Romish Character" of many of the Articles.

It seems to us that all who have looked into the matter, knowing the influence, not to say the authority, of the Roman Catholic clergy over the membership of the Church, and their tendency to meddle with politics, are bound to agree with Bishop Candler that the "protests against the errors and corruptions of Romanism" are still necessary.

No, we are not yet ready to "superannuate" our Articles of Religion.

PERSONALS.

We are sorry to learn that Dr. J. T. Sawyer is confined at home suffering the pains of a carbuncle. He has been thus afflicted for more than a week. We trust he will soon find relief.

Besides Dr. Du Bose, Bishops Hendrix and Hoss have been invited to take part in the exercises at the approaching session of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, commemorative of the adoption of the constitution of Episcopal Methodism, providing for a delegated General Conference. Southern Methodists will be well represented.

The list of speakers engaged for the Laymen's Missionary Conference at Chattanooga, beginning the 21st of this month, includes some eminent men besides those of our own Church. Among them is Dr. Josiah Strong, of New York, and Mr. James Bryce, Ambassador to our government from Great Britain. Some great speeches will be made at that Conference.

Our brother, Rev. Martin Hebert, pastor of the French Mission in Crowley District, for two weeks past has had his little son in an infirmary in New Orleans. The little one was first taken with diphtheria, and after bringing him to the city he developed pneumonia. He is now in a serious condition. May the good Father bless the means being used and restore him to health.

A note from Dr. Richard Wilkinson, Augusta, Georgia, contains these cheering words: "All goes well with me and mine here in good 'Old Georgia.' The work prospers. The good Master is with us, and the future is therefore bright and promising." Brother Wilkinson has many friends in New Orleans whom he kindly remembers. They will be glad to hear of his well-doing.

In a letter to the editor, Rev. C. P. Moss speaks a good word for a good man: "Brother Bachman was with us in our Quarterly Meeting, and did good in his all-important work. We are always glad to have him come. He does us good. I believe we have few better men. Only the future can reveal the great work he is doing. May the Lord spare him many years yet."

We had the pleasure on Tuesday last of meeting in our office our venerable brother, W. C. Wilkinson, of Crystal Springs, Miss. Brother Wilkinson was once a printer and worked in the ADVOCATE office. Forty-seven years ago this month he "laid down his stick" and joined the Confederate army. He has not been in the office since until this visit. With the exception of the loss of hearing, he is a well preserved old gentleman. He continues to read the ADVOCATE.

Everything goes well with Rev. C. P. Moss, on Batesville Circuit. All obligations of financial character met up to date, and nearly all the assessment for missions in hand, "something new for Batesville at this time of the year." The presiding elder, Rev. W. M. Young, was with him on the last Sunday in March, and stirred things—called mourners at eleven o'clock on Sunday, and also at night. Two souls responded in the morning and one in the evening. We thank Brother Moss for a kind invitation to attend the District Conference.

President Murrah, of Millsaps College, reports an attractive programme of exercises for the closing days of the current session, June 7-9. The preachers for the occasion will be the Rev. Dr. W. F. Tillett, Dean of the Biblical Department of Vanderbilt University, and the Rev. Dr. Alonzo Monk, pastor of the Broadway Methodist Church, Louisville, Ky. The friends of the College will be gratified to know that a remarkable religious revival has been in progress in the institution for some time and the spiritual results have been far-reaching in their effects.

Dr. W. C. Hearn, of the North Alabama Conference, an honored veteran, retired, died at his home in Talledega on the twenty-second of March. Dr. Hearn was one of the loveliest men we ever knew. We first met him in Little Rock, Ark., about twenty-five years ago when he was pastor of First Church in that city. Our acquaintance was renewed in Nashville several years later. We shall never forget a little class-meeting in Dr. Fitzgerald's office—Dr. Fitzgerald and Dr. Hearn being the speakers. The old Doctor smiled through his tears, and he was supremely happy. He has entered into rest. Blessings on his memory.

Rev. A. A. Martin, writing from Abbeville, Miss., says: "Things are moving along nicely up here. This is a good people. They have sent a great many nice things to the parsonage. The stewards raised the assessment for the preacher-in-charge some over last year. We had a good Quarterly Conference last Saturday (the 28th ult.). Brother Cunningham, our presiding elder, made a fine impression. He is the right man in the right place." Brother Martin's letter was accompanied with a list of twenty subscribers for the ADVOCATE, including three renewals. He has more subscriptions to be added in a few days. Brother Martin will please accept our thanks.

A short time since Dr. Tillett talked to the Cincinnati preachers on the subject of "Restatement," or "Statement" of Methodist faith. He was followed a few days later by Dr. H. M. Du Bose in opposition. At the close of his address Dr. Levi Gilbert, editor of the Western Christian Advocate, whom we had been led to believe was with Dr. Tillett, "made a strong speech endorsing Dr. Du Bose's address," and "a vote of thanks for the address was carried with a rousing approval." By the way, it gives us pleasure to say that Dr. Du Bose will represent our Church in the celebration of the constitution of Methodism at the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Baltimore next month. His theme will be "Methodism in 1908."

REV. G. D. PARKER'S CAMPAIGN IN LOUISIANA.

Brother G. D. Parker has kindly consented to give some three weeks—about three days to the District—to our Louisiana pastors in lecturing and teaching their people about our mission work, the tour to begin in the Crowley District just after Easter, and go thence to the Shreveport, Arcadia, Monroe, Alexandria and the Baton Rouge Districts in the order named.

Many of our people have never seen a returned missionary and heard from their own lips the story of the gospel's planting in foreign soil, and, by all uniting, we can have a direct message from one who went out from our Conference, and is known among our people as our missionary, at but a trifle cost, the plan being for each place visited to entertain and pay railroad fare from the last point. So the pastors in the accessible points in line with this tour through the Conference who wish Brother Parker to hold meetings with their people, either day or night, according to railroad schedules, following the general route out the S. P., up the K. C., over the V. S. & P., down the I. Mt., T. & P., Y. M. V., etc., will kindly write me at once, though we hope to arrange appointments in most cases through the presiding elders.

Wherever Brother Parker may chance to be, at suitable hours in the day time we hope to have arranged special meetings for women or children on such subjects as "Woman's Condition and Position in Brazilian Society," "What Woman is Doing to Elevate Her Race," "Child Life in Brazil," "Social Customs of Brazil," etc. The night service can be more general, as Brother Parker may see fit.

Those pastors who wish the visit of our returned missionary will please write me at once, enclosing stamp, and stating the railroad schedules at their stations. Fraternally yours,

P. O. LOWREY.

Many, La.

THE LAYMEN'S MISSIONARY MOVEMENT.

Methodism was born May 24, 1738, and we now have approximately 1,725,000 members in our Southern Church, our gain averaging about 50,000 per year. We have 500,000 laymen. We are supporting 241 missionaries in the foreign fields, and contributing an average of 74 cents apiece for missionary purposes. We have, including non-members, about 1,000 persons to each preacher.

There are one billion heathen in the world, and 13,000 missionaries, or an average of about 77,000 heathen to the missionary. At the present day these heathen are being brought to Christ at an average cost of $2 each. These souls are on sale, and, just here we might propound to ourselves, how many do we wish to buy?

Our Mission Board has said that our Church should send the gospel to 50,000,000 of these heathen. In prayerfully discussing the matter, God made it dawn on them that they had 500,000 laymen in the Church that up to the present had done comparatively very little towards the evangelizing of the world, and to-day should be aroused and enlisted in this great effort to evangelize the world in this generation; hence, this laymen's movement.

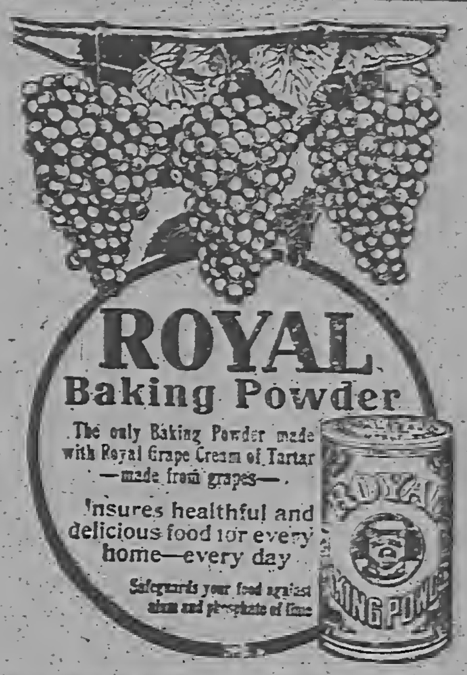
This great movement has been taken up not only by our own Church, but almost simultaneously (as by one command) in the last twelve months by probably every Protestant denomination in the United States, which shows that God is moving on the hearts of his people, and inspiring them to do great things in his name.

The first missionary sent out from America was by the clergymen of New York on November 13, 1806. Samuel J. Mills, chairman of the body, said of the evangelization of the world, "We can do it, if we will."

On November 13, 1906, just 100 years later, a convention was held again in New York, this time by laymen, when its chairman, Samuel B. Capen, remarked on the evangelization of the world, "We can do it, and we will."

The Laymen's Missionary Movement is what it says: a laymen's. All other members of the Church belong to some missionary society except the men, who largely control the money. The truth of the matter, the laymen have hardly been in it. There is this parody on the "Psalm of Life" which fits them prety well:

"In the world's broad field of action,
In the bivouac of life,
You will find the Christian soldier
Represented by his wife."



ROYAL
Baking Powder
The only Baking Powder made with Royal Grape Cream of Tartar —made from grapes—.
Insures healthful and delicious food for every home—every day
Safeguards your food against alum and phosphate of lime

Francis Wayland once said, "The tendency will be more and more for Churches to turn over their missionary obligation to societies, societies to boards, boards to executive committees and executive committees to secretaries, so in the end the responsibility will rest on the shoulders of a dozen men."

The Church for the first 300 years of its history came nearer compassing the known world with a gospel message than she has done since, when money as a factor was unmentioned and unknown. Christ not only taught us by example the duty and obligation imposed upon us as laymen, but his last and largest command was, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." Just how any Christian can so interpret this and similar commands to feel that no missionary obligation rests on him, I am at a loss to understand.

Our Board of Missions, in annual session on May 15 last, passed a resolution ordering a conference of fifty influential laymen to meet and consider plans for the promotion of the Laymen's Movement. On Sept. 17 to 18 this body, consisting of fifty-three laymen, met in Knoxville, Tenn. They elected Mr. John R. Pepper, president, and G. W. Cain, secretary. After electing other officers and an executive committee and formulating plans of the work, they adjourned to meet next April, in Chattanooga, when they hope to have 1200 delegates present.

At this Knoxville meeting Mr. Pepper expressed the hope that they would at least get 10,000 active, consecrated members into the movement. It has only been four months since he made this statement and there are already over 10,000 enrolled and their numbers are being daily increased.

There are four cardinal principles in this movement, as follows:

To pray; to study; to work; and to give for the evangelization of the world in this generation.

Chattanooga is noted in all lands for the bloody battles and battlefields of forty years ago. Let us now make it famous in April, 1908, for the conquering battalion who go to take the world for Christ.

JOHN H. SHERARD.

BUY THE NEW BOOK
HARP OF A THOUSAND STRINGS
contains the immortal burlesques of Rev. Henry Talliaferro Lewis. One Dollar at McKowen and Co., Jackson, La., and W. L. Linfield, Woodville, Miss.

This is the trade-mark which is on every genuine bottle of

Scott's Emulsion

sold in nearly all the countries of the world. Nothing equals it to build up the weak and wasted bodies of young and old.

All Druggists; 50c. and $1.00.

Obituaries.

Obituaries not over two hundred words in length will be published free of charge. All over two hundred words will be charged at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and send the amount necessary with the obituary. That will save trouble all around.

MARY JANE FARRAR—At Kingston, in the Jersey settlement, in Adams County, Miss., August 17, 1821, there was born unto Daniel Farrar and Elizabeth King, his wife, a daughter whom they named Mary Jane, and on whom much love and tender care was bestowed. October 5, 1842, she married George W. Baynard, the marriage ceremony being performed by the Rev. Dr. Benjamin Chase, of the Presbyterian Church. The newly married couple made their home in Clinton, La., where, in 1843, they joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, and remained there only a short time. Thence they went to Waterproof, La., where four years were spent. Thence they returned to the Kingston neighborhood, where for many years they resided, dispensing a liberal, if not a lavish hospitality, until the changed conditions wrought by the Civil War forced the abandonment of the old plantation home. For some years they lived in Natchez, Miss., where Mr. Baynard died Nov. 24, 1899. The widow moved to Louisville, Ky., and made her home with her daughters, Mrs. Georgia Whitcomb (wife of Charles Whitcomb) and Mrs. Etta B. Broughton. In 1906 she went with Mr. and Mrs. Whitcomb to Purvis, Miss., where, in their home, she passed away October 21, 1907, in great peace. Her body was carried to Natchez and laid beside the body of her husband, there to await the resurrection. Mrs. Baynard's mother, Elizabeth King Farrar, was niece to the Rev. Samuel Swayzie, the Congregational preacher from New Jersey, who was the first Protestant preacher or missionary to preach the gospel in the "Natchez country." The cane-brake in which the congregation gathered on Sundays to worship God, and the hollow sycamore tree in which the Holy Bible was kept for safety, have long since disappeared: but Sammy's Creek, near which grew the tree and the brake, still flows on. Generations of men and women have lived, loved, suffered and died, but the Word of God abides, and liberty of conscience is enjoyed where the Bible was a forbidden book and Protestant worship was outlawed. Surviving both father and mother are three daughters, Mrs. Katie Baynard Montanye, of Albany, Oregon; Mrs. Georgia Baynard Whitcomb, of Purvis, Miss., and Mrs. Etta Baynard Broughton, of Louisville, Ky. Mrs. Baynard's brother, Daniel S. Farrar, of Fayette, Miss., is the sole survivor of that noted generation, unless we include Mrs. Martha J. Farrar, of Kingston, Miss., widow of the late Dr. Caleb F. Farrar, "the beloved physician" of precious memory. Every preacher who served the Kingston Church will gratefully remember the kindly, genial hospitality of the Baynard home, and in later years the motherly interest and helpfulness of good Sister Baynard.

T. L. MELLEN.

D. E. COVINGTON—On the first day of the year 1908, just at twilight, the life of D. E. Covington went out "to shine upon some fairer shore." He had suffered intensely at times for several weeks with an abscess of the brain, but he bore his affliction with Christian fortitude, rarely ever complaining. He had been a member of the M. E. Church, South, for several years, and was in the prime of life at his death, being 34 years of age. He leaves a wife, two small children and a half-sister, to mourn their loss.

Alone, but not alone, they stand;
Around, above a Power divine
Is shining and a heavenly Hand
Is touching thine.

C. L. DICKERSON.

Brother EDWARD TICKELL was born April 11, 1848, and died February 1, 1908. He passed away very suddenly with heart trouble. He had been a member of the Washington Street (Vicksburg) Methodist Church for many years, and part of the time had served as a steward, and was a trustee at the time of his death. Brother Tickell was a kind husband and ever thoughtful of his family's welfare. He was a man of few words at home and abroad. He was a steamboat engineer, and hence spent quite a good deal of his time away from home. The night he died he came home at nine o'clock, and before retiring read the 9th chapter of St. Mark, and held family prayer with his family. At two o'clock in the morning his wife awoke to find him dying. Brother Tickell received a great blessing out of the Cate's meeting, and since then had spent an unusually great amount of his time in Bible reading and prayer. The last time the pastor saw him alive was on the Sunday previous to his death, when he was at Church in the morning and evening. It is a great comfort to his family and loved ones to know that the last thing he did in this world was to read his Bible and pray with the family. His wife and friends who knew him in his last days have the consolation to know that he has gone to heaven and is waiting for them, where there are no separations, tears or pains, but where there is joy forever. His pastor,

W. A. TERRY.

Mrs. SALLIE F. HERRING, wife of J. F. Herring, died at the noon hour, Monday, March 23. Her death was a great shock to us all. She was sick about a week. Her devoted husband and nine children have received every assurance of sympathy from the whole community. We laid her body to rest in the cemetery at Emory Chapel. Sister Herring was one of the most useful of Christian women, a splendid teacher in the Sunday school and president of the Woman's Home Mission Society. All had learned to look to her as leader in Church work, and she was first in the homes of sickness and suffering. May our Father who had sustained and led her into such usefulness be the constant support and comfort to the bereaved ones.

S. A. BROWN.

TRIBUTE FROM THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Whereas our heavenly Father, whose plans, "like lilies, pure and white, will unfold and reveal their calyxes of gold" some day, we know not when nor how, has deemed it expedient to withdraw from the scene of her usefulness and untiring devotion our beloved sister, Mrs. FRANK HERRING; therefore, be it,

Resolved, That the Sabbath school of Emory, Byhalia Circuit, bow in deep humility of heart to the Divine will, but deplore with a yearning wistfulness our sad loss.

Resolved, second, That as our dear one has gone from us to answer the roll-call in the bright beyond that we so live, that when we pass from this world of care, that we may all be reunited in the beautiful home-land of the soul.

Resolved, third, That we, as a Sabbath school and as friends, tender her bereaved loved ones our sympathy and prayers, in this dark hour of their sorrow. May they place a steadfast trust in the Savior's love, and may his great compassion encompass them. Further, that we send a copy of these resolutions to the New Orleans Christian Advocate with request to pubilsh them, one copy to our superintendent, and another to the bereaved family.

MRS. JASPER COLEMAN,
MRS. GUY LANGSTON,
Committee.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Whereas it has pleased our heavenly Father to remove from our midst, Mrs. FRANK HERRING, be it, therefore,

Resolved, first, That while we, the Woman's Home Mission Society, of Emory Church, Byhalia Circuit, bow submissively to God's will, we deplore the death of our beloved president, who was always present, and ever ready to do all in her power to further the cause of Christ, and that we should emulate the good example she set before us.

Resolved, second, That we extend to the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy, and commend them to the Father who alone can comfort such sorrowing hearts.

Resolved, third, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our Society, and a copy be furnished the family; also one sent to "Our Homes" for publication. Respectfully submitted,

MRS. LAURA STEPHENS,
MRS. W. H. FRENCH.

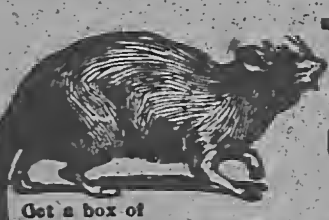
A new electric mitrailleuse, which discharges 800 shots a minute, without noise, flame or smoke, has been invented by M. Alfred Ponteaux, of Dijon. The latter is well known for his discoveries in connection with explosives, notably smokeless powder, and his most recent invention, which has been placed at the disposal of the French War Office, is the result of several years' study and experiments.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE MID-YEAR MEETING.

The Mid-year Meeting of the Mississippi Conference Board of Missions will be held in Centreville on June 15, 16, 17. A programme carrying the names of some of the most prominent mission workers of our church will be published in due time.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure

BELLS.
Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O



Drives 'Em Out Of House To Die

Get a box of
Stearns' Electric RAT and ROACH Paste
If you are troubled with rats or mice. It is sure death, driving them out of the house to die. Easy to use and gives quick and sure results. Sold for 30 years, and never yet failed to kill off rats and mice. Also for cockroaches, water-bugs and other vermin. 2 oz. box, 25c; 16 oz. box, $1.00. Sold at druggists and general stores everywhere, or sent direct prepaid on receipt of price.
STEARNS' ELECTRIC PASTE CO. Buffalo, N.Y., U.S.A.

The New Orleans Cornice Works,
MANUFACTURERS OF
METAL CORNICES, SKYLIGHTS, Etc., STEEL CEILINGS.
Repairing of all Kinds of Roofs. 619 Poydras St. New Orleans, La.
J. H. CAMPMAN, Proprietor.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL
The Double Track Route.
26 Hours to Chicago
21 Hours to St. Louis
22 Hours to Louisville
26 Hours to Cincinnati
Through Sleeping Cars to above points. Dining Cars, Library Cars, Chair Cars and Coaches.
Full Particulars at
City Ticket Office.
141 ST. CHARLES STREET.
Phone Main 3613.

NEW YORK
CINCINNATI
ST. LOUIS
NEW

QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE
THROUGH SLEEPING CARS
All Meals in DINING CARS
TICKET OFFICE
211 ST. CHARLES ST

HIS CHANCE IS GONE
YOUR CHANCE IS HERE

The question is, are you qualified to hold a responsible position? Have you had a thorough commercial training? Bankers, Merchants and Manufacturers want you if you are competent. Now is your Chance. Two roads are open to young people. One requires no training and leads to failure. The other requires training and leads to success. We prepare young men and women and start them on the road to success by securing them high-salaried positions. Fine climate, board cheap. Write for illustrated catalog and further information.
HATTIESBURG BUSINESS COLLEGE, HATTIESBURG, MISS.

MRS. H. F. JOHNS.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. HOPE FOSTER JOHNS, daughter of the late Dr. D. W. Foster and Melissa Spurlock, was born in San Augustine County, Texas, March 14, 1865, and died at Ida, La., January 23, 1908, in the 43rd year of her life. When this writer was in need of a helpmeet in his young itinerant career, he fortunately fell in with this pure, good woman, who, as a wife, filled all those relations with signal ability and fidelity. She was the true "power behind the throne," loving, patient, gentle, self-denying. Her advice was, in nine cases out of ten, the true course to pursue as I often found by experience. As a wife, housekeeper and mother, she was unexcelled. Neat, rapid, a splendid entertainer in all that made a home the ideal spot for the weary itinerant, whether it was the visiting preacher, the presiding elder, or even the Bishop, as we were blessed in the entertainment of one of our chief pastors on one occasion, it was the same true hospitality, and home-life extended. Married to this writer on July 31, 1888, in Opelousas, La., three boys were born to bless the union, Foster, LeRoy and Robert Pharr. The latter preceded her to the glory land a year and three months. Her great desire was to see her children reared as true Christians, educated and filling positions of honor and usefulness in the Church and State. She toiled for this, but, alas, fell at her post before her ambitions were realized. Her health was her only drawback. Afflicted with headache all her life from early womanhood, it seemed to grow worse, and nothwithstanding all that could be done for her, nothing was found to give relief. At last a mild case of pneumonia was the cause of inflammation of the brain, which carried her away. Her brother, Dr. Paul Foster, as well as the local physician, stood by powerless, except to put her under the influence of medicines to ease her sufferings. Farewell, dear, sweet wife. We will meet again where partings are no more!

H. S. JOHNS.

Baton Rouge, La.

FROM SULPHUR, LA.

Mr. Editor: Some one said to me, "Why not let us hear from Sulphur, through the Advocate?" This letter is the "effect," of which that question is the "cause." After all, the "items" from home are what catch and hold our fancies.

The Baptists have a splendid organization, a substantial, attractive building, and a good preacher. Quite so much cannot be said of us. Our people are a well-organized, consecrated band, composed of the most highly cultivated people of the town, especially the ladies; and the building is the expression of the ideas of fifteen years ago. The present pastor is the expression of somewhat thirty years since, and he perhaps is a fair representative of a former age in that he is not "modern." We are preparing to build a new and up-to-date Church, and have some money in the bank to that end and no lack of determination on the part of the members. They have a mind to build.

Much can be said of Sulphur.

It reminds one of Jerusalem on the day of Pentecost. It seems there are dwellers here from out of every nation under heaven. A gentleman introduced himself to me a few days since as "Mr. Marsh, from Texas;" another, stepping forward, said, "I was born and reared in Asia; my name is Smith." So it is; the sulphur mine here draws all classes of men, from the common "Dago" up to the finest type of American citizen. And as I look at this seething mass of humanity and hear the chatter of many tongues, I am convinced that the world has come to our door asking for Christianization. The gospel is sufficient. Let us put it to the test.

I can but say my treatment at the hands of these people has been royal. Through the efforts of Brother T. J. Henning and other leaders, helpers, a financial plan has been adopted whereby the pastor's salary is paid monthly. Congregations are large. Three have been added to the Church. The dawn of a better day is breaking.

J. D. NESOM, P. C.

FROM CRENSHAW MISSION.

Dear Dr. Boswell: We have been well received on the Crenshaw Mission, have closed our first quarter, have paid the Home and Foreign Mission assessment. The assessment for the preacher-in-charge was raised some. We think the prospects good for a prosperous year. We had Brother Lagrone with us. He preached with the old-time vigor and fire of his youthful days.

We are pleased with the improvement of the Advocate, and you will please allow me to say "amen" to your editorials on the prohibition question. I shall make an effort to send a list of subscribers now soon. It ought to be in every Methodist home. The Lord bless you in your labors of love.

Fraternally,

W. J. O'BRYANT.

Crenshaw, Miss.

Japan has asked China to take such steps as may be necessary to prevent a boycott on Japanese goods in China and to put an end to the anti-Japanese agitation growing out of the Tatsu Maru incident.

The excess of exports over imports in December, January and February amounted to $324,792,613, which is $68,000,000 greater than the aggregate of the imports. The excess is also three times as large as the gold imported during the panic. These are remarkable results, and they are among the proofs of the recuperative power of American business. The declining rates of money abroad are evidence that the loss of the gold sent to the United States has not been as harmful to Europe as was feared, and these declining rates, in connection with our foreign commerce figures, are pretty good evidence that most of the gold sent here has come to stay, because it has come in payment of international differences.—Wall Street Journal.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC.
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

Aches and Pains, Rheumatism,

or a generally tired feeling, are nature's way of letting you know that some organ of your body is out of order and needs attention—such as Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys, Liver or other functional part of the body. Nature does not send you these pains to torture you, but to warn you that you are in danger and need to supply these parts with what is missing. Do not neglect these warnings, for the consequences may be serious. Write to me to-day, describing your condition fully, let me be your doctor to tell you just what to do to get well. It will cost you nothing for this advice, and I send a trial treatment free. You can decide for yourself whether or not you wish to follow my treatment after the free trial. Write to-day to DR. F. A. BARRET, 1271 South Seventh Street, St. Louis, Mo.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS.
UNLIKE OTHER BELLS SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.
Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

A Perfect Substitute
FOR GELATINE
can be prepared instantly by simply stirring contents of one package into a pint of boiling water.
No soaking, sweetening, flavoring or fussing. Everything in the package
Give JELL-O
The Dainty Dessert

JELL-O
LEMON

a trial and you will never use gelatine again.
7 flavors. Sold by all good grocers, 10c. per package.
Illustrated Recipe Book, Free.
Complies with all Pure Food Laws.
Highest award, gold medal, St. Louis and Portland.
THE GENESEE PURE FOOD CO., Le Roy, N. Y.

W. H. BYRNES, Pres. JOHN T. GIBBONS, Vice-Pres. W. WOOD, Sec'y.
Capital..........$200,000.00
Assets..........479,860.90
HIBERNIA INSURNCE CO.,
No. 305 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
LOSSES PROMPTLY PAID.

Pine-Brook Dairy Co., Ltd.
ALL OUR COWS TUBERCULINE TESTED.
Milk and Cream Delivered Morning and Evening.
COR ST. CHARLES & WASHINGTON AVES. Phone 1514 Uptown.

THE AMERICAN PAINT WORKS,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.,
MANUFACTURES EVERYTHING IN PAINTS,
—Guaranteed Strictly Pure—
The Climatic Prepared Paints, Perfecto White
and
SOLD SUBJECT TO A CHEMICAL ANALYSIS.
DIRECTORS:
Thos. S. Witherspoon, President. Francis Martin, Vice President.
R. B. Parker. John McCloskey. Geo. A. Hero.
PHONE, MAIN 915. Special Attention to Mail Orders.

New Orleans Light House
FRIEDRICH MERCANTILE COMPANY
636 CAMP STREET
LIGHTS
(Friedrich Mercantile Co.)
Well-known Welbach Gas Lights, all styles. Something new. Tubus Gas Lights, very popular. Inverted Gas Lights at $1.10. The Practicus Coal Oil Lamp that burns a mantle 60 hours to one gallon of coal oil. You are invited to see this brilliant light. Gasoline Hollow Wire Lamp Systems, substitute for gas and electric lights.
Full Stock of Lighting Supplies.
Country Orders Solicited.

If you are not satisfied with your present salary write to-day for particulars. Good positions always ready for our graduates. We cannot supply the demand.
Harris Business University
THE ONLY BUSINESS UNIVERSITY IN THE SOUTH. JACKSON, MISS.

Sunday School

By W. B. Campbell.

LESSON FOR APRIL 12.

"THE RAISING OF LAZARUS.

John xi; 1-57.

Golden Text: "I am the resurrection and the life."—John xi. 25.

What must have been the delights of a home that had become a haven of rest for him who had not where to lay his head? Natural sympaty alone, for one who seemed so friendless, would have thrown open the door of the humble house at Bethany. It seems that the Lord was treated as a member of the family, one to whom appeal was made in all things. Not much is told us of Lazarus—that is in words,—but very much is told when it is said that he was loved by the Lord, and knowing this, Lazarus was content in silently knowing "him whom he had believed." There is many a happy home where, father and mother having passed away, the head and support of the family fell on the brothers. There is a satisfaction in being conscious of duty performed. There is many another happy home where, in addition to loyalty to duty, the spirit of Christ enters and dwells. The home where there is a delight in believing that our Lord is just as much among us as he was with Lazarus and his two sisters. No home is complete unless there is time and a desire to render service to the Master: as a house is unsafe unless on a solid foundation, so also is the happiness, nay, even the serene contentment of home unstable unless resting on "Christ, the solid rock."

However close to the Lord we may live, and however godly our home may be, there is no exemption from trouble and sorrow. Death comes to all, and the dark hours of the preceding illness does not prepare the mind of loving attendants for the shock that comes from dying, that loving eyes are closed to open never again. It is a sweet story given in our lesson, and each time we read it we feel that we love Jesus better than before. Lazarus was sick, but Jesus had gone away. He was with his disciples in Perea. The first thought of Mary and Martha was to make their trouble known to Jesus, so they sent him a message worded in a manner to best reach his heart: "Lord, behold him whom thou lovest, is sick," was the prayer of the loving sisters. They did ask that Jesus return; they simply trusted that their appeal would be heard, and that Jesus would obey the call for help in time of trouble. It often seems hard that our most earnest prayers are not answered at once in a way that seems to us best. Jesus did not go to the bedside of Lazarus, and he at once explained to his disciples the reason. God was to be glorified in the sickness and death of the beloved brother, and all the glory was to come at the word of his beloved Son.

Mary and Martha did not know this, and in the meantime they were to suffer. They could not know it, for "God works in a mysterious way his wonders to perform." But while the purposes of the Almighty were working toward fulfillment the blessing for his children was already proposed and on its way to be bestowed. The home at Bethany was in mourning, the brother was dead. Friends came from the neighborhood to comfort the sorrowing sisters; yet Jesus had not come. How dark and cheerless pass the hours when death is a guest in our home.

At last came the joyful tidings that Jesus was coming—too late, though, says the faithless ones. Lazarus had been dead four days, and the mourning friends were still at the bereaved home.

Martha hurried to meet Jesus on the way, and coming to the Lord her words were of gentle reproach, for said she. "Lord if thou hadst been here, my brother had not died." The two loving sisters must have often said these words to each other, for when Mary saw the Lord she gave utterance to the same thought, using the same words. Martha had the kind of faith that never gives up. Her next words to Jesus showed that she still believed: "But I know that even now" etc. It may be too late for a blessing to come in our way, but never too late in God's way. It was hope that caused Martha to finish her words with "whatever thou wilt ask of God, God will give it thee." Yes; and to thee, too, Martha: only wait a little longer and you will take your part in a truth that has shed a light of glory and of promise over death and the grave. After Jesus and Martha were joined by Mary they started toward the grave of Lazarus. As they walked along gentle-hearted Mary wept, and the loving sympathy of the Master came from him as a groan. "Where have ye laid him," said he who carries our sorrows. "Lord, come and see." The great, big heart of the Savior of Man could hold no more. "Jesus wept." Sorrowing? For what? Was he not ready even then to call, "Lazarus, come forth?" He sorrowed as a great-hearted Father sorrows when witnessing grief of his children. Then they came to the grave. "Take ye away the stone," said the Lord. "O, no," said Martha, thinking her brother had been dead too long to be raised again. They had spoken before of his coming back to life; then it was that Jesus had told her of his power. "I am the resurrection and the life." and as Lazarus was dead and in his grave, yet he would hear and live. It was hard for Martha to believe. It is hard for us, in bereavement, to receive the comfort the kind Father gives in his Word as here recorded.

They took the stone away from the grave; the dead Lazarus lay bound in the grave-clothes in which they had left him. He must soon come forth, for the Conqueror of death was there and would call him back to life. Now, as they stand around the door of the grave, let a dying world gather there and bow the head as the Son of God prays to his Father and our Father in heaven. He thanks the Father for the privilege of pointing the sorrowing ones to joyful faith as he calls in a loud voice, "Lazarus, come forth." The dead hear and live, and no more shall we dread the gloom of the grave. Faith in Christ gives us the victory!

> "O death, where is thy sting?
> O grave, where is thy victory?"

The Torture of Itching Eczema is almost instantly relieved and quickly cured by Tetterine, a fragrant ointment prepared by The Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga. It is the finest prescription ever discovered for Eczema, Tetter, Itching Piles and Scalp and Skin Diseases. If your druggist cannot supply you, send 50 cents in stamps to The Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga.

WHAT ABOUT A COOK-STOVE?

Now that summer time and "dog-days" are just ahead, everybody who "summers" at home is considering how to simplify things and get the most comfort out of an uncomfortable situation.

We interview the ice-man; order thin clothes; plan to ease up here and relax there; but more than likely forget the one most important item in the whole hot-weather scheme—some means of doing the family cooking without the insufferable heat of a coal fire in the kitchen.

Everyone with experience knows how tiresome it is to stay in a stuffy room to prepare a meal, let alone the doing of a big baking. But everyone doesn't know how easy it is to change a hot kitchen to a cool one, and do better cooking at the same time. Just add to your list of summer conveniences a New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove and you've done all that any one can do to lessen hot weather discomfort.

Wouldn't it be fine of a summer morning to step in the kitchen, put on the kettle, broil the steak, bake the muffins, filter the coffee and give the breakfast call in one-fourth the time you'd take to do it all on a coal stove?

And wouldn't it be fine to be as cool when the breakfast was prepared as when you first entered the kitchen?

People who have tried it say that the New Perfection Oil Stove actually does everything in the line of cooking and domestic service without overheating the room or the worker.

Undoubtedly the reason is to be found in the blue flame principle on which the stove works.

A cylindrical chimney concentrates the heat at the stove top and in this way prevents surface radiation as in a coal or wood stove.

It is easy to see that this lessens very much the matter of personal discomfort in summer housekeeping.

So don't forget the New Perfection Oil Stove in your summer plans and you will have a comfortable kitchen and the best cook-stove in the world.

In discussing the features of the new enforcement law Gov. Haskell indignantly denied the statements widely made in the daily press that Oklahoma was including a "dispensary system" in its new enforcement law which could bear the slightest resemblance to the corrupt and now defunct South Carolina institution. On the contrary, he pointed out that the only use of the agencies which are proposed in certain towns throughout the State, to be called dispensaries, under the new law will be for the distribution of alcohol and liquors for purely scientific and medicinal purposes, as is the case in Maine. There is in this plan absolutely no likeness to the scheme under which South Carolina suffered for more than a decade and a half. The most careful restrictions have been placed about these proposed dispensaries, and the governor himself will have direct supervision of every dispensary in the State.

Personal to Rheumatics

I want to get a personal letter from every man and woman in America afflicted with Rheumatism, Lumbago or Neuralgia, giving me their full name and postoffice address, so I can send them Free a full-sized, One Dollar Bottle of my Rheumatic Remedy. I want to convince every Rheumatic sufferer at my expense that my Rheumatic Remedy does what thousands of so-called remedies have failed to accomplish—Actually and Permanently Cures Rheumatism. I know it does, I am sure of it and I want every Rheumatic sufferer to know it and be sure of it, before giving me a penny profit. You cannot coax Rheumatism out through the feet or skin with plasters or cunning metal contrivances. You cannot tease it out with liniments, electricity or magnetism. You cannot imagine it out with mental science. You Must Drive It Out. It is in the blood and you must Go After It and Get It. This is just what Kuhn's Rheumatic Remedy does and that's why it cures Rheumatism. Rheumatism is Uric Acid and Uric Acid and Kuhn's [illegible] Remedy cannot live together in the same blood. The Rheumatism has to go and it does go for good. My Remedy cures the sharp, shooting pains, the dull, aching muscles, the hot, throbbing, swollen limbs, and cramped, stiffened, useless joints and cures [illegible] cured.

I Can Prove It All to You

If you will only let me do it. I will prove much In One Week's Time if you will let me do it at my expense, if you will only sit down and write my Company to send you a dollar bottle Free Of Charge. I don't care what form of Rheumatism you have or how long you have had it. I don't care what other remedies you have used. If you have not used mine you don't know what a real Rheumatic Remedy will do. Read our offer and write to us immediately.

E. W. Kuhn

A FULL-SIZED $1.00 BOTTLE SENT FREE

We want you to try Kuhn's Rheumatic Remedy, to learn for yourself that Rheumatism can be cured and we want no profit on the trial. A fair test and a just verdict is all we ask. If you like it and find it is curing your Rheumatism or Neuralgia, order more to complete your permanent cure and thereby give us our chance for profit. If it does not help you no harm is done. We know what Rheumatism is, we know our treatment, know just how it works, and will take this chance. We do not send a small sample vial, containing about a thimbleful and of no practical value, but a full-sized bottle, selling regularly at drug-stores for One Dollar Each. This bottle is heavy and we must pay Uncle Sam to carry it to your door. We ask you to send us 25 cents to pay cost of packing and mailing case and postage and this full-sized One Dollar Bottle will be promptly sent you free, everything prepaid. There will be nothing to pay on receipt or later. No other Rheumatic Remedy has been or can be so offered. Don't wait until the valves of your heart are injured by Rheumatic Poison, but send today for this one dollar bottle free on trial. Only one bottle sent free to a family and only to those who have never before used this remedy and will send the 25 cents for charges. Address

KUHN REMEDY CO., Dept. B. N. HOYNE & NORTH AVES., CHICAGO.

$50 DRAUGHON'S SCHOLARSHIP FOR $25

Four years' NET PROFITS of $85,904.85 enable Draughon's chain of 30 Colleges to make this special offer, for a limited time, to favor those short of work or cash by reason of late financial depression. FREE CATALOGUE will convince you that BUSINESS MEN consider

DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL BUSINESS COLLEGES

THE BEST. No vacation; enter any time. POSITIONS SECURED—written CONTRACT.
SHREVEPORT, JACKSON (MISS). DALLAS, GALVESTON (TEXAS), NASHVILLE and WASHINGTON (D. C.)

MUSIC TEACHER

wants position to teach piano next session; has had excellent training and experience. Address Miss Mary Lou Moody, Box 171, Meridian, Miss.

HOME CANNING OUTFITS

The Handsomest Line in America
Agents Wanted Everywhere:
Write: Thorp Hardware & Mfg. Co.
Elkin, N. C.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

Heiskell's

The most obstinate case of Eczema can be quickly and completely cured by the application of Heiskell's Ointment. It also cures Blotchy, Rough and Pimpled Skin, Erysipelas, Tetter, Ulcers, and all other skin diseases. Before applying the ointment, bathe the parts affected, using Heiskell's Medicated Soap. Heiskell's Blood and Liver Pills tone up the liver and purify the blood. Your druggist sells these preparations. Ointment, 50c a box; Soap, 25c a cake; Pills, 25c a bottle. Send for book of testimonials and learn what these wonderful remedies have done for others.

JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO.,
531 Commerce Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Ointment

FAMOUS HYMNS EDITED BY D. B. TOWNER and E. O. EXCELL

For every need of praise and worship. The best compositions of a lifetime of study and active service of the editors, and other well-known composers. Over 40 standard church hymns, including nearly all generally sung. Round or 160 pages, with Topical Responsive Readings. Round or shaped notes. Three bindings: Manila, $10 per 100; Board, $15 per 100; Full cloth, $25 per 100. Add postage extra per copy. Correspondence with churches and evangelists invited.

The Bible Institute Colportage Association, Chicago.

Army Auction Bargains

Tents	$1.90 up	Old Pistols
Rifles	1.95 "	Officers' Swords, new $1.75
ARMY SADDLES	3.00 "	Cavalry Sabres
" Bridles	1.00 "	UNIFORMS
" Leggins, pr.	.15 "	7 Shot Carbines

1907 MILITARY ENCYCLOPEDIC CATALOGUE, 260 large pages, containing thousands of beautiful illustrations—with wholesale and retail prices of 15 acres GOVT. AUCTION SALE GOODS mailed for 15 cents (stamps).

FRANCIS BANNERMAN, 501 Broadway, NEW YORK

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—SECOND RND.

Parker Memorial [illegible]	Mar 15,
Mary Werlein [illegible]	Mar 15,
McDonoghville, at Wesley	Mar 2[illegible]
Bogalusa	Apr [illegible]
Plaquemine [illegible]	Apr 11, 12
Donaldsonville [illegible]	Apr 18, 19
Slidell, at [illegible]	Apr 26,
Louisiana [illegible]	May [illegible]
Algiers [illegible]	May [illegible]
Felicity [illegible]	May 10,
Epworth [illegible]	May [illegible]
First Church [illegible]	May 17,
Rayne [illegible]	May [illegible]
Carrollton [illegible]	May [illegible]
Covington [illegible]	June [illegible] 7
Second Church [illegible]	June 14,

F. N. PARKER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST—SECOND RND.

Summerville and Eden, at [illegible]
Bunkie [illegible]	Apr 4, 5
Lecompte, at Lecompte	Apr 6,
Verda and A[illegible], at St. Maurice	Apr 10,
Colfax and Montgomery, at C.	Apr 11, 12
Pineville, at Holloway's P.	Apr 18, 19
Master's Chapel	Apr 25, 26
Boyce, at [illegible]	May 2, 3
Pollock, at [illegible]	May 6,
Selma	May 9, 10
Boeuf River	May 11,
Chicot, at W[illegible]'s Chapel	May 16, 17
Opelousas, [illegible]	May 1[illegible],
Alexandria, at First Church	May 23, 24
Alexandria, West End	May 24, 25
Simmsport, at [illegible]	May 30, 31
Dry Creek, at H[illegible]	June 5,
Glenmora, at Forest Hill	June 6, 7
Natchitoches	June 11,

The District Conference will convene in Natchitoches June 12-14.

N. E. JOYNER, P. E.

Alexandria, La.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—SECOND RND.

Keatchi, at Longstreet	Apr 4, 5
Grand Cane, at Stonewall	Apr 11, 12
Pelican, at Mitchell	Apr 18, 19
Wesley, at [illegible] Springs	Apr 2[illegible], 2[illegible]
Coushatta, at Campt[illegible]	Apr 26, 27
La Chute, at Atkins	May 2, 3
Mansfield Cir., at [illegible]	May 9, 10
Zwolle, at Noble	May 16, 17
Mansfield	May 1[illegible], 1[illegible]
Many	May 23, 24
Ida, at Ida	May 30, 31
Shreveport, Texas Ave.	June 1, 2
Shreveport, First Church	June 3,
Shreveport, Noel Memorial	June 4,
Pleasant Hill	June 6, 7
Greenwood	June 8, 9
Hornbeck	June 13, 14
Leesville	June 14, 15
Bon Ami	June 20, 21
De Ridder	June 21, 22
Mooringsport	June 2[illegible], 2[illegible]
Provencal [illegible]	June 2[illegible], 2[illegible]

Our Annual Preachers' Meeting and Missionary [illegible] will meet at Mansfield [illegible] May 1[illegible] and [illegible] Wednesday [illegible]. We want each pastor to bring at [illegible] three laymen and as many of the [illegible] women as possible.

F. J. WARE[illegible]K, P. E.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—SECOND RND.

Wilson, at [illegible]	Apr [illegible]
Clinton	Apr 1[illegible]
Ethel, at New [illegible]	Apr 1[illegible], 19
Jackson	Apr [illegible]
Baker, at [illegible]	Apr 2[illegible], 2[illegible]
Zachary [illegible]	Apr 2[illegible], 27
Port Vincent [illegible]	May 2, 3
Ponchatoula [illegible]	May 3, 4
Hammond	May 5,
Independence [illegible]	May 5,
Amite [illegible]	May [illegible]
Franklinton [illegible]	May 9, 10
Mt. Hermon [illegible] Mt. H.	May 11,
Kentwood	May 12,
St. Helena [illegible]	[illegible]
St. Francis[illegible] [illegible] Hill	[illegible]
Pinegrove, at M[illegible]	May 2[illegible], 24
Liveoak, [illegible]	May 30, 31
East Feliciana [illegible]	June 6,
Melville [illegible]	June 1[illegible], 14
Newroads	June 21, 22
Baton Rouge, First Church	June 2[illegible], 25
Baton Rouge, Second [illegible]	June 28, 29

R. W. TUCKER, P. E.

ARCADIA [illegible]—SECOND RND.

Bienville, at [illegible] Place	Apr 4, 5
Simsboro, at Salem	Apr 8,
Homer	Apr 11, 12
Haynes[illegible], at New [illegible]	Apr 1[illegible],
N. Bossier[illegible]	Apr 1[illegible], 19
Benton, at [illegible]	Apr 20,
Haughton [illegible]	Apr 2[illegible], 26
Gibsland, at [illegible]	Apr [illegible]
Arcadia	Apr 2[illegible]
Jonesboro, at Jonesboro	May 3, 4
Vernon, at [illegible]	May 9, 10
Bernice [illegible]	May [illegible]
Lisbon [illegible]	May [illegible]
Ruston	May 18,
Minden	May 19,
Ringgold [illegible]	May 2[illegible],
Lanesville, at Pine Grove	May 23, 24
C. Valley, at [illegible]	May 26,
Winnfield	May 31, June 1

District Conference will be about the last week in June. Preachers, please take notice and make no conflicting appointments.

BRISCOE CARTER, P. E.

CROWLEY DIST. SECOND ROUND

Prudhomme	April 5
Rayne	April 5
Grand Chenier	April 12
Eunice	April 19
Morgan City	April 26
Patterson	April 26

Sulphur and Vinton	May 3
Lake Charles	May 3
Lake Arthur	May 17
Jennings	May 24

J. M. HENRY, P. E.

MONROE DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Monroe, at M[illegible]	Apr 4, 5
Winnsboro, at Boeuf Prairie	Apr 11, 12
West Monroe, at Faulk Ch.	Apr 18, 19
Lake Providence, at L. P.	Apr 25, 26
[illegible], at Marion	May 2, 3
Bastrop, at [illegible]	May 9, 10
Eros, at Indian Village	May 16, 17
Mer Rouge, at M.	May 2[illegible], 24
Mangham, at Little Creek	May 30, 31
Harrisonburg, at Jonesville	June 6, 7
Floreswell, at Holly Grove	June 13, 14
[illegible], at Douglas	June 17,
Waterproof, at St. Joseph	June 2[illegible], 21
Floyd, at Midway	June 27, 28

J. E. DENSON, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

CORINTH DISTRICT—SECOND RND.

Guntown and Baldwyn, at Pleasant Valley	Apr 4, 5
Mantachie Cir., at Oak Grove	Apr 11, 12
Belmont Cir., at New Hope	Apr 18, 19
Tishomingo Cir., at Salem	Apr 25, 26
Wheeler Ct., at Double Spgs.	May 2, 3
Marietta Ct., at Blythes [illegible]	May 9, 10
Myrtle Ct., Ebenezer	May 16, 17
B[illegible] Spgs., at Liberty	May 23, 24
New Albany Ct., at Wells Ch.	May 30, 31
New Albany Sta., at New Albany	May 31, June 1
Booneville Ct., at Ba[illegible]	June 6, 7
Jonesboro Ct., at Brownfield	June 13, 14
Rienzi and Falkner Ct., at Marvin	June 20, 21
Ripley and New Hope, at Wiens	June 27, 28

District Conference will be held at Baldwyn, Miss., July 14, 15, 16.

BEN P. JACO, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—SECOND ROUND

Columbus Cir., at Pinegrove	Apr 4, 5
Starkville	Apr 11, 12
Starkville Ct., at Lebanon	Apr 18, 19
Shuqualak, at Center Valley	Apr 24,
Winstonville, at Macedonia	Apr 25, 26
Macon	May 2, 3
Mayhew, at Mayhew	May 9, 10
Mathiston, at Double S.	May 16, 17
Crawford, at New Bethel	May 23, 24
Sturges, at Bethel	May 30, 31
Brooksville	June 6, 7
Hebron	June 13, 14
Cedar Bluff	June 20, 21

District Conference will be held at Mathiston July 1, 2, 3.

L. M. LIPSCOMB, P. E.

OXFORD DISTRICT—SECOND RND.

Randolph Ct., at Washington	Apr 2,
T[illegible] Ct., at Salem	Apr 4, 5
Charleston Ct., at Oakland	Apr 11, 12
[illegible] Sta.	Apr 13,
[illegible], at Sparta	Apr 18, 19
[illegible] Camp Ct., at Bethlehem	Apr 25, 26
Red Banks Ct., at Wesley	May [illegible]
Ashland Ct., at Ashland	May 2, 3
Paris Ct., at Bro. [illegible]'s	May 3, 10
Water Valley Ct., at Pleasant R.	May 15,
[illegible] Ct., at Goshen	May 1[illegible], 17
Water [illegible] Ct., at Harris C.	May 30, 31

The District Conference will meet in Holly Springs May 1[illegible], 20, 21.

J. E. CUNNINGHAM, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—SECOND RND.

[illegible], at Mer[illegible]	Apr 4, 5
[illegible]	Apr 1[illegible],
[illegible]	Apr [illegible]
Boyle, at New Salem	Apr 1[illegible], 20
Benoit, at Benoit	Apr 2[illegible], 27
[illegible], at Duncan	May 1,
[illegible], at Dubbs	May 3, 4
[illegible]	May [illegible]
[illegible] Sta.	May 10, 11
Cleveland Ct.	May 1[illegible], 12
Rosedale	May 14,
[illegible], at H[illegible]	May 1[illegible],
Friar's Point	May 1[illegible],
Greenville	May 2[illegible], 24
[illegible], at Belen	May 3[illegible], 31
Robinsonville	June [illegible]
Shaw	June [illegible]
[illegible] and South Greenville	June [illegible]

The District Conference will be held at Cleveland May 2[illegible]-2[illegible].

R. A. MEEK, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—SECOND RND.

[illegible]	Apr 5, 6
[illegible], at Macedonia	Apr 12, 13
[illegible]	Apr 19, 20
[illegible], at M[illegible]	Apr 24,
[illegible] and Nettleton, at N.	Apr 26, 27
[illegible], at Hurricane	Apr 30,
[illegible], at Nebo	May 1,
[illegible], at Pittsboro	May 2, 3
[illegible], at Asbury	May 9, 10
[illegible], at Ebenezer	May 14,
[illegible], at Chesterville	May 23, 24
Pontotoc, at Chesterpille	May 23, 24
Nettleton Ct., at Union	May 30, 31
Okolona Ct., at B. Chapel	June 6, 7
Aberdeen	June 9,
Fulton	June 12,
Smithville	June 13, 14

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Sardis	Apr 4, 5
Como	Apr 11, 12
Senatobia	Apr 18, 19
Mt. Pleasant, at Marshall Ins.	Apr 25, 26
Olive Branch	May 2, [illegible]
Byhalia, at Emory	May [illegible]
Cockrum, at Indepe[illegible]	May 7,
Pleasant Hill, at [illegible] C.	[illegible]
Wall Hill, at G[illegible]	[illegible]
Hernando and [illegible]	[illegible]
Co[illegible]	May 18, [illegible]
H[illegible], at [illegible]	May [illegible]
[illegible]	May [illegible]
[illegible]	May [illegible]
[illegible]	June 1,
[illegible]	June 6, 7
Arkabutla	June [illegible], 14
[illegible]	June 1[illegible],
Crenshaw	June [illegible]

W. M. [illegible], P. E.

WINONA DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

[illegible]

S. LEWIS, P. E.

[illegible] DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

[illegible]	Apr [illegible]
[illegible]	Apr [illegible]
[illegible]	Apr [illegible], 12
[illegible]	Apr [illegible]
[illegible]	Apr [illegible], 13
[illegible]	Apr [illegible]
[illegible]	Apr 2[illegible], 2[illegible]
[illegible]	May 2, 3
Ebenezer [illegible]	May [illegible]
[illegible]	May 16, 17
[illegible] Hawk	May 23, 24
[illegible]	May 24,
[illegible]	May [illegible], 31

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

Mississippi Conference.

MERIDIAN DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

[illegible]

[illegible]	Apr 3,
[illegible]	Apr [illegible], 5
[illegible]	Apr 12, 13
[illegible]	Apr 14,
[illegible], at Adams[illegible]
[illegible]	Apr 1[illegible],
[illegible]	Apr 1[illegible], 20
[illegible]	Apr 2[illegible],
[illegible]	Apr 2[illegible], 27
[illegible], at Mt. Hermon
[illegible]	Apr 30,
[illegible]	May [illegible]
[illegible]	May [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Edwards May [illegible].

G. H. GALLOWAY, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Gloster	Apr [illegible], 5
Liberty, at Woodland	Apr 11, 12
Hamburg, at Roxie	Apr 19, 20
Homochitto, at Salem	Apr 25, 26
Caseyville, at Galatin	May 2, 3
Bethel, at Mt. Carmel	May 9, 10
Centerville	May 10, 11
Percy's Creek, at P. C.	May 16,
Woodville	May 17, 18
Bayou Pierre, at Tabernacle	May 23, 24
Natchez, [illegible] Street	May 30, 31
Natchez, Jefferson St.	May 31, June 1
Washin[illegible], at Kingston	June 6, 7
Barlow, at Lebanon	June 13,
Fayette, at Ebenezer	June 14, 15
W[illegible], at Mars Hill	June 20, 21
[illegible], at Nebo	June 27, 28

[illegible] District Conference [illegible] be held [illegible] May 13-1[illegible].

J. T. L[illegible]T, P. E.

[illegible]SHO[illegible] DIST[illegible] ROUND.

[illegible]

Bay St. Louis	Apr 5,
[illegible]	Apr 9,
[illegible]	Apr 10,
[illegible], at Mc[illegible]	Apr 11, 12
[illegible], at Mt. Pleasant	Apr 16,
M[illegible]	Apr 17,
[illegible] Spgs.	Apr 18, 19
[illegible]	Apr 20,
[illegible] and [illegible], at Ga[illegible] Chapel	Apr 25, 26
[illegible]	May 2, 3
[illegible]	May 4,
[illegible]	May 5,
Gulfport, [illegible] 5th Ave.	May 6,
[illegible]	May 7,
[illegible]	May 9, 10
[illegible]	May 14,
[illegible]	May 15,
H[illegible]	May 16, 17
[illegible], at McHenry	May 23, 24
[illegible]	May [illegible]
[illegible] Springs [illegible] Street	May 30, 31
[illegible]	June 4,
[illegible]	June 5,
Hattiesburg, Court Street	June 6, 7
Hattiesburg, Main Street	June 7, 8

District Conference at McHenry, May 1[illegible]-2[illegible]. Opening sermon at [illegible] p.m. by Rev. J. W. Thompson. Sermon evening of [illegible]th by Rev. [illegible] P. Bradford followed by administration of the Lord's Supper. M. L. BURTON, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

[illegible], at [illegible]	Apr 5, 6
[illegible], at [illegible]	Apr 7,
[illegible]	Apr 8,
Sharon, at Jordan	Apr 11, 12
[illegible], at New Hope	Apr 14,
[illegible], at [illegible]	Apr 18, 19
[illegible], at Wesley [illegible]	Apr 25, 27
[illegible], at [illegible]	May 2, 3
Yazoo City	May 3,
[illegible]	May 9, 10
[illegible]	May 20,
[illegible], at Spring Ridge	May 23, 24
[illegible]	May 27,
[illegible], at Tre[illegible]	May 30, 31
[illegible], at [illegible]	June 2,
Canton	June 6, 7
[illegible], at [illegible]	June 13, 14
M[illegible]	June 2[illegible], 21

A. F. WATKINS, P. E.

NEWTON DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

[illegible]	Apr 11, 12
[illegible], at H[illegible]	Apr 13,
Montrose, at Montrose	Apr 19, 20
[illegible]	Apr 25,
Newton	Apr 25, 27
[illegible], at High Hill	May 2, 3
[illegible], at Philadelphia	May 9,
[illegible]	May 10, 11
[illegible]	May 10, 11
[illegible] Philadelphia	May 13,
[illegible]	May 17, 18
[illegible]	May 23, 24
[illegible], at Trenton	May 30,
Raleigh, at Raleigh	May 31, 32
Hebron, at Hebron	June 6, 7
[illegible], at [illegible]	June 9,
[illegible], at Neshoba	June 12,
[illegible]	June 13, 14
[illegible], at Phillips	June 19,
[illegible]	June 20, 21
[illegible], at Mt. Pisgah	June 27, 28
[illegible], at Zion	July 2,
[illegible]	July 4, 5

JAS. M. WEEMS, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—SECOND RND.

[illegible]	March 29, 30
[illegible] Springs	Apr 4, 5
[illegible]	Apr 5, 6
[illegible]	Apr 11, 12
[illegible]	Apr 12, 13
[illegible]	Apr [illegible], 19
[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	Apr [illegible], 20
[illegible]	Apr 2[illegible], 26
[illegible]	May 2, 3
[illegible]	May [illegible], 4
[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	May 9, 10
[illegible]	May [illegible]

[illegible] H. [illegible]SON, P. E.

Don't you know

That Craddock-Terry Co's

Long Wear Shoes

wear longer than other shoes at the same price? If not, try a pair of these celebrated shoes and be convinced.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC.

Only [illegible] one bottle, one cure.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over Sixty-Five Years by millions of mothers for their children while teething with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain; cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1098. An Old and Well Tried Remedy.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC

[illegible] Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

DR. MILES' ANTI-PAIN PILLS FOR HEADACHE
And Other Pains

25 DOSES
25 CENTS.
125 Doses $1.
NEVER SOLD IN BULK

TAKE ONE
of These Little Tablets
AND THE PAIN IS GONE.

LETTER FROM OKLAHOMA.

So many of my friends have requested me to write to them that I am going to answer in part through the Advocate, which, by the way, is more appreciated by me than ever. It comes to me once a week, and is like good news from a far country. I wish the brethren would write more about the work in Mississippi, for I feel the keenest interest in all that is going on in the north Mississippi Conference. Some things sadden me. The death of Brother S. T. Harkey was a great loss to the Church. He was my tried friend.

I have not been disappointed in my surroundings here. I knew this was a new country, and that Church interests were not developed, and the work would be difficult. I find the people kind and respectful. I have as good neighbors as I ever had anywhere I have ever lived. The people have come here from the ends of the earth, and are strangers to each other. They are not satisfied with these conditions, and are hungry for better association. This can be brought about through the efforts of the Church. Pastoral work is the most effective means to success. There are thousands of people coming here, many of them members of the Methodist Church, but few of them bring their membership with them, and I fear many of them leave their religion behind. They must be hunted up and constantly looked after. Truly, the harvest is great, but the laborers are few, and unless the ministry is very active hundreds of these people will be lost to the Church, as in most places the preachers have more than they can do. I am preaching at four railroad towns, and to an Indian school; one of these towns has two thousand, and another one thousand people. Two preachers could not do the work.

These people have not been educated to support the ministry as they should, and many of the preachers follow some trade or profession to supplement their salary.

This will be a great country in the near future. The lands are rich, and most all crops grow and do well. Living is plentiful. The timber busines is the leading industry, and gives employment to thousands of people at fairly good wages. The negro is not depended upon here. White labor is all the go. Stock raising is a good business here. Hogs and cattle are profitable. The wolves attended to the sheep, so there are none left.

I am told that fruits—that is, peaches and apples, do fine. I do not see many orchards, and most trees that I see are too young to prove their worth.

The Indian is said to be a very religious person. I hope it is true, for he is no good at anything else. He has fully made up his mind not to work. They are idle and thriftless. Most of the full-bloods live away from the towns in the mountainous country. They are badly mixed up with white blood and skin. Some of the half-breed girls are fairly good looking, and the white boys are not slow to marry the girl to get the three hundred and twenty acres of land which is the average allotment.

The last session of the Oklahoma Conference set off the Indian work to itself. It is served mostly by Indian preachers, who can speak their language. Thus I am excused, for the present, at least.

W. W. WILLIAMS.

Fort Townson, Okla.

There has been a novel strike. The German reporters refused to report the proceedings of the Reichstag, because they were called swine. The strike was settled by the apology of the offender, Herr Grober.

BLOOD POISONING POSITIVELY CURED

Hereditary, primary, secondary and tertiary. Scrofula, Eczema, Blood and Skin Disease. If you have exhausted old-time methods and want to get well write me in fullest confidence for proof of cures. Take my treatment and [illegible]

A. BROWER, M. D.
[illegible] Tex

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

New Orleans District, Rev. F. N. Parker, D.D., presiding elder; residence, 241 Olivier St.

Rev. John T. Sawyer, D.D., Conference Missionary Evangelist; residence, 2421 Chestnut St.; phone, Uptown 1832.

First Methodist Church, St. Charles Ave., near Calliope St.; Rev. J. E. Wray, pastor; residence, 5830 Prytania St.; phone, Uptown 329; office hours, at Church, 2 to 3 p. m.; Church phone, Main 1779.

Second Methodist Church, 2531 Burgundy, near Lafayette Ave.; Rev. A. L. Townsley, pastor; residence, 2728 N. Rampart St.; office hours, 9 to 11 a.m.; phone, Main 978.

Parker Memorial, corner Nashville avenue and Perrier street; Rev. C. D. Atkinson, pastor; residence 734 Nashville avenue.

Louisiana Avenue, corner Louisiana Ave. and Magazine St.; Rev. W. W. Holmes, pastor; residence 2903 Camp St.; phone, Uptown 1391.

Rayne Memorial, St. Charles Avenue and General Taylor Streets; Dr. John A. Rice, pastor; residence, 1101 Peniston Street.

Felicity Street Church, corner Felicity and Chestnut Streets; Rev. Albert S. Lutz, pastor; residence 2321 Chestnut Street.

Carrollton Avenue, corner Carrollton avenue and Elm street; Rev. Henry T. Carley, pastor; residence, 1125 Fern St.; 'phone, Uptown 1238.

Algiers, Lavergne Street, corner Delaronde; Rev. J. F. Foster, pastor.

McDonoghville and Gretna, Rev. H. Whitehead, pastor; residence 5208 Magazine Street; phone, Uptown 2459.

Epworth Church, corner Banks and Scott Streets; Rev. L. A. Sims, pastor; residence, 232 South Pierce Street.

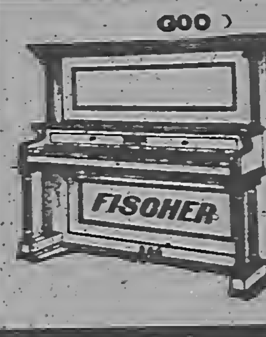
Rev. Jno. L. Sutton, Superintendent Orphan Boys' Asylum; residence, 5220 St. Charles Ave.; phone, Uptown 128.

Rev. L. E. Wicht, junior preacher Lower Coast Mission; address, 509 Board of Trade Bldg., New Orleans.

ALTAR CHAIRS, SUNDAY School Seats, School Desks, Portable Chairs, Collection Plates, Communion Tables, Lodge Furniture, etc. Ask for big Catalog No. 60. E. H. Stafford Mfg. Co. Chicago, Ill

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

ANGELL PHARMACY COMPANY,
2300 Baronne Street, corner Philip.
PRESCRIPTIONS OUR SPECIALTY Phone Main 4269.
Pure Drugs, Chemicals, Toilet Articles, Perfumery, Stationery, etc.
TRY ANGELL'S COUGH & WHOOPING COUGH SYRUP
Price 25 and 50 cents. Sold by all Druggists.
HOMŒPATHIC DEPARTMENT.
Homoeopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, Globules, Sugar of Milk, Etc.
Prices, 1-2 ounce vial 15 cents, 1 ounce vial 25 cents.
PROMPT DELIVERY.



GOOD PIANO,
PIANO PLAYER or PLAYER PIANO see the Grunewald's
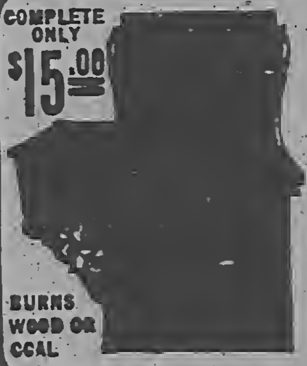
Before You Buy.
Agents for the Latest Improved and best Instruments on the Market.



JUST SEND ME ONE DOLLAR
and I will ship C. O. D. to any railroad station in the U. S. this fine Willard Steel Range. Anyone can say they have the best range in the world, but I will furnish the evidence and leave the verdict to you. After you examine this range, if you are satisfied in every way, pay Agent $14.00 and freight, and you become the possessor of the best range in the world for the money. The range has six 8-inch lids; 18-inch oven; 15-gal. reservoir; large warming closet; top cooking surface, 30x34 ins. Guaranteed to reach you in perfect order. Shipping weight, 400 lbs. Thousands in use and every one of them giving satisfaction. Write for full description and testimonials.
WM. G. WILLARD
No. 62 WILLARD BLDG.
820 CHESTNUT STREET
ST. LOUIS, MO.

SCROFULINE
The Wonderful Healer
Unsurpassed for tetter, ezcema, skin and scalp troubles, old sores, ulcers and piles, any nature or duration. Goes to the very seat of the trouble, kills the germs and extracts all foreign matter. Sold under a positive guarantee, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per jar. Mail orders promptly filled. Stamps accepted. Liberal sample upon request. Address,
THE SCROFULINE COMPANY, Waco, Texas.
SOLE OWNERS AND MANUFACTURERS.

$35.50 FROM NEW ORLEANS TO CALIFORNIA,
MARCH 2 TO APRIL 30, '08, INCLUSIVE,
VIA
Southern Pacific "Sunset Route"
SOUTHERN PACIFIC SUNSET ROUTE
This rate applies from most points in LOUISIANA, correspondingly low rates from other points.
PULLMAN TOURIST SLEEPERS, OIL BURNING LOCOMOTIVES,
DAILY NEW ORLEANS TO SAN FRANCISCO.
F. E. BATTURS, GEN. PASS. AGT., NEW ORLEANS.

Epworth League

By Rev. H. Whitehead.

PRAYER-MEETING TOPICS.

April 12. Interrupted Hosannas. Luke xix. 32-48. (Zech. ix, 9-10). (Palm Sunday.)

And Jesus set his face to go to Jerusalem, while the apostles followed trembling in the way. At Jericho they tarried at the house of Zaccheus, the Publican. There Jesus spake the parable of the "ten pounds" to the throng that had gathered in the way. Leaving Jericho, the Master had led his disciples along the way with the gathering passover throngs. When nigh to Bethany he had sent his disciples aside for a colt, on which no man had ever ridden, and after the fashion of the ancient kings of Israel, made his way into the city of Jerusalem.

To the multitude the action of Jesus was a declaration of his mission and an acceptance of the regal character. Those who had come to believe in him were looking for an earthly king, and they were, doubtless, impatient that he would not declare his authority and exert his power to establish his throne. When he came, as the prophets had foretold the coming of the Messiah, they felt that at last Jesus was going to accede to their wishes and assume the rank that they felt to be his. The throngs shouted their praises and their joy. The very children gathered in the way cried "Hozanna!" The people brought palm branches and strewed them before him, and they spread their garments for him to ride over.

The sudden view of Jerusalem is far famed. It has brought joy to countless multitudes. But when Jesus saw the city he began to weep. He saw the coming days, when the city should be besieged. He said that if Jerusalem had known the day of its visitation this might have been averted. We know not what the history might have been if the Jews had known their coming Lord, but the Master intimates that it might have been very different. The Hozanna was not for the real Christ. When he refused the Jewish dream of temporal power the same people cried, "crucify him." The Master understood the fickle throng that gathered around him.

When the Christ entered the temple he displayed a touch of his real authority by driving the merchants out of the building who bought and sold there. But with this one exhibition of authority he lapsed again into the teacher, gathering the throngs about him to listen to his wonderful parables. When the Christ would not draw the sword, most of his followers deserted him, and the leaders of the people were that much more embittered. The Master had seen his last earthly triumph. Gethsemane and the cross were next.

The coming King desires not alone your shout of praise, but your oath of service. He seeks the adoration of your hearts.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

General News

A coal strike among the miners of Illinois and other western States is promised for May 1, and while neither the mine owners nor the miners have much to say concerning the matter, it is regarded by manufacturers and the people generally as a severe blow administered to returning prosperity.

It is officially announced from Washington that our battle fleet will visit Japan, and will call also at a Chinese port. This will extend the itinerary several thousands of miles, even if no other visits are made. Should invitations be received from England or France, it is possible they may be accepted.

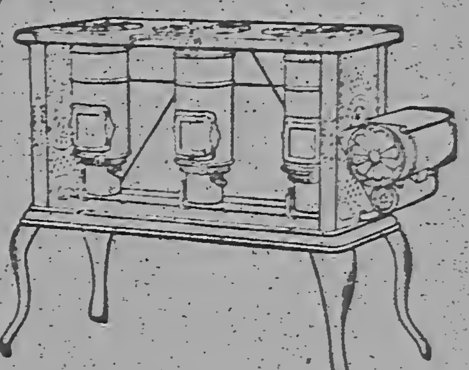
The German government, in view of the possibilities of the wireless telegraph, has adopted a measure placing all wireless apparatus under the control of government agents, on the theory that in the hands of irresponsible persons, or during a time of war, the government business and orders may be seriously interfered with.

The "Lantag" of Finland has unanimously decreed the total prohibition of all beverages containing more than 2 per cent of alcohol. This is the result of a long and consistent fight that really began with the convocation of the Lantag in 1863. In that session the representatives of the peasants gave up their ancient right of distilling and selling whisky in their own homes. Since that time first one restriction and then another has been imposed. A form of local option has produced a practical prohibition in many parts of the country. Not one of the labor unions of Finland permits liquor to be served in its gatherings. This final action represents the will of a large majority of the people.

Missouri's united Prohibition forces have launched the campaign for Constitutional Prohibition, with an organization representing the best-known leaders of the movement throughout the State. Dr. W. D. Palmore, of St. Louis, editor of the Christian Advocate, is the executive leader of the new movement. Among the prominent Prohibitionists participating in the fight are H. P. Faris, member of the Prohibition National Committee, Prohibition State Chairman C. E. Stokes, State Secretary E. E. McClellan, Frank P. Reno and others. In one of his addresses at the convention which was held at Sedalia, March 18, Clinton N. Howard completely answered the brewers' lies about Kansas City, having just spent several days in that city making a searching investigation, interviewing merchants, public officials, mail men and workers. His reply to the brewers received a tremendous ovation.

"One thing is clear. The movement against the saloon in the South is not an attempt on the part of the whites to remove from the blacks what they reserve for themselves. It is rather a self-denying ordinance. It reflects the growth of the belief in the solidarity of society. It is an assertion of the truth that what is an injury to a part is an injury to the whole. The presence in the South of a race in an irresponsible stage of development has unquestionably had its effect in increasing the sense of responsibility in the more advanced race. Whether it appears in the form of local option or in the form of State Prohibition, the victorious attack upon the saloon in the South is a cheering sign of the spread of the principle that no man, no body of men, no race of men can live unto themselves." —"Outlook."

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

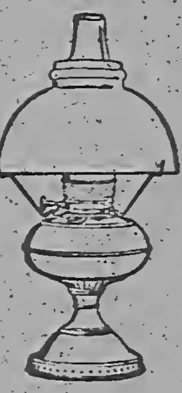


Put This Stove in Your Kitchen

It is wonderfully convenient to do kitchen work on a stove that's ready at the instant wanted, and out of the way the moment you're done. Such a stove is the New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove. By using it you avoid the continuous overpowering heat of a coal fire and cook with comfort, even in dog-days. The

NEW PERFECTION
Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove

is so constructed that it cannot add perceptibly to the heat of a room; the flame being directed up a retaining chimney to the stove top where it is needed for cooking. You can see that a stove sending out heat in but one direction would be preferable on a hot day to a stove radiating heat in all directions. The "New Perfection" keeps a kitchen uniformly comfortable. Three sizes, fully warranted. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.



The Rayo Lamp is the ideal lamp for family use—safe, convenient, economical and a great light giver. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY
(Incorporated)

THE BEST MADE.
Angell's Cough and Whooping Cough Syrup
For Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Throat Trouble.
CONTAINS NO OPIUM OR MORPHINE,
All Druggists, Price 25 and 50 Cents.

STEWART HOME AND SCHOOL FOR FEEBLE MINDED CHILDREN AND ADULTS

I want to send my Catalogue to every one interested in the care and training of feeble minded children. You ought to know how such cases can be developed by special methods in teaching and special medical care. Let me send you my catalogue to-day. Address,
Dr. John P. Stewart, Supt., Box 4, Farmdale, Ky.

The Union Railroad Business College,
BUSINESS TAUGHT AS IT IS DONE.
Is backed up by thousands of dollars and expert teachers. Uses no text books or copying nonsense. Free scholarships given only to those between the ages of 13 and 25 years.
Business men everywhere are calling for the graduates of this school. For full particulars, address PROF. W. N. STEPHENSON, Texarkana, Texas.

Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company.

PASSENGER SERVICE.

Daily Passenger Trains between Shreveport and New Orleans. Daily Passenger Trains between Shreveport and Winnfield.

FREIGHT SERVICE.

Exceptional good time on carload traffic. Special attention given less than carload shipments all of which moves in

DAILY THROUGH PACKAGE CARS.

CLARENCE ELLERBE, Assistant to President.
H. B. HELM, General Superintendent.
E. C. D. MARSHALL, General Freight & Passenger Agent.
Shreveport, La.

SEEDS
OF THE
Steckler Quality

Cost but little more than the usual kind, but are worth much more. To convince you that this is true, let us have a talk together. We have spent months of labor and thousands of dollars on

THE BEST SEED CATALOG EVER ISSUED IN THE SOUTH.

It is a manual of over 200 pages with new illustrations taken direct from the vegetable. Shall we mail you a copy? It will cost you nothing, if you will kindly give a fair hearing to our claims for your patronage. Write at once.

J. STECKLER SEED CO., LTD RICHARD FROTSCHER'S SUCCESSORS.

Seed Growers and Importers, New Orleans, La.

NOTES FROM VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY.

The Cole Lectures will be delivered this year by the Rev. George Jackson, M.A., of the British Wesleyan Church. Sunday, April 26, he will preach in the University Chapel. On Monday he will begin his series of lectures on "The Fact of Conversion." The subjects of the individual lectures will be as follows:

1. Reality of Conversion as a Fact of Consciousness; 2. Reality of Conversion as a Fact of Life. 3. Varieties of Convension. 4. Rationale of Conversion. 5. Psychology of Conversion. 6. Present-Day Preaching and Conversion.

The series will close with another sermon on Sunday, May 3, one lecture being scheduled for each day intervening.

At present the lecturer is the pastor of Sherbourne Street Church, Toronto, Canada, whither he came on urgent invitation two years ago. He has not severed his connection with the Wesleyan Church, and intends to return to the mother country soon. He is the author of a number of books, most of them on religious subjects. True to Methodism's noblest calling, his preaching has always been of an evangelical type; and his treatment of the subject for his series of lectures here will doubtless enrich the world's thought and literature on this all-important mission of Christianity.

Dr. W. J. Dawson, also of England, will preach the commencement sermon of the University, June 14. In addition to his work as a preacher, he is the author of some twenty-three books, most of which are in the field of literary criticism, in which field he is an acknowledged authority. He will lecture before the Summer Theological Institute of the University immediately after commencement. Some of the themes to be discussed by him are "The Arrest of Christianity," "Prayer," "Savonarola," "Temptation," "The Story of the Changed Man" and "Raleigh and His Times."

The commencement literary address will be delivered by Dr. Charles Forster Smith, head professor of Greek in the University of Wisconsin. He has an acknowledged place as a classical scholar, his most notable work being an edition of Thucidides. He was at one time president of the American Philological Association. From 1882 to 1894 he filled the Chair of Greek in Vanderbilt University. During his residence here he made many friends, who will be pleased to hear him on this occasion.

Dean Tillett is receiving numerous invitations to address gatherings of Methodist preachers on the proposed Statement of Faith. He has thus far spoken before the Methodist preachers of New York City, Cincinnati and Chicago. While in Chicago he went to Northwestern University and addressed the students of Garrett Biblical Institute on this important question, which is now interesting world-wide Methodism. The Methodist Episcopal Church is especially interested in view of the near approach of the General Conference.

The enrollment of students in the University is larger this year than it has been in its history. The largest gains were made in the Academic and Biblical Departments. It seems that every advance in the direction of higher curriculum in the Medical and Dental Departments only serves to swell the number of students. Such an increase has been made in the requirements of these two Departments that a gain in the number of students was a great surprise.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Treasurer's report of Joint Board of Finance of the Mississippi Conference, quarter ending April 1:

Brookhaven District—Nothing.
Jackson District—
Eden	$10.00
Madison	28.20
Meridian District—
Central, Meridian	65.00
Natchez District—Nothing.
Seashore District—
Mentorum	9.00
Gulfport, 29th Street	10.00
Purvis	50.00
Newton District—
Neshoba	5.00
Vossburg & Heidelberg	25.00
Main Street, Laurel	55.50
Morton & Pelahatchie (in full)	99.00
5th Avenue & Kingston, Laurel	10.00
Taylorsville	15.00
Philadelphia (in full)	90.00
Vicksburg District—
Bolton (First)	50.00
Rolling Fork	17.50
Hermanville	12.00
Crawford Street	45.00

We would most respectfully urge upon the preachers the importance of at once presenting the needs of our worthy claimants to their people.

You have endorsed the quarterly payment plan, and unless you come to our assistance it will be impossible to make these remittances.

It is impossible to borrow money with the best securities, and your board has no collateral but "I owe you;" so you can very readily see our position.

Please collect something and remit at once.

Yours fraternally,

W. L. HIGHTOWER, Treasurer.

GREENVILLE, MISS.

MEEK CHAPEL.

Our Methodist friends are an active people. Since John Wesley's followers first plunged into the American wilderness they have been tireless in the extension of their branch of the universal Christian Church.

Their activities in the Delta have been characteristic and they are now engaged in erecting a modest chapel on South Theobald Street, which will be served by Rev. Mr. Ingram in connection with Glen Allan this year.

The Quarterly Conference of the local Church named their new enterprise Meek Chapel to attest the confidence and high regard felt by the Church for their gifted presiding elder, Rev. R. A. Meek.

This action will be applauded by the general community, for Mr. Meek is a tireless toiler in the interest of humanity, and is held in universal esteem by our citizens, irrespective of creed or Church affiliation.

We are informed that Mr. Meek's programme for his Church in Greenville comprehends the erection of a chapel in north Greenville and one in the Race Track Addition, which, with the one now under construction, will be served by a minister who will devote his entire time to this work.

There is no greater educative or civilizing force than the Church, and we shall be under obligations to any branch of it that makes this force more prevalent.—Greenville Times.

NOTE FROM REV. H. M. ELLIS.

Dear Dr. Boswell: I write to ask the prayers of the Church for Sister J. T. Abney, wife of our faithful pastor at Sumrall, Miss. She has been very sick for several weeks, but has gotten so much worse in the last few days that Friday she was carried to the hospital in Hattiesburg for a serious surgical operation. Let me also bespeak remembrance of the anxious husband and little ones. The good people of Sumrall are most sympathetic and attentive, and stand ready to render any service they can.

I came here a week ago to hold a meeting and have of course labored under most unfavorable conditions, which could not be helped. Nevertheless, we have had a number of conversions among the children, and thirteen have joined our Church, besides about eight joining the Baptist Church. The Baptist pastor has been very helpful and attentive, and has our hearty thanks and appreciation. I go to Meridian to the District Missionary Institute on Tuesday, April 7.

Cordially,
H. M. ELLIS.

Sumrall, Miss., April 4, 1908.

A living hope—living in death itself. The world dares say no more for its device than, While I breathe I live; but the children of God can add by virtue of this living, While I expire I hope.—Robert Leighton.

This is the get-together age. The Laymen's Missionary Movement is a most significant illustration of that spirit. One of the best features of the Chattanooga Conference, April 21-23, will be the bringing together of so large a body of representative laymen. For men who are likeminded to know each other, is a great gain. The touch of elbows in the ranks inspires courage.

NOTICE.

The Winona District Conference will be held in Eupora, May 27-28. The opening sermon will be preached on the evening of the 26th by Rev. John Ritchie.

E. S. LEWIS.

Winona, Miss.

THE SAFEST AND QUICKEST WAY
—TO—
TRANSFER MONEY
—Is By—
Long Distance Telephone
FOR RATES APPLY TO LOCAL MANAGER
Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph Co
INCORPORATED.

NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

REV. JOHN W. BOSWELL, Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.

NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, APRIL 16, 1908.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher,
Office, 512 Camp St., New Orleans.

VOL. 55—No. 16.

"PROVE ALL THINGS; HOLD FAST THAT WHICH IS GOOD."

WHOLE No. 5395.

Millsaps College Library.

Glances at the World.

Temperance people throughout the country have been waiting anxiously the action of the Senate Judiciary Committee on the several bills designed to protect prohibition territory against the interstate traffic in liquor. All the bills—four or five in number—were declared in the committee by a vote of 7 to 5 to be unconstitutional. But the committee was unanimous in offering some relief. The bill reported is simple. "Providing that there shall be no collect on delivery packages shipped interstate commerce where fictitious names are used, and that the name of the consignor and consignee shall be stated plainly. The provision is designed to eliminate the practice of railroad and express employés acting as agents for liquor houses." When the bill is called up for action a lively discussion will doubtless follow, as there are strong men in the Senate who are firmly persuaded that the bills offered and rejected by the committee are constitutional. Senator Dolliver is one of the men—the author of one of the bills. But if the Senate sustains the view of the majority of the committee and enacts their bill into law we shall not complain. "A half loaf is better than no bread."

* * *

Prohibition may not always prohibit, but if the law is enforced it makes illicit dealers realize that the law is not a dead letter. Our information is, the law is vigorously enforced in Kansas City, Kan., in Atlanta, Ga., and in Birmingham, Ala. In the latter city raids have been made on certain "social" clubs charged with trying to avoid the prohibition law. These clubs, organized for the "promotion of literature and art," appear really to be nothing more than clubs for drinking. On April 4 three officers of the clubs were fined $1000.00 each and sentenced to twelve months in jail. Private members were fined $250 each. In the several raids fifty-four men were captured. If catching men in such numbers and fining them after that style is kept up there will be no lack of funds from the liquor trade to help keep up the city. The good people of Mobile, who are so distressed about the loss the school fund will sustain when the prohibition law goes into effect in that city, may take hope. What happens in Birmingham will happen there, and the liquor business will still keep up their schools. Who says the liquor dealers are not a law-abiding class of men?

* * *

It seems to us just a little inconsistent that men should so strenuously oppose the move to put an end to the sale of liquor, and go in heartily for the suppression of gambling. As long as liquor is sold publicly, so long will the saloons keep up the work of killing men. To keep up the work they must be constantly furnished with recruits. The recruits come from the ranks of the boys. That boys should cease to be born is unthinkable. That they should constantly feed the gin mills is unbearable to those who have their temporal and eternal welfare at heart. In the matter of soul and body destruction the open saloon is far worse than the gambling habit. And prohibition of the sale of alcohol is no more "sumptuary" in its character than is legislation against gambling. Not only so, but to prohibit gambling is quite as much an interference with personal liberty as legislating against the sale of liquor. Yet, there are many men of intelligence, and fair, not to say the best, moral standing, who ardently enter the anti-gambling crusade, but zealously fight against the prohibition of the liquor business. Is it not a fact that the two things are twin evils? If we are properly informed, it is a fact that certain forms of gambling and liquor saloons are inseparable. Possibly we do not know all the evils of gambling as secular editors do. Neither do we know all the evils of the liquor traffic. Much of our knowledge of both is hearsay. What we do know leads us to say that the free use of liquor will ruin a man as soon and as effectually as the free use of gambling devices.

* * *

Justice, though tardy, has at last been done the local optionists of the Seventh Ward of Tangipahoa Parish of this State. A local option election was ordered by the Police Jury last fall, and the prohibitionists carried the election by a majority of seventy-seven. The Police Jury, at the ensuing meeting, for some cause, declined to announce the result. Failing to do so, the liquor dealers of Ponchatoula took out licenses as usual and proceeded with their business. The prohibitionists brought suit, but inasmuch as the result of the election had not been legally declared, the court ruled they had no cause for action. Appeal was taken, and the lower court was sustained. Now that the election has been "promulgated," if the saloons in Ponchatoula do not voluntarily close, suit will doubtless be brought to compel them. Our understanding is, the circuit judge ruled that the men in the business, if they continued, would do so at their own risk. If so, and they are forced to pay the penalty, they will not have money enough left to start a "corner saloon" in New Orleans, to which city they will probably emigrate.

* * *

The anti-prohibition campaign now being waged by the whisky forces in New Orleans and throughout Louisiana brings forcibly to mind the old proverb: "Whom the gods would destroy, they first make mad." If ever men were in a frenzy Mr. Sidney Story, the manager of the liquor campaign, and his lieutenants, are the men. Mr. Story gives evidence of this in his utterances on record in the Times-Democrat of April 5. The anti-prohibitionists had a rally in the city on Thursday evening, April 2. Cards of a character that Mr. Story did not like were printed and handed (as it appears) to the attendants at the rally as they entered the rallying place. Mr. Story charges that Mr. Ham, the evangelist, or those associated with him, sanctioned the act of circulating the cards at the doors. We take it for granted that such is the fact. The circulation of these cards is characterized by Mr. Story as "undignified, ungentlemanly, unwise and uncouth"—a quartette of crimes in the estimation of the apostle of the Liquor League. But it was what was on the cards that hurt Mr. Story more than anything else, especially the invitation it contained to Mr. Ham's meeting. He says: "The cards themselves were the offending feature. They were obscene and vile. They contained language which no self-respecting men, such as were those who attended our meeting, would care to have his wife or his daughter see. They were an insult to every person, man or woman, who participated in that meeting. By inference the persons who secured the printing of these 10,000 pieces of pastboard branded every man who entered our meeting as a debauche and a rascal, and every innocent girl or woman who came to hear the truth about a great and all-important question, a person deprived of virtue and beyond the pale of polite society." That is serious. And if what Mr. Story says is true as to the obscenity, why did he not have the distributors of the cards arrested and make them answer for their crime? We have not seen a copy of the offending card, and while we do not promise to print it should one be furnished us, we venture to say that it can be printed in any journal without subjecting it to criminal prosecution by either State or Federal authorities. Possibly the card contains language the editor of this paper does not use. It certainly uses language with which Mr. Story is not familiar, but that does not make it criminal. Mr. Story is simply fighting for the life of the liquor trade in Louisiana, and he is mad—that is all. Curb your temper, my friend; you will have need for all the coolness you can command before the fight is over.

AN ASIATIC EXPLORER'S VIEW OF ALCOHOL.

Sven Hedin, the Central Asia explorer, says in his last book:

"In a caravan a drop of wine or brandy should not be found. To be dependent on these things is a curse and especially objectionable on a journey which demands great exertion. The people, whether inside or outside the borders of civilization, who abstain from alcohol are the most competent and effective workers."

Christian Advocate.

Published for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

DIRECTIONS.

Correspondents will please direct all communications intended for the Editor to 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La. Communications intended for the Business Department should be addressed to the Manager of the New Orleans Christian Advocate. Write with ink, and only on one side of the paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after two weeks, notify us, and we will make it right. Papers will be continued unless subscribers order otherwise.

For Advertising Rates Apply to

Religious Press Advertising Syndicate,

JACOBS & CO., CLINTON, S. C.

Home Office, Clinton, S. C., who have charge of the advertising of this paper.

ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES.

J. F. Jacobs, J. D. Jacobs, Home Office, Clinton, S. C.
R. J. Ritter, 418 W. St. Catherine St., Louisville, Ky.
Thornwell Jacobs, 1011 Stahlman Bldg., Nashville, Tenn.
C. C. Little, 502 Mutual Bldg., Richmond, Va.
D. J. Carter, 132 LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.
Miss M. R. Middleton, 150 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.
Barton E. Buckman, 132 LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.
J. H. Rich, Birmingham, Ala.
E. J. Barrett, New Orleans, La.
J. B. Keough, Atlanta, Ga.
J. B. Gentry, Clinton, S. C.
H. B. Ewbank, Houston, Texas.
W. L. Boggs, Greensboro, N. C.
F. A. Wynne, Cor. Ackard & Elm Sts., Dallas, Texas.

MEMORABILIA.

BY WM. RICE SIMS.

Another name to conjure with in the earlier days of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was that of Hubbard Hinde Kavanaugh. The Church has had his biography, which it is neither my province nor purpose to present. Of his personal appearance it is impossible to give an adequate description. Even a photograph would be insufficient. Naturally of a robust frame, he became somewhat corpulent with advancing years, until finally he might be almost said to waddle around in the pulpit, and he was known on more than one occasion to doze in the chair of an Annual Conference over which he was presiding.

He was not a great theologian; he was not a great parliamentarian. What he did not know about theology would fill a large volume, and when he got in a tight place at the General Conference, he would call another Bishop to the chair.

But he was a great preacher—one of the greatest this country or the world has ever produced. Of course, he preached extempore, and sometimes, when his huge, unwieldly frame was not in good physical trim, he made egregious failures. But at other times he soared into the upper blue, and those who heard him discourse in his happier moods of heaven and the future of the redeemed can never forget those magnificent periods that seemed to roll from his half-Irish tongue like a vocal section of the Apocalypse.

I mention three incidents from his career, each typical in its way, and each hitherto unpublished.

It came his turn to preside over the Mississippi Conference, and in the course of that session a case came up for trial. A committee of trial was appointed, and a verdict of guilty was returned. That ended Kavanaugh's knowledge of the case for the time being. Meanwhile the accused took an appeal to the General Conference, which body reversed the finding of the Annual Conference, and sent the case back for a new trial. When the new trial came on, the quadrennium had brought the eloquent Kentuckian back once more to preside over the Mississippi Conference. The case was called, and the names and facts awoke a dim memory in Bishop Kavanaugh's slumberous intellectuality. "Kendall," he exclaimed; (this name will do as well as another) "didn't we have this same case up when I was with you four years ago?"

The presiding elder explained the history of the case. The Bishop shook his fat sides, and the Conference and galleries sat up and took notice.

"Brethren," he said in that rich brogue which no type can reproduce, "your conduct of this case reminds me of an incident of my early pastoral life. As I rode out from the village one morning I passed the door of a blacksmith shop, and being on friendly terms with the smith, I stopped for a chat with him, and noticed that he was hammering on a rather peculiar piece of iron. I said nothing about his work, but took my horse and rode on my way. As I came back, late in the afternoon, I was tired and thirsty, and, passing the door of the smithy again, I stopped for a drink of water. What was my amazement to find the smith still hammering away on that identical piece of iron. I said, 'Pardon my curiosity, my friend; but what are you going to make out of that piece of iron?'"

"'Well, Mr. Kavanaugh,' (and at this point the good Bishop's eyes fairly snapped and sparkled) 've see I've been hammering on this bit of iron now for a long time. I started to make this out of it, and then I started to make that; and I didn't make aither. Now, I'm goin' to hammer away at it till sundown, and whatever it looks the most like by that time, why then I'm goin' to make that out of it.'"

The Conference roared until the Bishop had to use his gavel—a thing which he seldom did.

At another time the good Bishop was preaching at Elm Street, in Nashville. It was a warm day. For half an hour he perspired, but was not inspired. For half an hour longer he labored, getting further and further into the bush. The Church was crowded; but as the clock had long struck noon, people began to move furtively toward the door—first a stray deserter, then twos and threes—at last platoons. The Bishop's ire was aroused. He was not accustomed to having people leave the building while he was preaching. Shaking himself like a lion arousing from slumber, he shook his puggy finger and said, "he that hath ears to hear, let him hear;" then in those clarion tones that had rung through a score of States, he repeated the quotation, "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear." Then, in an inimitable crescendo of Irish wit and holy sarcasm, "He that hath not—let him go home and get his dinner." Nobody else moved. The exodus had fully roused the lion from his lethargy, and for the next thirty minutes the congregation listened to an outburst of eloquence probably unparalleled even in that pulpit.

The third incident many will remember, since it thrilled thousands at the time. Kavanaugh was preaching on the glories of heaven. He closed his sermon with one of his characteristic bursts of eloquence, when somebody started a hymn, the key-note of which was recognition in the heavenly world. The Bishop, as all men know, couldn't sing. He stood the roar of that grand swelling chorus as long as his bursting heart would let him. Then, stopping the singers with a wave of his hand, he said, with moist eyes and tremulous tones, "Brethren, I can't sing now; but when I get to heaven—O, when I get to heaven—I expect to strike in, tune or no tune."

There was a chorus of hallelujahs.

Who doubts that long ago he has tuned one of the grandest and most musical harps in all the orchestra of heaven?

Indianola, Miss.

It is a good thing to be rich and a good thing to be strong, but it is a better thing to be beloved of many friends.—Euripides.

LETTER FROM GILDEROY.

In the April number of The Methodist Review for the current year there is a striking and very suggestive, really an appalling, article on "The Reign of Lawlessness," by Charles F. Evans, of Carlisle, Ky. The facts and figures given are enough to make one's blood run cold and to cause every right-thinking citizen of this country to hang his head in shame and humiliation. Something ought to be done, some word ought to be said, that would wake up our people to the growth and magnitude of this evil. It is a shame and a reproach to our boasted civilization and our Christianity.

Mr. Evans gives many reasons to account for the reign of lawlessness in this country, chief of which is a failure to execute the law. This is partly due to the inefficiency and the incompetency of judges, to the ignorance or sympathy of jurors, to the use of money in suborning witnesses or tampering with juries, to the quirks and turns taken with technicalities of law, to petitions for the pardon of notorious criminals, to the abuse of the pardoning power and to the love of money which becomes the root of all kinds of evil. There are other causes given, but these are the principal causes discussed by him.

Mr. Evans devotes only one short paragraph to the lack of proper training at the fireside and in the schoolroom. If your correspondent is not mistaken, this cause of lawlessness deserves fuller discussion and more serious and prayerful consideration. My field of observation is too narrow to secure facts and form conclusions on a large scale, but judging the whole field by that part of it that comes under my eye, I fear that the lack of proper home-training and of control in the schoolroom lays the foundation for crime and criminals, and, in large part, accounts for much of the lawlessness abroad in the land.

Home-life and farm-life is rapidly coming to be a thing of the past in large areas of the Southern section of our common country. As soon as a farmer can accumulate a few thousand dollars he rents or leases his farm and moves to town to give his children the advantages of Church, school and society—mainly of society. What he seeks, or persuades himself he is seeking, as advantages prove to be disadvantages both to himself and to his children. Living in town is an expensive luxury. Boys and girls moved from the country and farm to town are like birds turned out of a cage. They soon go wild. As a rule, they pick up all of the evils and none of the virtues of town-life, and generally select as associates the wildest of the town boys and girls. Among the fast, they soon become the fastest. Like the heathen, having no law, they soon become a law unto themselves, and live as they list. If boarding-house life is adopted in town, so much the worse for the boys and girls.

Farm-life in the country is the best place in the world to have a real Christian home, and it is the best place to make men and women out of our boys and girls. They may not have so much polish, but they will have more grace, and, as a rule, stronger and cleaner characters. The system, regularity and hard work of farm-life develops the muscles, hardens the bones, and strengthens the characters of all who are exercised therein. Early to bed and early to rise and being busy all day long keeps young people out of mischief and from forming bad or vicious habits. Late hours in loose places among those of lax morals has been the utter undoing and ruin of untold thousands of our young people of both sexes. It might be well for each parent to ask once every twenty-four hours, "Where is my wandering boy, or girl, to-night?" Much depends on where they are.

The expressions one hears on the streets, in company, in many homes and from fathers and some mothers, are absolutely shocking. They are damaging and damning to the boys. "Shoot him down! Knock his head off! Cut his throat! Kill him!" and the like of that. Even if it is not meant, it is a suggestion that ought not to be impressed on the plastic mind of a boy. Sooner than you think, he may do what you have suggested ought to be done, what you have commanded him to do. If he kills a man and becomes a criminal, you are to blame for it.

I know some fathers, and not a few, who buy pistols for their sons and urge the boys to carry them and to use them. In a few homes I have heard the mother ask, when her son was going out at night, "Son, have you got your pistol?" Now and then some member of my Church, perhaps a steward, says to me, "You ought to carry a pistol." I am not a consummate coward that I need to make a walking arsenal of myself everywhere I go. It is not much wonder that there is lawlessness in the land under this kind of tutelage, and if this teaching is kept up lawlessness will increase. This seed sown, the ripe fruit will come at an early day.

Then there are no sacred places or things now. Reverence is a lost quantity; age is imbecility; parents the providers of clothing and money for the house of myrth and revelry; wives are concubines to be cast off for the first voluptuous woman that comes along; virtue and life are mere playthings; God is not; money and pleasure are everything. Lawlessness is rampant in the land.

Solomon did not say, "Spare the rod and spoil the child," but this proverb is worthy of him, for in the main, it contains a great truth. Children must learn, must be taught to respect authority and law, mildly, if they will; forcibly, if need be. An ungoverned, uncontrolled boy or girl soon comes to think and to say: who is the old man that I should obey him, or the old woman that I should obey her, or the law that I should obey it, or God that I should keep his commandments? Parents who do not teach their children respect for and subjection to lawful authority entail a curse upon themselves, upon their offspring, and a curse upon the State.

When family altars are broken down and no prayers heard in our homes, no Bibles read, no sound moral principles diligently and persistently inculcated, the sand is fast slipping from under our social and political fabric. We ought to wake up, repent in dust and ashes, return to the Lord and do our first works. Yours,

GILDEROY.

CHURCH EXTENSION LOAN FUND DAY.

BISHOP SETH WARD, D.D.

The importance of the Church building in its relation to successful evangelism need not now be urged. That is self-evident. Church houses in themselves, however costly and well-appointed, have no saving quality. We ought to learn that lesson from Mexico with its magnificent cathedrals and its Christless multitudes. Great buildings cannot be a substitute for a great gospel. But it is only the truth to say that the cause of Christ languishes in many places to-day for lack of an adequate building in which to hold divine worship. Brick and mortar may be in some sense sacramental. Souls may be reached and lives transformed by means of a suitable building in which to assemble the people. Many a pastor has had his heart wellnigh broke under the pressure of that truth.

Gradually, but surely, we are coming to a fuller appreciation of the value of co-operative discipleship. It may be true that "the world spells 'Church' with a smaller 'c' than ever before." We indulge in no regrets because of that. The day of mere ecclesiasticism is past. But the power of the Church as an organization for service is yet to be realized. Isolated discipleship can never accomplish the purpose of our Lord in this world. There must be organization, co-operation, reaching from the smallest congregation to world-wide Christendom, if his work is to be done in the earth. The form in which this principle is expressed in Methodism we call "connectionalism," but the principle expressed in some form is essential to the being of the Church.

Church Extension is the application of this principle to church building. It is an effort to unite seventeen hundred thousand Southern Methodists in the work of building houses of worship in those places where the local congregation cannot build without aid. If this ideal could be real the day of financial burden, even for the weakest congregation, would be past. During the past twenty-five years more than seven thousand churches have received aid from these funds.

The loan funds of the Board are of special value. It is usually better to aid by loan than by donation. It is better for the congregation receiving aid and better for the Church as a whole. The loan at a low interest rate and on long time, enables the church to be built and is then repaid to build other churches. Thus the good work goes on from year to year. A number of the Memorial Loan Funds of the Board have aided, each, a large number of churches, and have to-day a larger capital than when they were founded. What better plan could be devised for giving to money a perpetual ministry of helpfulness? At this time many of our churches are in need of aid from the loan funds of the Board. Some must be aided at once if disaster is to be averted. But resources of the Board are utterly inadequate to the needs of the Church, and in consequence many worthy applicants must be denied. The efforts of the corresponding secretary to increase this fund by at least one hundred thousand dollars is most timely. The whole Church ought to respond with promptness and liberality. A small contribution from each congregation will make a large sum in the aggregate. Individuals blessed with ample means ought to establish additional Memorial Funds. That is far better than marble or bronze.

Let us make Sunday, May 10, memorable in the annals of Southern Methodism. It is to be Church Extension Loan Fund Day.

Houston, Texas.

AN APPRECIATION.

Mr. W. R. Ramsey, who passed away March 6, 1908, at the home of his son, Rev. J. W. Ramsey, of Scooba, Miss., was one of the best, truest men I have ever known. As his pastor for four years at Blue Springs, I was intimately associated with him, and to know him was to respect and love him. He was a sterling character—one of nature's noblemen. He was everybody's friend, and in return he was beloved by all who knew him. He was not a politician, and it was proof of his popularity that he was once elected by the people of his County to represent them in the State legislature.

Brother Ramsey was a guileless, genuine Christian. His piety was pure and perennial, his devotion constant, and his zeal unflagging. He was thoroughly consecrated. He laid himself and his possessions unreservedly on the Lord's altar. He was more concerned to lay up treasures in heaven than to accumulate property on earth.

He was a loyal Methodist. As steward, Sunday school superintendent, and a worker in revivals, he was punctual, faithful and helpful for many years. His happiest moments were in revivals when sinners were converted and Christians made happy.

He was his preacher's friend and helper. He did not put his pastors on trial when they were sent to him, but assuming that their appointments were providential, he took them at once into his confidence and friendship, and stood by them to the last. More than any other layman I have ever known, he accompanied me in my rounds and assisted me in my work.

Of course, it was gratifying to him that his only child, Rev. J. W. Ramsey, became a faithful and successful itinerant preacher. Fortunately his last days were spent in the home of his son, where he had been visiting for about two months.

He had almost attained the ripe old age of seventy-seven years. He had been indisposed for some time, but was thought to be improving when he was suddenly attacked by his last illness, and survived only two hours. But he was ready, and death to him was gain. The good and faithful servant has entered into the joy of his Lord. "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace."

W. G. BURKS.

FORGET IT.

On my way to one of the ferries, says a recent writer, I passed two girls about eight years of age.

They were evidently confidential friends, and one, with an indignant look on her face, was telling the other of some unkind word spoken by a little playmate.

"Oh, well," returned her companion, calmly and soothingly, "don't think of it; forget it."

The words rang in my ears all through the hours of the day. Was it not good advince. hours of the day. Was it not good advice?—Exchange.

Minister's Wife: "Wake up! There are burglars in the house, John." Minister: "Well, what of it? Let them find out their mistake themselves.—Christian Register.

The Canal-Louisiana Bank and Trust Company

Embraces every function of financial business. It solicits your deposit account subject to cheque. It solicits your SAVINGS ACCOUNT upon which will be allowed INTEREST at the rate of 3 1-2 per cent. per annum, compounded semi-annually.

It will safeguard your securities in its BURGLAR and FIRE-PROOF SAFETY DEPOSIT VAULTS. It will collect Bonds, Rents, Mortgages, Interest, Dividends, Coupons and every class of income. It will pay Taxes and Insurance, sell property and undertake the care and management of Estates. It will act as Executor, Administrator, Guardian or Trustee under will or by appointment of court.

DURING YOUR LIFETIME IT WILL ACT AS YOUR AGENT AND AT YOUR DEATH IT WILL ADMINISTER YOUR ESTATE.

Its Foreign Exchange Department buys and sells Drafts and Cable Transfers; issues Commercial and Travelers' Letters of Credit available in all parts of the world, makes collections and does a general foreign exchange business.

Accounts of Individuals, Firms, Banks and Corporations Respectfully Solicited.

Every Accommodation Offered Consistent With Safe and Legitimate Banking.

Phone Main

ROOMS and BOARD

634 and 638 SOUTH STREET LAFAYETTE SQUARE

CORNER ST. CHARLES ST., NEW ORLEANS.

UNLIMITED MEALS. ALVIN PORTER, Manager.

ESTABLISHED 1891

JOHN DAVID BURGHARDT CO.,

"THE RELIABLE" PLUMBERS and GAS FITTERS.

Agency: Born's Patent Steel Ranges. Hygeia Water Filters.

613-615 Bienville St. Phone Main 2026.

Jobbing and Repair Work a Specialty. New Orleans, La.

A DREAM OF CALVARY.

By Miss Ella C. Jamieson.

The night was filled with mystery.
I had the strangest dream;
I thought I visited Calvary
And saw that solemn scene.

On, on to Pilate's judgment seat
I followed Christ divine;
I heard the trembling judge repeat:
"No fault in him I find."

I heard the angry, cruel cry
Arise from Jesus' foe;
"Away with him. O crucify!
We will not let him go."

"I find no fault in this just man;
His blood be not on me!"
Said Pilate, as he washed his hands;
"I leave him now to thee."

I saw them make the crown of thorns
And put it on his head.
His brow was wounded, bruised and torn,
But not a word was said.

The multitude around Him pressed
And scorned Him to His face;
They clothed Him in a purple dress,
But He retained His grace.

Alone I saw Him bear the cross,
And fall beneath its weight—
Those who professed to love Him most
Their precious Lord forsake.

Behold the spotless Lamb of God
His precious promise kept!
He looked on them in tender love,
And lo, for them He wept!

With nails they pressed His hands and feet;
I saw them lift the cross;
On either side they placed a thief—
But Jesus suffered most.

I heard His lovely prayer ascend—
It thrilled me through and through:
"Father, have mercy; forgive them,
For they know not what they do."

I heard the dying thief apply
To Him for pardoning grace.
He heard his Savior's sweet reply,
And peace illumed his face.

And then the total darkness reigned,
Instead of noon-day sun;
The temple veil was rent in twain—
God's altar place was one.

" 'Tis finished!" O, I heard the cry.
Salvation is complete.
The lips that pleaded crucify
Were silent at His feet.

And when I lifted up mine eyes—
Behold, 'twas Easter day!
My risen Lord had heard my cries,
And washed my sins away.

O, weary world, lift up your eyes—
Your risen Lord behold!
Since God, in mercy, heard my cries,
There's hope for all the world.

New Orleans, April, 1908.

AN EASTER MESSAGE.

Ruth Williams sat alone at her breakfast-table. Her life had been very solitary since her uncle's death. She had lost her parents in her early childhood; she had no brothers or sisters, and the circle of her kindred was exceptionally small. Anniversary seasons seemed to her sadder than common days, for they emphasized the desolation of her existence. Ruth was thirty-five, an age that possesses many advantages. A woman at thirty-five is still wearing the bloom of her youth and has not yet begun to feel the pressure of the oncoming future. She is at a place where she may clasp hands with her girl friends on one side and her older friends on the other. Miss Williams had many interests. Her means enabled her to give generously to the causes she loved, and she did much good in a quiet and unobtrusive way. Her Sunday school class, consisting of half a dozen working girls, engrossed much of her time and thought. As she lingered at the breakfast-table, she was planning her day and determining to present each girl with a little gift when she met her in the class on Sunday morning. She had decided on a book for each, and with it she meant to give a posy; just a bunch of violets or a cluster of carnations. She had not decided between the claims of these flowers when the postman rang the bell. Presently a maid brought in a box which bore the label of a well-known florist. It was addressed in an unformed hand to Miss Ruth Williams.

Opening it she saw lying on folds of tissue-paper a plain card inscribed: "Miss Williams, with Easter greetings from her loving class." Under the white tissue-paper were sprays of springs's most enchanting flower, the trailing arbutus. Its sweet perfume, so penetrated with the exquisite scents of spring, met her as she lifted the bunches of bloom, so delicate yet so vigorous, so modest yet so charming, and she smiled and wept together, for the arbutus had for Ruth Williams a host of the tenderest memories.

"Those lovely girls," she said, "how could they divine what would please me best?"

She busied herself with the flowers, putting some of them into a crystal vase and others into a flat silver dish; some on the library table and some in her own room. One little bunch she pinned fast to her jacket when she went out a little later.

The first shop she entered was crowded with customers, and she had to wait a few moments before she could take her place at the counter. In those moments she observed the young saleswoman, a slender girl in a black dress, with a face so weary and eyes so haggard that Ruth was sure she must be suffering. When she was able to secure room at the counter she asked this girl to show her some white ribbon. After making her purchase she unfastened the bunch of arbutus and said, simply: "I am afraid you are tired. Won't you accept this little bit of spring? I think it will rest you."

"Oh, thank you," was the answer, and the pale face lighted with joy. "This is like a message from my home."

"You are far from home?" said the lady.

"Yes," said the girl, "my home is in Otsego county."

There was no time for conversation, for customers were waiting. Ruth took her visiting-card from her pocketbook and said, "Come to me on Sunday afternoon at six. I live quite by myself, but I always have one or two friends at supper on Sunday night. Be sure that you do not disappoint me."

She was gone, leaving the other woman amazed, puzzled, yet somehow comforted. One of the other girls said to her later: "Do you know the lady who gave you the arbutus? She is very rich and very nice. She has visited our Christian Endeavor and talked to the girls, but I have never spoken to her."

The trailing arbutus went with Lillian Geer that evening to her boarding-house, but she did not take it to her room. On the way there she stopped and knocked at a door. A feeble voice bade her come in. She crossed the dim space between the door and the armchair, and laid her flowers in the lap of an aged woman whose wasted features and shrunken form betrayed the ravages of a long illness.

"Why, dearie," said the woman, "where did you get these blossoms of the forest? I have been thinking about them all day. I have been so tired of my pain and it seemed almost as if God had forgotten me, but he has not. Here is a letter that came a while ago. Please light the gas and read it to me. My eyes are worse than usual to-day."

The letter was short, but it was a word of cheer from an absent daughter, and it brought new strength to the mother's heart.

Lillian went on to her room. She was a Christian girl and she had taken as part of her Christian work such daily ministry as she could give this aged woman whom she had never seen until three months ago when she had herself found a shelter in this boarding-house. They had grown to be friends, and both had a common love for the Lord who never forgets his children nor suffers them to be overborne in the conflict.

The trailing arbutus did not spend the evening in the old woman's chamber, for when her supper was brought her she gave it in turn to the maid who waited on her needs. Nellie McGuire was an Irish girl, and she had the warm heart of her race. She carried her prize in an ecstasy of delight to her little place in the attic. Next morning it went with her to early church, and helped her to understand the great lesson of the Easter.

What is the Easter lesson? Is it not one of never-ceasing compassion and never-ceasing ministry and never-faltering faith in him who, having loved his own in the world, will love them to the end?—Christian Intelligencer.

"Dat aint no Angel!"

BUT h'it's de bodiment ub goodness jes de same. Ah tells you, when you gits a taste ub dat dar LUZIANNE COFFEE you feels moughty close to de Good Place sho'."

LUZIANNE COFFEE comes in air-tight, freshness-preserving, dust and germ proof, easily-opened cans and is sold by reliable grocers everywhere.

25 CENTS PER POUND

THE Reily-Taylor Co.
NEW ORLEANS U.S.A.

LADY RANDOLPH CHURCHILL'S REMINISCENCES.

Lady Randolph Churchill immensely enjoyed the weeks spent in Russia in the winter of 1887, and her experiences and impressions there will be the subject of her continued reminiscences in the May Century. Her husband and herself went to many private and public functions, they had audience with the Czar, and were royally entertained at the royal palace, and they met everyone worth meeting.

To pray for one another is as truly a natural impulse as the command so to do is explicit. The promise to hear and answer could not be put in plainer terms.

W. H. M. S.

ANNUAL SESSION OF THE WOMAN'S BOARD OF FOREIGN MISSIONS.

The Woman's Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Church, South, will convene in its thirtieth annual session, in First Church, New Orleans, on Friday, May 1, 1908. The preliminary meeting of officers and managers will be held at 4 p. m., and at the same hour the Conference secretaries will hold a Workers' Conference. The opening session will be held at 8 p. m.

Application has been made for railroad rates, and all delegates and visitors are urged to secure certificates from railroad agents at starting point or at the nearest point within the territory of the Southeastern Passenger Association.

MISS M. L. GIBSON, President.
MRS. A. L. MARSHALL,
Recording Secretary pro tem.

W. F. M. S.

The Woman's Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will convene in Annual session May 1-7 in the First Methodist Church of this city. This session marks the thirtieth anniversary of the Board, which was organized by the General Conference in May, 1878, in Atlanta, Ga. The Board is composed of delegates from thirty-four Conferences, representing 275 districts, 2500 adult auxiliaries, and 1187 juvenile societies, with a total membership of about 64,000. Two periodicals, The Woman's Missionary Advocate and The Little Workers, are the organs of the society. Missionaries under the control of the Board are stationed in China, Corea, Brazil, Mexico and Cuba, and a large number of trained native Bible women assist them in their labors. The sessions of the Board will be presided over by Miss Maria L. Gibson, who has been president since the resignation of Mrs. M. D. Wightman in 1906. Miss Gibson has had an official relation with the Board since its organization in 1878. She had the honor of entertaining the delegates to the first meeting of the General Committee (as the Board was first known) at Louisville, Ky., in 1879. She has served the Board as recording secretary, vice-president and president. She is also the principal of the Scarritt Bible and Training School in Kansas City, Mo. Among other notables expected is Bishop A. W. Wilson, lately returned from a long sojourn in China and other mission fields. He will preach the annual sermon. Bishop E. E. Hoss, who has been holding the Brazil Conferences, will conduct a missionary mass meeting.

The associate secretary, Mrs. J. B. Cobb, returned from a tour around the world, will give a report of her itinerary, and present the claims of the fields visited. "One of the most interesting features of the programme will be the consecration of the missionary candidates. This ceremony will take place Tuesday, May 5, at 8 p. m. Ten young women who have taken the course of study and preparation necessary to fit them for missionary work in foreign lands, will then formally consecrate their lives to that service and will be set apart by the Church. Several returned missionaries will also be in attendance, and will add to the interest of the programme.

MRS. JOHN B. PARKER.
Chairman Press Committee.

It is only when the inner life of communion with Christ sets the pace, and the outward life keeps step with that, that the progress of either is wholesome.—Alexander Maclaren.

LOUISIANA ORPHANAGE

Rev. C. C. Weir, Field Agent,

Bunkie, La.

Dear Friends: Since last writing I have been doing my very best to collect all of our outstanding subscriptions. March was a hard month with us financially. Besides getting past due accounts, I am trying to secure a regular subscription of $500 monthly. I attempted to do this by letter and from the pulpit. I am giving a few answers to my written requests.

Following is a Jeanerette letter: "Inclosed, please find my check for six dollars. I am sorry I am not able to do more for so noble a cause. I hope this small mite will be accepted in the spirit in which it is given."

I wish I had 1000 such. It would mean $500 per month. It is a continual subscription of fifty cents monthly, payable annually.

Another card is for $20 annually, check covering amount, another for $50 annually.

An interesting letter from a friend reads: "We are much interested in the success of your $500 club, and I inclose herein subscription for Polly and Jno. L., for two dollars per month (they are twins). When you have heard from all of your 440 letters I would be glad to have a line, telling me how much you realize from that source. Wishing you abundant success, I am."

"My Dear Mr. Wier: One of the 440 has reached me. You seem to be bubbling over with fine ideas. You are a born advertising man. If you had gone into that line your success would have been as phenomenal as it has been in building a home for the orphans, which is the best work of which I know. If Carnegie had gone into this instead of libraries........ Just as soon as business begins to pick up so that the boss can draw his salary I am going to give you a piece of it. When I begin to draw my salary I am going to help you along every little while, if not oftener. I am only waiting for the South Americans to want some yellow pine real bad, then I hope to get in my work on them."

Another reads thus: "Dear Brother: In a few days you will receive my full subscription of $25, together with other contributions I am now getting up for the Home. Will place the matter before our League to-morrow, and expect to get a monthly contribution from it, besides individual contributions that are already promised. I think I can handle four more cards. ....Am heartily in sympathy with your work, and you can count upon my continued support."

Rev. W. H. Hatfield writes: "Dear Brother Wier: One A. Royal, who was convicted here last week of killing his wife and sent to the Pen for life, told me to write to you and see if there was any chance to get his four little children in the Orphans' Home without delay. He was carried to Baton Rouge to-day. The age and sex of the children are as follows: A baby, 9 months old, girl; boy, 2 years and six months; girl 4 years; girl, 7 years. He has no one to take charge of the children, and some disposition must be made at once. If you can take them we will get them over there." Mrs. Savant wired for them. A portion of a letter from Mrs. Savant, our matron: "My little new children are all right now. They begin to feel at home."

I carried all of the children out crawfishing Saturday afternoon. It was a beautiful place, a mile and a half from Ruston. They all waded in the water after they finished fishing. They were so charmed and seemed to enjoy the outing so much that I have promised, if they are real good all of the week, we would go out next Saturday morning with our dinner and spend all day. They have made all kinds of good promises.

Miss Boyd gave Ollie a nice pair of patent leather slippers, and she is so proud of them that they are quite a care to her, for fear she may scar them.

Without doubt, the most pleasant meeting I have attended for a long time was the W. H. M. S. meeting in Minden. I have often wondered why every pastor should not strive to have a live auxiliary in his pastorate. But pastors have much to do, and sometimes conditions are so that nothing can be done for the W. H. M. S.

Last Sunday I preached for Brother C. V. Brietliaupt, at Montgomery, and had three services. Monday I preached at Coushatta. The Montgomery people were rejoicing over the great revival that had closed. At Coushatta they are anticipating one in May. Coushatta was in deep grief over the severe illness of Brother Jno. R. Hays.

Brethren, I appreciate your interest in our Home. Please announce to your folks from the pulpit and through the local press that the big new building at Ruston has reached the top of the first floor. Yours fraternally,

C. C. WIER.

VALUE OF HUMAN LIFE LOST TO THE STATE BY DRINK.

One hundred and five deaths from alcoholism were reported for the State of New York for the one month of September, 1907. Allowing each life to be worth $3000, an amount said by State Commission of Public Health, Dr. Eugene H. Porter, to be a low estimate. Drink was the direct cause of a pecuniary loss to this one State in one month of $315,000, or, at the same rate, $3,780,000 annually. This leaves entirely out of consideration 2,287 deaths from suicide and diseases like apoplexy, liver cirrhosis, heart disease and pneumonia in which alcohol is admittedly a large causative or contributory factor.

(Compiled from Bulletin New York State Department of Public Health, Sept., 1907.)

Oh, that a golden thread of holiness may run throughout the whole web of this year!—Philip Henry.

There is no action so slight but it may be done to a great purpose and ennobled thereby.—John Ruskin.

GULFPORT, MISS.
Interesting propositions submitted to parties wanting to buy lots. Write for map to
GEO. L. CARLEY, Gulfport, Miss.

Harness and Saddles
E. G. AWCOCK,
333 BARONNE STREET,
Phone Main 4467. New Orleans, La.
Repairs Neatly and Promptly Done.

THE SCARRITT BIBLE AND TRAINING SCHOOL.

Experience has taught the necessity of trained service. Time and force have been wasted by sending the worker to his field without adequate and special preparation. This is as true of the work of the Church as of that of the business world. Indeed, the higher the quality of the service the greater the need of preparation. While a deep spiritual experience is the first qualification of the missionary, it is not the only one. There must be a strong, well-cared-for body; there must be a mind made active and alert by a broad and generous culture, and these must be supplemented by special training for the life-work.

The Scarritt Bible and Training School meets this last imperative need. It was established in 1892 by the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions primarily for the preparation of its candidates for the foreign field, but was afterwards enlarged to meet the needs of all branches of Church work.

The building and site are valued at $100,000, the lot and $25,000 in cash having been given by Dr. Nathan Scarritt, of Kansas City. The location is fine as regards healthfulness, while the city of 400,000 inhabitants affords excellent opportunities for Christian work, especially since the establishment of an institutional Church.

Many of us are familiar through our Board annuals and missionary Advocates with the appearance of the school—a handsome building in the form of an H, five stories high and containing sixty-five rooms. The furnishing of the first room was done by the auxiliary of Wesson, Miss., and it is known as the "Wesson room." Another was furnished by our Conference society and is called the "Mississippi room." Miss Maria Layng Gibson, now president also of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions, is the consecrated and accomplished principal of our school, and is assisted by a very able faculty. Physicians, ministers and other eminent lecturers give instruction in medicine, in doctrine, missions and kindred subjects. The course of study covers two years, and embraces English, Bible, Church History, Bible Geography, Christian Evidences and Doctrines, Sociology, Methods of Work, Missions, Sunday School Normal Lessons, Music, Bookkeeping, Parliamentary Law, City Mission Work and Domestic Economy. The hospital has been discontinued for lack of room. We hope a building may be added for this purpose and the practical training of nurses resumed. After the completion of the course a diploma is given on recommendation of the faculty.

As stated before, the school has enlarged its work and broadened its original purpose. At first a training school for foreign missionaries, now students are admitted who desire equipment for various kinds of Christian service, at home as well as abroad.

"For three years the Woman's Board of Home Missions has paid the salary of the teachers of Sociology, and since the General Conference introduced the office of deaconess into our Church that Board has sent its missionaries and candidates for deaconess' order to this school for instruction and training. Besides foreign and home missionaries and deaconesses, women of all denominations may enter for self-improvement, or to learn methods of work for use in Sunday school, Epworth League or other branches of Church work, and an increasing number of ministers' wives and young women, who expect to become preachers' wives, enter each year for a special course of training as pastors' assistants."

The conditions of entrance for missionary candidates are given in our Hand Book of Missions and need not be mentioned here.

Now, we come to the very important matter of the financial support of our school and its present needs.

Under the constitution of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions, that body cannot appropriate any of its funds to the school, hence it must depend on outside collections and the gifts of individuals. No tuition is charged to boarders, and day students pay the nominal sum of ten dollars per year. The only resources from the school itself come through the charges made for board, about $180 for the entire session. The outgo must far exceed the income from this source. Endowment was soon felt to be a necessity, and three methods were adopted for raising it:

First—By endowing chairs at $25,000 each; by lectureships at $5,000, and scholarships at $2500, since raised to $3000, because the present low rates of interest would not meet the expenses of a student.

The present available endowment is about $94,000. One chair, the "Belle H. Bennett," has been endowed, but that was declared completed at $20,000. The growing appreciation of scholarships is gratifying; but lectureships have not been so popular because their purpose has not been so well understood. This endowment fund is in the hands of a competent business manager in Kansas City, who has had charge of it from the beginning, and is invested in stocks and loans secured by collaterals. The amount realized from all these investments is not sufficient to meet the present need, much less provide for its future growth. There should be a large increase in the gifts of our women to each of these endowment funds. Two hundred thousand dollars would not be too much to invest in the great work of this school.

Sixteen years of wear in any ordinary household call for repairs and refurnishing. Some societies and individuals have been very thoughtful in this way.

"A doubly blessed gift," says Miss Gibson, "is the payment of a student's expenses during the two years' course. The influence of such gifts is incalculable, and they are growing more frequent."

The various Conference societies were called on at the last meeting of the Board to pledge $6000 outside of their regular contributions to our Training School. Through our Conference secretary, Mrs. Watkins, we pledged $350 of the amount called for, every dollar of which should be redeemed.

Since its establishment, about one hundred and sixty-seven students have received training from this institution: missionaries, deaconesses, trained nurses and workers in various Christian fields. But figures cannot express spiritual values which increase in a constantly ascending series throughout the eternities. In supporting this school we transmute the coinage of our realm into the gold of Christian character and the transforming power of Christian service, and really and healthfully inflate our currency, so that every dollar represents a full material equivalent plus those mighty spiritual assets which are to bring heaven down to the hearts of men and make the angels rejoice over a redeemed world. Happy shall it be for us when our reapers go home rejoicing, bearing their sheaves with them, that we can have a part in the harvest song.

CLARA B. DRAKE,
Supt. Presswork, Miss. Conf.

A PLEASANT LETTER.

Dear Dr. Boswell: Having treated me so kindly in a former issue of the ADVOCATE, I thought I would risk another note, though should it be crowded out it will be all right.

I wrote for the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE occasionally during the Civil War, when the Rev. C. C. Gillespie was editor. He subsequently doffed the hardly-earned honors of the tripod for the more brilliant glory of the army, as I read afterwards of him as Major Gillespie! It was said that he was a fine orator, and I had an opportunity of hearing him at the Annual Conference held in Natchez during the War. I was so anxious, however, to hear Bishop Early that I went to the M. E. Church, South, instead, and was well rewarded.

Our line of Stoves, Kitchen Furnishings, and General Household Supplies is full of interest to all Good Housekeepers.

Suppose you take a look at it for yourself—

UNITED HARDWARE CO.,
LIMITED.

GET SOLID PROTECTION AND INSURE WITH
LEON IRWIN & CO.
Fire and Casualty Insurance.
838 GRAVIER STREET. PHONE, MAIN [illegible]

W. W. Carre Co., Ltd,
Manufacturers and Exporters of
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The dear old ADVOCATE occupies a warm place in my heart, and I hail its weekly visits with delight, and commencing on the first page I rarely cease reading until I have thoroughly devoured its contents.

How my soul exulted during the perusal of that inimitable sermon by Rev. Theo. Copeland! It seemed that I never before so fully realized the beauty, strength and pathos which illumines this grand old epic poem, portraying, as it does, in such sublime strains the lofty character of the old patriarch of the land of Uz.

Ofttimes during my own pilgrimage have I been constrained to cry out with him, "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him," when God, always true to his promises, would scatter the clouds, and flood my soul with the sunlight of his presence.

I regret so much the proposition for constitutional prohibition failed to pass the senate at its last session in Jackson, Miss. Why is it, Doctor, that intelligent, educated men will persist in acting so unwisely? The only conclusion to which I can arrive is, that they must have an intense thirst for it themselves. Yours,

MRS. M. W. MORRISON.

Water Valley, Miss.

NEWTON DISTRICT.

Missionary Institutes will be held in the Newton District as follows: Forest, April 30; Laurel, May 13; and Philadelphia, June 17.

The District Conference will be held at Montrose, July 8-10. JAS. M. WEEMS, P. E.

INFORMATION WANTED.

If any readers of the ADVOCATE know of the whereabouts of one V. T. Millsaps they will confer a lasting favor by addressing E., Box 106, Mt. Olive, Miss. He is supposed to be somewhere in the Mississippi Delta.

NOTICE.

The Winona District Conference will be held in Eupora, May 27-28. The opening sermon will be preached on the evening of the 26th by Rev. John Ritchie.

E. S. LEWIS.

Winona, Miss.

The Home Circle.

ANNE'S EXTRAS.

I wish I could show you Anne—bright, beautiful, breezy Anne, with her dancing steps, her nimble tongue, her clever mind, and the sweet, enticing ways of her. She was a little selfish, Anne was, but you never thought of that when you were with her—she was such a darling; besides, how could her mother's daughter help being selfish? She had been brought up to selfishness from her babyhood. Her clear-eyed father saw it more and more as she grew older, and he exerted himself to help her out of it.

During the week that followed the conversation which I have reported, Dr. Cooper thought a good deal; and he also drew up a simple statement of his income for a year, together with his obligations and expenses. They nearly balanced. There was a painfully narrow margin for sickness or accident.

Anne and her father were chums. There was an intuitive understanding between them upon which the father had relied before, and never yet had it failed him. The mother was more indulgent, but comprehended her child's nature less clearly. Her instinct was to bear the burden herself and to spare the child. The father's plan was to teach the child to do her part and carry her own share. It must be owned that the more the father thought about the present problem the more anxious he became. He was about to make a heavy draught upon his daughter's womanly character. Would she honor it?

"What is the matter, father?" said Anne one night, pressing her soft cheek to his. "You keep looking at me."

Her father smiled. "I'll tell you on Sunday," he answered.

Sunday was a beautiful day, and in the afternoon Anne and her father went for a walk to Split Rock. Their path lay across country through woodland and meadow, and for the last mile or two it rambled along the bank of a rapid little river. The spirits of both father and daughter caught the blessing of the day and were attuned to its sweetness. When they reached the rock they chose a secluded corner in its gray old side and made themselves comfortable.

Anne never forgot that day. She was not quite sixteen.

"Anne," said her father, "I brought you out here to have a talk with you. I feel it is time you understood how I am situated financially, and I wish to consult you."

Anne glanced at her father's face. "Is anything wrong, papa?"

"No," said he, smiling, "not at all, but I wish your advice, so give me your best attention."

Then he took out his papers and explained them to her. She was quick of comprehension.

"You haven't as much money as I thought you had, papa, and when all the things you have to spend it for are added together the amount is a good deal," observed Anne.

"The cost of living in this country grows greater every year," said her father. "If it were not for your dear mother's wonderful economy and thrift we could not live as comfortably as we do." The father hesitated. "My dear," said he "I never had much talent for money-making. I am just a poor country doctor, who often hasn't the heart to collect his bills, and when I do present them I sometimes cannot get my money. It would be easier for my family if I were different"—

Anne's face flamed. "Father," she said. "Be quiet! If I could have chosen I would have chosen you out of all the world to be my father. You are the best man on earth and I am proud, proud, proud of you every minute of my life. Now how can I help you? I'll go barefoot if you want me to."

The doctor's eyes kindled. "Thank God for my daughter!" he said, lifting his hat, and he drew her close and kissed her.

"Now I can talk," he went on. "It is going to be a difficult thing for me to educate my three daughters. If you teach, as you expect to do, there will be three years of normal school after you have finished high school. That means six more years of hard work before you begin to earn, and there will be Jenny and Julia to care for as well as you."

"Father," said Anne, gravely, "I will give it up. I will go to work now."

"No," responded her father, "I will never consent to that; you must have the education which is your birthright. But see here"—and he took out the list of extras which her mother had given him. "How many of these are essential?"

"I'll cut out every one," said Anne.

"No," said her father, "there is much here that I like and approve. I want your body to have as thorough a training as your mind. We cannot drop the gymnasium, and I am especially desirous that you should learn to swim. But how about the party clothes? Anne, do you know that when your mother asked me for money for that party gown she hadn't a pair of decent shoes to wear? That is your mother! You and I must look out she doesn't beggar herself for us."

Anne flushed painfully; she could scarcely speak, but she turned large eyes full of tears to her father. "Truly, I didn't know," she murmured, "but I couldn't bear to have it now."

"Of course you couldn't," said her father heartily. "Now you know I don't object to the fun—the little party is all right—but why not go in your every-day clothes?"

"I can't explain very well, papa," said poor troubled Anne, "but that wouldn't do. Truly I don't want to go to the parties. We will cut them out, certainly."

"Anne," said her father, "we are getting at the heart of the matter. Now pay attention. You may stay away from the dances if you wish but there will be other girls in that class whose fathers can no more afford to give them party gowns than I can you. What will they do?"

"That is true," said Anne slowly. "I don't know what they will do."

"Our public school system," said the doctor, "is the glory of our country, and the poorest boy or girl in the village has just as good a right there as those who are better off, and all class affairs ought to be so thoughtfully managed that all class members will feel that they can afford to participate. One reason why I like you to go to high school is that, in theory at least, it is a little democracy. You can learn what good stuff Mary Malony is made of, and also make a friend of Judge Gillespie's daughter. There is a principle involved in this question. More than yourself are concerned. You have your share of influence. Why not take it up and try to right the wrong?"

They talked till twilight fell and then went home hand in hand through the gathering dusk. The little seed the father dropped into the daughter's heart grew. She saw a deeper meaning in her education from that afternoon. She saw what business honor meant. She began to think of herself in relation to others. Her horizon was enlarged.

Anne, with her father's help, worked our her problem. Being a popular girl, she was elected president of her class, but she refused to accept office until she had explained her position in regard to expenditure. She carried a majority of the class with her and expenses were cut down. Party frocks were tabooed at the high school parties. White shirt waists and duck skirts became the style. The girls themselves played the piano for the music, and the cooking class furnished the simple refreshments; the bugle sang "taps" at half-past ten, and no one was the worse for the little frolic.

The class had good times, but they did not interfere with their studies, and more than one mother's heart was eased by the simplicity with which they were conducted. And when, after three years, the class graduated, their inexpensive white lawn gowns were not beyond the means of any one of them.

A needed reform was successfully carried through, though no one suspected that the credit of it belonged to the beloved village doctor.—The Congregationalist.

"What sort of a table do they set at your boarding-house?" asked the young man who was contemplating a change. "A table of waits and measures," replied his friend. "The first long and the latter short."—Chicago News.

BE SUNBEAMS.

A dear little girl, only three years old, brought out her very nicest playthings to amuse a homesick cousin. Among the rest was a little trunk with bands of silk paper for straps, but careless little Freddie tipped the lid too far back and broke it off.

He burst out with a cry of fright, but little Mimie, with her own eyes full of tears, said: "Never mind, Freddie; just see what a nice little cradle the top will make!"

Keep a happy, cheerful heart, children, and you will be like sunbeams wherever you go.—Jewels.

WHY DOES EVERYBODY WANT VACHER-BALM?

Because Vacher-Balm promptly relieves most of the aches and pains that we all suffer from at times, such as Headaches, Toothache, Sprains, &c.

It is cooling and harmless. Price 25c. Per Jar.

I pay you to give samples to your friends and neighbors. Write to-day for particulars, to E. W. VACHER, New Orleans, La.

FANCY POULTRY, ETC.

Fancy Poultry, Pedigreed Dogs, Cats, Canaries, Parrots, Guinea Pigs, Rabbits, and Pet Stock of every description; Cyphers, Incubators and Feed at Factory prices, may be had by writing to H. W. Blanks & Co., New Orleans, La. Their catalogue sent free. Write to them.

DOCTOR
Tichenor's
Antiseptic
ASK ANY ONE WHO HAS EVER USED IT!

THE GO-BETWEEN

whether it be a Burn, Bruise or Scald—

DR. TICHENOR'S ANTISEPTIC

affords instant relief. Its cooling effect prevents congestion and the antiseptic qualities prevent swelling, blistering and superation afterwards.

"It draws the fever"—you cannot afford to be without it at home.

All druggists 25 and 50 cts.

Christian Advocate.

REV. JNO. W. BOSWELL, D.D., Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.
CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TERMS:

One Copy, one year, $2; six months, $1. To Preachers of all Denominations, half-price.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES:

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE—Rev. W. W. Drake, Rev. N. E. Joyner, Rev. J. M. Henry.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. M. L. Burton, Rev. W. H. Lewis, Rev. C. W. Crisler.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, D.D.; Rev. J. T. Murrah, Rev. W. W. Woollard.

THE MINISTRY.

If what we sometimes see in print and hear in the pulpit in regard to preachers and preaching is true, there is neither authority nor necessity for a called and separated ministry. Only a short time since we heard a man of more than ordinary intelligence begin a discourse by quoting the great commission as recorded by St. Mark. This commission, he said: "I want you to distinctly understand was not given exclusively to the apostles. It was delivered to the Church at large." The brother entirely overlooked the fact that Mark expressly says the command was delivered "unto the eleven as they sat at meat," and that Matthew affirms the same, saying: "Then the eleven disciples went away into Galilee, into a mountain where Jesus had appointed them. * * * And Jesus came" and delivered the commission.

We have no disposition to deny any good man the privilege of preaching the Word, nor of administering the ordinances if the exigency of the case demands it, as did Ananias at Damascus when he baptized Saul of Tarsus, but to say that all the men and women in the Church are bound by the commission is to surrender the claims of the ministry as a distinct arm of the service. Is the Church ready, notwithstanding the consecration and activity of the present-day laity, to disband the ministry?

It cannot be denied that from among the many disciples our Lord selected twelve men whom he called apostles—a chosen set who were to go out under his authority to preach, to baptize, and to perform miracles, and last of all to be witnesses of his resurrection. After this he "appointed other seventy also," not to accompany him, but to go "two and two before his face into every city and place, whither he himself would come." Besides these we hear of no more special calls until after our Lord's ascension when he appeared to Saul of Tarsus near Damascus. Saul recognized the call, and without conferring a moment with flesh and blood entered upon the work, telling the Churches that he was "a servant of Jesus Christ, called to be an apostle, and separated unto the gospel of God."

Very many passages of Scripture are meaningless unless it is true that our Lord has constituted the ministry a body separate from the laity, and endowed it with functions which do not belong to the members of the Church generally. St. Paul says "he gave some apostles; and some prophets; and some evangelists; and some pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ." (See also 1 Cor. xii. 28-30.) These passages certainly indicate that men are called out from the great body of the Church and set apart for special work. The Lord's call is imperative, and one disobeys it at the peril of his soul. We read of one man (Matthew viii, 21, 22; Luke ix, 59, 60), evidently one of the twelve, willing to obey the call, but thought he had sufficient excuse to delay for a while. Jesus said unto him: "Let the dead bury the dead, but go thou and preach the kingdom of God."

St. Paul is not only explicit in the matter of a call to the ministry, but tells us how men feel who have received the call. Of himself he said, "the Love of Christ constraineth me." "For though I preach the gospel, I have nothing to glory of; for necessity is laid upon me; yea, wo is unto me if I preach not the gospel." Were the commission binding on all the men and women of the Church they would, like St. Paul, be under "necessity," and experience the "wo" peculiar to men who realize a distinct call. But no such feeling torments them. They are not under constraint.

Methodists have always insisted on a call to preach, and have certain tests by which they determine whether a candidate for the ministry is truly called. To such a man a license is issued, and after a lapse of time, if found worthy, he is solemnly set apart to the work of the ministry. The ordination invests him with certain duties not intrusted to a layman. Methodists may put more stress than some other Christians on the call to preach, but what they recognize as duties conferred by ordination is in keeping with the faith and practice of the Church through all the past.

The view expressed by the brother quoted in the beginning of this article is extreme, and we hope held by only a few, but there are many who attach very little importance to the difference between the minstry and laity, and frequently depreciate the ministry as a separate order of the Church. We do not understand this, especially as to those who solemnly, in the presence of God and the congregation, took upon themselves ordination vows, professing the belief that they were called of God.

That every man and woman in the Church is bound to do all possible to spread the gospel is true, but that the whole Church is bound by the terms of the commission is a proposition that cannot be sustained. Or is it a fact that the Church has been mistaken through all the ages past?

THE BIG TABERNACLE.

After a two-weeks struggle with the enemy the saints were beaten and forced to vacate, and the big tabernacle is now being demolished. Those engaged in the fight against the tabernacle having failed to accomplish their purpose through the local authorities, appealed to the secretary of the treasury at Washington, who immediately ordered the structure removed. As the tabernacle was on government property, the new postoffice site, the secretary doubtless had authority for his action.

Never, as far as we know, did a religious movement in our country meet with such resistance, secret or open, as did this movement inaugurated by the Protestant ministers of New Orleans. Please, we beg those who read, put emphasis as strong as you possibly can, on the word Protestant. Nothing was left unsaid that was at all adapted to irritate Mr. Ham, the leader of the meetings. Violence was even threatened. The letter received by him would have been called a "Black Hand" letter had it gone to any professional or business man in the city. Leading city officials were opposed to the tabernacle, including the chief of the fire department, and would have undertaken to tear it down had not the mayor, Mr. Behrman, returned to the city in time to stop their madness. The insurance inspector too (if that is his title) appeared on the scene. These two prudent officers declared the tabernacle a menace to adjoining property. Neither one of these gentlemen, we suppose, has taken a peep into the vacant lot bounded by Camp, Poydras and Church streets and LaFayette Square (immediately opposite the ADVOCATE office). This lot is surrounded by high, dead walls of inflammable material, and contains piles and piles of lumber, much nearer to adjoining property than the tabernacle, and much more of a menace in case of fire. We respectfully ask these servants of the city to take a look into that lot.

But the chief instrument in the wicked work was one, Mr. Louis Ochs, a whisky drummer, who happens to be the president of the Travelers' Protective Association, or Mr. Louis Ochs, president of the Travelers' Protective Association, who happens to be a whisky drummer. In his public communication on the subject he absolves the "liquor organizations" and the "Anti-prohibition party" from all responsibility in the matter and assumes it himself, and in his defense pleads the "baby act." He did it because the authorities at Washington refused him, as president of the Travelers' Protective Association, the use of the same ground "to hold a street fair or carnival" for the benefit of his organization. When a little boy at school we learned that "Tit for tat is a very poor rule." But Mr. Louis Ochs, a grown man, plays the game!

And also there come four whisky organizations and one "Southern Intelligence Bureau," managed by the spokesman of the State's liquor interests, and testify that they "had nothing whatever to do with the action of the United States government in ordering the removal of the tabernacle." This denial is signed officially by five gentlemen. Innocent gentlemen are they all! Pets of the whisky brotherhood! We wonder if they tried, in the goodness of their hearts to dissuade Mr. Louis Ochs, president, etc., and whisky drummer.

Had this disgraceful thing happened in New York, or Chicago, or Cincinnati, or Milwaukee, we would not have been surprised. But it happened in New Orleans, the chief city of the South, and we are surprised. It forces upon us the unwilling conviction that New Orleans is bound hand and foot by the whisky devil.

This thing will work no good to the liquor forces. It will make friends to prohibition in the city, and converts by the score in the country. Mr. Story and Mr. Ochs will hear unwelcome news bye-and-bye.

WILL THIS SOLVE THE QUESTION?

Our Northern brethren, who will soon meet in General Conference, will have several questions of great importance to solve. They will face the question of an elective presiding eldership; and the pastoral term, for the third or fourth time in succession, will be debated. Dr. Tillett's scheme for a statement or restatement (we do not know which) of the faith of world-wide Methodism will come in for a share of attention.

A very large number, perhaps a majority, of the "rank and file," are in favor of restoring a time limit to the pastorate, but the move to go back will be strongly opposed. The matter has been thoroughly and vigorously discussed. Some are seeking a compromise measure. Dr. H. A. Buttz, of Drew Theological Seminary, offers the following suggestion:

"The point of importance in the matter is to harmonize the possibilty of the continuance of the pastor as long as he may be serviceable in the particular Church with the limitations which seem to be an essential characteristic of the itinerancy. Any suggestion, however imperfect, concerning this subject may serve at least to arouse attention, if not to secure approval. I venture to suggest a time limit of four years, with the understanding that the pastor, when appointed, shall remain in the same Church for that full period unless, in the judgment of the Bishop, it may be necessary in the meantime to make a change, the presumption, however, being that the pastor shall not be changed, and that there shall be no Quarterly Conference action taken during the period of pastoral service. When the period of four years shall have been completed, the pastor may be reappointed under the same conditions as before; and thus the benefit of both the time limit and the continued pastorate may be maintained."

A law based on that suggestion would be quite as embarrassing to the Bishops and to the preachers and people as well as the present law, which recognizes no limit to the number of years a preacher may be returned to the same charge, but requiring the appointment to be made annually. Our own notion is, such a provision would develop more Church politics than the present economy.

As long as Episcopal Methodism has an itinerant ministry, it is better to have a limit to the pastoral term, long or short, than to have it without limit, and subject at any time to a sudden and dangerous break. Will Dr. Buttz's suggestion solve the question?

PERSONALS.

Rev. J. C. Park, of Greenwood, has been quite sick recently, but at this date, April 13, shows signs of improvement. We trust he may speedily recover.

First Church, Shreveport, is enjoying great prosperity, and the pastor, Dr. F. R. Hill is happy in the work. He received more than fifty persons into membership during the past quarter.

We note changes in Quarterly Conference dates in the Columbus District as follows: Mathiston, at Double Springs, May 2-3, instead of May 16-17; Macon, May 16-17, instead of May 2-3.

A meeting of interest is going on at Felicity Street Church, Rev. A. S. Lutz, pastor. Rev. C. D. Atkinson, of Parker Memorial, preached Sunday evening, and will assist in the work during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. H. Sherard announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their two daughters, Mamie to Mr. Samuel Holloway, of Memphis, Tenn.; and Mallie to Dr. Eldred Leslie Rawles, of Dyersburg, Tenn.

Rev. W. G. Harbin will be in a meeting with Rev. W. T. Woodward, at Haynesville, La., beginning May 17. The press dispatches report Brother Harbin as having a good meeting with Rev. D. Scarborough, Fayette, Miss.

Rev. T. W. Lewis has recently been engaged in a successful meeting with Rev. W. N. Duncan at Durant. He preached twenty-seven times [illegible] many conversions followed and many members were added to the church.

Mr. Richard F. Reed, attorney, of Natchez, promises us some items of interest concerning early Methodism in "the Natchez country"—some things with which the eccentric Lorenzo Dow had to do. Of course, our readers will be interested in the matters.

Rev. W. J. Porter, of the Louisana Conference, compelled a few years since to take a rest on account of feeble health, writes us that his condition is much improved, though not sufficiently for regular work. Brother Porter is one of our best men, and we trust he may soon be able to resume his place in the ranks.

We are sorry to report the serious illness of the beloved wife of Rev. E. E. Langford, of Tyro, Miss. She has been sick more than a month, and while there has been some improvement of late, she is not out of danger. Brother Langford has been at her bedside all the while. We trust the Church will remember them in prayer.

Dr. and Mrs. John T. Sawyer have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Mr. Joseph Donaldson, Jr. The marriage will be celebrated at Rayne Memorial Church, this city, on Wednesday, 4:30 p. m., April 22. The editor and family acknowledge receipt of an invitation. May the happy couple have all the blessings of grace and providence!

Rev. W. M. Young, presiding elder of the Sardis District, tells us of a faithful local preacher, Rev. J. W. Hall, supplying Arkabutla Circuit, who is doing some good work in behalf of the ADVOCATE. "If he does not succeed it will not be his fault." Brother Young adds: "We hope to see a revival in the district on church papers."

Prof. J. N. Powers, State superintendent of education of Mississippi, will deliver an address at the commencement exercises of the Port Gibson Female College. Prof. Powers is the son of Rev. Ira Powers, of Alabama, who died in 1906 from being struck by a street car while attending the last session of our General Conference in Birmingham.

The friends of Rev. H. P. Crowe, presiding elder of the Charleston District, St. Louis Conference, will be glad to learn that he is happy in his work, and that the Church prospers under his administration. All through the winter revivals have been in progress—and they continue. He sends best love to the brethren of the North Mississippi Conference.

In our editorial last week on "The Preacher's Wife," the last sentence was incomplete. By some means, in transferring the type to the galley the concluding line dropped out and was overlooked. The sentence should have read: "If she can be to the Church an example of Christian motherhood, guiding well the affairs of her own household, she fulfills the law of Christ, and is worthy of all honor." The words in Italic were lost.

This is personal: We have just looked over a communication sent us for publication, and counted thirty-seven abbreviations, besides about a dozen that are allowable. We venture, though timidly, to suggest that those who write for the press once a month, or once a quarter, have more time to spell out their words than the editor. To do so will save both editor and printer some trouble. Please, next time you write spell your words in full.

Iuka Station is "moving along nicely" under the administration of Rev. O. L. Savage. The work is well organized, and the good people gave the new pastor a "royal welcome." And Brother Savage is doing his part. Among other duties, he has worked for the ADVOCATE and secured twenty-two subscribers. He asks: "How is that for the extreme northeast corner of the State?" We answer in present-day speech: "That's fine." We thank him.

Rev. W. Wooten, of Arcadia, La., has our thanks for the following complimentary notice of Bishop Ward, clipped from the Arcadia Weekly Argus: "The visit of Bishop Ward, of the M. E. Church, South, to Arcadia Monday, April 6, and his sermon at night were events of note and occasions of enjoyment, not alone to the local congregation of that church, but to the general public of the community. Particularly was the privilege of hearing so eminent a divine propound the Word of God a special one to our people, and to say his discourse was a rare treat is to say the least of it. He is a gentleman of pleasing address, splendid delivery and a preacher of rare ability, and may we soon again have the pleasure of a visit from him."

NOTES FROM MILLSAPS COLLEGE.

Dr. W. B. Murrah spent several days in Memphis last week, attending the Southern Educational Association.

The death of Dr. J. A. Moore has saddened everybody. The other professors will carry on the work the balance of the session.

The boys are making plans to attend the State Oratorical Contest in large numbers, and they expect their man to win.

Preparations are being made for extensive improvements on several of the buildings and the grounds this summer.

The wholesome spirit of the recent great revival is felt every day. This revival is the genuine sort. The fellows agonized until consciously forgiven.

A tempting bill-of-fare is offered at commencement. Dr. W. F. Tillett preaches at 11 o'clock on Sunday, Dr. Alonzo Monk at night, and Dr. Tillett delivers the annual address on Monday. All the preachers are urged to come.

T. W. Lewis, agent of the College, earnestly requests that the friends send him the names of the boys who may go to College next fall. Only two have done so thus far. Also that all the friends who owe the College anything will please send it at once.

O. B. SERVER.

SHALL MISSISSIPPI METHODISTS MEET THEIR PLEDGE?

On the first day of May, 1908, the Methodists of Mississippi are expected to have in cash $12,500 to redeem a pledge made to Millsaps College. We have on hand $8200 of this amount, and if we are to "make good" we must have $4300 more. Shall we do it? More than that amount is now due on the subscriptions taken last year, and I appeal to our people not to permit the sacred reputation of Mississippi Methodism to suffer. This sum will mean an enlargement of our Endowment Fund of $67,600. It will redeem our sacred promise, meet an existing obligation, and save the day. Next Sunday is Easter. Brethren of the ministry, I beg you to help now.

T. W. LEWIS.

Jackson, Miss.

ROYAL

ROYAL
BAKING POWDER
BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure
The only baking powder made with Royal Grape
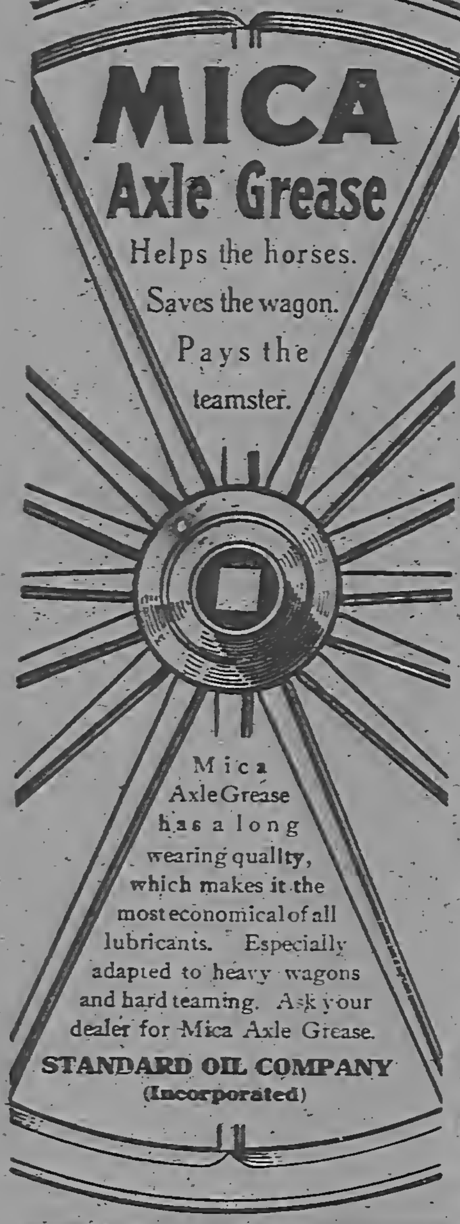
Cream of Tartar
No Alum, No Lime Phosphate

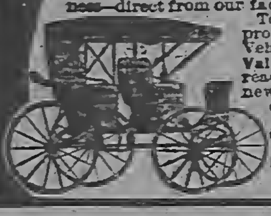
BUY THE NEW BOOK
HARP OF A THOUSAND STRINGS
contains the immortal burlesques of Rev. Henry Talliaferro Lewis. One Dollar at McKowen and Co., Jackson, La., and W. L. Linfield, Woodville, Miss.



MICA
Axle Grease
Helps the horses.
Saves the wagon.
Pays the teamster.

Mica Axle Grease has a long wearing quality, which makes it the most economical of all lubricants. Especially adapted to heavy wagons and hard teaming. Ask your dealer for Mica Axle Grease.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY
(Incorporated)



Get Our Free Book For a Postal and Know Buggy Values

We'll give you the most liberal terms—lowest price for quality and guaranteed durability on any vehicle or harness shown in our handsomely illustrated new Free Catalog. Write today.

Shipment At Once
30 Days Free Trial
Strongest Guarantee on

You'll be astonished at the cash savings we will make you on any vehicle or harness—direct from our factory.

To save dealers' profits—To know real Vehicle and Harness Values get and enjoy reading this great new Free Catalog of ours.

Be sure to ask for Catalog No. V144.

Marvin Smith Co.
Chicago, Ill.

I Am Helping Others
—Let Me Help You—

If you are honest, ambitious and aggressive, I can help you Make Money—no matter where you live.

I have made more than $1,200 in one month in the Real Estate business. ; I made this in commission selling property for others. It doesn't matter whether you have had experience or not, or what your present occupation is. I can teach you the Real Estate business by mail, then I want you to act as my associate and assist me in your locality to sell property. Write me now.

I WILL TEACH YOU A CLEAN, HONORABLE, DIGNIFIED BUSINESS.

Write for free book.

ROBERT DAWSON,
644 Garrison Ave. Fort Smith, Ark.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS. UNLIKE OTHER BELLS SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.
Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

Obituaries.

Obituaries not over two hundred words in length will be published free of charge. All over two hundred words will be charged at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and send the amount necessary with the obituary that will save trouble all around.

LOUIS TERRELL BROWNFIELD was born Aug. 18, 1901. His parents are D. R. and Leona Brownfield. March 23, 1908, he fell from a horse and received internal injury that resulted in death March 29, 1908. He was a bright, winsome child, and the object of fond hopes. Loving ones prayed that he might be trained in a way to be used of God to advance his kingdom on earth as he reached manhood. He was taken in his childhood, but we who loved him know God's will was best and are trying to look up into our Father's face and say we are resigned.

AUNTIE.

Mrs. C. H. HENRY was the daughter of Joel Hough. She was born Nov. 28, 1848, and died Feb. 2, 1908. She was married to Brother C. H. Henry Dec. 30, 1868. She was converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, at Arizona, La., in 1874, under the ministry of Rev. W. P. Kimble. She was the mother of ten children, all of whom lived to be grown; but two had preceded her, and doubtless welcomed her home-coming to the house of many mansions. I first knew Sister Henry twenty years ago, and for two years, as her pastor, in the beginning of my itinerant ministry, enjoyed visiting her home. She loved the Church and the interests of Christ's kingdom. She took great interest in reading both the New Orleans and Nashville Christian Advocate, but the study of God's word was her delight. Having been almost an invalid for several years, she spent much of her time reading her Bible, and patiently waited for the Father's call. The Lord comfort the bereaved loved ones.

W. J. PORTER.

Mrs. AMELIA SCOTT was born in Dinwiddie County, Va., Nov. 4, 1835, and died in the home of her nephew, Mr. A. A. Parker, in New Orleans, La., Oct. 24, 1907. She was the daughter of Abner Adams and Lucy B. Goode. She was married to Edward P. Scott Nov. 9, 1853. Two sons were the issue of this marriage, one of whom died in 1865, and the other in 1881. Her husband died in 1866. Mrs. Scott joined the Methodist Church in early life. Shortly after coming to New Orleans she united with the Cadiz Street Church, and when that Church was merged into the Rayne Memorial Church she transferred with it and continued a most active member for many years, lessening her activities only with the gathering infirmities of ill health and age. More than thirty years of her life were spent in New Orleans. Mrs. Scott was actively engaged in Sunday school work for many years. She was a thorough teacher, and by her personal qualities made, not merely pupils, but friends of the young people committed to her care. She had, in an eminent degree, the gifts of temperament and the attainments of character by which lasting friendships are made. Her religious character was gentle and gracious towards others, but scrupulous and firm in her personal religious duties. Her whole life was spent in the service of God. In her later years she was feeble in body, but ever meet for the inheritance of the saints in light. The loved ones and friends of her early days had nearly all preceded her to the eternal home. Her end was peace, as becomes the pure in heart.

F. N. PARKER.

Sister WILLIE BOLTON, wife of Rev. W. F. Bolton, pastor of a group of Congregational Methodist Churches around Many, La., and daughter of DeWitte Harper, was born near Jackson, Miss., Feb. 16, 1880, and died in Many on February, 1908. Sister Bolton was converted and joined our New Hope Church under the ministry of Rev. J. S. Saunders, and through him was later led into the experience of entire sanctification, and thereafter was a living testimony to the saving power of Christ. It has been the writer's pleasure to be associated with Sister Bolton for more than a year while she lived and to be by her bedside as she passed away; and the grace that sustained her in life sustained her most remarkably in death. She was the honored mother of four devoted children, the youngest being only four weeks old when she died, and her character was seen duplicated in them. During their mother's sickness of only a few days' severe suffering with peritonitis, the children were cared for in the writer's home, and it was the first night of their stay that the eldest taught the younger sister to pray, with her other simple petitions, for the Lord to bless the little baby brother who had been with them so short a time, "and make mamma well." Thus was the mother-training seen in the children. Sister Bolton was in suffering so severe that she seemed to have had no thought for anything but her own suffering, until she seemed to have had a revelation that her Father had called for her. Then it was that every rational faculty seemed to come back to her, and she literally argued with the Lord that she couldn't afford to leave her little children in their helplessness, and her faithful husband alone in the Lord's work—that her mission could not possibly have been finished. In this contest the Lord conquered and she became convinced that she must go, and submissively said that if she could glorify him more in going than in staying, his will be done. The way was then clear and she called for her children to give them a mother's affectionate farewell, and prayed to live to see her mother, which prayer was granted her. Her end was beautiful and triumphant. Methodists still die well. Peace and honor to the ashes of this pious Christian mother, the handmaiden of the most High God. Blessings upon the afflicted husband, the helpless children and the kind-hearted grandmother, who cares for them! "Some day, sometime, we'll understand."

P. O. LOWREY.

Obiturarics Continued on Page 15.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

HOME CANNING OUTFITS

The Handsomest Line in America. Agents Wanted Everywhere. Write: Tharp Hardware & Mfg. Co., Elkin, N. C.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

MUSIC TEACHER

wants position to teach piano next session; has had excellent training and experience. Address Miss Mary Lou Moody, Box 171, Meridian, Miss.

The Hollow Bones

of the arms and legs are tubes like a piece of gas pipe. The hollow centre is filled with soft red fatty material called marrow. This is the place where new red blood is made.

Scott's Emulsion

feeds bone marrow. The rich fat and the peculiar power in SCOTT'S EMULSION gives new vigor and new nourishment. That is why pale people improve on SCOTT'S EMULSION. It has the power to produce new red blood.

All Druggists; 50c. and $1.00.

The New Orleans Cornice Works,

MANUFACTURERS OF

METAL CORNICES, SKYLIGHTS, Etc., STEEL CEILINGS.

Repairing of all Kinds of Roofs. 619 Poydras St. New Orleans, La.

J. H. CAMPMAN, Proprietor.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL
The Double Track Route.

26 Hours to Chicago
21 Hours to St. Louis
22 Hours to Louisville
26 Hours to Cincinnati

Through Sleeping Cars to above points. Dining Cars, Library Cars, Chair Cars and Coaches.

Full Particulars at

City Ticket Office.
141 ST. CHARLES STREET.
Phone Main 3618.

HIS CHANCE IS GONE
YOUR CHANCE IS HERE

The question is, are you qualified to hold a responsible position? Have you had a thorough commercial training? Bankers, Merchants, and Manufacturers want you if you are competent. Now is Your Chance. Two roads are open to young people. One requires no training and leads to failure. The other requires training and leads to success. We prepare young men and women and start them on the road to success by securing them high-salaried positions. Fine climate, board cheap. Write for illustrated catalog and further information.

HATTIESBURG BUSINESS COLLEGE, HATTIESBURG, MISS.

Get My Big Free Book Now

Two full gallons free to try—3 Months Time to Pay—You Pay no Freight to try my Paint.

I want to send you my Books and big Color Cards to select from—all FREE. They tell why my Made-to-Order Paint is better than ready-made or painter-made Paint—tell why I save you money and give you a satisfactory, long lived paint—made fresh to order for the individual user—shipped in cans dated the day it's made—and sold under a $100.00 gold guarantee as to its purity. Write me today—Just a postal.

O. L. Chase, The Paint Man, Dept. 177, St. Louis, Mo.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

CORINTH DISTRICT—SECOND R'N'D.

Guntown and Baldwyn, at Pleasant Valley ....Apr 4, 5
Mantachie Cir., at Oak Grove..Apr 11, 12
Belmont Cir., at New Hope ..Apr 18, 19
Tishomingo Cir., at Salem ..Apr. 25, 26
Wheeler Ct., at Double Spgs..May 2, 3
Marietta Ct., at Blythes C...May 9, 10
Myrtle Ct., Ebenezer ....May 16, 17
Blue Spgs., at Liberty ......May 23, 24
New Albany Ct., at Wells C..May 30, 31
New Albany Sta., at New Albany ....May 31, June 1
Booneville Ct., at Blackland..June 6, 7
Jonesboro Ct., at Brownfield..June 13, 14
Rainey, and Faulkner Ct., at Marvin ....June 20, 21
Ripley and New Hope, at Wier's ....June 27, 28

District Conference will be held at Baldwyn, Miss., July 14, 15, 16.

BEN P. JACO, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—SECOND ROUND

Columbus Ch., at Pinegrove..Apr 4, 5
Starkville ....Apr 11, 12
Starkville Ct., at Lebanon...Apr 18, 19
Shuqualak, at Center Valley.Apr 24,
Winstonville, at Macedonia..Apr 25, 26
Macon ....May 2, 3
Mayhew, at Mayhew ....May 9, 10
Mathiston, at Double S. .....May 16, 17
Crawford, at New Bethel....May 23, 24
Sturges, at Bethel ....May 30, 31
Brooksville ....June 6, 7
Hebron ....June 13, 14
Cedar Bluff ....June 20, 21

District Conference will be held at Mathiston July 1, 2, 3.

L. M. LIPSCOMB, P. E.

OXFORD DISTRICT—SECOND RND.

Randolph Ct., at Washington..Apr 2,
Toccapola Ct., at Salem ....Apr 4, 5
Charleston Ct., at Oakland...Apr 11, 12
Grenada Sta. ....Apr 13,
Grenada Ct., at Sparta ......Apr 18, 19
Potts Camp Ct., at Bethlehem ....Apr 25, 26
Red Banks Ct., at Wesley...May 1,
Ashland Ct., at Ashland .....May 2, 3
Paris Ct., at Bruner's ......May 9, 10
Water Valley Ct., at Pleasant R. ....May 15,
Coffeeville Ct., at Goshen ..May 16, 17
Waterford Ct., at Harris C..May 30, 31

The District Conference will meet in Holly Springs May 19, 20, 21.

J. E. CUNNINGHAM, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST—SECOND RND.

Shelby, at Merigold ....Apr 4, 5
Clarksdale, at 11 a.m. ......Apr 12;
Lula, at Lyon, at 8 p.m.....Apr 12,
Boyle, at New Salem........Apr 18, 19
Benoit, at Beulah ....Apr 26, 27
Alligator, at Duncan ....May 1,
Coahoma, at Dubbs ....May 3, 4
Tunica ....May 4, 5
Cleveland Sta. ....May 10, 11
Cleveland Ct. ....May 11, 12
Rosedale ....May 14,
Gunnison, at Hillhouse ....May 16, 17
Friar's Point ....May 17, 18
Greenville ....May 23, 24
Jonestown, at Belen ....May 30, 31
Robinsonville ....June 1,
Shaw ....June 7, 8
Glen Allan and South Greenville ....June 10,

The District Conference will be held at Cleveland May 27-29.

R. A. MEEK, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST. — SECOND RND.

Tupelo ....Apr 5, 6
Buenavista, at Macedonia...Apr 11, 12
Okolona ....Apr 19, 20
Prairie, at Mulder ....Apr 24,
Amory and Nettleton, at N...Apr 26, 27
Vardaman, at Hurrican .....Apr 30,
Bonds, at Nebo ....May 1,
Pittsboro, at Pittsboro .....May 2, 3
Houlka, at Asbury ....May 9, 10
Palestine, at Ebenezer ......May 14,
Pontotoc, at Chesterville ...May 23, 24
Pontotoc, at Chesterpille ...May 23, 24
Nettleton Ct., at Union .....May 30, 31
Okolona Ct. at B. Chapel...June 6, 7
Aberdeen ....June 9,
Fulton ....June 12,
Smithville ....June 13, 14

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Sardis ....Apr 4, 5
Como ....Apr 11, 12
Senatobia ....Apr 18, 19
Mt. Pleasant, at Marshall Ins.Apr 25, 26
Olive Branch ....May 2, 3
Byhalia, at Emory ....May 5,
Cockrum, at Independence...May 7,
Pleasant Hill, at Baker's C..May 9, 10
Wall Hill, at Grubb Hill.....May 12,
Hernando and Hinds, at H...May 16, 17
Coldwater ....May 18,
Harrison, at Bethel ....May 21,
Courtland, at Wesley's C.....May 23, 24
Batesville ....May 31,
Eureka ....June 4,
Tyro, at Tyro ....June 6, 7
Arkabutla ....June 13, 14
Longtown, at Longtown.....June 16,
Crenshaw ....June 17,

W. M. YOUNG, P. E.

WINONA DIST. — SECOND ROUND.

Schlater, at Sunny Side.....Apr. 4, 5
Eupora, at Eupora ....Apr 8,
Winona Station ....Apr 12, 13
Indianola, at Fairview ......Apr. 18, 19
Moorhead, at Sunflower .....Apr 25, 26
Webb, at Cherry Hill ....May 2, 3
Winona Ct., at Bluff Spgs...May 7,
Inverness ....May 9, 10

Itta Bena ....Mar 15, 16
Carrollton, at Smith's Chap..Mar 21, 22
Greenwood ....Mar 29, 30
Schlater, at Sunny Side ......Apr. 4, 5
Eupora, at Eupora ....Apr. 8,
Winona Station ....Apr 12, 13
Indianola, at Fairview ......Apr 18, 19
Belzoni, at Belzoni ....Apr 24,
Moorhead, at Sunflower ......Apr 25, 26
Webb, at Cherry Hill ....May 2, 3
Inverness, at Lawrence D...May 9, 10
Ruleville, at Sandy Bayou...May 16, 17
Winona Ct., at Bluff Springs..May 20,
Minter City, at Glendora....May 23, 24
Mar's Hill, at Bethesda ......May 30, 31
North Carrollton, at Poplar Springs ....June 6, 7
Tom Nolen, at Lebanon ......June 9,
Slate Spgs., at Spring Hill..June 10,
Vance, at Marks ....June 13, 14

The District Conference will be held in Eupora May 26-28. Opening sermon May 26, 7:30 p.m., by Rev. John Ritchie.

E. S. LEWIS, P. E.

DURANT DIST. — SECOND ROUND.

Louisville ....Apr 4, 5
Ackerman Circuit ....Apr 10,
Chester, at Pisgah ....Apr 11, 12
McCool ....Apr 17,
Rural Hill ....Apr 18, 19
Durant Station ....Apr 21,
Pickens, at Goodman ....Apr 25, 26
Lexington Station ....May 2, 3
Ebenezer Circuit ....May 9, 10
Vaiden, at Kilmichael ......May 16, 17
Black Hawk ....May 23, 24
Kosciusko Circuit ....May 28,
Sidon, at Tchula ....May 30, 31

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE MID-YEAR MEETING.

The Mid-year Meeting of the Mississippi Conference Board of Missions will be held in Centreville on June 15, 16, 17. A programme carrying the names of some of the most prominent mission workers of our church will be published in due time.

Box 1390, Lexington, N C

DON'T SUFFER WITH SKIN DISEASES

Itching, redness, and pain are quickly relieved and the germs of skin and scalp disease destroyed by the use of TETTERINE, the fragrant antiseptic and healing ointment, following baths with Tetterine Soap. This splenndid remedy is a boon to sufferers from Eczema, Tetter, Itching Piles, and all diseases of the skin and scalp. Costs 50c at your druggist's or by mail. Address, The Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure

HISTORY REPEATS.

The day before its practical demonstration half interest in Bell Telephone was offered for $400. The following day it was worth millions. We have an invention equally important to public. Demonstrated next month on Santa Fe. Necessary to all railroads. Immense fortune awaiting investors. Particulars and booklet on request. Simmen Auto Ry. Signal Co., 915 Security Bank Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

has been used for over Sixty-Five Years by millions of mothers for their children while teething with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain; cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1098. An Old and Well Tried Remedy.

CURE YOUR CATARRH FREE
MY NASAL DOUCHE

MY FREE OFFER TO CATARRH SUFFERERS

I want to have the name of every man, woman or child who suffers from Catarrh, Hawking or Spitting, Headaches, Discharging Ears, Head Noises, Ringing or Buzzing in the Ears, so I can send them absolutely free my Nasal Douche, Five Days' Treatment and my New Book on Catarrh, Eye and Ear Troubles. My Nasal Douche is my own invention, constructed on scientific principles, easily cleaned, perfectly sanitary and so simple that any child can use it. I've proved its value in thousands of cases and I want to convince you that I can cure you. I can prove this statement to you in five days' time if you will only let me do so. I don't care how serious your case may be or how long you may have suffered, or what other doctors have told you. I want you to prove it for yourself at my expense. Simply send me your name and address and I will send

My 50c Nasal Douche, Five Days' Treatment and My Illustrated Book—ALL FREE.

My illustrated book tells how to quickly relieve and cure Distressing Head Noises, Ringing and Buzzing in the Ears, Discharging Ears and Catarrh. It tells how deaf people, except those born deaf, may be restored to perfect hearing. It tells in plain, simple language how all diseases and defects of the Eye, such as Failing Eyesight, Cataract, Granulated Lids, Scums, Sore Eyes, etc., etc., may be successfully treated by my patients in their own homes. It tells all about my Mild Medicine Method which has cured so many Catarrh sufferers and has restored hearing and sight to scores of supposedly incurable patients in every State.

Send No Money Simply your name and address on a post card and you'll receive by return mail my 50c Nasal Douche, 5 Days' Treatment and my new Book on Catarrh, Eye and Ear Troubles—all Free. This means absolutely free, no obligation, no promise to pay, no condition whatever. Write today.

DR. F. G. CURTS, 120 Gumbel-Curts Building, KANSAS CITY, MO.

$50 DRAUGHON'S SCHOLARSHIP FOR $25

Four years' NET PROFITS of $85,904.85 enable Draughon's chain of 30 Colleges to make this special offer, for a limited time, to favor those short of work or cash by reason of late financial depression. FREE CATALOGUE will convince you that BUSINESS MEN consider

DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL BUSINESS COLLEGES

THE BEST. No vacation; enter any time. POSITIONS SECURED—written CONTRACT.
SHREVEPORT, JACKSON (MISS), DALLAS, GALVESTON (TEXAS), NASHVILLE and WASHINGTON (D. C.)

W. H. BYRNES, Pres. JOHN T. GIBBONS, Vice-Pres. W. WOOD, Sec'y.
Capital $200,000.00
Assets 479,860.90

HIBERNIA INSURNCE CO.,
No. 305 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
LOSSES PROMPTLY PAID.

Pine-Brook Dairy Co., Ltd.
ALL OUR COWS TUBERCULINE TESTED.
Milk and Cream Delivered Morning and Evening.
COR ST. CHARLES & WASHINGTON AVES. Phone 1514 Uptown.

THE AMERICAN PAINT WORKS,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.,
MANUFACTURES EVERYTHING IN PAINTS,
Guaranteed Strictly Pure
The Climatic Prepared Paints, Perfecto White and
SOLD SUBJECT TO A CHEMICAL ANALYSIS.
DIRECTORS:
Thos. S. Witherspoon, President. Francis Martin, Vice President.
R. B. Parker. John McCloskey. Geo. A. Hero.
PHONE, MAIN 915. Special Attention to Mail Orders.

New Orleans Light House
FRIEDRICH MERCANTILE COMPANY
636 CAMP STREET
LIGHTS

(Friedrich Mercantile Co.)
Well-known Welbach Gas Lights, all styles. Something new. Tubus Gas Lights, very popular. Inverted Gas Lights at $1.10. The Practicus Coal Oil Lamp that burns a mantle 60 hours to one gallon of coal oil. You are invited to see this brilliant light. Gasoline Hollow Wire Lamp Systems, substitute for gas and electric lights.
Full Stock of Lighting Supplies.
Country Orders Solicited.

Aches and Pains, Rheumatism,

or a generally tired feeling are nature's way of letting you know that some organ of your body is out of order and needs attention—such as Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys, Liver or other functional part of the body. Nature does not send you these pains to torture you, but to warn you that you are in danger and need to supply these parts with what is missing. Do not neglect these warnings, for the consequence may be serious. Write to me to-day, describing your condition fully. let me be your doctor to tell you just what to do to get well. It will cost you nothing for this advice, and I send a trial treatment free. You can decide for yourself whether or not you wish to follow my treatment after the free trial. Write to-day to DR. F. A. BARRET, 1271 South Seventh Street, St. Louis, Mo.

Silver
Aluminum
Jelly Moulds
FREE
Leaflet in each package
Jell-O
Explaining.
10c. package
All grocers

The Guaranteed
Exterminator

Stearns' Electric RAT and ROACH Paste is guaranteed to rid the house, barn or store of cockroaches, rats, mice, water bugs, etc. Sold at druggists or general stores everywhere, or sent prepaid on receipt of price.
2 oz. box, 25c; 16 oz. box, $1.00.
STEARNS' ELECTRIC PASTE CO., Buffalo, N.Y., U.S.A.

BELLS.
Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. ☞ Send for

FREE RIFLE

This handsome 1000 Shot Rifle absolutely free to any boy who will send us 45 cents for one of our Samples, and give us a few hours of his spare time for one week. This Rifle is great for Target practice, and is sure death to small game and rats. Address with 45 cents, stamps or money order.

WE SHIP ON APPROVAL without a cent deposit, prepay the freight and allow 10 DAYS FREE TRIAL.
IT ONLY COSTS one cent to learn our unheard of prices and marvelous offers on highest grade 1908 model bicycles.
FACTORY PRICES Do not buy a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone at any price until you write for our large Art Catalog and learn our wonderful proposition on first sample bicycle going to your town.
RIDER AGENTS everywhere are making big money exhibiting and selling our bicycles. We Sell cheaper than any other factory.
Tires, Coaster-Brakes, single wheels, parts, repairs and sundries at half usual prices. Do Not Wait; write today for our special offer.
MEAD CYCLE CO., Dept. L266. CHICAGO

The object of school training is not to put facts into the mind of the student, but rather to teach him how to think for himself. The object of church training is not only to put the knowledge of God's gracious offer into his mind, but to teach him how to think and plan for the promotion of Christ's glory and Christ's cause.—Selected.

Prohibition is already succeeding to a remarkable extent in Oklahoma, despite the handicap of inter-state commerce violations and the bands of outlaws which still infest parts of Indian Territory, now that the strong arm of the Federal Government has been withdrawn. In Oklahoma City, the metropolis of the State, prohibition is working splendidly.

Classified Advertisements.

EDUCATIONAL.

WANTED—30,000 telegraphers, on account of the new 8-hour law. Draughon's Colleges, 30 in 17 states, give written contract to secure position or refund money. Address Jno. F. Draughon, Washington, Nashville, Atlanta, Raleigh, St. Louis, Dallas, Little Rock or San Antonio.

OPPORTUNITIES AND INVESTMENTS.

INVESTMENT—We can lend your money on first mortgage City realty at from 6 per cent. to 8 per cent profit, net. ALL LOANS GUARANTEED. Pensacola is the nearest city in the U.S. to Panama Canal and is rapidly improving. Escambia Realty Co. Inc., Pensacola, Fla.

Manufacturer's Opportunity.—Splendid chance to secure $22,800 plant,—oil mill and knitting mill combined—at a bargain, one-fourth cash, balance in 1, 2 and 3 years. Address at once Jacobs & Co., Agts., Clinton, S. C.

Epworth League

PRAYER-MEETING TOPIC.

April 12: An Easter Message: "Go Tell My Brethren." Matt. xxviii. 1-10; Isa. xl. 9-11. (Esther.)

Jesus lives.

This is the great glad message of Easter, a message which ought to gladden every hour of all our years. What Jesus' death meant to his disciples we can but faintly realize. We too have given the grave our loved ones, and passed the weary hours; but they—their friend was gone. Yes, and more—"But we had trusted that it had been he which should have redeemed Israel." They could not understand a Messiah who could die. Their friend was dead, and their hope was dead, too. The darkness of Calvary had settled thick upon their hearts. All Jesus had taught and done, all he had revealed concerning the Father and his love, all he had claimed concerning himself, his mission, his power; all he had promised of pardon and help and life—all demanded that he should live. With his death, these seemed to have passed like dreams of the night. "If Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; and ye are yet in your sins." But Easter dawns, and the message is carried on eager feet: "Jesus lives." Hope revives. "Then they remembered his words." He lives. He lives. All his claims are confirmed and established. And to-day we rejoice in a Savior who, "having tasted death" for every man, has robbed death of its sting and the grave of its terrors, and declares himself in mighty power "the resurrection and the life."

I have seen him.

Jesus lives, but what is it to you? Have you seen him? To say "I have seen him," is the personal side of this Eastertide. Mary saw him, but the disciples did not believe her; the other women saw him, and their words were regarded as idle tales; the two walking to Emmaus heard he was alive, but had met no one who had seen him, and they were "sad." Neither was their word believed by the disciples. Only when they had seen him for themselves were they "glad"—"then were the disciples glad when they saw the Lord." The joy of Eastertide comes only to those who have seen him. And this personal testimony is a very essential part of our message.

You shall see him.

Here is the point of the Easter message for Christians of to-day. "Jesus lives, and I have seen him," is only part of the message. You have never heard it aright if you think that is the whole of it. The greater part yet remains—"Go tell my brethren that they go into Galilee, and there shall they see me." Jesus has arranged to meet us all, that all may see him. So many have never seen him because we have not told them where to meet him. Ever new is the old pathetic cry, "Why did you not tell us before?" The heart of the world is sick for a sight of his face, and he has arranged for a meeting, but we are so slow in telling the peoples how they may find him. Yet this is our mission and our message. You shall see me—Jesus has said it; the world needs to hear it; we must tell it. The news is so good that, like the women, we should "run to tell" it.

How to do it.

The Korean Christians with their 30,000 converts last year are an example of a witnessing church. Mr. Gerdine told at the recent Missionary Convention in Pittsburg of passing through a section of country where no foreign missionary had ever been, and hearing boys on the hillside sing in their own tongue,

"What can wash away my sins?
Nothing but the blood of Jesus."

In another such section a native Christian had gathered in one year two hundred converts. Two native Christian business men, at the request of their missionary pastor, sold out their business at a loss, and moved into a needy district, that there might be some one there to "tell the story." Miss Guthapfel tells of a woman remaining alone in a hostile community, from which for Jesus' sake her husband and sons had been driven out, in order that the place might not be left without some one to "tell about Jesus." These people are a rebuke in their eagerness and sacrifice, to us who are at ease and care not that Christ's own perish for lack of knowledge. "Go tell my brethren."—By Rev. Geo. Grant, in Pittsburg Christian Advocate.

OUR FRIENDS.

We give below a list of our friends who have helped us by sending in clubs. In this list the names sent in the last few days have not been included. In a few weeks we will show the list of clubs again.

Those who have sent us between five and ten are:

Rev. J. A. Alford, Jackson.
Rev. G. D. Anders, McComb, Miss.
Rev. McK. M. Black, Purvis, Miss.
Rev. W. A. Clark, Kosciusko, Miss.
Rev. D. L. Cogdell, Coahoma, Miss.
Rev. J. M. Carley, Prentiss, Miss.
Rev. J. E. Craig, Tickfaw, La.
Rev. T. J. Durrett, Nettleton, Miss.
Rev. H. C. Edmonson, Slate Springs.
Rev. C. H. Ellis, Ellisville, Miss.
Rev. R. A. Ellis, Yazoo City, Miss.
Rev. T. E. Gregory, Tomnolen, Miss.
Rev. S. D. Howard, Eunice, La.
Rev. J. B. King, McComb, Miss.
Rev. W. H. Lane, Monticello, Miss.
Rev. J. L. Lay, Alberta, La.
Rev. W. B. Lewis, Mosspoint, Miss.
Rev. R. T. Nolen, Philadelphia, Miss.
Rev. A. H. Parker, Pelican, La.
Rev. W. W. Perry, Leakesville.
Rev. R. Randle, Lisbon, La.
Miss Susie Reed, Natchez, Miss.
Rev. B. H. Rawls, Decatur, Miss.
Rev. S. L. Riggs, Kentwood, La.
Rev. J. S. Rutledge, Pinegrove, La.
Rev. R. O. Weir, Bayou Lachute, La.
Rev. J. R. Watson, Mt. Pleasant.

Those who sent from ten to fifteen are:

Rev. J. M. Alford, Baker, La.
Rev. F. A. Lane, Forest, Miss.
Rev. A. W. Langley, N. Albany, Miss.
Rev. J. M. Massey, Satartia, Miss.
Rev. W. W. Moore, Montrose, Miss.
Mrs. T. S. Randle, Lanesville, La.
Rev. A. G. Shunkle, Ruston, La.

Those who sent from fifteen to twenty are:

Rev. W. L. Blackwell, Vicksburg.
Rev. W. W. Graves, Rose Hill, Miss.

Those who sent from twenty to thirty are:

Rev. E. Blizzard, Myrtle, Miss.
Rev. S. A. Brown, Byhalia, Miss.
Rev. R. W. Evans, Brownville, Miss.
Rev. J. H. Foreman, Hermanville.
Rev. G. W. Gordon, Myrtle, Miss.
Rev. W. C. Harris, New Albany.
Miss M. Higginbotham, Merrouge.
Rev. A. A. Martin, Abbeville, Miss.
Rev. J. F. McClellan, Trenton, Miss.
Rev. R. T. Pickett, Mentorum, Miss.
Rev. T. H. Porter, Webb, Miss.
Rev. O. L. Savage, Iuka, Miss.
Rev. M. L. Ward, Mantachie, Miss.
Rev. W. W. Woolard.

Those who sent over thirty are:

Rev. G. W. Bachman, Winona, Miss.
Rev. C. C. Griffin, Daleville, Miss.
Rev. M. H. Moore, Sharon, Miss.

The doctrines are but highways that lead to him.—Moody.

Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.
MOXINE

Vision, aspiration is the first essential.—James M. Taylor.

AFTER NINE YEARS, RELIEF

A True Story, With a Moral Which Points to Some Interesting Ways for Women to Cure Themselves From the Agonies Caused by Female Disease and Disturbance.

LETTER FROM A LADY

Nine Years of Constant Suffering and Failure of Doctors to Give Relief, Left the Writer No Chance But to Try This Method of Home Treatment, Which Afforded Prompt and Permanent Relief.

FREE ADVICE FOR LADIES

Nine years is a long time to suffer from the terrible pangs of female disease. Think of it! Nine long, weary years, of seemingly endless suffering! A long, dark inferno, with no turning! And then, one day, a light in the distance, a feeling of new health, freedom, relief and realization of perfect cure.

Such, in brief, is the story of Lizzie Matthews, of Mount Vernon, Ga., whose letter we print below. She says:

"I was troubled with female disease for nine (9) years. The doctors first called it 'nervous prostration,' then 'change of life,' and finally 'catarrh of the organs,' but no matter what they called it, they could give me no relief.

"At last I decided to take Wine of Cardui. I have now taken three (3) bottles and can say that my health is better than it has been in nine years. Before I began to take Cardui, I could not eat anything, could hardly sleep, my back and hips would ache, and then I would be nervous and I was troubled with leucorrhoea. Once a month I would have to go to bed for two or three days. Since taking Cardui I do not have to stay in bed more than a half a day, and all my other troubles have gone.

"I have praised Cardui to all my friends, and shall continue to do so. I wish every suffering lady would try it."

For young, middle-aged and old, Wine of Cardui forms a perfect female tonic. It is a pure scientific vegetable extract, perfectly harmless, absolutely non-intoxicating, always reliable and effective.

Obtainable at all prominent drug stores in $1.00 bottles.

You are earnestly urged to write for Free Advice about your case to Ladies' Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., stating age and describing frankly your symptoms. All requests for advice sacredly confidential, and replies sent in plain sealed envelopes.

TO CURE ECZEMA.

The one infallible method by which Eczema can be quickly and permanently cured is by the use of HEISKELL'S OINTMENT. For half a century this great remedy has been the means of curing skin diseases of every nature. Erysipelas, Tetter, Ulcers, Pimples, Ringworm, Blotchy Skin, Eruptions, Rough Skin, Salt Rheum, Scald Head—all yield as readily to the marvelous curative virtues of HEISKELL'S OINTMENT as the dread disease—Eczema. Before applying the ointment, bathe the affected parts, using HEISKELL'S MEDICINAL SOAP. HEISKELL'S BLOOD AND LIVER PILLS tone up the liver and cleanse the blood. Ointment, 50 cents a box; Soap, 25 cents a cake; Pills, 25 cents a bottle—at all druggists. Send for interesting book of testimonials to JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & Co., 531 Commerce Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

Sunday School

By W. B. Campbell.

LESSON FOR APRIL 19.

JESUS ANOINTED AT BETHANY.

John xii, 1-11.

Golden Text: "We love him because he first loved us." I John iv. 19.

At the name of Bethany there arises in the mind of the Bible student who is a disciple of the Lord Jesus, a train of thought that calls forth a sympathy and love toward those that befriended the Savior in his last few days before the end of his life on earth. In Jerusalem all was noise and tumult arising from the vast crowds that came to attend the Passover. Jesus was in the city teaching by day, and when night came he would retire to the village of Bethany for rest and quiet. His haven of rest was at the home of Lazarus and his sisters. Six days before the passover, Jesus' friends at Bethany had prepared a supper, a feast given in his honor. Two of the Gospel narrators say the supper was given at the house of Simon the leper. This Simon must have been cleansed from the dread disease at some previous time, which fact may have directed him to the company of others who also had a debt of gratitude to render to the Lord. The guest of guests was the Master—he who could lay aside the great sorrow of soul that was his even unto death, and there at the table of welcome be all to others, that were trying to give evidence of love and gratitude. Lazarus was there; he who had been dead and at the word of the Son of God came back to life. Martha was there moving about in anxious hurry to serve him who had been so much to her. Mary was there, rendering service in a different way, but a way that was in accord with that better part she had chosen and which cannot be taken from her.

We are not told of the theme of conversation, but we know that Lazarus could have told of things that are not for human ears, and we often wonder whether the Lord had questioned him as one who had come from his heavenly home. Simon could have told of his wonderful deliverance from a living death. It must have been a love feast, indeed. This was the last time Jesus would ever be among them in so quiet and so peaceful way; only a short distance away a plot was being laid to take him a prisoner, and the enemy had an aid even among the chosen twelve. They wanted also to take Lazarus and put him to death. Jesus had often told his disciples of how his earthly life would end, but they seemed not to be able to comprehend his words. The feast continued, each one striving to show love and honor to him who was so much in every way to them. Near the end of the supper Mary came in bearing a box of precious ointment, and as the Lord sat she break the box and poured the ointment on his feet; she then wiped them with her hair. All this had a meaning that even his disciples could not comprehend, and had this scene ended the evening's entertainment, it could have been called a feast of peace, indeed. The disciples could see nothing in Mary's act but a useless waste, and they began to murmur. Judas Iscariot was a most appropriate spokesman in setting forth a better use of the costly perfume and ointment. He spoke of helping the poor, he that cared nothing for the poor. Mary did not know why she had kept this precious ointment; she must have been as much surprised as the others when Jesus said: "Let her alone, against the day of my burying hath she kept this. For the poor always ye have with you, but me ye have not always." One in writing of this incident, says, "And the house was filled," and to all time his house, the Church, is filled—with the odor of the ointment. Wherever in the whole world, where Christ is known and loved, and where his Word is preached and heard, this sweet service of Mary is known and told. What a monument to a loving spirit! "The poor ye have always," said the Master. He was made poor for our sakes, that through his poverty we might be made rich. And these thoughts come to mind from what the betrayer said. Can it be that there is no place so sacred and holy on this earth but that the devil intrudes himself?

Mary did not think of the cost of her gift to the Lord. She loved him, and the best she had was not good enough for him. Let us give him the best we have, and that will be poor indeed, for he is all that we are and all that we have, and it is not a gift to return what has been given. The best we have for him is a life that will be a living epistle, telling a careless world of how he would love and serve. We must learn of Jesus as Mary learned at his feet. There is a sadness about this period of the Lord's life, and we feel as if we are about to part with a dear friend. In our studies we have been near him; with him in spirit as he went about doing good; we knew how it would all end on the cruel cross on Calvary, and nearing the end we have learned to love him more. Like a loving letter written by some sweet one, long since dead and gone, we turn the pages of the blessed Word and read of how he lived here to teach us how to live, and all the sweet promises are ours as they came from him, in all truth and verity, as if we heard them said.

Let us have our homes full of peace, so that Jesus will turn aside and abide with us, as he did with Martha, Mary and Lazarus. Let us have a holy hour when we can "sup with him and he with us," in humble grateful prayer. Where the fires burn on the family altar, peace and love will ever abide, for we love him because he first loved us.

It is a poor kind of religion which is left at home and is not carried with us on our summer vacations. If we can find no one to join us in the services, we can at least take our prayer books and read the services and the appointed lessons ourselves. Take your Bible and prayer book with you when you leave home and use them.—Exchange.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—SECOND RND

Donaldsonville, at Vacherie	Apr 18, 19
Slidell, at Mandeville	Apr 26,
Louisiana Avenue ... a.m.	May 3,
Algiers ... p.m.	May 3,
Felicity ... a.m.	May 10,
Epworth ... p.m.	May 10,
First Church	May 17,
Rayne ... a.m.	May 24,
Carrollton ... p.m.	May 24,
Covington	June 6, 7
Second Church	June 11,

F. N. PARKER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—SECOND RND.

Colfax and Montgomery, at C.	Apr 11, 12
Pineville, at Holloway's P.	Apr 18, 19
Mister's Chapel	Apr 25, 26
Boyce, at Eden	May 2, 3
Pollock, at Tioga	May 6,
[illegible]	May 9, 10
Boeuf River	May 11,
[illegible], at Ward's Chapel	May 16, 17
Opelousas, at Opelousas	May 18,
Alexandria, at First Church	May 23, 24
Alexandria, West End	May 24, 25
Simmsport, at Woodside	May 30, 31
Dry Creek, at Hopewell	June 5,
Glenmora, at Forest Hill	June 6, 7
Natchitoches	June 11,

The District Conference will convene in Natchitoches June 12-14.

N. E. JOYNER, P. E.

Alexandria, La.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—SECOND RND.

Pelican, at Mitchell	Apr 18, 19
Wesley, at Davis Spring	Apr 24, 25
Coushatta, at Campti	Apr 26, 27
La Chute, at Atkins	May 2, 3
Mansfield Circuit	May 9, 10
Zwolle, at Noble	May 16, 17
Mansfield	May 17, 18
Many	May 23, 24
Ida, at Ida	May 30, 31
Shreveport, Texas Ave.	June 1, 2
Shreveport, [illegible]	June 3,
Shreveport, Noel Memorial	June 4,
Pleasant Hill	June 6, 7
Greenwood	June 8, 9
Hornbeck	June 13, 14
Leesville	June 14, 15
Bon Ami	June 20, 21
[illegible]	June 21, 22
Mooringsport	June 24, 25
Provencal	June 27, 28

Our Annual Preachers' Meeting and Missionary Institute will meet at Mansfield Monday night, May 18, and close Wednesday night. We want each pastor to bring at least three laymen and as many of the good women as possible.

T. J. WARLICK, P. E.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—SECOND RND.

Ethel, at New Hope	Apr 18, 19
Jackson	Apr 19, 20
Baker, at Brookstown	Apr 25, 26
Zachary and Slaughter, at Z.	Apr 26, 27
Port Vincent, at Huffs	May 2, 3
Ponchatoula, at Springfield	May 3, 4
Hammond	May 5,
Independence, at I.	May 6,
Amite City	May 7,
Franklinton, at Angie	May 9, 10
Mt. Hermon Ct., at Mt. H.	May 11,
Kentwood	May 12,
St Helena, at Wesley	13,
St Francisvill, at Star Hill	16, 17
Pinegrove, at Montpelier	May 23, 24
Liveoak, at Alford's	May 30, 31
East Feliciana, at Clear Cr.	June 6, 7
Melville, at Cottonwood	June 13, 14
Newroads	June 21, 22
Baton Rouge, First Church	June 28, 25
Baton Rouge, Second Ch.	June 28, 29

R. W. TUCKER, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—SECOND RND.

N. Bossier, at Walker's Ch.	Apr 18, 19
Benton, at Alden's	Apr 20,
Haughton, at Doyline	Apr 25, 26
Gibsland, at Athens	Apr 27,
Arcadia	Apr 28,
Lingsboro, at Jonesboro	May 3, 4
Vernon, at New Prospect	May 9, 10
Bernice, at Bernice	May 15,
Lisbon, at Harmony	May 16, 17
Ruston	May 18,
Minden	May 19,
Ringgold, at Andrew's	May 20,
Lanesville, at Pine Grove	May 23, 24
C. Valley, at C. Valley	May 26,
Winnfield	May 31, June 1

District Conference will be about the last week in July. Preachers, please take notice and make no conflicting appointments.

BRISCOE CARTER, P. E.

CROWLEY DIST. SECOND ROUND.

Eunice	April 19
Morgan City	April 26
Patterson	April 26
Sulphur and Vinton	May 3
Lake Charles	May 3
Lake Arthur	May 17
Jennings	May 24

J. M. HENRY, P. E.

MONROE DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

West Monroe, at Faulk Ch.	Apr 18, 19
Lake Providence, at L. P.	Apr 25, 26
Farmerville, at Marion	May 2, 3
Brookland, at Sardis	May 9, 10
Eros, at Indian Village	May 16, 17
Merrouge, at M.	May 23, 24
Mangham, at Little Creek	May 30, 31
Harrisonburg, at Jonesville	June 6, 7
Florence, at Holly Grove	June 13, 14
Downsville, at Douglas	June 17,
Waterproof, at St. Joseph	June 20, 21
Floyd, at Midway	June 27, 28

J. E. DENSON, P. E.

Mississippi Conference.

MERIDIAN DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Leakesville, at Adamsville, 11 a.m.	Apr 17.
Buckatunna, at Stateline	Apr 19, 20
Daleville, at Chapel, 11 a.m.	Apr 22.
Binnsville	Apr 26, 27
Lauderdale, at Mt Hebron, 11 a.m.	Apr 30.
[illegible], at New Hope	May 2, 3
DeKalb, at New Hope, at 11 a.m.	May 6.
North Kemper, at Mellen, 11 a.m.	May 7,
Martherville, at Hiwanee	May 9, 10
Seventh Avenue, 7:15 p.m.	May 13,
Enterprise, at Stonewall	May 16, 17
Pachuta, at De Soto, 11 a.m.	May 22.
Waynesboro Ct., at Big R.	May 23, 24
South Side, 8 p.m.	May 26,
Vimville, 11 a.m.	May 27,
Middleton, at State Line	May 30, 31

The District Missionary Institute will be held April 7 and 8 at Central Church. The District Epworth League Conference will be held at Central Church Apr.

W. C. BLACK, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—SECOND ROUND

Hermanville, at Sarepta	Apr 18, 19
Silver City, at S. C.	Apr 30,
Satartia, at Satartia	May 2, 3
Oak Ridge, at Redwood	May 9, 10
Port Gibson, at P. G.	May 13,
Rocky Springs, at Cayuga	May 23, 24
Edwards, at E.	June 1,
Anguilla, at Grace	June 4, 5
Rolling Fork, at Cary	June 6, 7
Vicksburg, C. Street	June 13, 14
Bolton, at Raymond	June 20, 21
Mayersville, at Shiloh	June 27, 28

District Conference will be held at Edwards May 27-30.

G. H. GALLOWAY, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—SECOND ROUND

Hamburg, at Roxie	Apr 19, 20
Homochitto, at Salem	Apr 25, 26
Caseyville, at Galatin	May 2, 3
Bethel, at Mt. Carmel	May 9, 10
Centerville	May 10, 11
Percy's Creek, at P. C.	May 16,
Woodville	May 17, 18
[illegible], at Tabernacle	May 23, 24
Natchez, Pearl Street	May 30, 31
Natchez, Jefferson St.	May 31, June 1
Washington, at Kingston	June 6, 7
[illegible]	June 13,
Fayette, at Ebenezer	June 14, 15
Wilkinson, at Mars Hill	June 20, 21
Meadville, at Nebo	June 27, 28

The District Conference will be held at Woodville May 13-16.

J. T. LEGGETT, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Pearlington and Logtown, at
Escatawpa, at Caswell Spgs.	Apr 18, 19
Pascagoula	Apr 20,
Brooklyn and Bond, at Garaway Chapel	Apr 25, 26
Longbeach	May 2, 3
Pass Christian	May 4,
Biloxi, Main Street	May 5,
Gulfport, Twenty-fifth Ave.	May 6,
Gulfport, Twenty-ninth	May 7,
Howison and Saucier	May 9, 10
Carriere, at Nicholson	May 14,
Lumberton	May 15,
Hattiesburg, Broad St.	May 16, 17
McHenry and Wiggins, at McHenry	May 23, 24
Mentorum, at Zion	May 25,
Ocean Springs and Oak St., at Oak Street	May 30, 31
Coalville	June 1,
Wolf River	June 3,
Hattiesburg, Court Street	June 6, 7
Hattiesburg, Main Street	June 7, 8

District Conference at McHenry, May 19-23. Opening sermon at 7:30 p.m. by Rev. J. W. Thompson. Sermon evening of 20th by Rev. D. P. Bradford followed by administration of the Lord's supper.

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Magee, at Oakvale	Apr 18, 19
Florence, at Wesleyana	Apr 25, 27
Madison, at Pocahontas	May 2, 3
Yazoo City	May 8,
Flora, at Bentonia	May 9, 10
Pinola, at Harrisville	May 20,
Terry, at Spring Ridge	May 23, 24
Jackson, Capitol St.	May 27,
Benton, at Tranquil	May 30, 31
Eden, at Phillips	June 2,
Canton	June 6, 7
Lintonia, at Anding	June 13, 14
Mount Olive	June 20, 21

A. F. WATKINS, P. E.

NEWTON DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Montrose, at Montrose	Apr 19, 20
Chunky, at Last Gap	Apr 25,
Newton	Apr 26, 27
Homewood, at High Hill	May 2, 3
Vossburg, at Philadelphia	May 9,
Laurel	May 10, 11
Fifth Avenue	May 10, 11
Rose Hill, at Garlandsville	May 16,
Morton, at P.	May 17, 18
Harpersville, at Contrell	May 23, 24
Trenton, at Trenton	May 30,
Raleigh, at Raleigh	May 31, 32
Hebron, at Hebron	June 6, 7
Ellisville, at Ellisville	June 9,
Decatur, at Neshoba	June 12,
Philadelphia, at Hester's	June 13, 14
Indian Miss., at Phillips	June 19,
Edinberg, at Edinberg	June 20, 21
Neshoba, at Mt. Pisgah	June 27, 28
Walnut Grove, at Zion	July 3,
Carthage, at ———	July 4, 5

JAS. M. WEEMS, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—SECOND RND.

Gallman, at Mt. Pleasant	Apr 18, 19
Bogue Chitto and Norfield, at Norfield	Apr 19, 20
McComb and Fernwood, at F.	Apr 25, 26
Pearlhaven, at Hawkins Ch.	May 2, 3
Brookhaven	May 3, 4
District Conference at Tylertown	May 6, 10
Tylertown, at China Gr.	May 11,
Monticello, at Sontag	May 16, 17
Beauregard, at N. Wesson	May 17, 18
Wesson	May 23, 24
Summit, at Osyka	May 24, 25
Adams, at Adams	May 30, 31
Pearl River, at W. Chapel	June 3,
Topisaw, at Holmesville	June 6, 7

GEO. H. THOMPSON, P. E.

Don't you know
That Craddock-Terry Co's
Long Wear Shoes
wear longer than other shoes at the same price? If not, try a pair of these celebrated shoes and be convinced.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

"Spiritualism Exposed"
is the title of a lecture delivered by Rev. T. W. Petty, which is now being published in book form. The price prepaid is fifty cents, and everybody interested in spiritualism should read it. Agents wanted in every state. Book and terms to any address on receipt of price. NEW PUBLISHING CO., Phoenix, Arizona.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

Pain and Misery

Is simply nerve-disturbance. Derangements in any part of the body irritate the nerves centered there. The greater the disturbance the more severe the pain. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills stop pain and misery because they relieve this irritation. Many women find great relief from periodical suffering by taking Anti-Pain Pills on first indication of distress or pain.

"Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are the best headache remedy on earth. Mother and I have used this remedy for the past seven years."
MISS ORLENA SCHIENKE, Enid, Okla.

If they fail to help, your druggist will refund the money on first package. 25 doses, 25 cents. Never sold in bulk.

MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

COMMENCEMENT PROGRAMME OF PORT GIBSON FEMALE COLLEGE.

Friday.

8 p. m.—W. C. T. U. Gold Medal Contest.

Saturday.

5 to 7 p m.—Junior Reception.

4:30 p. m.—Alumnae Meeting.

Sunday.

11 a. m.—Sermon by Rev. R. W. Tucker.

8 p. m.—Public Meeting of the College Epworth League.

Address by Rev. G. H. Galloway.

Monday.

9:30 a. m.—Meeting of the Board of Trustees.

10 a. m.—Art Levee.

11 a. m.—Delivery of Medals and Diplomas.

Address by State Superintendent J. N. Powers.

8:30 p. m.—Grand Concert.

(On account of change iu standard of study there are no literary graduates this year.)

BROOKHAVEN DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

The District Conference of the Brookhaven District will be held at Tylertown May 6-10.

The opening sermon will be preached Wednesday, 6th, at 8 p. m., by Rev. C. H. Ellis.

The District Conference will be called to order at 8:30 a. m., May 7. Members of the Conference traveling via I. C. R. R. will change cars at Fernwood. Trains on the Fernwood and Gulf R. R. leave Fernwood at 6 a. m. and 1 p. m.

The following are the examining committees:

For License to Preach: H. W. Featherstun, M. L. White, G. H. Collins.

For Admission: J. S. Parker, H. B. Watkins, D. E. Kelly.

For Local Orders: T. W. Adams, F. A. Grimes, J. W. Crisler.

For Quarterly Conference Records: J. G. Galloway, A. B. Conally, J. V. Bennett.

Parties desiring to go before either of these committees are requested to meet them at 2 o'clock p. m., May 7.

Let united prayer be offered that his presence may be a great benediction to our gathering.

GEO. H. THOMPSON, P. E.

Agents Wanted to sell REX OILS & REX CHILL TONIC to your neighbors. No traveling salesmen wanted. J. S. BURTON, Medicine Co. Sherman, Texas.

Marriages.

At the residence of Mr. Montgomery, near Wakefield, La., by Rev. E. L. Cargill, on Dec. 25, 1907, Mr. RUFUS SPILLMAN and Miss EUGENIA LANIUS.

Jan. 9, 1908, at the residence of Mr. Wells, Bayou Sara, La., by Rev. E. L. Cargill, Mr. GEORGE FREDERICK and Miss IDA BRIGGS.

At the residence of Mr. B. E. Eskridge, St. Francisville, La., by Rev. E. L. Cargill, on Feb. 5, 1908, Mr. JAS. C. ROBBINS, of Arkansas, and Miss MAUD E. GARNER, of St. Francisville, La.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

New Orleans District, Rev. F. N. Parker, D.D., presiding elder; residence, 241 Olivier St.

Rev. John T. Sawyer, D.D., Conference Missionary Evangelist; residence, 2421 Chestnut St.; phone, Uptown 1832.

First Methodist Church, St. Charles Ave., near Calliope St.; Rev. J. E. Wray, pastor; residence, 5830 Prytania St.; phone, Uptown 329; office hours, at Church, 2 to 3 p. m.; Church phone, Main 1779.

Second Methodist Church, 2531 Burgundy, near Lafayette Ave.; Rev. A. I. Townsley, pastor; residence, 2728 N. Rampart St.; office hours, 9 to 11 a.m.; phone, Main 978.

Parker Memorial, corner Nashville avenue and Perrier street; Rev. C. D. Atkinson, pastor; residence 734 Nashville avenue.

Louisiana Avenue, corner Louisiana Ave. and Magazine St.; Rev. W. W. Holmes, pastor; residence 2903 Camp St.; phone, Uptown 1391.

Rayne Memorial, St. Charles Avenue and General Taylor Streets; Dr. John A. Rice, pastor; residence, 1101 Peniston Street.

Felicity Street Church, corner Felicity and Chestnut Streets; Rev. Albert S. Lutz, pastor; residence 2321 Chestnut Street.

Carrollton Avenue, corner Carrollton avenue and Elm street; Rev. Henry T. Carley, pastor; residence, 1125 Fern St.; 'phone, Uptown 1238.

Algiers, Lavergne Street, corner Delaronde; Rev. J. F. Foster, pastor.

McDonoghville and Gretna, Rev. H. Whitehead, pastor; residence 5208 Magazine Street; phone, Uptown 2459.

Epworth Church, corner Banks and Scott Streets; Rev. L. A. Sims, pastor; residence, 232 South Pierce Street.

Rev. Jno. L. Sutton, Superintendent Orphan Boys' Asylum; residence, 5220 St. Charles Ave.; phone, Uptown 128.

Rev. L. E. Wicht, junior preacher Lower Coast Mission; address, 509 Board of Trade Bldg., New Orleans.

BLOOD POISONING POSITIVELY CURED

Hereditary, primary, secondary and tertiary. Scrofula, Eczema, Blood and Skin Disease. If you have exhausted old time methods, and want to get well, write me in fullest confidence for proof of cures. Take my treatment and get well. A. A. BROWER, M. D.
San Antonia, Tex.

The robe of righteousness will not fit a turncoat.

Profession and practice are twin sisters.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

ANGELL PHARMACY COMPANY,
2300 Baronne Street, corner Philip.
PRESCRIPTIONS OUR SPECIALTY. Phone Main 4268.
Pure Drugs, Chemicals, Toilet Articles, Perfumery, Stationery, etc.

TRY ANGELL'S COUGH & WHOOPING COUGH SYRUP
Price 25 and 50 cents. Sold by all Druggists.

HOMŒPATHIC DEPARTMENT.
Homoeopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, Globules, Sugar of Milk, Etc.
Prices: 1-2 ounce vial 15 cents, 1 ounce vial 25 cents.
PROMPT DELIVERY.

A GOOD PIANO,
PIANO PLAYER or PLAYER PIANO see the
Grunewald's
Before You Buy.
Agents for the Latest Improved and best Instruments on the Market.

Cheapest School on Earth

Because we charge enough to enable us to give something just a little better, just a little more up-to-date, and much more of it in the finished product, than the other "fellow."

Departments:—Preparatory, Bookkeeping, Shorthand, and Typewriting.

BUSINESS COLLEGE Young's VICKSBURG, MISS.

The best system of Bookkeeping, Shorthand, and general routine. The kind that is made up from actual office experience, not from supposition and a smattering book idea.

New typewriters, the touch system, with blanked keyboards.

Write to-day for prices, full particulars and a few souvenir post cards.

SCROFULINE
The Wonderful Healer

Unsurpassed for tetter, ezcema, skin and scalp troubles, old sores, ulcers and piles, any nature or duration. Goes to the very seat of the trouble, kills the germs and extracts all foreign matter. Sold under a positive guarantee, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per jar. Mail orders promptly filled. Stamps accepted. Liberal sample upon request. Address,

THE SCROFULINE COMPANY, Waco, Texas.
SOLE OWNERS AND MANUFACTURERS.

$35.50 FROM NEW ORLEANS TO CALIFORNIA,
MARCH 2 TO APRIL 30, '08, INCLUSIVE,
VIA
Southern Pacific "Sunset Route"

This rate applies from most points in LOUISIANA, correspondingly low rates from other points.

PULLMAN TOURIST SLEEPERS, OIL BURNING LOCOMOTIVES,
DAILY NEW ORLEANS TO SAN FRANCISCO.
F. E. BATTURS, GEN. PASS. AGT., NEW ORLEANS.

Obituaries.

MEMORIAL.

Be it resolved by the members of the Bible class of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Sunday school, of Franklinton, La.:

First, That we have sustained an irreparable loss in the death of our beloved member and brother, R. H. BABINGTON.

Second, That death has taken from our town and community this good man and citizen, but his good deeds and kind acts will live in the hearts of his fellow-men as long as time shall last.

Third, That we extend to his wife and his mother our sincerest sympathies.

Fourth, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished his wife and his mother and our two town papers and the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

W. A. SISEMORE,
MRS. W. R. HARVELL,
S. H. BURRIS,
Committee.

HOMER EDISON PLATT — The death angel visited our home and took our darling boy. Homer Edison Platt was born Oct. 8, 1886; died Jan. 29, 1908; age 21 years, 3 months and 24 days. He was baptized in infancy by Brother R. D. Northsworthy, and joined the M. E. Church at the age of 12 years. Homer was very affectionate from a child; always had kind words and a sweet smile for everybody. He was loved by old and young. He was always bright and cheerful. God only knows how we have missed our darling boy. I do ask God to so help us to live that we may meet him in heaven and be an unbroken family. He leaves a father, mother, five brothers and two sisters and many relatives and friends to mourn their loss. He had been sick three weeks, but had been from home; but he was permitted to spend his last week on earth at home with loved ones, and what a comfort to me now to think of our many pleasant conversations we have had together. He talked to me often of the Bible and other good books. He was reading the Christian Advocate the day before he died. We had no thought of his being called home so soon, but God is too wise to err. We know God doeth all things well; but, oh, I miss his sweet face everywhere. Homer has gone, but he is not forgotten; never will his memory fade; sweetest thoughts shall ever linger round the grave where he is laid. It was hard to part with Homer; oh, so sad to see him die, but then we will try and meet him some sweet day up in the sky.

HIS MOTHER.

Mrs. LENA V. HOFFPAUIR (nee Colk) was born Jan. 31, 1885. She professed faith in the Lord Jesus at the age of 13 years; was married to Rev. A. R. Hoffpauir Sept. 4, 1902. She lived a consistent Christian life until she was summoned to her heavenly home, Wednesday, March 25, 1908. She departed this life at the home of her father, at Black Creek, La. She was a great sufferer for the last year of her life. Her health declined while her husband was pastor at Glenmora, and he was relieved of the Pineville work the first of last June; then tried the dry climate of New Mexico, which resulted in a slight improvement of her condition. But the latter part of November she was attacked with that dreaded pneumonia. After that it was known that her stay on earth was for a short time only. Her last words to her husband and parents were, "I am going home. Meet me there." She leaves husband, three little children, father, mother, one sister and three brothers, besides a host of friends, to fight the battles of life without her encouraging words or helping hands. We laid her body at rest in the Bethel Church Cemetery of the Indian Bayou Circuit. May God bless the dear little motherless children and our much-beloved brother in this hour of their great sorrow. They have lost much, but she has gained heaven.

F. P. MOSS, P. C.

WILLIAM PICKENS MILLER—In a grave in his own yard at his beautiful home at Perry, La., was laid to rest, on March 9, 1908, the body of William Pickens Miller, eldest son of our beloved superannuated brother, Rev. John A. Miller. William Pickens Miller was born in Marion, Union Parish, La., March 26, 1863, and died at his home at Perry, Vermillion Parish, La., March 8, 1908. His death was caused by heart trouble, with which he had suffered for several months. His taking away was not unexpected to his family and those of us who knew his condition. Nevertheless, now that he is gone he is missed, and his memory is cherished in the midst of the sadness that follows the taking away of our loved ones. His quiet country home, near the banks of the Bayou Vermillion, vine-clad and rose-embowered, was home not only to his own family, but to his venerable father, as well. We cannot close this tribute to the memory of one who knew and loved in a more fitting manner than by quoting the words of his father. "He was a noble boy. Everyone who knew him loved him * * *. When he left his parental home he had made a profession of religion and joined the Methodist Church, but on leaving home did not take his Church letter, and never united anymore with the Church; but always loved and supported it up to his ability. He was a strictly moral man, and honorable in all his dealings with his fellow-man. On his sick-bed he said, 'I am not afraid to meet death, and feel ready to depart and be with my Savior.'" Yes, he is gone from his flower-embowered home here, but we have good hope that he has gone to that home,

"Where the flowers bloom forever,
And the sun is always bright."

Upon the bereaved family and venerable father we invoke heaven's richest blessings.

J. I. HOFFPAUIR.

Mrs. G. W. HUNT, of Zachary, La., was born April 14, 1844, died January 20, 1908. Sister Hunt was married to Mr. G. W. Hunt, Dec. 22, A. D. 1859. To this union was born three sons and four daughters, of whom three daughters and two sons live to mourn for their mother. Sister Hunt was left a widow in 1880 with the care and responsibility of rearing her children. So far as the writer knows she did the best she could. She joined the M. E. Church, South, in early life, and remained a member till death. It was the privilege and pleasure of the writer to be Sister Hunt's pastor last year. I visited her several times, and always enjoyed myself. As the year passed off Sister Hunt seemed to get nearer the Lord. She got on a higher plane of Christian living, and continued faithful to the end. She calmly met death. I would say to the bereaved family, I know it is hard to give up mother, for I had to pass through the same trial. Your loss is your mother's eternal gain. May God help the children and all to live so as to join their mother in heaven in God's own good time, where there will be no more separation, but eternal life. Her former pastor,

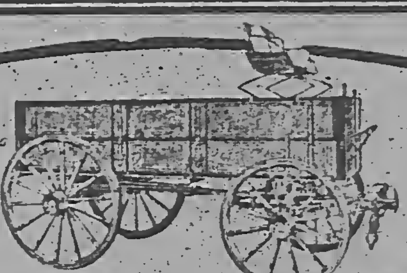
E. L. CARGILL.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and

THE BEST MADE.
Angell's Cough and Whooping Cough Syrup
For Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Throat Trouble.
CONTAINS NO OPIUM OR MORPHINE.
All Druggists, Price 25 and 50 Cents.

The Union Railroad Business College
BUSINESS TAUGHT AS IT IS DONE.
Is backed up by thousands of dollars and expert teachers. Uses no text books or copying nonsense. Free scholarships given only to those between the ages of 13 and 35 years.
Business men everywhere are calling for the graduates of this school. For full particulars, address PROF. W. H. STEPHENSON, Texarkana, Texas.

THREE HIGH CLASS FARM WAGONS



A FARM wagon has much hard work to do. It must haul heavy loads, travel over rough roads and be out in all kinds of weather. When you buy a farm wagon you want to get many years' service from it.
You will not be disappointed if you buy any one of the three wagons described below.
The 63-Year-Old Weber
The King of all farm wagons. Only the very best and most thoroughly seasoned wood is used; ironed to make a wagon that lasts a lifetime. Light running, convenient and a wagon of fine appearance.
The Popular Columbus
Built in a factory where most exacting conditions are enforced. Air seasoned wood stock, ironing which gives great strength and durability; workmanship by thorough mechanics and every part thoroughly tested.
New Bettendorf Steel Gear Wagon
Front and rear gears made of steel. Parts riveted together, not bolted. A wagon that is proof against breakdowns. Nothing can work loose or rattle, and there can be no warping, drying apart, shrinking or rotting.
You should remember above everything else that a cheap, poorly constructed wagon is dear at any price.
Before you buy any wagon call on the International local agents and learn all the superior points of the Weber, Columbus and New Bettendorf wagons. They will show you the wagons and hand you printed matter giving all particulars. Or if you prefer write direct to the home office.
INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER COMPANY OF AMERICA, CHICAGO, U. S. A.
(Incorporated)

Dr. Brown's Magic Liniment
This bottle for you---FREE
Those who seek relief from rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, headache, backache, lumbago, sprains, sore muscles, and other pains—Read carefully.
We want to help you. We know the marvellous curative power of Dr.
Brown's Magic Liniment; how wonderful it is; that when it is poured on a piece of cloth and pressed closely to the place where the pain exists the pain instantly vanishes. It is different from other liniments which need rubbing. You simply smother the cloth under your hands and the liniment penetrates to the source of the pain and instantly relieves it. It soothes the nerves, produces warmth, and starts up the circulation.
We know it does all these things—AND WE WANT YOU TO KNOW IT.
Send for the sample bottle and try it. Write to BROWN CHEMICAL CO., Dept. A. Nashville, Tenn.

Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company.
PASSENGER SERVICE.
Daily Passenger Trains between Shreveport and New Orleans. Daily Passenger Trains between Shreveport and Winnfield.
FREIGHT SERVICE.
Exceptional good time on carload traffic. Special attention given less than carload shipments all of which moves in
DAILY THROUGH PACKAGE CARS.
CLARENCE ELLERBE, Assistant to President.
H. B. HELM, General Superintendent.
E. C. D. MARSHALL, Freight & Passenger Agent.
Shreveport, La.

SEEDS
OF THE
Steckler Quality

Cost but little more than the usual kind, but are worth much more. To convince you that this is true, let us have a talk together. We have spent months of labor and thousands of dollars on

THE BEST SEED CATALOG EVER ISSUED IN THE SOUTH.

It is a manual of over 200 pages with new illustrations taken direct from the vegetable. Shall we mail you a copy? It will cost you nothing, if you will kindly give a fair hearing to our claims for your patronage. Write at once.

J. STECKLER SEED CO., LTD RICHARD FROTSCHER'S SUCCESSORS.

Seed Growers and Importers, New Orleans, La.

LAYMAN'S MOVEMENT.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON THE LAYMAN'S MISSIONARY MOVEMENT, ADOPTED BY THE SEASHORE DISTRICT MISSIONARY INSTITUTE, BILOXI, MISS., MARCH 20, 1908.

We regard the Layman's Missionary Movement as one of the most hopeful indications of the day, and we urge our people to fall into line with our pastors in the furtherance of the great cause for which it was inaugurated.

According to a statement in our missionary paper, "Go Forward," there are four points in this Movement worthy of special consideration. In the first place, it is to develop the prayer life of our men. Our Lord taught us to pray for the coming of his kingdom. Every day, at the noon hour, if possible, we are urged to lift our hearts to God for his blessing upon the missionary work of the Church.

In the second place, the Movement is intended to be a campaign of education along missionary lines. This has been going on for years among the women in their missionary organizations. Now the effort is to arouse the same interest among the men, to place literature in their hands, and to enlist them in larger numbers in the systematic study of the problem of world evangelization.

In the third place, the Layman's Movement purposes to increase our contributions to missions. We believe this should include Church Extension, Home Missions and Foreign Missions, for these are simply different aspects of the same cause: the spread of the gospel and the establishment of the kingdom of God.

In the fourth place, it is to bring our laymen into active service in the Church, more fully thereby leaving our ministers free to give themselves to prayer and to the ministry of the Word.

These are the four points in the platform of the Layman's Movement: to pray, to study, to give, to work for the evangelization of the world. Our missionary secretaries desire that at least ten thousand men of our Church shall be organized on this platform by the meeting in Chattanooga in April.

This Movement was born in a prayer-meeting, Nov. 13 and 14, 1906. A number of laymen in the city of New York participated in a celebration of the Haystack Prayer-meeting, famed in the annals of American missionary endeavor. The next day, Nov. 15, 1906, the Layman's Movement was projected. At once it sprang into vigorous life and has already grown into large proportions in the various denominations of our country. We believe that in this Movement, properly operated, will be found a solution of the problem, "how shall we interest our men in the matter of Church work and of attendance upon the public services of the house of God?" Let us all come up to the help of the Lord in this great Movement!

W. B. LEWIS,
G. A. GUICE,
E. W. LIPSCOMB,
Committee.

STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION AT GREENWOOD, MISS., APRIL 28-30.

PROGRAMME.

Welcome Address, by W. T. Fountain. Response, by President J. Y. Murry. What We Are Here For: A word from each of our visitors, Hugh Cork, Mrs. Bryner, T. V. Ellzey, Rev. Wm. Megginson, Prof. Tinney.

Wednesday, 9 a. m.—Prayer and Praise; Greenwood pastors in rotation. Organization. President's Address. Reports. The Association Work, H. C. Tinney. Making a Success of Organized Work, T. V. Ellzey. Keeping Abreast of the Times in Sunday School Work, Rev. Wm. Megginson. The Primary Union, Mrs. Bryner. The Place and Work of Sunday School Associations, Hugh Cork.

Wednesday, 2 p. m.—Model Opening Exercises for a Sunday School, Hugh Cork. The Adult Class as a Means of Reaching Men, Wm. Megginson. What the Adult Movement Stands For, T. V. Ellzey. Our Young Men and Women and the Sunday School, H. C. Tinney. Helps to Hold Boys and Girls, Mrs. Bryner. The Significance of the Adult Movement, Hugh Cork.

Wednesday, 8 p. m.—Prayer and Praise. The Child: a Study for Mothers and Teachers, Mrs. Bryner. Our Greatest Needs, Hugh Cork. A Forward Movement for Mississippi Association.

Thursday, 9 a. m.—Prayer and Praise. The Sunday School as a Soul Winning Agency, T. V. Ellzey. Decision Day and Christian Service, Wm. Megginson. Preparing the Child for Christian Usefulness, Mrs. Bryner. Methods of Ingathering, Hugh Cork.

Thursday, 2 p. m.—Prayer and Praise. The Teachers' Meeting a Necessity; How Secured, Hugh Cork. Workmen Approved of God, Wm. Megginson. Aids to Success in Primary Teaching, Mrs. Bryner. The Superintendent's Work, Round Table.

Thursday, 8 p. m.—Prayer and Praise—The Possibilities of Childhood, Mrs. Bryner. Working for Definite Results, Hugh Cork. Things that have helped. Resolutions formed. Informal Response.

I. D. BORDERS,
General Secretary.

Holly Springs, Miss.

TO THE SUNDAY SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS OF THE STATE.

The opportunity for improvement and the learning of new ideas along Sunday school lines will be unequaled at the "Superintendents' Institute" to be held at Durant, Miss., May 12-14. No superintendent can afford to miss it. Brother, you cannot know, until you have been there, what an inspiration the meeting will give you. To see J. B. Greene, J. R. Pepper and E. E. French is to come in contact with an electric dynamo of Sunday school activity. They are all business men, who have made their schools go and will bring us something practical. Come and see! Dr. and Mrs. Hamill, than whom there are no better Sunday school workers in the world, will return from Japan May 6, and will come to us for their first work after their visit abroad. Plan to come. Watch for programme. Write to Rev. W. N. Duncan, pastor, at Durant, Miss., if you expect to attend.

N. P. NEBLETT,
Agent North Miss. Conf. S. S. Board.
Shelby, Miss.

TO BRETHREN OF THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Let all the preachers, or others, who paid for pictures at last session of Conference and failed to get them, notify me at once. I am sorry that you have been treated as you have, but I think I can have the matter adjusted. Sincerely yours,

A. G. SHANKLE.
Ruston, La.

BOARD OF MISSIONS, NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Treasurer's Report, December, 1907, to April, 1908.

	Missions Domestic	Missions Foreign
Aberden District—
Aberdeen, W. E. M. Brogan	$90.00	......
Verona, D. M. Geddie	10.00	......
Okolona, R. H. Clark	40.00	$14.00
Houston, W. L. Graves	50.00	......
Fulton, W. W. Martin	5.45	10.00
Aberdeen, W. E. M. Brogan	25.00	......
Okolona, R. A. Clark	......	25.00
Corinth District—
Iuka, O. L. Savage	25.50	......
Ripley and Newhope, A. H. Williams	36.00	......
New Albany, W. C. Harris	62.00	......
Booneville, J. H. Holder	63.00	......
Durant District—
Pickens, Eugene Johnson	46.00	88.00
Kosciusko, R. H. Tucker	58.00	......
Valden, J. H. Smith	39.00	75.00
Ebenezer, T. J. Halfacre	5.50	......
Greenville District—
Coahoma, D. L. Cogdell	22.00	......
Leland, J. W. Honnoll	30.00	47.00
Robinsonville, J. R. Bright	19.00	......
Rosedale, L. P. Wasson	42.00	......
Sardis District—
Byhalia, S. A. Brown	16.50	......
Cockrum, W. R. Williams	11.00	......
Crenshaw, W. J. O'Bryant	20.00	20.00
Coldwater and Love, V. C. Curtis	37.75	......
Winona District—
Itta Bena, L. W. Cain	50.00	......
Carrollton, R. L. Allen	50.00	110.00
Totals	$853.70	$389.00
RECAPITULATION.
Aberdeen Dist., J. H. Mitchell	$220.45	$49.00
Corinth Dist., B. P. Jaco	186.50	......
Durant Dist., S. M. Thames	148.50	163.00
Greenville Dist., R. A. Meek	113.00	47.00
Sardis District, W. M. Young	85.25	20.00
Winona Dist., E. S. Lewis	100.00	110.00
Totals	$853.70	$389.00

	Amount of assessment.	Amount paid to date.	Amount to be paid
Domestic Missions, North Miss. Conf.	$6,260.00	$853.70	$5,406.30
Foreign Missions, North Miss. Conf.	11,475.00	389.00	11,086.00
Totals	$17,735.00	1,242.70	$16,492.30

To the Members of the North Mississippi Conference: The figures given above show what remains still to be done. The need is great; the call is urgent; the time is short. The Lord's cause is in our hands. Let us be up and doing. Fraternally,

W. E. M. BROGAN,
Sec'y Board of Missions.

THE SAFEST AND QUICKEST WAY
—TO—
TRANSFER MONEY
—Is By—
Long Distance Telephone
FOR RATES APPLY TO LOCAL MANAGER
Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph
INCORPORATED.

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Millsaps College Library

REV. JOHN W. BOSWELL, Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.

NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, APRIL 23, 1908.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher,
Office, 512 Camp St., New Orleans.

VOL. 55—No. 17.

"PROVE ALL THINGS; HOLD FAST THAT WHICH IS GOOD."

WHOLE No. 5396.

Glances at the World.

It is a serious thing to criticise and condemn the actions of courts which are supposed to deal with offenders according to the law and the evidence, but how can it be well avoided when both the law and the evidence, as well as justice, are outraged? Take this case for example: A man was tried and convicted for bigamy, which is a penitentiary offense. Instead of imposing the prescribed penalty, the judge, with the consent of the district attorney, entered into agreement with the criminal whereby he will be obliged to support the children of both women to whom he was married. That is practical Mormonism sanctioned by a court in the great State of New York. The counsel for the legal wife protested, declaring the agreement was illegal and put a premium on bigamy. If a judge can thus set aside the law, and be sustained by the higher courts, there is little use for law or juries, or the fixing of penalties for crimes. The judge can do all. The judge in this case was much surprised at the unfavorable comment on his action, and declared it "as undeserved as it was unexpected." The unprecedented action could hardly fail of unfavorable comment.

* * *

Prohibition continues to win victories, even in places where it was deemed impossible. Elections were held in many localities the first week of April, but the returns are slow coming in. This is a sure sign almost that prohibition has the lead. If the news is reported at all it is generally meagre, and seldom ever displayed by large, stirring headlines. One has to look for it. As an indication of success we find in a small paragraph the statement that in Michigan, where only one country was dry, the election on the 6th added nine counties. That was a tremendous gain. A[illegible] in Illinois, the stronghold of liquor, the returns show that out of eighty-seven districts voting on the liquor issue, sixty-eight went dry. We do not know the size of the "districts," but some of them contained many saloons—one that had as many as sixty-three went dry. The largest, Springfield, has 203, and went wet. The sixty-eight districts put 339 saloons out of business—this, in spite of the boast of the Liberty League promoter that he had "forty preachers, men and women, working for him." In the next campaign he will "lose out" entirely if he will double the number of his preacher lecturers. Preachers who take the liquor side add no strength to the liquor cause.

* * *

The press dispatches of April 9 give an account of most outrageous conduct on the part of certain men who had met in annual convention in Sioux City, Iowa. The men were delegates to the Iowa Funeral Directors' Association. Fifteen or twenty men were engaged in the unseemly orgie. They secured the dead body of a man from an undertaking shop in the city, dressed it up in Sunday clothes, stretched it out on a platform in the convention hall, and put a cigar in its mouth. This occurred in the evening. Early the next morning, before the convention came to order, the body was denuded, laid out on a table, and flowers strewn around it, while the drunken revelers danced in gay abandon about the platform. The arrival of one of the officers of the Association put a stop to the disgraceful proceedings. Thus again have we strong evidence of the painful fact that our people, as a whole, lack a few points of being fully civilized. The scene thus described could not have been surpassed by wild savages. And this disgraceful thing occurred in the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association, where the Funeral Directors were holding their annual meeting.

* * *

We quote the following paragraph from Bryan's Commoner: "The rapid growth of the cement industry, little short of marvelous, was evidenced by the fact that ten thousand people attended the opening of the first national cement exposition, recently held in Chicago. The uses of cement are multiplying at a rapid rate, owing to the increased demand for building material to supply the place of lumber, the price of which is becoming prohibitive. A few years ago cement was used to wall cisterns and cellar floors. Now concrete is a staple building commodity and concrete construction is as common to-day as brick and stone construction was a decade ago. The limit of skyscraper buildings has been raised because of the combination of steel frame and concrete walls and floors. Concrete block houses are even more common now than brick houses, and concrete construction is advancing by leaps and bounds. Edison claims that he has completed a "mold" and machinery with which it will be possible to erect a seven-room house—all in one solid piece, roof, walls, floors, bath-tubs, etc.—in five days at a cost not to exceed $1,000 or $,1200. The mold for the house is set up, the concrete pumped in and allowed to set, then the mold is taken off—and there is the house. With the increasing use of concrete comes greater strength and durability, and the fire-proof building is no longer a problem."

* * *

The expected has happened. The Mormons were holding a conference at Independence, Mo. At the beginning of the sessions it was given out that a "revelation" was expected on the subject of divorce. Up to this date (April 13), however, a revelation has not been received on that subject, but one of the twelve apostles, Elder Wight, next in reverence and authority to President Smith, had bestowed upon him the "gift [illegible]." It was a tongue which neither [illegible] of his hearers understood; [illegible]s, there was given the "in[illegible] [illegible]copie" [illegible] and he proceeded to translate into English. The prophecy included a threat by the Almighty to bring calamities upon the earth, but in the midst of them to preserve his people. Another prophecy was thus interpreted: "The time is not far distant when, from the various parts of the earth, I will call my people together, and the Gentile nations need to be warned, for soon will I turn from them unto my people that have been my people in times past. Then my people, sanctified unto me through Father Abraham, will come from the four parts of the earth, center together and be prepared to meet my Son when he shall come upon earth. Yea, thus saith the Spirit unto you in warning voice this day." How convenient and easy it is for deluded men to foretell the coming of a revelation, and then, at the right moment fufill their prophesies. Mormonism was built on fraud and is perpetuated by fraud. They are utterly incapable of keeping faith. See the records of the Smoot investigating committee.

* * *

The prohibitionists who have worked hard for several years to secure Federal protection for prohibition territory have failed to get what they desired, their measures before Congress having been held as unconstitutional by the Senate Committee on Judiciary, but they will secure much more than the liquor dealers would like for them to have. The bill drawn by Senator Knox and approved by the Committee has been presented to the Senate. "The bill is simple in form and deals with only three of the questions that have been raised in connection with this subject. It provides that shipments of intoxicating liquors from one State or Territory or from a foreign country to another State or country must be delivered to the person to whom they were consigned or upon written order of the bona fide consignee. Failure to comply with this provision or the delivery of the shipments to any fictitious person or any person under a fictitious name would subject the guilty officer, agent or employe of any railroad company, express company or other common carrier to a fine of not more than $5,000. The second section of the bill provides against the agent of the common carrier acting as the agent for the buyer or seller of intoxicating liquors and the third section requires that packages of liquors shall be so labelled on the outside cover as to plainly show the nature of its contents and the quantity contained therein. The latter two provisions are subject to the same penalties as the first. In the case of liquors shipped from a foreign country the provisions of the act are not to take effect until sixty days after its passage." The bill, if enacted, and properly executed, will stop dealers from shipping liquor to John Smith and allowing Tom Jones to pay for it and take it out of the express or freight office. Under it the express or depot agent will no long[illegible] the agent of the saloons or wholesale [illegible].

Christian Advocate.

Published for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

DIRECTIONS.

Correspondents will please direct all communications intended for the Editor to 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La. Communications intended for the Business Department should be addressed to the Manager of the New Orleans Christian Advocate. Write with ink, and only on one side of the paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after two weeks, notify us, and we will make it right. Papers will be continued unless subscribers order otherwise.

For Advertising Rates Apply to

Religious Press Advertising Syndicate,

JACOBS & CO., CLINTON, S. C.

Home Office, Clinton, S. C., who have charge of the advertising of this paper.

ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES.

J. F. Jacobs, J. D. Jacobs, Home Office, Clinton, S. C.
R. J. Ritter, 418 W. St. Catherine St., Louisville, Ky.
Thornwell Jacobs, 1011 Stahlman Bldg., Nashville, Tenn.
C. C. Little, 502 Mutual Bldg., Richmond, Va.
D. J. Carter, 132 LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.
Miss M. R. Middleton, 150 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.
Barton E. Buckman, 132 LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.
J. H. Rich, Birmingham, Ala.
E. J. Barrett, New Orleans, La.
J. B. Keough, Atlanta, Ga.
J. B. Gentry, Clinton, S. C.
H. B. Ewbank, Houston, Texas.
W. L. Boggs, Greensboro, N. C.
F. A. Wynne, Cor. Ackard & Elm Sts., Dallas, Texas.

CENTENARY COLLEGE NOTES.

September 16 is the date set for the opening of our next session.

Many visitors to Shreveport take advantage of the opportunity to visit our campus. The delegates to the Conference, W. F. M. S., report themselves delighted with all they saw on our new grounds. Set on an eminence looking down through the trees on an extensive lake, our new building has an ideal location. Work is about to begin on laying out walks and otherwise beautifying the campus.

Work on the new car line, which has its terminus in a few yards of our front door, goes steadily on. At the present rate of progress the cars will likely be running by June 1. Local patronage, which promises to be good, will be increased by the fact that the Centenary campus is thus made easy of access.

Bishop Ward rejoices that in the past Centenary has done good work as a "preacher-factory," and expresses the hope our College will always be worthy of that designation. Our people will not forget our work along that line. Recently a wise layman agreed to pay the board of two candidates for the ministry. Sunday schools and churches will find it a profitable investment to help young preachers through college. Isn't there some consecrated young man in your community who looks longingly toward a college course to fit him for work in the Master's vineyard? May that fact not be a call to your Epworth League to send a representative to Centenary?

Those who gather in September under the Maroon and White will be remembered in the history of Christian education in Louisiana. Many are praying that we may enter upon a new era in our educational work. It is a distinct privilege to have part in this forward movement. Students and faculty will live together in our splendid new building. Thus our boys will be looked after in all that makes for culture and refinement. The spirit of home-life will pervade all religious exercises, as well as social intercourse.

It is the desire of the present administration to furnish to students every possible opportunity for self-help. A faculty committee on employment for students will render all possible assistance to students who desire employment as a means of helping defray their expenses while at College. Of course, a student who has to give some part of his time to work other than his college duties is handicapped, but some of the best college students overcome such disadvantages and lead in their school work.

Have you heard of our $100 club? We are seeking a list of 250 members. Before any public announcement has been made, we have already enrolled several members. Membership is not confined to individuals, but churches, Sunday schools, Leagues, etc., are all invited to enroll themselves among those who will invest $100 in preparing young men for efficient service. Well-equipped men who are ready and willing to work at their Father's business is the great need of this day. If we cannot go out into the busy highways of life, we can send our representative. If there is delay in making a personal appeal to you, do not hesitate to send in your name to be enrolled among the first hundred of our Hundred Dollar Club.

CENTENARY.

WHITWORTH COLLEGE.

While attending the Conference of our missionary society, recently held in Brookhaven, it was my privilege to be entertained at Whitworth College, and I was made to feel so welcome that I prolonged my stay for several days after the close of the meeting.

I was very much pleased with the material improvements on the campus and in the buildings and their furnishings. I would specially mention the fine concrete walks, which add so much to the comfort of the pedestrian and the attractiveness of the grounds; to the excellent and constantly growing library, so helpful to the students in their college work; the valuable additions to the laboratories and art room, and the recent purchase of a grand concert piano for the Department of Music; while the senior class has lately put an elegant set of chairs in the English room.

The two literary societies keep up a generous rivalry, and each has its own special parlor, tastefully furnished. I had the honor of attending a reception given by the Harvey Johnson Society in honor of Mrs. Watkins and Mrs. Hawkins. They provided a literary and musical programme which was much enjoyed.

I was impressed with the excellent character of the student body. The obedience rendered seemed far less from compulsion than from a sense of duty—an intelligent acquiescence in reasonable requirements. The president and his faculty have the love and respect of the students, and when this is the case the problem of discipline is easily solved. Love and duty are twin sisters and go hand in hand.

A very cheerful spirit pervades this College. I met happy-faced girls on the campus and in the corridors of the homes. They went to their wholesome, abundant meals in orderly fashion; but, once seated at the tables, a cheerful chatter broke forth that was very pleasant and informal. The teachers share in this general cheerfulness. They love the girls, they love their work and do it well. They spoke gratefully of Dr. Cooper's thoughtful consideration of their comfort and interests. No work outside of the ministry makes such demands on one's whole being as that of the true teacher, and it is a great inspiration to have it rightly valued.

A very positive, pervasive religious influence is felt in the college-life and is expressed in the work of the Sunday school, the Y. W. C. A. and the missionary society. Lately the students, with the help of their president, have undertaken the support of one of our Conference missionaries and their own honored alumna, Janie Watkins.

I "have hung on memory's wall" this most beautiful of all the pictures of Whitworth College: The resurrection season, overshadowing trees in their tender new robes, green grass beneath the feet; above a sky, veiled with the shadows of that soft, expectant hour between the setting of the sun and the shining forth of the stars. Sweet young girls, with life in its spring bloom, come in groups and form a circle about their leader. Now their voices rise in a hymn of praise, and, one by one, in quick succession they repeat a verse from the Book of books or speak a word of testimony. Then they kneel together and offer their simple prayers to the heavenly Father, while all the golden broidery work of his fingers comes forth above their bowed heads. As soon might one "bind the sweet influences of the Pleiades or loose the bands of Orion" as measure the power of these dedicated lives.

Whitworth College is handicapped by lack of endowment. It needs means to meet the growing needs of the greater time. Well for Methodism if some large-minded, far-seeing layman, like the founder of Millsaps College, should devote his wealth to the higher education of our daughters. It would be an investment that would yield a large interest in both worlds.

CLARA B. DRAKE.

LETTER FROM REV. J. C. LOWE.

Brother Boswell: I have been thinking for some time that I would write a letter to the ADVOCATE that my friends might know where I am, and where to direct letters to me and to my wife, and also state some other things respecting our general surroundings.

Leaving the Conference in Columbus the morning of December 5, I met my wife at Westpoint, where we took the train that evening for Monteagle, Tenn., by the way of Corinth, Miss., Stevenson, Ala., to Cowen, thence up the mountain to Monteagle, getting here at about 8:30 a. m. on the 6th. Before starting to Conference I packed my books and other effects and labelled them "Monteagle, Tenn." But I was unwilling to take all the responsibility upon myself as to what course I should persue. So I determined to consult others, and thus divide the responsibility. I had thought long and seriously over what course I should take in view of my dull hearing—"risings" in both ears last year and the year before had greatly damaged my already affected hearing. I had tried long and hard to do the work of an itinerant Methodist preacher, both in pulpit and out of it. In my pastoral work, especially among the sick and the children, my bad hearing was an obstacle in my way. I did not know what to do. So, after talking with others, I concluded to ask a superannuated relation for a year, not knowing what the future might reveal, and told Brother Lipscomb to make this request of the Conference. We have been here four months the 6th of April, living in our hired house, a few yards outside of the "Assembly Grounds," where we have some chickens and are trying to grow some vegetables. We had not a cold winter, but what is called a very "rough" winter. I do not remember that I ever suffered more with deep cold and my wife was kept in her room and bed for several days with almost a case of "grip." But spring is opening upon us beautifully, and Monteagle is beginning to look like herself. Some of the preachers have spoken to me of coming up here, and for their benefit I will say, if any of them or any other persons are thinking of coming and will write to me or to my wife we will take pleasure in giving them any information we can. There are cottages for rent, and anyone wishing to spend the summer here will do well to apply for a cottage at an early day. Some persons rented cottages three or four months ago to make sure of them.

Monteagle will be more attractive this summer than ever. Five houses are being built, others reconstructed and general improvements all over the grounds. We came here that we might have our children with us this summer and for the sake of their health.

My address is Monteagle, Tenn. Respectfully,

J. C. Lo

SEVENTH AVENUE, MERIDIAN, MISS.

We have just closed one of the best revival services that has ever been held at Seventh Avenue M. E. Church, South, though, to the glory of God, we are glad to say that this church has been greatly blessed with revivals for the last two years, and under the guidance of the Holy Spirit has been making rapid progress along every line.

Brother C. E. Roberts, the "round-the-world missionary," now assistant pastor of Meridian Male College, had charge of the meeting, assisted by Brother Tom E. Smith, also of Meridian Male College, as director of the music. The Lord greatly blessed both preaching and singing.

At a most conservative estimate, we think, there were somewhere between seventy-five and one hundred persons who professed Christ either as their Savior or Sanctifier. There were about fifteen accessions to the Church (all adults), with several more to follow.

A number of very hard cases in the community were reached, one of which I will mention especially, a man of middle life, a drunkard who had not been in a church in twenty-five years, and was captain of a "whisky gang" (blind tiger), was converted on Sunday night a week before the close of the meeting, and spent the last week in active work for Christ, doing personal work in the audience, and praying with seekers at the altar. The Lord is graciously blessing his influence in every direction, and we feel that this man alone was worth the whole meeting. Many other hard cases were reached, but we will not take the space to give them in detail.

A large part of the membership are active, praying workers, and the way was prepared for a gracious revival through the prayers of these faithful members. After the meeting started we were surprised and delighted to learn that there were a number of small prayer-meetings going on in the neighborhood quietly without our knowledge, two or three meeting together in a place and holding on to God for results.

Under God, Brother Roberts and Brother Smith did splendid work. The preaching was deep and thorough and God gave his seal of approval. We heartily endorse the preaching of Brother Roberts, and will gladly recommend him to any pastor who wants a genuine revival in his church as a solid godly man, and an earnest preacher. No wild-fire, but a man who will bring results to any church.

Roy H. Kleiser, Pastor.

A LIFE WELL SPENT.

Some extracts from the funeral sermon of Col. W. G. Kearney, of "Vernon Heights," Miss., preached by the Rev. J. J. Smylie, April 4, 1908:

✓ Walter G. Kearney was born in Mauray County, Tenn., Feb. 28, 1827. He came to Madison County, Miss., in 1829. Since early infancy he has been a citizen of our beloved State. He was married February, 1851, to Miss Susannah Owens. He received his literary training at the old historic and illustrious institution of learning, Centenary College, of Jackson, La., where many worthy and illustrious sons of our fair Southland sat under the tutelage of modern Gamaliels.

His after life in service to his country and State, in its legislative halls and intellectual pursuits, reflected great credit upon his alma mater. He was twice elected to the State legislature, and once to the State senate, serving the full terms of four years each.

No man who has ever lived within the bounds of our commonwealth loved his country more, nor served it with truer intent and purpose than he. His ambition, hope and aim in life was to elevate his adopted State to a place in the galaxy of the nation second to none.

He was distinctly Southern—Southern born and bred — with intense Southern sympathies. When the call to arms came in the defense of our fair Southland he answered without hesitancy, serving throughout the whole War of Secession with great distinction and honor. He arose from lieutenant of his company to commander of his regiment. When the struggle was over he reached out the sympathetic, brotherly hand to his former foes. He grounded his arms forever with a spirit that was heaven-born.

He was a faithful, consistent member of the Methodist Church. The concern for his soul's welfare was no afterthought with him. Long ago, like Stephen, he had given himself into the keeping of his Lord. In his seventy-fifth year he made this written statement, "I was taught the religion of Christ in my boyhood days: I practiced it in middle life, and now in old age I find no fault with it. It is a comfort and solace and makes bright the pathway to the tomb." In his bosom Christianity dwelt with a perfect light, and robed itself in living charms. The buds of promise, which in early life were seen, blossomed and blended in his character. Love, hope and piety were his crowning virtues. He lived in a bright, beaming world of his own, illumined by the lights, heaven-kindled, which glowed in his own soul. In his social circle all the bright features of his exalted nature glowed with a sublime and inspiring impulse. He loved his home, his family, his country, his Church and his God. He was a devoted husband, a fond, indulgent father, tender and kind; a true friend; a noble Christian, with the simplicity of faith of a little child. What God said he believed and accepted. Those who knew him best loved him most.

Col. W. G. Kearney will be long remembered by a host of friends for his social charm and gracious hospitality.

His death is one of those sad events which we cannot fully realize until we are rudely awakened by the cold blank, the withered waste which it has left along our pathway and we have sought in vain for the lost vision which illuminated our own world and our own being. Though lost to us here, he is not dead—will never die! Those noble principles for which he lived and the high ideals of his exalted spirit are imperishable. He lives in the lives of his children. He has given to the world a noble and queenly daughter, Miss Belle. Through her he lives to bless the coming generations, who has been an inspiration and hope to multitudes. Through her not only does he live, bless and is known in a narrow circle, as most men, but in that broader sphere that is unbounded by limitations, cheering, blessing, uplifting countless thousands; prompting to nobler pursuits, leading the way to higher ideals, sublimer heights of grander life and larger service to God and humanity; lifting up the fallen and unfortunate, cheering the faint-hearted, uprooting the thorn, planting the rose; being a potent factor in bringing about the greatest moral reform wave that has ever swept the nations—prohibition.

Few have a goodlier heritage! His will be a cherished memory, and he will wear a fadeless crown.

Were we less mortal we would not weep for those loved ones and friends whom the veil of the tomb thus hides from our vision; but rather rejoice that death has chilled the fountain and they are freed from the cares, toils and sufferings of earth and are forever with their Lord. But we are too human for this, and when we see them passing away from us we naturally dash away every cup of pleasure offered and turn to the cold, dark urn of grief. It is then that our affections hold full sway, and we feel a depth of tenderness and sympathy and piety which we could never have known but for our sorrow. Amid all this comes the "still small voice" whispering to our wounded hearts the soothing words, "You shall meet again."

A noble soldier of Jesus has fallen at the post of duty, a victor has been crowned on the other shore.

The Canal-Louisiana Bank and Trust Company

CORNER CAMP AND GRAVIER STS.

Embraces every function of financial business. It solicits your deposit account subject to cheque. It solicits your SAVINGS ACCOUNT upon which will be allowed INTEREST at the rate of 3 1-2 per cent. per annum, compounded semi-annually.

It will safeguard your securities in its BURGLAR and FIRE-PROOF SAFETY DEPOSIT VAULTS. It will collect Bonds, Rents, Mortgages, Interest, Dividends, Coupons and every class of income. It will pay Taxes and Insurance, sell property and undertake the care and management of Estates. It will act as Executor, Administrator, Guardian or Trustee under will or by appointment of court.

DURING YOUR LIFETIME IT WILL ACT AS YOUR AGENT AND AT YOUR DEATH IT WILL ADMINISTER YOUR ESTATE.

Its Foreign Exchange Department buys and sells Drafts and Cable Transfers; issues Commercial and Travelers' Letters of Credit available in all parts of the world, makes collections and does a general foreign exchange business.

Accounts of Individuals, Firms, Banks and Corporations Respectfully Solicited.

Every Accommodation Offered Consistent With Safe and Legitimate Banking.

Phone Main

ROOMS and BOARD

634 and 638 SOUTH STREET LAFAYETTE SQUARE

CORNER ST. CHARLES ST., NEW ORLEANS.

UNLIMITED MEALS. ALVIN PORTER, Manager.

ESTABLISHED 1891

JOHN DAVID BURGHARDT CO.,

"THE RELIABLE" PLUMBERS and GAS FITTERS.

Agency: Born's Patent Steel Ranges. Hygeia Water Filters.

613-615 Bienville St. Phone Main 2028.

Jobbing and Repair Work a Specialty. New Orleans, La.

REV. JAS. A. MOORE.

I was profoundly touched by the death of Rev. Jas. A. Moore, Ph.D., professor in Millsaps College, which occurred on the 3rd inst. I do not hesitate to say that he was a truly great man. He and I were in school together at Summerfield, Ala., under Prof. John Massey, LL.D. There I knew him most intimately, and his association was not only exceedingly pleasant, but every way helpful to me. He was one of the most intellectual men with whom I have ever been acquainted, and one of the most studious. His mental attainments were simply marvelous, and without the slightest trace of egotism whatever. Every student that was under his tuition in the colleges in which he taught was deeply impressed with his extensive and accurate knowledge. Superficial work upon the part of a student could not pass under his eye unnoticed. I have, from time to time, heard some of the highest compliments paid to him from some of the most distinguished sources on this point. But, best of all, I can truly say that he was a man of undoubted integrity. He made the world better —oh, so much better—by living in it. Though dead, he will continue to speak. He left his family in the deepest sorrow, but every member of it is rich in the recollection of one so faithful and influential for good. Farewell, brother, till we meet again.

L. C. Calhoun.

Citronelle, Ala.

NOTICE.

The Winona District Conference will be held in Eupora, May 27-28. The opening sermon will be preached on the evening of the 26th by Rev. John Ritchie.

E. S. Lewis.

KNOXVILLE METHODIST UNION.

BY J. W. PERRY.

This organization began its history in January as a result of an institute conducted in Church Street church. The representatives in the Board of Managers were appointed temporarily by the pastors of the nine charges in the city, later elected by their respective Quarterly Conferences. Dr. Nelson, Dr. McMurry and Bishop Hoss were present and took part in the institute, and in the organization of the Union. The Union is composed of all persons of good moral character, who are willing to contribute $1 or more per annum to the running expenses of this society.

The business of the Union is conducted by a Board of Managers consisting of one representative for every one hundred members of the churches participating, with the pastors and presiding elders of the two districts. Since its organization, the Union, through its Board of Managers, has been planning some active work. They have concentrated their efforts on the completion of a new church for the congregation at Highland Avenue, and the matter of selecting plans and specifications has been referred to the Committee on Church Extension, who will submit plans and estimates of cost at the next regular meeting.

The Committee on City Missions has had under consideration some propositions for opening Sunday school work at different points in the city, and they too will have an interesting report.

The City Union of the Woman's Home Mission Society has also conferred with this organization in respect to an enterprise which they have on foot, looking to the inauguration of a Wesley House.

The superintendents and officers of the Sunday schools in the city recently effected an organization and pledged the Union their hearty co-operation in providing workers, and other things needed in the inauguration of new Sunday school enterprises in the city and suburbs.

The representatives of each pastoral charge in the Board of Managers are by resolution of the Board a committee for their respective churches to look after the interests of the Union, secure members and contributions from their churches.

It is anticipated that the Board of Managers will be so well organized and actively at work at an early day, that the Conference Board of Missions, and other boards of the Church will make their donations to work in the city through this channel, and thus it will become the head and center, as well as controlling influence in directing and managing the Church's activity in the city and suburbs. This will develop a local constituency in dealing with the city problem, and put the affairs of the Church into the hands of men accustomed to doing things on a large scale.

CHURCH EXTENSION LOAN FUND DAY.

BY JOHN R. PEPPER.

There are two things that a good business man always wants to know when he is solicted to take part in any business enterprise:

First—What has been the past history and prosperity of the institution.

Second—What are its prospects for the future.

Taking these two points as a guide, I think you have a splendid basis for asking for an enlargement of your Church Extension Loan Fund. No one can look at your very comprehensive statement of the past twenty-five years experience without being thrilled with the results. I dare say, there are few purely secular concerns who have no other object than making money in view that can make a better showing that you have made. In a good many instances you have almost doubled the actual capital while making loans to the extent of many times the amount of the original capital. These splendid results betoken careful management and wise investment generally, so that taking it strictly from a business standpoint, which is the very lowest standard which it can be judged by, the loan funds have been exceedingly profitable, and when it is remembered that the chief office of this fund is one of helpfulness, its real worth can hardly be estimated. I most heartily endorse the idea of the Loan Fund Day, and trust that it will be very generally observed, and it surely in the aggregate of its gifts ought to swell this most powerful fund very greatly.

MEMORIES OF GRANT.

The recent death of Dr. George F. Shrady, who was the last survivor of General Grant's surgeons, lends added pathetic interest to Dr. Shrady's "Memories of General Grant's Last Days," publication of which will begin in the May Century. These memories will give a new and very intimate picture of General Grant "as he appeared to one who was in close and friendly contact with him during the last months of his life," when "he was no longer the man of arms to be dreaded, or the President to be calumniated, but the brave and helpless sufferer to be pitied and admired."

DURANT CHARGE.

Dear Dr. Boswell: On Sunday, March 29, a great meeting for Durant began. Rev. T. W. Lewis, of Jackson, Miss., did the preaching. His sermons were strong, penetrating the conscience; his appeals to men to accept Christ were earnest and persuasive; and his work for the Church was of the enduring kind. He preached eleven days, witnessing from service to service an increase in attendance, in interest, and in good results. Twenty-one persons joined the Church; the Church has been truly revived; and the entire community has been given a new impulse for righteousness and a fresh sense of its duty to God and man. Almost every one has loftier aims, a stronger faith in God, and more of the spirit of Christ. Indeed, the meeting was a benediction to the town.

W. N. DUNCAN, P. C.

A GREAT DAY IN BOONEVILLE.

Sunday, April 12, was a great day in Booneville. For a week all denominations had engaged in a Union Prayer Service and Mission Study, meeting each night. From these services and united prayer, a deep impression was made. Sunday had been set apart in Sunday School as Decision Day. There was a large attendance, an excellent programme well carried out. When decisions were called for, there was not a half-dozen that did not respond.

The eleven o'clock hour was a union service, addressed by Rev. J. O. Ruis, of the Presbyterian Board of Missions. The service was held in our Church, it being largest and most centrally located church in town. Dr. Ruis gave us a great sermon, one that stirred our people. It was convincing and inspiring. The congregation made a contribution of more than three hundred dollars. As soon as our parsonage debt is lifted we are confident our Church will undertake the support of a missionary. This is a royal, an able and a liberal congregation.

In the afternoon was a mass meeting of young people. As a crowning gift and a great blessing to us all, Miss Lochie Rankin Tucker, daughter of our lamented Rev. H. R. Tucker, offered herself for the foreign field. She is one of our brightest and most charming girls, one that is always ready at the Master's command. No one who has been in this godly home can wonder that it has given two boys who are easily among our best young preachers, and now this lovely daughter to the Master's work. Before the evening service two other boys expressed their desire and purpose to be missionaries. "Pray Ye the Lord of the Harvest" was the opening subject, and the spirit of that text continued throughout the week. It was beautiful and touching to hear parents in their prayers offer their children to God for service anywhere. These services were a blessing to our town and have proven a distinctive uplift to the mission cause.

We are now preparing to go into a union evangelistic campaign in May. We have secured a large tent and engaged Rev. J. H. Bell, of the Holly Springs, to lead the singing. The issue is already sharply drawn and we purpose to make a vigorous campaign for God and the right. The pastors of the town will do the preaching. We are praying for and expecting a great spiritual uplift. Pray for us.

Cordially, J. H. HOLDEN.

Remarkable
for its fine quality, its delicious flavor, its double strength, and most remarkable for its moderate price.

Luzianne Coffee

is the best value you
can possibly get for your coffee money.

SOLD EVERYWHERE

The REILY-TAYLOR COMPANY,
New Orleans.

BUY THE NEW BOOK
HARP OF A THOUSAND STRINGS
contains the immortal burlesques of Rev. Henry Talliaferro Lewis. One Dollar at McKowen and Co., Jackson, La., and W. L. Linfield, Woodville, Miss.

W. H. M. S.

The Annual Conference of the W. H. M. S., which closed at Minden, La., March 31, was the best in our history. Between fifty and sixty delegates and visitors were in attendance, seven or eight of whom were preachers. A brother remarked, "It will soon be fashionable for all the ministers to attend the Woman's Conference." We give them a cordial invitation each year, though they are sometimes compelled to hear themselves talked about, as was the case at Shreveport during the Foreign Mission Conference. Dr. Hill was hard to persuade that some ministers were so discourteous as to fail to reply to letters from the ladies relative to the work, but "by the mouth of two or three witnesses" all these things were established and he had to surrender. Brother Warlick, presiding elder of the Shreveport District, promises to add two question to his District Conference list, namely: Have you received any communications from the Woman's Home or Foreign Mission Societies? Have you replied to them? "Forewarned is forearmed," and "a hint to the wise is sufficient." He did not say what the penalty would be if negatively answered, but just think how it would sound to have to "own up!" The deaconess from New Orleans was a benediction, her Bible lessons gems of spiritual truths. Rev. H. R. Singleton surpassed all his previous records is sermonizing and delighted the large audience Sunday morning with the very best from his proverbial "barrel," which is saying a great deal. Mrs. H. R. Singleton was with us, and was elected recording secretary. Be sure to get a copy of the minutes when they are out and read every word. Rev. R. H. Wynn ably presented the "Need for the Deaconess," while she showed herself able to supply the need.

Rev. George Jackson, the old war-horse of the Conference, was present throughout the session, and, though weak in body, he is strong in his support of the woman's work, having given the first dollar toward building a deaconess home in New Orleans. This home is much needed, but the wherewithal does not come in fast, $12 being the sum total on hand.

The hospitality of the Minden people is unbounded, and we felt that 'twas good to be there, both temporally and spiritually. The Conference officers remain the same with the exception of the recording secretary. Mrs. Louise Rhodes, of Algiers, is now district secretary of New Orleans District, and Mrs. Martin, of Leesville, secretary of Shreveport District.

Four invitations were extended for the next Conference; Mansfield made hers so irresistable that it was accepted. Prof. Deam was there and won all hearts. Time and space forbids my telling of all the good things, so we trust that next time you will "come and see."

Rev. George Jackson, Mrs. R. H. Wynn and the infant daughter of Mrs. Rice, of New Orleans, were made life-members. Reports were good, showing a steady, healthy growth along all lines. We do not wish to get ahead of or report for the Foreign press superintendent, Mrs. J. A. Wilson, of Shreveport, but we just must say: Should Mrs. Cobb or Mrs. Davies come, you may be sure to hear them. "The half has not been told" concerning their ability, and we are sorry for all who do not or will not hear them.

Mrs. A. C. McKinney,
Conf. Supt. Press Work, La. Conf.

W. F. M. S.

NOTICE.

The Southeastern Passenger Association has declined to make any reduction in rates to the Board meeting, New Orleans, May 1-7. The following is quoted from a letter written by Mr. Joseph Richardson in reply to a communication from the president of the Board, Miss M. L. Gibson:

"The facts are, that under present rate conditions in the Southeast the carriers are not announcing any special rates for meetings which are not sure to attract a very large attendance. A very large percentage of the one-way rates have been reduced, effective April 1, on which date many of the carriers will also place on sale reduced rate mileage tickets and they do not feel that in view of these reductions in one-way fares they can continue the certificate plan on the basis of a fare and one-third. They have not yet been able to work out a plan for handling the certificate plan on a higher basis."

In view of this decision the use of a mileage ticket, to which Mr. Richardson refers, might be advisable.

The names of the delegates and visitors expecting to attend the annual meeting of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions, May 1-7, should be sent to Mrs. W. W. Carre, 1922 State Street, New Orleans, La.

Mrs. Edward Alvis,
La. Conf. Cor. Sect.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the North Mississippi Conference convenes at Senatobia, Miss., June 13-17. All delegates, officers and visitors expecting to attend will please send their names promptly to Mrs. Corrie Wright, Senatobia, Miss.

WHAT A SAVIOR JESUS IS.

Jim Hastings, an expert machinist, was a good fellow when sober, but a bad one when he had been drinking, and of late he was getting to be a "regular soak." His foreman didn't expect much work from him on Monday, as he usually would be sobering from a long Sunday "booze." However, he was such a competent workman when straight, that his dissipations were overlooked by his employer. Various cures had he tried, but the appetite for drink was unbroken. Repeatedly he had signed the pledge, and just as often had he broken it.

His wife and little girl suffered the penalties of poverty and abuse. Mrs. Hastings was a Christian and many hours she spent alone, beseeching God to save her drunken husband. One afternoon little Helen heard her mother's prayer, and she became greatly concerned. That night, when the closing whistle of the shop was blowing, she started down the path to meet her father. Presently she was in his arms and kissing his dirty face.

"Do you love me, Helen?"

"Yes, I love you, and God loves you. Do you love me, papa?"

"Of course I do, darling."

"Do you love God, too?" said Helen.

To that question Jim Hastings gave no reply, as he silently carried Helen into the house and prepared for supper.

After supper he went down town, as was his custom, to pass the evening with the boys. They met in Joe Mulaney's saloon and discussed the world's baseball series, the latest fighting news, the teamsters' strike, etc., till one of the fellows said: "Isn't it about time to wet up a little?" It was time. Beers were ordered and drawn and drunk. Jim's glass remained untouched. Some one guyed him, and he took the glass in his hand, held it for a moment, and let it drop to the floor. "What's the matter Jim?"

"Is it that temperance story the Y. M. C. A. man told this noon at the shop?" Shaking his head, he said he didn't feel right, and guessed he'd go home.

His wife was surprised to see him home so early, and sober, too. Throwing off his hat and coat, he hurried upstairs to Helen's room. She was asleep in her crib. Looking at her for a moment, he gathered her sleeping form into his arms and kissed her again and again. Half waking, she asked:

"What's the matter, papa?"

"I love you, Helen, and I want you to pray that I may love your God, too."

Slipping to the floor, she knelt by her crib, put her hands together, closed her eyes and said the only prayer she knew:

"Now I lay me down to sleep,
I pray thee, Lord, my soul to keep.
If I should die before I wake,
I pray thee, Lord, my soul to take.

"God bless papa! God bless mamma"—

These words had magic power. God did bless papa. Great tears rolled down his cheeks, and, kneeling by the side of his little child, Jim Hastings prayed for himself to God. When he arose another workingman had joined the ranks of those who seek to keep themselves pure while fighting the battles of manhood beneath the banner of the Carpenter's Son.

* * * * * * *

This excerpt from a recent letter from Jim Hastings shows that the gospel of Christ still transforms homes and lives: "Tell the boys that Jim Hastings hasn't drunk a drop in two years. I tried every so-called cure, and they all failed; I signed the pledge, and broke it; but Jesus Christ has taken away the old appetite, and I am free from the curse of drink. My wife looks ten years younger. We've started a little bank account. Helen is as happy as an angel. I've joined a Bible class at the Y. M. C. A. and I feel like I am just beginning to live. What a Savior Jesus is!"—Ora S. Gray in Zions Herald.

NEWTON DISTRICT.

Missionary Institutes will be held in the Newton District as follows: Forest, April 30; Laurel, May 13, and Philadelphia, June 17.

The District Conference will be held at Montrose, July 8-10. Jas. M. Weems, P. E.

GULFPORT, MISS.
Interesting propositions submitted to parties wanting to buy lots. Write for map to
GEO. L. CARLEY, Gulfport, Miss.

Harness and Saddles
E. G. AWCOCK,
333 BARONNE STREET,
Phone Main 4467. New Orleans, La.
Repairs Neatly and Promptly Done.

Choice Selections

NO TIME TO PRAY.

No time to pray!
Oh, who so fraught with early care
As not to give to humble prayer,
Some part of day?

No time to pray!
What heart so clean, so pure within,
That needeth not some check from sin,
Needs not to pray!

No time to pray!
'Mid each day's dangers, what retreat
More needful than the mercy-seat?
Who need not pray?

No time to pray!
Must care or business' urgent call
So press us as to take it all,
Each passing day?

What thought more drear
Than that our God his face should hide,
And say, through all life's swelling tide,
"No time to hear!"

—Pittsburg Christian Advocate.

UPWARD TREND OF MORALITY.

There has grown up in the last few years in the United States a criticism directed against the entire fabric of the social and political order which we have inherited from our fathers. That criticism is not aimed at the defects of society or at the abuse of government, but at the foundation upon which the entire platform of our social and political order has been comfortably resting for uncounted generations; and that school of criticism, it seems to me, is undertaken for the purpose of propagating its theories, to overstate, to exaggerate the defects and infirmities of our affairs, until millions of our people are sad in their hearts because they think American institutions are going steadily to the bad, though some of my warm friends seem to think so.

I myself am a humble, but not a reluctant, witness to the gradual rise of the moral level of public life. When I first went to Washington, a country youth from one of the cornfield districts in Iowa, I had many high notions of the dignity of the government of the United States, especially the House of Representatives and Senate. I shall never forget the sense of shame and humiliation that entered my heart when I saw drunken men staggering around the floor of the House and within the precincts of the Senate chamber of the United States. To-day such a spectacle is morally incredible. I was amazed to see the public saloon in full blast in connection with the House of Rrepresentatives and Senate.

Within the twenty years since then those odious institutions have been abolished by the unanimous vote of both houses, not only in the capitol, but in all the public buildings of the United States throughout the world. Twenty years ago you could not post a regiment of the army of the United States at home or abroad without the first thing opening was an ordinary American saloon for retailing intoxicating liquors; sometimes cheerfully described under the curious title of the army canteen, and for service in the little institution, our soldier boys were detailed in their uniform to wait on their brethren—boys from the Y. M. C. A. or from the Sunday school in the uniform of the United States Army. I saw Congress abolish that institution by a practically unanimous vote of both houses; and while I notice in the newspapers evidence that some officers of the army expect to see that institution revived under authoritative national legislation, I have made up my mind that they will be on the retired list before that ever comes to pass.

After all, in my opinion, the largest evidence of the moral progress of the American people lies in the recognition, now well nigh universal, that at bottom all the problems of society are not simply problems of politics and government, but are in reality questions of applied religion. There is no unanswered question in legislation that is not answered in the gospel of Christ. Those mighty problems that have brought our philosophy aud statesmanship almost to a standstill, if they have any solution at all, will find it in the practical application to the daily life of this world of that ancient law which we have inherited from our fathers and mothers—the law of Christ revealed to the world in the gospels.

And for that reason it is with hope and courage that we look toward the future; and I venture to predict that the time is at hand, nearer than we know, when we shall realize that the world in which we are living, in its literature, its law, in the building of cities, in the employment of labor, in the investment of money, and in its civilization, is only a house of prayer and every man is a brother.—From the Monitor.

THE PRAYING HIGHLAND SOLDIER.

There is a story of a young and uneducated boy who, when converted, astonished his old companions by the fluency and fervor of his petitions in the prayer-meeting. At length, one of them solved the mystery and said to his puzzled cronies: "I know how it is that Bill prays so; he practices in private."

A great many people would be much more successful in their public prayers if they practiced in private more than they do. The late Hugh Miller, in one of his pleasant sketches, relates an account of a Scotch Highlander who served in the first disastrous war with the American colonies, and who was brought before the commanding officer one evening charged with the capital offence of being in communication with the enemy. The charge could not well have been preferred at a more dangerous time. Only a few weeks had elapsed since the execution of Major Andre, and the indignation of the British, exasperated almost to madness by this event, had not yet cooled down. There was, however, no direct proof against the Highlander. He had been seen in the gray of the twilight stealing out from a clump of underwood that bordered on the forests which at that period covered the greater part of the United Provinces, and which, in the immediate neighborhood of the British, swarmed with the troops of Washington. All the rest was mere inference and conjecture. The poor man's defence was summed up in a very few words. He had stolen away from his fellows, he said, to spend an hour or two in secret prayer.

"Have you been in the habit of spending hours in secret prayer?" sternly asked the officer, himself a Scotchman.

The Highlander replied in the affirmative.

"Then," said the officer, drawing out his watch, "never in all your life had you more need for prayer than now. Kneel down, sir, and pray aloud that we may hear you."

The Highlander, in the expectation of instant death, knelt down. His prayer was that of one long acquainted with the appropriate language in which the Christian addresses his God. It breathed an imminent peril and earnestly implored the divine interposition in the threatening danger—the help of him, who in times of extremity, is strong to deliver. It exhibited, in short, a man who was thoroughly conversant with the scheme of redemption and fully impressed with the necessity of personal interest in the advantages it secures, had made the busines of supplication the work of many a solitary hour, and in consequence acquired much fluency in expressing all his various wants as they occurred, and his thoughts and wishes as they arose.

"You may go, sir," said the officer, when he had concluded; "you have not, I dare say, been in correspondence with the enemy to-night."

"His statement," he continued, addressing himself to the officers, "is undoubtedly correct. No one could have prayed so without a long apprenticeship. Fellows who never attend a drill always get on ill at review."—Common People.

Our line of Stoves, Kitchen Furnishings, and General Household Supplies is full of interest to all Good Housekeepers.

Suppose you take a look at it for yourself—

UNITED HARDWARE CO.,
LIMITED.

GET SOLID PROTECTION AND INSURE WITH
LEON IRWIN & CO.
Fire and Casualty Insurance.
838 GRAVIER STREET. PHONE, MAIN [illegible]

W. W. Carre Co., Ltd,
Manufacturers and Exporters of
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CALENDAR OF IMPORTANT EVENTS.

STATES OF LOUISIANA AND MISSISSIPPI.

Annual session of General Board of Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, New Orleans, May 1.
Brookhaven District Conference, at Taylortown, Miss., May 6-10.
Church Extension Loan Fund Day, May 10.
Natchez District Conference, at Woodville, Miss., May 13-16.
Shreveport District Missionary Institute, at Mansfield, La., May 18.
Oxford District Conference, at Holly Springs, Miss., May 19-21.
Seashore District Conference, at McHenry, Miss., May 19-23.
Durant District Conference, at Kilmichael, Miss., May 21-23.
Winona District Conference, at Eupora, Miss., May 27-28.
Greenville District Conference, at Cleveland, Miss., May 27-29.
Vicksburg District Conference, at Edwards, Miss., May 27-30.
Whitworth College Commencement, Brookhaven, Miss., May 31 to June 2.
Aberdeen District Conference, at Houlka, Miss., June, 3-5.
Alexandria District Conference, at Natchitoches, La., June 12-14.
Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the North Mississippi Conference, at Senatobia, Miss., June 13-17.
Mid-Year Meeting of the Mississippi Conference Board of Missions, at Centerville, Miss., June 15-17.
Mississippi Conference Epworth League, at Gulfport, Miss., June 18-21.
Columbus District Conference, at Mathiston, Miss., July 1-3.
Newton District Conference, at Montrose, Miss., July 8-10.
Corinth District Conference, at Baldwin, Miss., July 14-16.

WHY DOES EVERYBODY WANT VACHER-BALM?
Because Vacher-Balm promptly relieves most of the aches and pains that we all suffer from at times, such as Headaches, Toothache, Sprains, &c. It is cooling and harmless. Price 25c. Per Jar.
I pay you to give samples to your friends, neighbors. Write to-day for particulars, to VACHER, New Orleans, La.

The Home Circle.

WHY SUSIE WAITED.

"Let's say our prayers out loud, Susie," said Mabel, as the two little sisters were getting ready for bed one night.

"All right," answered Susie. So the two said their "Now I lay me" and their "God bless papa and mamma" together. Then Mabel jumped right up on her bare feet, but Susie still kneeled a quiet little while by the white bed.

"What were you waiting for, sister?" asked Mabel.

"Why, I was listening for God to answer," said sister; "don't you 'member Miss Josepha said we mustn't hurry over our prayers? She said that was like the little boy that knocked at her door once, and then ran away before she could open it. So now I always wait to see if God wants to say anything to me."

"Did he say anything to you to-night, sister?" asked Mabel, looking startled.

Susie nodded.

"Oh, sister! What?"

Susie didn't answer just at first, because it is not easy to talk about what that little inside voice says. But in a few minutes, she said in a low tone, "You know we said, 'God bless all my friends,' and right away I thought of Sadie Burwel, 'cause we had a fuss to-day; and while I waited, God said, 'Tell her you are sorry.'"

"Will you tell her, Susie," persisted the eager little questioner.

"Yes, of course, I must tell her."

Mabel crept into bed quietly, saying to herself that she would wait for God's answer too, and wondering if he would tell her to confess about breaking mamma's cut-glass flower vase!—Exchange.

THE BROOK'S WORK.

One day a little brook tumbled out of its spring home on the side of a mountain and fell down, down, to a plain below. At first it was startled, but when it saw the same blue sky smiling down, and felt the same warm sunshine on its bosom, it felt quite at home in its new surroundings, and paused to listen to the voices all around.

"There is work to do," whispered the trees, as they rocked their leaf buds in their cradle.

"There is work to do," chattered a squirrel as he whisked up a tree with his food.

"There is work to do," hummed a bee, as she flew with her load of honey straight for the hive.

"There may be work for me to do," said the little brook. So it started downward on its course.

Sometimes it ran so fast that it seemed to be flying away with the little white clouds overhead; then again it crept slowly under overhanging branches of the large trees, hiding from the sunbeams, and came forth dancing and laughing to play with them again.

The birds came to drink and to bathe, and sang sweet songs with the little brook as it went merrily on its way.

Once it found a dam that some boys had made. It was fun to leap over that and set a little waterwheel turning at the same time.

While working and playing the brook grew so large that cattle, horses, deer, and other large animals came to drink and to stand in its cool waters. It even carried children along in rowboats where they wished to go.

Farther on the brook leaped over a great milldam that men had made. It was very large, now that it could carry heavy logs to the sawmill. There, too, it turned a great waterwheel that sent a saw flying to make the logs into boards and lumber. Bushels of corn and wheat were found waiting to be ground, so it gave the miller's wheel a turn as well.

The brook was now so very large that it was called a river. Nothing seemed too hard for it to do. Great steamboats were carried along as easily as tiny leaf-boats could be carried when it was smaller.

One day the river found itself slipping into the ocean, where it seemed as if it might be lost altogether. It sighed for its own mountain home, so very far away, when a fairy sunbeam whispered, "Dear River, look upward; see the blue sky and the sun watching you still; they love you and will never let you be lost."

She had scarcely ceased speaking when the sunbeam fairies threw down a multitude of golden chains to lift the river into the sky, higher than its mountain home, and there it may find other work to do.—Cora E. Harris, in the Kindergarten Review.

IMPOSSIBLE TASKS.

Some requirements of the Bible seem impossible to man. When Jehovah commanded the children of Israel to go forward with the sea rolling at their feet, obstructing their advance, the command seemed absurd. When he commanded Moses to go down into Egypt and deliver the children of Israel out of bondage, the task was impossible. When Jesus told his disciples to go into all the world and make disciples of all people, he commanded them to do what they were not able to do. When he said to the ruler, "Go, sell all thou hast and give to the poor, and come, follow me," he told him to do something which is not within the range of human ability. The young man had great possessions, and Jesus said, "It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God," yet he is continually calling them to enter in. When he said to his disciples, "Love your enemies;" "Do good to them that hate you;" "Take no thought for your life what ye shall eat or what ye shall put on;" "Resist not evil," he commanded them to do impossibilities. When he said to the man with a withered hand, "Stretch forth thy hand," he told him to do what he could not do.

But these are not arbitrary and cruel requirements. It is necessary for us to meet and master obstacles. God has great things in store for us, but they lie beyond the deep waters. He has made us for great things, greater than our imagination can reach, but lying between us and our inheritance there are insuperable obstacles. Men love the easy road and the soft pillow, but no one ever yet sailed to heaven on flowery beds of ease. The road to the best and highest is a rough and steep way. One who falters at impossibilities will never reach the promised land. When Professor Morse struggled with the proposition of the electric telegraph he was almost in the jaws of starvation. He could have made money enough if he had been content to abandon his hope. But he had heard a voice from the skies calling him to a high mission, and he pushed on through the Red Sea of poverty, ridicule, hardship, and came out on the other shore, and sang a song of triumph which the whole world heard. A great artist had a high idea of art, and struggled after it. He needed money to keep his family from want, but his pictures would not sell. The people could not appreciate his work. His friends entreated him to give up his thought of perfection and paint for money, but he steadily refused. He died in poverty and obscurity, but left the world a legacy of art worth more than all the millions of Mr. Rockefeller.

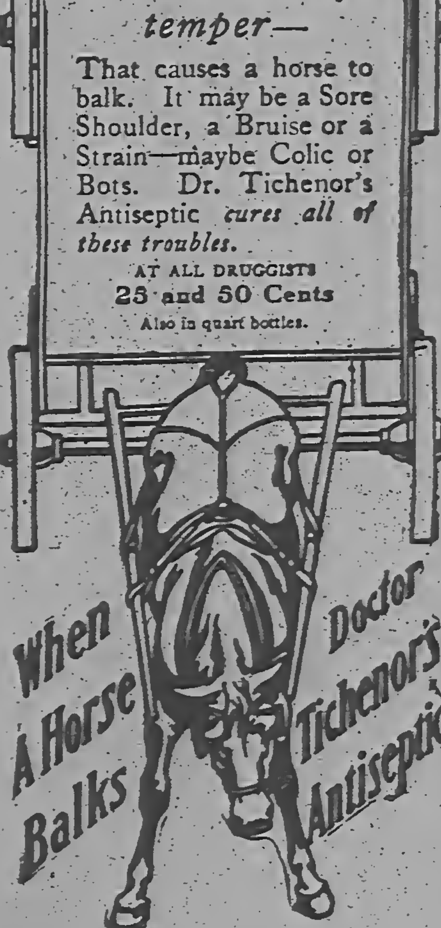
When John Bunyan persisted in preaching at a time when it was not lawful for any one to preach the gospel unless he had been authorized to do so by the established Church, he was arrested and thrown into prison. It was a hard lot. He was willing to suffer and die if need be for his principles, but he had a family to suffer also, and especially one blind daughter in whose life his soul was bound up. The thought that this poor child would be in want and have to bear reproach on account of the disgrace of her father, was enough to make a weaker man yield. It was too much for any man to bear. But when they told Bunyan that if he would promise to preach no more he might go free, he said, "If you let me out to-day I will preach to-morrow, and I will lie in jail till the moss grows on my eyebrows before I will promise not to preach the gospel." This is the kind of man that can do impossible things. This is the sort of spirit that conquers freedom for mankind. This is the way through the Red Sea to the Promised Land.

The Americans desired freedom, but a sea of blood lay between them and the promised land. It was one thing to write the Declaration of Independence, and an easy thing. It was another thing to sign it, and still another thing to achieve independence. It meant seven years of war and sacrifice. But for one ally the Americans never could have crossed the sea to freedom. Lafayette was a powerful friend, but they did not rely on him. France was friendly and helpful, but they did not trust in France. Patrick Henry said, "There is a just God who will fight our battles for us." With this ally they conquered impossibilities and won freedom.

When our Lord came into the world a sea lay before him. He came to save the world. He came to do his Father's will, and to finish his work. He could not do this without going through Gethsemane, and Pilate's judgment hall, and over Calvary into the sepulcher. We, too, must do impossible things or be defeated. It is easy to live on a low level. It is easy to lie down quietly and let the taskmaster rule over us. He may be cruel, and our burdens may be heavy, but this is the way of least resistance. To gain the land of milk and honey we must go through the sea and the wilderness. But with God all things are possible.—Exchange.

BELLEVUE POULTRY SUPPLY CO.

Everything in the poultry line: Chickens, Parrots, Guinea Pigs, Rabbits and Pet Stock of every description; Cyphers, Incubators and Feed at Factory Prices, may be had by writing us at 740 Camp St., New Orleans, La. Catalogue sent free.



It's not always temper—

That causes a horse to balk. It may be a Sore Shoulder, a Bruise or a Strain—maybe Colic or Bots. Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic cures all of these troubles.

AT ALL DRUGGISTS
25 and 50 Cents
Also in quart bottles.

Christian Advocate.

REV. JNO. W. BOSWELL, D.D., Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.
CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TERMS:

One Copy, one year, $2; six months, $1. To Preachers of all Denominations, half-price.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES:

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE—Rev. W. W. Drake, Rev. N. E. Joyner, Rev. J. M. Henry.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. M. L. Burton, Rev. W. H. Lewis, Rev. C. W. Crisler.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, D.D.; Rev. J. T. Murrah, Rev. W. W. Woollard.

MAKING A BUSINESS OF IT.

If men make a business of evangelizing—we mean in a secular sense—why should they not go at it in a businesslike way? If one goes alone and on his own responsibility there is no reason why he should not let the fact be known. But we think a man goes a little too far when, in addition to advertising himself as a revivalist, he guarantees a revival. That implies, at the very least, that he will make no charge if he fails. And if two men form a partnership and launch out, why not advertise themselves as a firm, limited or unlimited, as they prefer? It is sometimes done. Thus we have "Fife & Son, Evangelists." This brace of brethren from the Northwest have been operating in the South. With what success in saving souls we cannot say. But we are inside the bounds of truth when we say, their efforts to get everybody immersed, and all the Churches to come together on their basis of union, resulted in failure. But "Fife & Son, Evangelists," is no fiction. And inasmuch as some are engaged in the business, who can object if now and then one undertakes to show that he can do the work for the least possible amount of money? The merchant who sells the best goods at the lowest price generally beats his competitors. One evangelist in his bid for service inserts this item: "Cost of saving one soul by my method, $2.86." He has it figured out to a cent. He does not say that he has a patent on his method, but it goes without saying that he is a sensationalist.

All such methods of advertising to do the Lord's work must be the result of ignorance or lack of the sense of the fitness of things. Whether the one or the other, or of the lack of something else, they are disgusting to modest-minded and intelligent Christians. If an evangelist is a true man of God and successful in bringing souls to Christ he will let somebody else do the bragging.

THE FLOOD OF IMMIGRANTS—OUR DUTY.

What the future has in store for our country no human eye can foresee. The men of business who have an eye only on investments and profits foresee unbounded prosperity and a distribution of wealth hitherto unknown. They may be right. But they do not take into consideration the moral risks that men run in piling up great wealth, nor what it is worth to them after they have amassed it. Our Lord's problem seems to give them no concern! "What is a man profited if he should gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

To us it appears if a man is responsible for the loss of his own soul when he loses it for the sake of money, he is doubly responsible when, in addition, he makes money at the expense of the souls of other men. Is this not what men of the world are doing with the thousands of unskilled laborers pouring every month into our country from the old world? We are responsible for their coming. We invite them and woo them. We offer them, not only an open door, but steady work, and better wages than they get at home. These, with cheap transportation, and the ultimate prospect of a homestead, are temptations that cannot be resisted. It is not denied that the promises made to these foreigners, if realized, result in the betterment of their temporal condition. But selfishness is at the bottom of all the efforts to supply our country with these laborers. They are cheap, and looked upon as nothing more than burden-bearers. What sort of citizens they are destined to make, and their influence on society and state, are ignored if not entirely forgotten.

Within considerably less than one hundred years more than twenty-five millions of foreigners have sought homes in our country. For three years past they have come at the rate of more than a million a year. In some of our large cities there are more foreigners than natives. In several states as voters they hold the balance of power. It is easy to see that they can largely shape legislation and influence society. In one place it is the Irish vote, in another it is the German vote, and in at least one State, we are informed, the politicians have to reckon with the Russians. In Chicago no reform of any kind can be effected because of the large foreign population. The same is true of several smaller cities. Hence the domination of the saloon, and the utter disregard of the holy Sabbath.

It is natural that these foreigners should bring with them their social and religious characteristics. But when it is remembered that they are for the most part of the lowest and most ignorant classes—many of them from the criminal classes, if not criminals themselves—it may be readily inferred that they can add nothing to the social or religious well-being of our country. On the contrary, as they increase in numbers, and accumulate money, as thousands of them do, and increase in respectability, they modify our own morals and social life. This is evident in the increase of the drinking habits of our people, and our laxness in the observance of Sunday.

As for religion, these people can hardly be said to have any. If they have any we never hear of it. We sometimes hear of a lot of immigrants having a small supply of money, and of being more than ordinarily intelligent, and for these reasons classed as desirable comers, but we have yet to hear of any being classed as decidedly religious. Instead, not a few of them are entirely destitute of religion—haters of all religion. The majority of them, doubtless, were born Roman Catholics, but judging by their manner of life they can be classed only with nominal Christians. Coming to America, and locating in small towns, and in country-places, without spiritual advisers or church advantages, they become indifferent, and in numerous instances, after mixing with Protestants and sending their children to the public schools, they are lost to Rome altogether.

Our great leaders in the church see the peril of the situation—the danger of the evil leaven on the one hand permeating the State and society, and on the other the danger of allowing these strangers to remain among us without the enlightening and lifting power of our holy religion. The danger in this latter respect is twofold: they are liable to perish, and we are liable to be charged with their loss.

What is our duty? To us it seems plain. We must go to them with the gospel. True, men of the world who are never excited except when their material or political interests are in danger, tell us that these people are satisfied with their own religion, and we should not disturb them. We could heed that admonition and let them alone without doing violence to conscience if we knew these strangers had religion and were walking in the line of duty. But when we know that they are as sheep without a shepherd, many of them grossly wicked, we feel that Protestant Christians are bound by the love they have for Christ and the common tie of brotherhood to go to them with the gospel.

We have no word of censure for those who go to foreign lands and leave at home millions of foreigners of the same blood as those to whom they go, nor for those who give what they feel able to sustain those who go abroad. The work in foreign parts must be sustained. But after all have gone abroad who are called, and all the money necessary to sustain them has been raised, there will still remain men and women and money enough at home to give the gospel to every foreigner in our land that can be reached. All that is necessary is to persuade the Church, not that we ourselves or our institutions are imperiled, but that these strangers in our midst need the Word of Life.

Will we be true to our convictions, and put in operation at the earliest moment possible the necessary means of saving these souls? Thousands of dollars could be profitably invested at once in New Orleans and throughout Southern Louisiana in behalf of Italians. Who will respond?

A SIGNIFICANT MOVEMENT.

What is called a "significant movement" has been started in Germany. It is the result of "a revulsion from the radical evolutionary philosophy" of German theologians. Many years ago, as is well known, German theologians led in what was then denominated "advanced thought." Advanced thinkers in those days were not uncommon. We hear nothing of them now. The advanced thinkers of that time are known to-day as "higher critics." What these critics have done in the way of "upsetting Moses" and the prophets and apostles, and confusing the minds of Bible students in regard to the nature and mission of our Lord, is a matter of history. The shipwrecks of faith are numerous.

The destructive critics have about reached the limit, and a reaction is apparent. The movement in Germany, above alluded to, is one of the signs. The movement was organized several months since as a protest against that form of scepticism which teaches that the fundamental doctrines of Christianity are inconsistent with science and stand in the way of scientific progress.

The organization is named in honor of Lord Kelvin, the foremost scientist of the last half century, and at the same time a sincere and humble believer in the simple doctrines of the gospel, which men less wise than he affected to despise.

The movement is not theological, though its promoters do not deny the facts of theology, "the existence of a personal God, sin and its consequences, and redemption through a divine Savior," etc. The ideals of the society are thus expressed: "Modern natural science is not able to overthrow the theistic conception of the world and its phenomena; and theism has, to say the very least, as much right to be known as thoroughly scientific as Haeckel's monism," or, the doctrine of the identity of mind and matter.

It is a sign of no little import that men of science by the hundred can be gathered into a society, and in an organized capacity declare their faith in the teachings of our holy religion. From one of our exchanges we learn that the organization, though but a few months old, numbered 641 members, and was increasing at the rate of about forty a week. Let us hope that it will be carried on until every man who claims to be a scientist will be forced to record himself as on one side or the other. We will then know who are the true friends of [illegible]tianity.

PERSONALS.

The excellent selection on page 6, credited to The Monitor, was written by Senator J. P. Dolliver, a close observer of men and things, and a devout Christian. The article is worth reading.

The revival at Felicity Street Church is still in progress, increasing in interest and productive of good. Rev. C. D. Atkinson has been doing the preaching. We hope Brother Lutz, the pastor, will give us a full report.

Rev. Dr. Wm. Hayes, editor of the New York Independent, speaks well of Rev. J. E. Wray's sermon on Moses. This sermon appeared a few weeks since in the Times-Democrat, and has been widely copied and noticed.

Rev. D. M. Floyd writes that he is moving along finely on his work—the Water Valley Circuit—and trying to do all he can for our ADVOCATE. We thank him for his kind words, and for the five subscribers already sent, and for his promise of more to follow.

We had the pleasure on Monday last of meeting on the train Mr. J. R. Abels and Mr. William Jackson, both of Ponchatoula, La. These brethren were on their way to Chattanooga as delegates from the Baton Rouge District to the Layman's Missionary Conference.

Dr. Sawyer, whose illness we mentioned some time since is able to be up and at work. He spent Sunday last with Rev. J. M. Alford, of the Baker Charge, Baton Rouge District. He rode twenty miles and preached three times. He was none the worse for the exercise on Monday.

Rev. W. W. Holmes, of Louisiana Avenue Church, is happy over the prospects of his charge. Sunday last, Easter, was a day long to be remembered. The day was properly observed; a large congregation was present, and twenty-one persons were received into the Church. He has ground for rejoicing.

The following delegates from the New Orleans District to the Layman's Missionary Conference left the city Monday evening for Chattanooga, viz: W. W. Carre, C. O. Chalmers, Rev. H. H. Ahrens, Dr. J. W. Adams and J. R. Westerfield. Dr. F. N. Parker, the presiding elder will accompany this delegation.

Carrollton Avenue Church, Rev. H. T. Carley pastor, was beautifully decorated on Sunday last, appropriate sermons were preached, the choir sang Easter hymns, and there were seven applicants for church membership from the Sunday school. A special effort was made to reduce the debt on the parsonage. The offerings amounted to $745.

In a card to this office Rev. P. G. Lowrey says: "On account of Rev. G. D. Parker's engagement to meet the Woman's Board of Missions, and the Parent Board, he finds it impossible to fill his appointments with the Louisiana pastors for the present, and cannot make the State itinerary until later, if at all. But between dates individual pastors will find him glad to respond to their calls."

The Bulletin, a sprightly little paper by Rev. J. D. Ellis, of Waynesboro, Miss., tells its readers that "Rev. H. L. Norton is a theological Giraffe, and Rev. B. W. Lewis, if not a Giraffe, is a Hippopotamus." What does he mean? The Giraffe towers. The Hippopotamus, what? Unless the maker of Webster's Unabridged is a "nature fakir" the big animal "is allied to the hogs." Brother Ellis, why did you?

The Cole lectures this year at Vanderbilt University will be delivered by Rev. George Jackson, B.A., of Toronto, Canada, beginning Monday, April 27. "The Fact of Conversion" is the subject. The lectures, six in number, will be delivered in Wesley Hall Chapel. They are open to the public free of charge. We are under obligation to the Theological faculty of the University for an invitation to be present on the occasion.

In last week's ADVOCATE we gave notice of the approaching marriage of Miss Mamie Sherard to Mr. Samuel Holloway, and Miss Mattie Sherard to Dr. E. L. Rawles. We acknowledge this week an invitation to the weddings, which occur at 3 p. m., April 30, at the Madison Heights M. E. Church, South, Memphis. May these daughters of a Christian household carry with them the religion of father and mother into their own new-made homes, and heaven bless the unions.

GRENADA COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT.

May 24 the Baccalaureate sermon of the Grenada College will be preached by the Rev. Theo. Copeland, of St. Paul's Church, St. Louis. May 26 State Supt. J. N. Powers will deliver the address.

W. L. Clifton.

SUNDAY SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS OF MISSISSIPPI.

Dear Friends: Durant is eagerly awaiting the notice of your attendance upon the institute. We look forward with pleasure to your coming. Do not disappoint us. Send us word at once that you will attend. The institute will be held May 12-14. It is important that we hear from you at an early date.

W. N. Duncan,
Pastor Methodist Church.

LINE UPON LINE.

Dear ADVOCATE: Please allow me space this week to say that we must succeed in raising the money for Millsaps College. Think of it! If we Mississippi Methodists will raise $4200 in cash within the next thirty days it will mean $67,000 to Millsaps College. Can we do it? We can do it if we will. Let us change the sentence and write, We can do it, and we will.

The Lampton family, in south Mississippi, have given $1400 in cash. Such friends are worth their weight in gold. May I ask again that our preachers call attention to this matter from their pulpits? Such an opportunity was never presented to any people before, and surely we will not let it pass idly by.

Please ask those whose subscriptions have not been paid to send the money to me at once. Are there not a number of friends in the State, who have not yet given anything, but will do so now?

T. W. Lewis.

Jackson, Miss.

A GENEROUS RESPONSE.

BISHOP H. C. MORRISON.

I have it in mind to give a word of endorsement to the "Loan Fund Proposition," now before the Church through the call of the Board of Church Extension.

When we call to mind that "nearly half our churches now have Church Extension money in them;" although the Church Extension movement is but twenty-five years old; and the further fact that "Every Church Extension dollar calls forth ten other dollars," no further fact or argument is needed to open the way for ready response to the call to be made "May the 10th."

The man who gives a hundred dollars to this Loan Fund puts a thousand dollars into the work of church-building, and he who gives ten dollars sets one hundred to work for Christ and the Church.

Let this call but go warm from the hearts of the preachers to the hearts of the one million seven hundred thousand in the ranks of the Church, and the response will bring a jubilee to our Zion.

Brethren! Let us "Have faith in God" that he will move his people to honor his name, and recognize the twenty-five years of blessing he has given to Church Extension by a joyous and generous response to the call of May 10—Loan Fund Day.

Birmingham, Ala.

To the woman who bakes,
Royal is the greatest of time and labor savers.
Makes home baking easy,
a pleasure and a profit.

ROYAL
Baking Powder

The only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

With minimum trouble and cost biscuit, cake and pastry are made fresh, clean and greatly superior to the ready-made, dry, found-in-the-shop variety.

FROM THE COLPORTER'S DESK.

Although not heard from often through the ADVOCATE during the winter, I have not been idle nor triflingly employed, as hath been witnessed at home and at various places, as Durant, Itta Bena, Carrollton, West, Vaiden, Oakland, Coldwater, Hernando, Batesville, Stewart, Crawford, Mayhew, and Westpoint. In all visitations I have had none other than kind treatment, hospitable entertainment and friendly aid in the work. Much has been done by correspondence and the filling of orders from many parts of the field, so that I report more accomplished than during the corresponding period of any former year.

Many churches are being supplied with our song books, the "Methodist Hymnal," "Young People's Hymnal," Nos. 1, 2 and 3, and "Revival Praises," to the exclusion of all alien and foreign song books. With the co-operation of our pastors and people we expect great achievements in this line of service during this year.

I purpose attending all of the district and other meetings in both Conferences possible, but shall have to miss some, already appointed, because of conflict in times.

I join with other connectional workers in the two Conferences in the hope that our brethren who have in hand the fixing of dates will carefully avoid conflicts as much as possible so as to allow to us who are representing the great interests of the church as many opportunities as possible.

I am truly grateful to all who have settled accounts within the time limit and also to those who in observance of business principles and brotherly courtesy have in one or another way responded to the modest reminders from time to time, and trust that all will soon be heard from. Send along the orders for whatever books are wanted and command my services when and where needed.

G. W. Bachman.

Winona, Miss.

Obituaries.

Obituaries not over two hundred words in length will be published free of charge. All over two hundred words will be charged at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and send the amount necessary with the obituary. That will save trouble all around.

Mrs. V. L. BARBEE—Away back in the 50's our eldest brother, G. A. Barbee, brought home his beautiful young bride. Full of the buoyancy of hope, she addressed herself to her new relationship with the spirit in accord with her noble nature. When the battles of life pressed hard her brave heart knew no swerving from loyalty to duty. She met every exigency of life in the spirit of true heroism. In her own unobtrusive way as a Christian she fulfilled her mission, ever ambitious for the highest and best for her children and grandchildren, not forgetting to administer to the sick and distressed around her. In the "evening time" of life she walked alone, her husband having preceded her to the "better land." The heroic spirit predominated in her life over all, victorious, still hoping, still planning, not for self, but for others. In the midst of devoted loved ones, in Germantown, Tenn., March 18, 1908, the noble spirit of Virginia Lutitia Barbee (nee Harrison) passed into the beautiful "beyond." We laid her to rest beside her husband in Iuka, Miss., where together they await the coming of their Lord.

DEVOTED SISTER-IN-LAW.

Mrs. FRANK HERRING—On March 23, 1908, after a few days of suffering, Sister Frank Herring laid aside her Christian armor to join the waiting angels to bear her spirit through the ethereal pathway, up to the beautiful city of God, where she shines as the sun in the firmament. But oh, how sad it is with the bereaved family—a crushed husband and nine broken-hearted children: noble sons and daughters! well might she be proud of them. Truly did they reverence their mother. In her death not only did her family feel the loss, but the entire community — the Emory Church, its most zealous and punctual member; the pastor, a friend indeed; the Home Mission Society, a beloved President; the Sunday School, a kind teacher; the sick, a nurse. In her happy home her hospitality was unbounded. Is there one to take her place? Echo answers no. Then condemn us not, if in our grief we said, "Oh, cruel monster, death; why come and take her from us?" Be still, sad hearts, and murmur not. T'was not in anger, t'was not in wrath the angels came that day. May her godly life be so indellibly impressed on the hearts of her loved ones that they may again be an unbroken family, where no parting kiss or farewell tear is shed, is the prayer of one who loved her.

MRS. J. A. STEPHENS.

Mrs. MARY REBECCA SMITH (nee Sims) was born April 23, 1838, and departed this life March 3, 1908. She was first married to Mr. H. F. Moore, May 17, 1853. God blessed that union with three children. Then being left a widow, she was married the second time to Mr. J. M. Smith. God blessed this union with five children. She professed faith in Christ and joined the Methodist Church when very young, and lived a devoted life. She loved her Church, and contributed of her means to help support it. She was a good woman and was beloved by those who knew her. For several months she was in bad health, but bore her afflictions patiently, ever trusting in the mercy and goodness of God. She loved to read her Bible and attend Sunday school and Church service. Her last home on earth was with her daughter, Mrs. Annie Whitaker, near Phoenix, Miss., where she received the attention and care that loving hearts and hands could give. But God took her to himself, where there is no suffering, pain or death; but peace, joy and happiness forevermore. May God bless her children, grandchildren and loved ones, who are left to mourn her departure.

J. M. MASSEY.

JOHN W. RODGERS—On Feb. 9, 1908, Brother John W. Rodgers, of Mahon, Marshall County, Miss., passed from this to the better world to live with the pure and good forever. He was born at North Mt. Pleasant, Miss., March 25, 1851. On Nov. 7, 1872, he was united in holy wedlock to Miss Eleanor Sutton, who now mourns the loss of a devoted husband, while sorrowfully awaiting the summons of reunion with him and other loved ones where parting will be no more. There were born to them eleven children to bless their wedded life, three of whom preceded their father to the heavenly home. In early youth he joined the Presbyterian Church, in which he lived a devoted Christian until 1907, when he united with the M. E. Church, South, at Mahon, Miss. Brother Rodgers impressed one as a good man whose piety was pronounced, and who realized the preciousness of faith in Christ as a present personal Savior, whose grace gave comfort and consolation as the sure indication of dissolution approached. He expressed himself without fear of the future, and, committing his soul to the mercy of God he passed peacefully away. He loved the church, her ministry and all good people, he delighted in the services of the sanctuary, he led the prayer-meetings with aptitude and spirit to the help and comfort of the membership. His home was indeed a place of joy to all. Surrounded by his devoted family, his kindness was manifested in every word or act. His hospitality was free and generous; all ministers and friends were welcome to the comforts of his home. He left behind a sorrowing family—first of all, a devoted wife, an aged mother—nine children, and Sister Sutton, a sister-in-law, who made his house her home. May a good providence attend them and God have them always in his holy keeping.

R. M. DAVIS.

JAMES S. ROBERTSON was born on the 10th of November, 1836, and die April 2, 1908. Thus, it is seen, he attained the age of a little more than three score and ten. He joined the Methodist Church at Rockport, Ala., in 1846. Afterwards he came to Mississippi and while attending a camp-meeting at Enon Camp-ground he received a powerful baptism of the Holy Spirit, which continued with him and grew to the last. Thus he could say, and that, too, in severe suffering, "The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want." Such fortitude and Christian patience in long continued and severe suffering I never saw. Dr. Sullivan, good and patient as he is, marveled at it. Indeed, it was a wonder and an astonishment to everyone who saw him. But has not God said of his servants that he would "make all their bed in their sickness," that he would "deliver them in six troubles; yea, in seven there shall no evil touch them;" that he would "walk with them through the valley and shadow of death?" So he verified these promises to Brother Robertson. For twenty years Brother Robertson suffered with cancer; not one, but several of them. The last two years of his life he spent in bed, not once being able to leave it, while his Christian wife and daughters, only second to himself in Christian patience and fortitude, nursed and cared for him. In all his afflictions no one ever heard him murmur or charge God foolishly; instead thereof prayer was continually on his lips and thankfulness in his heart. When the end came it was peaceful. Like gentle ebbing of a summer zephyr and as a babe drops to sleep on his mother's bosom, his mortal life slipped away. "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace." The Comforter will sustain Sister Robertson, her son and daughters until they go to their husband and father in that beautiful land where afflictions are no more.

E. H. ROOK.

Dr. S. P. WARD, a veteran soldier of Jesus Christ, well known and beloved by nearly the whole of the Louisiana Conference, passed away peacefully and triumphantly to his exceeding great reward Sunday, April 5, 11 a. m., at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. B. Cason, Melville, La. Dr. Ward was born in Rising Sun, Ind., Aug. 28, 1825. Having completed his college course, he studied medicine in Cincinnati, Ohio, and after graduation moved to Louisiana and practiced at Baton Rouge for several years, and then moved to Alexandria, where he practiced until 1860, when he removed to Big Cane, and there continued to reside and practice until 1906. He was married to Miss Harriet A. Waters, of Alexandria, June 19, 1856, who preceded him to the reward of the just a couple of years, having died in the faith of our Lord, March 22, 1905. Of this union were born six children, only three of whom remain to lament his departure. Dr. Ward was reared a Presbyterian, but united with the M. E. Church, South, when at Alexandria, in the year 1857, and continued in this faith until his death a faithful and devout member. The writer has known few men whose faith was as bright and whose hold on the Savior was as secure as that of our Brother Ward. He was always in the spirit, it seemed, and delighted to converse on the things pertaining to the spirit. All his life with our church was exercised in official capacity and he died a steward and Sunday school superintendent of Ward Chapel, near Big Cane. He was an able and zealous Sunday school worker and delighted in this his chosen vocation. Until he became too old and infirm to attend, he never missed an Annual Conference unless providentially prevented, and usually went as a delegate. Possibly no layman in Louisiana is better known to the preachers of our Conference than Dr. Ward, and none is better beloved. In the Lord's work that his hands found to do he did with all his might and magnified the work of the Lord above every duty. His home was the preacher's home, and a more delightful retreat and a more cordial and fraternal reception could not be found anywhere. The charities and the manifold kindnesses of him and his sainted wife can only be known in the other world, and great is their reward in heaven. The writer attended him during the days of his last illness, and his patience was indeed beautiful and his resignation sublime, though he was a great sufferer. It was an inspiration to be with him. When the summons came he was not only ready, but waiting anxiously for the call of his Lord to a higher estate, and left this world in triumph. His did not seem like death, but a departure for home, and such it truly was. We laid him to rest by the side of his dear companion in Pineville Cemetery, April 6, thanking God for his life and the exceeding goodnes of God in giving to the world a life and testimony like his. Brothers H. N. Brown and H. R. Singleton and J. M. Johnson assisted the writer in the funeral service.

J. W. LEE.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

MUSIC TEACHER
wants position to teach piano next session; has had excellent training and experience. Address Miss Mary Lou Moody, Box 171, Meridian, Miss.

Livers Exchanged

IF the active liver of the cod-fish could be put into the place of the torpid liver of the consumptive it would probably do him a world of good. Next best thing is of Cod Liver Oil. Almost as good as a new liver. The great power of SCOTT'S EMULSION as a flesh-producer proves that much of the activity of the cod's liver is contained in every spoonful.

Scott's Emulsion

All Druggists; 50c. and $1.00.

NO MONEY DOWN MEN'S SUITS ON CREDIT $1. A WEEK

Buy Men's Stylish Suits, Topcoats and Raincoats direct from our factory by mail

For $15 and $18

We require no security, and trust any honest person anywhere in the United States.

We send garments on approval—you don't pay a penny till you get the clothes and find them satisfactory—then pay $1.00 a week.

We are the pioneers and twice over the largest Credit Clothiers in the world. We operate 73 stores in the principal cities of the United States, and have over 500,000 customers on our books.

FREE Send today for our fine line of Stylish Spring and Summer samples, self measurement blank, tape and full particulars of our convenient paying plan, all free to you.

Commercial rating, $1,000,000

Menter & Rosenbloom Co.
83 St. Paul S., Rochester, N. Y.

HIS CHANCE IS GONE
YOUR CHANCE IS HERE

The question is, are you qualified to hold a responsible position? Have you had a thorough commercial training? Bankers, Merchants and Manufacturers want you if you are competent. Now is Your Chance. Two roads are open to young people. One requires no training and leads to failure. The other requires training and leads to success. We prepare young men and women and start them on the road to success by securing them high-salaried positions. Fine climate, board cheap. Write for illustrated catalog and further information.

HATTIESBURG BUSINESS COLLEGE, HATTIESBURG, MISS.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL
The Double Track Route.

26 Hours to Chicago
21 Hours to St. Louis
22 Hours to Louisville
26 Hours to Cincinnati

Through Sleeping Cars to above points. Dining Cars, Library Cars, Chair Cars and Coaches.
Full Particulars at
City Ticket Office.
141 ST. CHARLES STREET.
Phone Main 2818.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

CORINTH DISTRICT—SECOND R'N'D.

Guntown and Baldwyn, at Pleasant Valley	Apr 4, 5
Mantachie Cir., at Oak Grove	Apr 11, 12
Belmont Cir., at New Hope	Apr 18, 19
Tishomingo Cir., at Salem	Apr. 25, 26
Wheeler Ct., at Double Spgs.	May 2, 3
Marietta Ct., at Blythes C.	May 9, 10
Myrtle Ct., Ebenezer	May 16, 17
Blue Spgs., at Liberty	May 23, 24
New Albany Ct., at Wells C.	May 30, 31
New Albany Sta., at New Albany	May 31, June 1
Booneville Ct., at Blackland	June 6, 7
Jonesboro Ct., at Brownfield	June 13, 14
Rainey, and Faulkner Ct., at Marvin	June 20, 21
Ripley and New Hope, at Wier's	June 27, 28

District Conference will be held at Baldwyn, Miss., July 14, 15, 16.

BEN P. JACO, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—SECOND ROUND

Columbus Ch., at Pinegrove	Apr 4, 5
Starkville	Apr 11, 12
Starkville Ct., at Lebanon	Apr 18, 19
Shuqualak, at Center Valley	Apr 24,
Winstonville, at Macedonia	Apr 25, 26
Macon	May 16, 17
Mayhew, at Mayhew	May 9, 10
Mathiston	May 1, 3
Crawford, at New Bethel	May 23, 24
Sturges, at Bethel	May 30, 31
Brooksville	June 6, 7
Hebron	June 13, 14
Cedar Bluff	June 20, 21

District Conference will be held at Mathiston July 1, 2, 3.

L. M. LIPSCOMB, P. E.

OXFORD DISTRICT—SECOND RND.

Randolph Ct., at Washington	Apr 2,
Toccapola Ct., at Salem	Apr 4, 5
Charleston Ct., at Oakland	Apr 11, 12
Grenada Sta.	Apr 13,
Grenada Ct., at Sparta	Apr 18, 19
Potts Camp Ct., at Bethlehem	Apr 25, 26
Red Banks Ct., at Wesley	May 1,
Ashland Ct., at Ashland	May 2, 3
Paris Ct., at Bruner's	May 9, 10
Water Valley Ct., at Pleasant R.	May 15,
Coffeeville Ct., at Goshen	May 16, 17
Waterford Ct., at Harris C.	May 30, 31

The District Conference will meet in Holly Springs May 19, 20, 21.

J. E. CUNNINGHAM, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST—SECOND RND.

Shelby, at Merigold	Apr 4, 5
Clarksdale, at 11 a.m.	Apr 12,
Lula, at Lyon, at 8 p.m.	Apr 12,
Boyle, at New Salem	Apr 18, 19
Benoit, at Beulah	Apr 26, 27
Alligator, at Duncan	May 1,
Coahoma, at Dubbs	May 3, 4
Tunica	May 4, 5
Cleveland Sta.	May 10, 11
Cleveland Ct.	May 11, 12
Rosedale	May 14,
Gunnison, at Hillhouse	May 16, 17
Friar's Point	May 17, 18
Greenville	May 23, 24
Jonestown, at Belen	May 30, 31
Robinsonville	June 1,
Shaw	June 7, 8
Glen Allan and South Greenville	June 10,

The District Conference will be held at Cleveland May 27-29.

R. A. MEEK, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST. — SECOND RND.

Tupelo	Apr 5, 6
Buenavista, at Macedonia	Apr 11, 12
Okolona	Apr 19, 20
Prairie, at Mulder	Apr 24,
Amory and Nettleton, at N.	Apr 26, 27
Vardaman, at Hurrican	Apr 30,
Bonds, at Nebo	May 1,
Pittsboro, at Pittsboro	May 2, 3
Houlka, at Asbury	May 9, 10
Palestine, at Ebenezer	May 14,
Pontotoc, at Chesterville	May 23, 24
Pontotoc, at Chesterpille	May 23, 24
Nettleton Ct., at Union	May 30, 31
Okolona Ct. at B. Cbapel	June 6, 7
Aberdeen	June 9,
Fulton	June 12,
Smithville	June 13, 14

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Sardis	Apr 4, 5
Como	Apr 11, 12
Senatobia	Apr 18, 19
Mt. Pleasant, at Marshall Ins.	Apr 25, 26
Olive Branch	May 2, 3
Byhalia, at Emory	May 5,
Cockrum, at Independence	May 7,
Pleasant Hill, at Baker's C.	May 9, 10
Wall Hill, at Grubb Hill	May 12,
Hernando and Hinds, at H.	May 16, 17
Coldwater	May 18,
Harrison, at Bethel	May 21,
Courtland, at Wesley's C.	May 23, 24
Batesville	May 31,
Eureka	June 4,
Tyro, at Tyro	June 6, 7
Arkabutla	June 13, 14
Longtown, at Longtown	June 16,
Crenshaw	June 17,

W. M. YOUNG, P. E.

WINONA DIST. — SECOND ROUND.

Winona Station	Apr 12, 13
Indianola, at Fairview	Apr 18, 19
Belzoni, at Belzoni	Apr 24,
Moorhead, at Sunflower	Apr. 25, 26
Webb, at Cherry Hill	May 2, 3
Inverness, at Lawrence D.	May 9, 10
Ruleville, at Sandy Bayou	May 16, 17
Winona Ct., at Bluff Springs	May 20,
Minter City, at Glendora	May 23, 24
Mar's Hill, at Bethesda	May 30, 31
North Carrollton, at Poplar Springs	June 6, 7
Tom Nolen, at Lebanon	June 9,
Slate Spgs., at Spring Hill	June 10,
Vance, at Marks	June 13, 14

The District Conference will be held in Eupora May 26-28. Opening sermon May 26, 7:30 p.m., by Rev. John Ritchie.

E. S. LEWIS, P. E.

DURANT DIST. — SECOND ROUND.

Louisville	Apr 4, 5
Ackerman Circuit	Apr 10,
Chester, at Pisgah	Apr 11, 12
McCool	Apr 17,
Rural Hill	Apr 18, 19
Durant Station	Apr 21,
Pickens, at Goodman	Apr 25, 26
Lexington Station	May 2, 3
Ebenezer Circuit	May 9, 10
Vaiden, at Kilmichael	May 16, 17
Black Hawk	May 23, 24
Kosciusko Circuit	May 28,
Sidon, at Tchula	May 30, 31

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE MID-YEAR MEETING.

The Mid-year Meeting of the Mississippi Conference Board of Missions will be held in Centreville on June 15, 16, 17. A programme carrying the names of some of the most prominent mission workers of our church will be published in due time.

THE REMEDY FOR SKIN DISEASES.

Tetterine, the fragrant antiseptic and healing ointment, following baths with Tetterine Soap, is the finest treatment ever discovered for Eczema, Tetter, Skin and Scalp diseases and Itching Piles. It relieves the worst itching in a few seconds and destroys the germs, thus curing the disease permanently. Costs only 50 cents at druggists, or by mail. The Shruptine Co., Savannah, Ga.

HISTORY REPEATS.

The day before its practical demonstration half interest in Bell Telephone was offered for $100. The following day it was worth millions. We have an invention equally important to public. Demonstrated next month on Santa Fe. Necessary to all railroads. Immense fortune awaiting investors. Particulars and booklet on request. Simmen Auto Ry. Signal Co., 915 Security Bank Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC

Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

REVIVAL IN MACON, MISS.

Mr. Editor: Our church in Macon is growing. We have just closed a meeting of great power. I was assisted by Rev. E. B. Ramsey, and he did our church and community great good. The Holy Spirit was in all the services from the first unto the last. The other churches and their pastors shared the most fraternal spirit and gave valuable assistance. Ten have joined on profession of faith and three more will join. The attendance at prayer-meeting, Sunday school and the missionary societies has greatly increased since the meeting. The official board has taken steps to greatly improve the church property. The best of all, God is with us. Yours fraternally,

I. E. THOMAS.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

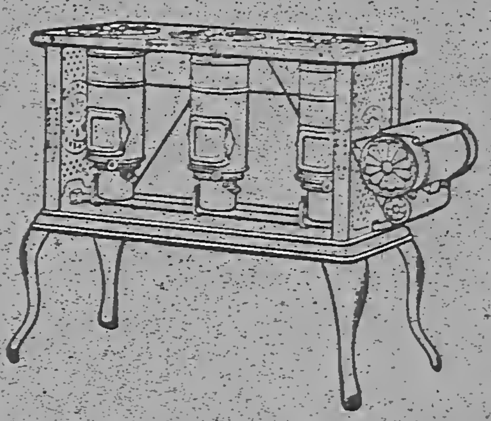
Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

HOME CANNING OUTFITS

The Handsomest Line in America.
Agents Wanted Everywhere.
Write: Tharp Hardware & Mfg. Co., Elkin, N. C.

You Will Need an Oil Stove



When warm days and the kitchen fire make cooking a burden—then is the time to try a New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove.

Marvelous how this stove does away with kitchen discomforts—how cool it keeps the room in comparison with conditions when the coal fire was burning. The quick concentrated heat of the goes directly to boil the kettle or bake the bread, and none is diffused about the room to overheat it. Thus using the "New Perfection" is real kitchen comfort. Made in three sizes and fully warranted. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

NEW PERFECTION
Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove

The Rayo Lamp Just such a lamp as everyone wants—handsome enough for the parlor; strong enough for the kitchen, camp or cottage; bright enough for every occasion. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY,
(Incorporated)

$50 DRAUGHON'S SCHOLARSHIP FOR $25

Four years' NET PROFITS of $85,904.85 enable Draughon's chain of 30 Colleges to make this special offer, for a limited time, to favor those short of work or cash by reason of late financial depression. FREE CATALOGUE will convince you that BUSINESS MEN consider

DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL BUSINESS COLLEGES

THE BEST. No vacation; enter any time. POSITIONS SECURED—written CONTRACT.
SHREVEPORT, JACKSON (MISS), DALLAS, GALVESTON (TEXAS), NASHVILLE and WASHINGTON (D. C.).

W. H. BYRNES, Pres. JOHN T. GIBBONS, Vice-Pres. P. E. BURKE, Sec'y.

Capital $200,000.00
Assets 479,860.90

HIBERNIA INSURNCE CO.,
No. 305 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

LOSSES PROMPTLY PAID.

Pine-Brook Dairy Co., Ltd.

ALL OUR COWS TUBERCULINE TESTED.

Milk and Cream Delivered Morning and Evening.

COR. ST. CHARLES & WASHINGTON AVES. Phone 1514 Uptown.

THE AMERICAN PAINT WORKS,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.,

MANUFACTURES EVERYTHING IN PAINTS,
—Guaranteed Strictly Pure—
The Climatic Prepared Paints, Perfecto White and
SOLD SUBJECT TO A CHEMICAL ANALYSIS.

DIRECTORS:
Thos. S. Witherspoon, President. Francis Martin, Vice President.
R. B. Parker, John McCloskey, Geo. A. Hero.
PHONE, MAIN 915. Special Attention to Mail Orders.

Delicately
Flavored
Pure and Wholesome
Jell-O
THE DAINTY DESSERT
7 delightful flavors
Complies with all pure food
Laws

Drives
'Em Out
Of House
To Die

Get a box of
Stearns' Electric RAT and ROACH Paste.
If you are troubled with rats or mice. It is sure death, driving them out of the house to die. Easy to use and gives quick and sure results. Sold for 30 years, and never yet failed to kill off rats and mice. Also for cockroaches, water-bugs and other vermin. 2 oz. box, 25c; 16 oz. box, $1.00.
Sold at druggists and general stores everywhere, or sent direct prepaid on receipt of price.
STEARNS' ELECTRIC PASTE CO. Buffalo, N.Y., U.S.A.

FREE RIFLE

This handsome 1000 Shot Rifle absolutely free to any boy who will send us 45 cents for one of our Samples, and give us a few hours of his spare time for one week. This Rifle is great for Target practice, and is sure death to small game and rats. Address with 45 cents, stamps or money order.
R. R. WILLIAMS, P. O. Box, 176,
Glen Falls, N. Y.

Ten Days' Free Trial
allowed on every bicycle we sell. We Ship on Approval and trial to anyone in U. S. and prepay the freight. If you are not satisfied with bicycle after using it ten days don't pay a cent.
Factory Prices Do not buy a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone at any price until you receive our latest Art Catalogs of high grade bicycles and sundries and learn our unheard of prices and marvelous new offers.
It Only Costs a cent to write a postal and everything will be sent you FREE by return mail. You will get much valuable information. Do Not Wait; write it Now!
Tires, Coaster Brakes, single wheels, parts, repairs and sundries at half usual prices.
MEAD CYCLE CO., Dept. L266 Chicago

Sunday School

By W. B. Campbell.

LESSON FOR SEPT. 26, 1908.

Subject—"Jesus Teaches Humility." John xii, 1-20.

Golden Text: "A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another, as I have loved you." John xii, 34.

The last night of our Lord's earthly life was at hand, and with a feeling of deep suffering the Lord had presided at the table where they had eaten the Paschal supper. The Master had taken the bread and wine, and taught them the most solemn service of the Church. Every word he uttered should have been treasured in the hearts of his disciples, for only a few hours hence he would be taken away. What a wonder that they could not understand all that he said and did at such a momentous time! No evil should have entered that sacred room, but where in all the world does Satan hesitate to enter?

While the disciples should have been in holy meditation on the words of the Master, they were contending as to who should be the greatest. While all should have been so full of love for the Lord as to be ready to die for him, there was one present who was even then actually planning his betrayal. One has said that we should be thankful that this treacherous idea did not originate in the heart of man, but "the devil put it into the heart of Judas."

The heart of man is desperately wicked. What must he be capable of if to this Satan adds his hellish suggestions!

There, in that room, was the First and Best of all—Jesus Christ, the Son of the Most High; and there also was a man full of evil and in the power of Satan. Poor Judas! Some have said that he sat in the chief seat at the supper, when the others were disputing about who should have the pre-eminence, but to what a death did the betrayer fall.

Let us take unto ourselves a warning—the fact that Judas, with all the terrible wickedness filling his heart, had partaken of the Lord's Supper and received the lesson of humility, as Jesus taught when washing his feet. Humility is a lesson that should be impressed on "the spirit of the mortal," because pride is in itself a sin, and "goeth before a fall." No sin is excusable, but pride is less so than any. What has poor fallen man to do with being proud?

It was a lesson of love that Jesus would teach "his own," for he loved them unto the end. The end was near, only a few hours away, but the fearful prospect ahead did not deter the Master in his practical teaching. He knew that soon he must be out of the world, and with his Father and our Father. Supper being ended, they sat in silent thought, most of them in holy meditation; but the devil had put it in the heart of Judas to betray Jesus. How could he think of anything else, except perhaps those thirty shining pieces of silver he was to receive, and which he loved better than all the blessings he had received from the Master during his two years of service? All this and all other things, whether of joy or of sorrow, had been given into the hands of the Son by his Father. As he arose from the table, forgetting the glory that would follow his suffering, he girded himself with a towel, and, taking water in a basin, began to wash his disciples' feet. All were surprised when they saw him preparing to do this, and Peter was still more so when the Lord came to him first of all. Who that loved the Lord would not have drawn back just as Peter did, as he asked: "Lord, dost thou wash my feet?" Listen to the answer of the blessed Redeemer! Listen all ye that stand and wonder at the mystery of God's providences—all ye in the dark valley of the shadow, who reach out after loved ones gone to return no more—all ye who look for the hand of God in such bereavement, and see nothing ahead but days of gloom and hopeless sorrow. Listen to the words of God's only Son: "What I do, thou knowest not now; but thou shalt know hereafter."

Peter drew back; his having Jesus wash his feet would not give him a part with the Master, but his refusing to allow it done would take it away from him. After this incident the solemn service went on until the feet of them all had been cleansed by the hand of him, their Lord and Master. He took his outer garments and put them on and sat down, and began to explain the meaning of his actions: "Know ye what I have done to you?" No, Master, they did not know, and the whole world in all the succeeding generations has been trying to know its full meaning.

"Ye call me Master and Lord." "So I am." "If I, then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet, ye ought, also, to wash one another's feet." He further told them that what he had done was an example. There have been some, in olden time, that made a religious service of literally following this example, but they are few nowadays. If we take the meaning, and are like him who was "meek and lowly in heart," we will have profited by the divine injunction. When, at the first, Peter had decided to forsake all and follow Jesus, he was cleansed as to the guilt of a sinful condition; he was washed; but a washing of hands and feet was needed every day. When we have surrendered to Jesus, he pardons all our sins, but the war between nature and grace has just begun, and the wounds received by the soldiers must be healed as often as they are inflicted. The figure appears that as the body is upright and nearer heaven, it needs but the one washing—that at conversion—but the feet are in constant contact with the earth, and are stained thereby; so we are taught to pray "give us day by day" this cleansing; both applied by the loving hands of him who gave himself for us, and became a servant, that we might in this respect partake of the divine nature. With such loving words and deeds, our Lord was soon to be taken from them, and he sorrowed because he knew all things from the beginning, but the knowledge of the cruel incidents were mercifully given them, day by day, as they could bear them. What a wonderful Savior, and what a wonderful love he has for us! He loves each of us as the Father loves him. His new commandment is to love one another, just as he has loved us.

DR. MILES' ANTI-PAIN PILLS FOR HEADACHE
And Other Pains
25 DOSES
25 CENTS.
125 Doses $1.
NEVER SOLD IN BULK.
TAKE ONE
of These Little Tablets
AND THE PAIN IS GONE.

HEISKELL'S OINTMENT
is the one infallible remedy for all skin diseases. Relief is instant. The cure, quick and permanent. It quickly cures the worst case of
ECZEMA
Use Heiskell's Medicated Soap for bathing the affected parts. Heiskell's Blood and Liver Pills tone up the liver, purify the blood. Ointment, 50c a box; Soap, 25c a cake; Pills, 25c a box. Sold by all druggists or sent by mail. Testimonials free.
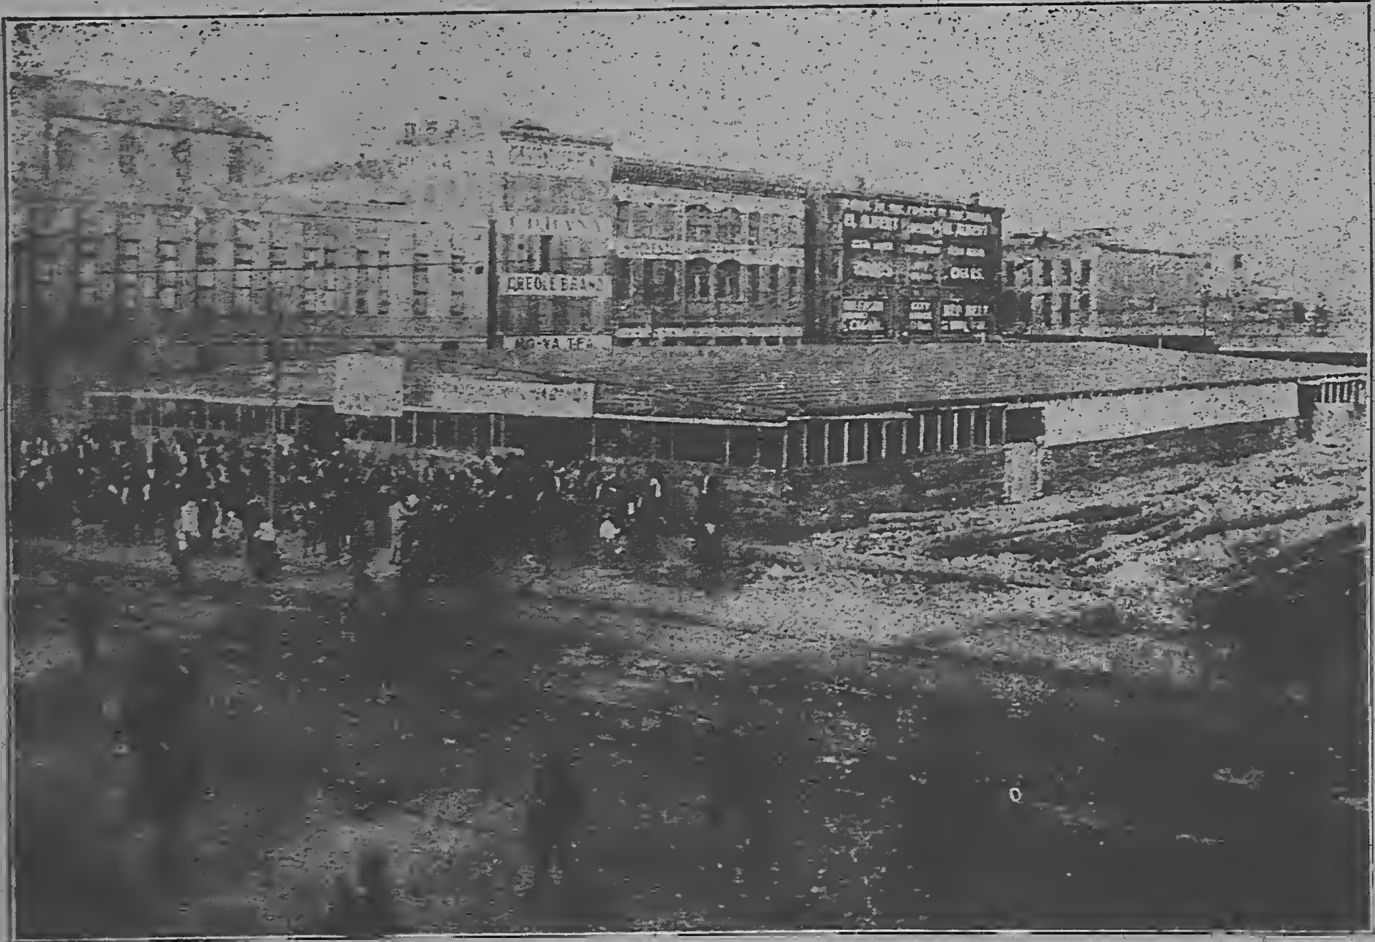
Johnston, Holloway & Co.,
531 Commerce
Street,
Phila.

ALTAR CHAIRS, SUNDAY School Seats, School Desks, Portable Chairs, Collection Plates, Communion Tables, Lodge Furniture, etc. Ask for big Catalog No. 60. E. H. Stafford Mfg. Co., Chicago, Ill.

BELLS.
Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and



THE UNION GOSPEL TABERNACLE
In which Evangelist M. F. Ham Conducted the Great New Orleans Revival, Destroyed by the U. S. Government, at the Instigation of a Whiskey Drummer.

Epworth League

PRAYER-MEETING

A THREE-FOLD MINISTRY.

TOPIC FOR APRIL 26.

I. To Relieve. (John vi, 5-14.)

Illustrations of Jesus' compassion for those who needed physical relief. (Five minutes. It would be well for different members to give these.)

One of the most distressing facts of modern society is the great extent of poverty. It is estimated that over 10,000,000 people in the United States are in actual want—underfed, poorly clothed, improperly housed. This is more than the population of Georgia, Alabama, Kentucky, and Florida. About 5,000,000 women work from necessity, a large percentage of them at work that unfits them for the care of homes or children; 17,000,000 children work when they should be in school, many of them working all night. About half the families of this country own no property, and are dependent upon a salary that is often varying. In our Southern cities we find over 17,000 persons in poverty in Louisville, over 12,000 in Atlanta, over 20,000 in Nashville, over 22,000 in New Orleans, etc.

The chief causes of poverty are sickness and misfortune, drink and shiftlessness, and more largely hard labor conditions—inability to secure continuous work, low wages, over-competition in fields of unskilled labor, etc. Records show that a large per cent. of deaths among this class is due to preventable diseases—that is, diseases that could be prevented by sufficient nourishment, clothing, and sanitary condition of the homes. Records in six Southern cities show that more than one-fourth of all arrests are due to drunkenness; and of this number, about two-thirds were without occupation.

Spargo says that 80,000 baby lives are annally sacrificed to poverty, and gives this very apt though sad quotation:

"O room for the lamb in the meadow
And room for the bird in the tree!
But here in stern poverty's shadow
No room, hapless baby, for thee!"

The question for us in view of these and many other facts is: "Were Jesus here, would he be concerned about these people, and would he seek to relieve them?" If he would, what should we do?

"And Christ was still the healing Friend
Of poverty and pain;
And never did imploring soul
His garment touch in vain.
May we with humble effort take
Example from above,
And thence the active lesson learn
Of charity and love!"

How are we striving to meet these needs? The Charity and Help Department of the Epworth League is doing much. The Woman's Home Mission Society, in its local department and in its work under the various city mission boards, is relieving the poor; has its clinics where patients are treated free by the best physicians or for the small sum they are able to pay; the district nurse, who not only aids in the care of the sick, but who instructs the people in the care of disease, its prevention, etc.; employment bureaus; industrial classes, where unskilled persons may learn to make a living wage; etc.

Hymn 690: "Who Is Thy Neighbor?"

II. To Teach. (Matt. xiii, 10-17.)

As there is much poverty in the world, there is also much ignorance. Poverty oft-times comes from ignorance; many are ignorant because they are poor. Many who suffer in poverty are strong enough and have native mind enough to make a good living wage if they were efficient workmen. Many of these long to become efficient, but lack the means to get such education as will make them independent. The sickness that is one large cause of poverty is to a large extent due to ignorance of laws of health, of food values, its preparation, etc.

A large mass of immigrant people live in deplorable condition on account of ignorance, though we find large numbers of them seeking to better their condition through the public schools, night schools, industrial schools, clubs, etc. Such schools as the Woman's Home Mission Society has for the Cubans, Italians, Japanese, Chinese, and Koreans ought to be multiplied by twelve. Here they are not only taught the common school branches—industrial work, sanitation, care of sick, care of children, etc.—but here they also come to know the Great Teacher. The Epworth League might carry on some lines of this work; and where the work is already started under a trained leader, they may add largely to it by material aid and by volunteer service.

Hymn 410.

III. To Love. (Luke xix, 1-10.)

Stress both phrases to seek and to save. A little girl of ten, who went to several classes in one of our Wesley Homes, was asked what she learned in the sewing school. Very promptly she replied: "We learn to tell the truth, to be honest and kind. We learn Bible verses and songs and learn to love Jesus." "But I thought you learned to sew. Did you not make that apron you have on in the sewing school?" "O yes, we do learn that, and we can buy warm clothing when we do not have money enough to buy it anywhere else; but those aren't the best things; it's learning to love Jesus that helps us all."

So the various forms of charity and material relief, the various ways of educating are not the chief things; the end and aim of it all is to hold up Jesus Christ that he may draw all these unto him.—Mabel Head, in the Epworth Era.

NOTICE!

Mississippi Conference League Day.

To Presiding Elders, Pastors and League Workers of the Mississippi Conference:

The Programme Committee for the League Conference (appointed by the League Board) have set apart the Fifth Sunday in May to be observed as Mississippi Conference Epworth League Day, and request that the day be generally observed by all of the Leagues in the Conference, and also ask that where there are no Leagues that the pastor have the congregation carry out the programme, and, of course, he is to conduct the service, if he can be there; but if not, that a suitable person be put in charge. A programme will be mailed to all of the pastors within the next few weeks. We are arranging two programmes,—one for the use of the Leagues, and the other for the use of the churches that have no Leagues. The purpose of this is to get all of the Leaguers, pastors and presiding elders interested in the Conference, and to thoroughly advertise the day and place of the meeting, also that a collection might be taken to defray the expense of the Conference as we expect to have several speakers from a distance.

If the pastors will send me the address of any persons that they would like the programme (designating which of the two) mailed to, I will mail direct to that address, or it will be mailed to the pastor.

On behalf of the Committee, and in behalf of our young people, and the League Cause, I beg of you that you will interest yourself in this movement, and see that the day is observed, and that the collection is taken, and that it is remitted to me as soon as collected.

Remember the Conference at Gulfport [illegible] 18-21, 1908. Yours,

W. D. HAWKINS.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—SECOND RND.

Slidell, at Mandeville		Apr 26,
Louisiana Avenue	a.m.	May 3,
Algiers	p.m.	May 3,
Felicity	a.m.	May 10,
Epworth	p.m.	May 10,
First Church		May 17,
Rayne	a.m.	May 24,

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—SECOND RND.

Master's Chapel	Apr 25, 26
Boyce, at Eden	May 2, 3
Pollock, at Tioga	May 6,
Selma	May 9, 10
Boeuf River	May 11,
Chicot, at Ward's Chapel	May 16, 17
Opelousas, at Opelousas	May 18,
Alexandria, at First Church	May 23, 24
Alexandria, West End	May 24, 25
Simmsport, at Woodside	May 30, 31
Dry Creek, at Hopewell	June 5,
Glenmora, at Forest Hill	June 6, 7
Natchitoches	June 11,

The District Conference will convene in Natchitoches June 12-14.

N. E. JOYNER, P. E.

Alexandria, La.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—SECOND RND.

Wesley, at Davis Spring	Apr 24, 25
Coushatta, at Campti	Apr 26, 27
La Chute, at Atkins	May 2, 3
Mansfield Circuit	May 9, 10
Zwolle, at Noble	May 16, 17
Mansfield	May 17, 18
Many	May 23, 24
Ida, at Ida	May 30, 31
Shreveport, Texas Ave.	June 1, 2

Our Annual Preachers' Meeting and Missionary Institute will meet at Mansfield Monday night, May 18, and close Wednesday night. We want each pastor to bring at least three laymen and as many of the good women as possible.

T. J. WARLICK, P. E.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—SECOND RND.

Baker, at Brookstown	Apr 25, 26
Zachary and Slaughter, at Z.	Apr 26, 27
Port Vincent, at Huffs	May 2, 3
Ponchatoula, at Springfield	May 3, 4
Hammond	May 5,
Independence, at I.	May 6,
Amite City	May 7,
Franklinton, at Angie	May 9, 10
Mt. Hermon Ct., at Mt. H.	May 11,
Kentwood	May 12,
St. Helena, at Wesley	13,
St Francisvill, at Star Hill	16, 17

R. W. TUCKER, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—SECOND RND.

Haughton, at Doyline	Apr 25, 26
Gibsland, at Athens	Apr 27,
Arcadia	Apr 28,
Jonesboro, at Jonesboro	May 3, 4
Vernon, at New Prospect	May 9, 10
Bernice, at Bernice	May 15,
Lisbon, at Harmony	May 16, 17
Ruston	May 18,
Minden	May 19,
Ringgold, at Andrew's	May 20,
Lanesville, at Pine Grove	May 23, 24
C. Valley, at C. Valley	May 26,
Winnfield	May 31, June 1

District Conference will be about the last week in July. Preachers, please take notice and make no conflicting appointments.

BRISCOE CARTER, P. E.

CROWLEY DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Morgan City	April 26
Patterson	April 26
Sulphur and Vinton	May 3
Lake Charles	May 3
Lake Arthur	May 17
Jennings	May 24

J. M. HENRY, P. E.

MONROE DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Lake Providence, at L. P.	Apr 25, 26
Farmerville, at Marion	May 2, 3
Brookland, at Sardis	May 9, 10
Eros, at Indian Village	May 16, 17
Merrouge, at M.	May 23, 24
Mangham, at Little Creek	May 30, 31
Harrisonburg, at Jonesville	June 6, 7
Florence, at Holly Grove	June 13, 14
Downsville, at Douglas	June 17,
Waterproof, at St. Joseph	June 20, 21
Floyd, at Midway	June 27, 28

J. E. DENSON, P. E.

Mississippi Conference.

MERIDIAN DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Leakesville, at Adamsville, Binnsville	Apr 26, 27
Lauderdale, at Mt. Hebron, 11 a.m.	Apr 30,
Eucutta, at New Hope	May 2, 3
DeKalb, at New Hope, at 11 a.m.	May 6,
North Kemper, at Mellen, 11 a.m.	May 7,
Matherville, at Hiwanee	May 9, 10

The District Missionary Institute will be held April 7 and 8 at Central Church. The District Epworth League Conference will be held at Central Church Apr.

W. C. BLACK, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—SECOND ROUND

Silver City, at S. C.	Apr 30,
Satartia, at Satartia	May 2, 3
Oak Ridge, at Redwood	May 9, 10
Port Gibson, at P. G.	May 13,
Rocky Springs, at Cayuga	May 23, 24
Edwards, at E.	June 1,
Anguilla, at Grace	June 4, 5
Rolling Fork, at Cary	June 6, 7
Vicksburg, C. Street	June 13, 14
Bolton, at Raymond	June 20, 21
Mayersville, at Shiloh	June 27, 28

District Conference will be held at Edwards, May 27-30.

G. H. GALLOWAY, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Homochitto, at Salem	Apr 25, 26
Cassville, at Gallitin	May 2, 3
Bethel, at Mt. Carmel	May 9, 10
Centerville	May 10, 11
Percy's Creek, at P. C.	May 16,
Woodville	May 17, 18
[illegible], at Tabernacle	May 23, 24
Natchez, Pearl Street	May 30, 31
Natchez, Jefferson St.	May 31, June 1
Washington, at Kingston	June 6, 7

[illegible] District Conference will be held at Woodville May [illegible].

J. F. LEGGETT, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Brooklyn and Bond, at Garaway Chapel	Apr 25, 26
Longbeach	May 2, 3
Pass Christian	May 4,
Biloxi, Main Street	May 5,
Gulfport, Twenty-fifth Ave.	May 6,
Gulfport, Twenty-ninth	May 7,
Howison and Saucier	May 9, 10
Carriere, at Nicholson	May 14,
Lumberton	May 15,
Hattiesburg, Broad St.	May 16, 17
McHenry and Wiggins, at McHenry	May 23, 24
Mendenhall, at Zion	May 25,

District Conference at McHenry, May 19-22. Opening sermon at 7:30 p.m. by Rev. J. W. Thompson. Sermon evening of 20th by Rev. D. P. Bradford followed by administration of the Lord's supper.

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Florence, at Wesleyana	Apr 25, 27
Madison, at Pocahontas	May 2, 3
Yazoo City	May 8,
Flora, at Bentonia	May 9, 10
Pinola, at Harrisville	May 20,
Terry, at Spring Ridge	May 23, 24
Jackson, Capitol St.	May 27,
Benton, at Tranquil	May 30, 31
Eden, at Phillips	June 2,
Canton	June 6, 7
Lintonia, at Anding	June 13, 14
Mount Olive	June 20, 21

A. F. WATKINS, P. E.

NEWTON DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Chunky, at Last Gape	Apr 25,
Newton	Apr 26, 27
Homewood, at High Hill	May 2, 3
Vossberg, at Philadelphia	May 9,
Laurel	May 10, 11
Fifth Avenue	May 10, 11
Rose Hill, at Garlandsville	May 16,
Morton, at P.	May 17, 18
Harpersville, at Contrell	May 23, 24
Trenton, at Trenton	May 30,
Raleigh, at Raleigh	May 31, 32
Hebron, at Hebron	June 6, 7
Ellisville, at Ellisville	June 9,
Decatur, at Neshoba	June 12,

JAS. M. WEEMS, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—SECOND RND.

McComb and Fernwood, at F.	Apr 25, 26
Pearlhaven, at Hawkins Ch.	May 2, 3
Brookhaven	May 3, 4
District Conference at Tylertown	May 6, 10
Tylertown, at China Gr.	May 11,
Monticello, at Sontag	May 16, 17
Beauregard, at N. Wesson	May 17, 18
Wesson	May 23, 24
Summit, at Osyka	May 24, 25
Adams, at Adams	May 30, 31
Pearl River, at W. Chapel	June 3,
Topisaw, at Holmesville	June 6, 7

GEO. H. THOMPSON, P. E.

Don't you know
That Craddock-Terry Co's
Long Wear Shoes
wear longer than other shoes at the same price? If not, try a pair of these celebrated shoes and be convinced.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

"Spiritualism Exposed"
is the title of a lecture delivered by Rev. T. W. Petty, which is now being published in book form. The price prepaid is fifty cents, and everybody interested in spiritualism should read it. Agents wanted in every state. Book and terms to any address on receipt of price. NEW PUBLISHING CO., Phoenix, Arizona.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

A HAPPY BALD-HEADED MAN.
H. Dayton, a chemist living at 2004 1-2 Magnolia Ave., St. Louis, Mo., accidentally discovered a mixture that made his hair grow. He tried it on his bald-headed friends with the same results. He is so proud of it that he has had the receipt printed by the thousand and is sending it to all who write and enclose stamp.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS.
UNLIKE OTHER BELLS SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.
Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

PROGRAMME.

Mississippi Methodist Sunday School Superintendents' Institute, Durant, Miss., May 12-14.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON, May 12.

2:30—Devotional Exercises, Rev. T. W. Lewis.

3:00—How to Get the Best Results from this Institute for your Sunday School: By use of note books; By attending every session. Discussion led by W. H. Carter, of Columbus.

3:30—The Sunday School Superintendent and his Staff: What Officers are Needed; Work of Each Officer; Good and Bad Management. J. B. Greene.

4:15—Sunday School Aids: Maps, Blackboards, etc., and how to use them. E. E. French, of Nashville.

5:00—The Beginners. Mrs. H. M. Hamill.

TUESDAY EVENING, MAY 12.

7:30—Devotional Exercises, Rev. T. W. Lewis.

8:00—Illustrated Lecture, "Seeing Japan," Dr. H. M. Hamill.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 13.

8:45—Devotional Exercises, Rev. T. W. Lewis.

9:15—The Sunday School Hour: The Ideal Programme; How to Make the Most of It. John R. Pepper.

10:00—The Graded Sunday School: What it is; How Best to Grade the Sunday School; How and When to Make Promotions. J. B. Greene.

11:00—Sunday School Training in Bible Study: Sunday School Training for Service. Dr. H. M. Hamill.

11:30—Music in the Sunday School. E. E. French.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, MAY 13.

2:30—Devotional Exercises. Rev. T. W. Lewis.

3:00—The Superintendent's Necessary Work: Inside the School; Outside the School. Dr. H. M. Hamill.

3:45—The Primary Department: Its Relation to the Main School; How to Develop the Department; What Should Be Provided For it. Mrs. H. M. Hamill.

4:30—The Business End of the Sunday School. E. E. French.

5:15—Recess.

5:30—Lunch served by the ladies, after which there will be a discussion of: The Teachers' Meeting—Its Necessity; How to Have One; The Programme. Led by John R. Pepper.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, MAY 13.

7:30—Devotional Exercises. Rev. T. W. Lewis.

8:00—The Sunday School and Missions. Dr. H. M. Hamill.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 14.

8:45—Devotional Exercises. Rev. T. W. Lewis.

9:15—Observance of Special Days: Children's Day; Rally Day; Decision Day; Missionary Day. J. B. Greene.

10:00—The Adult Bible Class: The Baracca Class. John R. Pepper.

10:45—How to get Teachers: The Supply Class; The Normal Class; The Bible Study Course. Dr. H. M. Hamill.

11:15—Japanese Children. Mrs. H. M. Hamill.

11:45—Volunteer Closing Words. Led by Dr. H. M. Hamill.

12:00—Final Adjournment.

Entertainment will be provided free by the people of Durant. Send names of all who will attend to Rev. W. N. Duncan, chairman, Durant, Miss., as early as possible.

All the presiding elders, pastors, superintendents and assistant superintendents are ex-officio members of the institute and are expected to attend. Any other Sunday school workers or teachers who can attend will be cordially welcomed.

All the devotional exercises will be conducted by Rev. T. W. Lewis. It is the sincere desire of the two Conference Sunday School Boards that the institute be deeply spiritual, and that the Holy Spirit may be present in power.

MUSIC.

The singing will be congregational, of Shelby, assisted by the local choir, and will be led by Rev. R. P. Neblett.

A social lunch will be served by the ladies on Wednesday of the institute, beginning at 5:30 o'clock, during which teachers' meetings will be discussed under the leadership of Mr. John R. Pepper.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

has been used for over Sixty-Five Years by millions of mothers for their children while teething with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain; cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1098. An Old and Well Tried Remedy.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

New Orleans District, Rev. F. N. Parker, D.D., presiding elder; residence, 241 Olivier St.

Rev. John T. Sawyer, D.D., Conference Missionary Evangelist; residence, 2421 Chestnut St.; phone, Uptown 1832.

First Methodist Church, St. Charles Ave., near Calliope St.; Rev. J. E. Wray, pastor; residence, 5830 Prytania St.; phone, Uptown 329; office hours, at Church, 2 to 3 p. m.; Church phone, Main 1779.

Second Methodist Church, 2531 Burgundy, near Lafayette Ave.; Rev. A. l. Townsley, pastor; residence, 2728 N. Rampart St.; office hours, 9 to 11 a.m.; phone, Main 978.

Parker Memorial, corner Nashville avenue and Perrier street; Rev. C. D. Atkinson, pastor; residence 734 Nashville avenue.

Louisiana Avenue, corner Louisiana Ave. and Magazine St.; Rev. W. W. Holmes, pastor; residence 2903 Camp St.; phone, Uptown 1391.

Rayne Memorial, St. Charles Avenue and General Taylor Streets; Dr. John A. Rice, pastor; residence, 1101 Peniston Street.

Felicity Street Church, corner Felicity and Chestnut Streets; Rev. Albert S. Lutz, pastor; residence 2321 Chestnut Street.

Carrollton Avenue, corner Carrollton avenue and Elm street; Rev. Henry T. Carley, pastor; residence, 1125 Fern St.; 'phone, Uptown 1238.

Algiers, Lavergne Street, corner Delaronde; Rev. J. F. Foster, pastor.

McDonoghville and Gretna, Rev. H. Whitehead, pastor; residence 5208 Magazine Street; phone, Uptown 2459.

Epworth Church, corner Banks and Scott Streets; Rev. L. A. Sims, pastor; residence, 232 South Pierce Street.

Rev. Jno. L. Sutton, Superintendent Orphan Boys' Asylum; residence, 5220 St. Charles Ave.; phone, Uptown 128.

Rev. L. E. Wicht, junior preacher Lower Coast Mission; address, 509 Board of Trade Bldg., New Orleans.

BLOOD POISONING POSITIVELY CURED

Hereditary, primary, secondary and tertiary. Scrofula, Eczema, Blood and Skin Disease. If you have exhausted old-time methods, and want to get well, write me in fullest confidence for proof of cures. Take my treatment and get well. A. A. BROWER, M. D.
San Antonia, Tex.

The robe of righteousness will not fit a turncoat.

Profession and practice are twin sisters.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

ANGELL PHARMACY COMPANY,
2300 Baronne Street, corner Philip.
PRESCRIPTIONS OUR SPECIALTY Phone Main 4269.
Pure Drugs, Chemicals, Toilet Articles, Perfumery, Stationery, etc.
TRY ANGELL'S COUGH & WHOOPING COUGH SYRUP
Price 25 and 50 cents. Sold by all Druggists.
HOMŒPATHIC DEPARTMENT.
Homoeopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, Globules, Sugar of Milk, Etc.
Prices, 1-2 ounce vial 15 cents, 1 ounce vial 25 cents.
PROMPT DELIVERY.

A GOOD PIANO,
PIANO PLAYER or PLAYER PIANO see the
Grunewald's
Before You Buy.
Agents for the Latest Improved and best Instruments on the Market.

STEWART HOME AND SCHOOL FOR FEEBLE MINDED CHILDREN AND ADULTS
I want to send my Catalogue to every one interested in the care and training of feeble minded children. You ought to know how such cases can be developed by special methods in teaching and special medical care. Let me send you my catalogue to-day. Address,
Dr. John P. Stewart, Supt., Box 4, Farmdale, Ky.

The Union Railroad Business College,
BUSINESS TAUGHT AS IT IS DONE.
Is backed up by thousands of dollars and expert teachers. Uses no text books or copying nonsense. Free scholarships given only to those between the ages of 13 and 35 years.
Business men everywhere are calling for the graduates of this school. For full particulars, address PROF. W. H. STEPHENSON. Texarkana, Texas.

SCROFULINE
The Wonderful Healer
Unsurpassed for tetter, ezcema, skin and scalp troubles, old sores, ulcers and piles, any nature or duration. Goes to the very seat of the trouble, kills the germs and extracts all foreign matter. Sold under a positive guarantee, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per jar. Mail orders promptly filled. Stamps accepted. Liberal sample upon request. Address,
THE SCROFULINE COMPANY, Waco, Texas.
SOLE OWNERS AND MANUFACTURERS.

$35.50 FROM NEW ORLEANS TO CALIFORNIA,
MARCH 2 TO APRIL 30, '08, INCLUSIVE,
VIA
Southern Pacific "Sunset Route"
This rate applies from most points in LOUISIANA, correspondingly low rates from other points.
PULLMAN TOURIST SLEEPERS, OIL BURNING LOCOMOTIVES,
DAILY NEW ORLEANS TO SAN FRANCISCO.
F. E. BATTURS, GEN. PASS. AGT., NEW ORLEANS.

BOLTON CHARGE.

Bolton charge is much in advance of the achievements of any one of the three years we have already served it. This year bids well to be the best of the four, although thus far we have failed to organize our members into classes, so we might appoint class-leaders to take charge and move forward with their work, for it is not lawful in our church to appoint class-leaders before we have classes organized for them to lead. We have made an effort to organized at each appointment. We are endeavoring to hold love-feasts at each church once a quarter. We lack but $121.50 of raising our Conference collections of $374 in full. We have had eleven accessions to our church.

We have held a church conference at each of the four appointments, and are now entering upon our second quarter. We have not failed to hold a church conference at each church once a quarter since we have had charge of this work; and, too, we see to it that the minutes are entered in the church conference record, and that the church registers are well kept. Brothers John L. Gaddis, Charles A. Swofford and H. C. Lamkin are faithful superintendents of our Sunday schools. When Brother J. M. Black left us at Bolton I feared Sunday school work would be quite stunted, but we appealed to Brother John L. Gaddis to come to our help. This he did, and we are moving on grandly. Let all the readers of this pray earnestly for this to be the best year of our four churches in this charge.

ISAAC L. PEEBLES.

GREAT WORK AT SHELBY AND MERIGOLD.

Dear Dr. Boswell: Rev. J. W. Honnoll has been here and captured the hearts of our people. He is a soul-stirring preacher. So interesting and helpful were his sermons that splendid congregations presented themselves for the day services, and a crowded house greeted him each evening. He came to stay ten days, but three weeks was all too short. From March 22 to April 12 our meeting continued, growing in spiritual power each day. Four Sundays was the time embraced.

Our church people were built up, backsliders reclaimed, mourners came to the altar and were converted "in the good old-fashion way." The power fell upon the services; the sound of rejoicing over sins forgiven and true fellowship of saints was a sweet realization. Mothers, fathers and a large company of Sunday school pupils were baptized and took the church vows. If you want to see religion lived and enjoyed by people who love God, come to Shelby and Merigold, for Brother Honnoll has held meetings for us at both places, preaching more than fifty sermons the past two months.

About half of the Conference collections are in hand, most of it having gone to the treasurer; the remainder is all provided for.

If any one wishes to see a Sunday school where every member is present or accounted for every Sunday and all members bringing their Bibles, using the same, come over and take a look at either of our schools. They are there, rain or shine. Yours for service,

R. P. NEBLETT.

Shelby, Miss.

WATER VALLEY CIRCUIT.

Dear Dr. Boswell: After some delay I thought I would write a few lines to the good old Advocate. I would have written some time ago, but I haven't had time do much except look after the interest of my work.

There has been some improvement on our work. We moved on the work the 18th day of December, 1907. We found no parsonage, and had to rent a house for three months. I went to work, and, with the co-operation of the good people of the charge, have gotten into our new parsonage, which is built in Water Valley. We lack some of having it finished, but are going to finish it soon.

I find my people willing to do when you give them a chance. So on the 6th day of April we moved into our new home, and on the same evening the good people of the different churches gave us one of the biggest poundings that a poor preacher and family ever had. They commenced coming in some time before night and helped my wife straighten up the house, and then they began bringing in cakes, pies, meats, sugar, coffee, canned goods, and everything to make a preacher and his wife happy. At 8 o'clock the table was prepared, and we all enjoyed a fine supper. Twenty persons took supper with us, and after supper we went into the front room and had some wine, and closed the evening with prayer. So, I'll say I never met a larger-hearted people in all of my work.

We are having good congregations all over the circuit, and I will say we are going to do our best this year. My heart is in the work for the salvation of souls. I am not doing much in the way of getting up my Conference collections yet. We are reading, praying and visiting our people, and I think if we can have a sweeping revival the collections will be on hand.

We are proud of our new presiding elder, Brother J. E. Cunningham. He is doing a fine work. Everybody is delighted with him. I have received letters from different charges, and learn that the people are perfectly delighted with his preaching and his way of doing things. So, we are looking forward to great things this year. I ask all the readers of the Advocate to pray for us. I hope to carry up a good report at the close of the year. I love my presiding elder, and all of the preachers, but I love God supremely.

I close by asking my good brethren of the ministry to call and see us when they come to Conference at Water Valley. God bless the Advocate. Your brother in Christ,

D. M. FLOYD.

Water Valley, Miss.

M O X I N E
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds

AN INITIAL WATCH FREE.

A Father Knickerbocker "Dutch Auction" Is the Latest.

A "Father Knickerbocker" Eight-Day Mission Clock is offered on the first day of the "Dutch Auction" at the regular price and then the price is marked down 50 cents each day until the highest BID is reached. Each of the 99 persons whose BIDS are nearest to the highest BID also get a "Father Knickerbocker" at the amount of their BID.

These ONE HUNDRED genuine "Father Knickerbocker" Grandfathers' clocks are offered at the "Dutch Auction" simply to advertise and introduce this beautiful creation of Modern Artcraft, and any housewife will indeed be fortunate who secures a "Father Knickerbocker" in this manner.

Send your name and address to the Knickerbocker Clock Company 901 Lexington Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., and you will receive full particulars and photo-illustrations of the three designs for hall, dining-room or library, together with five blank BID forms allowing you and four of your friends to BID at the "Dutch Auction." It costs nothing to BID for one of these beautiful clocks at your own price.

Send to-day, then tell your friends about it and show them the illustrations of the "Father Knickerbocker" clocks. If you interest four of your friends in our offer and forward their BIDS with your own you will receive FREE a "Miss Knickerbocker" watch artistically finished in coin metal and gold, with your initial engraved on the case. A limited number of these beautiful watches are to be offered as souvenirs of the "Dutch Auction" to ladies sending for particulars as above.

BROOKHAVEN DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

The District Conference of the Brookhaven District will be held at Tylertown May 6-10.

The opening sermon will be preached Wednesday, 6th, at 8 p. m., by Rev. C. H. Ellis.

The District Conference will be called to order at 8:30 a. m., May 7. Members of the Conference traveling via I. C. R. R. will change cars at Fernwood. Trains on the Fernwood and Gulf R. R. leave Fernwood at 6 a. m. and 1 p. m.

The following are the examining committees:

For License to Preach: H. W. Featherstun, M. L. White, G. H. Collins.

For Admission: J. S. Parker, H. B. Watkins, D. E. Kelly.

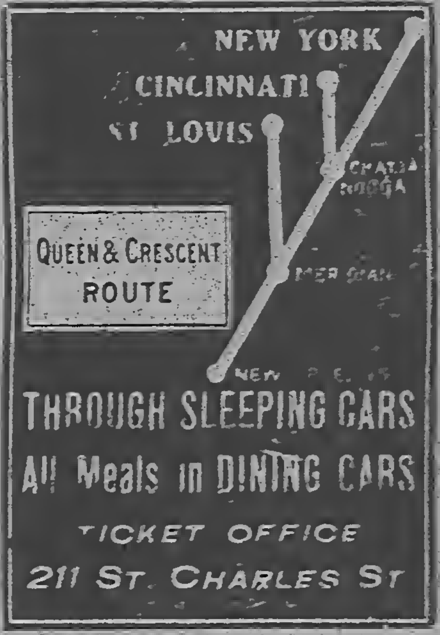
For Local Orders: T. W. Adams, E. A. Gaines, J. W. Crisler.

For Quarterly Conference Records: I. G. Galloway, A. B. Conally, J. V. Bennett.

Parties desiring to go before either of these committees are requested to meet them at 2 o'clock p. m., May 6.

Let united prayer be offered that His presence may be a great benediction to our gathering.

GEO. H. THOMPSON, P. E.



QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE
THROUGH SLEEPING CARS
All Meals in DINING CARS
TICKET OFFICE
211 ST. CHARLES ST

THE BEST MADE.
Angell's Cough and Whooping Cough Syrup
For Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Throat Trouble.
CONTAINS NO OPIUM OR MORPHINE.
All Druggists, Price 25 and 50 Cents.

$60 LIFE SCHOLARSHIPS $25

Beginning April 16th, we are going to show our appreciation of the Very, Very Liberal patronage our University has Always received, and on account of the recent money panic, and sell a Limited number of $60 Life Scholarships at $25. Buy one before they are sold, for they will go fast at this price, and get ready for a good position in the early fall. If you can't come at once, pay us $10 now, which will insure you the reduction, and pay the balance on entering.

HARRIS BUSINESS UNIVERSITY,
JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI.

Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company.

PASSENGER SERVICE.

Daily Passenger Trains between Shreveport and New Orleans. Daily Passenger Trains between Shreveport and Winnfield.

FREIGHT SERVICE.

Exceptional good time on carload traffic. Special attention given less than carload shipments all of which moves in

DAILY THROUGH PACKAGE CARS.

CLARENCE ELLERBE, Assistant to President.
H. B. HELM, General Superintendent.
E. C. D. MARSHALL, General Freight & Passenger Agent.
Shreveport, La.

SEEDS
OF THE
Steckler Quality

Cost but little more than the usual kind, but are worth much more. To convince you that this is true, let us have a talk together. We have spent months of labor and thousands of dollars on

THE BEST SEED CATALOG EVER ISSUED IN THE SOUTH.

It is a manual of over 200 pages with new illustrations taken direct from the vegetable. Shall we mail you a copy? It will cost you nothing, if you will kindly give a fair hearing to our claims for your patronage. Write at once.

J. STECKLER SEED CO., LTD. RICHARD FROTSCHER'S SUCCESSORS.

Seed Growers and Importers, New Orleans, La.

Loan Fund Day.

Summary of Contributions to Loan Funds from the Several Annual Conferences, 1882-1907.

CONFERENCES	Loan Funds
Alabama	$3,995 07
Arkansas	302 25
Baltimore	14,186 70
Central Mexico	----------
Columbia	57 00
Denver	5,361 57
East Columbia	25 00
Florida	37 56
German Mission	24 00
Holston	758 00
Illinois	----------
Kentucky	1,842 72
Little Rock	----------
Los Angeles	232 45
Louisiana	1,146 40
Lonisville	37,058 72
Memphis	5,395 73
Mexican Border	----------
Mississippi	1,644 00
Missouri	34,324 50
Montana	21,731 05
New Mexico	----------
North Alabama	7,152 95
North Carolina	97 85
North Georgia	10,897 68
North Mississippi	4,301 05
North Texas	67 40
Northwest Mexico	----------
Northwest Texas	40 00
Oklahoma	559 13
Pacific	165 75
St. Louis	266 94
South Carolina	133 57
South Georgia	18 50
Southwest Missouri	3,251 95
Tennessee	2,505 36
Texas	15 85
Virginia	859 87
West. N. Carolina	----------
Western Virginia	640 15
West Texas	176 13
White River	----------
Not localized*	8,080 97
	$167,353 82
Interest earned	$70,989 61
Total	$238,343 43

It will be seen that the amount contributed to the Loan Fund Capital was $107,353.82. These contributions came from the Conference Territories as shown in this table, during the years 1884-1907 (March 31st).

During this period the accumulated interest (less amount paid to annuitants) has amounted to $70,980.61, which, added to the original capital, makes the total Loan Fund Capital $288,348.43 at the close of the last fiscal year.

* Of this amount $5,510.80 was set apart from receipts on the first, second and third Assessments as a nucleus for a Loan Fund.

This table is published that our people may be informed as to the source of our present Loan Fund Capital. It will be noted that some of the larger Conferences have contributed nothing, and others very small amounts. We are expecting a response from every quarter of the Church on Sunday, May 10th—Loan Fund Day.

W. F. McMURRY,
Cor. Secretary.

THE LAYMAN'S MOVEMENT.

Dear Dr. Boswell: I notice in the last week's ADVOCATE a suggestion, by Rev. T. W. Lewis, in regard to the Layman's Missionary Movement, which I think a good one. The leaders in this movement ought to get together in each Conference and district to discuss and get up an interest in this new and important movement in the Church. As one of the delegates to the Chattanooga Conference from this Conference, I feel a great interest in this work and am praying that great good may be done in that meeting under the direction of the Spirit of the Lord. Let us hear more about the "Layman's Missionary Movement" in the ADVOCATE. Very truly, your brother,

E. B. PARTIN, M. D.

Chunky, Miss.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE BOARD OF MISSIONS.

Receipts for missions, Mississippi Conference, to March 31, 1908:

Brookhaven District—	Foreign.	Dom.
Brookhaven	$130.00	120.00
McComb, Centenary	.....	68.75
Monticello	.....	31.50
Wesson	30.00	18.00
Silver Creek	16.00	.....
Oloh	5.00	.....
Terry	10.00	.....
Magnolia	102.00	50.00
	$293.00	$288.25
Same date, 1907	5.00	10.00
Jackson District—	Foreign.	Dom.
Capital Street	$200.00	.....
Madison	10.10	28.00
Benton	54.00	.....
Florence	66.00	.....
Rankin Street	20.00	.....
Flora	20.00	.....
Thomasville	30.00	.....
Sharon	75.00	.....
Yazoo City	30.00	.....
Pinola	20.00	.....
Eden	5.00	.....
Canton	85.00	.....
Collins	70.00	.....
Magee	20.00	.....
Deasonville	70.00	.....
Seminary	12.00	.....
	$787.10	$28.00
Same date, 1907	$116.05	$105.00
Meridian District—	Foreign.	Dom.
Central, Meridian	$40.23	.....
Waynesboro	.....	35.00
	$40.23	$35.00
Same date, 1907	.....	$60.00
Natchez District—	Foreign.	Dom.
Woodville	$60.00	25.00
Same date, 1907	.....	.....
Newton District—
Montrose	$5.00	.....
Laurel, Main Street	.....	9.00
Laurel, 5th Ave. & Kingston	.....	20.00
Taylorsville	15.00	15.00
Eucutta	8.50	.....
Homewood	20.00	.....
	$48.50	$44.00
Same date, 1907	$79.00	$50.50
Seashore District—	Foreign.	Dom.
Purvis	$55.00	52.00
Hattiesburg, Main St.	50.00	50.00
Bay St. Louis	20.00	10.00
Gulfport, 29th St.	.....	10.00
Coalville	10.00	.....
Poplarville	25.00	.....
	$160.00	$122.00
Same date, 1907	281.00	329.00
Vicksburg District—	Foreign.	Dom.
Bolton	$45.00	42.50
Hermanville	20.00	20.00
Oak Ridge	20.00	14.50
Crawford St.	.....	40.00
Mayersville	.....	37.00
Rocky Springs	10.00	10.00
South Warren	10.00	10.00
	$105.00	$174.00
Same date, 1907	25.00	23.00

Specials—

Palmore Institute—	Foreign.	Dom.
Mr. W. T. Fowler	$10.00
Mr. Geo. L. Carley	25.00
Rev. G. A. Guice	25.00
Rev. D. E. Hardin	5.00
		$65.00
Wesleyan Bicentenary—
Rev. G. A. Guice	$10.00
Mrs. S. H. Floyd	25.00
		$35.00
		$100.00
Same date, 1907		20.00

W. L. LINFIELD.
Treas. Board of Missions.

MERIDIAN DISTRICT NOTES.

Rev. R. H. Barr, of Dekalb, recently preached two excellent sermons in the Scooba Methodist Church to the delight of our people in that growing town.

Since Conference Rev. B. W. Lewis, of Bucatunna, has organized an Epworth League with twenty-six members. He has also expended more than $500 on his church. His congregations are large and much interest is being manifested.

The church in Scooba continues to make progress. The pastor and his official board have just let a contract for seating the church with nice new pews to accommodate the overflowing congregations.

Rev. L. E. Alford has announced a two weeks' meeting to begin at Southside, Meridian, on the fifth Sunday in May. He has engaged Rev. Jno. W. Ramsey to conduct the revival.

Rev. Jno. D. Ellis, of Waynesboro, is publishing a bright, sparkling paper, "The Bulletin," in the interest of his church. He has also had several accessions since Conference.

On April 15 Rev. H. A. Gatlin begins a ten-days' revival at Stonewall with Rev. Jno. W. Ramsey assisting.

The congregations at Binnsville, Rev. R. A. Alums, pastor, are growing. He reports some accessions.

* * *

"Dan," said a little four-year-old, "give me a penny to buy a monkey."

"We've got one monkey in the house already," replied the elder brother, laughing.

"Who is it?" asked the little fellow.

"You, of course," answered his big brother.

"Then please give me a penny to buy the monkey some peanuts." The big brother could not resist.

THE SAFEST AND QUICKEST WAY

—TO—

TRANSFER MONEY

—is By—

Long Distance Telephone

FOR RATES APPLY TO LOCAL MANAGER

Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph Co
INCORPORATED.

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Millsaps College Library.

REV. JOHN W. BOSWELL, Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.

NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, APRIL 30, 1908.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher,
Office, 512 Camp St., New Orleans.

VOL. 55—No. 18.

"PROVE ALL THINGS; HOLD FAST THAT WHICH IS GOOD."

WHOLE No. 5397.

Layman's Missionary Conference.

On April 21 the large Auditorium at Chattanooga, Tenn., was filled with delegates from all over our Southern Methodism, met together to consider their part in the great movement which is now stirring the laymen of evangelical churches. Mr. John R. Pepper, of Memphis, Tenn., president of the Layman's Movement, called the meeting to order at 7:45 o'clock Tuesday evening, saying: "If ever there was a time when we ought to praise God, it is now. Let us stand and sing 'Praise God, from whom all blessings flow.'" Prayer was offered by Rev. J. A. Baylor, a local pastor, who also read the Second Psalm as a Scripture lesson. The chairman called the Conference with a gavel made from the wood of a house in which Charles Taylor lived, the first missionary to China from our Church. The same gavel had been used at the General Missionary Conference held in New Orleans about seven years ago.

Rev. J. C. Orr, a Tennessee presiding elder, led the singing, assisted by two concert pianos. The great choir consisted of ladies and gentlemen residents of beautiful Chattanooga. The Male Quartette of Vanderbilt University was on hand, rendering appropriate songs and adding to the solemnity and beauty of the occasion. This quartette of young men have placed themselves at the disposal of Dr. Lambuth, who will send them as missionaries to the heathen.

The Hon. W. R. Crabtree, Mayor of Chattanooga, and being himself a Methodist layman, made an address of welcome. He was responded to by General J. S. Carr, of Durham, N. C., who said that "this Conference of Christian laymen was assembled under the banner of the Prince of Peace to deliberate plans and methods of life that shall affect unborn generations."

The principal speaker of the evening was Hon. James Bryce, Ambassador from Great Britain to the United States. The great audience rose and sang "God Save the King" and "America" as the distinguished representative of his majesty entered the Auditorium. President Pepper called for the Chautauqua salute, and Bishop E. R. Hendrix paid a glowing tribute to the Ambassador, whom he said had always been found advocating the right side of all great questions.

Ambassador Bryce stated that nearly all the world had been brought under the control of some civilized nation. He said that progress in evangelizing the world seems to be very slow, and we ask frequently 'Why has not more been done to save the whole world?' One reason is that in the contact of the strong with the weaker races the weaker always suffers. He showed that when the Spanish priests sought America as a mission field, there were those with them who were bent on robbing the Indians of their gold. In dealing with a weak and pagan race we need to bear in mind our duty as Christians to restrain from evil. It is the private adventurer who is the greatest enemy to the missionary. The United States and the British government were doing their best to restrain evil and administer justice. Let us forever forbid the sale of liquor to pagan peoples and offer them the opportunity to grow into noblest manhood.

SECOND DAY.

Wednesday Morning.

After opening with devotions, President Pepper introduced Rev. E. F. Cook, of Nashville, Tenn., who treated the subject, "The Educational Movement in Missions." The speaker said that one of the great needs of the time is that of better education and more practical equipment on the part of those sent into the fields from whence come the calls for assistance in teaching the truths of Christianity. He called attention to the need for better educational facilities for the education needed to produce the best results.

Rev. Dr. D. L. Anderson, of Soochow, China, was introduced, and told of the great need of money to carry on the Chinese work and his entire address was calculated to arouse the laymen to contribute generously towards the support of missionary enterprise in China.

The Rev. J. L. Gerdine, of Seoul, Korea, addressed the Conference on the subject, "Korea—A Great Religious Awakening." Mr. Gerdine, who has had a great deal of experience, said that "the little Oriental nation was the center of interest, in spite of her lack of national prestige. Of the missionaries who first went there twenty-five years ago, all but one still live. They have seen the attitude of a nation so change that an official, who was not himself a Christian, could say "there are now none of our people unfavorable to Christianity." Southern Methodism has had her part of this success. In eleven years she has grown to 180 churches, 5,000 members and probationers, and an equal number yet to be formally received after instruction. She has organized a church a week for the past two years. She has grown six-fold in five years. The church is growing in self-support, in character and in faith. Ten men and $50,000 will meet immediate need for entering open doors. Mr. Gerdine made a fervent appeal for financial aid in Korea. He stated that he had traveled thousands of miles in order to present to the Conference the progress of the work in which the delegates were directly interested.

After the announcement of committees and the transaction of other Conference business, President Pepper introduced Bishop A. W. Wilson, who spoke on "The One Great Mission of the Church." The Bishop made an eloquent, masterly address, in which he glorified the Church of Christ, as, under God, it is the one great instrumentality for the redemption of the world, the upbuilding and triumph of righteousness and the permanent dominion of the principles of justice and truth over mankind. The church is the greatest thing on earth or in heaven, under God. It is sometimes sneered at by men. But in truth the church is the end and aim of human and divine effort. The church is the custodian of truth, and is the instrumentality for turning souls of men to divine light. You cannot kill the church. It contains the practical principles which constitute the highest ideals of character, and it will rear a race of men who shall be fit to meet God and walk with Jesus Christ. The church had its beginning with God, and it ends with God, after passing through all the realms of experience. Higher criticism cannot prevail against the church, which is founded on immutable foundations, and not a mere statement of secular principles. The church has for its foundation a rock, and has a power which no other agency has or can dare to claim. While evil exists in the world, the church is directed to avoid such conditions, and its power is saving and supreme. Where there are two or three gathered together in God's name, there is the church. If but a few unite in effort and inspiration, with the love of Christ in their hearts, right there would be the church. The Bishop said he had a place in that church, and he intended to keep it. The scope of the church, said the Bishop, means more than individual salvation which takes no note of whether others may be exposed to the torments of a hereafter. We must seek to extend the kingdom of Christ, and the whole movement of righteousness must depend on the church. The command has been given, "Go ye into all the world!" The Bishop said that there was a great scarcity of preachers, and remarked that this condition was due to the want of liberality on the part of our laymen. We should have ample means provided for the support of preachers. The Bishop then took up what he conceived to be the duty of the laymen of the church, and made an eloquent appeal to the laymen to take steps to meet the demands for evangelizing the heathen nations. He pictured the time when the Spirit of Christ shall reign in the hearts of men, and the splendors of righteousness shall dominate the kingdoms of earth. If money is needed to bring about this condition, let us get it!

Wednesday Afternoon.

The report of the Committee on Permanent Organization was read by Mr. W. W. Carre, of New Orleans, Chairman, which was ordered printed and distributed, in order that the members of the Conference might have time to digest the recommendations before voting on them.

Rev. E. A. Tillery, of Ashland, Va., was introduced, and spoke on "Brazil—A Bugle Call to Victory." He said that he had come before the Convention with a good report, and after telling of the work of our church in that country, he said that at the present day the Brazilians judged a man's religion by the life he lived. They do not search the holy Records to establish a standard for living. It was taken for granted by the natives of Brazil that whatever was done by a professor of Christianity as represented by the missionaries and others from other countries was approved by the religion itself. Mr. Tillery said that he found it necessary to be circumspect in the inconsequential things of life, even more so than if he were at home in his own country. Mr. Tillery stressed the needs of the publishing interests of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in the land which he represents. He called attention to the absolute necessity of having proper missionary literature in the Portuguese language. He said that the publishing interest should be widened, and that a layman should be placed in charge of the publishing house. A preacher's business is to preach.

Rev. Dr. S. H. Wainwright, of St. Louis, was next introduced and spoke on "The Christian Conquest of Japan." He began by saying that Japan to-day presents the finest opportunity in the unsaved world for Christian conquest. It is a familiar thought that nothing should be left undone to complete the work of making all the world Christian. But the real work should be to Christianize all life. He would evangelize trade, politics, industry, art, literature, capital, labor, wealth and poverty. The great problem is to Christianize capital. Capital has produced the necessity for benevolence, and has, therefore, to be made to meet these necessities. What is needed to provide institutions in Japan is capital. The work of the church must have the stamp of efficiency upon it to accomplish the largest results. We must increase our efficiency in worship, beneficence, education. The laymen can make our work more efficient, and should do so in order that we may more adequately hasten the work of evangelizing the people of Japan.

Rev. W. G. Fletcher, of Santa Clara, Cuba, spoke on "Cuba, the Firing Line." He said that Cuba was made free in a sense as a result of the war with Spain, but in a sense she was not free. We come not to sound a note of despair; we come to sound a note of victory. Sympathy and old clothes are not wanted, but men and money. A missionary must be one who can meet all conditions. A mission in a foreign land is no health resort. Send us better men, equipped with gumption, common-sense, diplomacy, grit and get-up-and-get. Send us good men and more money!

"Medical Work in the Orient" was treated by Dr. T. F. Staley, of Bristol, Tenn. He showed conclusively the advantages that a medical missionary had in reaching the heathen. A physician has intercourse with the people. A missionary is pardoned for being a physician. There are 4,000,000 people to

(Continued on Last Page.)

Christian Advocate.

Published for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

DIRECTIONS.

Correspondents will please direct all communications intended for the Editor to 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La. Communications intended for the Business Department should be addressed to the Manager of the New Orleans Christian Advocate. Write with ink, and only on one side of the paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after two weeks, notify us, and we will make it right. Papers will be continued unless subscribers order otherwise.

For Advertising Rates Apply to

Religious Press Advertising Syndicate,

JACOBS & CO., CLINTON, S. C.

Home Office, Clinton, S. C., who have charge of the advertising of this paper.

ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES.

J. F. Jacobs, J. D. Jacobs, Home Office, Clinton, S. C.
R. J. Ritter, 418 W. St. Catherine St., Louisville, Ky.
Thornwell, Jacobs, 1011 Stahlman Bldg., Nashville, Tenn.
C. C. Little, 502 Mutual Bldg., Richmond, Va.
D. J. Carter, 132 LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.
Miss M. R. Middleton, 150 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.
Barton E. Buckman, 132 LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.
J. H. Rich, Birmingham, Ala.
E. J. Barrett, New Orleans, La.
J. B. Keough, Atlanta, Ga.
J. B. Gentry, Clinton, S. C.
H. B. Ewbank, Houston, Texas.
W. L. Boggs, Greensboro, N. C.
F. A. Wynne, Cor. Ackard & Elm Sts., Dallas, Texas.

Glances at the World.

The following paragraph taken from one of our exchanges is worthy of reprint: "The American sense of humor has sufficed to more than once prevent a panic. During a performance at an Ohio theatre recently fire broke out on the stage. The smoke alarmed the audience and a panic was threatened. The curtain shifter started to lower the curtain and the audience was about to rush panic stricken from the theatre. Just then a "gallery god," bubbling over with humor and utterly devoid of the fear that precipitates panics, shouted: "Keep up that curtain, youse hoboes! We want to see how you put out a fire." The boy's shrill cry was heard all over the theatre and it appealed at once to the American sense of humor. The audience laughed and was immediately at ease. The fire was subdued without any particular damage, and in few minutes the play went on. The boy's curiosity and the quick grasp of the audience upon the humor of the situation, prevented a panic and doubtless saved many lives." What a pity everybody has not like presence of mind in case of fire.

* * *

Time and again, for years past, the establishment of a "parcels post" has been agitated. Since the inauguration and successful operation of so many rural routes, the question is renewed. The postoffice business constantly increases, but the yearly deficits have not been wiped out. The Postoffice Department is not yet self-sustaining. The postmaster general believes that the establishment of a parcels post will wipe out the deficit. A dispatch from Washington says: "The postmaster general is calling the attention of Congress to the fact that the establishment of a special local parcels post on rural routes would wipe out the postal deficit, and would tend to make the rural free delivery self-sustaining, besides being a boon to the farmer and the retail country merchant. There are now in operation 38,038 rural routes, serving a population of 15,000,000 people, and should an average of five 11-pound packages be carried on each trip throughout the year, it is estimated that $15,000,000 would be realized, and the net return to the government would be more than sufficient to equal the deficit." If the government will establish these posts, and then put an end to the swindling in the second class mail matter, by men who send out books, etc., as periodicals, and certain sheets which are nothing more than advertising pages, we would hear no more of postal deficits.

* * *

The Easter festival is observed more and more as the years go by. The observance is not altogether of a religious nature. Too many people ignore it as the anniversary of the Lord's resurrection, and make it memorable only as a day for coming out in new spring dress. And it appears that new hats take the precedence. But a certain style of hat, called the "Merry Widow," on this year's Easter created trouble in some of the churches, and it is said steps will be taken to put "a ban" on it during the hour of service. A dispatch from a fashionable center says: "Pastors declare that men are becoming fewer at the services as the number of big hats increase, and that the popular style threatens to make many males backsliders. Ushers in some of the more crowded churches were at their wits ends to seat their Easter congregations. Pews which have comfortably accommodated six persons would hold no more than four when the quartette wore large hats. In the prominent churches hereafter it is proposed to request women who wear their big hats to church to check them at the cloakroom during the services.

* * *

Perhaps since the days of Washington there have been men as anxious for the presidency as is Mr. Bryan, but never one who manifested so much anxiety. We judge so by the vast amount of time and energy he has spent in efforts to secure the coveted prize. It used to be often said that "the office should seek the man, not the man the office." It is only occasionally do we hear that in these days. Mr. Bryan utterly disregards it. Twice has he canvassed the United States in behalf of his desire. He is now on the "home stretch" in his third race for the nomination. Were Mr. Bryan not a man of such unblemished private charcter we would set down his over-anxiety for the presidency as disqualifying him for the place. But he is an honest, upright, Christian man, with the interests of the country at heart, and we can attribute his persistency after two defeats only to the fact that he has been made to believe he is the only man in the party worthy of the place. That he is the most popular man in his party is true, but not the only one worthy of the presidency. He was not able in either of the previous races to reconcile the party factions. This inability will handicap him in the present canvass should he succeed in capturing the nomination. In personal character, Mr. Bryan has no superior in any party.

* * *

It is given out in some of the secular papers that the success of prohibition campaigns and local option elections has inspired the prohibition party with the hope of carrying several States in the November election for the presidency. If this be true, we feel bound to say that all such hope is vain. That the majority of voters in several States are for prohibition we do not doubt, but they do not belong to what is known as the prohibition party. Prohibitionists who have succeeded in wiping out saloons come from all the parties, especially from the Democratic and Republican. The prohibition party as such, cuts but little figure in the matter. We have nothing to say aginst the prohibition party—we have voted that ticket more than once, and would do so again under like conditions. But when assured that we can get what we want by voting for prohibition as a moral issue, with the help of men from all parties, we should not feel justified in risking our vote as a party man. It is possible that the politicians on the liquor side are giving out these tales to keep men from voting for prohibition in local contests lest their party be endangered. We trust no one who favors local option will be misled by the statements of those who would thus use the party lash.

* * *

From present indications it appears that Mr. Bryan for president will go into the National Convention with a majority of delegates in his favor, but whether with a majority of two-thirds is not yet certain. Only two men are named who will offer any serious opposition: Gov. Johnson ,of Minnesota, and Judge Gray, of Delaware. The hardest blow to Mr. Bryan was struck by the New York State Convention when it resolved to send an uninstructed delegation to the National Convention, with the understanding that a majority of the New York delegates favor Gov. Johnson. This, it is said, makes Gov. Johnson's chances "more promising than ever." In the Republican camp the State stood thus on April 17: Taft ,223; Knox, 68; Cannon, 50; Hughes, 40; Fairbanks, 32; La Follette, 25; uninstructed, 69; elected to date, total delegates in Convention, 980; necessary to choice, 491. These figures show that Mr. Taft lacks a good many votes of a majority. The man who, of all Republicans, has made the hardest fight for the nomination has not a single delegate to his credit. He will make his innings when the Southern conventions meet. He will perhaps get the bigger part of the colored votes. We refer to Mr. Foraker, of Ohio, who has so strenuously defended the negro soldiers who "shot up" the town of Brownsville, Texas, and were summarily dismissed from the army by President Roosevelt.

THE OLD BAPTISTS.

I have had the privilege of hearing thundered forth the everlasting gospel in Haynesville, La., April 15, by Elder James Duncan. He is from Tiogo, Texas, and is reputed to be a great debater of "The Doctrine once delivered the Saints." His introductory remarks were about as follows: "Well, my brethring and sistering—I am glad to be with you. I have not returned unto you, for this is the first time I ever saw you in the flesh." As to when he had seen them otherwise he did not proceed to tell. "But if I be permitted to meet you at the night service I will, of course, return unto you. Now, I do not expect all to agree with me. I wish we could. We all preach the same Bible, and I cannot see why we are not one. We all ought to be one. We old Baptists are the true disciples of Christ, and we have the only right of preaching this Word. All others are man's works—600 in number.

He, of course, referred to the different denominations. His text was Rev. xxii, 16-17, and his talk was directed and centered in the words, "Whosoever will." "He said, man cannot will himself at all. It is utterly impossible for man to change his nature. Any ten-year-old boy knows that. Now, that is all there is in that. As we are born so we are. Who can change the nature of the Crab tree? No more can our nature be changed. It was predestined before the world was made that some should be lost and some should be saved, ah! God, ah! my brethering and sistering, tells us so. The Father gives them to him who he calls, ah! And when he calls you will hear, ah! My brethering, you will hear it from the stand, that a man must repent, be justified, etc. But I say unto you that only two things are required of man: Believe and be baptized."

Now, I have given the body of his sermon. He preached one hour and twenty minutes to prove the above positions. He said for preachers to call to sinners to come to God was folly in the highest. He also said Adam and Eve could not halp eating the fruit. It was their nature to do that. He also said the old Baptist doctrine could go to the dark corner of Africa and save the black man there. According to their system, who on earth would carry it there?—no missions, nor the like, to spread the news of salvation. We notice, by the latest and best church statistics, the old Baptists as he termed them, number only 121,347 members, 2,040 ministers, 3,222 churches. These are the figures for the whole of the United States. The Methodists, North and South, last year, 1907, gained 120,784 in their membership. The fact is very clear to my mind that the old Baptist is not the true church of Jesus Christ; if so the Scripture is wrong. John said, "I must decrease and he (Christ) must increase." If we take the Bible literally, John must have organized the Primitive Baptist Church, for it is decreasing rapidly. Some years ago there was in this Parish (Claiborne) fifteen effective Primitive Baptist churches. Now only five—Urama, Concord, Pilgrims, Rest, Mt. Lebanon and Mr. Paron. Concord is near Weldon, La., and is said to be the largest church of that faith in this State. I was pastor of Alabama M. E. Church, South, near the Concord church, and they only had two additions by baptism last year, 1907. I certainly think they are very far wrong as to their doctrine and polity. I guess they think the same of me. If they are safe I am not uneasy. Yours in Christ,

W. T. WOODWARD.

SHALL WE ABOLISH THE SUPERANNUATE RELATION.

In a former paper we considered the question: Why do away with the superannuate relation? In the present paper we would consider the question: What shall be done with the superannuate if his present relation is abolished?

Let there be but one Conference relation—that of an itinerant Methodist preacher. Question 20 called at the Annual Conference, asks, "Are all the preachers blameless in their lives and official administration?" This question includes the superannuate in the one apparent Conference relation, and implies that he has official administration; whereas he is relieved of all official work.

Give the preacher, unequal to full service, some work to do, an appointment accommodated to his strength. Let him be appointed as assistant or "junior preacher" on some large accessible circuit. We have circuits of six or eight churches. Let the old preacher take two or three of these churches and serve them. Divide the work, but not the charge. The preacher-in-charge thus relieved to some extent could do better work with his remaining churches, or the preacher to be retired might be appointed as assistant to some city or town pastor whose work is too heavy for one man; or, again, the preacher not equal to full work might be made by Conference authority assistant to the presiding elder. In such capacity he could represent the presiding elder when unavoidably absent, conducting the Quarterly Conference, preaching and administering the sacraments.

Besides the work indicated above, many of these retired brethren are capable of rendering valuable service during the Conference session. Let them feel that they are factors in all the problems of Conference work. Appoint them on the Conference boards, examining and standing committees, and on special committees. They have long experience, wide observation and garnered wisdom. Surely their presence as members of these Conference boards and committees would be most valuable.

It is true that some of these dear brethren may be unable to do any kind of work, not even to attend the Conference session. But many are capable, and would do more if they had behind them the prestige of Conference authority and recognition and appointment to some definite work. Give them something to do in field work, as assistant, junior preachers to the regular pastors, or other special service, and they will feel that they are still on the firing line, and, though faint, yet pursuing.

Give them something to do and expect something of them at Conference, and they will be more likely to attend and to remain during the session. With something to occupy mind and heart these veteran brethren need not sit around silent, keeping quiet and holding their hands, reminding us of children, whose mothers have taught them that "little children should be seen and not heard."

A closing word to those in behalf of whom these two articles are written—our brethren of the superannuate relation. Dear brethren, attend, if possible the sessions of the Annual Conference. Your presence will be helpful and as a benediction to the Confernce. Come and receive the warm fraternal greeting of the brethren, their cordial hand-grasp, and their words of cheer. Keep in touch with them and with the spirit and work of the Conference.

The brethren love you for your own sake, and honor you for your work's sake. The Annual Conference is a great social, fraternal and religious festival. Returning home, with or without appointment, you will go in the strength of that meat for many days.

T. C. WIER.

THE PREACHER'S WIFE.

Mr. Editor: Under the above caption a very fine editorial appeared in the ADVOCATE of the 9th inst.

In this fast age there is a great demand being made upon the pastor's wife for service, and yet the dear people who make the demand recognize no obligation on their part to remunerate the service. Perhaps they take a great deal for granted.

All of this is well-spoken except in one statement, i. e.: "Among Methodists no written contract exists between pastors and people, but a virtual contract exists, which, as a rule, is religiously observed, both by the people and preacher, and in fixing the salary only the preacher's work and the necessities of his family are taken into consideration—never the work which his wife is able or expected to do."

"No written, but a virtual contract. What is a contract? Perhaps synonyms will serve as an answer. These are—Covenant; agreement; compact; stipulation; bargain; arrangement; obligation. Connect these with the preacher's ordination vows on pages 272 and 273 of Discipline questions 2, 4, 5 and 6 by the Bishop. Also the peoples' church membership vows on page 91. "And have agreed to accept them and observe them."

Again, page 246 question and answer: "I will endeavor so to do by the help of God."

In this connection see also Luke 10-7; 1st Tim. 5-18; 1st Cor. ix, 7-11; Deut. 2-4.

Virtual contract! "Of invisible efficacy without the material or sensible part." Webster.

This is not invisible, but all of it is plainly written by Moses, Christ and Paul.

The board of stewards act as agent for the people when a definite amount is assessed and recorded for the preacher's support, and the people, when they fail to contest, endorse and accept.

I have heard a great deal said about lack of commercial honor among preachers, but it seems to me that the time is riper for much to be said about lack of moral honor among the people concerning their written contract to "support the church and its institutions."

We have been without the visible, material and sensible long enough. Let all three come quickly. Then all of the preachers will have a decent living and the great "Layman's Movement" will be a layman's great movement, like unto the Korean Straits, Manilla Bay and Santiago.

The Canal-Louisiana Bank and Trust Company

CORNER CAMP AND GRAVIER STS.

Embraces every function of financial business. It solicits your deposit account subject to cheque. It solicits your SAVINGS ACCOUNT upon which will be allowed INTEREST at the rate of 3 1-2 per cent per annum, compounded semi-annually.

It will safeguard your securities in its BURGLAR and FIRE-PROOF SAFETY DEPOSIT VAULTS. It will collect Bonds, Rents, Mortgages, Interest, Dividends, Coupons and every class of income. It will pay Taxes and Insurance, sell property and undertake the care and management of Estates. It will act as Executor, Administrator, Guardian or Trustee under will or by appointment of court.

DURING YOUR LIFETIME IT WILL ACT AS YOUR AGENT AND AT YOUR DEATH IT WILL ADMINISTER YOUR ESTATE.

Its Foreign Exchange Department buys and sells Drafts and Cable Transfers; issues Commercial and Travelers' Letters of Credit available in all parts of the world, makes collections and does a general foreign exchange business.

Accounts of Individuals, Firms, Banks and Corporations Respectfully Solicited.

Every Accommodation Offered Consistent With Safe and Legitimate Banking.

Phone Main

ROOMS and BOARD

634 and 638 SOUTH STREET, LAFAYETTE SQUARE

CORNER ST. CHARLES ST., NEW ORLEANS.

UNLIMITED MEALS. ALVIN PORTER, Manager.

ESTABLISHED 1891

JOHN DAVID BURGHARDT CO.,

"THE RELIABLE" PLUMBERS and GAS FITTERS.

Agency: Born's Patent Steel Ranges. Hygeia Water Filters.

613-615 Bienville St. Phone Main [illegible]

Jobbing and Repair Work a Specialty. New Orleans, La.

Our line of Stoves, Kitchen Furnishings, and General Household Supplies is full of interest to all Good Housekeepers.

Suppose you take a look at it for yourself—

UNITED HARDWARE CO.,

LIMITED.

Long live the editors and the ADVOCATE.

Fraternally,

H. C. EDMONDSON.

NOTICE.

To the Pastors of the Mississippi Conferences:

I have been in the ministry for nearly five years. I shall be ready for work with you from the midde of June to the middle of September. Should any of you desire to have me with you in revival services during this period please address me as soon as possible to

EVERETT L. MARLEY.

925 Hunt St., Jackson, Miss.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, and also the Woman's Home Missionary Society, of the Sardis District, will hold their District Meeting in connection with District Conference, at Batesville, on May 27, and on May 28 will be held the Sunday school and Mission Day Special. The District Conference will run through to May 31, including fifth Sunday.

W. M. YOUNG.

SEASHORE CAMP GROUND.

On the 13th inst. there was held the regular spring meeting. The three District Conferences were well represented by trustees recently appointed who felt the responsibility of the trust.

For some years the fact that this valuable property of the M. E. Church, South, should be made more useful has been apparent to the trustees. In addition to the regular campmeeting services for eight days, which began nineteen years ago, the Epworth League holds a session of eight or ten days in their home on the ground. These assemblies result in much benefit to all who attend. Attractive programmes are arranged for the meetings which will be held in July.

Efforts are being made to develop this plant as an educational center, not in any way to disturb the religious work, but to have a tri-district training school under the control of the three Conferences.

The grounds consist of more than 200 acres. It is hoped the buildings will be commodious, with a large campus, which can be occupied the three vacation months by the Missionary Training School of Nashville, there to hold their summer session in this delightful home by the sea, where sea breeze, bathing, boating and purest artesian water can be enjoyed.

There is not a more healthful place in the Southland in summer. A record of eight years shows that not one case of typhoid fever, malarial fever or yellow fever has developed on these grounds.

The unconventionality of the place, where Christian people enjoy each other without formality, adds much to those who enjoy comfort more of that style.

These grounds are set apart for the glory of God, without gambling, drinking and Sabbath desecration, and only those who enjoy the right, are likely to remain.

* * *

REV. R. G. ISBELL.

Robert G. Isbell, the subject of this sketch, was born in Fayette County, Alabama, Aug. 29, 1851; was converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, when quite a child; was licensed to preach at the age of 19, and joined the Alabama Conference at Tuscaloosa in 1872. From that date until 1889 he served Village Falls, Pleasant Mines, Millport and Hartsell charges in the North Alabama Conference. In 1889 he was transferred from the North Alabama Conference to the East Columbia Conference, where he served Hargrove Church, city of Spokane, State of Washington, and Webb Street Church, of Pendleton, Oregon. Failing in health he returned to Alabama in 1892, and afterwards to Mississippi, where he labored in the vineyard of the Lord until he fell asleep in the arms of Jesus on the 3rd day of January, 1908. In all his sickness he was not heard to murmur nor complain, but would lie for hours and repeat God's precious promises and praise his holy name. Only a few days before his death he repeated very forcibly the latter part of the 3rd chapter of Ephesians, and was fully reconciled as to his condition.

One whose life was so noble, so pure, so gentle and so true to the Church and to God did not need to tell his friends and loved ones that he was fully prepared to go, for his wonderful career and hand-in-hand walk with God speaks to us more forcibly than any words could express that his spirit is now at rest with God.

He leaves one brother, two sisters, a wife and eleven children and a host of relatives and friends to mourn their loss. But, sorrowing ones, do not weep; look up; he is not dead, but sleeping, and in the morning of the resurrection, when the trump of God shall sound and all the saints come rejoicing home, we will meet him again where partings are no more.

W. M. YORK.

NOTES FROM SARDIS DISTRICT.

Methodism flourishes in Senatobia under the wise leadership of Rev. J. T. Murrah. All departments are well organized and in advance of any previous year. The attendance and interest in the Sunday School is better than ever before. The revival spirit is manifest among the young people, and they are looking for great results. Brother Young held their second Quarterly Conference Saturday, April 18, and preached to a large congregation Sunday. Some were turned away for want of room. The interior of the church is undergoing repairs, which they expect to complete before the meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, which will be held there June 13-15.

Brother Brown, of Byhalia, writes: "At the opening of our last regular prayer service sixty-five were present, and others came in later. How is this?" Most excellent, we answer. Under the faithful administration of Brother Brown, the spiritual interest of the church is growing, and rapid strides are being made towards the liquidation of their church debt.

Brother J. W. Hall, pastor of Arkabutla Circuit, writes: "I have seven Sunday Schools and three Woman's Home Mission Societies. I am working for our NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE, and hope to put it in every home."

Brother O'Bryant is looking after the interest of the Church well at Crenshaw. He has recently had one accession on profession of faith. He speaks in the most commendable terms of the presiding elder's work on his charge.

Brother W. V. Shearer is doing well at Longtown. He has much praise for his people. He is now beginning a systematic effort to raise his Conference collections, in which he feels confident of success.

Brother Langford, of Tyro, is busy with his pastoral work, making up for time lost while Sister Langford was ill. His charge is making progress along all lines. He has already made out his schedule for his revival meetings.

The second Quarterly Conference of Coldwater was held April 21. As usual, Brother Young was on hand, looking after all the work pertaining to the office of presiding elder. He preached with unction and power Monday night to a large congregation. The reports to the Conference showed finances paid to date; several received into the church by certificate; church membership 193, and Sunday School scholars 155; one Epworth League, doing well. The contract has been let recently by the ladies to paper the parsonage.

Brother Young, by his optimistic spirit, pleasing address, social nature, executive ability, earnest and fervent preaching is capturing the hearts of the people of the whole district. Doctor, if you have not lost your stereotype, we will say he is "beloved," and is "the right man in the right place." More anon.

V.

NEW ORLEANS PREACHERS' MEETING.

All of the pastors were at First Church at 10:30 a. m., Monday, with the exception of Dr. Rice, of Rayne Memorial.

The visitors at Monday's session were: S. H. Werlein, of Little Rock, Ark.; Rev. J. W. Tinnin, of Hammond, La.; and Mr. W. V. Falcon, of Baton Rouge, a French missionary.

The following churches reported additions to membership during the past month: Felicity Street Church, 22; Second Church, 19; Louisiana Avenue, 23; Carrollton Avenue, 6; Algiers, 3; Epworth Mission, 4; Werlein Mission, 3; First Church, 9; Parker Memorial, 14; Hammond Charge, 50 this year.

The highest record in Sunday School attendance for April is as follows: First Church, 226; Parker Memorial, 172; Carrollton Avenue, 139; Second Church, 135; Louisiana Avenue, 120; Algiers, 106; Felicity Street Church, 96; Epworth Mission, 94; Werlein Mission, 60.

The following pastors took up an offering for the storm sufferers and will send offerings direct to the Methodist pastors in Louisiana and Mississippi: J. E. Wray, $75; A. I. Townsley, $35; W. W. Holmes, $18.65; J. F. Foster, $8.75.

Brother Harrell, of Werlein Mission, had a great service on Easter. The poor of that section were given a beautiful plant to take home with them. There are seven saloons in one square of his Mission.

Pastor Townsley had a great day at his church on last Sunday. Miss Davies spoke at 11 a.m., and at 8 p.m. there was a Layman's Rally. Mr. T. A. Ellzey and Mr. A. F. Godat spoke.

Louisiana Avenue Church will open a hall for special meetings of the institutional church order. Her pastor is happy in his new field of work.

Rev. J. E. Wray has received 60 new members into his church since Conference. Dr. Werlein spoke at his church on Last Sunday at 11 a.m. and Dr. F. S. Parker, of Nashville, Tenn., at 8 p. m.

There will be two grand rallies of New Orleans Methodism at First Church this coming Sunday. At 3 p. m. for children and young people, with Miss Daisy Davies as leader. At 7:45 p.m., for everybody. Bishop Hoss will preach.

Rev. S. H. Werlein, formerly of New Orleans, now of Little Rock, Ark., addressed the meeting. His message was full of interest and encouragement.

SECRETARY.

EPISCOPAL VISITATION.

The College of Bishops, after holding session two days at Nashville, Tenn., adjourned on the 28th inst.

Bishop Seth Ward has been assigned to preside over the Louisiana Conference, which will convene at Leesville on Dec. 9, 1908.

The North Mississippi Conference will meet at Water Valley, Miss., Dec. 2, 1908, and Bishop H. C. Morrison has been assigned to preside over the Conference.

Bishop Morrison has also been assigned to the Mississippi Conference, which will convene at Yazoo City, Miss., Dec. 9, 1908.

LUZIANNE COFFEE

is either half the price or twice the the goodness of any other brand of coffee on the market.

SOLD EVERY-WHERE.

Try it on our guarantee that it will please or you get your money back. After that LUZIANNE will speak for itself and you'll use no other.

The Reily-Taylor Company,

New Orleans, U. S. A.

BUY THE NEW BOOK

HARP OF A THOUSAND STRINGS,

contains the immortal burlesques of Rev. Henry Talliaferro Lewis. One Dollar at McKowen and Co., Jackson, La., and W. L. Linfield, Woodville, Miss.

W. F. M. S.

TWENTY-NINTH SESSION OF THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

The Twenty-ninth Session of the Louisiana Conference, W. F. M. S., convened in Shreveport April 1-5, 1908, and viewing it from all La., April 1-5, 1908, and viewing it from all standpoints the occasion was a decided success. Not only were we spiritually refreshed, but it was indeed a great pleasure to all interested in the cause to hear of the good work being done by the various auxiliaries throughout the State. The reports showed an increase in all lines of work over last year, and the prospects for the ensuing year are brighter still. About thirty-four delegates and officers responded to roll-call, and the presence of many visitors with their words of encouragement added much to the interest.

The opening session was held Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the First Church. After the devotional services and special music, which marked the opening and closing of each meeting, a very cordial welcome in behalf of the Shreveport auxiliary was extended to the delegates and visitors by Mrs. C. J. Foster, whose heart has been in this Foreign Missionary work for many years.

Mrs. J. A. Rice, of New Orleans, enthusiastically responded. Dr. F. R. Hill, Shreveport, gave a very thoughtful address on missionary work, reviewing it from the beginning and encouraging us to press on with renewed vigor. Dr. Hill was a help in all the sessions, both by his presence and advice.

During the first business session on Thursday morning Mrs. J. B. Cobb, assistant secretary, who has just returned from the Orient, having spent the last year there, visiting our schools and studying the existing conditions, was introduced, and gave a short talk, especially emphasizing the necessity of more earnest prayers for our missionaries and the heathen with whom they are laboring. She said the home land was always remembered in their prayers, and we should remember to pray earnestly and unceasingly for them.

Miss Helen Johnson, who is our missionary to Brazil, and who is supported by this Conference, was introduced and briefly told of her labors at Paracicaba. We will each one feel a greater interest in the Brazilian work through having known Miss Johnson. We trust she may soon be strong enough to resume her work among this people, who know not our Savior. We were also glad to greet Miss Ethel Jackson, who is a deaconess in New Orleans, and to have her tell of the work in the home land.

Each day a half-hour Bible study concluded the morning session. These were conducted by Mrs. Cobb and Miss Daisy Davies. They were golden half-hours, for God's Work was explained in so forcible and impressive manner by these two able leaders that I am sure each study was conducive to renewed consecration.

Thursday afternoon Miss Ethel Jackson very ably presented the work of the Scarritt Bible and Training School. This school was established at Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 14, 1892. Its aim is to furnish training for Christian young women so as to enable them to do efficient work in the missionary field, whether it be at home or in foreign countries. The need is so great for skilled workers that we each one should endeavor to assist these young women to obtain this training. If we are not able or willing to go ourselves, we can help send some dear sister who is willing to consecrate her whole life to our Master's service.

Mrs. J. B. Cobb's subject on Thursday night was "China," a subject which is of much interest at this time, for all the world is watching China, realizing that she is just awakening from a long sleep. Everything points to advance—the educational system, the decrees against The educational system, the decrees against foot-binding and opium, and especially the interest being manifested in the Christian's God.

Friday afternoon a reception, given to the visiting ladies, was thoroughly enjoyed by all, giving us an opportunity to meet each other socially.

In the evening two interesting addresses were listened to by an appreciative audience: one by Miss Helen Johnson on "Brazil;" the other by Mrs. Cobb on "Korea."

Miss Johnson spoke of the Brazilians as a people almost wholly without a religion, yet they are a receptive people. One incident was related of a little girl who begged of a colporter as he was riding by to tell her where to find that beautiful city called heaven. He dismounted and read to her the description of heaven found in Revelation, and explained, in a simple manner how to reach this place, and she went home very happy, carrying a Testament with her. The appeal comes to us through this for better equipment to carry out this great work. Won't we each one try to do just a little more this year to send God's Word to this benighted people?

Mrs. Cobb talked most interestingly and touchingly on the work in Korea, where changes are so rapidly taking place. She told of many incidents which illustrated how eager these people are to hear of Jesus, and how they would walk for miles and miles to hear of him, then beg for the missionaries to go home with them that their people might learn to know our Savior. She exhibited a petition, from a simple community, signed by hundreds of names, asking that missionaries be sent them. It was a mute appeal, but what a world of meaning was conveyed by it. I am sure we each one felt we had been doing very, very little towards helping these people who are so anxious to be instructed. Fifteen hundred persons is not an unusual sight at a prayer-meeting. At one place in Korea, which Mrs. Cobb visited, a chapel had just been completed, but only partially paid for, and at one of thesse large meetings a call was made for money to liquidate the debt. The women, having no money to give, sacrificed their personal treasures, such as rings, silver hair pins, bracelets and ornaments of all kinds—one woman even giving her wedding ornament, which a Korean woman prizes above all her personal possesions. Mrs. Cobb had with her several of these ornaments, which she displayed in the course of her remarks, and it was indeed a lesson in giving to us, for, in comparison, our gifts seem small and niggardly.

At the conclusion of the address Mrs. Montgomery, the president, asked that the Louisiana women might have the privilege of buying one of these rings. Many responded and the sum of $45 was given. This money, of course, is to be sent back to Korea and used for the work there.

Saturday was another day of good things, for we had the pleasure of welcoming Miss Daisy Davies, superintendent of the Young Peoples' Work, and Bishop Seth Ward. To relieve the routine of business the president invited Bishop Ward to give a short talk on Mexico, a subject that is of especial interest to him, and as he talked our hearts went out to Mexico, which is right at our very doors. In the afternoon the officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

Mrs. S. A. Montgomery, New Orleans, president; Mrs. W. E. Baird, Shreveport, vice-president; Mrs. Edward Alvis, New Orleans, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. J. Holmes, Minden, treasurer; Mrs. J. C. Foster, Shreveport, recording secretary; Mrs. H. G. Todd, New Orleans, superintendent Young People's Work; Mrs. J. A. Wilson, Shreveport, press superintendent.

DISTRICT SECRETARIES.

Mrs. Paul Foster, Alexandria District; Mrs. W. C. Peyton, Sheveport District; Mrs. Medlock, Arcadia District; Mrs. Eskridge, Baton Rouge District; Mrs. A. P. Holt, Crowley District; Mrs. J. M. Kellar, Monroe District; Mrs. D. C. Worrell, New Orleans District.

The Conference then adjourned to meet next year in Monroe. At the conclusion of this last business session a delightful drive to Centenary College was enjoyed by all.

Sunday was a day full of pleasure and profit to all. At the morning service a large and appreciative audience greeted our beloved Bishop Ward, who delivered the annual sermon, dealing with that Spiritual force marking the Christian era, which dated from the epoch of our Savior's life and death. Text, John xii, 31-32: "Now is the judgment of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out." "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me."

A mass meeting planned to instruct the old, as well as the young, was held in the afternoon. Miss Jackson gave an illustrated talk to children, showing them that they would come to the parting of the ways when they must decide which road they would taake—either the broad road leading downward, or the narrow one that leads to heaven and happiness. "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve."

Miss Davies then urged the young people to also choose the right path in life and become more consecrated that God's Word might be made manifest through them. Prof. O. S. Dean, of the Mansfield Female College, addressed the older people, giving them much practical advice in Christian living.

At 8 p. m. Miss Davies, who is so full of enthusiasm and earnestness in the cause of Foreign Missions, stirred the vast audience with her address, "The Three Voices," after which she presented the matter of the endowed scholarship in the Scarritt Bible and Trainiing School which this Conference was trying to secure in three years. Although Miss Davies stated she had taken very few collections, the response that she met with will be an incentive to further effort in this direction. Three people promised ten dollars each year for three years, and six gave ten dollars for one year, making a total of three hundred and sixty dollars, which was encouraging; but after the service Mr. S. S. Hunter, one of Shreveport's most esteemed and philanthropic citizens, gave thirty-two hundred dollars, the amount of a scholarship and the interest for one year. Was this not a fitting climax to their twenty-ninth annual session?

The total amount of money raised during the week was three thousand six hundred and seventeen dollars and seventy-five cents.

After hearing the stirring appeals by these gifted speakers for workers in our missionary fields and aid in carrying on the work, it would seem that we have been remiss in our duties. May we grow less selfish, ever ready to give as freely as God has given to us, and give him all the glory.

MRS. J. A. WILSON,
Press Supt., La. Conf.

WHY DOES EVERYBODY WANT VACHER-BALM?

Because Vacher-Balm promptly relieves most of the aches and pains that we all suffer from at times, such as Headaches, Toothache, Sprains, &c.

It is cooling and harmless. Price 25c. Per Jar.

I pay you to give samples to your friends, and neighbors. Write to-day for particulars, to E. W. VACHER, New Orleans, La.

GULFPORT, MISS.

Interesting propositions submitted to parties wanting to buy lots. Write for map to
GEO. L. CARLEY, Gulfport, Miss.

Harness and Saddles
E. G. AWCOCK,
333 BARONNE STREET,
Phone Main 4467. New Orleans, La.
Repairs Neatly and Promptly Done.

W. F. M. S.

ANNUAL MEETING MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Our Conference Society held its twenty-ninth annual session in Brookhaven, March 25-29. The attendance of officers and delegates was large, the hospitality of Brookhaven abounding and the skies propitious. We suffered one great disappointment through the enforced absense of Mrs. Cobb, our able assistant board secretary, who is just back from the Orient, and from whom we expected to gain much information and enthusiasm concerning our work and workers in that distant field. But this disappointment was not greater than our sympathy with her in her suffering and the trial of a temporary laying aside of her loved employ. May God grant to her a speedy recovery for her own and the work's sake. We were delighted to have with us our missionaries from Brazil, Rev. and Mrs. George Parker.

Wednesday evening was a welcome meeting. The pastor, Rev. T. W. Adams, gave us a hospitable greeting from his church, and seemed specially proud of the fact that his membership embraced an ex-president and the present presiding officer of our Society. The presiding elder, Rev. George Thompson, gave us a welcome as broad as his district. Miss Stevens greeted us for the college society, Miss Addie V. Marshall, our Brookhaven ex-president, whose heart has so long been in the work, welcomed us right royally for the Brookhaven auxiliary. Words of appreciation were also spoken by Mrs. Hobbs, of the Baptist, and Miss Henck, of the Presbyterian Churches. It is a cheering fact that while these great denominations differ from us on the mode of baptism and free will and election, they stand shoulder to shoulder with us in the great work of missions. Mrs. T. M. Seales replied very appriately to these various greetings from our hosts and when the meeting closed we felt very much at home.

The Conference was organized for work Thursday morning. The Conference officers made their reports, committees were appointed and before the afternoon closed were well under way with their work.

"Literature and Study Circles" was discussed with much interest in open Conference, ably led by Miss Buntyn, secretary of the Meridian District, who has been very successful in carrying forward this work. When our women get the broad view of missions which comes through the study of our Missionary Course, their zeal and efficiency will be greatly increased. Ignorance is the mother of indifference; knowledge brings with new light, fresh inspiration.

Thursday evening Mrs. Watkins and Mrs. Kendall read their annual reports. We have reason to rejoice over the work of our young missionaries on the field, and the record of our two missionary candidates in the Training School. Our scholarship will be entirely completed before Mrs. Watkins goes to the Board Meeting, and our pledge of $350 to the Training School redeemed. While our Conference pledge was not met in full this year, more than enough came in to cover the salaries of our two missionaries in Soochow, Miss Janie Watkins and Miss Nell Drake; and there is every reason to believe that when our two candidates have completed their course at the Scarritt our pledge will be sufficient for their support.

The Whitworth young people have shown their faith and love by undertaking, with the assistance of their president, Dr. Cooper, the support of their own honored alumna, Janie Watkins, for the coming year, and we trust for all years to come. If our faith measures up to theirs our pledge will grow from year to year to meeting the enlarging needs of the work. The cry is no longer for workers, but for means to send them forth. We dare not be faithless to our opportunity..

After the reading of these reports, the talk of Mrs. La Prade on "Our Resources—Women and Money," was particularly appropriate. It was an earnest plea for a larger enlistment of our women in the work of foreign msisions, for a deeper consecration, and a greater willingness to deny ourselves in bestowing our means. Mrs. Lipscomb closed the evening by a "concluding word" that left a holy impression on the hearers.

On Friday morning Young People's Work came up for discussion, led in a very happy way by Mrs. Watkins. She gave the young people present some memory training in the famous sayings of great missionaries, and some object lessons which they and their older sisters enjoyed very much. Perhaps the most impressive was that designed to show the comparative sums yearly spent in our great country for missions, church work, millinery, confectionery, bread, tobacco and whisky. This lesson was illustrated by ribbons of graded lengths wound on a rod. Each young lady was given a ribbon to unroll. The writer was called away to a committee meeting, but was told that the red ribbon of the liquor traffic extended down the aisle, through one door of the vestibule and re-entered the church at the other, while our gifts to foreign missions were represented by the shortest of the ribbons! Thank God that gold once turned into liquid fire is now going to buy bread. May more and more be used to send the Bread of Life to perishing souls. Some glad day the lengths of the ribbons will be reversed.

Friday evening Mrs. Ferguson read a very interesting and instructive paper on "Our Specials," and solved some problems as to where they are located. Mrs. Ferguson is an expert missionary worker, familiar with our history in all its details from the very beginning, and a fine organizer as her work proves.

Miss Mamie Harris followed with a beautiful reading and the evening closed with a stimulating talk on China by our beloved Elizabeth Hughes. Though a wise Providence still keeps her at home, her heart retains a warm interest in her chosen field, where she labored so successfully, and she keeps up with all the new developments there and feels the stirrings of this awaking giant of the Orient.

On Saturday all the reports of the various committees were read and acted on, with less than the usual discussion. Our Training School came up in open Conference, its needs were emphasized, and all our affairs connected with this great institution thoroughly discussed. Conference went into election of officers and the old officers were re-elected: President, Mrs. Lipscomb; vice-president, Mrs. La Prade; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Watkins; recording secretary, Mrs. Wyatt; treasurer, Mrs. Kendall; district secretaries: Brookhaven, Mrs. Wimberly; Jackson, Mrs. Cavitt; Meridian, Miss Buntyn; Natchez, Mrs. Guice; Newton, Mrs. Price; Seashore, Mrs. Ferguson; Vicksburg and Yazoo City sent urgent requests to entertain the next Conference. It was due to Vicksburg in order of time, and that city received the deciding vote.

On Saturday evening Whitworth College, through its directress of Music, Miss McVoy; its teacher of Vocal Music, Mrs. Bolton, and Miss Ragsdale, its teacher of Expression, honored the Conference with a brilliant recital which was greatly appreciated and was a fine expression of the skillful and faithful training of these ladies.

Sunday morning Dr. Murrah gave us a masterful sermon on the diffusive power of the gospel from the text, "The Kingdom of Heaven is like unto leaven which a woman took and hid in three measures of meal till the whole was leavened." The great organ voice of the preacher was a most melodious accompaniment to the grandeur of his theme. The golden age lay away back in the past of the Greek and Roman. Christ foretold the advent of the golden age through the leavening power of the gospel. No mere men at that time could have had the audacity to utter such a prophecy; it required the prescience of God himself. The leaven was made for the mass of humanity in which it was hidden, and the mass for the leaven. They can not come together without a transforming process and it is not to be a partial transformation. The leaven will work till "the whole is leavened." The new creature means a new creation and God is seen in all his works, in the rain that falls upon the roof, the trees that wave above us, the flowers that blossom at our feet. The fierceness of the brute is subdued by the influence of this divine love. The Maltes cat that lays his soft fur against the rosy cheek of the little child is but the tiger tamed by the power of love. The leaven works silently. All the greatest forces of the universe do their work in silence. A woman's hand hid the leaven in the lump. Woman's work in the redemption of the world to Christ is beyond computation. These are some of the great thoughts not in their order nor majestic language that were caught from the lips of the speaker.

In the afternoon Mrs. Parker gave us a very interesting talk on the missionary's work in Brazil. She is a woman of fine sense, with a choice use of language and the most devoted love and consecration to her work. We realize since then how much our Board has lost in her, and how much Brother Parker has gained. But the fuller life will make her even more abundantly useful.

Sunday night Brother Parker presented his field and gave us a spiritual uplift in a beautiful sermon from the text, "Your young men shall see visions." He described a tedious and difficult ascent of one of the great mountains of Brazil, the horizon ever enlarging to the climber, until at last the summit was gained and a glorious vision of beauty lay at his feet far as the eye could reach. Then he described a descent made into one of the Brazilian gold mines, the horizon ever narrowing with the descent till limited by a little band of gold. This ascent and descent in the natural world he made types of the spiritual and material life. It is evident from his enthusiasm for his chosen work that Brother Parker has climbed the mountain heights of faith and had a vision of his beautiful Brazil redeemed to Christ. May God bless his work and make his vision a glorious reality even in our day. After his sermon—shall we not say by divine pre-arrangement—Mrs. Virginia Marshall Hogg took up his theme in a beautiful reading, very impressively delivered.

Last came a happy appeal from Mrs. Watkins, in which she explained the difference between a "collection" and an "offering." No doubt the response was liberal—a religious last-act in our Conference—which, after the benediction, stood adjourned.

CLARA B. DRAKE.

GET SOLID PROTECTION AND INSURE WITH
LEON IRWIN & CO.
Fire and Casualty Insurance.
838 GRAVIER STREET. PHONE, MAIN 586

W. W. Carre Co., Ltd,
Manufacturers and Exporters of
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The Home Circle.

THE WOLVES AND THE BABY.

Here it is, the dead of winter. Snow is on the ground, on the trees, on the housetops. And we are all just in from a romp with a sledful of rosy-cheeked children. Of course, the only proper way to top off the evening is to tell a story. And so, as we all gather around the grate fire, and Tommy, who has been busy with the nut cracks, gets quiet, and sister surrenders the poker to papa, and all the rest of the little folks get "settled" for a listen, we tell the story of how a baby was saved from the wolves in a Canadian forest one winter day. And here it is, just as it was told:

One time a papa and a mamma were driving through the woods on a sleigh, and they had a little baby with them. The baby was asleep on some straw in the back of the sleigh, allcovered up with blankets, and just as snug and warm as could be. They had so much to carry in the sleigh that this was the best place to put the baby, and the mamma could just turn her head and see the little baby's nose peeping out and see it sleeping so quiet and so fine. The horses—two of them—were spanking along the road, for the big log teams had worn it nice and smooth.

Suddenly the mamma gave a start. They were just in the middle of the deep woods, miles away from anybody. She had heard some strange sound. She said to the papa, "Stop; I heard something like a cry."

The papa pulled hard on the reins and brought the horses to a stop. Then they heard the cry again and plainly. So did the horses. They sprang forward as soon as they heard that cry. It was the cry of wolves, and they were coming after the sleigh, a whole pack of them in full cry.

So sudden was the start of the horses that the sleigh was almost lifted from the ground. At the same instant the mother turned round to see her baby, but it was gone. Out in the roadway was a little bundle, and little pink fingers were buried deep in the snow and a little voice was wailing with the cold and fright. Mamma gave a scream. Papa stood up and yanked the lines like a crazy man. The horses were pulled up to a second stop, but wild with fear and almost uncontrollable. Mamma was out of the sleigh in a twinkling, and, running to her little bundle, snatched it up as if it were a feather and dashed back to the sleigh. How she got into the rocking sleigh she could not tell now, but the half-crazed horses seemed to feel it the instant she got in, then away they dashed, papa holding the reins, mamma holding the baby, and the baby holding its breath. It all hadn't taken very long, but so swift ran the wolves that now they could be seen away back on the road.

It was a wild race, children. The horses were galloping for their lives, and at every jump the sleigh seemed to clear the ground. But faster came the wolves. They were now so near that their red tongues could be seen, and their howling was terrible.

Then the papa said:

"Wife, put the baby down in front at our feet. Then take the reins. You must do this at once."

The baby was put down and a double-barreled shotgun was taken up. Then the mamma took the reins. The papa turned and leveled his gun at the pack.

The flames leaped out of the barrels, and two of the front wolves fell over and others yelped and limped. Then what do you suppose happened? The whole pack stopped and jumped upon the dead and wounded wolves and tore them to pieces. My, how they growled and yelped and fought over the dead and hurt wolves.

Well, the papa loaded his gun and the horses ran on like the wind, but soon the wolves were after the sleigh, and soon they were almost near enough to leap into it.

Then papa fired both barrels at them, and again there was yelping and scattering of the pack, and some more dead and wounded for the live and hungry ones to eat up.

So it went, till the horses were almost tired out, and the night was coming on.

Suddenly mamma gave a cry. "I see a light," she said.

"All right," said papa. "And I've got one more load for the gun. God help us now."

Once more he fired, and two more wolves, just ready to leap at the horses, fell dead.

The horses made a desperate effort, and the sleigh shot out of the woods into another highway, and there was the lighted house—or hut—of some woodmen.

They heard the shooting, and soon men, women and dogs were running out to see what was the matter. At this the wolves stopped, the few that were left, and without a whimper started back for the depths of the forest.

Men held the trembling horses, strong arms took the mamma and the baby, and soon all were safe in the little cottage.

They warmed up a nice little bottle of milk for the baby, and soon it went to sleep. Aren't you glad the wolves didn't get that baby?—Child Labor Record.

HUGHES AS A BOY.

Governor Hughes as a small boy is a personage of whom the public has heard little. The following is from the account which Burton J. Hendrick gives in "McClure's" of the youthful Hughes:

Charles E. Hughes was the son of a Welsh clergyman, who reared him in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.

He was an only child, was far from robust in health, and had a mind which was keenly alert, receptive and precocious. The elder Hughes, conscientious, devoutly religious, thoroughly orthodox, had firmly fixed ideas on the training of children.

He believed in teaching them the realities of life as well as the graces. "At an early age," he said recently, "I taught my son that a straight line was the shortest distance between two points."

Under his mother's instruction the boy learned to read when he was three and a half. He read all of Shakespeare before he was ten years old; attracted, above all, by a simple love of the story.

In addition, he read many solid books in his father's library. He acquired what few children now receive—a thorough training of the Bible. There are not many professional Biblical students to-day who can match the Governor of the State of New York in his knowledge of that Book.

At five, his parents put the boy to school, but the experiment proved a failure. His mind traveled so much faster than his companions', that the teacher could not keep him occupied.

One day the youngster appeared before his father with a long document headed "Charles E. Hughes' plan of Study." In one column he had written the hours of the day, in one adjoining the subject which he wished to study in that hour.

He explained that he was tired of school, that the teacher wasted too much time going over the same ground, that his fellow pupils delayed matters by dawdling over their lessons, and he asked that he be permitted to study at home.

In the directness, the initiative, the love of system, the impatience at unnecessary detail and the passion for results displayed by the five-year-old on this occasion one readily perceives practically the same qualities that led to such success in the examination of the life insurance companies.

Mr. Hughes' parents accepted the educational programme proposed, and for five years, until his tenth year, he studied at home. His mother taught him the primary studies, as well as French, German and mathematics; his father, Greek and Latin.

That mastery of self which Mr. Hughes afterward manifested he also taught himself as a child. He always recited his lessons standing, and, like most children, had at first considerable difficulty in keeping still.

He evidently thought the thing all out for himself; and one day, with no suggestion from his mother, who was then hearing his lesson, he announced that he had found a method of controlling his rebellious members.

He selected a seam in the carpet, placed his toes firmly against it, shut his heels tightly together and assumed a determined, soldier-like pose. From that day Mr. Hughes has had entire command of himself.—The Presbyterian.

HOW HE LEARNED TO SKATE.

Mrs. Russell Sage taught school in Philadelphia in her youth, and a Philadelphia woman who was once her pupil said the other day:

"I remember Miss Slocum, as she was then called—a very intelligent, cheerful, industrious young lady, and a great favorite with all of us.

"She had a way of hammering home an idea with an apt anecdote that we girls enjoyed hugely.

"One day, in impressing on us the importance of perseverance, she said that she knew a little boy who was a remarkably fine skater.

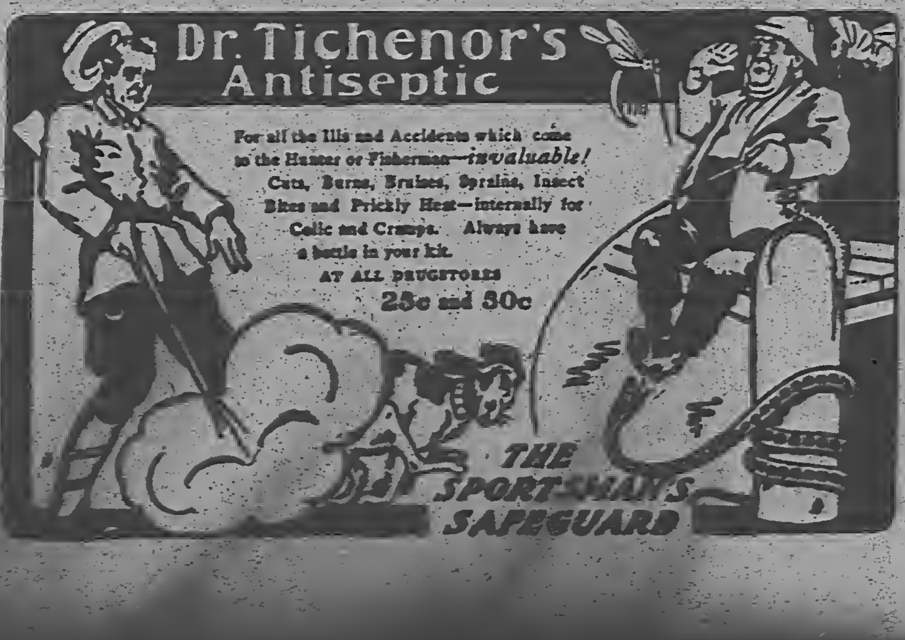
"She had watched the youngster, one winter afternoon, do the front and back roll, the grapevine, the glide, and other feats of tremendous difficulty, and finally, overcome with enthusiasm, she had patted him on the back and said:

"'How on earth, at your age, did you learn to skate so magnificently?'

"'By getting up every time I fell down,' was the boy's simple answer."—Leaves of Light.

BELLEVUE POULTRY SUPPLY CO.

Everything in the poultry line: Chickens, Parrots, Guinea Pigs, Rabbits and Pet Stock of every description; Cyphers, Incubators and Feed at Factory Prices, may be had by writing us at 740 Camp St., New Orleans, La. Catalogue sent free.



Dr. Tichenor's Antiseptic

For all the Ills and Accidents which come to the Hunter or Fisherman—invaluable! Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Sprains, Insect Bites and Prickly Heat—internally for Colic and Cramps. Always have a bottle in your kit.

AT ALL DRUGSTORES

25c and 50c

THE SPORTSMAN'S SAFEGUARD

Christian Advocate.

REV. JNO. W. BOSWELL, D.D., Editor.
REV. H. WHITEHEAD, Ass't Editor.
CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Publisher.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TERMS:
One Copy, one year, $2; six months, $1. To Preachers of all Denominations, half-price.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES:
LOUISIANA CONFERENCE—Rev. W. W. Drake, Rev. N. E. Joyner, Rev. J. M. Henry.
MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. M. L. Burton, Rev. W. H. Lewis, Rev. C. W. Crisler.
NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE—Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, D.D.; Rev. J. T. Murrah, Rev. W. W. Woollard.

THE PROHIBITION CONTEST.

Let no prohibitionists in Louisiana be persuaded that, if he enters the contest, he will have an easy victory. He will find himself mistaken. All signs indicate that, in addition to liquor manufacturers and dealers and liquor drinkers, high and low, we have the leading men of two powerful Church organizations to contend against. Archbishop Blenk is against prohibition. Rabbi Heller, of the Jewish church, has come out squarely and boldly against the movement, and preached a sermon on the subject which will doubtless be made to do duty as a campaign document.

It goes without saying that Archbishop Blenk represents the Roman Catholic population of Louisiana, which in New Orleans and the Southern part of the State is dominent. What he says goes, especially if what he says inclines to favor the liquor traffic. Whether the church has a stronger hold on Romanists than the whisky trade can be determined only by an effort on the part of the priesthood to abolish the business. That effort will not be made. As matters stand they are well nigh a unit against prohibition.

Whether Rabbi Heller represents the Jewish population, we are not prepared to say. We are not sufficiently acquainted with the bonds of union between the rabbi and his people to express an opinion even on general principles, much less in particular cases. And where the Jews are divided into classes—the orthodox and the reformed—the matter would be still harder to determine in the absence of specific knowledge. But we take it for granted that, so far as the Jews of New Orleans are concerned, composing a large proportion of the business men of the city, some of them being the wealthiest and among the most enterprising, philanthropic and respectable citizens, Rabbi Heller spoke as a Jew when he delivered the sermon above alluded to. If so, the Jews of the city, like the Roman Catholics, will almost solidly array themselves against prohibition.

To evangelical Christians who look more at the moral aspect of the liquor business than the economic—the ruin it effects rather than the revenue it brings to the government—it is a sad and serious thing to see the teachers of religion arrayed on the side of the common enemy ,engaged in warfare against the common good. Not one of these leaders fails to acknowledge the evils of the open saloon, albeit they qualify by saying, "as it is now conducted." They would see the business reformed and restricted. Yet, after fifty years or more of effort at regulating and restricting they have never seen a reformed saloon. They never will. The elements of reform are not in the business. It was conceived in sin and born in iniquity, and carries on its deadly work in spite of law and gospel.

With liquor drinkers and dealers arrayed in solid phalanx against reform, flanked on one hand by the Roman Catholics and on the other by the Jews, the prohibitionists of Louisiana are going to have no easy time.

Since the above was put in type we have been informed by Rev. S. A. Smith, secretary of the Anti-Saloon League of Louisiana, that in recent contests in the parishes many of the Roman Catholics stood nobly up for the prohibition cause and voted the prohibition ticket. This is good news.

DR. WINTON CANNOT UNDERSTAND.

"Every time a preacher of the Word stands up in the church's pulpit he stands to proclaim her faith. Why, then, should it be thought unreasonable for the Church to do the same? To declare the things most surely believed and held among us would seem not merely a natural impulse, but even a duty. We cannot understand why the proposal for Methodism to do this thing should have stirred up such strenuous opposition."

The above is an editorial paragraph in the Christian Advocate of April 17. It is one of Dr. Winton's carefully prepared utterances. Its purpose, as a whole, is not exactly clear. One unacquainted with Methodism would infer that in none of its branches is to be found a well-defined confession of faith, or "standards of doctrine." But surely Dr. Winton is too well informed and too honest to make a declaration of that kind. Yet, he says, "We cannot understand why the proposal for Methodism to do this thing should have stirred up such strenuous opposition."

If we, as Methodists, have no creed, "declaring the things most surely believed and held among us," we have done something well adapted to astonish men and angels. We have converts in nearly every nation under heaven, numbering nearly seven millions, and they are a unit in doctrine the world over. This could not have been accomplished had not the Church, by her "Articles of Faith," and "Standards of Doctrine" had something to do in shap- the opinions of her preachers and people. It is true, Dr. Tillett confessed before the General Conference that he felt embarrassed whenever he undertook to lecture a class on the creed of Methodism; and Dr. Blackwell, of Randolph-Macon College confessed to the same feeling. But both Dr. Tillett and Dr. Blackwell were in the midst of a heated argument and perhaps expressed more than they felt or intended.

But is it a fact that the Church is asked to make only a statement of "her faith?" Our understanding is that the paper before the General Conference of which Dr. Tillett is the author asked for a "restatement" of our doctrines. Several arguments were used to show the importance of the move. One was to the effect that our "Articles of Religion" were written by Calvinists in the language of three hundred years ago and should be honorably superannuated. Another was that many of the articles are now useless, being protests against the errors and superstitions of Romanism. A third reason was fonnd in the fact that the Articles fall short of stating all the doctrines of Methodism, especially those that refer to Christian experience, and the world-wide mission of the Church. Bishop Hendrix, in his short and forcible talk, laid emphasis on this last point.

Up to this date we have found in our Articles of Religion and Standards of Doctrine everything necessary to guide us. Ever since our existence as an organized branch of the Church we have been blessed with preachers of sufficient intelligence to state our creed, explain it in "the language and terms of thought familiar" to the time, and to successfully defend it. Never have we felt compeled to apologize for it—never humiliated by a failure. To come at us now, when we are converting more men and women to Christ and to Methodism, and succeeding in all religious work to a greater degree than at any period of our history, and tell us that our Articles of Religion are out of date and should be superannuated (which is equivalent to saying they are no longer nseful), is exceedingly strange.

Under our constitution we do not see how a restatement can be effected. The General Conference operates under certain restrictions—six in number—but provides a method of altering all of them "except the first." We know it is held by some that an appeal to the history of the Church prior to 1844 will show that there is a way to change even the first rule. But those who hold to this idea seem to forget that our Church, the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is operating under restrictive rules adopted by the Constitutional Convention which organized the Church in 1845. Our ecclesiastical existence began at that time, and no action of the Methodist Episcopal Church previous to that date can in anywise affect us. The Constitutional Convention said expressly that any of the restrictions may be altered "excepting the first article."

Had the proposition been to set before the Church "a declaratory statement of the cardinal doctrines of the Christian faith in brief and convenient form, notwithstanding no demand had been made for it, public or private, general or special, it would not, we dare say, "have stirred such strenuous opposition," which Dr. Winton says he "cannot understand." But the request is for a "restatement of Methodist faith," because the "statement," as it now exists, is superannuated, useless in some of its parts, and falls short of what a Methodist creed should be. Coming to us in that way it not only looks serious, but revolutionary.

We are afraid of the movement. To us it is a Trojan horse. Let it get into an ecumenical Conference, composed in part of a certain class of critics, and not a few who do not believe all of our Articles of Religion, there is no telling what will be turned loose on the Church.

THE GREAT STORM OF LAST WEEK.

Never, perhaps, in the history of our country was such destruction wrought by storms in two days as was wrought on Friday and Saturday of last week in Louisiana and Mississippi. So many localities were touched we cannot begin to name them. In the aggregate more lives were lost and property destroyed in small interior towns and country districts than in the few large towns that were destroyed or damaged. But the two places that suffered most are Amite, in Louisana, and Purvis, in Mississippi. In Amite fifteen persons were killed, and about one-half of the dwelling houses and nearly all the business houses were either totally destroyed, or greatly damaged. Our Church and parsonage were destroyed, but the pastor, Rev. L. C. Wilson and his family escaped unhurt.

At Purvis the destruction was greater both of life and property. The following note from Dr. T. B. Holloman, of Hattiesburg, who, with others, went to the relief of the stricken citizens, is the only word we have received by mail from any quarter concerning the disaster. Under date of April 25 he says:

"Dear Doctor: I write from Purvis. The town is practically destroyed. It would be impossible to exaggerate the conditions. Not a business house intact—most flat on ground. At least four-fifths of dwellings destroyed. Methodist church and parsonage in ruins. Brother Black and family escaped unhurt except serious wound on his hand. His library was ruined by the flooding rains. Eighteen whites and sixteen blacks buried here to-day. Many of the wounded were sent to Hattiesburg. Fraternally,

T. B. HOLLOMAN."

Again, under date of Sunday, April 26, Dr. Holloman says:

"At the meeting of the Main Street Church this morning a resolution was passed proposing to aid in the immediate rebuilding of our church at Purvis. One firm donates the lumber for the house. A brother famous for his zeal was appointed to push collections to pay workmen. The spirit was contagious, the sentiment hearty, and we look for an early rebuilding of that church. We had a great service.
T. B. HOLLOMAN."

It is hardly necessary to say that many of the sufferers are poor people, whites as well as blacks, and that the storm has left them homeless and penniless. They need help. They need it right now. The churches in New Orleans took up collections on Sunday last. Many other churches, we dare say, did likewise. Many more will do so next Sunday.

The ADVOCATE will take pleasure in receiving and forwarding any amount the friends in the country may see fit to give. Do not wait for Sunday. Send it in right away with directions as to where it shall go. This business requires haste.

Since putting the above in type we have received the following letters:

"Amite, La.

Dear Dr. Boswell: "The tornado which swept over our town last Friday, the 24th inst., spreading death and ruin, left us homeless and churchless. The parsonage was new, and worth $2000, with $700 indebtedness, and our people were justly proud of it. The building is not completely demolished, but nearly so, and will have to be torn down and rebuilt, which will cost $1500. The church is completely wrecked, and we have no tornado insurance on either church or parsonage. We were protected against fire, but not against the wind. Property loss is so heavy and so general that it will be impossible for us to rebuild unless we get outside help. Every church in town was blown away. Our parsonage was lifted from the pillars, carried about six feet and dashed against the ground, furniture was overturned and blown about, but no bodily injury was experienced by myself or family beyond a few very slight bruises. As I look out upon the wreck and ruin of trees and buildings, that which impresses me most is God's mercy and love displayed in saving human life.
Fraternally, L. C. WILSON, Pastor."

"Ponchatoula, La.

"Dear Dr. Boswell: As already known to many readers of the ADVOCATE, every church building at Amite went down in last Friday's cyclone. The Methodist parsonage was blown off its foundation and wrenched out of shape—so much so that it is now useless, and it may have to be rebuilt entirely.

"The pastor, Rev. L. C. Wilson, stands bravely at his post of duty, and, though stunned by the awful catastrophe, he expects to see the church and parsonage rebuilt.

"Nothing is so discouraging as first-hand evidence, and such this scribe had to-day at Amite.

"Owing to great property loss, the membership of the Church there is not now in a condition to rebuild, except with assistance from the outside.

"The Methodism of this State has an opportunity to assist a stricken people. Brethren, let us invite a generous response to this call of emergency, and send contributions to Rev. L. C. Wilson, Amite, La. Faithfully,
"WM. SCHUHLE."

PERSONALS.

Dr. Sawyer left the city last week for a ten days' campaign in north Louisiana. He will put in some faithful work in behalf of missions.

Miss Daisy Davies, traveling secretary for the Young Peoples' work of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions, addressed the Rayne Memorial congregation on Sunday night.

Rev. S. A. Brown, sending his "greetings" to the editor from Chattanooga, adds this word: "The Laymen's Missionary Conference is a great success. This is an epoch in our Church."

Brethren who have business with Rev. W. G. Forsythe, president of the Board of Missions of the Mississippi Conference, are requested to address him at Lorman, Miss.

We thank Mrs. F. O. Adams, of Locust Ridge, La., for two dollars "to send the ADVOCATE to some person unable to pay for it." The money will be properly applied.

Rev. A. W. Langley, of the New Albany Circuit, has been doing some faithful work in behalf of the ADVOCATE. He has sent us twenty-one subscribers this year. We give him our hearty thanks.

Rev. W. N. Dodds, who is supplying the Rainey and Faulkner charge, Corinth District, writes hopefully of his charge. He is engaged in building a parsonage, which, when completed "will be one of the best little parsonages in the Corinth District."

Rev. E. E. Langford, of Tyro, Miss., who has been greatly hindered on account of the long illness of his wife, is now at liberty. His wife, after receiving treatment at Yazoo City, began to improve and is now hopeful "of complete restoration to health in the near future."

"The Reign of Lawlessness," by Dr. C. F. Evans, in the April number of the Methodist Review, is a forcible article, as well as timely. Dr. Evans has many friends in Louisiana who would be glad to read the article, and we would be glad to reproduce it, but it is too long for our columns.

A note from Rev. H. G. Hawkins brings good tidings: "A very helpful revival meeting closed at the Port Gibson Female College Friday evening, April 24. The last part of the meeting was led by Rev. W. G. Harbin. Nine young ladies offered their names as applicants for church membership and many received spiritual assistance."

The Monroe Star, of April 24, contains in full a sermon by Rev. H. G. Davis, preached on Easter Sunday before the Knights Templar of Monroe, who attended the service in a body, and who, in connection with the congregation, requested its publication. The discourse was a clear and orthodox presentation of the resurrection of our Lord.

Rev. J. W. Ramsey, recently engaged in a meeting with Rev. H. A. Gatlin at Stonewall, Miss., reports "nearly thirty professions of faith and reclamations," and several additions to the two churches of the town. Brother Gatlin is in his fourth year on the charge, and has accomplished a great work. He "continues in high favor with his people."

The dispatches of last week report the death of Mrs. Millsaps, wife of Maj. R. W. Millsaps, of Jackson, Miss. The funeral service was conducted by Bishop Galloway, assisted by Dr. W. H. LaPrade, pastor of First Church. We presume Bishop Galloway will prepare a memoir for our columns. We sympathize deeply with our dear Brother Millsaps in his sorrow.

We had the pleasure on Monday last of meeting Mr. M. V. Falcon, who was in the city on his way to join Rev. M. Hebert in the French Mission. He is a young man of fine character, speaks French and Spanish, and will be of great assistance to Brother Hebert in his work. He has been recommended for license to preach, and will probably be licensed at the ensuing session of the Crowley District Conference.

FROM ROYAL GRAPE
CREAM OF TARTAR
ROYAL
Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

We regret very much a serious mistake in the letter of Brother D. M. Floyd in last week's paper. Where he had written the word "music" the printer put it "wine." The copy was plain enough, and how the printer could get "wine" out of it we do not know, or how the mistake escaped our eye none but a careless editor can tell. Brother Floyd is an out-and-out prohibition and temperance man, and never uses wine, never gives it to his visitors. We beg Brother Floyd's pardon.

A meeting of unusual interest was held Sunday evening last at the Second M. E. Church, South, this city. It was a rally in the interest of the Laymen's Movement. Messrs. T. V. Ellzey, A. F. Gedat and M. B. De Pass made short and timely talks. The pastor, Rev. A. I. Townsley also addressed the meeting. At the close a collection for the cyclone sufferers at Amite, La., was taken. A handsome sum was realized, and forwarded to the pastor at Amite, Rev. L. C. Wilson.

Dr. S. H. Werlein is in the city on a visit to relatives and friends. He is at present pastor of Winnfield Memorial Church, Little Rock, Ark., where he is held in high esteem. The Doctor a short time since paid his respects to the Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church, diocese of Arkansas, through the columns of the Little Rock Gazette. The Bishop unfortunately took an open stand against prohibition. Dr. Werlein administered a just rebuke which the Bishop will not soon forget.

The good women of the Church at Hammond provided an entertainment for the people on Tuesday evening, the 21st. It consisted of music and recitations. The vocal music was rendered by Miss Edna Perdue, of Illinois, a remarkably sweet singer; the instrumental by Mr. Sam Cate, of Hammond, who has perhaps the finest musical education of any young man in the country. He has just finished a course in Europe. The recitations were by Miss Bessie Cooper and Miss Lucille Lynch, two elocutionists graciously loaned for the occasion by Whitworth College. No such elocutionists ever before talked in Hammond. They captured the audience. The good name of Whitworth was magnified.

THE LAYMEN'S MOVEMENT.

We have received much more matter concerning the Laymen's meeting at Chattanooga than we can use. We very much appreciate the favors in hand, all of them, but we shall give the preference to communications from our home correspondents. Our publisher, Brother C. O. Chalmers, who was a delegate to the Conference, took copious notes on the spot, and furnishes us as much matter for the present issue as we can print. Next week Brother Bingham, of Carrollton, will be heard—and others perhaps.

NOTICE.

The Meridian District Conference will convene in Buckatunnna, Miss., June 23, at 4:30 p. m. Let there be a full attendance at the opening.
W. C. BLACK, P. E.

Obituaries.

Obituaries not over two hundred words in length will be published free of charge. All over two hundred words will be charged at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and send the amount necessary with the obituary. That will save trouble all around.

Mrs. GABRIELLA JOHNSTON TILDEN—That one should travel along the way of life on earth for over ninety-one years is enough to justify considering the traveler at the journey's end. And when the character of the favored one has been built upon the solid rock and the long way has been lighted by the life of the Master, then more than a passing notice should be taken. When Mrs. Gabriella Johnston Tilden, on Sunday, January 26, 1908, at her home in the city of Mobile, passed from this to her eternal life, she had lived for nearly a century. She had gone far beyond the allotted period of man's life. Born in the city of Louisville, Ky., August 3, 1816, her span of life covered many important events in the making of the nation's history. She was one of the school children who welcomed the great LaFayette, strewing flowers in his way as he rode through the city of Louisville. She often spoke of having witnessed that remarkable phenomena which is commonly known as "the falling of the stars." Her pilgrimage was attended by trials and many vicissitudes. She had two sons and a son-in-law, officers in the Confederate Army, and, as a true Southern woman, during the dark days of the great civil conflict, she gave her services, her sympathies and her prayers for the Lost Cause. To the strength she received from her excellent ancestry she added the culture of education and refining associations and she was far above the average in intelligence. Even in her advanced years she kept an active interest in all the current affairs, and by reason of her brightness and fund of knowledge was a congenial companion for every one. The experiences of life only strengthened her character and prepared her to bear successfully all responsibilities. In 1836, then Miss Gabriella Johnston, she married Mr. Benjamin F. West, and from this union five children were given her, only one of whom, a devoted daughter, Mrs. Mary L. Jones, of Harriston, Miss., survives. After the death of Mr. West, and in 1849, she was joined in marriage with Mr. Marmaduke Tilden. Of the three children of this wedded life but one now lives, Miss Belle Tevis Tilden, of the city of Mobile, who has been her mother's constant and affectionate associate for many years, and whose tender ministrations made pleasant the declining days of her aged and much-loved parent. One brother, Mr. Benjamin W. Johnston, of Los Angeles, California, also survives Mrs. Tilden. For over seventy years Mrs. Tilden was a member of the Methodist Church, and was faithful to its teaching and in her attendance upon its ordinances. She esteemed the worship in God's santuary a privilege and she was sustained and comforted at all times by her trust in her divine Father. Mrs. Tilden was one of the first subscribers to the New Orleans Christian Advocate, and was its constant reader and patron from its beginning till her death, excepting perhaps for a short period during the Civil War. She was a loyal church woman. For a long time Mrs. Tilden made her home in Jefferson County, Miss., and also in and near the city of Port Gibson, and, following her wishes, in the cemetery in that city she was laid to rest. Her services ended, her duties here fulfilled, she has quietly fallen asleep in this life to awake to her eternal reward.

RICHARD F. REED.

WALTER G. KEARNEY—Died, near Flora, Miss., in his eighty-second year, on Friday, April 3, Colonel Walter G. Kearney. Born in Maury County, Tennessee, Feb. 28, 1827, when two years of age his parents, Colonel Guston Kearney and Mrs. Mary Lindsay Kearney, removed south to Madison County, Miss. Here their estate was founded—a large plantation with many slaves—and here the subject of this memoir remained, meeting death where he passed the years of a long and honored life. Graduated from Centenary College in 1847, Colonel Kearney was married four years later, in 1851, to Miss Sue Owen. Between this date and the Civil War his interest in the County occasioned his election to the House of Representatives. With the outbreak of the War he entered the Confederate service, going out as first lieutenant in the 18th Mississippi regiment. He was promoted very soon for gallantry to the post of captain, and after the battle of Leesburg he was elected to the lieutenant-coloneley of the same regiment. In this office he served until the reorganization of the regiment, at which time a severe illness disqualified him from active service upon the field. While still convalescent at home, he responded to the call of Governor Pettus for troops to defend Vicksburg from the menace upon the river by Commodore Farragut. He was in Vicksburg at the moment of this attack, and witnessed the bombardment of the city. Later, when General Sherman made his movement against Vicksburg, and while hastening to his post, Colonel Kearney was seriously injured in a railway accident, the results forcing him from the ranks for the remainder of the war. Resuming life upon his plantation, he was called again to the legislature, and to the Upper-House of Representatives during the State's trying period of Reconstruction and reorganization. From 1891 to 1895 the final act of service was performed in the State Senate. Colonel Kearney was an enthusiastic Mason. As a Christian he was best known to this writer. Seeking with characteristic purpose to know and live a Christian, for many years he modeled himself humbly upon the life of the Lord Jesus. Kindly, sincerely, with peculiar singleness of heart, he moved along his day and generation. Attentive to many calls, self-denying, devoted to his household. Time gave him gentle handling, opening opportunities for beneficent practices, which were seized and employed to the very last. He wrote, himself, at the age of 75, the statement which follows, outlining with few words what was largely illustrated in his life, his confession of faith: "I was taught the religion of Christ," he writes, "in my boyhood days; I have practiced this faith through middle life; and now in age, I find no fault with it. It is my comfort and my solace, and makes bright the pathway to the tomb." So passes a princely Christian gentleman of the Old South. As his pastor in other years, great pleasure came to me through the views and principles which Colonel Kearney maintained, always holding the somewhat obliterated way of ante-bellum chivalry. Knightly, courteous, deferential to women, any woman, gracious host in his home, on close terms with his select old library, the country round him had for years revered him as one whose like they would not see again. His saintly wife survives him and sons. He was father to Miss Belle Kearney, whose devotion to him was perhaps the strongest passion of her life. Her father was her ideal. To these bereaved ones there is human sympathy in plenty; and the confidence that the husband and father, ripened into fulness of years and of faith has entered into the upper and the better kingdom, there to await and welcome those whose eyes shall fully appraise the Lord in his glory, and come as he came, to the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ.

W. H. HUNTLEY.

Lumberton, Miss.

Mrs. CHLOE NESOM (nee Jones) was born in Lauderdale County, Miss., Aug. 25, 1842. She removed with her parents to Pine Grove, St. Helena Parish, La., just before the Civil War. Here she met Abraham Nesom, to whom she was married Nov. 15, 1866. He preceded her to the land of rest Sept. 26, 1904. To them were born three children—one son son and two daughters. Besides these they reared also an adopted daughter, Mrs. Sallie Richard. All of whom survive her. Sister Nesom joined the M. E. Church, South, in girlhood and lived a consecrated Christian life. The most of her life was spent at Pine Grove, La. It was the privilege of this writer to become intimately acquainted with her during my four years pastorate on the Pine Grove Circuit. Her husband being a steward and a true, faithful one, at that. She was often in our parsonage home looking after the comforts of her pastor and family. She was always ready and willing to lend a helping hand in any way that lay in her power to forward the kingdom of her Lord. She loved her Church, and never absented herself from the house of God only when providentially hindered. She was a mother to us. We loved her dearly, because she was so thoughtful and kind to us. Five years ago, when Brother Nesom's health failed him, they moved to Tickfaw and lived with her son, Wilburn. When we moved to Ponchatoula she visited us frequently. She was to see us only a few days before her death. She quietly passed away Dec. 17, 1907, and was laid to rest by the side of her husband in the Pine Grove Cemetery, Dec. 18, 1907, in the presence of a large congregation of loved ones and friends. The writer, assisted by Rev. J. S. Rutledge, conducted the service. May her loved ones live as she did and meet her in heaven.

F. N. SWEENEY.

Mrs. M. F. ANDERSON, wife of Dr. G. W. Anderson, formerly of Love's Station, but late of Jonestown, Miss., was born Aug. 22, 1840, and died at the home of her son, Dr. C. M. Anderson, Jonestown, Miss., April 1, 1908. She was happily married to Dr. G. W. Anderson, Dec. 9, 1859. This union was blessed with eleven children, six of whom preceded her to the spirit world. She professed religion and joined the missionary Baptist Church at about 15 years of age, and remained a faithful member to the last. She was an earnest Christian. She had been a patient sufferer for years. The last two years she suffered great bodily weakness, but her faith was simple and strong to the end. She bore her sufferings with Christian fortitude. She has gone to her reward. She leaves a husband and five children to mourn their great loss. Friends, she cannot come to you now, but, thank God, you can go to her. May the Comforter of men abide with the bereaved until they meet to part no more.

W. D. McCULLOUGH.

QUICK RELIEF FOR SKIN DISEASES

Tetterine quickly relieves the itching and promptly cures diseases of the Skin and Scalp. Eczema, Tetter and Itching Piles yield readily to its antiseptic and healing qualities. The germs are destroyed, preventing return. Tetterine is a fragrant, antiseptic and healing ointment, the finest prescription ever discovered for skin and scalp troubles. Ask your druggist or send 50 cents in stamps to

The Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC

Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure.

BEST FOR ALL AXLES

MICA AXLE GREASE

You will make more trips, draw bigger loads, save undue wear on box and axle, and keep the hard-working horse in better shape by an occasional application of Mica Axle Grease. Nothing like it to take the painful, heavy, downward drag out of a big load. Ask the dealer for Mica Axle Grease.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY
(Incorporated)

NEW YORK
CINCINNATI
ST. LOUIS

QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE

THROUGH SLEEPING CARS
All Meals in DINING CARS
TICKET OFFICE
211 ST. CHARLES ST

ILLINOIS CENTRAL
The Double Track Route.

26 Hours to Chicago
21 Hours to St. Louis
22 Hours to Louisville
26 Hours to Cincinnati

Through Sleeping Cars to above points. Dining Cars, Library Cars, Chair Cars and Coaches.
Full Particulars at
City Ticket Office.
141 ST. CHARLES STREET.
Phone Main 3618.

PROVENCAL, LA.

Dear Advocate: It is with great pleasure we report to your pages a very successful meeting just held in the little town of Provencal at the Southern Methodist Church. The Rev. T. M. Finley was with us and did some excellent preaching. Brother Finley is a strong preacher of the Word and doesn't compromise with or retreat from the enemy, but he keeps firing away.

Some say this was by far the best meeting the town of Provencal has had for years. The churches were all wonderfully blessed. Sinners were converted, backsliders reclaimed and the Christians strengthened. Quite a number came forward and gave their hand, signifying that they had been blessed during the meeting.

We had a very large attendance all the way through. The last Sunday night of the meeting we could not accommodate near all the people who came out, and several had to go away because they could not be seated.

The last two days of the meeting the weather was very unfavorable, nevertheless we had a full house each evening. We had eight accessions to our Church, and we trust more will follow. Several will go to the Baptist, and perhops some to the M. E. Churches. The members of the other Churches did excellent work in the meeting, and we are glad to see them reap a part of the harvest. Any pastor would do well to get Brother Finley to help in a meeting. He will long be remembered by the people of Provencal. May the Lord bless the dear Advocate and its many readers. I ask a special interest in your prayers. Your brother in Christian love,

F. R. POWER,
Pastor M. E. Church, South,
Provencal, La.

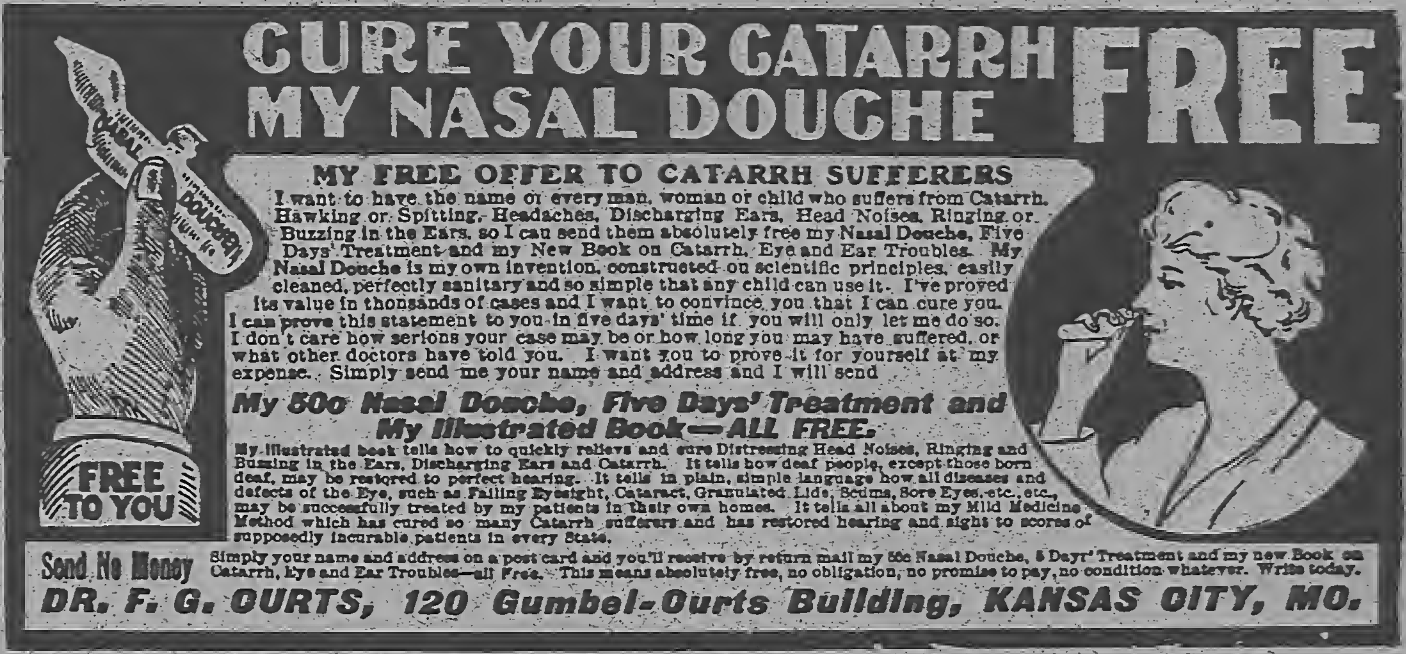
ITTA BENA, MISS.

Dear Advocate: Last Thursday night we closed a very successful twelve-days revival at Itta Bena. Brother Lagrone did the preaching and the singing was conducted by Prof. Butt. These two brethren make a fine team, and the strong and impressive sermons and splendid music drew large and appreciative crowds out to church day and night, from first to last. All the merchants in town, except two, closed their places of business one hour each day for the meeting the second week. There were several conversions, and on the Sunday following the closing we received a class of fourteen into the church—six on profession and eight by letter. The revival in the churches is said to have been one of the very best ever conducted here. Brother Lagrone is the kind of help needed. His work is solid and abiding, and he leaves the pastor and church in better condition every way. Brother Butt is a man of strong Christian character, and "a sweet singer in Israel." They are now engaged in a meeting with Brother Young at Belzona. Many of our people will probably be there for all the services of the coming Sunday. Yours,

L. W. CAIN, P. C.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS.

Dr. Alexander McLaren, of Manchester, England, at the close of a long and useful life, tells the secret of his work. In May of this year, a memorial church that bears his name was erected on the southwest side of Manchester, at Charlton-cum-Hardy. He was present on this occasion, and said: "I am here to-night, if I may say so, to leave my last will and testament with all preachers of the gospel, to all those at the helm and with all of you, that the one thing is Christ and him crucified. They want a Person outside of themselves, in whom all their needs can be met. Any attempt at help that leaves out that personal Savior is only mockery."—Ex.



CURE YOUR CATARRH MY NASAL DOUCHE FREE

MY FREE OFFER TO CATARRH SUFFERERS

I want to have the name of every man, woman or child who suffers from Catarrh, Hawking or Spitting, Headaches, Discharging Ears, Head Noises, Ringing or Buzzing in the Ears, so I can send them absolutely free my Nasal Douche, Five Days' Treatment and my New Book on Catarrh, Eye and Ear Troubles. My Nasal Douche is my own invention, constructed on scientific principles, easily cleaned, perfectly sanitary and so simple that any child can use it. I've proved its value in thousands of cases and I want to convince you that I can cure you. I can prove this statement to you in five days' time if you will only let me do so. I don't care how serious your case may be or how long you may have suffered, or what other doctors have told you. I want you to prove it for yourself at my expense. Simply send me your name and address and I will send

My 50c Nasal Douche, Five Days' Treatment and My Illustrated Book—ALL FREE.

My illustrated book tells how to quickly relieve and cure Distressing Head Noises, Ringing and Buzzing in the Ears, Discharging Ears and Catarrh. It tells how deaf people, except those born deaf, may be restored to perfect hearing. It tells in plain, simple language how all diseases and defects of the Eye, such as Failing Eyesight, Cataract, Granulated Lids, Scums, Sore Eyes, etc., etc., may be successfully treated by my patients in their own homes. It tells all about my Mild Medicine Method which has cured so many Catarrh sufferers and has restored hearing and sight to scores of supposedly incurable patients in every State.

Send No Money Simply your name and address on a post card and you'll receive by return mail my 50c Nasal Douche, 5 Days' Treatment and my new Book on Catarrh, Eye and Ear Troubles—all Free. This means absolutely free, no obligation, no promise to pay, no condition whatever. Write today.

DR. F. G. CURTS, 120 Gumbel-Curts Building, KANSAS CITY, MO.

TRIBUTE TO DR. J. A. MOORE.

Whereas it has pleased God in his wise providence to remove by death our honored friend and colleague, Dr. J. A. Moore, and,

Whereas the passing of a life so long associated with ours and so large and useful as his calls for some expression of appreciation on our part; therefore, be it,

Resolved, by the faculty of Millsaps College, first, That we bow in submission to the will of God, believing that he does not willingly afflict his people, and that in this, as in every dispensation of his providence, however grievous at the time, his goodness and loving kindness will one day be made to appear.

Resolved, second, That we count ourselves honored in having enjoyed for years an intimate daily association with one whom we have found so noble in purpose, so pure in principle, so single-minded, kind, and true in all the social and official relations between him and us.

Resolved, third, That in Dr. Moore we recognized a teacher of eminent qualification for his special work, a man who stood always and everywhere, without faltering, for the right as he was given to see the right, and a Christian who adorned the doctrine of God our Savior.

Resolved, fourth, That the life of Dr. Moore was a positive force in the educational work of our State and of our church and his death a loss that will not soon be supplied.

Resolved, fifth, That our deepest sympathy goes out and is hereby expressed for those in his home who are so sadly bereaved.

Resolved, sixth, That these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the faculty and that a copy be furnished to the Millsaps Collegian and to the New Orleans Christian Advocate, and also that a copy be sent to the family of Dr. Moore.

R. S. RICKETTS,
J. M. SULLIVAN,
J. E. WALMSLEY,
Committee.

April 14, 1908.

A STRONG CHURCH.

"Is it a strong congregation?" asked a man respecting a body of worshipers.

"Yes," was the reply.

"How many members are there?"

"Seventy-six."

"Seventy-six! Are they so very wealthy?"

"No; they are poor."

"How, then, do you say it is a strong church?"

"Because," said the gentleman, "they are earnest, devoted, at peace, loving each other, and striving to do the Master's work. Such a congregation is strong, whether composed of five or five hundred members."—Ex.

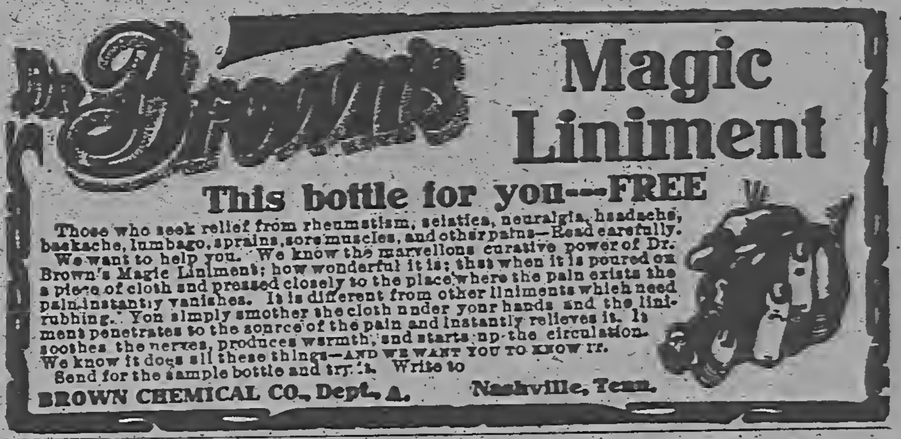
W. H. BYRNES, Pres. JOHN T. GIBBONS, Vice-Pres. P. E. BURKE, Sec'y.
Capital.......$200,000.00
Assets.......479,860.90
HIBERNIA INSURNCE CO.,
No. 305 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
LOSSES PROMPTLY PAID.

Pine-Brook Dairy Co., Ltd.
ALL OUR COWS TUBERCULINE TESTED.
Milk and Cream Delivered Morning and Evening.
COR ST. CHARLES & WASHINGTON AVES. Phone 1514 Uptown.

$50 DRAUGHON'S SCHOLARSHIP FOR $25

Four years' NET PROFITS of $35,904.85 enable Draughon's chain of 30 Colleges to make this special offer, for a limited time, to favor those short of work or cash by reason of late financial depression. FREE CATALOGUE will convince you that BUSINESS MEN consider

DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL BUSINESS COLLEGES
THE BEST. No vacation; enter any time. POSITIONS SECURED—written CONTRACT.
SHREVEPORT, JACKSON (MISS). DALLAS, GALVESTON (TEXAS),
NASHVILLE and WASHINGTON (D. C.)



Dr. Brown's Magic Liniment

This bottle for you—FREE

Those who seek relief from rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, headache, backache, lumbago, sprains, sore muscles, and other pains—Read carefully. We want to help you. We know the marvellous curative power of Dr. Brown's Magic Liniment; how wonderful it is; that when it is poured on a piece of cloth and pressed closely to the place where the pain exists the pain instantly vanishes. It is different from other liniments which need rubbing. You simply smother the cloth under your hands and the liniment penetrates to the source of the pain and instantly relieves it. It soothes the nerves, produces warmth, and starts up the circulation. We know it does all these things—AND WE WANT YOU TO KNOW IT. Send for the sample bottle and try it. Write to

BROWN CHEMICAL CO., Dept. A. Nashville, Tenn.

The Union Railroad Business College,
BUSINESS TAUGHT AS IT IS DONE.
Is backed up by thousands of dollars and expert teachers. Uses no text books or copying nonsense. Free scholarships given only to those between the ages of 13 and 35 years.
Business men everywhere are calling for the graduates of this school. For full particulars address PROF. W. H. STEPHENSON, Texarkana, Texas.

THE AMERICAN PAINT WORKS,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.,
MANUFACTURES EVERYTHING IN PAINTS,
Guaranteed Strictly Pure
The Climatic Prepared Paints, Perfecto White and
SOLD SUBJECT TO A CHEMICAL ANALYSIS.
DIRECTORS:
Thos. S. Witherspoon, President. Francis Martin, Vice President.
R. B. Parker, John McCloskey, Geo. A. Hero.
PHONE, MAIN 915. Special Attention to Mail Orders.

SALVATION ARMY WORKER

Wife of a Captain in Charge of Army Work at Jonesboro, Ark., Writes Interesting Letter.

HER MOTHER ALSO

Mrs. J. Donaldson, of Jonesboro, Ark., a well-known worker in the Salvation Army, found herself ten years ago in very poor health, as the result of hard work, a weakened constitution and household cares.

In a letter recently written, she tells the story of how, after much suffering, she finally managed to permanently cure herself at home.

She writes: In 1895 and 1896 I suffered much with ovarian trouble. My limbs would swell, until great ridges would form out over my shoes. I was weak, with scarcely energy enough to do house-work at all.

Having read much of the merits of Wine of Cardui for female complaint, I decided to try it, and after taking two bottles was never troubled again.

During change of life, four years ago, my mother, Mrs. G. W. Wadsworth, nearly died. She had from sixteen to twenty-four cramping or sinking spells during a day and night, and many times we laid her down for dead. At last I persuaded her to take Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, which cured her.

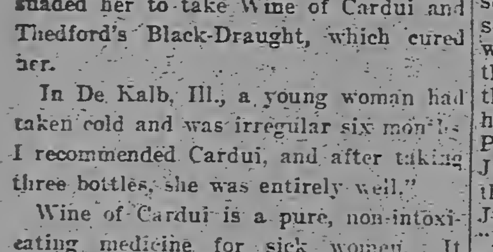
In De Kalb, Ill., a young woman had taken cold and was irregular six months. I recommended Cardui, and after taking three bottles, she was entirely well."

Wine of Cardui is a pure, non-intoxicating medicine for sick women. It has a specific healing action on the womanly organs, which it builds up, adjusts and restores to health. It relieves womanly pains and regulates womanly functions, and should be taken by all women, especially those who suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to their sex.

Thousands of women have written to testify of its great value in all cases of female weakness and disease.

You need it, dear reader, whether you are young, middle-aged or old—married or single. Get it at the nearest druggist's, in $1 bottles.

If you want Medical Advice, write us freely and frankly, in full confidence, and we will send you the advice you need, in plain, sealed envelope. Address: Ladies' Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.



Stearns' Electric RAT and ROACH Paste
is guaranteed to rid the house, barn or store of cockroaches, rats, mice, water bugs, etc. Sold at druggists or general stores everywhere, or sent prepaid on receipt of price.
2 oz. box, 25c; 16 oz. box, $1.00.
STEARNS' ELECTRIC PASTE CO., Buffalo, N.Y., U.S.A.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

Sunday School

By W. B. Campbell.

LESSON FOR MAY 3.

OUR HEAVENLY HOPE.

John xiv.

Golden text: "In my Father's house are many mansions."—John xiv, 2.

God never created any mortal soul to be satisfied with what this world can give. The spirit of unrest that pervades mankind is an outgrowth of this truth. We do not live in the present; our face is set toward the future. Even in old age there is a looking forward for better things to come.

Religion that gives the true pleasure of living and makes death only the gateway to eternal joy is the only means of contentment while we are in the body. The life of our Lord, when he came to his own and was received not, was like a ship on a tempestuous sea. His followers were not blind to the efforts of his enemies, as they tried to effect his destruction, hounding his steps, and watching every move he made from the time of entering on his ministry until the day of the end on Calvary. That end was fast approaching, and his disciples seemed to realize it, and as the dread truth dawned upon them they were filled with heavy sorrow, made the more hard to bear by keen disappointment. They were deeply troubled in heart, for they still clung to the hope of an earthly kingdom with its attendant glory, and Jesus as their King. Jesus saw their troubled souls; he saw the faith of some growing weak, and for this his sorrow was greater than theirs. This was the most solemn hour, it seemed that the veil was already rent, and they were all gathered within the holy of holies, with the great High Priest. No evil was there, for Judas had gone out, and with him the spirit of evil. It was after Judas had gone that the Lord said, "Now is the Son of Man glorified." His words now seemed as if spoken back to them as he was departing. What loving kindness did he show as he tried to comfort them, even though they did not fully comprehend his meaning. "Let not your heart be troubled," were his words, "ye have always believed in God, the great God of Israel; faith in him came to you as if given by nature when growing up in bodily stature and strength; then believe also in me. I am his Son, sent down from heaven, as I have often told you, and shown you by the works I was commanded by my Father to do among you." They were to believe in him with the same faith they had in God himself. There are many mansions in the home of the heavenly Father, room enough for every one and a welcome for all. This truth is the hope that has always been and will ever be the comfort of the faithful. It is a truth, for if it were not so Jesus would have told us. "I go to prepare a place for you." He came into the world to mark plainly his steps, so that through life we can follow him. He went down into the grave still drawing us after him. He was the "first fruits of them that slept," showing that, even through the valley of the shadow of death we follow on. Then after having burst the bands of the grave, we still follow; for he went and prepared a place for us. We know where he has gone, and we know the way to follow. It is ours to tell of the way to any who do not know it, or to remind any who have rejected it. Were they all as perplexed by his words as was Thomas, as he asked, "Lord we do not know where you are going, how can we know the way?" It required the prints of the nails in Jesus hands and the wound in his side to remove the cloud from Thomas' mind. "I am the way," not only the way, but the truth, the living incarnate words of God and the life. Jesus is the way to God and our heavenly home. It is through him that we know the truth that will give us eternal life. If the disciples had learned to love him so well from his earthly life and works, what must their love have been afterwards, when the Holy Ghost brought all these things to their remembrance and opened their spiritual eyes? Some of them could not understand; after having been taught and having listened while others were taught, they wanted the very first doctrines explained. What patience the Master had, as in rebuke of Philip's ignorance he said: "Have I been so long with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip?" What a loving rebuke! Do we know him as he wanted to be known by Philip? He has been long with us—since long ago when mother told us of the children's Savior. Is our knowledge of him to-day such as satisfies every longing of the soul? These are spiritual things and cannot be discerned in any other than a spiritual way. It is hard for the world to understand the office and mission of the Son of God. They believe in God, for a certain faith in a Supreme Being is innate, but a loving heavenly Father they do not know. They do not know how God so loved the world as to send his only Son to it as a Savior.

Saying further to Philip, "He that believeth in me shall do greater works than you have seen me do." Why? "Because I go to my Father," and the knowledge of the Lord shall cover the earth as the waters cover the sea." And this shall be effected through the instrumentality of the faithful. In this work of the true disciples, making known to the world the wonderful love of God, and in all things pertaining to earthly life, we have the promise of Jesus in his own words: "If ye shall ask any thing in my name I will do it." What a legacy from a dying friend? It supplies every want of mortal man, and is a light of glory shining on the road that leads to "our Father's house of many mansions."

Classified Advertisements.

EDUCATIONAL.

WANTED—30,000 telegraphers, on account of the new 8-hour law. Draughon's Colleges, 30 in 17 states, give written contract to secure position or refund money. Address Jno. F. Draughon, Washington, Nashville, Atlanta, Raleigh, St. Louis, Dallas, Little Rock or San Antonio.

Teachers Wanted. Fall openings. Write for "Word of our Record." Covers Southern States. Free registrations. Foster Teachers' Bureau, Covington, Ga., or Clinton, S. C.

AGENTS WANTED.

WANTED.—Men and Women to sell Coffee, Teas, Spices, to Family Trade, in communities of 1,000 to 10,000 population. Cash commission paid. Permanent agents wanted. People wanting steady employment, address Bodenheimer Coffee & Tea Co., St. Louis, Mo.

OPPORTUNITIES AND INVESTMENTS.

Manufacturer's Opportunity. Splendid chance to secure $32,800 plant, oil mill and knitting mill combined—at a bargain; one-fourth cash, balance in 1, 2 and 3 years. Address at once Jacobs & Co., Agts., Clinton, S. C.

COMMENCEMENT PROGRAMME OF PORT GIBSON FEMALE COLLEGE.

Friday.

8 p. m.—W. C. T. U. Gold Medal Contest.

Saturday.

5 to 7 p. m.—Junior Reception.

4:30 p. m.—Alumnae Meeting.

Sunday.

11 a. m.—Sermon by Rev. R. W. Tucker.

8 p. m.—Public Meeting of the College Epworth League.

Address by Rev. G. H. Galloway.

Monday.

9:30 a. m.—Meeting of the Board of Trustees.

10 a. m.—Art Levee.

11 a. m.—Delivery of Medals and Diplomas.

Address by State Superintendent J. N. Powers.

8:30 p. m.—Grand Concert.

(On account of change in standard of study there are no literary graduates this year.)

Fruit
Scarce and High
JELL-O
Very Economical
Has the Flavor of the Fruit
10c. package
All grocers

Heiskell's
The most obstinate case of Eczema can be quickly and completely cured by the application of Heiskell's Ointment. It also cures Blotchy, Rough and Pimpled Skin, Erysipelas, Tetter, Ulcers, and all other skin diseases. Before applying the ointment, bathe the parts affected, using Heiskell's Medicated Soap. Heiskell's Blood and Liver Pills tone up the liver and purify the blood. Your druggist sells these preparations. Ointment, 50c a box; Soap, 25c a cake; Pills, 25c a bottle. Send for book of testimonials and learn what these wonderful remedies have done for others.
JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO.,
531 Commerce Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Ointment

Rider Agents Wanted

in each town to ride and exhibit sample 1908 model. Write for Special Offer.
Finest Guaranteed 1908 Models $10 to $27
with Coaster-Brakes and Puncture-Proof tires.
1906 & 1907 Models all of best makes $7 to $12
500 Second-Hand Wheels
All makes and models, good as new $3 to $8
Great Factory Clearing Sale.
We Ship On Approval without a cent deposit, pay the freight and allow TEN DAYS' FREE TRIAL.
Tires, coaster-brakes, parts, repairs and sundries, half usual prices. Do not buy till you get our catalogs and offer. Write now.
MEAD CYCLE CO., Dept. [illegible] 268 Chicago

FREE RIFLE

This handsome 1000 Shot Rifle absolutely free to any boy who will send us 45 cents for one of our Samples, and give us a few hours of his spare time for one week. This Rifle is great for Target practice, and is sure death to small game and rats. Address with [illegible], stamps or money order.
Home Novelty Co., Long Beach, Cal.

BELLS.
Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

I Am Helping Others
—Let Me Help You—
If you are honest, ambitious and aggressive, I can help you Make Money—no matter where you live.
I have made more than $1,200 in one month in the Real Estate business. I made this in commission selling property for others. It doesn't matter whether you have had experience or not, or what your present occupation is. I can teach you the Real Estate business by mail, then I want you to act as my associate and assist me in your locality to sell property. Write me now.

I WILL TEACH YOU A CLEAN, HONORABLE, DIGNIFIED BUSINESS.
Write for free book.
ROBERT DAWSON,
644 Garrison Ave., Fort Smith, Ark.

HIS CHANCE IS GONE
YOUR CHANCE IS HERE
The question is, are you qualified to hold a responsible position? Have you had a thorough commercial training? Bankers, Merchants and Manufacturers want you if you are competent. Now is Your Chance. Two roads are open to young people. One requires no training and leads to failure. The other requires training and leads to success. We prepare young men and women and start them on the road to success by securing them high-salaried positions. Fine climate, board cheap. Write for illustrated catalog and further information.
HATTIESBURG BUSINESS COLLEGE, HATTIESBURG, MISS.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

Sleeplessness

Sleeplessness is a result of exhausted nerve force. You must have sleep—it is nature's rebuilding period. It is the period in which she stores up strength and vigor. You will sleep well and awaken fresh, if you take Dr. Miles' Nervine. It brings sleep by soothing the tired nerves. Its invigorating effect is felt throughout the entire system.

"I used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine for extreme nervousness, brought on by over-exhaustion. It soothed and strengthened my nerves. It enabled me to get restful sleep which I was unable to get before taking the Nervine. For nervous troubles I know of nothing that can equal it." MRS. E. EBENSPERGER, 286 Jay St. Utica, N. Y.

If first bottle fails to benefit, money back.
MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

General News

Fort Worth, Texas has had one of the worst floods in its history. Many of the railroads of north Texas were forced to suspend traffic for several days. The monetary loss is supposed to exceed a million dollars.

* * *

A reign of terror has prevailed in Hayti. The President, Nord Alexis, has had a number of political prisoners shot, and threatens wholesale executions, if he is not allowed to complete his term of office. The currency of the country has become so debased that the nominal dollar is worth about nine cents on the dollar. The presence of foreign warships at Port au Prince is causing some restraint, but unless there is something like civilized conditions restored, some strong nation may be forced to intervene.

* * *

The Tax Commission for the State of Louisiana has come to an agreement on the reforms that it will recommend to the next State Legislature. They will advise the separation of State and local taxation, asking the State to rely upon corporation and other taxes, with all property taxes reserved for parochial and municipal purposes. They will recommend the exemption of mortgages, money and bills receivable.

* * *

The United States is constructing a dam across the Rio Grand at Engle, New Mexico, that will create the largest reservoir in the world. The Elephant Butte Reservoir will be forty miles long and in some places six miles wide. The site of the dam is at the end of a rong and deep canyon. Its length at the river level will be only four hundred feet. Its length at the crest will be twelve hundred feet. This is one of the reclamation projects of the Government, and its consummation will mean more in the development of the Southwest than any industrial enterprise ever yet undertaken in this region.

* * *

Louisiana is certainly, and steadily adding to its prohibition territory. The Parishes of Acadia and St. Landry have both gone dry.

* * *

Eighteen political prisoners have been shot in Guatemala, by order of President Cabrero. It is alleged that these persons were engaged in a conspiracy against the life of the President.

* * *

A mixed force of British and Indian troops is at present being rapidly mobilized near Peshawur, for another punitive expedition against the fanatical Indian tribes who recently have been raiding and looting villages on the Peshawur border.

* * *

The Tenement House Commission in New Orleans find some serious evils to remedy. Some of the filthy crowded houses are a menace to all that live in them.

* * *

On the 24th inst., a singular storm swept over the States of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia. In a number of different places and at widely different hours in the day, cyclones appeared, destroying a large amount of property, killing over three hundred persons, and wounding perhaps a thousand more. The storms were not in line with each other, and were not moving in the same directions. In one or two instances, destructive winds passed in opposite directions at some point, and within a few hours of each other. It seemed as if the atmospheric conditions were such, that a series of cyclones were produced.

* * *

Iron ore production in the United States exceeded 52,999,000 tons in 1907.

* * *

The English Navy has just abolished one of its most picturesque accessories, the naval carrier pigeon service. The wireless telegraph has reached such a stage of development that the pigeons are no longer needed.

* * *

It seems to be quite certain that Congress will only authorize the construction of two battleships at this session, despite the earnest efforts to secure the construction of four. As it is, the expenditure for the navy will be close to $120,000,000. The largest amount ever expended in time of peace.

* * *

The little French Hamlet, of Notre Dame de Sallete, in Ontario was buried under a sliding mountain of rock, and over thirty persons were killed. The avalanche was caused by spring rains and melting snow and ice.

* * *

The State Board of Health has adopted a code covering the pure food laws of the State. Among many other provisions the following has been adopted:

Section 1. No prescription shall be refilled which contains any of the following drugs, viz.: Opium or its derivatives, cocaine or its derivatives, chloral hydrate, chloroform, hyoscyamus, cannabis indica, acetanilid, sulphanal, trional, isopral, hedonal, veronal."

* * *

The American Steamer, "St. Paul," collided with the British Cruiser "Gladiator," in a snow storm off the isle of Wight, sinking the latter vessel. Twenty British sailors were drowned. The officers of both vessels refuse to say how the accident occurred until after the official investigation.

DAYS OF PRAYER.

Christian people everywhere, and especially the Methodists of Mississippi, are requested to observe Sunday, May 3, and Sunday, May 10, as days for special prayer for God's blessing upon the Sunday School Superintendents' Institute to be held at Durant, May 12-14. Without his aid all our efforts will be as "sounding brass and tinkling cymbal." It is our prayer that this institute will be of great service in building up the kingdom of Christ in Mississippi.

Will not the pastors please call attention to this from their pulpits.

W. H. CARTER,
REV. R. P. NEBLETT,
N. A. MOTT;
Committee.

"SKYLAND INN."
4400 feet above sea level.
Blowing Rock, N. C.

OPENS June 18th, 1908. Highest location at Blowing Rock, roomy halls, broad verandas, magnificent scenery. Address E. R. Stewart, Prop., Newton, N. C., until June 15th. Rates: From $7.00 to $12.00 a week.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—SECOND RND.

[illegible] Avenue, [illegible] a.m.	May 3.
Algiers, [illegible] p.m.	May 3.
[illegible] a.m.	May 10.
Epworth, [illegible] p.m.	May 10.
First Church	May 17.
[illegible] a.m.	May 24.
Carrollton, [illegible] p.m.	May 24.
Covington	June 6, 7
Second Church	June 14.

F. N. PARKER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST—SECOND RND.

Boyce, at Eden	May 2, 3
Pollock, at Tioga	May 6.
Selma	May 9, 10
Red River	May 11,
Chicot, at Ward's Chapel	May 16, 17
Opelousas, at Opelousas	May 18,
Alexandria, at First Church	May 23, 24
Alexandria, West End	May 24, 25
Simmsport, at Woodside	May 30, 31
Dry Creek, at Hopewell	June 5,
Glenmora, at Forest Hill	June 6, 7
Natchitoches	June 11,

The District Conference will convene in Natchitoches June 12-14.

N. E. JOYNER, P. E.
Alexandria, La.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—SECOND RND.

La Chute, at Atkins	May 2, 3
Mansfield Circuit	May 9, 10
Zwolle, at Noble	May 16, 17
Mansfield	May 17, 18
Many	May 23, 24
Ida, at Ida	May 30, 31
Shreveport, Texas Ave	June 1, 2
Shreveport, First Church	June 3,
Shreveport, Noel Memorial	June 4,
Pleasant Hill	June 6, 7
Greenwood	June 8, 9
Hornbeck	June 13, 14
Leesville	June 14, 15
Bon Ami	June 20, 21
De Ridder	June 21, 22
Mooringsport	June 24, 25
Provencal	June 27, 28

Our Annual Preachers' Meeting and Missionary Institute will meet at Mansfield Monday night, May 18, and close Wednesday night. We want each pastor to bring at least three laymen and as many of the good women as possible.

T. J. WARLICK, P. E.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—SECOND RND.

Port Vincent, at Huffs	May 2, 3
Ponchatoula, at Springfield	May 3, 4
Hammond	May 5.
Independence, at I.	May 6,
Amite City	May 7,
Franklinton, at Angie	May 9, 10
Mt. Hermon Ct., at Mt. H.	May 11,
Kentwood	May 12,
St. Helena, at Wesley	13.
St. Francisvill, at Star Hill	16, 17
Pinegrove, at Montpelier	May 23, 24
Liveoak, at Alford's	May 30, 31
East Feliciana, at Clear Cr.	June 6, 7
Melville, at Cottonwood	June 13, 14
Newroads	June 21, 22
Baton Rouge, First Church	June 28, 29
Baton Rouge, Second Ch.	June 28, 29

R. W. TUCKER, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—SECOND RND.

Jonesboro, at Jonesboro	May 3, 4
Vernon, at New Prospect	May 9, 10
Bernice, at Bernice	May 15,
Lisbon, at Harmony	May 16, 17
Ruston	May 18,
Minden	May 19,
Ringgold, at Andrew's	May 20,
Lanesville, at Pine Grove	May 23, 24
C. Valley, at C. Valley	May 26,
Winnfield	May 31, June 1

District Conference will be about the last week in July. Preachers, please take notice and make no conflicting appointments.

BRISCOE CARTER, P. E.

CROWLEY DIST—SECOND ROUND

Sulphur and Vinton	May 3
Lake Charles	May 3
Lake Arthur	May 17
Jennings	May 24

J. M. HENRY, P. E.

MONROE DIST.—SECOND ROUND

Farmerville, at Marion	May 2, 3
Brookland, at Sardis	May 9, 10
Eros, at Indian Village	May 16, 17
Merrouge, at M.	May 23, 24
Mangham, at Little Creek	May 30, 31
Harrisonburg, at Jonesville	June 6, 7
Florence, at Holly Grove	June 13, 14
Downsville, at Douglas	June 17,
Waterproof, at St. Joseph	June 20, 21
Floyd, at Midway	June 27, 28

J. E. DENSON, P. E.

Mississippi Conference.

MERIDIAN DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Eucutta, at New Hope	May 2, 3
DeKalb, at New Hope, at 11 a.m.	May 6,
North Kemper, at Mellen, 11 a.m.	May 7,
Matherville, at Hiwanee	May 9, 10
Seventh Avenue, 7:45 p.m.	May 13.
Enterprise, at Stonewall	May 16, 17
Pachuta, at De Soto, 11 a.m.	May 22,
Waynesboro Ct., at Big R.	May 23, 24
South Side, 8 p.m.	May 26,
Vimville, 11 a.m.	May 27,
Middleton, at State Line	May 30, 31

VICKSBURG DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Satartia, at Satartia	May 2, 3
Oak Ridge, at Redwood	May 9, 10
Port Gibson, at P. G.	May 13,
Rocky Springs, at Cayuga	May 23, 24
Edwards, at E.	June 1,
Anguilla, at Grace	June 4, 5
Rolling Fork, at Cary	June 6, 7
Vicksburg, C. Street	June 13, 14
Bolton, at Raymond	June 20, 21
Mayersville, at Shiloh	June 27, 28

District Conference will be held at Edwards May 27-30.

G. H. GALLOWAY, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—SECOND ROUND

Caseyville, at Galatin	May 2, 3
Bethel, at Mt. Carmel	May 9, 10
Centerville	May 10, 11
Percy's Creek, at P. C.	May 16,
Woodville	May 17, 18
Bayou Piere, at Tabernacle	May 23, 24
Natchez, Pearl Street	May 30, 31
Natchez, Jefferson St.	May 31, June 1
Washington, at Kingston	June 6, 7
Barlow, at Lebanon	June 13,
Fayette, at Ebenezer	June 14, 15
Wilkinson, at Mars Hill	June 20, 21
Meadville, at Nebo	June 27, 28

The District Conference will be held at Woodville May 13-16.

J. T. LEGGETT, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Brooklyn and Bond, at Garaway
Longbeach	May 2, 3
Pass Christian	May 4,
Biloxi, Main Street	May 5,
Gulfport, Twenty-fifth Ave.	May 6,
Gulfport, Twenty-ninth	May 7.
Howison and Saucier	May 9, 10
Carriere, at Nicholson	May 14,
Lumberton	May 15,
Hattiesburg, Broad St.	May 16, 17
McHenry and Wiggins, at McHenry	May 23, 24
Mentorum, at Zion	May 25,
Ocean Springs and Oak St., at Oak Street	May 30, 31
Coalville	June 1,
Wolf River	June 3,
Hattiesburg, Court Street	June 6, 7
Hattiesburg, Main Street	June 7, 8

District Conference at McHenry, May 19-23. Opening sermon at 7:30 p.m. by Rev. L. W. Thompson. Sermon evening of 20th by Rev. D. P. Bradford followed by administration of the Lord's supper.

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Madison, at Pocahontas	May 2, 3
Yazoo City	May 5,
Flora, at Bentonia	May 9, 10
Pinola, at Harrisville	May 20,
Terry, at Spring Ridge	May 23, 24
Jackson, Capitol St.	May 27,
Benton, at Tranquil	May 30, 31
Eden, at Phillips	June 2,
Canton	June 6, 7
Lintonia, at Anding	June 13, 14
Mount Olive	June 20, 21

A. F. WATKINS, P. E.

NEWTON DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Homewood, at High Hill	May 2, 3
Vossberg, at Philadelphia	May 9,
Laurel	May 10, 11
Fifth Avenue	May 10, 11
Rose Hill, at Garlandsville	May 16,
Morton, at P.	May 17, 18
Harpersville, at Contrell	May 23, 24
Trenton, at Trenton	May 30,
Raleigh, at Raleigh	May 31, 32
Hebron, at Hebron	June 6, 7
Ellisville, at Ellisville	June 9,
Decatur, at Neshoba	June 12,
Philadelphia, at Hester's	June 13, 14
Indian Miss., at Philips	June 19,
Edinberg, at Edinberg	June 20, 21
Neshoba, at Mt. Pisgah	June 27, 28
Walnut Grove, at Zion	July 3,
Carthage, at ———	July 4, 5

JAS. M. WEEMS, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—SECOND RND.

Pearlhaven, at Hawkins Ch.	May 2, 3
Brookhaven	May 3, 4
District Conference at Tylertown	May 6, 10
Tylertown, at China Gr.	May 11,
Monticello, at Sontag	May 16, 17
Beauregard, at N. Wesson	May 17, 18
Wesson	May 23, 24
Summit, at Osyka	May 24, 25
Adams, at Adams	May 30, 31
Pearl River, at W. Chapel	June 6,
Topisaw, at Holmesville	June 6, 7

GEO. H. THOMPSON, P. E.

Don't you know
That Craddock-Terry Co's
Long Wear Shoes
wear longer than other shoes at the same price? If not, try a pair of these celebrated shoes and be convinced.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS.
UNLIKE OTHER BELLS SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.
Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

PROGRAMME.

Mississippi Methodist Sunday School Superintendents' Institute, Durant, Miss., May 12-14.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON. May 12.

2:30—Devotional Exercises. Rev. T. W. Lewis.

3:00—How to Get the Best Results from this Institute for your Sunday School: By use of note books; By attending every session. Discussion led by W. H. Carter, of Columbus.

3:30—The Sunday School Superintendent and his Staff: What Officers are Needed; Work of Each Officer; Good and Bad Management. J. B. Greene.

4:15—Sunday School Aids: Maps, Blackboards, etc., and how to use them. E. E. French, of Nashville.

5:00—The Beginners, Mrs. H. M. Hamill.

TUESDAY EVENING, MAY 12.

7:30—Devotional Exercises. Rev. T. W. Lewis.

8:00—Illustrated Lecture, "Seeing Japan," Dr. H. M. Hamill.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 13.

8:45—Devotional Exercises, Rev. T. W. Lewis.

9:15—The Sunday School Hour: The Ideal Programme; How to Make the Most of It. John R. Pepper.

10:00—The Graded Sunday School: What it is; How Best to Grade the Sunday School; How and When to Make Promotions. J. B. Greene.

11:00—Sunday School Training in Bible Study: Sunday School Training for Service. Dr. H. M. Hamill.

11:30—Music in the Sunday School. E. E. French.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, MAY 13.

2:30—Devotional Exercises. Rev. T. W. Lewis.

3:00—The Superintendent's Necessary Work: Inside the School; Outside the School. Dr. H. M. Hamill.

3:45—The Primary Department: Its Relation to the Main School; How to Develop the Department; What Should Be Provided For it. Mrs. H. M. Hamill.

4:30—The Business End of the Sunday School. E. E. French.

5:15—Recess.

5:30—Lunch served by the ladies, after which there will be a discussion of: The Teachers' Meeting—Its Necessity; How to Have One; The Programme. Led by John R. Pepper.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, MAY 13.

7:30—Devotional Exercises. Rev. T. W. Lewis.

8:00—The Sunday School and Missions. Dr. H. M. Hamill.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 14.

8:45—Devotional Exercises. Rev. T. W. Lewis.

9:15—Observance of Special Days: Children's Day; Rally Day; Decision Day; Missionary Day. J. B. Greene.

10:00—The Adult Bible Class: The Baracca Class. John R. Pepper.

10:45—How to get Teachers: The Supply Class; The Normal Class; The Bible Study Course. Dr. H. M. Hamill.

11:15—Japanese Children. Mrs. H. M. Hamill.

11:45—Volunteer Closing Words. Led by Dr. H. M. Hamill.

12:00—Final Adjournment.

Entertainment will be provided free by the people of Durant. Send names of all who will attend to Rev. W. N. Duncan, chairman, Durant, Miss., as early as possible.

All the presiding elders, pastors, superintendents and assistant superintendents are ex-officio members of the institute and are expected to attend. Any other Sunday school workers or teachers who can attend will be cordially welcomed.

All the devotional exercises will be conducted by Rev. T. W. Lewis. It is the sincere desire of the two Confernce Sunday School Boards that the institute be deeply spiritual, and that the Holy Spirit may be present in power.

MUSIC.

The singing will be congregational, and will be led by Rev. R. P. Neblett, of Shelby, assisted by the local choir.

A social lunch will be served by the ladies on Wednesday of the institute, beginning at 5:30 o'clock, during which teachers' meetings will be discussed under the leadership of Mr. John R. Pepper.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over Sixty-Five Years by millions of mothers for their children while teething with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain; cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1098. An Old and Well Tried Remedy.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle—one cure

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

New Orleans District, Rev. F. N. Parker, D.D., presiding elder; residence, 241 Olivier St.

Rev. John T. Sawyer, D.D., Conference Missionary Evangelist; residence, 2421 Chestnut St.; phone, Uptown 1832.

First Methodist Church, St. Charles Ave., near Calliope St.; Rev. J. E. Wray, pastor; residence, 5830 Prytania St.; phone, Uptown 329; office hours, at Church, 2 to 3 p. m.; Church phone, Main 1779.

Second Methodist Church, 2531 Burgundy, near Lafayette Ave.; Rev. A. I. Townsley, pastor; residence, 2728 N. Rampart St.; office hours, 9 to 11 a.m.; phone, Main 978.

Parker Memorial, corner Nashville avenue and Perrier street; Rev. C. D. Atkinson, pastor; residence 734 Nashville avenue.

Louisiana Avenue, corner Louisiana Ave. and Magazine St.; Rev. W. W. Holmes, pastor; residence 2903 Camp St.; phone, Uptown 1391.

Rayne Memorial, St. Charles Avenue and General Taylor Streets; Dr. John A. Rice, pastor; residence, 1101 Peniston Street.

Felicity Street Church, corner Felicity and Chestnut Streets; Rev. Albert S. Lutz, pastor; residence 2321 Chestnut Street.

Carrollton Avenue, corner Carrollton avenue and Elm street; Rev. Henry T. Carley, pastor; residence, 1125 Fern St.; 'phone, Uptown 1238.

Algiers, Lavergne Street, corner Delaronde; Rev. J. F. Foster, pastor.

McDonoghville and Gretna, Rev. H. Whitehead, pastor; residence 5208 Magazine Street; phone, Uptown 2459.

Epworth Church, corner Banks and Scott Streets; Rev. L. A. Sims, pastor; residence, 232 South Pierce Street.

Rev. Jno. L. Sutton, Superintendent Orphan Boys' Asylum; residence, 5220 St. Charles Ave.; phone, Uptown 128.

Rev. L. E. Wicht, junior preacher Lower Coast Mission; address, 509 Board of Trade Bldg., New Orleans.

BLOOD POISONING POSITIVELY CURED

Hereditary, primary, secondary and tertiary. Scrofula, Eczema, Blood and Skin Disease. If you have exhausted old-time methods, and want to get well, write me in fullest confidence for proof of cures. Take my treatment and get well. A. A. BROWER, M. D.
San Antonia, Tex.

The robe of righteousness will not fit a turncoat.

Profession and practice are twin sisters.

MOXINE
Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

The managing committee for the common schools in Stockholm, Sweden, has appropriated a very considerable sum for lectures on hygiene and alcohology to the teachers. This normal course is designed to equip them more satisfactorily for instructing the children in the effects of alcohol on the organism.

* * *

The Bavarian railroad officers have passed a strict rule against bringing alcohol into the cars or upon the engine for personal use during service.

* * *

There is no single substance that is so widely used as alcohol, and no substance which in its use produces such widespread and manifold mental effects and leads to so much mental breakdown.

* * *

The societies organized in Italy to combat alcoholism are moving toward the formation of a national temperance federation. They hope to be strong enough by 1911 to entertain the International Congress Against Alcoholism.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

ANGELL PHARMACY COMPANY,

2300 Baronne Street, corner Philip.
PRESCRIPTIONS OUR SPECIALTY Phone Main 4269.
Pure Drugs, Chemicals, Toilet Articles, Perfumery, Stationery, etc.

TRY ANGELL'S COUGH & WHOOPING COUGH SYRUP

Price 25 and 50 cents. Sold by all Druggists.

HOMŒPATHIC DEPARTMENT.

Homoeopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, Globules, Sugar of Milk, Etc.
Prices, 1-2 ounce vial 15 cents, 1 ounce vial 25 cents.
PROMPT DELIVERY.

A GOOD PIANO,
PIANO PLAYER or PLAYER PIANO see the
Grunewald's
Before You Buy.
Agents for the Latest Improved and best Instruments on the Market.

SCROFULINE
The Wonderful Healer

Unsurpassed for tetter, ezcema, skin and scalp troubles, old sores, ulcers and piles, any nature or duration. Goes to the very seat of the trouble, kills the germs and extracts all foreign matter. Sold under a positive guarantee, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per jar. Mail orders promptly filled. Stamps accepted. Liberal sample upon request. Address,

THE SCROFULINE COMPANY, Waco, Texas.
SOLE OWNERS AND MANUFACTURERS.

$35.50 FROM NEW ORLEANS TO CALIFORNIA,
MARCH 2 TO APRIL 30, '08, INCLUSIVE,
VIA
Southern Pacific "Sunset Route"
SOUTHERN PACIFIC SUNSET ROUTE
This rate applies from most points in LOUISIANA, correspondingly low rates from other points.
PULLMAN TOURIST SLEEPERS, OIL BURNING LOCOMOTIVES,
DAILY NEW ORLEANS TO SAN FRANCISCO.
F. E. BATTURS, GEN. PASS. AGT., NEW ORLEANS.

Epworth League

PRAYER-MEETING TOPIC.

May 3. Our Calling. 1 Cor. i, 26-31; Phil. iii, 8-16. (Epworth League Anniversary.)

This is the Epworth League Anniversary. It is well for us to ask ourselves the meaning of the League, what it is doing, and what it should do. In order to bring out the questions that we should ask, the subject assigned for the day is "Our Calling." And bearing on this subject we have two distinct Scripture lessons, that it would be well for every Leaguer to memorize.

1. Whom does God call to his service?

Not of necessity the mighty of the earth. He can use the weak and the lowly as well. Men do not have to wait for matured years to be useful in God's sight. There was a time when the work of the young people was ignored, but to-day the Church is calling all its young people to answer the call of God to serve.

God does desire the service of all who, with willing hands and hearts, will work for the glory of his name. He calls all to make Jesus their wisdom, and righteousness and sanctification and redemption.

2. What has the League done in answer to the call?

It has organized a great band of young people to work for the kingdom. It has trained many of the best workers in the Church to-day. It has broadened the vision of hosts of the followers of Christ. It has extended its field unto the ends of the earth. It has reached out after the careless and thoughtless and brought many of them face to face with the living Christ.

3. To what is the League called to-day.

To forget the victories of the past, except as they furnish inspiration to go on, and to press forward with an eye single to the glory of God. There is to be a singleness of purpose that shall esteem the prize of the high calling of God above everything else. The League is to promote piety and loyalty to our Church among the young people; their education in the Bible, Christian literature, and in the missionary work of the Church; and their encouragement in the works of grace and charity. Truly this is a broad field.

Beyond the general work that is common to all Leagues, or rather the application of the geueral principle to your own, there is a special work for your own League to do. To live as a League you must find your work. The League does not grow by the simple process of entertaining, nor by patterning after the work of some successful League in some other Church, but by finding the special things, which as a League the chapter in your particular Church should.

Some Leagues are a great burden on the heart of the pastor and the leading members of the Church, and hard to carry. Some Leagues are a source of strength to the Church, and comfort the heart of the pastor, as they share in the burdens of the Church. Is your League a burden to your Church, or does it help to bear the burdens. You will never grow as a League to your true proportions, until you hear the voice of God in the presence of his Spirit and the providences that surround you, calling you to the specific duties that are yours.

EPWORTH LEAGUE NOTES.

What is your League going to do this summer? In many of the towns and in the city so many go away on vacations that it is very hard to carry on the work. It will be necessary to close up the ranks in many places. When a man falls in line of battle it is the place of the man next to him to step into his place and so close up the ranks. Perhaps you cannot do as well as the absent one, but you can do your best, and there is scarcely a limit to what God can do through the one that gives his best.

* * *

If it is your privilege to make a summer trip, would it not be well for you to plan to go somewhere that would not only conduce to health, but also send you back home better prepared for work. We have no special place to suggest to-day, but through the columns of this paper and through the Epworth Era there are continually notices given of these summer gatherings. Take your vacation joyously, and for the glory of the Master.

* * *

In a great many places in the country the summer is the harvest time for the Sunday schools, when they do the very best work of the year. Why should this not be true of the Leagues in the country? If your League is out in the country, consult your pastor, as well as study the field for yourselves, and see if it is not possible to do some things better now than in the winter.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

MOXINE

Cures LAGRIPPE and Colds.

REVIVAL AT LUMBERTON, MISS.

Dear Dr. Boswell: Lumberton has had a revival. Revs. M. B. Sharbrough and W. T. Griffin came in about the 7th inst., remaining to the 19th. Their work was effective from the first service, and our people have been greatly blessed. Brother Sharbrough's matured service in the West brings him to us with remarkably clear and lucid equipment for sound teaching. One rarely hears a series of strong, instructive sermons, of the weight of these he delivers, with the convincing power of the seasoned man of God. To the brethren desiring his membership instructed and grounded in our doctrine, I earnestly commend Brother Sharbrough.

Brother Griffin is a stong arm of service, alternating in the double daily service. His affectionate, enthusiastic nature, full of faith and power, was winning and effective; his preaching frequently rising to spiritual heights which deeply impressed his congregations. The time was especially propitious for the meetings, and all Christians united to bring about the fulfillment of divine promises to souls working faithfully and expecting his blessings. I would not attempt to number the conversions. From forty-five to fifty will be added to the Church. Deep experiences will serve to further us in complete accord in making the community more active in all spiritual work. Mine is a very grateful heart as I note what God has wrought among us.

W. H. HUNTLEY.

MOXINE CHILL TONIC
Only Tonic—one bottle, one cure.

BUFFALO
LITHIA SPRINGS WATER

A Powerful Nerve Tonic and Restorative.
Does it Contain Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda?

Hunter McGuire, M. D., LL.D., Ex-President American Medical Association, and of the Medical Society of Virginia; late President and Professor of Clinical Surgery, University College of Medicine, Richmond, Va.: "It has never failed me as a powerful NERVE TONIC when I have prescribed it as such. I sometimes think it must contain Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. It acts as that compound does—as a tonic and alterative. I know from its constant use, personally and in practice, that the results obtained are far beyond those which the analysis given would warrant."

Charles G. Hill, M. D., Professor of Nervous and Mental Diseases, Baltimore Medical College, etc.: "In many forms of Nervous Exhaustion, accompanying an excess of urates and phosphates it is invaluable."

Voluminous medical testimony mailed. For sale by the general drug and mineral water trade. Hotel and Springs open June 15.

Buffalo Lithia Springs Water Co.
BUFFALO LITHIA SPRINGS, VIRGINIA

THE BEST MADE.
Angell's Cough and Whooping Cough Syrup
For Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Throat Trouble.
CONTAINS NO OPIUM OR MORPHINE,
All Druggists, Price 25 and 50 Cents.

$60 LIFE SCHOLARSHIPS $25

Beginning April 10th, we are going to show our appreciation of the Very, Very Liberal patronage our University has Always received, and on account of the recent money panic, and sell a Limited number of $60 Life Scholarships at $25. Buy oue before they are sold, for they will go fast at this price, and get ready for a good position in the early fall. If you can't come at once pay us $10 now, which will insure you the reduction, and pay the balance on entering.

HARRIS BUSINESS UNIVERSITY,
JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI.

Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company.

PASSENGER SERVICE.

Daily Passenger Trains between Shreveport and New Orleans. Daily Passenger Trains between Shreveport and Winnfield.

FREIGHT SERVICE.

Exceptional good time on carload traffic. Special attention given less than carload shipments all of which moves in

DAILY THROUGH PACKAGE CARS.

CLARENCE ELLERBE, Assistant to President.
H. B. HELM, General Superintendent.
E. C. D. MARSHALL, General Freight & Passenger Agent.
Shreveport, La.

SEEDS
OF THE
Steckler Quality

Cost but little more than the usual kind, but are worth much more. To convince you that this is true, let us have a talk together. We have spent months of labor and thousands of dollars on

THE BEST SEED CATALOG EVER ISSUED IN THE SOUTH.

It is a manual of over 200 pages with new illustrations taken direct from the vegetable. Shall we mail you a copy? It will cost you nothing, if you will kindly give a fair hearing to our claims for your patronage. Write at once.

J. STECKLER SEED CO., LTD. RICHARD FROTSCHER'S SUCCESSORS.
Seed Growers and Importers, New Orleans, La.

(Continued from First Page.)

one doctor in China. Are two-thirds of the population of the earth to go untended? Is maternity to be shamefully neglected? If you hear the appeal of this people, then give us missionaries equipped to treat the physical infirmities of these people. He said there are no Red Cross men in Corea; no ambulance students. Hear the ring of the bell in Corea! It rings for a wife who is in need of an amputation. Oh, says the husband, let her die; she is only a wife, let her die; I can get another wife. The ambulance bell rings in Africa. It rings for the African child, which is suffering with a fever. A red-hot iron is placed to the little one's head and allowed to burn its way into the little child's brain to let the demons out. It was only a child in Africa. But hear the bell ring in a Southern city in this country. Immediately a cushioned ambulance is hurried to the scene; students tenderly place the injured one in the ambulance; it is driven rapidly over smooth streets to a hospital equipped with model appliances; a nurse and physicians await the arrival of the patient, and he is tenderly cared for and nursed back to a speedy recovery. Why this difference! Brethren, give us more medical missionaries.

Prof. P. A. Rodriguez, of Nashville, spoke on "Protestant Literature in Spanish," after which a series of moving pictures which had to do with missionaries and missions were thrown on canvas. Dr. Lambuth acted as lecturer.

Wednesday Evening.

Mr. Wm. T. Ellis, of Philadelphia, Pa., spoke on "The Supreme Opportunity of the Hour." He kept the audience in an uproar of mirth with his witty illustrations. He said that in a conversation with Mr. Yun he told the speaker that the only light in the black sky of Korea is the Christian Church. Mr. Ellis' speech was calculated to impress the members of the Conference with the greatness and heroism of the missionaries sent out by our church. It seems that Mr. Ellis was sent out by a syndicate of newspapers to foreign fields to find out "what was what." He made an extended trip in missionary countries, with a view to studying conditions and especially the results of the missionaries' labors. While he found much to criticise in regard to methods of men, the result of his studies was in line with making him a sturdy advocate of missionary work. He told the Conference that they had just reason to "brag" on the missionaries of our church. He gave great praise to some of the missionaries, calling them by name, and said he desired to make the laymen understand what kind of men are in the field, and how much is due those men. He took it for granted that the laymen before him did not fail to pray for the missionariies whom they helped to support. He urged that they ought to stop praying long enough to applaud the missionaries. Mr. Ellis said "there is something doing in this world of ours." He went into detail and described minutely the conditions existing in various countries; the conditions of unrest, upheaval and agitation. As to the cause of these conditions he said it was his firm belief that there was a moving of the Spirit of the living God among the nations. God does not call his strong men to go on dress parade. In our moral and civil life, there has been a revival going on for three years, and the mourners' bench is full. "There is something doing in this old world!"

A quartette of ladies from Centenary Church, Chattanooga, sang two selections, after which Bishop Candler was introduced and spoke on "The Call to Go Forward. The Bishop said that the laymen had three courses from which to choose—to go backward, to stand still or to go forward. In fact, only two courses were presented, for standing still was practically going backward. It is impossible to do justice to the Bishop's address. The subject was treated in his inimitable manner. His address was full of wit and humor, mingled with most impressive seriousness. He closed with a strong appeal for conscientious consideration of the objects and purposes of the Layman's Movement. He also appealed for financial assistance.

THIRD DAY.

At the morning session Hon. S. B. Capen, of Boston, spoke on "The Plan, Purpose and Need of the Layman's Movement," and other addresses were made by Hon. T. B. King, of Memphis, and Mr. A. Trieschmann, of Crossett, Ark. After a general discussion, Dr. Josiah Strong, of New York, made a masterly speech on "The Challenge of the City." The afternoon session was devoted mainly to discussions and the adoption of committee reports.

At night Mr. J. C. White made a practical talk on "A World Campaign for Missions," Mr. White is the General Secretary of the Layman's Movement of America. He said that the only thing that can guarantee universal peace is the Spirit of the Prince of Peace. The Layman's Movement offers a platform upon which all denominations may come together and make common cause for Christ. Last year the United States and Canada gave as a missionary offering $9,459,000, Great Britain gave $9,361,000, and the other countries $3,640,000, showing that Great Britain, with only half the area and inhabitants, gave as much as we. We are not the whole thing, after all. 675,000,000 souls are not provided for now; $22,460,000 are now being given, which will probably evangelize 325,000,000 in this generation. The total amount needed is $80,000,000 a year for twenty-five years. There are 500,000,000 foreign people to be evangelized as America's part, which will take 20,000,000 missionaries at a cost of $40,000.000. The State of Louisiana, during the Civil War, gave 1 out of every 4 of its population in the service of their state. Is it asking too much that 1 out of every 1,000 population be sent as a missionary in the service of the Lord to evangelize the world? More has happened in the past 10 years than happened in the preceding 100. Vastly more is happening this year than happened last. The movement is spreading throughout the cities of the United States and Canada and the awakening to the great commission is universal. There is no enterprise so great as that of redeeming lost souls.

Bishop E. R. Hendrix was set down as the last speaker before the Conference. His subject was "The Supreme Obligation of the Hour." He said the work of saving souls is a man's work. Why leave it all to women and children! He spoke of Christ as the Master: He mastered Matthew, with his love for gold; he mastered Peter, with his passion for the sea; he masters all classes of men. Not only had Jesus mastered the great minds of the world, but he made them. The measure of a man's responsiveness is the measure of his ability. Laymen, take the Lord, this Master, as the captain of your ship, the captain of your business, the captain of your all. Jenny Lind, the singer, was asked why she so completely pleased the ear of man. She said that she sang for the ear of God. No wonder men were pleased! Let us work for God. The Bishop said that Christ wants consecrated lives. God does not want your death; he wants your life. Let us lay everything at the Lord's feet and crown him Lord of all!

NOTES.

"If we were intelligent in our giving we would give more."

"There has never yet been a work for him who fails."—L. M. Pennington

"The problem of America is her American citizenship."—Ambassador Bryce.

"I have stopped tithing because I have learned that all I have belongs to God."

"One of the important truths learned at the Layman's Conference is the necessity of enlarging our ideas."

"Be narrow that ye may be intense." Do not include too many enterprises in your plans lest you lose sight of your primary object.

One of the interesting features of the Laymen's Conference was the Missions Exhibit, which was located in the basement of Centenary Church.

Among the ladies in attendance on the Conference were Misses Alma McKnight, Lucy Carter, Alma Jordan, Ida Lee Pyle, Elise McKnight, Hallie Jackson and Evelyn Pyle, all of Iuka, Miss.

Among those who attended the Conference from Louisiana were W. W. Carre, Dr. J. W. Adams, T. V. Ellzey, C. O. Chalmers, Rev. H. H. Ahrens, A. M. Mayo, W. S. Holmes, Wm. Jackson, J. R. Abels, Rev. G. D. Parker, Rev. H. B. Carre.

Among those present at the Conference from North Mississippi were: Judge F. A. Critz, Parham Williams, J. D. Barbee, Jr., J. H. Sherard, J. R. Bingham, Dr. A. S. Yarbrough, T. J. Hopkins, Chas. McKnight, J. A. E. Pyle, P. W. Shell, W. F. Lenoir, Rev. R. A. Meek, Rev. J. E. Thomas, Rev. J. M. Wyatt, Rev. W. W. Woollard, W. F. Woollard, Rev. R. O. Brown, Rev. S. A. Brown, Dr. E. M. Murphy, R. E. V. Yates, C. Hardin, Jr., and J. J. Beek.

On the return trip the New Orleans delegation pulled into Purvis, Miss., a few hours after the destruction of that thriving little town by the cyclone. The scene of desolation and suffering was one which will never be forgotten. Rev. W. H. Huntley was on the scene, rendering valuable assistance in caring for the unfortunates. A collection was taken on the train by Mr. T. V. Ellzey, which amounted to $51.75.

The following laymen and ministers were among those present at the Layman's Conference at Chattanooga from the Mississippi Conference: W. S. F. Tatum, wife and two sons; James Hand, L. N. Dantzler, R. B. Bellew, C. H. Wood, R. C. Burton, W. B. Lewis, B. F. Lewis, M. L. Burton, L. P. Brown and wife, J. W. Beeson and wife, Z. Z. Linton, W. W. Collins, Geo. H. Thompson, P. L. Blackwell and wife, A. G. Norrel, W. C. Ellis, D. A. McIntosh, L. I. Cork, J. P. Bennett, W. H. Ewing, J. E. J. Ferguson, W. L. Weems and Miss Eula Ellis.

The members of the Layman's Conference were asked to subscribe $15,000, which is to be used in prosecuting the work as stated in the plan of the movement during the next two years. We did not learn if the amount asked for was subscribed, but it was evident that President Pepper was successful. An emergency fund was started which is to be used in hospital work, home missions, etc. Anyone desiring to subscribe to this fund will send contributions to J. D. Hamilton, treasurer of the Board of Missions, Nashville, Tenn. This fund is open for anyone, and contributions of $1 will be gladly received. Remit direct.

NOTICE.

